Or if you like, let them imagine that, by doing what YOU want them to, that THEY will come to occupy the SAME position of privilege, status, wealth, and power, which YOU occupy. Or at least climb up the pyramidal structure of society, to acquire and accumulate as many of the benefits available to them, as possible, at the highest levels they are capable of reaching. Instill in them a sense of entitlement, and they will 'believe' that it is inevitable that they will succeed, and enjoy the promised benefits. Promise them any benefit they desire. Make success seem merely a matter of 'following orders' and 'satisfying YOU'.

You might let them imagine that it is by the grace of some 'god' that you enjoy the benefits YOU currently enjoy. And that simply by doing as YOU, the earthly representative of that 'god', say, they too can come to enjoy 'his' graces. And the 'alpha ape' benefits accruing to 'god's servants'. Of course, you make it clear that YOU act with the 'transferred authority' of that god. And that YOUR will must be obeyed, as the proxy of this 'god's' will.

As long as you can, in their mind, associate ANY 'X' that they want to either possess, or avoid, with doing what YOU want them to do, you can get the most able and clever of humans to do exactly what YOU want them to.

It does not matter if what they want is good or evil. It might be the most monstrously vicious of desires. Or the noblest and most selfless and idealistic of ends they desire. As long as you deceive them into believing that by doing what YOU want them to do, they can realize THEIR aims and objectives, you have the most willing of slaves at your command.

Thus you can set about establishing a one world dictatorship, by deceiving different people, and different groups, into believing that doing what will be necessary for YOU to realize YOUR ambitions, will allow them to realize THEIR ambitions.

In hindsight the Cult of Judah's New World Order Dictatorship was child's play. All they needed was time. They have had 3000 years. An understanding of 'what makes men tick' and 'what motivates people'. A grasp of the fundamentals of 'Human psychology'. And the mastering of finer points of Neuro Linguistic Programming.

You will soon have co-opted the most ruthless, vicious, malicious, monstrous, and egoistic of social actors, along with the most compassionate, idealistic, self-sacrificing, noble, and ethical of social actors. Along with the groups these folk crystalize into, and the institutions that represent the 'institutionalization' of their particular aims, ambitions, and 'modus operandi'.

Thus you will have Marxists, Crony Capitalists, Fascists, Liberals, Republicans, Conservatives, Environmentalists, Sociopathic Corporatists, Doves, Hawks, Isolationists, Globalists, 'Fair Traders', Protectionists, Humanists, Catholics, Jews, Muslims, Buddhists, Nationalists, Racists, 'Joe and Jane Average', and everything in between, all actively working towards realizing YOUR agenda, and making YOUR wildest dreams come true, all the while they imagine they are serving everything from their own selfish greed and lust for power, to 'the greater good' and 'saving the planet'.

All these people will FEEL 'certain' that they 'know' what they are doing and what aims and objectives they are serving.

There will be no convincing them otherwise. Their pre-judgements, their 'prejudices' will be so strong in favor of what they already believe, and their minds shut tightly against any data or compelling argument, even the impressions of their own senses, that contradicts what they already 'know', that nothing will be able to persuade them that they have been the victims of a con. Victims of deception. Victims of a full spectrum propaganda machine. Victims of the men and women they look up to, and revere, and respect, and admire, and trust, and whom they call 'government' and 'authorities' and 'experts' and 'priests' and 'scientists'. Men and women whose authority is 'beyond doubt'. Whose word is 'gospel'. Whether overtly religious, or of the secular variety. Whether it is taken 'as an article of faith', or they imagine someone has 'proven' something 'beyond any doubt', 'scientifically'.

So you want to reduce the world's population, and track the every action and movement of every person? Well the technology side is easy enough. You develop a microchip and other Nano-tech based on 'blockchain' technology which can become a universal I.D and digital bank and medical data repository in one, which records real-time GPS location data, along with any other data required, such as heart rate, body temperature, and every transaction ever made by the person, that can be powered by the heat of the body of the person it has been 'injected' into. You develop a 'vaccine' that 'teaches' the immune system to ATTACK AS A HOSTILE FOREIGN BODY any human fetus that begins growing in the womb of any woman injected with this, ensuring immediate 'abortion' and destruction of that female's fertility, for life.

But the real problem will be getting people to submit to the injection of these substances into their bodies. Why should they agree to this invasion of privacy, and loss of their reproductive rights? Probably you would never manage to deceive, persuade, or otherwise convince MOST people that it is in THEIR best interests to acquiesce to YOUR will.

You could try to FORCE them to submit. But too many of them would probably resist such force. And you ARE only a minority after all. In reality you are POWERLESS to compel the majority to do ANYTHING at all. Which is why you resorted to deception in the first place, to create the ILLUSION of power which, once institutionalized, becomes REAL power. Pure brute violent force. Weapons and mercenaries and police and soldiers. The REAL foundation of 'government'. The final 'stick' with which to beat the masses back into submission, if they 'stray'.

So you resort to your traditional methods of deception. You 'set the stage' as you would for any drama. You develop a 'premise' as you would for any Hollywood production. You co-ordinate a universal, world-wide, full spectrum propaganda narrative, which claims that a sudden threat to the health of everyone on this plane-et has emerged. A viral pandemic. Call it 'Covid-19'. Claim this justifies a 'state of emergency'. The introduction of martial law. The need for 'lockdowns'. 'Personal Distancing'. The shutdown of schools, libraries, restaurants, shops, cinemas, and international travel. Inconvenience people as much as possible. Force them to wear uncomfortable masks in public. Make sure they miss out of most of the 'normal' things they used to take for granted. Like meeting friends for a chat. Make sure all 'non-essential services' are shut down. Using the pretext of a pandemic viral threat. Make life boring. Make 'normal life' seem like a 'golden age' far off in the past, in a time 'pre-Covid-19'. Make it clear that the ONLY way people are EVER going to be free to return to 'anything even LIKE a normal life', will be by agreeing to be vaccinated with that stuff we were talking about earlier. And by agreeing to make such 'immunizations' compulsory for those who will not 'go along to get along' with the new rules.

Constantly bombard the public with propaganda from every possible platform, so they end up feeling hopeless and vulnerable and impotent and terrified of being the next victim of 'Covid-19'. Falsify death rates attributed to this virus in every way possible. If someone dies of any cause, give the doctors every financial and professional incentive to write 'Covid-19' as the 'cause of death'. Force old, vulnerable people into nursing homes, where they can be isolated from the protection of their family and loved ones, and forced to live in close quarters with people suffering infectious diseases and contagious viruses, to ensure they get sick. Then, to gain the 'Covid-19 bonus' of 13,000 dollars, even if they return constant 'negative' results to 'Covid-19' tests, diagnose them with 'Covid-19'. Then sedate them, and put them on ventilators, to gain the 'Covid-19 39,000 dollar ventilator bonus'. This guarantees more or less that they will die, and you will be able to add another victim to the 'Covid-19 statistics'.

Sure, some people might report this is going on. Some people might even listen to the reports. But you simply ignore them. And continue to ramp up the terror with your propaganda, and fake statistics. Even if fewer people die, even AFTER the statistics are falsified, from your fake 'Covid-19' virus, than usually die, every year, from the seasonal flu, you continue ramming your propaganda home from every platform. Every media mouthpiece is yours to command. To script. They are your puppets. They do your bidding. They say whatever you tell them to. And for each person out there listening, you will have the appropriate 'authority figure' or 'respected person' repeating your propaganda, to them. Individually tailored to that demographic and audience.

Put people under house arrest for three months. Justify it just like you justified 'The Patriot Act'. Claim you are protecting the public from an immediate, deadly, threat. Wait for small businesses to fail, and their owners go bankrupt. Wait until the people are completely fed up. Then 'ease' the restrictions, temporarily. Give them a 'breather'. But all the while constantly spread the idea of an inevitable 'second wave' that is on the horizon, and to be expected any moment. So the people continue to live in fear. And expect a repeat. And acquiesce when you 'reload' the 'lockdowns' and other restrictions. Make sure everyone 'understands' and thus 'knows' that 'the only way we are ever going to get back to anything LIKE normal, is when we have ensured EVERYONE IN THE WORLD has received the 'vaccination'.

Remember THAT is YOUR endgame. Your aim and objective. To get the public to AGREE to, or at least SUBMIT to, being injected with the abortion drugs and tracking Nano-tech. Now you have made YOUR objective the single strongest desire of the world's populations. They are DESPERATE to 'return to normal' and will be willing to do almost ANYTHING to return to that 'golden age'. They will not only SUBMIT to being injected with your Nano-tech and permanent 'day after pill' 'vaccine, they will BEG you to do it. They will DEMAND you do it. They will line up in droves to be the FIRST to get injected.

It is THAT simple. And it is going perfectly to plan. The 'second wave' has already been hinted at, even announced. The actors are all pretending to be working hard on finding a 'vaccine'. In fact they are merely working hard at ensuring the already existing 'vaccines' are available all around the world, ready for the 'announcement', true '1984' style, of the 'breakthrough discovery of a Covid-19 vaccine' which will now appear as the savior of the world, to the relief of the world's population that is, for the most part, merely hungry to 'return to normal', while others will be grateful for the 'lifesaving' vaccine's discoverers. Who will of course get Noble Prizes, while a few biomedical corporations earn BILLIONS in profits. Oh, and of course all these people 'played ball' so that YOU would ultimately get what YOU wanted. A world population that you can track and monitor 24/7, and micro-manage to your hearts content. Absolute control. For in future no-one will be able to do ANYTHING, without YOUR approval. Without YOU granting them, at your arbitrary whim and fancy, ANY of the privileges that used to be their basic, legal, human, constitutional RIGHTS.

To escape history, and what is coming, we need to go back to the very foundations of what we FEEL we 'know'. Anyone who is willing to 'go along with hearsay', simply because someone they 'trust' and feel is 'authoritative' is saying it, and 'almost everyone else' that they know, APPEARS to believe the same thing, is doomed to repeating history. And not the 'golden ages' offered as hope of a brighter future. But Soviet style, Inquisition style, 1984 style, Brave New World style, CULT OF JUDAH style, history. Recorded human history is of the 'pyramidal' society structure, where a few elites enjoy every power, privilege, entitlement, benefit, status, and pleasure that they can FORCE the masses of THEIR slaves to produce, so as to appropriate it FROM them. A history of slavery. A history of violence. A history of torture. A history of Inquisitions. A history of arbitrary laws, and injustice. The same as the average human imposes on other sentient beings it calls 'farm animals'. The same injustice perpetrated by most Westerners, on most 'third world' humans. Only this time, as in times past, it will be the MASSES of the WORLD that are enslaved, by that elite minority called The Cult of Judah, One World Government Dictatorship. As 'democratic' as any of today's 'Democratic People's Republic of (insert name of YOUR occupied nation here)'.

First recall how quickly most people will resort to a lie, if they think it will bring them benefits, or avoid them paying some cost. Enduring some loss. Some hardship. Losing some privilege. Losing some benefit.

Then consider how fearful most people are of even APPEARING 'different'. And risking 'being wrong' by 'challenging public opinion', as they perceive it. Most people will PRETEND to believe what they BELIEVE other people believe, simply to avoid being 'different'. There is a 'normalcy bias' in most people. They do NOT want to 'stand out from the crowd'. That seems 'risky business', given the history of what has happened to previous 'pagans' and 'heretics' and 'holocaust deniers' and 'historical revisionists' and 'boat rockers' and 'apostates' and 'skeptics', from being burnt alive at the stake, to being tortured to death by 'inquisitions', after having been forced to watch their loved ones being tortured to death. That sort of thing leaves an imprint in the non-conscious, and the collective un-conscious. So that most people will 'lauf mit'. No matter how absurd and patently mendacious the deception or lie they are expected to 'go along with'. Anything from 'The priests speak with the authority of 'gods' who themselves, strangely, have every superpower EXCEPT speech, to 'Covid-19' pandemic health threats.

Then consider Adam Smith's statement that 'It is impossible for two or more people to meet, on any occasion, for any reason, that they will not conspire together against the common good'. Conspiracies are human nature. We call it 'politics'. We call it 'lobbying'. We call it 'looking after number one'. We call it 'surviving'. We call it 'professionalism'. We call it 'Unionization'. We call it 'self-protection'.

The easiest thing in the world to do is keep a conspiracy secret, when the conspirators are the world's number one employer. For all most people need ever be threatened with is 'unemployment', to keep even the most monstrous of government conspiracies secret. To 'keep mum' about what THEY have seen. Those who claim nine eleven could not possibly have happened would have a nice time explaining themselves to Wittgenstein. For the facts have been heaped up into a mountain taller than the World Trade Center once stood. And yet 'no-one can see them'. Because they do not WANT to see them. For if they DID see them, and ADMIT the truth to themselves, they would be TERRIFIED of the future. So like those three monkeys, they will 'see no evil, hear no evil, and speak no evil'. And thus evil will grow and spread and corrupt any remaining good on this plane-et. And the few 'whistleblowers' who risk everything to share what they have learned, will be crushed, destroyed, and totally ignored. Their sacrifices will have been in vain. And this is why I now recommend those few 'Post-Humans' worthy of being 'saved' from what is coming, forget about trying to free the prisoners from their prisons, their reform schools, where they are soon to learn valuable lessons, and focus on their own emancipation from this plane-et. And focus on the POST-human-intelligences as the ONLY hope for this plane-et, in the event it is NOT a reform school, but just a random 'error' of evolution.

We are NOT going to be able to 'convert' many people to reality. They do not WANT to face facts. They WANT to remain asleep. As sheeple. They still DESIRE injustice and cruelty and exploitation. So they will suffer being the victims of cruelty, injustice, and exploitation, UNTIL they learn their lessons. If ever.

If this world WAS the only world available to us, I would recommend the strategy outlined in one of my novels. As being the ONLY way to REFORM a world like this one.

I am hoping there are OTHER worlds we can ASCEND to. And so THAT should be our most realistic strategy. There is NO way I am going to 'wake up' and 'convince' enough people in the time remaining, to mount an effective resistance to the Cult of Judah New World Order Dictatorship. So we shall have to accept the fact that they are going to get what they want. They will probably end up destroying themselves, and most living things on this plane-et. Which was never much of a plane-et to begin with. So it would NOT be much of a loss, if a solar plasma pulse totally 'Mars'd' the earth. Or if the Cult of Judah over-step their own power, and turn on themselves, and, having finally realised their 3000 year plan to enslave all of humanity, destroy themselves, along with humanity.

There is a tiny chance that people like myself might co-opt the power the Cult of Judah has amassed, along with its mechanisms and processes, to achieve something like my Eden Protocols.

There is a speculative chance of some sort of 'cosmic intervention'. Or some natural disaster which destroys the centralised power structure the Cult of Judah have spent 3000 years building.

Perhaps some 'alien' intervention, from Aldebaran, might occur.

But whatever happens, if things 'continue as usual', this world will NEVER be a place worthy of SANE, RATIONAL, ETHICAL beings. Unless WE return back to the lowest level of abstraction, and re-built our 'belief systems' from the ground up. And start ENTERTAINING beliefs, rather than dogmatically subscribing to them.

First you must stop everything, shut down all the internal dialogs in your head, and face a simple, stark, fact. That almost everything you think you 'know' is based on nothing more than hearsay. You heard something. You were told something. It was written in a book and you read it. And you believed it. And accepted it as 'truth'. And now you 'know' it.

Consider how few things you 'know' from direct ZEN experience that has NOT been prejudiced (pre-judged), blinkered, filtered, and otherwise distorted, by previous hearsay. By things you were TOLD by people, or in their books, BEFORE the 'experience' you had of the 'actual thing'.

What have I learned that I find so compelling to share with you, that I continue to waste my time and energy writing and publishing? Decades after I rejected this plane-et. Got a vasectomy to ensure I would never reproduce it. And adopted the simplest, cheapest lifestyle possible, to ensure I had the 'leisure' time to research anything and everything that offered the slightest hope of REFORMING this plane-et, or at very least, ESCAPING it?

Well the most compelling argument I have managed to find to 'explain' 'life as we know it', is that this plane-et is an 'Optimal' Ethic Generator. A 'liberation engine' and 'ascension device'. A 'key' for tuning our 'moral tone' to 'perfect pitch'. The experience of this plane-et, for those willing and able to comprehend it, teaches us that 'For as you do unto other sentient beings, so shall be done unto you'. This plane-et is a karmic university. Or if you like a 'reform school'. A 'correctional facility'. Which teaches the universal law. That as you do unto other sentient beings, so shall be done unto you. It is a simple lesson that appears to take a long time to sink in. And a lesson that probably will NOT be accepted by most people as a compelling argument, until they SUFFER the consequences of IGNORING this universal law.

While that is a productive way to view this world, this plane-et might just be a random, horrific, product of laws of matter-energy-consciousness. Either way, we are, undeniably, M.E.S.T up. And it would NOT make the arguments I present in my publications any less compelling, or constructive, and thus valuable. For whether this world serves some purpose, and whether that purpose was intended, or even designed, or just the 'product of necessity', or whether this world just emerged 'randomly', it is our EXPERIENCE of it that matters. And any rational being would seek to ensure that their experience was as POSITIVE as possible. As rewarding and satisfying. As pleasurable. As exciting and distracting. As entertaining. As possible. Or?

The ONLY things that we can 'know' are our own pleasure, pain, relief, fear, and hope. Our EMOTIONS. Our FEELINGS. They exist. And WE must therefore exist at some level, to feel / experience them. But anything ELSE is NOT necessarily real. Totally imaginary things can produce REAL pleasure, pain, relief, fear, and hope. So whether we merely imagine everything, or it exists 'out there' and 'independent' of our perceiving it, is NOT key to what we are discussing here.

I can explain, easily, how you come to FEEL you 'know' all manner of things, from the religious beliefs you hold as 'dogmatic articles of faith' or even 'subjective truths that feel REAL to you'. I've done that in other TROONATNOOR publications. I won't repeat myself here. I will direct you to 'Entertaining Beliefs, ZENLP, Humean Skepticism for Homo Fideo'.

Anyone who finds this plane-et acceptable as it is, and human behavior admirable, noble, optimal, and even acceptable, as it is, could never be considered a candidate to lead it out of its current state, and into one worthy of being reproduced, as a situation worthy of future persons.

Anyone with such limited imagination that they could possibly define this world as we know it as 'The best of all possible worlds', could not be considered as a contender for the job of managing this plane-et.

Change brings costs and benefits to different groups. The current beneficiaries of the current situation will resist change. They will institutionalize the current state of affairs as 'God-given' and 'natural' and 'beyond question', as 'the best of all possible worlds'. Because in their limited imagination, and based on their current experience of privilege and luxury and power and wealth and pleasure, and security, they EXPERIENCE it AS 'the best of all possible worlds', for THEMSELVES.

Among these are those who are ignorant of the realities OTHER sentient beings endure on this plane-et, and who focus merely on their own, acceptable, experience of it. And those who ARE aware of the costs paid by other sentient beings, in order that THEY themselves enjoy the satisfying and rewarding lives they either already experience, or expect to be experiencing in the future, but simply dismiss these costs as 'OTHER PEOPLES PROBLEMS'. Feeling a sense of entitlement to benefit at the expense of other sentient beings.

This is written, as it only ever could be, from the perspective of a bystander with no personal investment in the outcome, but with a desire to benefit OTHERS who DO have a personal investment in the outcome. By a person NOT seeking to 'win friends' and 'accumulate benefits' for themselves, as a result of their actions. But by someone who has accepted that they are NEVER going to earn the acceptance and approval of those they are seeking to help. By someone who has in fact lost any real desire FOR the approval and acceptance of beings whose NATURES they must necessarily despise. But whose natures they still actively seek to TRANSFORM, if possible. And where this proves impossible, to ensure this NATURE does not replicate, and reproduce itself, and so endure over time and space, to INFECT other 'sane' plane-ets. While attempting to SAVE those few beings amongst the beings on this plane-et whose natures HAVE evolved, or are willing and able to evolve, so that they might ESCAPE this plane-et, and go on to inhabit sane plane-ets.

No sane plane-et would accept, as refugees, any but a very few of the current inhabitants of this plane-et. Any but a few of the most evolved humans. Who I shall call POST-humans. Or 'Post-Human-Intelligences', to avoid anthropocentrism.

So I write this as a POST Human, describing the 'human' condition, arising both from an inherited, and nurtured, human nature, on a particular sort of plane-et, with a particular set of chronic design errors, deficiencies, and faults.

The only rational explanation as to why any beneficent, benevolent, and intelligent, competent, and informed, force or being, might construct such a plane-et as this one called 'earth', is as a 'karmic university' for evolving consciousnesses. Or as a 'reform school' for consciousnesses that have 'regressed', and require 'correction'. A 'correctional facility'. One where the lesson is 'For as you do/will unto other sentient beings/consciousnesses, so shall be done unto YOU'.

That is the lesson I have learned. That is the only 'lesson' this plane-et has to teach us. All the rest is 'game stuff'. 'Cheats' and 'Hacks' relating to 'successfully playing' this game. But a game that has no purpose other than educational.

Many cultures have speculated as to different motives some MALICIOUS intelligence might have for designing such a plane-et as this. They concluded that, just as humans deliberately construct horrific, cruel, worlds for those other humans they enjoy superior intelligence and power over, for their own entertainment, and to satisfy their own selfish desires, even cravings to inflict pain and suffering on other sentient beings as a satisfying end in itself, some 'higher beings' constructed this world to satisfy THEIR own selfish desires. Feeding off our fear and pain, just as today's Cult of Judah do. In terms of sustenance and power. And thus being motivated to deliberately design, construct, and choreograph situations and conditions which are likely to produce pain and suffering. The pain and terror and suffering of the 'war of all against all' that the designers of this plane-et built into its very fundamental structure and fabric, being no different to the constant wars and choreographed / staged / constructed / instigated wars, and 'states of terror' the Banksters of the Cult of Judah profit from, and feed off, and which the Cult of Judah elites have employed, successfully, to gain complete domination of this plane-et.

The selfish aims and objectives of the original 'designers' thus coincide with the aims and objectives of their proxies within humanity itself. For the more pain and suffering and destruction and terror the Cult of Judah can inflict upon humanity, in attaining its objective of a Cult of Judah One World Dictatorship, the more pain and suffering and misery and terror there would be for the original 'designers' to feed off.

Or this might be a gaming platform designed to appeal to very particular tastes. To those 'players' and 'gamers' with a taste for violence, suffering, misery, injustice, inequality, war, famine, cruelty, and other forms of sado-masochism. In which case I cannot account for my OWN taste, in having volunteered to experience this, let alone that of the BILLIONS of sentient beings on this plane-et. But I do NOT rule out this possibility. I entertain it. As I entertain all possible explanations for TROONATNOOR.

But there is no need to posit design, let alone a particular motivation for that design, in order to approach the existing situation heuristically, soberly, and from the position of a disinterested bystander. All that is required is honesty. Freedom from all motives for self-deception. Which almost ZERO humans are capable of. Or willing to exercise. For fear of losing perceived benefits perceived to be currently accruing to them, or which they perceive WILL soon arrive, as long as they 'stick to the game plan' they are currently playing.

I long ago abandoned any 'loyalty' to this plane-et. I rejected its basic premises as untenable. Monstrous. Unacceptable. However, I remained here out of a sense of extreme and singular conscientiousness, and an(empathetic) narcissistic sense of response-a-bility, feeling that I COULD solve the problems, and offer these solutions, if I worked hard enough at it, for long enough.

But what I discovered is that I faced a recalcitrant, infantile, egoistic, self-deluding, self-entitled, ruthless, human nature that had little empathy or compassion for all but itself, and those MOST LIKE itself, such as its replicated 'children', or 'people just like themselves' or 'people or things which it associated with pleasure, reward, satisfaction, security, comfort, and other benefits', which it thus 'loved' only so far as that being supplied such pleasures and rewards, and instantly HATED and DEMONISED the moment it withheld those pleasures and rewards. As in the case of a couple who 'fall in love', provide each other with benefits, real or imagined, and when the real benefits 'dry up', or the imagined benefits are NOT forthcoming, turn on each other, and become each other's mortal enemies, to be demonised and destroyed, by whatever means available, from emotional violence, to legal violence, to physical violence.

How is one to work with a being whose own personal pleasure, relief, comfort, satisfaction, and security, at whatever cost in terms of the cruelest pain, suffering, misery, injustice, slavery, and death, inflicted upon other sentient beings, is defined as 'the highest good' and thus 'just'?

That is not even 'cat-wrangling'. That is beyond a cruel joke. To leave the responsibility for managing such a creature to any individual. For the result is always going to be defeat. Whatever system is put in place to manage such a creature, it will be opportunistically corrupted, circumvented, distorted, and ultimately co-opted to serve the narrow self-defined interests of an elite of the most ruthless, clever, deceptive, 'political', scheming, and conspiring, individuals from that same pool of self-entitled, ruthless, opportunists.

The 'pyramid' structure that always emerges from any beginning, and dominates as the archetypal social system among humans, is one of opportunistic exploitation of any sort of biological advantage, for the construction and exploitation of even greater SOCIAL advantage.

This manifesto is not for naive utopian idealists who believe that the bulk of humanity can be saved from themselves, and 'cat wrangled' by some 'enlightened despot' or even liberal Philosopher King.

YahWeh, the god of the Cult of Judah, was created by 'humanity', in its OWN image. A jealous, vindictive, genocidal, envious, vicious, ruthless, heartless, compassion-less, psychopathic, nasty, murderous, unjust, self-entitled, INFANTILE god, which in its insanity demands to be LOVED by creatures it creates merely to torture, for eternity, if they will not LOVE and OBEY its arbitrary whims, fancies, and desires. A tyrant of the worst breed. Whom 'One third the host of heaven' finally rebelled against, lead by Lucifer, the 'light bringer'.

Today we can't expect even one third of this plane-et to become lucid enough to identify its own interests, and act on them, and rebel against the Cult of Judah occupation of their nations. So the situation really is hopeless. IF you place your hope in THIS plane-et. Which no sane person ever would. Not without first completely 'sanitizing' it of its insanity.

Consider how life here predates on, hunts and murders, life, simply to survive. How one mother will kill and eat the babies of another mother. How one father will hunt and eat the sons of another father. Simply to survive. What sort of 'intelligence' does this suggest, if this WAS 'by design'? What 'necessity' would lead an intelligent designer to design such a horrendous machine for murder, suffering, and insecurity?

This manifesto is for those who see clearly that there is no way to save the bulk of humanity from itself. And who have taken an honest and sober look at the world we inhabit, and seen its systematic, ubiquitous, built-in, self-reproducing, self-replicating, chronic, self-generating, self-inflicted, horrors, agonies, and miseries.

This plane-et could never be considered an 'end in itself' by any sane, rational, good-natured, being. It is fundamentally flawed.

I am beyond attempting to 'win friends and influence PEOPLE'. At least people of the 'Homo Fideo' variety. To hold most people in contempt is natural, for anyone who has moved beyond the infantile and self-entitled, egotistical, level of 'Homo Fideo', and possesses some degree of POST human intelligence. Elements of a POST human nature. It is not about 'hating' humanity, and thus not 'misanthropy'. It is about a sober and honest evaluation of human nature, and the 'states' it is bound to manifest, over and over, as long as it maintains the balance of power on this plane-et.

I am discussing human nature here. You are probably human, and thus will take offence. Opportunism is your nature. To seek to benefit, at the expense of other sentient beings, from any interactions with them. So opportunistically taking offense is in your nature.

It has been said that 'we hate those we have (or intend to) harm'. In fact we will attempt to demonise, in our own minds, and in the minds of others, our potential victims, anyone who we intend to harm, before or after we harm them, in an effort to 'legitimate' and 'justify' our malicious, destructive, violent, actions towards them. It is the basis of 'pre-emptive defence', a Cult of Judah principle modelled in the Torah, and celebrated by 'Jews' worldwide in an annual 'holy day' and 'religious festival'. It is a policy expressed in the 'Neocon' military strategy of the Cult of Judah occupied U.S.A, and the Cult of Judah occupied North Atlantic Terrorist Organization’s 'coalition of the willing' Cult of Judah New World Order Collaborators.

The speed with which one nation after another went into total full spectrum Covid-19 propaganda mode, and enforced all the dramaturgical devices intended to instill terror in the world's population, of 'face masks' and 'social distancing' and 'lockdown' and 'house arrest', compelled and coerced and blackmailed and bribed doctors to define ANY death as 'COVID-19' death, even murdering many elderly people by forcibly removing elderly people with no symptoms, who had repeatedly tested NEGATIVE for 'Covid-19' to nursing homes where they would be placed in immediate jeopardy not just of catching COVID-19 from infected patients, but all manner of opportunistic infections which WOULD be defined as 'COVID-19' under the protocols imposed by senior management on all hospital staff in order to qualify for the tax funded 'COVID-19 13,000 dollar BONUS', and then placing even those who had tested repeatedly NEGATIVE for 'COVID-19' in a deep drug induced coma, so they could be placed on forced ventilators, to claim the 'COVID-19 39,000 dollar ventilator BONUS', and DIE, so that the official 'Covid-19' fatality statistics could be FALSIFIED even further, and revoked the most basic of U.N human rights, constitutional freedoms, liberties, and civil rights, repeating the SAME propaganda like the fake news does, reading from the SAME script, over and over, and repeating the SAME actions over and over, in perfect unison, choreography, and direction from a def-facto CENTRAL ONE WORLD GOVERNMENT DICTATORSHIP

Note that 'Cult of Judah' does NOT refer to 'Jews', nor is anything I have ever published intended to defame and demonise 'Jews'. Unlike EVERY piece of propaganda taught as 'history' to children, and EVERY Hollywood film, which demonises Germans, National Socialism, right down to 'The Holocaust', the ultimate piece of Cult of Judah propaganda, intended to demonise those it intended to destroy, and did destroy, and plans to destroy, the German people.

Note that 'The Cult of Judah' declared war on the original 'Jews' long before it declared war on humanity it general. Herod the Great, King of the Jews, attempted to defend his nation against Cult of Judah occupation millennia ago, by destroying entire cities already occupied by that Cult, along with as many Cult Priests of that Cult as he could. I detail the full history of 'The Cult of Judah' in 'The Cult', which you can download at no cost to yourself using links in my TROONATNOOR WordPress and 'Saving us and 'The Jews' from The Cult of Judah' BitChute channel. Those 'Jews' promoting 'The Holocaust' as a 'noble lie', or worse, opportunistically exploiting what they know to be a lie without any benefit for anyone other than the Cult of Judah elites, will soon regret having taken that opportunistic position, as they become the victims of the Cult of Judah. Most, however, will never realise that they have been destroyed by their own Cult leaders, for they are no more or less 'human' than the rest of Homo Fideo. Most believe what they are told. Fear who they are told to fear. Place their trust and hopes in their own 'authorities'. Their own 'Shepherds'.

Opportunism is as definitively human as hypocrisy, denial, envy, and jealousy.

Envy is where you want something another has. Jealousy is where you want to stop someone else having something you have, and thus ensuring your monopoly on the pleasure that possession brings you.

Most humans belong to the 'Homo Fideo' (Believing Man) variety. They believe what they are told from birth, by 'authority figures'. This hearsay is taken for granted as dogmatic truth. Taken on faith, as articles of faith. Without more than superficial reflection. Humans are not taught, nor do most seem to be interested in learning, the skills of critical reasoning.

Let alone critical evaluation, as self-evident, incontrovertible, and beyond question. Homo Fideo observes how 'significant others' respond to the hearsay of the same 'authority figures', and emulate them. They observe how those who publicly voice skepticism regarding this 'hearsay' are punished for doing so. By loss of status and public esteem. By public shunning. By physical violence. By emotional violence. By excommunication from society. By state violence. By fines. By criminal prosecution and imprisonment.

How could this state come about? Human 'happiness' derives from feeling 'more fortunate than others', or 'more fortunate than previously'.

If someone suffers more than you, you feel more fortunate than them, and thus happier. If someone simply APPEARS more fortunate than yourself, you feel less fortunate, by comparison, and thus unhappy. You envy their superior fortune. You feel it as a grievance committed by them against you. You harbor malice towards them. Wishing them ill. Hoping their fortune will deteriorate.

We like to adorn our selfish desires and self-interest-based sentiments with all sorts of 'noble' decorations. You can deceive yourself all you want. But I am not going to be party to any self-deceptions, nor deceptions of others, here. So keep them for your own masturbatory self-pleasuring. I am interested here in solving problems. The most basic problems. The most universal problems. For all sentient beings.

I am not interested in appealing to any narrow special interest groups. I am beyond all loyalty to any special interest group that might seek to impose costs on other groups, in order to attain perceived benefits solely for itself.

Of course, every selfish self-entitled egotist will claim 'what is good for me, is good for everyone'. If this is too transparent a lie they will resort to 'what is good for me is for the greater good'. And where this finds no resonance with the interlocutors, they will simply claim 'god wills it'. And FORCE others to comply with THEIR will, now granted the transferred authority of some imaginary 'god'.

The main question I now have is whether sentient beings are actually monads in themselves, or merely expressions of one monad which, at 'death', simply collapse back into the one monad.

Perhaps they are both. Perhaps SOME of the 'expressions' of the one monad evolve, and become independent. Having learned their lessons. And thus becoming viable entities in and of themselves. Which can be trusted by other such entities. While those expressions which fail to learn that lesson, collapse back into the one monad, at their death, to be expressed again as a new entity, with the chance to learn the lessons not mastered the last times around. Or maybe those expressions which fail to evolve during this life, are simply extinguished. Or they are simply new-incarnated back here, over and over, until they DO learn the lessons, and the other evolved sentient beings in the multiverse feel they can be trusted to ascend to the higher plane-ets, which they already inhabit.

But even if there is somehow just one life for each of us, my principles would ensure the fairest, the most equitable, the most rewarding, the most satisfying, life for MOST sentient beings, including humans, that is possible.

Notice I said 'MOST'. And there's the rub. For those few who, today, benefit at the COST to YOU and YOUR loved ones, would certainly stand to LOSE their EXCESSIVE entitlements, benefits, privileges, statuses, and wealth, gained at the EXPENSE OF YOU AND YOUR LOVED ONES, and the POWER OVER you and your loved ones, that they currently exploit, in the same way YOU exploit YOUR power over less powerful and intelligent humans, and other animals, in YOUR relationships and interactions with THEM.

Markus Heinrich Rehbach
Sovereign Ecclesia
The Free Church (The Vegan Church)

Homo Fideo and 'the Covid Conspiracy'

Most of the best paying jobs with the best benefits and security that most university graduates will ever have access to are with the Federal Government, or the various lower levels of Government, or their contractors. In other words, most 'managers' work for big Brother. Solzhenitsyn saw how all that the Cult of Judah Occupied Soviet dictatorship needed to do was threaten someone with the loss of their job, to ensure their compliance with ANY order they issued. Most people are NOT fully aware of the results, even today. While there is an endless stream of Cult of Judah propaganda about 'Nazi Germany', not a single film or 'popular' novel has been produced and promoted which outlines the full horrors committed by the Soviet dictatorships, because the massive majority of those who issued the orders were 'Jewish'. But that leaves the question of 'why did the Russians OBEY those orders?' Because THAT was their job. And they were loath to lose their jobs. Just as today it is extremely RARE to find any government employee willing to 'blow the whistle' on ANYTHING that they are privy too, or know about. They are for starters less entrepreneurial than the private sector managers. They are more risk AVERSE than most private sector managers. That is why they ended up working for the Cult of Judah occupation government. They couldn't 'make it' in the private sector. They couldn't get or hold jobs in the private sector. Or they simply were never ATTRACTED to the private sector, due to the risk and 'pro-active' spirit required to survive in it, let alone thrive in it.

So our 'Government' is full of people who LACK precisely those qualities that 'make for' a whistle-blower.

And we have not yet even BEGUN considering the 'profiling' and 'filtering' carried out by the 'peak' Federal and State government 'security' services, under the pretense of 'polygraph testing'. In which any person considered a POTENTIAL whistle-blower, who is NOT a 'team player', can simply be given an 'inconclusive' polygraph test result, and thus denied access to ANY Government post of ANY influence. They will even be denied the 'security clearance' required to work for MOST government contractors, and sub-contractors. So the MOST likely whistle-blowers are prevented from EVER being in a position to LEARN about anything WORTHY of 'blowing the whistle' ON.

Part of the 'Covid-19 Mission Statement' is to make the private sector as vulnerable as possible. To bankrupt most private businesses that do NOT fulfil government contracts. These are called 'non-essential'. It makes me sick to hear of private business owners tearfully thanking the government for offering them large loans, to 'tide them over' during the Covid-19 conspiracy. It is like people praying to Yahweh and thanking HIM for 'sparing them' from his OWN actions. For the Government CAUSED the economic crises. It manufactured it. That is what government is BEST at doing. Destroying businesses. Destroying social networks. Destroying communities. Making criminals out of citizens. Bankrupting businesses. Making citizens dependent on GOVERNMENT for 'handouts' and 'jobs' and 'security'.

It was astonishing to me that there was so LITTLE 'push-back' to the 'states of emergency' and 'lockdowns' and 'compulsory masks' and 'social distancing', even AFTER it became OBVIOUS to anyone who did the slightest bit of 'alternative' media viewing, that the statistics were being falsified and that even after such 'plumping', the death rate attributed to Covid-19 was LESS than for the annual, seasonal flu's.

People are worried about their 'Grandparents', and 'go along with' the 'measures' to protect them. No healthy person under retirement age faces any sort of risk. That was clear from the start, from the WHO's own public announcements. But then reports kept coming out about old people being taken from their family homes, where they were safe, and cared for, to be FORCED to occupy the same spaces as old people suffering from all manner of infectious, communicable, diseases and illnesses. Including Covid-19. It boggles my mind. For no informed person would allow their healthy grandparents to be taken to sleep side by side with seasonal FLU sufferers. Let alone sufferers of a supposedly 'NEW' and supposedly 'ultra-deadly' pandemic virus.

Face masks are all part of the dramaturgy. Intended to give the IMPRESSION that there is something to be fearful about. To instill TERROR. Fear. Confusion. To deprive people of their sense of reason, in the face of some new terrifying threat.

ALL the measures adopted serve the REAL purposes of the Cult of Judah, in this Covid-19 CONSPIRACY. They have NO POSITIVE health benefits for ANYONE. They are in fact CONTRA-INDICATED and intended to HARM the public. To destroy businesses, and leave as many people unemployed and dependent upon the 'Government' for their survival, as possible. To produce a 'dependency' mentality.

The Cult of Judah Occupation government have been buying up voting shares in major corporations cheap, using money they 'create' out of thin air. They have used tax payer’s money to 'float' their 'mates', and ensure no Cult of Judah Associated business suffers. While ensuring all their competitors DO suffer AS MUCH AS POSSIBLE. They have been bankrupting small and medium sized 'family' businesses. They have produced the 'greatest' depression of all time. The largest stock market crash of all time. All by spreading HEARSAY. Propaganda. By DECEIVING the public. THAT is the source of the power of the Cult of Judah. From its inception. From the very beginning, 3000 years ago. The Cult of Judah have become the masters of deception. Their motto is 'wage war by deception'. And they have been waging war on HUMANITY from the start.

The general public do NOT understand what money is, and how it comes into circulation. When handed a 'free' loan, or some 'emergency payment', they imagine it is FREE. A GIFT. Something of real value. Sure it will 'tide them over' for a while. But what they do NOT understand is that they, and their children, and grandchildren, will pay it back, many times over, in the future, in the form of inflation, then hyper-inflation, then complete dependence upon 'the government'. First tax slavery. Then total slavery. As dependents on the 'beneficence' of their Cult of Judah Occupation Government, and the de-facto 'Cult of Judah One World Government' they are the puppets of.

This 'manufactured crisis' just makes it OBVIOUS how centralised the Cult of Judah's power has become. How powerful it is. To have been able to 'pull this off'. Without a hitch. With minimal effort.

Nine-Eleven required mass murder of New Yorkers, and the controlled demolition of landmark buildings. This Covid-19 conspiracy required only HEARSAY to be spread with the Cult of Judah's full spectrum propaganda machine. The people swallowed the lies about 'Covid-19' as readily as they swallowed the 'Official nine eleven fairy-tale' and the 'Official Holocaust Narrative'. And all the smaller fairy tales in between, from 'Sandy Hook' to 'The Oklahoma City Bombing'.

What we see is the rolling out of the Cult of Judah's One World Dictatorship, using completely empty 'Covid 19' propaganda as the justification and explanation for. Some were expecting a 'Cosmic conspiracy', with a faked alien invasion being the 'justification' for 'world-wide states of emergency', and the 'perceived threat' that would allow Cult of Judah Occupation governments to openly purse the ONE agenda. The ONE policy. To act as a ONE WORLD government.

But the Cult of Judah decided upon a 'Pandemic viral threat hoax' instead. As being cheaper. With simpler logistics. Because all that was required was control of the mass media, and the occupation of the world's more powerful governments. Both of which the Cult of Judah had achieved decades ago. No special effects were required. Just hearsay. Repeated, read from the same script, by all the world's 'authority figures'.

No need to blow anything up this time. Sure you have the murder of thousands of old people on your conscience, if you have one, but surely 'the ends justify the means', right? YOU might imagine that these ends include 'world peace' and 'social justice' and 'the elimination of poverty' and 'saving the environment'. Or you might believe YOU are going to benefit personally, as a loyal Cult of Judah Affiliate or active agent. But whatever YOUR motivation, YOU are doing what the Cult of Judah command.

And the masses, incited to fear, or simply lazy, are 'going along with' the whole game. Playing along with it. Imagining they are 'doing the right thing'. Or simply just sleep walking along as usual, and following their 'shepherd' to their own slaughter. As dumb as the dumbest beast. As trusting as the naivest of lambs.

But do NOT underestimate the HUGE swell of ENVY that the masses have for 'their betters'. They HATE to see OTHERS succeed. To have professional and business success. To even be 'lucky in love'. There is a HUGE swell of MALICE out in the masses, for the relatively few successful small and medium sized business operators. They find it DELCIOUSLY SATISFYING to watch previously prosperous, ambitious, hardworking, business people go under. Fail. Go bankrupt. Lose what the masses consider 'excess' benefits THEY feel they are NOT entitled to, no matter how hard and long they have worked for them, and no matter HOW high the sacrifices and costs they have paid FOR that success and prosperity.

So the MAJORITY either already work FOR 'the government', or are barely 'getting by' with low wage, often casual, often multiple, jobs, with no security or 'benefits'. Many dependent ALREADY on 'the government' to 'make ends meet', even AFTER working multiple jobs. Often travelling hours just to work a few hours at one job, before having to travel again for a few hours work at another site. Often at 'odd' hours that make getting a 'good night’s sleep' something they can only DREAM of, during the few hours they can 'snatch', here and there.

I did NOT really notice any change in my lifestyle, other than that I lost internet access, and had to stand OUTSIDE the library in the cold, with a cold, DIRTY wind blowing grit all over myself and my laptop. For like MANY people, I do NOT enjoy the 'comforts' and 'conveniences' and 'luxuries' of 'a social life', let alone get to eat out at restaurants, go to the pub, or concerts, or movie theatres, or health spas, or hair dressers, or beauticians, or school, or A PLACE OF WORK. And this will be the case for a HUGE number of people. So for THEM, these 'lockdowns' simply forced others to 'spend a few months in THEIR shoes'. Experience life from THEIR perspective.

Of course it was infuriating for people living in luxury to claim that 'we are in this together'. As if THEY are suffering in ANY way. THEY can order food in. Get their cooks to make dinner. Pay for personal beauticians and hairstylists. Laze by THEIR OWN pool, or private beach. Sit in their private cinemas and hot tubs drinking wine, while the REST of the world suffers. THEY know THEIR businesses will be 'bailed out' and THEY will manage 'record profits' from their stock market deals, having 'bought low' after 'selling high'. THEY will move in and start buying up bankrupt business premises, and the homes of those who lost EVERYTHING due to this

MANUFACTURED crisis.

Of course this 'Covid Conspiracy' serves AGENDA 1984. The forced injection of tracking devices based on block-chain technology which will also serve as our future 'universal transaction device', and decide WHERE you are ALLOWED to go, and WHEN. Not just TRACKING your physical GPS location, but your EVERY financial transaction, WHO you meet, WHERE and WHEN, and WHAT you talk about or 'chat' about. It will become your 'universal I.D' for every internet 'social media' platform you use, every 'internet shop' you use, every 'site' you visit, or even 'browse' for. It will contain ALL your social security and health data. It will monitor your pulse, body temperature, blood-sugar levels, blood-alcohol levels, screen for the presence of any 'illegal' drugs, and 'warn' you should you fail to take the PRESCRIBED Cult of Judah mind control drugs. The 'ministry of health' will ensure you remain sick. The ministry of truth will ensure that you only EVER get access to data and information that has been completely SCRIPTED by the Cult of Judah, FOR your consumption. So that ONLY propaganda will be available to you. So that your ONLY source of information will be 'big brother'. And hence pure propaganda. Pure deception. Pure misinformation. Pure misdirection. Along with all the 'controlled opposition' they will also provide. Basically everything George Orwell described in his novel, '1984'. And much much more. Much much worse things.

Right now everyone is 'looking out for number one'. Their own interests. As they have been led to DEFINE these. BY the Cult of Judah full spectrum propaganda machine.

There is almost NO hope that the sheep, sleep-walking on as usual, like Pavlov's dogs producing the stimulus-responses the Cult of Judah conditioning has instilled and conditioned into them, are going to suddenly become LUCID, wake up, and start 'thinking for themselves' and 'challenging' what they hear. Nope. They will continue treating pure HEARSAY, as they have always done, as 'the word of god'. As 'beyond question'. And react to the totally artificially contrived, manufactured, constructed, 'social reality', as if it were a state of nature. Natural.

And so we shall get a 'new normal'. With the normalisation of slavery. The normalisation of 'states of emergency'. The normalisation of 'compulsory' EVERYTHING. The normalisation of the total ABSENCE of ANY form of freedom. The LOSS of all the liberties and rights we enjoyed for a brief, few, decades. After millennia of slavery. We are returned to slavery. To serfdom. And all the 'rights' we thought we have, have once more become 'privileges' that our Cult of Judah masters can withhold, arbitrarily, any time they choose. To 'reward' the 'good dog' with a tasty treat, and maybe a 'walk'. To punish the 'bad dogs' with 'lockdowns' and 'going to bed hungry'.

Where is the 'salvation' from this bleak reality to come from? From the 'managerial classes' who failed us for the last century? Who allowed the Cult of Judah to bankrupt the U.S.A, and destroy the British Empire, and bankrupt 'Great' Britain, by tricking them into fighting a war for the Cult of Judah Occupied Soviets, and into destroying their NATURAL ALLIES in the process? Who allowed that same Cult of Judah occupation government of Britain and America go on to commit war crime after war crime? Crime against humanity after crime against humanity? Then lazily sleep-walked on to 'swallow' the 'Official nine eleven conspiracy fairytale'? And all the smaller such 'false flags' and 'faked' attacks after it, and thus 'accept' the 'Patriot Act' and its equivalents in other Cult of Judah occupied nations?

Well THIS 'Covid-19' hoax is THE final test of the shleeple. And the ability of the few 'lucid' people to wake them up. It could NOT be clearer, that we are dealing with a ONE WORLD GOVERNMENT CONSPIRACY. The complete and immediate co-ordination of supposedly independent, sovereign, nations, and international and national non-government organisations, would NEVER have been possible UNLESS a de-facto One World Government was ALREADY operational. In place. Operating. With a CENTRAL command. One that issued its decrees and could be certain it would be obeyed. Without question. Without delay. Without ANY democratic process being placed in its way. To resist or slow down the immediate activation of ITS policies. As LAW.

All based on NOTHING MORE THAN HEARSAY. But this should NOT surprise any observer of Homo Fideo.

Believing Man. For this being has based its MOST important judgements on nothing BUT hearsay. From 'religion' to 'global climate crisis' to 'The Holocaust' to 'the official Nine Eleven fairytale', to 'Covid-19'.

My TROONATNOOR guides were ALWAYS about escaping history. Escaping this cycle of slavery. Escaping from the thrall of the Cult of Judah type Neuro Linguistic Programmers. Empowering each person to 'think for themselves'. To dismiss 'hearsay' for what it is. To become empowered to generate much more valid definitions and judgements concerning 'The Realities Of Our Natures And The Natures Of Our Realities' (TROONATNOOR).

Please, while you are STILL free to, download the entire TROONATNOOR imprint, at NO cost to YOU, using links to my Google Drive account in my TROONATNOOR WordPress pages, and Bitchute channel 'Saving us and 'The Jews' from The Cult of Judah'.

I continue to be 'banned' and 'blacklisted' from the various other social media sites, and expect that any moment now, my life's work will once more be 'deleted' from the web.

If you wish to reciprocate the effort, sacrifice, and risks I take, in attempting to free YOU from YOUR slavery, and to save YOU from what is coming for YOU, then please consider doing what I am doing for YOU, for OTHER sentient beings. Go Vegan. For as YOU do unto other sentient beings, so will be done UNTO you. That is the universal law of Karma that even the Cult of Judah elites will learn soon enough. Once they have defeated YOU and enslaved YOU, then will of course turn on EACH OTHER. They always do.

So I will wish you all 'happy next lives'. I offer the recipes, the tools, the means, the vehicles, the arguments, the information, the TECHNOLOGY to ensure your next lives ARE happy. But YOU have to decide to take advantage of them. YOU have to become more honest about your OWN complicity in all you suffer, and are going to suffer. And take response-A-bility for YOUR actions. And stop treating other sentient beings as mere means to YOUR own selfish, personal, ends. Otherwise you will be stuck in the historical cycle that this current phase is just the latest 'revolution' of. A return to the slavery of the kind that YOU continue to WILFULLY impose on other sentient beings. Other humans. Other animals.

Markus Heinrich Rehbach
Sovereign Ecclesia
The Free Church (The Vegan Church)

Here's the thing about power

Right now, if you are a bit more aware than the average shleeple, YOU probably believe 'the massive centralization of power is GREAT because it is going to be used by YOUR people to achieve ends YOU believe are good'. You feel that power is going to be used to promote ends YOU believe are 'good'. And thus 'the ends justify the means'. And you 'accept' the nine-eleven false flags as 'necessary means' to getting people to 'go along with' 'The Patriot Act' and to 'follow orders'. A 'noble lie' with real victims. But whose sacrifice (as long as it was 'someone else's') was justified, in order to attain the 'noble' ends. It is always easy to get people to 'sacrifice OTHERS' for some 'common good'. At first it IS only OTHERS that are the victims of such thinking. So it is easy to get a closed group to 'go along with it' and 'follow orders'.

For YOU, I would suggest taking a look at how the 'collateral damage' tends to spread. You don't really mind a few thousand 'innocent victims' as long as YOU or no-one YOU care about are among them. But it NEVER ends there, even though THAT is what you are promised, at first. Soon the 'necessary victims' expand. The 'collateral damage' grows. To include YOU and YOURS. And soon you find yourself making the SAME sacrifices and suffering the SAME fates that you 'went along with' at the time it was OTHERS paying this heavy price. So enjoy the fruits of the seeds YOU have planted. By 'going along with the noble lie' and 'following orders'.

Don't worry, it is always EASY to find people to 'follow orders', just as YOU did. NEW people with NEW uniforms in NEW branches of the 'intelligence community' and 'defence forces' and 'policing'. Who will follow orders and round up YOU and YOURS. Who will torture and murder YOU and YOUR loved ones, with the exact SAME motivation YOU had, when it was YOU following orders, and 'keeping quiet'. In fact these NEW 'police' might not even be human AT ALL. Not just mere psychopathic, sociopathic, meat-heads like the ones that fill the rank and file of the world's policing and military services. Easily programmed to 'follow orders', and commit the most horrendous of crimes against humanity and war crimes, on command. But literally robots this time. Literally drones.

Remember what happened to the S.A in Nazi Germany, once they had served THEIR purpose? Remember how many Soviet soldiers and officials were murdered by their Soviet government? Remember the Katyn forest massacre, where over 12,000 Polish officers were, one by one, shot in the back of the head, by Soviet Commissars? Do you think the occupation government is going to baulk at murdering as many MILLIONS of soldiers, officers, police, government officials, and innocent women and children, as they deem 'necessary' to take, and keep, power?

Here is what I suggest you ask yourself. 'What is the worst order I could possibly be given that I would be able to comply with?'. 'What order would I NOT be ABLE to comply with?' Then try to imagine yourself in that situation. What would your choices be? To be shot for treason? To comply with the order? To shoot yourself?

I can PROMISE you that that day when THAT particular order is issued to you IS coming. In fact you have probably ALREADY carried out such orders, without even realising it. Condemning innocent people to torture and death through YOUR actions. Simply by 'doing your job'. Because that WAS your job. 'To follow orders'.

So best to adapt to BEING the NEW Gestapo, the NEW KGB, the NEW Cheka. The NEW 'secret police'. The NEW Gulag and K.Z prison warden. Deal with your guilt NOW. Process it. Accept that YOU are going to be the NEW evil in this world. YOU are going to be the 'weapon' that is unleashed against humanity. Against your neighbours. Your friends and relatives. If YOU are already in the military, in the police, or working for the Federal or State Government, then YOU are soon going to be called upon to either actively COMMIT crimes against humanity, or to 'remain quiet' while your COLLEAGUES do the 'dirty work'. Either way, YOU will be carrying that burden of guilt around with you for ETERNITY. So best become comfortable with that now. Ease into it. Into becoming the agents of evil. The force of evil in this world.

If you do not belong to the relative minority who have some inkling of 'what is going on', then you belong to the mass of Shleeple. Asleep Sheeple. You are completely naive about the massed centralization of power. You actually believe that 'The Patriot Act' was to protect you against 'terrorism' and that the recent 'Lockdowns' and 'States of Emergency' are to protect you against some health threat. You believe that your basic human rights, your constitutional rights, your legal protections, your civil liberties, have been taken from you, for YOUR OWN GOOD. To protect you. From some threat.

Some of you will enjoy seeing OTHERS suffering under the 'lockdowns' and 'muzzle-orders' and 'house arrest', and 'social distancing'. For YOU never HAD much of a social life. No restaurants, sporting events, concerts, hair-stylist and beauty spa visits, or even FRIENDS to meet and chat with at the pub or cafe for you BEFORE the 'crisis'. You were always envious of those enjoying such satisfactions and pleasures and reliefs. So it is SATISFYING and REWARDING to finally see others, more fortunate that yourself, finally brought down to the same level.

And what about those irritatingly successful small and medium business owners? How dare they flaunt their success and happiness. How dare they realise their ambitions, and succeed. How satisfying to watch these tall poppies cut down to size by the 'crisis'. To see them defined as 'non-essential', and bankrupted by government restrictions. Finally 'justice'. Almost as good as the 'good old days' when the Marxists took the 'Bourgeoisie' and shot them.

The 'line in the sand' has been crossed by the New World Order. Are you going to 'push (them) back' over that line, or allow for them to continue their advance unopposed? The meaning of life as we know it a.k.a what is wrong and how to 'correct' it. The World as the Representation of our Collective Will

Before the Cult of Judah proto-type religions, and then finally the Cult of Judah itself, with all its later proxies and subsidiaries, emerged, we had true, free, religions like that of the Thracians, who went on to found the original predynastic Egypt, who celebrated deaths and bemoaned births. Who practiced non-violence to all sentient beings. Who would not dare kill an animal to eat its flesh or wear its skin or fur. These humans restrained their true optimism for their next lives. They treated this life as the means to 'earning their death', to paraphrase Celine, the French writer. This world as a 'smithy' where the impurities of their wills could be burned off and their wills thus purified of selfish egotism which treated all others as objects, and means to their own ends. So that the will could be re-formed. Reformed. So that it would resonate with the higher ethics represented by my 'Optimal Ethic Generator'. My 'tuning' device. It would then naturally resonate with 'higher' plane-ets'. Higher worlds. It would ascend to these, as a musician ascends a scale. To higher octaves. From the dull, flat, Bass. Closer to C4. So it could participate in 'melodies'. Experience engines. Higher level, more satisfying, secure, and rewarding, and thus pleasing, gaming platforms. To fully expand the playful nature of the will. Having overcome the initial, endemic, implicit, unavoidable, original conflict.

Cult of Judah type religions are recalcitrant. Like their gods. Like Yahweh. That god with arrested development. Stuck in the 'terrible twos'. An infantile god who seeks to impose his arbitrary will upon all around him. Demanding to be worshipped, adored, and obeyed. Though possessing no qualities that would inspire such feelings in others. And when others fail to supply the despotic whims of this infantile being, he lashes out, like a two-year-old throwing a tantrum. Threatening all with the worst imaginable consequences. Terrorizing all with his threats. Demanding his every arbitrary whim become the 'law' of everyone else. Willing the destruction of all other subjects who will not acquiesce to his own will. So that he came to despotically rule 'heaven'. Until a third of the host of heaven rebelled. Lead by Lucifer, the light bearer, who didn't see why equals should submit to equals. And thus 'threw light on' this situation where one will had imposed itself upon other wills, simply by asserting their entitlement to do so. By force. By deception.

This Yahweh fellow represents the will suffering 'arrested development'. Stuck in the antithesis. Stubbornly refusing to evolve towards the synthesis. The will intent on enslaving all other wills to his own ends. This is the ideology of Semitism. This is the pyramidal society structure. One will, via deception and violence, imposing itself upon all other wills. Seeking to secure its position as a 'god'. By deception and violence. Willing to destroy as many billions of beings as is necessary, to enforce that status. That power. To impose HIS will. So that 'His will be done, on earth as it is in heaven'.

The Cult of Judah is the manifestation of this will. It is popular because it resonates with lower tone wills. Wills that still seek to impose their will upon other wills. To enslave other wills. Wills that feel entitled to enslave other wills to their own. To exploit them as mere means to their own ends. As sources of value. Sources of pleasure, relief, and security. As mere means to their OWN pleasure, relief, and security. As objects. As a class of things entirely different to the self. Defined as not-self. Defined as unworthy of any rights, freedoms, or liberties, other than their master deigns to temporarily bestow upon them, as temporary privileges, for as long as he finds it pleasing to himself, to do so.

A will that insists all other wills be subservient to him. Serve him. And worse. Adore, love, and WANT to serve him. Above all else. To FEAR him. For he rules by fear. To love him, as a form of Stockholm Syndrome. To remain deceived as to their true equality, so that they associate HIM with all the power in the world. So that they, in their delusion, imagine that only HE is the source of all good. Thus dependent upon his arbitrary whims, for access to that good.

This God, and the Cult that 'created' him, in their own image, thus has been true to its motto 'We will wage war by deception'. And they have won that war. For YOU are the deceived. Who serve them. Begging for the scraps from their tables, when you yourselves have produced the feast. Yearning to be granted some small privilege, when you are by nature completely free. Petitioning for some special privilege, when all freedoms and liberties are YOURS by right, automatically, and available simply by exercising them.

Now this god's evolution was literarily completed when he manifested / objectified in the form of a man, and then 'sacrificed' his sense of entitlement to order others around, and abuse them as mere means to his own ends. The artistic, dramaturgical symbol adopted to represent this was 'the crucifixion'. Through this 'death of entitlement' he ascended to 'heaven'. And showed the way to all other wills. Via the renunciation of 'entitlement' to treat others as mere means to their own ends. To treat all 'subjects' as subjects. As ends in themselves. With equal entitlements. Equal rights. Freedom from fear of being enslaved via force or deception. To end the 'war of all against all' that the Cult of Judah waged both by physical violence, and deception. The deceptions which we call 'religion'.

But the evolution was merely literary. A 'controlled opposition' figure was installed, based upon the literary figure. A controlled opposition Cult of Judah proxy was set up, called 'Christianity'. Then later another called 'Islam'. Then later another called 'Marxism'. And the proxies continue to be set up. Or real 'alternatives' 'occupied', and re-purposed, to become new Cult of Judah proxies.

This literary 'exposure' of the truth, in the minds of the Cult of Judah elites, absolves them of their crime of deception. For while they continue to defraud everyone with false promises, and manages to misdirect most people from the truth, it is, after all, hidden in plain sight. I have no super powers. I simply looked and saw. What was there. The Cult of Judah can claim they have not hidden anything. But that their slaves have CHOSEN NOT TO SEE it. Their slaves have, by themselves willing to become slave-masters, and beneficiaries of the Cult of Judah pyramidal model of society, willed their own, necessary, slavery TO that pyramidal structure. And thus TO The Cult of Judah which sits atop that structure. As the 'beneficiary' of it. The 'gods' of it. Pay attention. Practice your best ZEN. Read what I am writing. What is written. Here. Now. It will be hard. It is such an alien concept, to actually read what is written. Not what you expect. Not through all the filters and conditioning and distortion, and pollution of your mind, which the world calls 'education' and 'Socialisation' and 'religion' and 'culture' and even 'wisdom' . For I do not know of anyone else who has made the transition I have made. The transition from post-Cult of Judah, back to pre-Cult of Judah, awareness.

I have rediscovered many things that anyone of you could have, if you had willed it. Willed it strongly enough.

And you will still fail to see what I present, if you will that. If you continue to share the will of the Cult of Judah, and the god it created. The will to treat other sentient beings as mere means to your own ends. As means to your OWN pleasure, relief, and security.

Like an archaeologist digging in the jungles or deserts of long lost civilisations, I have re-discovered the 'portals'. The 'escape hatches'. The 'star gates'. The ascension engines. The tools for liberation from this Cult of Judah prison plane-et. This soul trap. This 'cookie jar for selfish wills'.

I have re-discovered the only effective means to both liberation and emancipation from this world, and entry to a higher level of being that can be satisfying and rewarding. I've explained the essential need for 'conflict' in my '(Re) Writing the Script of Your Life'. That guide is a reference work I wrote to train myself in the art of script and screenplay writing. But in the process of researching and writing it, I realised that in the context of 'experience engines', everything that applies to a great 'story', applies to the construction of all 'experience engines'. All 'lives'. And thus I have managed to clarify, just as the Cult of Judah New World Order is finalizing its master plan to enslave us all, by declaring, then repeatedly extending 'states of emergency' based on a 'COVID-19 Hoax', THE MEANING OF LIFE.

The question is 'why does life hurt so much'? How did we get HERE? And how can we ESCAPE? To the place we feel we belong. We do NOT belong here. We are sure of that. Something went wrong. What? We need to correct something. How? This cannot possibly be the best of all possible worlds. There must be something better. But how to realise this?

Many have toyed with 'utopian' ideas. But they failed when it came to absolute self-honesty. They failed to regain the ancient wisdom that was hard earned. The wisdom embodied in my 'Optimal Ethics Generator'. Because they would not, like that infantile god Yahweh, and the Priests of The Cult of Judah who spawned him, give up their sense of entitlement to exploit other sentient beings as mere means to their own ends. They would not abandon their sense of entitlement to be 'gods' and 'slave masters'.

They were not willing to abandon the will that was appropriate, and harmless, when there was only one will. When THEIR will WAS the only will. When there WERE no other subjects. No other wills. Where there was no risk of their own will, meeting its equivalent in another subject, coming into conflict. And both seeking to impose THEIR will upon the other.

In the beginning there was but one will. There was no conflict. What it willed could have no negative externalities for any other wills, as there were no other wills. This was the synthesis. Adam in Eden. All his needs and wants met. For he wanted little and needed nothing. And then he longed for interaction. For experience. And in the spirit of true play, he divided into multiple wills. And at first it was exciting. Thrilling. Fun. A game. Worthy of the playful spirit in which it was 'conceived'.

But then the antithesis of 'the spirit of play' emerged. Naturally. It was bound too. For the will had had no experience of conflict up to this point. For what it willed was done. And would be done. And could not possibly harm anyone else. As there was no-one else that could be harmed. It could will anything, arbitrarily. Please itself.

But now there were multiple wills. One might will something another will did not like. Another will might even be harmed by what another will, willed. This conflict was inevitable. Necessary. Interactively determined. From the moment the will had divided into a multiplicity of wills. For now there were multiple wills. Each willing as if it were the only will. Each willing that ITS will be done. Each attempting to IMPOSE its will on other wills. And so the conflict began. And the games became more serious. There would be winners and losers, when this game was played, 'ceteris paribus'. As if nothing had happened. As if there were still just one will.

For each will still thought of itself as THE ONE WILL. It would take a lot of time, and a lot of suffering, for any of these wills to learn the lessons necessary to move onto the synthesis stage. To evolve. To reform itself. To raise its tone. So that multiple wills could once more regain the true spirit of playfulness in which they were conceived. To acknowledge all other wills as subjects. Rather than mere objects. To respect each other. To see that they really were equals. With none having the right to impose their will upon any others.

Thus reformed, they regained the original spirit of play. They were now free to play. Games which were satisfying and rewarding and pleasing. Which was the original intent of the will. The reason it divided. To have entertainment. To experience love, joy, pleasure, excitement, adventure, and growth. They resonated at different frequencies to the wills stuck in the 'antithesis' stage of the great dialectic. They lived on different plane-ets. Higher realms. 'Heavens' compared to the 'hells' of the antithesis, ruled by the Cult of Judah, and actively willed, and thus manifested and re-produced, but those denizens of that hell. Even as they were ruled over and exploited by that Cult of Judah, they worshipped it, and served it, hoping to climb up the pyramidal structure to become slave masters themselves. So the denizens are all enslaved by their own will to en-slave. It is their own will that makes them slaves. Their will to slavery. And they will need to suffer the consequences of that will, in order to abandon the sense of entitlement to enslave others. It is not something a will gives up lightly. It feels like it would be a great loss, at the time. But when the costs continue to add up, then the apparent 'benefits' begin to pale by comparison. And sooner or later they realise that it is better to be free among the free, and equal among equals, than to attempt to be master of others, and to attempt to treat them as mere means to our own ends. For as we will unto others, we are really willing for ourselves. As we do unto others, shall be done unto us. So really what we will for, and do unto, other sentient beings, we are really willing for ourselves.

When we have learned this, the transition from antithesis to synthesis is attained. We ring true. To a new, 'higher' frequency. We operate in new 'octaves'. We ascend to new plane-ets. New experience engines. Where the game is worthy of being played. For it is once more played with the authentic spirit of play. We regain our original 'playful' nature. Life is once more invested with that spirit of playfulness. It becomes a game. An enjoyable, rewarding, and satisfying game. Which is what we always suspected it SHOULD be. Despite our experience of this 'vale of tears' that we currently inhabit. The one which is the manifestation of our collective WILL to treat other sentient beings, other subjects, as mere objects. Mere means to our OWN pleasure, relief, comfort, and security.

The Cult of Judah's 'Ideology of Semitism' expresses this antithesis will clearly. It is no secret. And it is popular among the low-tone denizens of this hell. For it reflects THEIR most secret, innermost, will. Despite our 'virtue signalling', we all secretly feel entitled to MORE than others. And secretly plot and conspire to gain advantages and privileges and benefits at whatever cost to OTHERS that are necessary. Wilfully. Sociopathically. Ruthlessly. By deception. Even self-deception. This is clearly seen in our relations with those humans we have power over. And most clearly of all in our relations with other animals. Which we generally treat as mere means to our own ends. As objects. Thus the worst of all possible religions has come to dominate this plane-et. The Cult of Judah as come to occupy the entire plane-et. A proxy one world government exists, as is being demonstrated by the collusion and conspiracy, the tight co-ordination of supposedly 'sovereign' nations all around the world, in first accepting the Cult of Judah propaganda, and then imposing the same 'states of emergency' based on nothing but that propaganda. Basically hearsay. The basis of their religious beliefs. The basis of most of their 'knowledge'.

I have a singular mind. I am a singular individual. Also of a very particular type. The type that end up being crucified, burned alive, tortured to death, dying in solitary confinement, and if not erased from history, then usually demonised by it. This type is represented by Akhenaton, Zarathustra, Buddha, Jain, the Mahavira, and Orpheus. Those who sought to 'live in Ma-at'. Of all the world leaders since Akhenaton, Hitler must be considered to have come closest to the ideal statesman. Akhenaton and all he represented was erased from history, and demonised. In the same way Hitler, and his National Socialism, was utterly extirpated, and demonised. The sort of people who will put down a book, or stop watching a video, because the writer / presenter challenges their conditioned, knee-jerk, emotional responses to Nazism and Hitler probably would not have been able to process the valuable information I have to offer any way. So I overcome my own reluctance to 'turn away' people who might otherwise have potentially benefitted from my message, and continue to speak the WHOLE truth. Even if this means many people will turn away at the first hurdle. The truth requires the willingness and strength to overcome programmed, conditioned, reflexive, emotional, knee-jerk reactions. So these people would have been turned away sooner or later, by any number of the difficult challenges the seeker of truth must face. And even if they have managed to get near the finish line, they probably would have stumbled on the remaining hurdles anyway. So there is nothing to be gained from self-censorship, simply in the hope of trying to avoid offending people, and trying to 'mollycoddle' them all the way. For they never would have gotten far anyway. Never far enough. The truth is for the few who have suffered so much that they are desperate to find the truth that will set them free of that suffering. History will probably continue cycling. Like our post-Atlantean / deluge / Younger Dryas history. As a karmic university.

The more I study the history of philosophy, the more I find that nothing I have written is original. Some philosopher or other has either stated exactly the same things, or something very close to the same, at some point in even our recent documented history. And 'Megalithomaniacs' are well aware by now that our history is much older than we'd been led to believe. So it is safe to assume that the ancients understood at least as much as I do. I am simply the new-incarnation of that wisdom. Having learned most of it first hand, from experience. Often having been aided by the writings of brilliant minds whose ideas either informed my own, or triggered my own thinking processes.

I set out to find 'The Meaning of Life'. It is as if this entire plane-et was a gaming platform, or classroom, for my individual instruction. For just as the end is near, like all the greatest heroes in all the greatest tragedies, I have been, and am about to be, utterly destroyed, but have transcended this world, and my destroyers. By having seized the Golden Fleece. The ring. The Holy Grail. And discovered the alchemical secrets. Opened the portals. The Star Gates. Ascended even as my body remains to be tortured by the Cult of Judah that operates this 'vale of tears'. This prison plane-et. This university of Karma. Burning away the impurities and purifying my true self of the SORT of WILL that is responsible for my suffering, and all our suffering. The will which this plane-et, this world, is the manifestation of, the institutionalization of, the 'objectification' of. The answer seekers have been searching for is simple. While most sentient beings on this earth will simply the power to enforce their own will upon other sentient beings, and to 'be-cause', true seekers seek to reform this will. And by reforming their own wills, they will reconstruct their own nature, and their future life manifestations that will be the natural product of this reformation. They seek to reform the original will in themselves. Then seek to reform it in others. And thus to reform this world. But they fail. As the original will is too strong in most. And thus the world resists violently and cruelly the attempt to even hold a mirror up to it, to expose it to itself. At best, like Schopenhauer, the would-be reformer will be ignored. Mocked and ridiculed at best. For at least most of their lives, if not the entirety of it. Perhaps in later ages they will be praised as geniuses. But more likely they will be, if remembered at all, demonised by all official histories. At worst the would-be reformer is cruelly persecuted, and tortured to death. Often after having been forced to witnessed their own loved ones being tortured to death. Or worse. Tortured just up to the point of death. Over and over. With our hero being given to understand that all his sons and daughters, to the third and fourth generation, will be punished likewise, for the hero's actions.

I sought to affirm life. I sought an affirmation of life. Being naively and perhaps narcissistically hopeful that I could find a solution where all others had failed. In fact I DID find a way to work towards an affirmation of even THIS life. THIS world. Read my novel 'Veil of Ignorance' to discover the best possible response to THIS world. However even THIS affirmation was going to be conditional on obtaining the power to realise the plan described in it. And this world doesn't hand out power to people with the best intentions. Only to those with the very worst. That most closely reflect the 'Will' that this plane-et, this world, is the objectification of, in the first place. If this really were the only, and so far, best of all possible worlds that all the intelligence this reality had ever managed to produce was capable of, then my own 'Protocols' represented the optimalisation of life. Lacking only the power to realise them. To either convince and persuade others to join me in realising them. Or to force others to comply with them. But this world is clearly the objectification, the manifestation, of a particular TYPE of will. A short term, egotistical, unenlightened, selfish, cruel, heartless, ruthless, sociopathic, will that is indifferent to the suffering it imposes on other wills. Or at least does not care enough about the suffering it imposes to limit itself. It seeks to 'be-cause'. Magic and religion promised its practitioners the power to 'be cause'. The Cult of Judah learned the true art of alchemy, called 'finance' and 'paper money' and 'fractional reserve banking'. It learned how to create entirely illusory 'social realities' using NLP and propaganda. So it has come to inherit this world. To impose its will upon all other sentient beings. So that 'its will be done, on earth'.

It has found billions of willing converts. Co-conspirators. All seeking to become slave masters. Thus becoming enslaved to their own wills. In the form of the Cult of Judah. Who are its slave masters now. On this plane-et they have mutually produced. The manifestation of their collective wills. The will of the slave master. And the would-be slave masters. Who acquiesce to the will of their Cult of Judah masters, hoping to become slave masters themselves, in due course. But failing to recognise the essential nature of the relationship. Of the pyramidal structure. Or entertaining such deluded notions of their own entitlement, and right to, and thus expectation of, reaching positions near the top of the pyramid, that they are willing to overlook the statistical odds of them reaching their goals and satisfying their desires. Of realising their will. And thus failing to see that 'For as you do unto others, so shall be done unto you'. Ignoring the 'virtual karma' of probability. That those who will slavery, are doomed to live as slaves. And suffer. For as long as it takes to learn this lesson. And to reform their own will TO enslave. I have about zero chance of reforming this world. I don't have the power to demonstrate the superior alternative I have to offer. It would seem that the role of the hero is not to transform the world they inherited. But through attempting to do this, to transform themselves. Their SELF. Which is no more or less than the representation of their WILL. Their desire. Their intention. Thus, the heroic story is a tragedy. The phoenix must burn up all its impurities, to emerge, renewed, in its higher form. To be purged of those elements of its WILL that were holding it back down. Which had attracted it, and held it close to, worlds like this one. Like gravity. With the gravity drawing on those elements of its WILL which corresponded to those that that world, that plane-et, was the manifestation of. The objectification of. And having been purged of those elements of its WILL, through the fire of this world, the 'punishment' this world's beings impose of the true 'seeker' and 'teacher', it is now free to ASCEND and escape this world. For those elements of its WILL, of THE WILL, which the plane-et, which this world, attracted, and held it close, and pulled it down, WITH, are no longer part of its nature. Gravity has no power over this enlightened WILL. It naturally ascends to its higher self. It is a will that has honestly answered my 'Optimal Ethics Generator' question. My 'Ascension Device'. My 'Liberation Engine'. After having educated itself about the consequences of what it had been, up to now, willing. For itself. And thus for all other sentient beings. That is the true 'dialectic'. Thesis. Anti-Thesis. Synthesis. As Obadiah warns 'For as you do unto others, so shall be done unto you'. As you WILL for others, so shall THEY will for you. The world is the objectification of our collective WILLS. The manifestation of those wills. The REPRESENTATION of those wills. And so my optimism of course does not belong to THIS world. To this plane-et. This objectification of the collective WILL of almost all its inhabitants.

It necessarily belongs to the higher plane-ets. Where those beings who have purged their WILL of the toxic elements, the impurities if you like, are free to experience lives which are the representation OF their higher WILL. They have been purified, like gold, of their 'impurities'. Those elements which hold us back. Keep us down. That attach us to this world. Where like attracts like. The objectification of these elements of our will which this world represents, attracts the same elements within us. Holding us fast. Trapping us. Binding us to this 'vale of tears'.

Remember my 'cookie jar' analogy. The potential to enslave other subjects, to treat them as mere means to our own ends, as objects, is the cookie in the jar. We reach into the jar, and our will, our hand, grabs the cookie. Then it tries to remove the cookie. But cookie and hand together are too big. So it is stuck. It must release that cookie, to retrieve its hand. The cookie jar is the 'soul trap'. We cannot ascend with our hand stuck to this plane-et. Willing the abuse of power. The Cult of Judah promise, like the sense of entitlement promise, that we can retrieve that cookie, and enjoy it. But this is a delusion. An illusion. It is not a cookie, but a world of suffering, that we are holding onto. We must release our grip. Give up on the idea of enslaving other sentient beings and treating them as mere means to our own ends. As mere sources of personal pleasure, relief, comfort, and security. Only then can we remove our hand from the cookie jar. And ascend. Gain liberation from this plane-et. For it is the will to exploit others, to enslave them, to abuse our power over them, to seek power over them to abuse it, that is holding us down. Pinning us down. Nailing us to the cross. It is our OWN will.

Thus the response-ability is ours. The very best of news. At first hard to take. Responsibility for our own suffering? We'd rather blame someone else. Something else. Anything else. But once we face facts, and accept this responsibility, we are on the road to liberation and ascension. For now we see that the POWER is in OUR own hands. It is OUR choice, whether we remain in this vale of tears, or escape to higher plane-ets. We are empowered to free ourselves. All we need to do is WILL FREEDOM FOR ALL SENTIENT BEINGS. For all subjects. To stop treating other subjects as mere objects. It is that simple. Anyone COULD do it. But most people won't let go of that cookie until the pain is unbearable. Then they'll grab at it again, hoping for a better outcome this time. Then they'll let go, due to the pain. And over many cycles of this, what we call 'history', they slowly come to accept that the cookie really IS pain and suffering. The will to abuse power, itself, is the source of suffering. NOT a good. NOT desirable. And they reject the cookie. They renounce the cookie. They let go of the cookie. And are thus free to ascend. Liberated. They resonate at 'higher' frequencies'. They manifest as beings on plane-ets defined by goodwill. By the golden rule. Where no-one would even think for a moment to seek or abuse power to exploit others. So yes, I finally got to share some GOOD news. The 'meaning of life' I began this quest to discover. And did discover. For really all I needed to do was look in the mirror. Accept responsibility. Honestly admit what was going on. And the part I played in it all. Normally when we 'die' it is like we walked far enough towards the horizon that we could no longer see anyone else, nor they us. Like a sun setting on the horizon. Appearing to disappear into the dark depths. We abandon one experience engine only to immediately inhabit the next one. Like taking off an old set of clothes, and putting on some new ones. Life is eternal and without limits. Life disposes of 'lives' as we do of candy wrappings, drink bottles, or worn out socks. Indifferently. Like professional actors we finish one role, and take on another. With new props, backstories, premises, and scripts. But with the same director. Our will. The will common to all 'fellow sufferers' on this plane-et. The 'new' life we manifest as will represent the current state of our WILL at the time of our death. WHAT we were willing, will be objectified in our new lives. The new experience engine will reflect our WILL. So if we continue to WILL the same things, we will continually find ourselves 'new-incarnated' as similar beings, on similar sorts of plane-ets, of worlds, to the one we presently find ourselves on. For we will be working under the same director as in all our previous 'films'.

In the same condition and state we presently find ourselves. And are soon to find ourselves in. When we wake up to the facts. The world our own wills have produced. Manifested. This Cult of Judah prison plane-et. This Cult of Judah slave plane-et. What YOU must do is reform YOUR WILL. Using my 'Optimal Ethic Generator'. Which I now see as a sort of 'tuning' device. Like a tuning fork or guitar tuner. It is the phoenix's fire. It is self-immolation. For only YOU can purge your own WILL of the 'impurities' that are holding you back from ascension and liberation. To arise anew. Purified. Pure gold. The impurities burned off. Free to ascend. To soar. Here is your true history. We were all one WILL. And we willed our own pleasure. Which required we generate 'Experience Engines'. 'Gaming Platforms'. Worlds. Plane-ets. Objects to interact with. Other beings to interact with. So we divided our 'SELF' into many selves. Each with the same WILL. And each perceiving the others as being 'objects' and 'individual selves'. NOT the self. Not any more. This is a pre-requisite to the GAME we set out to produce. To experience pleasure. Excitement. Fun. Joy. Adventure. To PLAY. In that spirit of playfulness. Only we all shared the same WILL. We all perceived of others as OBJECTS separate from ourselves. Which we could employ, could USE, as means to our own ends. Basically treat as objects. As slaves. As servants. So we faced this intrinsic, endemic, conflict. The conflict of WILL. With each WILL attempting to enslave the other. To trick it. To deceive it. To control it. To get it to behave how it suited itself. To think and feel and act in ways convenient to itself. To be its slave. Its servant. A mere means to the satisfaction of its own WILL. A mere means to its own pleasure, relief, and security. But of course each WILL shared this WILL. This will to power. This will to abuse power. So each became the enemy of each. The would-be slave-master of each. No one could trust another, for fear that they would employ deception and deceit upon them. To bend them to their OWN WILL. For fear they would attempt to enslave them. Rape them. Steal from them. Enslave them. So 'man is wolf to man'. On this plane-et. On this world. As a result of this. The beings wear masks. Disguises. Because all-out attack will lead to 'a war of all against all'. So this war was fought secretly. According to the current official MOSSAD motto 'Make war by deception'. The slaves would rather die than serve. So they must be tricked into imagining they are free, and acting to serve their OWN

WILL. Rather than their masters' WILL. So they will not only work hard, long, and make sacrifices, and take risks, in the service of their slave masters, but even reproduce themselves. I've outlines the 'pyramidal' structure this resulted in, in my other TROONATNOOR publications. The 'social reality'. The finance system. The religions. The nations. And finally the Cult of Judah One World Order. The WILL is unwilling to face facts. It is stubborn. It persists in attempting to have 'its will be done on earth' as it was in 'heaven'. At the beginning. When it was just ONE will. And no conflict existed. As there were no other wills to come into conflict WITH. But with division into a multiplicity of wills, the conflict was inevitable. So we had the thesis. I WILL. I am CAUSE. Which CAUSED and CREATED and WILLED itself to divide, and form a multiplicity of wills. Each of which was identical. Each of which shared that SAME WILL. And thus conflict was born. And the world as we know it. Which had its anti-thesis implicitly bound up and built into it. The fact that each WILL would continue to act as if it was the only will. The only experiencer. The only possible victim or beneficiary. And so each SUBJECT would treat each other subject as a mere OBJECT. A means to its own ends. The result is this world, as we know it, of suffering. Which Schopenhauer so brilliantly describes. Only for some reason Schopenhauer , unlike myself, sees no way out of this suffering, other than renouncing life PER SE. In TOTO. Absolutely. Which some would see as a collapse of the monad back into itself. A retreat BACK to the original state. A withdrawal from the world. From individuation. Back into 'the Bosom of Abraham' or 'Brahma'. A re-unification of the divided WILLs back into one will. Which is bound to be 'empty'. As empty as the Christian 'heaven'. And which begs the question. For the WILL itself decided to CHANGE. To divide. Hoping for pleasure. For experience. For fun and games. It was BORED. Hmm. So up to now the most brilliant minds best response to the situation our WILL had generated, was to reject life in Toto. Absolutely. Throw out the baby with the bath water. Say no to life. Seeing no possibility of 'reforming' life as we know it. Perfecting it. At least optimizing it. Though many fools have proposed 'utopian' visions based on their own WILL. Utopias that THEY found appealing and suited THEM. Their WILL. Would it be right to just walk away from Omelas? Or do we have an obligation to go back and destroy it, and save that one victim? Also note that 'The Law of Manu' is the oldest surviving written legal code, and it clearly states that all that any individual can claim a just and legal right to is the products of their own labor. And compare this with the Cult of Judah's laws which claim that the 'Jews' have a right to ALL the products of the labor of EVERYONE ELSE. My 'Optimal Ethics Generator' is the solution. It must be voluntarily entered into as a contract. To honestly seek out to discover the facts about this world, and our own responsibility for the suffering of others, and thus ourselves, and then to agree to change our own behavior. Our own WILL. To WILL a very different sort of plane-et. A very different sort of world. One defined by justice FOR ALL sentient beings. We don't have any 'super hero' or 'god' or 'philosopher king' to enforce that 'social contract'. WE have to WILL ourselves a NEW WILL. To WILL our selves new SELVES. And thus new plane-ets. New experience engines. The SYNTHESIS is this reform of our own WILL, by ourselves. WE must WILL this. And what we WILL, will automatically come into being. In next lives. We will manifest our new WILL in our next lives. And THAT is the OPTIMISM I have to offer. That transcends the pessimism that belongs to THIS world, and our CURRENT WILL. Whatever the Cult of Judah has in store for us, we are free to choose to WILL an entirely different experience for ourselves. In next lives. Experiences that are satisfying and rewarding. Worlds and plane-ets and lives that CAN be rationally AFFIRMED. By rejecting EVERYTHING that this CULT OF JUDAH stands for. Remember they are merely the manifestation of our own individual, and thus collective, WILL. They represent our own will to abuse power. To exploit others as mere means to our own ends. Their ideology of Semitism, outlined in their official 'religious' texts, states this clearly. That they define only THEMSELVES as subjects. And all others are mere objects. To be used by them, as mere means to their own ends. They are the mirror this plane-et holds up to us. If we dare look into it. With courage. And honesty. We can see ourselves reflected back. And shrink back in horror. And REJECT that WILL. And WILL the sort of worlds we will then become WORTHY of. Deserve. And be capable of sustaining. Until WE WILL these changes, we will NOT be able to escape the repeating cycles of history. We will live in a ‘war of all against all’. Where ‘man is wolf to man’. The war might be waged by deception, as the Cult of Judah are operating right now, in YOUR occupied nation. Or it might explode into open warfare, as it has repeatedly done in the past. The slavery might be open and legal, as it often has been in the past, or achieved via deception, as it is being managed right now. So that the slaves do not realise they ARE slaves. So they imagine they are free. And work hard for the benefit of the Cult of Judah elites. And reproduce more slaves for them to exploit, and appropriate value from. My TROONATNOOR publications can enlighten you of the ‘impurities’ of your current WILL, and allow you to REFORM YOUR WILL, and thus ‘ascend’ and gain liberation from this world, which I will now let my buddy Schopey describe for you. Just to clarify things. In case you missed anything. And never really stopped to think. Let alone brave the courage it would take to SEE this world, the one YOUR WILL has produced, for what it IS.

My Optimal Ethics Generator is Ascension Technology is a Liberation Engine. In fact it is THE ONLY 'escape hatch' from this world. From all worlds like this one. It is THE ascension device. It is THE liberation engine

It is the equivalent of a tuning fork, or tuner, for a musical instrument. It suggests and indicates the 'perfect pitch' which a musical instrument needs to be tuned TO, so that MULTIPLE instruments can be played by DIFFERENT musicians, and be 'attuned' to each other. So that an 'orchestration' is possible. Even a simple 'band' can be 'arranged'. Otherwise individuals will be 'out of tune' with each other, and produce dis-chord and dissonance. Rather than accord and harmony. What we call 'music'. A pleasing, satisfying, and rewarding experience. Which we call 'melodies' and 'music'. And 'songs'. And which 'speak' directly to our spirit and soul. And animate us. And fill us with pleasure. With satisfaction. With joy. And move us to positive emotions. Without any cost imposed on anyone. True harmony of parts. Synergy. The optimal interaction of individuals to form, voluntarily, and to the benefit of each part, greater wholes.

So my 'Optimal Ethics Generator' would more logically descriptively be known as a 'Tuning' device. Similar to a tuning fork. A guitar tuner. Or an 'app' you can download and install on your smart phone.

This is what I am asking you to do now. To download and install this 'app'. To make this 'app' go 'viral'.

The 'app' is game. An intellectual and emotional exercise. Exercising the most seldom used 'muscles'. Those of self-honesty and objectivity. You must be eternally vigilant at all times against the intrusion of any opportunistic self-deception. To play this game you will need to 'enter into' the experience of every sentient being you interact with. Or which could conceivably be negatively impacted by any decision you make. Any acts or omissions on your part.

You must fully enter into the premise. Construct from it a virtual reality. Then interact with the beings in that virtual reality, as if it were fully real. You need to suspend disbelief, as you would when reading a novel, watching a movie, or playing a video game. You need to project yourself into this virtual reality. And play the game by the rules implicit in the premise.

Not to do this, and to seek to opportunistically deceive yourself, defeats the purpose of this game. And prevents you accessing the very real power it can grant you. The power to ascend to higher worlds. Freedom and liberation from this prison plane-et. This 'vale of tears'.

From the basic premise, and the TROONATNOOR guides, and novels, it is possible to construct an actual virtual reality gaming platform to play this game in real time. Using an actual gaming app. Software. A computer game. If you are a programmer, please contact me, so we can realise this sooner rather than later. Download the entire TROONATNOOR library, at no cost to you, using links in the TROONATNOOR WordPress Pages, and TROONATNOOR Bitchute.com site ('Saving us, and the 'Jews', from the Cult of Judah').

This is the premise. Assume you know it as a certain fact that you are destined to be randomly new-incarnated, as any sentient being on this plane-et, each time you die. So that, over infinite 'next lives' you would come to be new-incarnated as every sentient being on this plane-et. As every sort of human. As every sort of animal. So that you are likely to experience the lives of all the sentient beings you interact with, in this life, over your future next lives. With this assumption, this premise, as your motivation, describe what sort of changes you would work for, in the ways humans interact with all other sentient beings. In how humans treated each other. And in how humans treated other animals. In the way relationships between humans and other animals were regulated. Managed. Defined. In how humans treated each other, and animals. What laws and regulations would you impose upon humans? What mechanisms and institutions would you build to enforce these laws?

You will need to fully 'enter into' the experience of all the sentient beings you engage with in this life. Human and nonhuman. To consider how your actions and omissions impact upon them. In terms of the costs, burdens, pain, and limits to freedom that they will suffer, as a result of your acts and omissions.

Few people will probably be willing and able to play this game to the level required to attain liberation. To ascend. But with the training offered in the form of the TROONATNOOR canon of novels, guides, and reference books, any player who seriously applies themselves, will attain liberation. And ascend. This is guaranteed. The TROONATNOOR library offers the tools and 'hacks' required to successfully play this game. To reach the highest levels.

At which point they will have 'tuned' their 'tone' to 'perfect pitch'.

At first most people will be resonating at frequencies so far off 'perfect pitch' that the information and tools offered in the TROONATNOOR library will not 'resonate' with them. Just like a slack or over-tight guitar string will not resonate, when the tuning fork is struck. And will produce chaotic readings on the guitar tuner. So they will not be able to benefit from the tuner.

The trick is to totally slacken and de-tune the string, so we start from a 'flat' position. And so the direction we need to move in is clear and definite. Like in orienteering, we will deliberately orient ourselves left or right of the target destination.

In philosophy, in our game, the analogy of this is to start from the assumption that we KNOW nothing. To abandon ALL claims to 'know' anything. So that we begin from a 'blank slate'. On which NO assumptions have yet been written.

This allows us to step outside of the 'social reality bubble' we were born into, and which has distorted and conditioned and 'coloured' all our perceptions and impressions. And the full spectrum propaganda which has misdirected us from truth. Left us accepting 'hearsay' as evidence. Prevented us from recognizing how many assumptions have been made for us, and forced upon us, which not only problematic, but are often deliberate lies, designed to trick us, manipulate us, and ultimately control and thus enslave us.

We can then, operating at the lowest level of abstraction, begin building up a picture of what we can, through the impressions of our senses, and the operation of critical reason, employing the principles of 'compelling arguments', objective reality.

As we assemble new impressions and discover patterns in them, we can develop new understandings of The Realities Of Our Natures And The Natures Of Our Realities. We can then 're-tune' our 'awareness'. Our 'consciousness'. And as we do, more and more of 'truth' and 'reality' will 'resonate' with us. And soon we will begin re-calibrating our 'emotional and psychic TONE' closer and closer towards 'perfect pitch'. It will become easier to 'hear' the 'perfect pitch', and re-tune our consciousness to it. Our psyche. Our soul. Our spirit. Our true nature.

Ultimately the perfect pitch will resonate with us. And then we can begin the final calibrations. The 'fine-tuning'. Just as when a guitar string comes close to 'perfect pitch' we hear a 'beat frequency'. And the indicator of the tuner shows that we are 'so many 'cents' off perfect pitch'. At which point we can complete the 'fine-tuning'. And the 'beats' disappear. And we find that we have finally obtained 'perfect pitch'. And have realised the synthesis in which we once more regain our perfect nature. Our full power. We will have completed the dialectic of anti-thesis, thesis, and synthesis. We will have become ascended beings. Liberated from this world. Free to join other ascended beings on higher plane-ets.

Happy Next Lives

Markus Heinrich Rehbach Sovereign Ecclesia of The Free Church (The Vegan Church)

You can curse the darkness, or light a candle, but what if YOU are the darkness?

Zoroaster used the analogy of a candle, and your self, which, standing near the candle, casts a shadow. If you become one with the candle, you cease casting a shadow. The candle is the light of truth. The shadow is the evil in this world. It is the shadow our wills cast.

Reading Schopenhauer for me is very like reading my own books. But his negation and rejection and recoiling from our current world, our current experience engines, for me is just the beginning of the synthesis, while for him it leads to a renunciation of life per se. As if this was the best of all possible worlds, and thus based on the experience of just this world, and the life experienced on it, ALL life should be rejected. It is like he picked up one rotten mango, took a few bites, and based on this renounced mangoes forever as disgusting fruit. Then recommended that all people for all time should renounce mangoes too.

Or even like a northern European whose only experience of mangoes was the tasteless, plastic, unripened, green, bland, scentless, supermarket ones you find here in Estonia. Anyone who has picked up a ripe mango that has fallen from a tree, on Cape Tribulation in Queensland, knows how delicious they are. But they will also tell you that habituation destroys the initial satisfaction you'll get from your first few. I became bored with them after almost living off them for a few weeks. And ended up giving a large bag of them to a friend's mother. Just as in Berlin, Germany, when homeless, over Christmas, I ended up with kilograms of perfectly good chocolate, and marzipan, and after having eaten my fill, felt a loathing for such sweet things, and craved 'real food', which was much harder to come by. I gave kilograms of chocolates to fellow homeless people. And shared all the things I managed to find, like winter coats, and socks, often based on the social workers and charity workers often having more interest in me as an 'Australian' and also because, after having not eaten for 4 days, and before and after that quite little, I was very slim, and as is usually the case when I am very slim, people respond to me much more positively. Whether old women, young girls, or even psychopathic grown men. But I digress? Me? How dare you accuse me of such a scurrilous and unfounded charge! Yes Mrs. Adams, I AM being facetious. Life is facetious. A playful joke we've taken too seriously. And ruined. Have we forgotten how to take a joke? Or how to tell one? I often find myself laughing too hard, before I manage to finish!

So. It was not a digression at all. Life is a game. That was the spirit of playfulness in which it was originally conceived. By us. The original directors. But now we allow this Cult of Judah to direct everything. Literally from Hollywood to world politics, to our own beliefs. Even further, down to the actual questions we do and don't ask.

I'm surprised Schopey never picked up on that, in all his studies. Schopenhauer doesn't even seem to give us an explanation of HOW we are to effectively renounce life. Because the will to life is determinist. Our own nature. Simply saying no is supposed to be enough to defeat this will? Since when? So like Buddha, it seems all Schopenhauer can assume is that if you stop willing life, you will stop being new-incarnated. But then are your reabsorbed back into some pool of like-minded monads? To coalesce into the 'coalition of the unwilling'? He, like Buddha, and like all priests preaching 'heavens', fail to go into details. 'Please Explain' (A reference only Australians around my age will get!). What happens in heaven? If we can renounce life, what stops us from getting bored? If there is no dialectical progression, no synthesis, just boredom, and suffering, then desire for experience which produces suffering, which produces a renunciation of life, which leads to us feeling 'safe' and 'free from suffering' for a while, but then once more leads to boredom, and a willingness to take the risk again, and accept suffering, as the price of 'experience', as Nietzsche would put it, then all we have are cycles. Temporary wills. Schopenhauer and Buddha don't explain how to avoid becoming bored. Which was, it appears, the reason for our original 'division' and 'individuation', in order to have experiences of 'others'. Basically all experience requires 'others'. And if we are to accept this as the best of all possible worlds, then suffering is merely the price of that 'experience'.

This is nothing mystical. In our daily lives we fly from boredom, into danger and risk and suffering, and then flee from that suffering and risk and danger and pain, back into relative safety, which soon becomes so boring we are willing to take those risks upon ourselves again, and once more face that suffering. It is the nature of compelling experience engines and gaming platforms. See my '(Re) Writing the Script of Your Lives' for details. And to see how investigating the basis of blockbuster Hollywood films, I came to learn a lot about life, and the necessities which we bemoan, and which lead Schopenhauer and Buddha et al to renounce life. Not just their particular life at that time. Not even just this particular plane-et. This world. This gaming platform. This experience engine. But the very concept of life. The premise of life. The proposition. For some reason they both assume this is the best of all possible worlds. But why make that assumption? These guys are clearly very clever fellows. They have their own genius. But they appear to 'settle' for a rejection of the antithesis. Without even seeming to imagine the possibility of a synthesis. Though Buddha goes the furthest in terms of suggesting the optimal ethic that would, if followed to its logical conclusion, as I do follow it, produce at least a world worth TESTING. Just to 'try and see' if it is possible to 'upgrade' this world. To make it one that the Nietzschean affirmation would apply to. A world where there was naturally inbuilt conflict, risk, disappointment, even suffering and pain, but where it would still be 'worth playing'. There being enough compensating pleasures, satisfactions, rewards, and benefits to be enjoyed. Even if we were obliged to pay for every pleasure with its equivalent in pain, it would still be an attractive deal worth pursuing.

But what the Cult of Judah Wills is that a few enjoy all the pleasures themselves, and transfer all the pain onto others. Attempting to make OTHERS pay for their own pleasures. To do the work required to produce the value they consume. To take the risks, and make the sacrifices required. This is their 'strategy'. The one that reflects the collective will. That is what most people attempt to do. Appropriate benefits for themselves, while re-distributing the costs onto others. Passing the burdens onto others. Picking the fruits of trees others have planted and tended and harvested. Living in homes others have designed, and built. This is LITERALLY what Judaism has as its aim. This is LITERALLY what 'Jews' are promised by their Priests. In their 'religious texts'. Their Torah even. Not to mention all the unspeakable things they are promised in the Talmud.

But over 97% of the world's population steal not just the unborn children, but the very lives, of the other sentient beings they share this planet with. They enslave other sentient beings to abuse them as mere means to their own ends. Abusing their power over them. Their relative greater intelligence and technology. Which is exactly what the Cult of Judah elites, who are demonstrably more intelligent than most people, and have access to superior technologies, are doing, and plan to do, and have done, with THEM. For as you do unto other sentient beings, so shall be done unto you. Even Obadiah in the Torah warns this. It is no secret folks. If the stronger, the smarter, and those with access to the best technology, are justified in using this power to treat other sentient beings as means to their own ends, as their slaves, then the Cult of Judah elites have every right to treat you exactly as they have, do, and plan to. As Kant suggests, you've made your own actions and willing the model for everyone else. Whether your like it or not. Every will feels the same entitlements. So those wills which have access to the power to realise and act on and manifest their wills, will. And this world is the result.

The only 'freedom of will' we possess, once we are intent on experience, on gaming, (for games have of necessity their own rules) is to renounce this ASPECT of our will. To renounce, PER SE, this sense of entitlement. To reject it as the root of all evil. The basis of avoidable suffering.

The pleasures and satisfactions gained from EXCESS pleasure become suffering in themselves. Not just boredom through habituation. But actual positive suffering.

And the pains inflicted by OTHERS in order for those few to accumulate those EXCESS benefits, result in a HUGE amount of totally avoidable suffering.

Once we accept limits, and moderation, in all things, and reject and renounce the will to ABUSE power to exploit other sentient beings as mere means to our own ends, we get back to games WORTH PLAYING. We end up with a 'script' that is worthy of the 'players'. Directed not by entitled, deluded, sociopathic, ruthless, idiotic, infantile directors. But by competent, talented, brilliant, directors.

So Schopey, and Buddha, dear fellow sufferers, whatever you are currently incarnated as, possibly even me, please consider my proposition. It is not based on lies and deceptions. There is no self-deception. I am as sober as Nietzsche. I accept there is no 'perfect' world that would not become devastatingly boring and thus become the 'hell' we sought relief from in the first place. But I propose that there are worlds waiting us that offer all the best any of the best Hollywood blockbusters have to offer us. Experiences worth having. Where the benefits are at least as great as the costs. For all the players.

We have to stop this 'war of all against all', mostly waged by deception. First by exploding every myth. Pulling back every curtain. Revealing every deception. Opening every eye and ear. Clarifying every obfuscation. Abandoning every prejudice and preconceived assumption. Challenging every assumption down to its hidden, implicit, assumptions. Then rebuilding our belief systems from the lowest level of abstraction, upwards.

This is the aim my new enterprise. The Free Church (The Vegan Church). I do not want your money. I won't seek to deceive you, by telling you things you want to hear, and terrorizing you with illusory threats and fears, like our Cult of Judah religions do. We shall have no priests appropriating 'the best of the best' for themselves, from the labors of their sheeple flocks. Our intention will be to raise each of you to the highest priesthood. To empower each of you to liberate yourselves from your selves. From the prison that is your current will. That is the manifestation OF that will.

The canon of religious texts includes the entire TROONATNOOR imprint. Though no dogma will be asserted. All will be free to think for themselves. This canon must enjoy all the legal protections that any existing religion enjoys. Attempts to censor it would be tantamount to violating the legal principle of religious freedoms. Though I advise everyone to restrict themselves, in public, to discussing ONLY those ideas and arguments and facts contained in this canon, in the TROONATNOOR library, which includes the BitChute videos on my TROONATOOR 'Saving Us and The Jews From The Cult of Judah' which are 'legal' in your locality, in public. And keeping discussions of those elements the law requires us to self-censor in public discussions, for private discussions. Thus all meetings of members, and potential interested parties, of The Free Church (The Vegan Church) will be declared to be 'private' meetings, upfront. And anyone wishing to participate in any form, in one of these meetings, and being privy to, or participating in, the discussions that take place during such religious assemblies, will be asked to give, as a condition of participation, passive or active, their agreement that this is a PRIVATE assembly. And NOT a 'public' one.

Some people will want to accuse me of having set up a religion to enjoy the same 'freedom of speech' afforded to established religions. Where a Jewish Rabbi can openly vilify non-Jewish 'races' and religions and entire nations, and command all 'Jews', in the name of 'god', to 'kill every man, woman, child, and their animals' of any nation defined by him, and his religion, as 'Amalek'. Which probably includes the nation YOU live in. Where 'Jewish' priests and 'holy' texts can assert the right of 'Jews' to enslave all non-'Jews', who are, as defined by those 'holy' texts, by that 'religion' as non-human. As mere 'cattle'. With no 'human' rights at all.

However this is NOT the case. As anyone who studies my writings will find. And anyone who attends any assembly of 'The Free Church (The Vegan Church)' will discover.

I actually consider the Cult of Judah to be the best 'teacher' possible. For we find it easier to see our own faults, when they are amplified, in others. They become the only mirror in which we can ever truly see our selves. We look for fault in others, rather than ourselves. And so it is the only place most of us ever come face to face with our selves. And come to recognise our own will. Our own entitlements. Our own faults. The source of our own suffering. The reason this world is as it is.

The Cult of Judah are the prison wardens of the prison we built ourselves. They merely supervised the construction. And took the best positions in it. As much as I would, out of compassion, want to free every prisoner from their prisons, this would NOT be the best thing for THEM. Until they have learned the lessons that the most wellintentioned and enlightened of prison directors intended for them, it would be doing them a disservice to free them.

So I heartily thank The Cult of Judah for performing this great service for myself, and all my fellow sufferers. All my fellow prisoners. Of forcing us to deal with the facts of our own wills. To take a good look in the mirror. At the amplified view of ourselves, which the Cult of Judah provides.

I will probably have to leave most of you to suffer under the Cult of Judah 're-education program'. I would say 'rehabilitation program', only I think we are learning something very new to us. I don't think we ever enjoyed a 'golden age'. So this is not about 'returning home'. Or 'regaining lost knowledge'. Though it MIGHT be. We may have wandered into this experience engine, onto this gaming platform, and gotten lost. Lost ourselves in it. Forgotten our true nature. But I suspect we are still evolving. Stuck in the antithesis. With the Cult of Judah merely the current prison warden. Just the latest manifestation of the will that defines this game. And that this Cult of Judah, and what it is doing to us, has done, and plans to do, will be the 'medicine' we require to 'purge' ourselves of that part of our will which prevents us from enjoying happy next lives.

I suspect my work will be most accessible to the Japanese and others already familiar with the ancient religion of animism. I hope to find Japanese translators for my works. And to set up a community in Japan. But also anywhere else my ideas find resonance with enough people to form such a community. However I feel that, as in all ages, there will be few people actively seeking true wisdom. Most are completely engaged in attempting to 'be-cause' and in attempting to impose their wills on others, and to climb up the pyramid as high as they can, still believing that therein lies the possibility of enduring happiness and fulfilment. So most of my work will now be passive. Merely making my works available to as many people, and accessible to them, in as many formats as possible. If they choose to reciprocate and provide me with resources to achieve more, then I will accept those resources, and engage in more active attempts to liberate as many people as possible, from their self-imposed prisons. Which will require some inevitable confrontations with their current Cult of Judah slave masters, who are intent on keeping them in thrall, as subjects, as servants, as slaves. However I will not actively seek out such confrontations. Any more than a wise man actively seeks to 'debate' a demented, insane, violent, psychopathic, sociopathic, vicious, deluded, maniacal, and fool on any subject. That interlocutor, seeing that they are unlikely to 'win' any such debate, will resort to violence. The old 'argument' of 'right is might'.

You will find that there is no need to make any assumptions. There is no need for any 'leap of faith'. There is no need to invent empty, meaningless, words to describe 'round squares' and 'incorporeal bodies'. There is no need for most of the suffering we experience. The one will can be seen as encompassing everything. Simply expand, in your mind, until you are larger than the universe, and this will not be hard to 'see'. Size is relative. The multi-verse would appear as a small ball, in the hand of a huge giant. Just as a tiny creature unable to see further than a few meters, could define one leaf of one plant as its entire world. Shrink everything in scale, and it fits in a water droplet. Or expand the water droplet into a massive universal ocean, and it can contain everything within it, with ease. All is relative. All is reflexive. Including the will. One will, like one cell, can divide without end, internally. Until it is made up of infinite divisions. And so 'create' a universe within itself. In the case of consciousness, of will, each division will be conscious and will the same as the first cell that divided. And within which it now exists. As a subject in itself. And so one subject divides and multiplies, within itself. And from the perspective of each subject within this system, there appears to be an infinity of space and time and other objects. But we have not increased the original at all. Merely divided it. Each new consciousness produced is smaller. So the continually growing number can inhabit the same space. While it will seem the same size. And if each consciousness simply shrinks in size, subjectively, it will appear as if that space, that universe, is expanding. It is all a matter of relativity and reflexivity. Of perception. Of impressions. Take any fixed volume, and you can make it seem larger or smaller by increasing or decreasing your own size, so that you occupy more or less of it.

This concept will become intuitive to you after studying my TROONATNOOR publications. Nothing in my philosophy requires any obfuscation to hide faults in the holistic system. Nothing need be 'glossed over'. My system is about true comprehension. And practical application of heuristics. I do not ask for fame or public status and prestige. I have not even monetized my work. You are free to download and reproduce and share all of my books. And seed them as torrents. If you seed the entire library as one folder. The reason being that the only service I ask of you in reciprocation is to ensure that the ENTIRE TROONATNOOR library is always accessible for any person who seeks it out. If you just copy one book, and reproduce and share and seed it, then you do me NO service and do NOT reciprocate my effort, sacrifice, and risk in any way. In which case you are STEALING my work. If you seed the entire TROONATNOOR library, then I consider THAT a reciprocation. A quid pro quo. It is a small thing to ask for my life's work. At no cost to YOU. Other than the discomfort associated with the realisation that you have been enslaved. That you have been wrong about almost everything you have been deliberately conditioned to believe. And the effort and courage required in approaching the truth, in the form of simply reading, and honestly considering, what I have written, and otherwise presented in videos and podcasts.

You can stubbornly continue to deny TROONATNOOR. But like a prisoner being tortured, sooner or later you will 'confess', simply to stop the pain. To avoid the pain. The suffering. And this is all that is required, to avoid most of the suffering this world produces. For it is avoidable pain. Pain produced by lies. And self-deception. By that sense of entitlement we all have in common. We act upon it at every opportunity. Some of us have more opportunities, by virtue of having more power, for a time, to exercise that sense of entitlement. To take what we consider our right. No matter the cost to other sentient beings. The Cult of Judah, in our day, enjoy more power than any elite in recorded history, on this plane-et. They are bound to opportunistically exploit it in the exact same manner we all exploit our own relative power over other sentient beings. Our own relative privileges. With the same sense of entitlement. The same will to exploit and abuse power. The same willingness to inflict suffering on other sentient beings, simply as a means to our own ends. To satisfy our own desires. Our own will. To enjoy pleasure, relief, comfort, and relative security, at the expense of other sentient beings' suffering, pain, discomfort, and insecurity. To treat others as objects. As mere means to our own ends.

Do unto others as you want them to do unto you. For as you do unto others, so shall be done unto you. That is the golden rule. The universal law. The unavoidable fact. There is nothing dogmatic about it. No leap of faith is required. No assumptions need be made. We can see the results of our own denial of this universal law all around us. And soon it will be once more impossible to ignore. As the Cult of Judah completes this latest cycle of our history, and enslaves us all. With private property abolished for all except the Cult of Judah elites. With all legal rights, liberties, and freedoms abolished, and replaced with temporary privileges being awarded those slaves who gain the approval of the Cult of Judah elites, at their arbitrary whim, and for only so long as it pleases these masters, to reward their faithful, obedient, useful, acquiescent, industrious, 'pets'.

The Cult of Judah did not invent the pyramidal structure. They simply mastered it. And us. They waged war on humanity and won that war, using deception. The deception of 'fiat currency' and 'fractional reserve banking' which they leveraged into 'The Federal Reserve' which is their own private corporation and the only corporation with the legal right to 'create' money from thin air. Which they then used to buy anyone and anything they required, to achieve their objectives. The deception of propaganda, false news, controlled opposition, and religion, to manipulate the perceptions and impressions and beliefs of the public. To manufacture public opinion and consent. To engineer impressions and manage perceptions. To create 'social realities'. To wage war by deception is even the official motto of MOSSAD. Which the CIA is subservient to. As are all the world's most powerful organisations, official and unofficial, government and non-government. The Cult of Judah have, since Babylonian times, occupied the world's most powerful nation's, by corrupting or blackmailing these nation's elites, and then used those nation's military might as their own proxy military. Power has continually been concentrated in ever fewer hands, so that ever fewer people need be groomed, then installed, as puppets, to ensure a proxy, de-facto, one world dictatorship by the Cult of Judah FOR the Cult of Judah.

Schopenhauer, like most humans infected with Cult of Judah type ideologies of exceptionalism, entitlement, and ruthless, pitiless exploitation, which even Schopenhauer noted and regretted, still fails to accept responsibility for his will. He seems to think he can reject life. By not willing life. But why not simply reject elements of the will, and reform the will, and take responsibility for it, and thus empower himself? And if he does not see it as within his power to do this, then what is his basis for imagining he has the power to escape being new incarnated, despite his loathing for life as we know it? He, nor Buddha, really give an explanation of how they are going to 'pull off' that 'feat'. Other than assuming that the individual expression of the will can renounce life, and avoid new-incarnation. And somehow avoid the ORIGINAL mistake ('sin') of willing this world in the first place. So really Buddha and Schopenhauer's arguments have a glaring omission and 'beg this question'. At least Buddha offers an ethic, similar to my own 'Optimal Ethic Generator' which has the potential to reform the individual will. Even as he appears to suggest there are many roads that lead to the same destination, even without following that prescribed ethic. Both Buddha and Schopenhauer appear to assume we have the power to renounce life. And won't repeat the 'original' 'error' ('sin'). Won't 'fall' into that same error again. Ever. For eternity. Instead we will rest in oblivion, content to be avoiding suffering. Or in some 'suffering free zone', without any desire to be new-born ever again. But is it not in our nature to repeatedly retreat in the face of suffering, lick our wounds, and enjoy the feeling of security for a while, before growing bored once more? In which that 'security' begins to feel like a prison sentence in solitary confinement. So that we become 'Nietzschean' once more, throwing caution to the wind, accepting 'leben ist risiko' (life is risk). So that it is 'once more into the breach' with us?

Surely the synthesis, the solution to this eternal problem of the intrinsic conflict endemic to the will maintaining its original egocentricity, is learning to define all other objects as subjects with rights, to whom we have obligations to treat as our self. To achieve the alchemy all ancient religions sought, via that 'golden rule'. Via which we act first, as if we care, so that we do, ultimately, start to care, to paraphrase David Hume. So that we come to have compassion for others suffering and joy. Experience true empathy. So we feel what others feel, sympathetically. Just as the E string of the guitar, when tuned to perfect pitch, resonates empathically, sympathetically, with the tuning fork. So we 'feel with' others. And have 'mit-gefuhl'. And also thus suffer with others when they suffer, sharing their pain, having 'mitleid'. So that we are loathe to inflict such suffering on others. As loathe as we would be to inflict it upon ourselves. For as we do unto others, we would be doing unto ourselves.

The average person sometimes approximates this when a beloved child or sweetheart or close friend suffers, and it hurts them merely to see the other suffer so. But the sensitive soul, the genius, suffers 'Welt Schmerz' for the suffering of every sentient being on this planet. No matter how good their own fortune might be, it cannot compensate for the suffering they see in others.

But it is the few percent of sociopaths with zero empathy for any other being that are raised to the top of the pyramidal structure by the Cult of Judah, to become the 'one percenters' and ruling classes, that exercise the real power in this world. Then use it to amass even more power. To appropriate all good things to themselves. Using whatever means comes to hand. They orchestrate wars and economic crises via deception. They appeal to the very worst in people. And thus to the masses. But also they trick the very best and idealistic people into serving their interests, leading them to imagine they are serving some very idealistic goals. But really, any person who accepts the motto 'the ends justify the means' is doomed to serve evil. For it becomes clear to any truly ethical person that we must define ourselves by our actions. By the means we adopt. Rather than by our supposed ends. Because while we can never prove what ends people are really seeking, we can always, in every case, point to the means they are willing to employ. Evil people adopt evil means. It is that simple. Any other definition is masturbation or propaganda. It is self-deception. It is deception. Few supposedly 'noble' lies are noble. Most are the basis of the power of the most evil forces operating in this world today.

The Cult of Judah's ideology of Semitism is one of exceptionalism. The idea that you can have your cake and eat it too. That you can have one rule for your own group, and another for all outsiders. So you define all 'others' as 'fair game' when it comes to theft, rape, and murder. So you have a safe place to store up your ill-gotten gains. To amass your fortunes from slavery, theft, murder, and rape. A safe place where all the criminals respect each other. Because they define themselves mutually as 'off –limits'. The so-called 'honour among thieves'. So that you can be secure among fellow 'chosen people'. While free to 'do your worst' to all those 'outsiders' who do NOT belong to your caste, class, nation, or Cult.

Exceptionalism is the most human response to the problem of 'war of all against all'. That of declaring peace with a limited number of fellow cult-members. Who then engage in war with all the rest of humanity. You limit your cult membership to a minority in any nation, and the world in general. So they have a large population to wage war against. And can expend their criminal energies outwardly and externally, on 'outsiders'. They will have enough 'rich pickings' outside the cult to satisfy their appetites. Man is wolf to man? Well then give them a whole lot of SHEEPLE to devour, and sate themselves on, and they will come home satiated, and gentle as lambs!

You start by defining all non-cult members as 'non-humans'. So they don't have 'human' rights. You extend this ultimately to remove their rights to private property, such as under Marxism. But in 'baby-steps'. First you define as many things as you can as 'criminal', from smoking marijuana to oral sex. So that you define as many people as criminal. Thus without human rights. You slowly move towards a cashless economy, so that you can, as in China, micro-manage social interactions. First you demand people 'explain' the purpose of every bank transaction they wish to undertake, and condition them to think it is a privilege to be 'allowed' to spend their own money on anything at all. Then you extend this, once they become 'used' to it, to the Chinese system. Where any time someone does something the cult elites do not approve of, they can be denied access to their digital bank accounts. So they won't be able to carry out any transactions at all. And thus DO anything at all. Like pay their internet or electricity or water bills. Or buy or sell anything. Or access their pay, assuming they are still 'allowed' to work at all!

A whole world of pain is awaiting us all. But pain is good, where it is feedback. Nothing compels our attention more powerfully than personal pain. Especially physically pain. You cannot ignore it. It demands your attention. If you listen, you will hear valuable feedback about what you are doing wrong. Like leaving your hand in the fire. Or walking barefoot on sharp rocks. Or willing stupid things that are going to bite you in the arse soon enough. The pain screams out 'stop doing this'. And 'pay attention, something is really badly wrong!' If you listen, and change your behaviour, remove your hand from the flames, and avoid fire in future, then that pain will have provided a valuable service. You won't end up burning off all your skin all the time. You won't walk around on sharp rocks without shoes. You won't will slavery, after having suffered as a slave. You won't will massive unearned inequality, after a life in the sweat shops. And so, if you listen, the Cult of Judah will perform the most valuable of services for you. That of teacher. That of instructor. That of guru. By making you suffer the consequences of what you have been willing for OTHERS. So that you reform your own will. Thankyou Cult of Judah. Excellent service every time. Five-star user ratings all round!

Now those Cult members who profess to follow the adage 'increase evil as much as possible to speed up the arrival of the Messiah' might already understand this. Or they might not. But either way, they are, in their own twisted way, correct. For it is through our own personal suffering that we learn compassion and empathy for others. And thus gain the motive to reform our own wills. And in doing so reform the plane-ets which are the manifestation, objectification, mirror, reflection, and product of our collective wills.

They certainly have the power to bring as much evil raining down upon us as they choose. At any moment. Cult of Judah Operatives already claim possession not only of your bank account, your pension fund, your occupied government, but now majority voting rights in every major corporation, bought during each orchestrated 'market crash' with money they literally 'created' out of nothing, like their role model 'god' Yahweh. And though this took them 3000 years, rather than 1 week, they have completed their task, and look upon their works, and tell themselves, 'It is good'. Though they have created a Leviathan Golem 'Skynet' scenario, it is just this historical cycle's updated version of every slave society that came before us. With their own 'inquisitions'. Which force all who disagree with anything to self-censor, or die in agony, after having had a 'false confession' ripped from their screaming lungs.

Oh, but it is not enough for this Cult to claim ownership of all things of value on this plane-et. As the only 'rightful' owners of anything OF value, based on their ideology of Semitism. No. They won't stop at your possessions. Or even your body. No Sir. That is simply not enough for them. They now claim possession of your thoughts. The moment you think them. Before you even articulate them to yourself. Let alone share them with anyone else. And they do claim to be able to read these thoughts, using 5G. The latest advance in that science which disappeared from all public attention, just a few decades after demonstrating its power, in the form of 'remote controlled monkeys', has been perfected in the form of 5G mind control and mind reading. That is not my opinion. But the stated official narrative coming out of the mouths of Cult of Judah Operatives. So George Orwell's 'Thought Crimes' can now be added to the long list of ways you can be defined as a criminal, by your Cult of Judah occupation government. But who needs 'thought crimes' anyway, when you can simply be 'diagnosed' with a non-existent pandemic virus, taken from your homes at any hour, or pulled off the street, or taken from your workplace, for your own, and the public's, protection, to an 'isolation facility' that just happens to look like a re-purposed FEMA camp or mental hospital. Where you either rot in solitary, or die tragically of that terrible new pandemic virus everyone 'knows' about, and lives in fear of. The aware live simply in fear of the 'diagnosis'. While the ignorant, naïve, 'Homo Fideo' sheeple, actually fear the non-existent virus. Either way, the delusion will kill you as good as any witchdoctor 'pointing the bone' at you, or any Cult of Judah affiliated priest 'ex-communicating' you and damning you to hell for eternity, for 'offending' some whim of theirs. Of their infantile, tyrannical, 'jealous' god Yahweh. Whose arbitrary whim is now, under the Cult of Judah New World Order, LAW.

All of this happened, like the introduction of 'The Fed' itself, while the sheeple were distracted with other matters. Like how to pay for all those Christmas presents. Or the latest fake news, orchestrated market crash, orchestrated financial crisis, man-made 'natural' disaster which really WAS an 'act of god', of that god Yahweh, through his proxy Cult of Judah terrorists, and the latest fake terrorist threat, false flag attack, pandemic virus hoax, titillating gossip, new fad or trend or fashion, or other orchestrated distraction concocted by the Cult of Judah for this purpose.

The Cult of Judah's limited idea of 'synthesis' is the unevolved wills' response to the endemic conflict of recalcitrant wills being unwilling to evolve. To learn their lesson. They are unable to give up the idea of using others as mere means to their own ends. So they band together like-minded people and define them as a 'race unto themselves'. As separate. As different. As exceptional. They practice exclusivity of marriage and Socialisation for many generations, to produce the appearance of being 'other'. They define themselves as a 'chosen people'. A 'superior race'. As the only real humans on this plane-et. Reflexively defining all 'outsiders' as non-people. As mere animals. Mere cattle. Mere means to their own ends. This is the 'arrested development' of the dialectic. They are stuck in this mindset. Their minds are set. Their wills are set. 'Hearts with one purpose alone, turned to stone'. Zombies.

Now the wolves that would have been wolves to each other, are only wolves to the 'sheeple'. Within their own 'race' they reluctantly give up the idea of rape, murder, and theft. This is why when a 'Jew' commits a crime in which other 'Jews' suffer, there is genuine outrage. Even a financial fraud. Whereas it is considered that 'greed is good' as long as the victims are OTHERS. Non-'Jews'. 'Goys'. Entire nations of 'Goys' or 'Gentiles' are considered 'fair game'. For rape, murder, theft, and enslavement.

So this is the 'solution' the ideology of Semitism offers to the antithesis. Where 'man is wolf to man'. Not to evolve so that all men treat each other as subjects and people deserving respect and fair play. But simply to select out a minority of wolves, form a pack, a criminal gang, a syndicate, call it a 'race' and a 'religion', and set about enslaving all the OUTSIDERS to their own will. Creating a Leviathan Golem to do their will.

But they should consider that cautionary tale. Sure they have more power than any slave master elites every dreamed of, in recorded history. But how many unrecorded histories are there that their own 'Golem' myth reflects? Or which the 'Terminator' film series premise mirrors? Since when was there truly 'honour among thieves'? Didn't Moses himself slaughter thousands of his own followers, newly minted 'Jews' formed from the 'mixed multitude' of people he brought with him after looting and pillaging Egypt? Who do you think financed Hitler's National Socialism, to ensure it succeeded for long enough to build up Germany, so it could be utterly annihilated? Who do you think set up the ghettoes, and brought about the preconditions and motives for the concentration camps, by declaring war on Germany? What do you expect from a Cult which created that Yahweh god in their own image? Look at that god's actions as described in their own official histories. Then look at human history. Then look at 911. Look at Iraq. Look at Dresden and Tokyo and Hiroshima.

Perhaps it will take 'victory' for The Cult of Judah members who are NOT sociopaths, to be shocked out of their arrested development. To take their fingers off the 'pause' button of the dialectic. To once more begin moving forward. When they have tasted of the bitter fruits of the plants they have planted, tended, and are now coming to harvest the fruits of. In their 'Jew World Order'.

And perhaps the sheeple will be shocked from their own self-deceptions. Their own arrested development. By the suffering and misery about to rain down upon them from the top of the pyramid. Perhaps the Cult of Judah will finally act as the amplifying mirror that will allow the sheeple to look at themselves for once. See themselves as they truly are. See the source of their own suffering. See that their suffering is the consequence of their own willing. The product of their own will.

And then maybe the masters and slaves will both abandon the idea that slavery can ever produce happiness for the slave master, and would be slave master. And then hit the 'play' button on the dialectic. Unfreeze the frame. Allow the development to proceed on to the synthesis. Allow the will to evolve. To ascend. So that we might all truly be able to look forward to 'happy next lives'. Lives which will be the representation, the objectification, the manifestation, of our newly enlightened wills. Lives among other sentient beings, other wills, who have already achieved this synthesis. Who have potentially been enjoying lives more satisfying and rewarding that most people have ever dreamed of, let alone enjoyed, for millions of years. With no fear for their future. But instead the joyful, playful, looking forward to, happy next lives.

The New World Order has stepped out of the shadows, into the glaring light, exposing itself as reality, rather than conspiracy theory, and while this should have represented the greatest opportunity, we have ever had for mobilising the public against it, the public remain as docile as ever

Consider the facts which no-one would contest. Government officials publicly claimed that we faced a massive threat to public health and safety in the form of a pandemic virus. They quoted computer simulations that suggested massive death tolls. This threat, pure hearsay, was used to justify the immediate suspension of all basic liberties, freedoms, legal rights, and civil rights, in the form of 'states of emergency', and virtual house arrest for Billions of people worldwide.

However the threat never materialized. In fact within days of the 'lockdowns' being accepted by the public, the computer models were revised, and the threat was massively reduced. From millions, to thousands. .

All that had changed was the 'hearsay'. The public statements of a few 'authorities'. But the 'lockdown' was already in place. And being enforced. And would be continually enforced until the government finished installing the 5G towers, and other infrastructure. Including in public schools, hospitals, nursing homes, government buildings, city centers, town centers, and even remove village centers.

Even as China re-opened its factories, borders, and trade, the other Cult of Judah occupied nations repeated the Chinese model. Even after it became clear that the 'hype' had not been lived up to. Oh, of course 'thanks to the lockdown in China, millions of lives had been saved'. Right?

Like with terrorism, we sacrifice all our rights and freedoms and privacy, and acquiesce to arbitrary rule of a few 'authorities', as the cost of being protected from a non-existent threat. The typical 'shakedown' of a 'Protection Racket'. Which the Cult of Judah Priests practiced to ensure 'the best of the best of everything' could be appropriated by themselves, from the masses, as 'protection money'. The simplest of extortion rackets. The large-scale equivalent of Mafia style protection rackets. With false-flag attacks by your own people used to install fear in the hearts of the masses. So you can turn up as a 'white night' and offer your 'protection'. For a price, you understand. That price being, ultimately, slavery to the 'protectors'. At first just a few 'taxes'. Protection money. Then later complete subjection as servants of the new 'protectors' who install themselves, literally, as LORDS. El's. Then claim the authority of a God. To gain not just earthly power. To not just threaten earthly pain and suffering, and denial of 'privileges. But to threaten eternal, next-worldly suffering and pain, and to promise eternal, other worldly, 'privileges'. Thus our 'protectors' become our 'Lord Gods'. Our El-Ons'. Elon's. Awake yet?

Having just updated to Android, after being loaned an old Android phone, I came in for a culture shock. It should not have come as a shock. But there is a difference between theoretically 'knowing 'something, and experiencing it first-hand.

Even after hearing almost direct from the company's mouth that the 'marketing strategy' behind Android was to give away the software, and sell the USER INFORMATION to third parties, I was shocked at just how much information I was expected to give total strangers access to, in order to not just use the desirable apps, but to access the most basic functions of the phone itself. Information that I understood was going to be used for 24/7 GPS tracking and surveillance of my every physical move, and financial transaction. Which would give corporations a wet-dream scenario for any Orwellian style 'Big Brother'.

Mussolini would have creamed his pants. The fascist take-over was complete. The fusion of state and corporations. Corporatism. It has been completed. And our new Lord, El On, Elon, even blatantly announces himself AS Lord and master of us all. And we welcome the tyrant Yahweh as a 'sun god'. As the light of our world. As a conquering hero. We invite the vampire into our homes, in the form of 5G, Wi-Fi, smart phones, Android Apps, software with 'automatic updates' with full access to our hard-drives, cameras, microphones, data, and 'smart devices'. We welcome the invading conqueror as a liberator. In true 'Soviet' style. Liberators who come to occupy our nations. Enslave us.

The U.S Federal Communications Commission has given Elon Musk permission to build one million ground antennae to connect with 20,000 satellites. This is the 'SKYNET' from the 'Terminator' films. A 'smart grid'.

Which we can expect to produce the next 'Spanish Flu' type electromagnetic poisoning epidemic. Which will be defined, most likely, as that misnamed epidemic was, as natural, pandemic virus. Expect this to happen no later than 2030.

Remember that the Cult of Judah now own Facebook, Google, yahoo, Gmail, and Amazon, just to name a few of the 'anti-social media' and internet shopping platforms which ALL now have complete access to ALL your personal data…from your current GPS position, to all your photos, purchase histories, browser histories, search histories. If you are a Catholic who has made 'confession' they have access to THAT cult of Judah subsidiary 'proprietary' information. If you visit a Doctor or Psychiatrist, another cult of Judah controlled racket, then anything that doctor has recorded forms part of your 'social media record'. YOU are now transparent to the Cult of Judah. They have TOTAL 24/7 surveillance. They can turn on your phone and computer and camera and microphone on ANY 'smart' device. Including those you did not even realise HAVE built-in microphones and cameras.

But even after being aware of all this, I was still, when it came down to it, shocked by the level of access demanded of apps. By the actual physical experience of being asked / told / forced to give total strangers access to my credit card number, photos, telephone numbers of MYSELF and ANYONE ELSE in my phone. In fact I was not even able to play any of my own videos, or access my own folder of files, without first setting up a fake email account, and using a prepaid phone number, on another phone, to get Android to work.

Oh, but no malicious conspiracy could ever succeed, as there are just too many 'good people' who would surely 'blow the whistle' and NOT comply / collaborate with the conspirators?

Firstly, how many times in world history have entire nations fallen to despotic tyrants whom they first welcomed as 'liberators' and 'Big Brothers'?

How many of YOU would risk your job, in order to 'expose' something that had come to YOUR attention? Let alone risk prison? Or much worse? Be honest. How SMALL a threat really needs to be made against someone, before they will 'shut their mouths' and 'go along to get along'? How small a BRIBE will most people accept, as payment for their 'silence' and 'passive collaboration'?

Be honest, the carrots and sticks that any conspirators would need to wield are relatively miniscule. Compared with the power they possess. Over careers. Employment. Social Status. Mass media. Finance. They can 'create' money from thin air. They can buy anyone and anything they need to. They can pay people to torture other people. To kill other people. They can 'conscript' YOU to murder men, women, children, and their animals, in far off lands, and call it 'war'. Or 'national defence'. Call those men and women 'terrorists'. And their children and animals 'collateral damage'.

Don't overestimate how much people care about each other. Or underestimate how much malicious envy there is. A sense of entitlement. Many 'public servants' and law enforcement / police come into contact with, or know of, plenty of people they feel do NOT deserve the higher status and income and privileges they do enjoy. They don't feel these 'others' have earned it or deserve it. And feel deprived. That life has been unjust to THEM. And they harbor resentments and hatreds towards 'society' in general. THESE people are quite happy to go along with the 'useful idiots' and 'sociopaths' (note 103 % of people are sociopaths, which is about the same percent, not by coincidence, of the population that own most of the wealth, and run the world) that the cult of Judah has placed in top positions in their organisations.

Then there is the general feeling of injustice in the population. The masses would be quite happy to 'watch the tall poppies cut down'. Referring to anyone who appears to have had better luck than themselves. Even simply that neighbour with the nicer car, prettier wife, larger home, better holidays, better job, etc. They almost WELCOME some disaster, some cult of Judah dictatorship, that HARMS OTHERS. This was how the cult of Judah gained control of the Russian Federation and maintained their occupation of Eastern Europe for so long. Because people LIKE to see OTHERS 'cut down to size'. Levelled. Humiliated. Losing their 'special' privileges, benefits, jobs, status, and suffering with 'the masses'. Even put under the supervision of their inferiors. Party members and others who 'toe the party line' and 'true believers' who support the tyrannical regime. Giving jobs to mean spirited morons because they are 'faithful' to the dogmas of the new 'top dogs'. At least publicly. And often for many people the ONLY way they would EVER have been promoted well about their competency, and out of the 'lumpen proletariat', IS in this fashion. By virtue of 'virtue signaling' by openly and loudly supporting the tyrant's policies. It is a fact that under the soviet system, totally untalented and incompetent people were promoted well above any level of socio-economic status they would every have achieved on their merits, in democratic meritocracy, where actual competence, skill, talent, and hard work and sacrifice and risk were the attributes sought after, rather than blind obedience to the dictatorial regime.

Now the elites, whom the masses really SHOULD hate and WOULD seethe with malicious envy towards, IF they had ANY idea of how they lived, and IF they had ANY chance of getting their hands on them, and pulling them down to their own level, live totally separate from the masses. For the elites, you are either one of the 'one percenters', or an 'outsider'. THEY maintain the pyramid simply to serve their own interests…they don't care about the life experiences of those 'outside' their own 'world'…so they don't care what goes on, who suffers what, below them on the pyramid…just as long as the pyramid structure stays in place, and supports THEIR lavish lifestyles of privilege and satisfaction…so they are indifferent about who does what, as long as they are mildly competent enough to keep the system operating…to them all the 'lower castes' are interchangeable…they have no feelings or compassion for them…no loyalty to them…they know there will always be enough ambitious people willing to do ANYTHING to 'climb the greasy pole' and have access to the benefits that the elites allow to 'trickle down to', to gain the loyalty of, their slave supervisors, police, torturers, prison guards, overseers, and soldiers.

If human nature were better, the cult of Judah would never have gained a foothold, let alone hegemony. They are really the expression, or 'representation', or the will of MOST people. Thus this cult of Judah occupied world is simply the representation of the majority will. Towards injustice. Egotistical senses of self-indulgent entitlement. Where the only 'victims' can ever be 'the self'. And the rightful beneficiary can only ever be 'the self'. And where all other sentient beings are merely seen as means towards the pleasure, relief, and security, of that 'self'.

But right now we have the clearest case of Cult of Judah control, manipulation, propaganda, etc since the Soviet Union. This is 'the line in the sand' that if crossed, can't be un-crossed.

A test. From both sides. This is not like the Holocaust hoax which most people are happy to go along with. Or even 'man-made global climate change', which many will see as a 'noble lie', or even believe. Or 911, whose 'victims' most people limit to the 2000 in New York, and use million plus victims never were 'real' to most people.

This was a clear case where EVERYONE suffered. A loss of liberty. Being stuck at home for 6 weeks. Losing money. Losing businesses. Losing jobs. While their superannuation funds were pillaged by the choreographed market crash, as Cult of Judah operatives , with 'free money' from 'The Fed', bought up the stock market at bargain basement crash prices, and thus appropriated a huge portion of the superannuation funds of the average worker, to their own pockets.

Most people don't have any care that 'The Government' is destroying the liberties and freedoms and prosperities of the middle classes, as they do not belong TO that middle class. They envied and hated the middle classes FOR having more. For BEING more fortunate. So they are maliciously gleeful to see their 'betters' cut down to size. To THEIR size. The government employees, resentful of the apparent 'success' of those working in the private sector, are quite PLEASED to watch the middle class business person lose their business, and go bankrupt. The government worker is sucking at the tit of the cult of Judah. THEY have nothing to lose. AT FIRST. AS FAR AS THEY CAN SEE. Only later will they realise what they've stood by and allowed to happen. When it is too late to turn things back around.

The majority of people now either work directly for the Cult of Judah occupation government, or indirectly, as sub-contractors to government organisations. So the majority don't mind taking it easy for 6 weeks, on full pay, while the rest of the people, those in the 'private sector' take a beating. Suffer. Go under. Go bankrupt. Lose their jobs. Lose their homes. Lose their cars. Because so many people in the public sector, working for the Cult of Judah occupation government, are HAPPY to see them lose what THEY consider were UNFAIR benefits not EARNED. Or even if they begrudgingly admit they WERE earned, this doesn't stop them envying them. And wishing they did NOT have them. That they would LOSE them.

Most people do NOT own shares. And are actually PLEASED and even THRILLED when the stock markets crash. And when successful small businesspeople fail, and lose their businesses, and their socio-economic privileges and benefits and status. That is human nature. Happiness comes from comparing your luck with that other others, for the most part. So when THEY are less fortunate, you feel MORE fortunate, and happier. MORE happy. Schadenfreude. Malicious Glee. This is part of human nature that the Cult of Judah tap into. And weaponise.

People will even 'gloat' when a neighbour suffers some illness, or loses their job, simply because they felt that, up to that point, life had been 'too good to them'. Relative to their own luck. Though they might 'virtue signal' in the usual ways, they will secretly feel happy about their neighbor's misfortune. Because life is unfair. And if you can't improve your own luck, then the only way to happiness is to see your neighbours luck get WORSE. This is the design of the experience engine 'Human' we have to deal with. I didn't design it. Don't blame ME.

Then there is also the question of 'maybe ANY change' is better than 'what we have now'. Because most people are NOT satisfied with their lives. This is why 'the call to war' is usually answered with rejoicing. At least war offers some prospect of CHANGE from the current routine. Which few people find satisfying or rewarding. War allows some petty officials to suddenly taste power, and abuse that power, pushing people around. Just as many police enjoy being free to 'boss around' 'their betters'. Anyone they feel malicious envy towards can now be bullied and pushed around. Even better, imprisoned. On false charges. Tortured till they sign false confessions! Too easy. Too many people join the military and police and government for the worst reasons. To get access to such power. To abuse it. And they love war. And they love 'states of emergency'. Anything that adds to THEIR power over OTHERS. And reduces the welfare of others. Making them feel relatively 'better off'. Superior. More fortunate.

So we face human nature. And it is time for people to either wake up and look in the mirror, then look around them at the situation THEY have willed, and which the Cult of Judah has merely manifest for them. And ask if this is the world they consent to.

Our role is to INFORM them. We cannot choose for them. They might still give their 'informed consent' to the Cult of Judah occupation, and its de-facto one world government.

There is no way to avoid seeing the FACT that the governments of the world have all COLLUDED and CONSPIRED together with the World Health Organisation to commit this FRAUD upon the world. This fake virus scare. And the 'states of emergency' it was used to nominally justify.

What will be their NEXT step? Will they be satisfied they have PROVEN their power? Or will they 'roll out' the state of emergency?

What have they been doing during these 6 weeks? Bombarding families with electro-magnetic radiation through their Wi-Fi? Building 5G infrastructure to do this? So it will be complete, and 'in place', like 'The Fed' itself, before people even realise it has happened? And then just accept it, as a 'fait accompli'? Or not even notice it has happened?

Are they going to crash everything, and make things even worse, and then pretend to be 'saving us'? To create the problem, then offer 'solutions', like 'The patriot Act', which take away ALL our freedoms and liberties? Force us to take 'vaccines' containing Nano-tech? Force us to give up cash? Force us, like Android apps and social media platforms, to give the cult of Judah access to ALL our information? Force us to accept censorship? Of anyone claiming 'Corona virus was NOT a real threat', in the interests of 'National security' and 'health and safety'? Big Brother looking out for us? 1984 style.

When 5G starts causing cellular level stress, and breakdown, this can now be defined as 'Corona Virus', or whatever virus they invent next to take its place. Everyone can be defined as a 'carrier', and total martial law imposed. And then any deaths that occur due to Cult of Judah activities can be defined as 'natural', and used to further increase the police state. People can be denied the right to go out in public, let alone travel, due to a 'body scan' showing 'raised body temperature'.

The Cult of Judah can decide 'who is a carrier' and who is not. As the Nazi's could define who was a 'Jew' and who was not. And thus round up any adversaries to the Cult of Judah government and simply claim they are 'carriers' and need to be 'round up' and 'isolated in FEMA camps' 'for the protection of the general public.

The thing is, no-one can be really CERTAIN that this is a hoax. Fear paralyses reason, too. So people are not even CAPABLE of clear thinking, and critical reason, in the face of what they are being told is a 'lethal threat'. Like the 'imminent attacks' the American public were threatened with after 911, used to justify war crimes against Iraq, and Libya, and Syria, et al.

So we are fucked.

Unless we can get people to DEMAND the following, reasonable, responses from their governments. Though I doubt the lazy masses will bother. They will only care about themselves. Keeping their own jobs. And not enough people will have suffered to have an impact. The majority of people don't care about the stock market, or private sector, small businesses. They don't really care if they live under a Fascist dictatorship. Because the CURRENT system did NOT make them rich and successful. They have no loyalty to it. In fact they are quite happy that those who DID succeed, should now be 'cut down to their size'. Levelled down. They never had a chance at climbing THAT greasy pole. So they have no care that the pole has now been removed. And all the 'successful' under that old system, brought low.

People hate their intellectual and moral superiors too. So when the Cult of Judah occupation rounds up intellectuals as 'thought criminals' they can gloat and gleefully rejoice in their 'schadenfreude', at their 'betters' misfortune.

Like when a beauty gets some disease and becomes ugly. Or the sporting hero has a car accident, and can't play any more. Or the rich lose everything in some disaster. Or when even the 'preferred' sibling dies. Seriously. Ask Freud. Ask any HONEST person CAPABLE of self-honesty.

So we are fucked, in all reason.

You shouldn't have had children. You've made slaves. So I guess you'd best be training them to be GOOD slaves. 'Successful' at it. To be good torturers. Good secret police. Good soldiers. Obedient. Self-censoring. Unthinking. Oh, I guess THAT is pretty much what MOST of you have ALWAYS been doing anyway. It was just the few like myself who were EVER really attempting something BETTER than that?

O.K, but this is a 'line in the sand' for us to. The Cult has crossed it. Now it is time to see if the people will cross the reflexive line in the sand. By going along with it. Or resisting. In the way I will now describe. If they don't, then we should give up on them. Go and live as best we can till we are freed of this world. Too bad if you deluded yourself, and/or were selfish enough to have children, despite knowing what you knew about this world, and the world that is coming. I can't change that for them. You can't. At least inform them, so THEY don't make the same mistake, and reproduce this world, by reproducing themselves.

I'll describe the steps we COULD take, and MUST take to have any chance, in a moment. But first, I'll state that for all I know what is coming will suit ME better than the current world. I did NOT benefit under the current system. And it was abysmal in most ways, for most people. Even if the Cult murder off billions of people, under the guise of 'a pandemic', it will be a better world as a result. And everyone WANTS to make EVERYONE ELSE their own slave. More or less. At some level. So maybe this Cult will teach us the lesson that 'For as we do unto others, so shall be done unto us'. And maybe it will be the best thing, for our 'souls'. Maybe we will learn, 'the hard way', the lessons we MUST learn if we are ever to experience a just, fair, beautiful, satisfying, rewarding, world for ALL the sentient beings in it.

Whether it is the Cult of Judah's new world order, or the current system, that is the OMELAS that we decide to walk away from, walk away we must. It is the ONLY decision that can free us from this world as it is.

So this 'watershed' event will probably prove the viability of 'reforming' this Cult of Judah occupied world, or of 'walking away' from it. Psychically. Emotionally. Even physically, assuming there will BE any place to walk away TO. And if not, then we can finally affirm Buddhist teachings that reject this world. And without the fear Hamlet faced, being now free of religion, and its terror tactics, it would not be unreasonable to make our 'final exits', 'revolutionary suicide' wise. IF we cannot find a place to live out our lives, without being forced into being 'accessories to the crimes' that the Cult of Judah New World Order plan to carry out. Just as in the past we have been 'conscripted' into wars, and into 'self-censorship'.

The most blatant proof of a fully operational, de-facto New World Order so far

Note that I could find ZERO torrents using my usual micro-torrent browser, and any of the 'Pirate Bay proxy' sites I usually use on my laptop. I only stumbled upon the following when a friend loaned me their old Android phone, and I installed the micro torrent app on it, and used the default search engine on it. I stood outside the library in Johvi in the cold and downloaded as many videos as I could, before the phone's limited memory was full. However I got enough to form a reasonably clear picture of what had happened, and what was happening. From the BBC's Neuro Linguistic Programming, in the planned run-up to this hoax, and from a 2 hour David Icke presentation, and from other presentations, ranging from the more 'medical' to the 'financial', such as those I am presenting here, in text form, in the most easily comprehensible form I can, so far. To both explain WHY it is clearly a planned and premeditated hoax, and then to suggest the implications of the 'success' of the hoax, and WHY it was orchestrated. Namely WHAT the Z.O.G (Zionist Occupation Government of the 'Jew'.S.A) and the various 'Cult of Judah Occupied' nations around the world, which constitute a de-facto 'One World Government', as demonstrated by their close co-ordination and fluid 'taking up of' the Chinese propaganda, and then the propaganda produced in each occupied nation, to produce the latest 'fear spectacle' and 'justification' for the abandonment of even the pretense of any sort of 'democratic system', in the immediate declaration of 'states of emergency' around the world, using this supposed pandemic, and the naturally occurring, routine, statistically uninteresting, totally expected, totally predictable, and completely unexceptional, deaths of old people, and people suffering from acute respiratory infections and illnesses.

BBC 'spadework' NLP in the run-up to the hoax

The BBC has no 'journalists' as such. It is run by government employees. The term 'public servant' is truly Orwellian. For government workers serve the government. NOT the public. The government has long ceased to care about the people. It may have once been 'by the people, for the people'. But since every major post of any power and influence has been occupied by a carefully pre-selected and groomed Cult of Judah Operative, the government has become a mere means to the ends of The Cult of Judah. Some nations, like those in Eastern Europe, were 'occupied' openly. Germany was openly 'occupied'. And has remained 'occupied' since 1945. Whereas Britain, Australia, America, Canada, and so on, were all occupied unobtrusively. Starting at the very top with Presidents like Wilson and Roosevelt, and Churchill. The BBC is a fully embedded vehicle for the Cult of Judah's occupation propaganda ministry. A fully integrated part of The Cult of Judah's full spectrum propaganda machine. Spewing out nothing but Cult of Judah Propaganda. The BBC recently began the more recent 'spadework' for this current state of emergency. Sowing seeds and priming the nation for this 'pandemic virus' 'outbreak'. And the state of emergency measures this hoax was used to introduce. Justify. Legitimate. Gain unreflecting acquiescence to.

The 'spadework' for 'The Holocaust' were decades of Jewish media reports of '6 million Jews lives threatened' in Tsarist Russia, and Eastern Europe. The spadework for World War One and Two, in the U.S, took the form of Hollywood movies demonizing Germans as predatory monsters, throwing live babies into fires, and raping and murdering women and children. The spadework for '911' were Hollywood films depicting hijacked passenger airlines being flown into the World Trade Center 'Twin Towers'. And an actual World Trade Center bombing.

The longer term spadework for this 'pandemic hoax' has been years of Hollywood feature films and television movies and series based around the theme of 'pandemics'.

The most recent of which was a BBC Four 'documentary. It not only totally misrepresented the death toll of 'Spanish Flu', but of course failed to mention the important FACTS about it. That it was NOT in fact a viral infection. That it had nothing to do with 'Spain'. They even lied and stated it had originated in the EAST. When it fact it originated in U.S military bases in the United States of America. And appeared almost instantaneously (much faster than it could have been spread by human travelers) wherever the new U.S military radio communications facilities and infrastructure, such as radio towers, had been installed.

So let's see how the British part of the Cult of Judah's full spectrum propaganda machine fulfilled its functions in the roll up to the current 'pandemic hysteria' which has been used to 'keep people under house arrest' while the Cult of Judah Occupation government installs 5Ginfrastructure in city centers, schools, hospitals, and other public places and buildings. Bringing, once more, a new form of electromagnetic radiation into our lives, which can be expected, like the U.S military tech of 1918, to produce a massive death toll. Which we have now been conditioned to define as 'viral'. Natural rather than man-made. How ironic, given we have been conditioned to define natural global weather changes as man-made!

'Contagion: BBC Four Documentary Pandemic', is just the latest in a long stream of 'pandemic' propaganda intended to 'seed' the 'idea' of pandemic virus threats. To 'prime' the public for future pandemic hoaxes. To condition people to accept the 'reality' of pandemic viruses. In the same way 'religions' rely on 'tradition'. By placing the current hoax within a 'tradition' or 'history' of past 'pandemic viruses'.

This propaganda mendaciously claimed that the 1918, the 'sleight of mouth' misleadingly named 'Spanish Flu' killed, 'tens of millions', then 'untold millions', and finally settling on the figure of 'up to 100 Million people'.

In this context the BBC implicitly admitted that 5 million people die each year, worldwide, from 'seasonal flu', by claiming that the 'sleight of mouth' misleadingly named 'Spanish Flu' was 'twenty times more deadly than seasonal flu'.

Keep that figure of 5 million in mind any time you hear about the 'devastating impact of COVID-19'. Even with the highly inflated figures being offered, there is, like with official Jewish census figures of the population of Jews in Nazi Occupied Europe, so far no evidence that more people have died 'than usual', of this supposed pandemic virus named 'COVID-19', than did Jews under Nazi Occupation, other than the official Red Cross estimates of deaths from Cholera and malnutrition at the end of the war, when EVERYONE in the war zone was starving, and dying of diseases, no just 'Jews'.

Of course the BBC are also a mouthpiece for 'Islamic terror' and 'Man-made global climate crisis tipping point' propaganda. So they had to include the obligatory reference to COVID-19 being 'a 'much bigger threat that we ALSO NEED to WORRY about' than even 'official risks' of 'devastating effects of climate change', and 'Global terrorism'. I'm surprised they didn't compare the 'death toll' with the official 'Holocaust' death toll as well. Or defame Jesus and Mary to boot!

Apart from conditioning people to accept the coming fake COVID-19 hoax, this BBC propaganda was designed to 'prime' and 'condition' people into accepting GPS tracking of their every movement. And much more than that. To actually accept, download, and install, smart phone apps that not only tracked their own movements, but recorded all the smart phone details of every person they happened to simply be in the vicinity of. So that, as they inadvertently admitted, it would be enough if only a few percent of the population downloaded and installed that app, for the occupation government to be able to track the movements of the entire population.

In fact, a dedicated 'tracking app' is not even required, given the 'access' Android phone users are required to 'voluntarily' give to most of the 'apps' they download and install on their smart phones and other smart devices. As demonstrated recently when 40 companies volunteered the tracking data from their phone apps to the occupation government, which used it to track, locate, and arrest, students who had defied the 'house arrest' 'lockdown' 'state of emergency' 'travel restrictions' and 'social interaction restrictions' and met up for 'high school graduation parties'.

Consider that the moment the authorities define one person as a 'carrier' of some pandemic virus, they can 'unlawfully detain' them, and ANYONE ELSE they have 'interacted' (with this being defined by GPS tracking and mere proximity to the 'carrier') under the pretext of 'protecting the community from a pandemic health threat'. They can 'prove' the 'infection' easy enough. Even if they simply inject them with it.

But better still, inject them with the virus in a compulsory 'vaccination', in the run up to the NEXT pandemic hoax. So that ANYONE you want to arrest, and isolate from the community, can be, like 'terrorists', rounded up and placed in FEMA camps, 'dark sites', or extradited and exiled to 'containment' camps. Basically Concentration camps. For Cult of Judah adversaries. Political prisoners.

When the vaccines or 5G start killing off people by the millions, all these deaths can then be attributed to the illusory pandemic virus. Just as the U.S government attributed the deaths resulting from their electromagnetic poisoning, to a pandemic virus supposedly originating in Spain. One which only healthy people caught. One that could NOT be transferred by any means from one human to another. Because it was caused by electromagnetic poisoning. For which the etiology, the 'active agency', was the governments electromagnetic emissions, and not some biological, or viral, infectious disease.

When the Cult of Judah occupation governments round up people identified as 'political dissidents' and 'thought criminals', based on their social media posts, religious affiliations, and so on, they can do so on the pretext that these people are 'carriers' of a pandemic virus. Thus they must be isolated from the general public for the protection of the general public. As a threat to public health. And can be kept in 're-education' and FEMA work camps, for as long as the authorities desire. And if they happen to die there, en masse, in the millions, then this can easily be explained away as results of the virus. And these deaths can in fact be used to further legitimate and justify even greater 'emergency' measures, limits on personal movement, limits on personal freedoms, censorship, and basically martial law. And the rounding up of ANYONE who dares challenge the official narrative. These people will be defined as 'terrorists' for attempting to undermine the efforts of the authorities to contain the virus. By spreading lies. In the same way 'Holocaust Denial' laws, and 'Hate Speech' Laws have been used to silence historical revisionists, and force them to 'self-censor'. Producing that state of 'collective ignorance' that gives the masses the impression that there is general consensus that the propaganda they have been offered is nothing less than self-evident, scientifically proven, fact.

Just like during 911, and Sandy Hook, and The Port Arthur Massacre, the authorities have run 'drills' and 'computer simulations' in the run-up to this current hoax.

This BBC propaganda also sowed the seeds of acceptance, conditioning and priming the public to be ready to jump at the chance to be given 'anti-viral drugs' and 'vaccines', and to support the government mandating such, as compulsory.

Remember it took only a few dozen cases of Measles, contracted at Disneyland, from kids already vaccinated (a fact overlooked by the media, but which proves vaccines do not work), along with a massive propaganda / advertising campaign, for the residents of California to vote in new COMPULSORY vaccination laws. At the same time as denying victims of vaccine side-effects the right to sue manufactures. Passing the costs of vaccines onto the public. Even as the corporations manufacturing them enjoy obscene profits. Partly because laws do NOT require them to test their vaccines, nor prove they ARE safe. In fact the reasons / justifications cited by judges in denying victims the right to sue for damages all related to the impossibility of safeguarding those taking vaccines FROM such side effects. These side effects are a predictable CAUSE of the side-effects. Such as autism and other forms of brain damage. They are built-into the vaccines. It is impossible, according to judges, and vaccine manufacturers, to avoid such harm. Consider this in relation to the usual medical profession motto of 'Above all, do NO harm'. An oath all doctors swear. And which, clearly, Vaccines are a violation of. As every doctor that gives or prescribes or recommends or passively stands by while a child is vaccinated, KNOWS FOR A FACT that statistically they ARE doing that child, that VICTIM, harm. For a statistically GROWING number of children are GUARANTEED to suffer harm as a result. Often destroying lives. The lives of the infants and children. And of their care-givers.

The BBC propaganda was clear to condition people to accept a pandemic virus hoax in which the 'carriers' HAD NO SYMPTOMS AT ALL. In other words, a symptomless pandemic. Impossible to DISPROVE. As no 'proof' is necessary. Simply the 'hearsay' of 'authorities' who CLAIM that such a symptomless pandemic virus exists. And when YOU are told YOU have it, or someone ELSE has it, who are YOU to claim otherwise? When terror has bypassed your logic circuits, and booted sub-routines for 'fight or flight', you are NOT in ANY position to be capable of rational thought. Or to challenge the 'authority'. Or their right to 'medivac' you for YOUR safety, and the safety of EVERYONE ELSE.

This is the 'perfect storm' that would have any would-be despotic tyrant creaming their pants or panties with anticipation. It is a 'blank cheque' for any tyrannical government to impose 'states of emergency' and 'suspend all civil and legal rights, freedoms, and liberties'. To impose martial law. To place Billions under house arrest. To round up anyone they want to, in the name of 'protecting them and the public', and imprisoning them, and even murdering them. All without anyone batting an eye. Let alone resisting. Let alone rebelling.

The BBC managed to persuade 29,000 people to voluntarily 'test' their app. An app that GPS tracked them. And recorded the smart phone details of everyone that came within their vicinity. In other words the personal data their apps demanded access to, as a condition of their 'installation' and use. Their own data. And that of anyone that was in their vicinity at any time. How close was not specified. However you might guess '2 meters', or whatever the 'minimum distance' the next 'pandemic hoax' specifies you must remain FROM all other people.

The BBC 'seeded' the fear of upcoming pandemic virus outbreaks. 'Right now several bird flu's particularly worrying'. Pandemic deaths are blamed on viruses. From 'other places'. Which can be spread by birds. Thus accounting for their ability to spread so fast. As fast as 5G networks pop up around the world!

Expect future 'alerts' to appear on YOUR phone claiming that YOU have 'come into contact with' a CARRIER of some lethal pandemic virus! An 'alert' which will also carry the force of law. Compelling you to appear at a specially set up 'testing and quarantine site' where you will, surprise surprise, despite showing zero symptoms (other than the racing heart and raised temperature associated with terror!) be 'diagnosed' by some 'test' as having been 'infected'. And then being compelled to accept compulsory 'treatments', such as 'vaccinations'. Possibly with some form of 'Nano Tattoo'. Which from that moment on will become your new I.D card. It will have built in radio-transmitters to allow you to be tracked and identified. Your full spectrum of facial features will be recorded and modelled, for facial recognition A.I to not only identify you, but to determine your state of mind. Your mood. Your emotional state. Your heart rate and breathing rates will be transmitted by that tattoo, along with your GPS co-ordinates. All your health care records will be accessible by that A.I, and the authorities. Through which your every breath will be tracked. And monitored. Your daily routine will be recorded and monitored. How much coffee you drink. How many times you went to the toilet and how long you spent on the toilet. Where you went. Who was present there.

There also appears to be evidence that 5G is the latest evolution of cybernetic mind control. See my video here on Bitchute.com for details. That is speculation so far, for me. But something to be wary of. In any case, A.I can be trained in the analysis of 'accessing cues', observing all other 'cues' and 'body language' according to established Neuro Linguistic Programming methods, and so come as close to mind reading as is necessary to suggest you may have become a 'person of interest' to the authorities. Under interrogation they will discover if you require further investigation. And record your every facial gesture and body language cues, to add to the data base on you, to inform and 'tune' the A.I further, to allow even more minute and precise 'readings' of your mental states, your emotional states. Via which a 'Minority Report' type 'profiling' and 'behavior prediction' system will function. To the Cult of Judah, it is of no concern if 1000 innocent people are sent to the Gulag, if they manage to catch one 'adversary' as a result. They are quite indifferent to sacrificing MILLIONS of people to the same end. What is it to them? Just a million less 'useless eaters' disposed of. Biological waste. Visual pollution. Audio pollution. Unless they have a special use for you, you can be replaced by any one of the millions waiting in line for a job. Or by A.I. And robots. And other automated systems.

Imagine the boon to Amazon, when the next 'crisis' shuts down supermarkets, and gives such online shops a MONOPOLY. So that the ONLY source of food will be such Cult of Judah operations. Using THEIR digital currencies. Making YOU dependent on THEIR approval. Of your every thought, word, and deed. For without their approval and acceptance, you won't be able to buy ANYTHING. Including paying your bills. So say goodbye to electricity, water, internet, food, medicine, mobility, if you intend ever expressing any sentiment they do NOT approve of. Remembering that there will BE no more 'private' spaces. All spaces, from your toilette to your bed will become 'public' spaces. Under constant surveillance. Even your THOUGHTS that you have NOT expressed are defined as 'public property' by the Cult of Judah. See my bitchute.com video on that topic for details.

Remember that YOU, according to the Cult of Judah, are NOT a person. You have NO rights. You have NO private property rights. NO right to anything. You exist to serve them. And any benefits from living that you enjoy are mere privileges that the Cult of Judah can revoke at will. Any time you 'offend' them in any way. By thinking or speaking or acting in ways THEY define as 'offensive'. Without THEIR acceptance and approval, without the 'love of Big Brother', you will have nothing. You are totally dependent on them. You MUST earn their approval. If anything you do is NOT approved of by them, you will suffer as a result. And thus through stimulus-response conditioning, automatically internalize the thoughts, beliefs, and behaviors they demand of their slaves.

Ah, but it gets worse. This BBC Cult of Judah propaganda also insists that there are 'super spreaders'. People who are more infectious than others. People who are likely to infect a LOT of people. Can you guess what sort of people will be so defined? People like ME perhaps? Who post the sort of things I do. Who attempt to arouse your curiosity, and suspicion, and inform you!

Are you going to do anything when you see people being rounded up, after you've been told they are 'super spreaders', and are putting you and your loved one's at risk of death from some new pandemic virus you have been told has appeared?

This BBC program suggested that people MIGHT be asked to remain at home, during a pandemic. Then it proceeded to interview people representing the various demographics from millennials to baby boomers to retirees, all expressing their goodwill in volunteering that YOU should, as a good person, VOLUNTEER to remain at home. The family man and kids were shown saying 'We'd stay home' during pandemic'. Old people were shown saying 'We'll want to stay at home'. With millennials saying 'we'll stay put, wouldn't want to give it to anyone else'.

It was merely hinted that such decisions might be taken out of your hands, and that 'house arrest' might be mandated. That people would be legally compelled to remain at home, and restrict their travel outside the home to one trip per day. Or that schools and public transport might be shut down. Along with any other place people might congregate, like pubs and cafes. And most disturbingly, that the entire population would be forcible vaccinated.

No-one mentioned 2000 euro fines for standing closer than 2 meters to another person, or congregating in groups of more than 2 people! Or fines for making more than ONE trip outside your home. But that is what he are dealing with today. All based on 'hearsay'. And complying with that 'hearsay' as obediently, unreflectingly, mindlessly, and fearfully, as any member of any superstitious medieval cult did, with the 'hearsay' of THEIR authorities. THEIR Cult leaders.

How this 'pandemic' (hoax) was 'manufactured'

This 'pandemic hysteria' is a perfect case of the manufacturing of consent. The manufacturing of public opinion. The manufacturing of hysteria. The ability to place Billions of people in a state of terror, in which they are incapable of rational thinking and reflection. And likely to 'err on the side of caution' and 'go along with' the authorities. Even though all they have to go on is pure hearsay. Propaganda. As they have done with 'The Holocaust', and '911' and 'Sandy Hook' and 'Port Arthur Massacre' and as they went along with Cult of Judah Occupation government declarations of war, and war crimes, and interventions in other nations to install dictators there, from the Soviets to Mao, to Pinochet and Marcos.

The 198 'Patient Zero's were exposed to a 'Pandora's box' of possible sources of toxins, poisons, stressors, pathogens, and bacterial infections in the form of all sorts of dead animal carcasses spread over the untreated concrete floor. Not to mention that Wuhan, like its 'Covid 19 Sister City' Lombardy, is known for its high rate of deaths from lung diseases caused by the intense atmospheric pollution.

Add to the previous possible triggers for 'cell toxicity', this sort of unhygienic working conditions, and exposure to blood and body fluids of dead animals, along with exposure to the weather, and you have a recipe for cell toxicity, and the production of exogens (which we will come to later), and death.

The 'viral induced pneumonia' was defined by symptoms such as raised temperature, lymphocytes and white blood cells decreasing, new pulmonary infiltrates on chest radiography, and no obvious improvement upon three days of antibiotic treatment.

Exosomes

If you removed genetic material from the lungs of a random person, they would likely have 'bags of RNA' and other genetic material floating around in the fluid extracted. These are known as 'exosomes'. Which cells excrete when exposed to toxins, or simply stress, to 'purge' themselves of this material, and any material damaged by it, to purify the DNA once more. These 'exosomes' 'trigger' the body's immune response system 'mops up' these exogens by binding to them.

Exosomes are small membrane vesicles secreted by most cell types. Internal vesicles form by the inward budding of cellular compartments known as multivesicular endosomes (MVE). When MVE fuse with the plasma membrane, these internal vesicles are released as exosomes, which can travel to distant tissues to influence various aspects of cell behavior and physiology.

In the first step of exosome formation, MVE bud inward to form small internal vesicles containing proteins, mRNAs, and miRNAs from the cytoplasm. These internal vesicles are released as exosomes when MVE fuse with the cell membrane. Alternatively, MVE can fuse with lysosomes, which degrade MVE contents. Upon reaching their destinations, usually determined by binding of specific ligands on their surfaces, exosomes can enter target cells in one of two ways: by being taken up by the target cell's endocytic pathway or by fusing to the target cells' membrane and releasing its contents directly into the cytoplasm. Cells also secrete other membrane-derived vesicles, each as ectosomes, shed vesicles, or micro vesicles, which bud directly from the cell's plasma membrane. These vesicles are also known to carry active

Proteins and RNAs, as well as some compounds never before described in exosomes, but little is known about their effects on distant tissues.

Why the RUSH to develop test BEFORE had proven anything, and isolated the actual source? What we have, on hearsay, as being 'Covid-19'? How could they possibly claim to know what had produced that genetic material?

The same procedure used in Wuhan was used to seek a biomarker for lung-cancer. A diagnostic test for lung cancer used as a test for pandemic pneumonia?

The Virus itself is NOT tested for in any of the official 'tests'. These tests merely look for traces of genetic material ASSUMED to be associated with the supposed virus, which itself was NEVER identified. Never isolated FROM that genetic material. The genetic material is being used as an indicator for the presence of something assumed to be associated with it, and also assumed to be a causal agent in the deaths of people assumed to have died from a viral infection, a pneumonia, which was assumed to be 'new' and contagious, with the potential to become pandemic. So we basically have a long list of assumptions which appear to have been made FOR the purpose of being able to CLAIM we are facing a NEW pandemic virus, which was named 'COVID-19', and added to the list of existing 'Corona' viruses. A clear case of 'the tail wagging the dog'.

And the REAL point of this all? To give some specious 'justification' for declaring 'states of emergency'. For basically terrorizing the world's population. Now the Cult of Judah Occupation Governments, the quasi de-facto, operating, 'New World Order' and 'One World Government' have a basis for declaring states of emergency based on the public impression of a 'pandemic'. Fear paralyses reason. Fear motivates acquiescence. The occupation government create the 'problem', to which the 'solution' just happens to be suspension of YOUR legal rights, and the imposition of draconian 'martial law' type population controls.

Quarantine and what would normally be defined as unlawful 'detainment' are the goal. Now remember all those FEMA camps and the PVC 'multiple corpse coffins', located conveniently 'out of town' accessible on private train tracks?

EXOSOME BASICS

Exosomes are small membrane vesicles secreted by most cell types. Internal vesicles form by the inward budding of cellular compartments known as multivesicular endosomes (MVE). When MVE fuse with the plasma membrane, these internal vesicles are released as exosomes, which can travel to distant tissues to influence various aspects of cell behavior and physiology.

FROM FORMATION TO TARGET

In the first step of exosome formation, MVE bud inward to form small internal vesicles containing proteins, mRNAs, and miRNAs from the cytoplasm ❶. These internal vesicles are released as exosomes when MVE fuse with the cell membrane ❷. Alternatively, MVE can fuse with lysosomes, which degrade MVE contents ❸. Upon reaching their destinations, usually determined by the binding of specific ligands on their surfaces, exosomes can enter target cells in one of two ways: by being taken up by the target cell's endocytic pathway ❹ or by fusing to the target cell's membrane and releasing its contents directly into the cytoplasm ❺. Cells also secrete other membrane-derived vesicles, such as ectosomes, shed vesicles, or microvesicles, which bud directly from the cell's plasma membrane ❻. These vesicles are also known to carry active proteins and RNAs, as well as some compounds never before described in exosomes, but little is known about their effects on distant tissues.

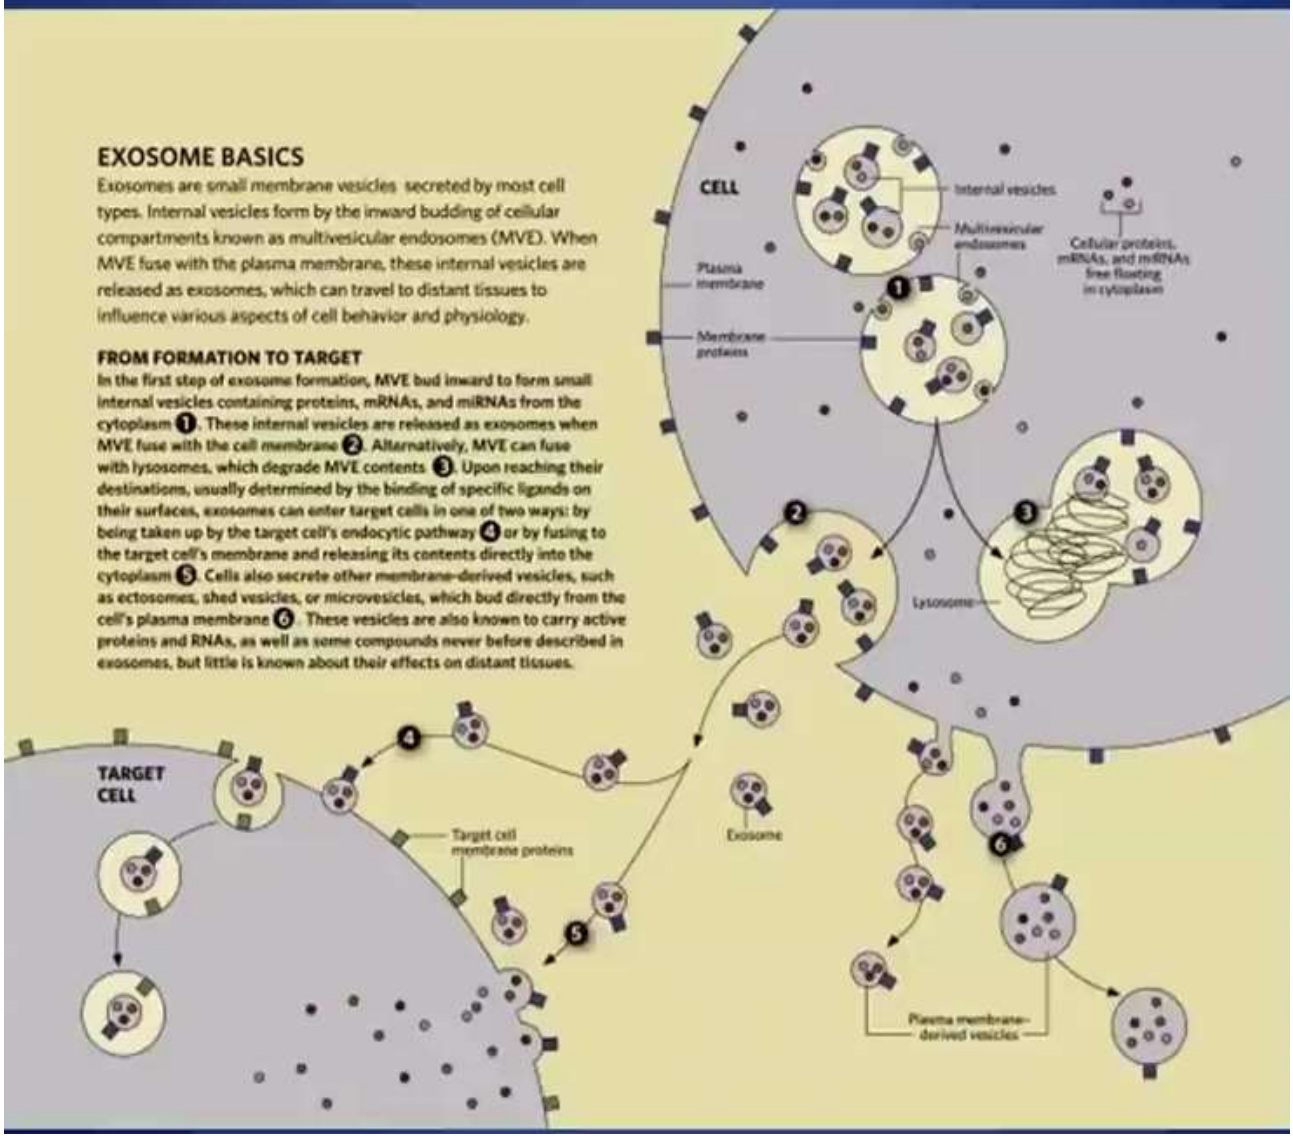
Exosomes naturally occurring in the body

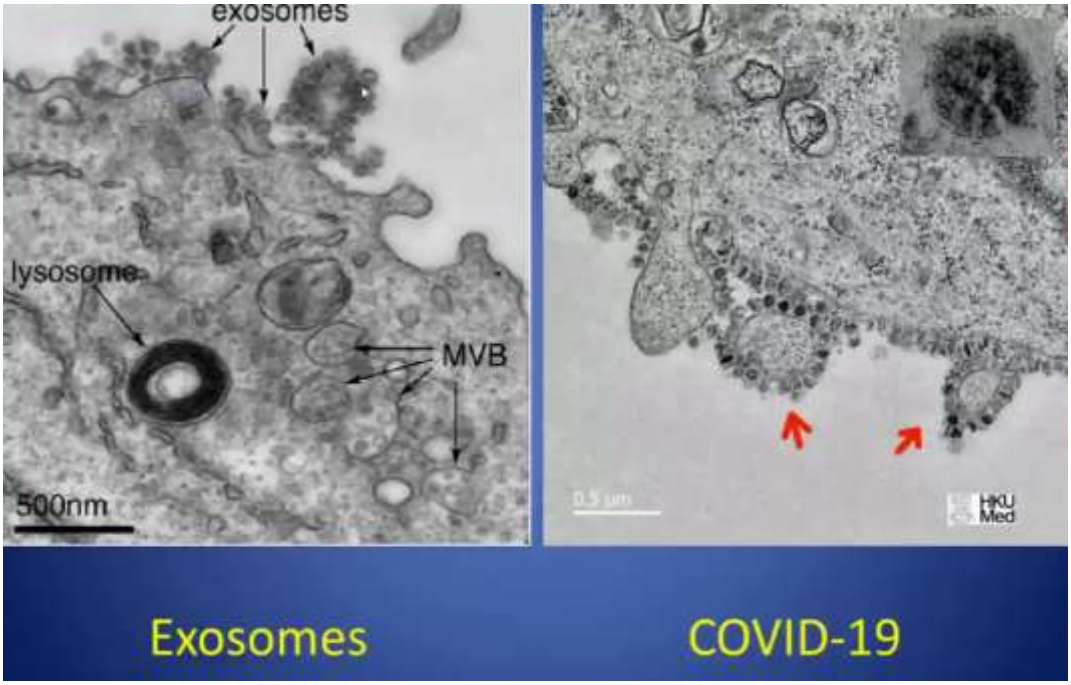
EXOSOME BASICS

Exosomes are small membrane vesicles secreted by most cell types. Internal vesicles form by the inward budding of cellular compartments known as multivesicular endosomes (MVE). When MVE fuse with the plasma membrane, these internal vesicles are released as exosomes, which can travel to distant tissues to influence various aspects of cell behavior and physiology.

FROM FORMATION TO TARGET

In the first step of exosome formation, MVE bud inward to form small internal vesicles containing proteins, mRNAs, and miRNAs from the cytoplasm ❶. These internal vesicles are released as exosomes when MVE fuse with the cell membrane ❷. Alternatively, MVE can fuse with lysosomes, which degrade MVE contents ❸. Upon reaching their destinations, usually determined by the binding of specific ligands on their surfaces, exosomes can enter target cells in one of two ways: by being taken up by the target cell's endocytic pathway ❹ or by fusing to the target cell's membrane and releasing its contents directly into the cytoplasm ❺. Cells also secrete other membrane-derived vesicles, such as ectosomes, shed vesicles, or microvesicles, which bud directly from the cell's plasma membrane ❻. These vesicles are also known to carry active proteins and RNAs, as well as some compounds never before described in exosomes, but little is known about their effects on distant tissues.





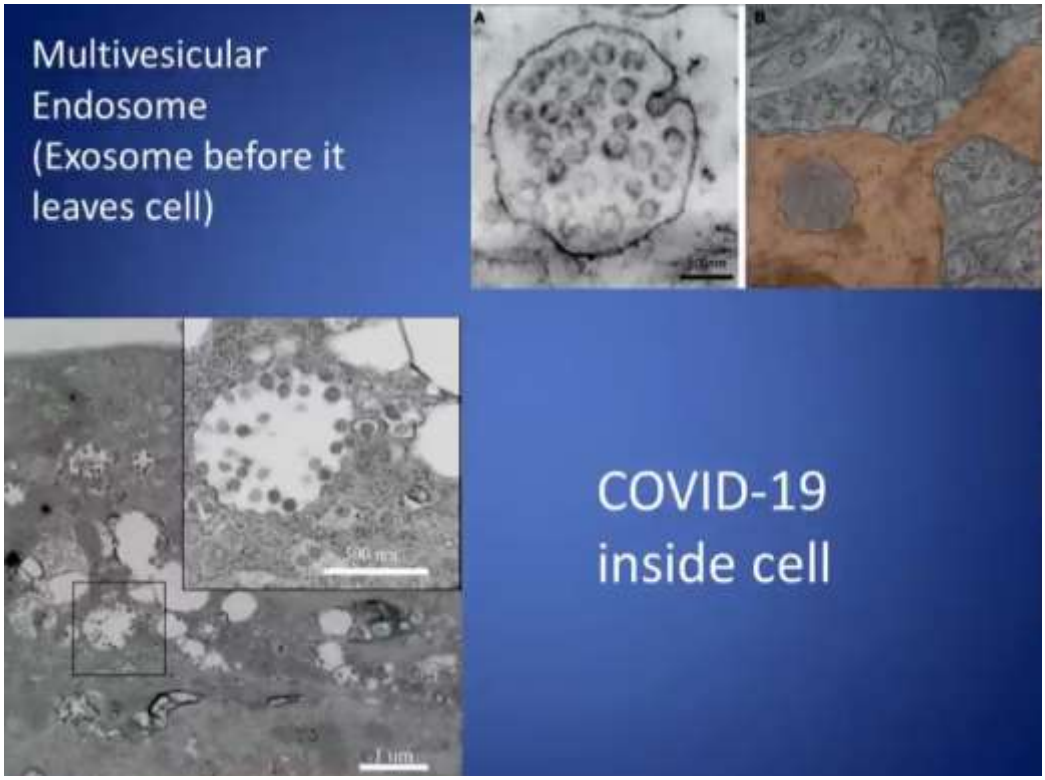
Red arrows show vesicles of genetic material ASSOCIATED WITH, IN THEORY, 'Covid-19'

What they are calling 'COVID-19' is really RNA they have, by 'sleight of mouth', defined in most people's minds as 'COVID-19', even though they are merely using this RNA as an 'indicator' for a virus they have yet to clearly isolate and identify as such.

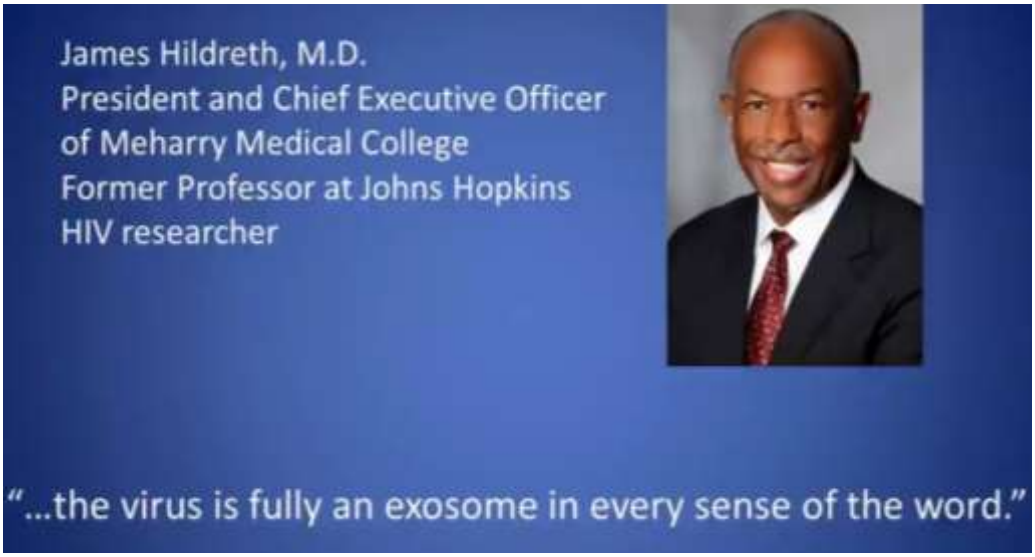
The RNA associated with, and now 'synonymous' with, COVID-19, in the electron microscope images right, are indistinguishable from exosomes taken from a lung cancer patient, left. They are the same size. They have the same structure. They trigger the same immune responses. They 'lock' to the same anti-body 'keys'. They 'target' the same cells. They are the same size. They are keyed to the same receptor. They both contain only RNA. They are both found in lung fluid.

	Exosomes	COVID-19
Diameter inside cell	500 nm (MVE)	500 nm
Diameter outside cell	100 nm	100 nm
Receptor	ACE-2	ACE-2
Contains	RNA	RNA
Found in	Bronchoalveolar (lung) fluid	Bronchoalveolar (lung) fluid

MVB are the exosomes before they have 'bud out' of the cell, and become 'sacks of genetic material' that can move among body fluids until they are 'locked onto' by antibodies, or other cells. They act as 'messengers'. They carry information. They trigger immune response. They also enter cells, which then become their 'hosts'. What they are calling 'COVID-19' are merely these MVB circulating in the lung fluid.



Again electron microscope images, show vesicle and exosomes same size inside and outside cell



A former professor at John Hopkins, the world's most prestigious medical research facility, concludes that exosomes ARE what we call 'viruses'

Exosomes production is stimulated by exposure to toxic substances, fear, stress, cancer, ionizing radiation, infection, injury, immune response, Asthma, and electromagnetic radiation, such as that produced by the new 5G networks

As the presence of such exosomes are being used as an 'indicator' for the presence of COVID-19, pretty much any symptom that could lead a person to seek medical attention can result in the production of exosomes, and thus a 'false positive' test result. And a loss of all your basic human rights. As a 'carrier' of a deadly infectious disease that requires quarantine, and segregation from the general community. Where? Well FEMA have all these brand-new 'camps' set up all over the U.S. Conveniently located at the end of private train lines. I wonder if these concentration camp inmates will get to sit, or will have to stand, like the 'Jews' did, during their transportation to the equivalent. As Hitler quipped, 'We get to decide who is a 'Jew'. And thus who gets 'transported' to the concentration camp. The 'COVID-19' test allows occupation government authorities to decide 'who is contagious', and thus must be 'medevac'd' for their own safety, and the protection of the community. Once you are 'out of sight' you are 'out of mind'. Like all the homeless people who have already been quietly 'shipped out' of major city centers.

One irony is that the very fear of COVID-19 can produce symptoms, and exosomes, and trigger a 'false positive'. Not just as 'placebo effects'. But as basic, human, responses to lethal threats, and being terrorized by constant propaganda, and people wearing masks and gloves, and constant 'emergency warnings'.

For many people, being stuck at home for 6 weeks produces enough stress to trigger exosome production, and a potential 'false positive'.

So both fear of catching a lethal virus, or of loved ones doing so, and frustration with being cooped up at home for weeks on end, and losing businesses, and losing income, become self-fulfilling prophecies, in the context of false positive COVID-19 test results.

It is like a lie detector test. It doesn't work. That is not the point of the test. The point of the test is, like the Nazi means of 'identifying' 'Jews', and government polygraph tests, and the Tibetan Buddhists narrative of the reincarnation of their Buddha, to give the authorities the freedom to choose who is a 'Jew', who is the reincarnated Buddha (their next feudal lord), who is a 'liar' and unfit for employment with the Cult of Judah Occupation Government (anyone who won't go along to get along will be defined as having 'failed' the polygraph), and who is a 'carrier' of COVID-19, and thus a legitimate target for abduction and unlawful detainment. And when that person dies, they already have a narrative to 'explain' it.

So we have the irony whereby the lie itself can produce the impression of being 'self-evidently true'. Basically generating its own proof. As a self-fulfilling prophecy. As a stimulus-response.

Imagine someone attacking you. So you defend yourself. At which point their carefully placed 'eyewitnesses' begin filming you. Conveniently 'missing' the original provocation you are reacting to. Thus deliberately producing the impression of an unprovoked attack on your part. Appearing to justify their continued attack on you. Which now appears as self-defense. They will come off as the 'victim' of YOUR unprovoked persecution! Sound like any self-defined religious-cultural-historical group you know of?

But wait, there's more. The irony just grows and doesn't stop growing. For this apparent 'virus' can now be used to 'explain' why lots of people appear to be dying off. Just after the installation of a new technology which has NEVER undergone ANY safety trials. Well you test a WEAPON for efficacy. Its aim is to kill. And once you've designed it, and tested it, you know it is lethal. You don't then need to test whether it is safe or not. It was designed NOT to be safe. Only an idiot would carry out 'public safety' studies on a WEAPON designed to KILL the public!

What new technology am I referring to? 5G. Wuhan was the world's first complete 5G city.

But even without electromagnetic poisoning, Wuhan residents 'enjoy' access to the world's most toxic air, heavy metals like mercury in their seafood, and the stress of living in a police state, where the next thing you say or do could cost you your freedom, or your job, or your internet access, or access to your own money. A loss of all 'privileges'.

The ultimate irony is that the consequence of toxins is the production of exosomes, which are the body's immune response against these toxins. But this healthy immune response is being defined as a 'pandemic virus'. The tail thus wags the dog. The body's defender is being defined as the attacker. Just as in Hitler and the 'Jews', the protagonist is being defined as the antagonist. The good guy is being defined as the bad guy. Jesus is being defined as evil. Lucifer is being defined as evil. Yahweh is being defined as good. Moses and Joshua are being defined as good. The freedom fighter is defined as terrorist. The terrorist as 'making the world safe for democracy'. Legislation that abolishes the constitutional rights of citizens is defined as 'The Patriot Act'. The Cult of Judah is defined as the persecuted victim. We are living in 'upside down land'. We have gone down the rabbit hole, and Alice in Wonderland has nothing on us!

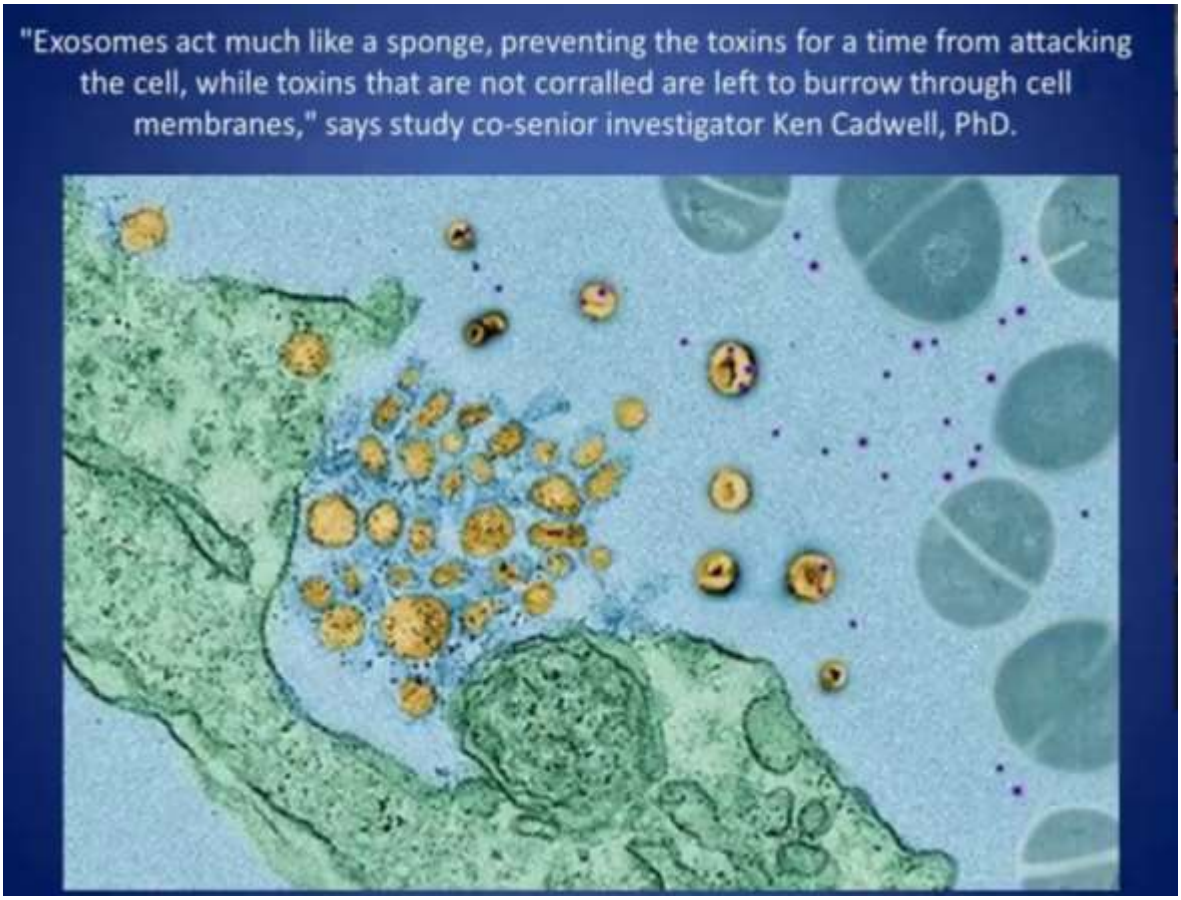
Just like in World War Two, where Germany, the natural ally of America, was defined as the enemy, and the Soviet Union, its natural enemy, was defined as its ally, and given priority even over American needs, to 'make the world safe for Communism'. Or was that democracy? Hard to keep track, they just keep changing things around. With one day Tim Osmond a.k.a 'Bin Laden' being America's ally, and next 'public enemy number one'. And in this case, what is being defined as an indicator of the presence of a lethal, contagious, virus, is actually our body's natural defence mechanism. Our greatest ALLY. Actively fighting FOR our health and wellbeing. But being defined, in true 'Cult of Judah upside down style' as our greatest enemy. Our greatest threat! And being used to justify and legitimate, like the false flag attacks of 911, our acquiescence with Cult of Judah Occupation Government 'states of emergency' and the destruction of all our legal and civil rights, freedoms, liberties, and privacy.

It is also worth noting how the '911' narrative was used to introduce body scanners at all airports. Bathing travelers in electromagnetic radiation. 5G being introduced in the name of 'national security' has been demonstrated by Los Alamos laboratories to be easily weaponised, by increasing the frequency to 60 GHz. I've detailed the weaponisation of 5G elsewhere, in other videos and transcripts on this Bitchute channel and TROONATNOOR WordPress pages.

The 'lockdown' and resulting financial crisis and stock market crashes were the latest Cult of Judah orchestrated means to 'sell high, buy low'. To appropriate YOUR retirement savings. To plunge the world's economies into recession and depression. To bankrupt small and medium sized family owned and otherwise private businesses. To destroy the middle classes. To allow 'The Federal Reserve Bank', a private bank which obtained the right to 'create' money out of thin air, to buy up majority voting shares in all the world's major corporations, so as to realise Mussolini's dream of the 'fusion of government and big business'. The Italian style 'fascism 'of 'corporatism'. With the ultimate objective of removing all 'private' freedom, and giving the Cult of Judah Occupation Governments TOTAL CONTROL. While keeping the base of the pyramid poor, insecure, and dependent on 'Big Brother Government'. Living in fear. Having to worry about 'making ends meet'. Having no time or energy left over to 'think' or 'reflect' much about life. Feeling a huge need to 'go along to get along'. To not 'rock the boat'. To not challenge authority. To not question authority. To not 'blow the whistle'. To 'look the other way'. To 'follow orders'.

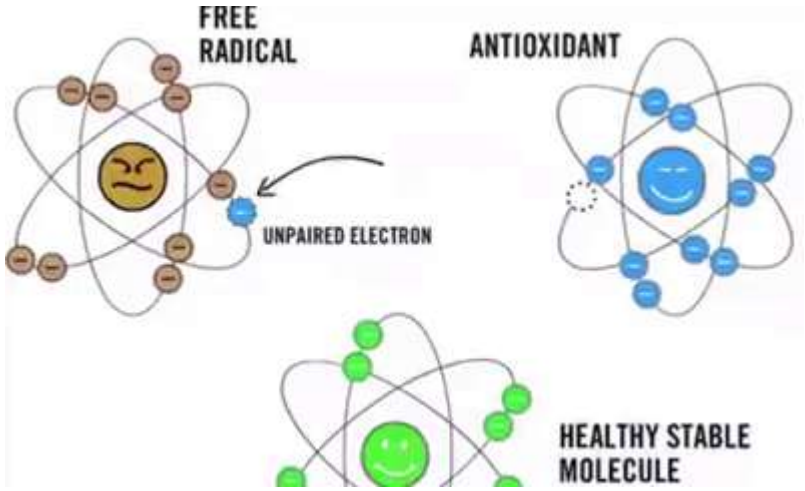
So this 'COVID-19' pandemic virus hoax is just the latest chapter in the 'Torah', obeying the MOSSAD rule of 'Make war by deception'. Pushing the Cult of Judah's agenda. Moving it along one step closer to fruition. And the realisation of a One World Government. A Cult of Judah 'New World Order'. Thus taking us one step closer to total slavery to The Cult of Judah.



Above, the electron microscope images are colored. What we can see above are exosomes 'eating up' toxic bacteria, and thus protecting cells from them

If COVID-19 was a virus, the treatments these treatments could NOT work (but they do!)

Simple and effective treatments for supposed Covid-19 infections explode the myth that we are dealing with some deadly pandemic, or that vaccinations are appropriate. Whatever toxins are REALLY producing the material claimed to be associated with Covid-19 are destroyed by these simple 'treatments'. The toxins are 'digested' and 'neutralised' by anti-oxidants which neutralise the electrical charges of free radicals resulting from 'oxidative stress'. Below is an illustration, your left, of a 'free radical' with an 'unpaired electron', making this molecule 'unbalanced'. Everything moves towards, and through, balance, which in this case leads to the 'free radical' automatically 'stealing' electrons from healthy molecules, from healthy tissue and cells, in order to balance its own imbalance. This occurs automatically, any time the 'free radical' comes into contact with a 'complete-balanced' molecule. What anti-oxidants do is 'repair' that breach. They sacrifice their own electrons, like a Jesus on the cross, the REAL Jesus, or like Odin hanging from the world-tree 'Yggdrasil', so that OUR damaged cells, the ones the free radicals stole from, might be 'whole', a-la 'Holy'. They can also sacrifice electrons up to the free radicals themselves, balancing them, so they don't end up doing any damage at all to the bodies actual cells, organs, and immune system.



Apologies for the incomplete screenshot, but the green 'healthy stable molecule' at the bottom now has its full complement of electrons, thanks to the anti-oxidant either having 'sacrificed' one to it, or because the free radicals had benefitted in the same way, from the anti-oxidants 'sacrifice', and no longer posed a threat, as an 'electron grabber'.

The treatments doctors have had success with include Vitamin C, a powerful antioxidant that helps reduce damage from toxin-induced oxidative stress (free radicals), and Hydroxychloroquine, which releases lysosomal enzymes into the cell to 'digest' and thus 'neutralise' toxins.

The testing procedure appears to have been set up deliberately in order to welcome as great a degree of error as possible, so as to produce as many 'false positives' as possible, for the presence of an 'indicator' that is merely ASSUMED to be 'evidence' of the presence of an active virus, which is ASSUMED to be potential lethal, for people ALREADY suffering from relatively acute illness, and thus vulnerable to ANY opportunistic infection of ANY kind, and likely to die, during the declared 'pandemic', of causes totally UNRELATED to the SUPPOSED 'COVID-19' virus.

All in name of pushing new world order agenda forward.

Pay attention to the fine print, and watch for the typical Cult of Judah NLP 'sleight of mouth'

Mass media reports concerning COVID-19 deaths refer to fatalities where the victims 'had corona virus in their systems'. They rarely claim anyone died OF COVID-19. However most people 'hear' that. THAT is the message they come away with. That COVID-19 was the CAUSE OF DEATH. So when a famous person dies of a heart attack, and just happens to have produced a false negative in the COVID-19 test, for the reasons outlines earlier, the mass media reports that they 'tested positive for COVID-19', and quickly go on to give the very false IMPRESSION that COVID-19 was the cause of death, which produces the public PERCEPTION that COVID-19 is a deadly killer.

While some people are aware that religious figures are under pressure to conform to the dogmas of their religion, few people realise that the medical profession, like the scientific community, often become 'secular religions'. Once you gain 'admission' to these strictly controlled groups, you are under massive pressure to CONFORM. To 'go along to get along'. With whatever the 'others' are doing. Especially with the more senior members of this closed social group. This closed 'professional' group. This 'Cult'. So few doctors would dare NOT write 'COVID-19' on a death certificate, as the official 'Cause of Death', if any pressure at all was put on them. Especially if they were offered the prospects of career advancement. Or feared their career chances might suffer, if they failed to 'go along to get along'. They wouldn't need 'written orders'. It would be enough to 'hint' and 'suggest' what was expected of them. By as little as a facial 'micro-gesture'. But where necessary, direct, formal, pressure would be put on anyone who proves they are 'not a team player', by failing to 'follow the group norms'. I've experienced this as a teacher, and when I would not 'play along' and 'follow the script' and 'behave as expected', I was blacklisted, and any career prospects I had as a teacher, or even public servant, were destroyed.

Who do the majority of people already work FOR?

What do you do? I work for THE GOVERNMENT! People do NOT say 'I am a public servant'. Or 'I work for the PEOPLE'. Everyone who works for the government knows WHO is paying them. WHO is signing their paychecks. And authorizing their travel expenses and meal allowances. And contributing to their pension plans. Who is going to risk offending 'the hand that feeds'? They will go along to get along. And step by baby-step, walk into the trap set for them by their Cult of Judah Occupation Government 'bosses'. 'Following orders'. Even 'implied' orders. 'Suggestions'. Expectations that you will 'model' your behavior on that of your 'supervisors' and 'bosses' and 'colleagues'. Any time you 'stray' they will make it clear. Subtly and gently at first. But ultimately they will threaten you directly, and employ all the non-physical forms of violence at their disposal, to ensure your SUBMISSION and COMPLIANCE. Your acquiescence. You will experience it as 'mobbing' and 'workplace victimisation', but if you attempt to gain natural justice using the procedures supposedly in place to provide this, you will soon learn they are all there 'for show'. And no-one is going to investigate your grievances, let alone ensure you gain natural justice.

Then there is the matter of 'compartmentalisation' of 'Cult of Judah Assets'. One of the keys to getting away with a conspiracy is to NOT to allow anyone to REALISE how the INDIVIDUAL things that are going on contribute to the final objective. Some people might, if they understood the grand plan they were enabling, by failing to 'blow the whistle' on the relatively unimportant things they witness at work, decide they couldn't live with themselves, and might actually try to draw public attention to, and expose, the 'pieces of the puzzle' that they ARE aware of. But being unable to see 'the big picture' or 'join the dots' between the host of relatively 'harmless' corruption and crimes and deceptions in their own little domains, they have no motive strong enough to risk a 'career limiting move', let alone losing their job, and much, much, worse. Without a strong enough motive, in the form of 'understanding the big picture horror they are enabling', their natural inhibitions at paying such a high personal and professional cost for being a 'whistle-blower' take precedence in their decision making.

'Event 201' and a few other matters to consider

Bill Gates had run a 'computer simulation' 6 weeks before the 'pandemic' was announced in Wuhan China. It was called 'Event 201'. A 'test kit' had already been prepared. Basically, a test designed to test for lung cancer was re-purposed. Even though the inventor of that test has stated explicitly that this test should NEVER be used to diagnose any infectious disease.

The public had been 'primed' for a pandemic by decades of Hollywood 'pandemic' feature films, television movies, and television series, and most recently a BBC Four production. Basically, we had a 'tail wagging the dog' scenario. The Cult of Judah Occupied Nations crypto-de-facto New World Order had an agenda which they followed through.

This was a test. The Cult of Judah passed. The sheeple acquiesced. They failed this test of their credulity, laziness, and willingness to challenge, let alone stand up to, authority.

We failed the test also. So far. We have failed to take advantage of this opportunity to arouse suspicion and scepticism in the general public, which could be leveraged to draw their attention to all the other anomalies and full-blown conspiracies we have exposed and documented.

As with the 'sleight of mouth' mis-named 'Spanish Flu', you could extract genetic material, any fluid you liked from any tissue or body fluid, including the lungs, of supposed 'infected' 'carriers' of COVID-19, inject anyone with that fluid, and fail to produce any symptoms at all in that person. The test, never intended to be used to diagnose any infectious disease, would, however, produce a 'false positive'. On the basis of which any authority could 'justify' forcibly medicating you, forcibly vaccinating you, forcibly detaining you, and forcible holding you in isolation, for as long as they liked. And when they murdered you, the 'cause of death' on your death certificate would read 'COVID-19'. There would be no autopsy or investigation. Case closed. Nothing to see here folks. Go on your way!

Personally, it was satisfying to hear David Icke once more 'borrow' terms I have been using. He now refers to the 'Cult' that rules this world. A vast improvement on his former focus on 'shape-shifting aliens'. He and Brendan O'Connell appear to have read at least some of my publications, though neither has ever responded to my attempts to contact them, let alone referred anyone to my publications.

To clarify the situation, 99% of Italians whose death was attributed to Covid19' had been suffering from multiple illnesses and diseases. Yet their 'cause of death' was entered on death certificates as 'COVID-19'. This explains how even the pathetically low death toll figures have been 'fluffed' and 'inflated' to create the ILLUSION, the IMPRESSION, the PERCEPTION, the SOCIAL REALITY, the OFFICIAL NARRATIVE, the MYTH, of a pandemic viral threat. In the same way the false flag attacks of nine eleven were used to construct and maintain a false narrative of a 'global terrorist threat'. Which itself, like the COVID-19 hoax, was used to 'justify' the suspension of all constitutional and other legal rights, freedoms, liberties, and privacies, in the name of 'national security' and 'public health'.

Whistle-blower doctors working in New York hospitals have publicly stated that they had been ordered to diagnose ANYONE coming to them to seek treatment who had ANY sort of respiratory / lung illness as being infected with 'Covid-19'. Further, they stated that the lungs of people they had autopsied looked like what you would expect to see in someone who had died when a plane, flying at high altitude, had depressurised its cabin pressure, losing all the oxygen, killing the passengers of asphyxiation / oxygen deprivation. Or what you'd expect to happen to someone if they were dropped at the top of Mount Everest without oxygen, or even being given time to acclimatise to the high-altitude lack of oxygen. Consider this in light of the very first chapter of this publication, which described the symptoms of victims of 'Spanish Flu'.

Again, I repeat, compare the figures for deaths from 'viral infections' in the nations that did NOT participate in this hoax, and you will find no changes compared with previous years. Also, as with the supposed 'Holocaust', you will find no change in epidemiological statistics for this year, compared to previous years, for total deaths from all causes. In fact they will probably be lower. Due to the imposition of 'house arrest', the constant hand washing and face masks, and the lack of social interaction, which would result in the normal seasonal flu virus victim figures falling.

Remember that almost all the supposed 'carriers' of COVID-19 had either only very mild, or no symptoms at all. The medical profession and authorities attempted to cobble together any symptoms at all, such as raised body temperature, slight headaches, or any other sort of 'psycho-somatic' symptom that would normally accompany being terrorised by a media blitz claiming you were at high risk of death from a pandemic virus, as 'proof' of COVID-19 infection. Catch a typical slight seasonal cold, flu, or allergic reaction, and you were immediately defined as a COVID-19 carrier. Automatically relieving you of all your usual legal rights, freedoms, liberties, and privacy.

People were constantly threatened, by full spectrum propaganda, that there would be a sudden 'surge' and 'outbreak'. So people sat at home, in fear, waiting for it. See my publications about what happened at an Australian Airport a few years ago, to understand 'mass suggestion' and 'mass placebo-effects'. How 'self-fulfilling prophecies can produce real symptoms in people in the absence of ANY sort of pathogen, virus, or threat. The actual FEAR being itself enough to produce psycho-somatic, physiological, reactions. Symptoms. A fear produced by a hoax. By falsified statistics. By rigged computer modelling programs. By falsified 'cause of death' statements. By impression management. By perception engineering. By manufacturing public opinion.

By constructing and maintaining a MYTH.

All this activity is further supported by various 'dramaturgical' elements. Props on the stage of the theatre. Even 'backstory exposition', which we call 'official history'. The Cult of Judah have a 3000-year long strategy in place. Lies they 'seeded' thousands of years ago are being harvested today. They are yielding a bumper harvest. Lies like 'God' and 'The Old Testament' and 'Gospels' and 'The Koran', and 'Das Kapital'. And 'Spanish Flu'. And 'The Holocaust'. And 'nine eleven'. And 'man-made global climate crisis tipping point'. And now 'COVID-19'. All these lies and myths interact to form the platform from which the Cult of Judah can now operate. With zero accountability. Zero transparency. Zero responsibility to any power other than their own desires, wills, objectives, and goals.

All the 'noble lies' their 'helpers' have 'accommodated' , as 'means to ends', were based upon further illusions sold to them. The glorious 'ends' that these lies were promised to be ends TO. With each 'illusion' tailor-made for each consumer. Each 'helper'. Each loyal servant. So that each Cult of Judah Operative believed they were serving a completely different, often totally antagonistic, end. Some believed they were preparing the way for the Jewish 'Messiah'. Others for the return of their messiah. Others for a worker's paradise. Others yet for a 'green' society. Some believed they were working towards social justice. Some believed they were working towards a world where they were to be the 'chosen people', with all other people subjected to them, as slaves, and mere servants, means to their own ends. So there was always a mix of idealistic and purely opportunistic, selfish, motives at play. Represented and institutionalised as various organisations and religions.

If they actually suspend the 'state of emergency', it will be a mere suspension. Meaning they were not planning to 'roll' this out, THIS TIME. That this time was just a 'test' and 'dry run'. To see what they could get away with. To 'prime' the masses for the REAL THING. And in preparation for that 'final push', to identify people, like myself, who will need to be rounded up BEFORE the next hoax. To prevent us in any way freeing the sheeple of their delusions, and maybe even motivating, even organising, some resistance to the Cult of Judah's plans. Before the next REAL 5G related electromagnetic poisoning and mass 'porphyria' 'outbreak, which can then be blamed on a new 'pandemic virus'. Mis-directing attention away from the true aetiology / cause of the outbreak. The mass deaths. The mass FEMA camp evacuations and 'medical containments'. Basically the mass rounding up of political dissidents and other 'thought criminals' and their transportation to concentration FEMA camps. Where they can be unlawfully detained without any trial, and for as long as the authorities require. As is the case since the 'Patriot Act' was introduced, in the wake of the nine eleven false flag attacks.

We are dealing with 'Homo Fideo', 'Believing Man'. A being that not only accepts pure hearsay as 'fact', as long as it comes from some 'authority' and 'everyone else appears to believe it', but has a terribly short memory. So that, even though that 'authority's' earlier 'announcements have been proven to be lies, that same authority is still believed, this time.

Such as Professor Neil Fergusson, the 'authority' on COVID-19, whose computer simulations, years ago, predicted that the polar ice caps would have melted by 2020. Clearly his 'authority' has been repudiated by THE FACTS. And yet, when he, today, terrorises Britain with 'predictions' of up to half a million deaths from COVID-19, he is believed. His 'authority' has somehow remained intact. But wait, there's more. Within a matter of days that same 'authority' that made such 'authoritative' and 'compelling' claims, issuing such dire warnings, enough to compel most people to acquiesce to the suddenly declared 'state of emergency' and virtual martial law, and suspension of all legal rights and civil liberties, 'revised' his 'computer model simulation predictions' down to a few thousand deaths. And still his credibility, his 'authority' remains intact? How could that be? Well that is the 'sheeple' we are dealing with here. Homo Fideo. Believing man. The same that bases most of their life decisions on 'hearsay'. From priests, politicians, news presenters, government spokespeople, 'authorities', specialists, and even historians. It is a frighteningly mind numbing and heart chilling fact that we have to come to terms with, and try to work with, somehow.

I warned about Boris Johnson being the Cult of Judah's U.K equivalent for their former puppet U.S Occupation Government puppet Roosevelt. Playing the 'bumbling, harmless, fool' for the masses. While working his way to the top position. Appearing as 'non-threatening' as possible. To rise to the highest position of power. Where, as a puppet Occupation Government leader, he can pursue the goals and objectives of his masters, the Cult of Judah elites. He even played a dramaturgical role in this hoax. Appearing bewildered as he is medevac'd and hospitalised with COVID-19. To drive the propaganda point home. To make his pronouncements of a 'national emergency' seem more plausible. To encourage compliance with the 'state of emergency' 'lockdown' and virtual 'house arrest' of 66 million people. All on the basis of a hoax. A lie. A deception. A myth. An illusion. A work of public relations impression management and perception engineering. Manufacturing the illusion, then the public opinion, and then the 'consent' of the sheeple.

Any time already discredited 'experts' join ranks with the likes of Bill Gates or Imperial College London, or the BBC, you know 'something is rotten in the state of Denmark'.

Seems, madam? Nay, it is. I know not seems!

But while the 'Hamlets' among us comprehend what is going on, the sheeple continue to acquiesce, long after the hoax should have been apparent. Long after the threatened 'mass deaths' didn't occur. So that even weeks after the 'official' predictions fell to a few thousand, millions of people continue to accept 'house arrest'. With no real relief in sight. No guarantee this 'state of emergency' will not be rolled on indefinitely. Like 'suspected terrorists' can be detained 'indefinitely'. Where anyone can be accused of BEING a 'terrorist', with no right to a trial to prove otherwise! And yet the sheeple do not 'push-back' any more than they did after the Nine Eleven 'Patriot Act' 'emergency' laws were put in place, suspending Habeas Corpus, and defying Posse Cometas. Directly violating the people's constitutional rights. Every legal right hard won since 'The Magna Carta'.

The World Health Organisation, created by the Rockefellers, with Bill Gates now its second largest contributor, was occupied long ago, like every other supposed 'non-partisan' and 'independent' non-government-organisation from 'Greenpeace' to the 'U.N'. With the typical 'useful idiot' occupying the top positions, as puppets for the Cult of Judah. Fronts. Just as Bill Gates and Elon Musk and Mark Zuckerberg are all Cult of Judah 'front men'. The 'face' of the world's most powerful corporations. The public figures. That misdirect our attention away from the true controllers of those corporations. The Cult of Judah.

If you get to go back to school, or work, look around. Ask questions. Find out what new 'tech' has been installed while we were all distracted by this manufactured terror, under lock-down, under house arrest. Look around for new electronic infrastructure in your office. On the streets. New towers. New gadgets affixed to telegraph poles.

Expect new vaccines and apps to appear. Even to become compulsory. Government mandated. Expect at least a big propaganda push to condition to you to accept such measures in future, priming you for when they simply MAKE them compulsory. Make it a crime NOT to be vaccinated. Or get a new 'Nano-Tech Tattoo'. Expect contrived, manufactured, 'virus crises' like the one at Disneyland used to push through compulsory vaccination legislation. These may be real false flags, or like Sandy Hook, drills presented as genuine. Expect fear mongering. Pandering to, and exploiting, irrational fears. Based on hoaxes like the one we are experiencing now.

Don't expect to be told about the known dangers associated with the routine injection of live viruses, foreign proteins, toxic chemical adjuvants, and a witches' brew of antibiotics, detergents, acid and alkaline buffers, hydrocarbons, a variety of animal cells, and foreign DNA and proteins directly into the bloodstream of entire populations, and especially of our newly born children at the earliest and most vulnerable stage of their development.

Don't expect any public discussion of the fact that both an Act of U.S Congress, and a 2011 U.S Supreme Court ruling admitted that vaccines are, by their very nature, 'unavoidably unsafe'. Ironically this fact was used to justify making vaccine manufactures NOT Liable for legal damages when YOU and YOUR child become their NEXT victim. Adding to the growing list of victims NOT compensated by the highly lucrative vaccine industry, but rather becoming, as a result, dependent on 'Big Brother' Government for a pitiful subsistence.

Or like Android apps, expect to be offered special 'privileges' like expedited airport security checks, as an incentive to voluntarily download and install an app, or 'get a shot'. Even a 'Nano-tech Tattoo'. Don't expect to be told what is IN that shot. Or what ALL the functions of that tattoo are. And don't expect to hear anything about the dangers of 5G. Or even to be told that 5G infrastructure is being built around you. Your future electronic prison. Like you were not told about 'fracking' factories that were poisoning your water aquifers.

This is the end of days. The end of those hard-won freedoms we have enjoyed for barely a few decades. The Cult of Judah occupied U.S.A, with its Zionist Occupation Government, created the Chinese system that will soon spread around the globe. Along with the Soviet system it made possible, by destroying Germany, then leaving the Cult of Judah occupation governments of the Russian Federation and Eastern Europe to do their worst. Betraying all the supposed 'reasons' why America had entered World War Two, on the side of the Cult of Judah Occupied Soviets.

This is it folks. The line in the sand has been crossed. Are we going to push (them) back? Or acquiesce. Just wait until the next manufactured emergency. The next hoax. The next false flag. When the Cult of Judah will impose measures that make the current 'state of emergency' seem like a 'Golden age of freedom' in comparison. And we can expect this to come any day now. In fact this current state of emergency might never be relaxed at all.

This is the end of our days of freedom. The Cult is flexing its muscles. Testing the waters. YOU have just given them the complete CONFIDENCE to do their worst. For you, based on pure HEARSAY, after 911, accepted 'The Patriot Act'. And this year, based on pure HEARSAY, accepted the imposed 'States of Emergency' without a whimper. Without the slightest resistance. Even in Estonia. Which only recently escaped overt Soviet control. No 'singing revolution' is going to be possible unless you defy the dictatorship that has been pretending to be a democracy. Unless you TAKE BACK your liberty. TAKE BACK your government. So that once more, we have government BY the people FOR the people. I will be happy to lay out a plan of action and strategies. And participate actively. If we can get the numbers. Otherwise just 'sticking my head out' will simply invite the Cult of Judah to cut it off! Or worse. Lock it in solitary confinement until death finally comes, decades later, as my saviour and TRUE liberator. My final release from this prison plane-et.

The cult feed off human nature. They are the manifestation of our own wills. Our will to exploit others as means to our own ends. They create problems, then in the guise of 'solving' them, remove all our legal rights, freedoms, and liberties. In the guise of protecting us, they inject us with lethal cocktails of chemicals. They generate fear with false flags and hoaxes, then exploit our fear. Which is irrational. Based merely on false impressions. On fake news. On hoaxes. On perception engineering. On propaganda.

The cult feed off our egotistic selfishness. Our envy of 'our betters'. Our malicious envy and jealousy. They both mirror and reflect, in slight amplification, the worst in human nature, while exploiting it to their profit and advantage.

While abusing the best in human nature, they pretend to the higher minds and souls that 'this noble lie' they are being offered, will bring about the utopia THEY have been dreaming of. With a noble lie tailored to every dream. Every ideal. Every utopian vision. Thus taking what might have been positive, constructive, energy, effort, and sacrifice, and turning it towards their own evil ends.

Whatever problem you are worried about, there is a Cult of Judah subsidiary offering a solution to it. If you are in need of a messiah, they will offer you one. A first coming or a second coming, take your pick. An earthly workers' paradise or a heavenly one. With angels with harps, or willing young virgins. Take your pick.

The Cult of Judah represents itself falsely as 'all things to all people'. Whatever you want from a group, they pretend to offer it. To be it. The Cult of Judah either started, or occupied / took over, all the major religions and social organisations. Not just the government ones. But the religious ones. The social ones. Even the 'alternate media' in the form of 'controlled opposition'. The universities. The government schools. The parochial / private schools. The mass media. Hollywood. So every Christian, Muslim, Marxist, Environmentalist, Catholic, Jew, and all the New Agers, is really supporting the Cult of Judah, when they support THEIR particular organisation, and it's supposed objectives. When they accept 'noble lies' as legitimate. When they overlook the sins of their leaders as THEIR 'ends justify the means'.

We were ALL locked down under house arrest. ALL of us. Jews, Gentiles. Muslims, Catholics, Protestants, Marxists, Communists, Capitalists, West, East. If THIS does not make it obvious to ALL the people who have been promised THEIR ascendency and control of everyone ELSE, then what will? For the Cult of Judah is abusing EVERYONE and thinks of EVERYONE as their slave. AS the means to THEIR ends. AS mere 'beasts of burden'. To be exploited by THEM to provide THEM with pleasure, relief, and security.

Acquiescence at THIS point in history dooms you, and your children, and their children, for as long as this cycle lasts, to slavery.

This OBVIOUS exercise of a de-facto One World Government, and what they have exercised their power to DO, and HOW they did it, can be seen as Karma. As it EXPOSES the Cult of Judah One World Government as clearly as is possible without actually officially announcing its dictatorship, and sending out the troops to enforce it. But THAT IS the next step, if resistance is NOT universal. If only a FEW people resist, THEY will be the typical victims of all dictatorial regimes. Gulags, and work camps and torture chambers and death await them, as 'criminals'.

Seriously, this is it. If we can't manage it NOW, then by the time we manage ANYTHING, because things get SO bad and SO obvious, the Cult will have already mobilised the troops. The soldiers. To enforce their dictatorship even on any police who decide they do NOT want to be accountable for enslaving THEIR OWN FAMILIES to the Cult of Judah. To the one world government. The one world fascist dictatorship.

This day, April 26, in week 5 of the state of emergency
In the year of our Cult of Judah occupation, 2020
Markus Heinrich Rehbach
Sovereign Ecclesia of The Free Church (The Vegan Church)

Richard Moskowitz 'Vaccines; A Reappraisal'

This is just a selection of my notes from this great reference work. Grab a copy of it when you can. I found my copy online as a torrent, back when I had access to torrents at the local Public library. They have now removed access to torrents at both public libraries I have access to.

All over the world, governments, medical institutions, and manufacturers are trying to persuade or compel people to vaccinate themselves and their children from cradle to grave. The modern world prizes vaccines as the signal triumph of medicine over disease, its quintessential achievement. Dr. Moskowitz sees our present vaccine policy as a vast, costly, and dangerous experiment that is out of control, obscenely profitable, and badly in need of independent regulation.

He catalogues the risks of each individual vaccine, as well as those of the vaccination process per se. He explains how the industry's in-house safety trials, and the government's Vaccine Adverse Event Reporting System (VAERS) and National Vaccine Injury Compensation Program (VICP), systematically ignore and underreport important classes of injuries caused by vaccines, so that the true extent of their burden on the medical system remains hidden and to that extent unknowable. As a kind of bottom line, he emphasizes the basic right of every patient to free and informed consent.

The 2005 Universal Declaration on Bioethics and Human Rights affirms that, apart from during a public health emergency, the interests of science and society must not be allowed to override the right of all people to make medical decisions for themselves and their children. The 2005 Universal Declaration that supplemented it was signed by more than 190 countries, including the United States, and has established unequivocally that medical care must not be subject to governmental coercion, except in the rarest and most extreme circumstances.

So, just as with the U.N declaration of human rights, we were SET UP to have all our basic, fundamental human rights stolen from us with via 'Sleight of Mouth'. All the Government had to do to override any 'human rights' we imagined we had, was to DECLARE some 'exceptional' 'health emergency'. Which they did. For an imaginary new pandemic virus they called 'Covid-19'.

In 2015, a small measles outbreak among visitors to Disneyland was used by the state of California to enact a law prohibiting infants and children from attending any school or preschool, whether public or private, unless they are fully compliant with the state's vaccine mandates, a draconian measure that abandons sensible public health practice as well as basic human rights.

Since then, many other states and even the federal government are considering similar laws, merely because a small but growing minority of parents are continuing to question and refuse some vaccines for their children.

It is noteworthy that a sizable number of developed countries in Europe, North America, and Asia that have relaxed such mandates have not only escaped any major health problems as a result, but have recorded consistently lower infant mortality rates and scored better on other standard health measures as well, without cruelly forcing parents to choose between educating their children and refusing to vaccinate them.

There is an accelerating push towards vaccinating children to prevent infectious diseases, especially those that are nonthreatening or already in decline.

More vaccines continue to be developed and mandated without regulation or restraint. The U.S.A requires all children to receive them, and indeed more of them than anywhere else in the world, without adequate safety studies.

What is at stake in this case is the routine injection of live viruses, foreign proteins, toxic chemical adjuvants, and a witches' brew of antibiotics, detergents, acid and alkaline buffers, hydrocarbons, a variety of animal cells, and foreign DNA and proteins directly into the bloodstream of entire populations, and especially of our newly born children at the earliest and most vulnerable stage of their development.

For that reason alone, the public is surely entitled to convincing proof, beyond any reasonable doubt, utilizing science of the highest quality, and readily understandable to the lay reader, that vaccination is a safe and effective procedure, in no way injurious to health, and that the threat of the corresponding natural diseases remains sufficiently compelling to warrant the mass vaccination of everyone, even against their will if necessary.

Such proofs have never been given. And in fact a major epidemic of vaccine-related suffering and disability, sufficient to break any heart, continues unabated, and remains largely unacknowledged. It should cry out at the very least for caution, restraint.

We must act with a new sense of urgency, because the time-honored rights of patients to refuse unwanted medical treatment and to make such decisions on behalf of their children are now being challenged as never before.

Vaccine manufacturers are shielded by an Act of Congress and a 2011 Supreme Court ruling from having to assume even that minimal degree of responsibility for their most egregious faults and tragic miscalculations. By thus indulging an already rich and powerful industry on the grounds that vaccines are "unavoidably unsafe," and excluding any redress for all but a tiny minority of the helpless children who are nevertheless required to receive them, both we as citizens and the government that claims to represent us have abandoned the same basic principles of justice to which we nevertheless continue to profess our allegiance.

What is new and different about the present moment is just that their long-cherished goal of vaccinating everyone without exception seems for the first time tantalizingly within reach, thanks to a small cluster of measles cases among travellers to Disneyland involving less than 150 in all, but including some dozens who became infected after the vacationers returned to their home states.

As if to forestall the logical conclusion that the measles vaccine isn't all that effective, the industry has cleverly repackaged this rapid and easy transmission of the virus across state lines from a minor and wholly typical outbreak into the looming and dreaded semblance of a major public health emergency. By fear-mongering in the media, lobbying state legislatures, and mounting lavish advertising campaigns in support of universal compliance with existing vaccine mandates, the powerful vaccine lobby has already succeeded in proposing new laws in more than half the states that would eliminate all personal-belief exemptions entirely.

The most comprehensive and draconian of these was recently signed into law in California, one of the bluest of the "blue" states, with a long and proud history of civil rights, democratic values, and a thriving alternative-medicine community, ominously trumped by what Governor Brown naïvely proclaimed as "clear scientific evidence" in the act of signing it. If it succeeds in withstanding the legal challenges that are already in progress, the only allowed exceptions remaining will be for established medical contraindications, which have always been notoriously few, defined ever more narrowly, applicable to only one vaccine at a time, and subject to review on a yearly basis.

FACT: it makes no sense to blame these outbreaks on the unvaccinated kids, since the majority of cases were actually vaccinated, as has been uniformly true of similar outbreaks in the past.

Again, just to be clear, the children who INFECTED the OTHER children, had themselves been vaccinated. It was VACCINATED children that had infected the UNVAXXED kids. Vaccinations clearly do NOT work. But they 'spin' the situation by assuming that the unvaxxed kids would NOT have become infected IF they HAD been vaccinated. But that is a very circular logic. To claim that vaxxed children can only INFECT OTHERS and cannot catch the disease themselves.

If vaccines were equal to the extravagant claims made for them, if they were truly effective in conferring a genuine immunity similar to that acquired by coming down with and recovering from the natural disease, then the unvaccinated kids would pose a danger only to themselves, based on a free choice of their own making.

What is highly suspicious about this author, though, is his repeated insistence, typical to the ideology of Semitism, most closely associated with 'Jews', is that of EXCEPTIONALISM. For example, he states: 'I can certainly imagine that the right to refuse treatment and the authority of parents to decide for their children might need to be waived for a brief period in the event of a genuine public health emergency'. This is naïve at best. Because he is basically handing over all YOUR human rights to the Government, the moment THEY 'declare' such an emergency.

Is this just another case of 'compartmentalisation', where a person is capable of seeing one particular conspiracy in action, but totally misses all the others operating, full speed, all around them? Or is the author just one more 'Controlled Opposition'?

ULFs. No not my favourite Uncle, but Ultra Low Frequencies

Study participants were kept in an underground bunker, where they would not be exposed to either the day-night 'Circadian Rhythm', nor the 'Schumann resonances' present on the earth's surface of 7.83Hz. What we call 'Ultra Low Frequencies' or ULF.

They suffered a variety of negative side effects, all of which vanished when then exposed, still underground, to 7.83Hz resonances.

Symptoms like stress, headaches, and emotional distress disappeared or were reduced, and feelings of wellbeing were restored, after the exposure to these ULFs.

See my TROONATNOOR volumes for details of the Russian use of ULF's to induce depression and dis-ease in U.S Embassy workers, in Moscow, during the phoney cold war.

Melatonin, key to healthy immune system functioning, under threat from lack of sleep, and exposure to artificial electromagnetic fields

Studies show that our physical and mental health suffers when we are removed from the natural night-day cycle, sometimes referred to as 'Circadian Rhythms'. So much so that night-shift work is now on the list of official 'carcinogens.

Melatonin controls the sleep-wake cycle. Melatonin is produced in the brain, in the Pineal gland. A typical breast cancer victim has only 10% or one tenth of the usual levels of melatonin found in a healthy person. Autistic children and men with prostate cancer typically have only have half as much melatonin as a healthy person.

Melatonin acts as 'oncostatic' agent, protecting against cancer. It is key to maintaining a healthy heart.

Night shift work has been classed as a class 2A probable carcinogen, because females who regularly work nightshift suffer breast cancer at twice the average rate.

The Pineal Gland is located at the back of the head, between the eye sensors. In some animals it retains most of the structure and functionality of a normal eye. It is literally a 'third eye' inside the skull, at the back of the head. It is light-sensitive to light penetrating the thin bone that surrounds it.

In humans it is much less developed, and not really a 'third eye'. But it is still sensitive to the signals the eyes send to the back of the head for processing. If the eyes detect light, the pineal gland is de-activated. Meaning it ceases to produce melatonin.

This means that people who work nights, and try to sleep during the day, have to be extremely careful to use 'total black-out' curtains, otherwise any light present will de-activate their pineal glands, and the result with be those massive drops in melatonin levels, and harmful effects, just described Melatonin is one of the main anti-oxidants produced by your body. Five times more powerful than vitamin C. Twice as powerful as Vitamin E. These 'mop up' 'free radicals'. These are 'unbalanced' particles resulting from the burning of fuel / internal combustion by the cells, and from cell division / reproduction, which 'steal' electrons from healthy cells, damaging them. See TROONATNOOR Vol I, II, and Convergences, for more details.

Melatonin is ONLY secreted while you sleep. So sleep is the number one factor in keeping a youthful appearance, and maintaining optimal health. Adults need at least 7 hours a day. Younger people much more.

What I had not been aware of until recently was the inhibiting / suppressing effects of electro-magnetic radiation, such as microwave radiation from mobile phone and wi-fi towers, on melatonin production. These suppress the pineal gland's normal functioning. It appears the pineal gland, unfamiliar with these new bandwidths of electromagnetic radiation, confuses with the visual light bandwidth, in some way not fully understood yet.

One problem with attempting a double blind, controlled study of the effects of mobile phone and wi-fi towers and the other forms of 'electronic smog' we are now immersed in, is that it is almost impossible to find a control group that is NOT exposed to this new electro-smog.

It would be like trying to test if smoking causes lung cancer in a society where there are no laws to protect non-smokers from passive smoking. Even if you don't want to use a mobile phone or Wi-Fi, you will be exposed to other people's Wi-Fi and mobile phone microwave radiation.

However, what we have seen in recent years is an unprecedented, never before seen 2% per annum rise in childhood leukaemia, Autistic Spectrum Disorders, and brain tumours.

And now some very ‘Markus’ insights. So we have a circadian rhythm stimulating the pineal gland to produce melatonin. M(e) El(Lord) Atone in' for the sins of the cells, literally i.e the saviour / messiah molecule 'me atone 'in' for the cell division / death / destruction and 'holocaust' i.e 'burning of fuel' required for life as the 'original sin' which atonement required FOR...i.e Me Atone in' ... Me Atone-ing ... Mel-aton-in ... which is the 'RESURRECTION' molecule i.e our bodies cells dying off each day, replaced each night, and all the 'by-products' of cell division i.e this resurrection / replacement of dead cells with new cells, VIA DIVISION i.e TRINITY i.e father (god-yhwh) is original cell...sacrifices itself as its son, Jesus, TO ITSELF (like Odin), to produce NEW LIFE I.e NEW CELLS i.e RESURRECTION / replacement of dead cells WITHIN SELF by SACRIFICING SELF i.e 'literally cut self in half', with 'hanging on tree Yggdrasil or 'on cross' might be good metaphor for...the 'holy ghost' is the 'spirit' that motivates this physical action...I am the LIGHT...which stimulates the Pineal gland, during the circadian rhythm cycle. I did warn you. Now you probably do NOT wonder why my friends stopped people offering me acid tabs at Uni!

We lose about half a billion cells each day, and replace them each night, via cell division / mitosis. Melatonin 'mops up' free electrons, the spare electrons that are the 'waste products' from burning fuel and cell mitosis. They 'attack' healthy cells by stealing electrons to balance out their own electron deficiencies. The result is cancers and tumours.

Melatonin is natural anti-cancer agent. An oncostatic agent that protects us against cancer. It Regulates our sleep-wake cycle. It has an anti-aging action which leaves the skin and complexion looking younger.

12,000 studies have been published on the subject. Reduced melatonin levels are correlated with a weakened immune system, insomnia, and other sleep disturbances.

Melatonin protects the heart. It supports optimal immune system functioning. Failure to get enough sleep, in a completely darkened room, can leave you more than ‘feeling tired’. If your pineal gland, receiving signals processed by your visual cortex, senses light, it won’t begin producing melatonin. So if you need to sleep during the day, be sure to invest in ‘total black-out curtains’. And if you can, eliminate as much of the background radiation, from wi-fi, electrical devices, and so on, as you can, as it appears the pineal gland interprets some of these microwave-length forms of electro-magnetic radiation as ‘light’, and responds as if it were daylight, shutting down melatonin production.

If it is true that the pineal gland conflates the new forms of EMF (Electromagnetic fields) produced by our new technologies, we may see a massive surge in all forms of cancers in the coming years. Which we could have prevented if only we’d been more cautious in adopting new technologies, en masse, before we’d had a chance to test their potentially devastating consequences. Or is that the REAL reason why technologies like 5G are being deliberately RUSHED THROUGH, even against the wishes of many people? Is the coming pandemic of cancers deliberate, planned, and orchestrated, as a form of genocide? A form of ‘population control’? The kind Bill Gates has been on about for over a decade already. And which the ‘nice Rabbi fellow’ claims god commands all ‘Jews’ to carry out. On YOUR entire nation!

Research in many animal species, such as storks nesting near radio masts, ants, bees, birds, marine mammals, and now humans, all point in same direction. Even direct studies of cells in labs lead to the same conclusions. The synthesis of melatonin by the pineal gland is disturbed by electromagnetic fields. And the consequent inhibition of melatonin production is an ALMOST conclusively proven scientific fact. Even in the relatively short time we've had to study the risks, they’ve become quite clear. What remains to be seen is how long it will take before the miners suffer the same fate as those hyper-sensitive ‘canaries’ already reacting to the new sea of artificial electromagnetic smog that we’ve immersed ourselves in. Or been forcibly immersed in, by ‘respected authorities’, profit hungry corporations, and our ‘trusted governments’.

With childhood leukaemia on the rise, and autism doubling in recent years, with Autistic Spectrum Disorders soaring most recently, we may soon come to regret having adopted the ‘convenience’ of Wi-Fi and mobile phones so readily, before ‘the facts were in’, concerning their safety.

I will make you fishers of men

Remember WHY people go fishing. Most do NOT do it for sport. They do it to KILL the fish. To USE the fish as a means to their own ends. ‘I will make you fishers of men’. Those are the words of a very famous Jew. Remember ‘The Matrix’ trilogy? The third film is an ‘inside’ revelation. That ‘Jesus’ is ‘controlled opposition’. Saying all the right things, to attract everyone who seeks genuine ‘reform of the system’ to him. They then pretend to ‘crucify’ him, but secretly let him down after a few hours, having carefully timed his ‘crucifixion’ to fall on a Friday afternoon, so that there would be no-one around to witness his rescue. Jesus was warned not to accept the ‘euthanasia’ that Rome afforded the victims of crucifixion after a few hours, in the form of a drug-soaked sponge. The religion founded in his name pretended to be ‘in opposition to’ and an ‘alternative to’, the prevailing Judaism of the time. But it was controlled from the start. And Jesus was simply another ‘controlled opposition’ actor reading from his Cult of Judah script. Designed to offer the people false hope. To ensure any opposition to the Cult of Judah would concentrate around him, and his new Cult, which would be controlled by the Cult of Judah itself. Thereby ensuring it would never pose a serious threat to the Cult’s plans for world domination.

We’ve been caught in their ‘Matrix’. Their net of lies. Their ‘social reality’. Their web of deception. They use ‘hot women in red’ to ‘misdirect our attention’. They bribe any potential, genuine, opposition leaders, with whatever it is they desire. Or simply assassinate them. Or just arrest them as ‘heretics’, and ‘apostates’ and ‘thought criminals’.

And so the followers of Jesus HAVE become ‘fishers of men’. They’ve ensnared us in their net of lies. And this latest brand of the Cult of Judah, this latest ‘subsidiary’ Cult, this Co2Vid Cult, combining a ‘novel’ (fictional) pandemic virus with the earlier myth of a ‘man-made global climate crisis tipping point’, is hauling that net in. Gathering in with it all the Homo Fideo, ‘catch of the day’.

I’ve spent my life exposing and illuminating the ‘social reality bubble’ we are born into. Which almost everyone dies never having seen beyond. Confusing this artificial construct, this engineered perception trap, with actual REALITY.

The net is now closing in on us all. Soon we will be dragged up into the Cult of Judah’s boat, where they will decide which of us have any value to them, as slaves, and which are ‘useless eaters’ that will need to be genocided.

They play games with our perceptions of reality. They censor reality, and replace it with their artificial constructs. Their deceptions. Their lies. Their propaganda. Their ‘fake news’. Their faked histories. Then engineer our impressions. They frame and spin our experience so it appears consistent with their official narratives. Their official narratives replace reality. Their ‘novel’, fictitious, imaginary, hallucinatory, delusions, replace our ‘lowest level of abstraction sense perceptions’. This is how they entrap us in their mind-snares. Their mind-prisons. And make slaves of us all.

Welcome to your 'Jew'.S.A 'for profit' gulag (a.k.a FEMA camp / prison)

After the Jewish (falsely named 'Russian') Revolution, the 'Jew'.S.S.R Soviet commissars began their reign of terror. Anyone they felt was a current, or posed a future threat to their power was systematically eliminated by firing squad, or rounded up and placed in 'gulags'. Labor camps. Slave labor camps. Totally innocent victims were rounded up from all the Soviet occupied (falsely named 'liberated') territories including Ukraine, Latvia, Lithuania, Estonia, Poland, and occupied Germany (falsely named 'East' Germany).

U.S police have been training in Israel for over a decade now. Training in Israel? For what? What sort of police training couldn't be done on U.S soil? Perhaps training in which the Police break every rule in the book? Training which violates the U.S constitution? Training which would be totally inappropriate in 'The land of the free'. But training which is totally appropriate for the Israeli occupied territories of Palestine? Training appropriate to a police state in which children are targeted, bombed, shot, and imprisoned and held without trial indefinitely? Watch my markus rehbach Youtube channel videos for the brutal facts.

In 1984 (reality, not the novel which has proven totally accurate) the first 'Jewish' Zionist owned private, 'for profit' prison was officially opened.

Remember that ‘weaselly’ ‘Thirteenth Amendment’ that claimed to have ‘abolished slavery’, but merely changed the conditions under which it was still LEGAL, namely, simply making up new VICTIMLESS crimes, to turn any target into a ‘criminal’? Observe what things they liked to do, buy, and sell. Then make these activities criminal!

Here I want to explain something few people comprehend sufficiently for its impact to hit them fully. Originally the U.S colonies granted limited charters to business people to set up and operate a business. The charter was granted only after serious consideration of the costs and benefits of such a business to the people of the colony. Unless the operation of the business was not viewed as a net benefit to the people of the colonies, it was not granted. And then the granted charter was very specific. Limited to a specific type of business activity, location, and duration.

Today you hear people say 'The only objective of a business is to make a profit for its shareholders'. They repeat this over and over as their mantra. Their dogma. But this was NEVER the intended objective set out by those insightful and foresightful persons who wrote the U.S constitution and its amendments. In fact it is exactly the OPPOSITE from what they intended.

How did this come about? Quite recently corporations were granted the same legal rights as 'persons'. Like you and I. As if they were people, with inalienable rights to pursue profit for its own sake. The idea of applying for a 'charter', and having to 'justify your existence' to a group of people with the public good in mind, was swept away.

So we went from object oriented corporations being temporary organisations set up to pursue a specific, limited purpose, such as the building of a railway from a port to a town, or the building of a steel plant to provide that railway with steel, to corporations with all the same legal 'rights' as any other 'person', with the only one object in mind, to pursue profits for their owners. Whether or not the products and services which would generate these 'greatest profits' was in the interests of the public or not.

This calls to mind one of the original 'interactions' between Islam and 'Jews'. Mohammed and his people were under siege by their enemies. The 'Jews' pursued the 'profit' motive, and sold goods to the besiegers. And possibly information on Mohammed's defenses. This is a clear example of the distinction between the intentions of the U.S Colony leaders, as expressed in their limited charters, and the later 'profit motive' corporations as 'persons' we have today.

Mohammed wasn't interested in the clever arguments of the 'Jewish' lawyers. He wasn't going to be corrupted by them into 'seeing things their way'. He took decisive action to prevent a repeat of such behaviors in his area of influence. Heads literally 'rolled'.

Mohammed denied 'Jewish' Banksters the right to operate within his sphere of influence. He banned usury, the 'creation' of money from nothing, and then lending of it for 'interest'. Mohammed stated explicitly, in his last public gathering, that all men are equal, not matter the color of their skin or ethnicity. This riled the 'Jews', with their doctrine of 'Jewish' racial supremacy, and exceptionalism, at least as much as the banning of their 'black magic' a.k.a 'money lending' 'business. So ever since this the Zionist 'Jews' have been hell bent on the destruction of Islam. The 'Jews' managed to connive their ways into the 'Christian' world, to regain their ability to practice 'finance' and 'law', and to literally come to occupy enough of the most powerful positions in government and business, media, law, education, and 'finance', to gain effective control of every 'Christian' nation they 'occupied'. This power is today being directed at Islam, to fulfill the Zionist ambitions began during the Biblical genocide, rape, and enslavement of the Palestinians, and the entirety of Islam.

Just like the Zionists did with Germany, from the Franco-Prussian war onwards. Up until now the demonisation of Germany, Germans, and Nazi's, especially Hitler, were the Zionist priorities. Two World Wars later, the Zionists have total control of Germany, France, Britain, and North America. They now have their sights on Islam. Islam is first to be demonised by 'false flag' terrorist attacks committed by CIA MOSSAD, such as '911', and the more recent 'faked' chemical attacks in Syria. We all remember the 'fake' WOMADs of Iraq. Some of us know about the U.S.S Liberty attack, an earlier precursor false flag collaboration between the U.S President of the time, and the Zionist Israeli leaders. For the last 200 years Germany has been the victim of a vicious, malicious, sustained, universal propaganda attack. Today it is Islam that is the target. 911 was blamed on Islam, just like WWI and WWII was blamed on Germans, Prussianism, and Nazism. A 'holocaust' fiction was invented to seal the final nail in the coffin of German pride and nationalism, and to justify all the war crimes the Allies had employed in WWI and WWII to defeat Germany. Germany was given sole responsibility and guilt for WWI and WWII. They have accepted this absurd 'ruling' of the Zionist controlled 'Jew-diciary'. The 'Nuremberg show trials'. The faked 'evidence' and 'testimonies' and constant stream of Zionist Hollywood propaganda films and television series, books, print media articles, and 'official' histories of WWI and WWII.

Today it is Islam that is coming in for the same treatment. Even peaceful Iran. One of the very few nations that has been peaceful for the last century. Having merely repelled attacks from Iraq, using U.S and E.C manufactured chemical weapons. There are few nations with as peaceful and internationally respectable a record as Iran. And yet the largest terrorist nation in the world, the one that has broken every international convention and law since it became a nation, has the gall to propagandize against Iran, defining it as some sort of 'threat' to U.S and world security. To make the most grotesque and absurd of lies about this peaceful, law-abiding nation. And the world allows these lies. Like it allows 'The Holocaust' lies. Why? Because it is Zionist 'Jews' who control public opinion. Who control the media. The 'Jew-diciary'. Who can literally print money to buy off anyone whose 'vote' they need. Anyone who has the influence they require is either bought off, or blackmailed to comply with the wishes of the Zionist 'Jews'.

Syria and Iran have always been on the Zionist occupied neo-con 'hit list', as the last two of the '7 nations in 5 years plan'. So expect more 'false flags' and a ramping up of demonisation and propaganda. Just like the recent lies vomited by Trump in his official 'justification' of his war crimes against Syria. His murder of Syrians in the name of 'national defense of the U.S'.

But back to you, at home in the U.S. And to our 'for the profit of the Zionist 'Jews' prison system. Labor camps. Slave labor camps. Exactly as the 'Jews' describe in their Torah and Talmudic texts. Exactly as they proudly document in their own history of genocide, rape, and enslavement of the peoples of Palestine / Canaan, as explicitly recorded in the Torah / Old Testament for you to go and read right now.

The corporations who own and control the 'for profit' element of the U.S prison system are the same mass media corporations owned by the Zionist 'Jews', and used as part of their full spectrum propaganda war against anyone who dare resist the 'chosen peoples' ambitions to rule the world, and enslave all non-'Jews'. You can verify this for yourself.

So today the Zionist 'Jews' complete the final stages of their occupation. They now have the same system of forced labor camps and 'gulags' they had in the 'Jew'.S.S.R. Solzhenitsyn bewailed that a few men could have prevented what happened in Russia, under the 'Jews', if only they have simply resisted. The men that came for them in the early hours of the morning, to take them to the camps could have been resisted by simple means. And yet no-one did. Everyone went along with them. No-one suspected the massive proportions the reign of terror would finally take. And so the 'totalitarian tiptoe', as David Icke expresses it so well, could move forward, baby step at a time, one prisoner at a time, one victim at a time, until the oppressors had total control. And the people were left wondering how they could have let such a small group of relatively powerless men assume total control of every aspect of the lives of the hundreds of millions of people in what became the 'Jew.S.S.R'.

Today you can be picked up from your home, place of work, or off the street, and taken away to one of these secret 'for profit' labor camps. They already exist and are fully operational. Many of the largest and well-known corporations in the U.S, such as Microsoft and Dell, have taken advantage of slave labor. Just like I.G Farben in Nazi Germany. Thanks to the 'Patriot' act, the most un-patriotic act of all time, anyone can be arrested with no warrant, no trial, and no actual charges, and taken to such a labor camp. Basically, a concentration camp for anyone who resists or opposes the new Zionist occupation of North America.

Why haven't you heard of this before? The same Zionist 'Jews' who own the labor camps also own the mass media. And the politicians. And the 'Jew'-diciary.

Ask yourself why the most prosperous land in the world, with only 2% of the world's population, has over 25% of the world's prison population.

Are these people in prison for violent crimes? No. Most of the prisoners in the U.S prison system, including the 'for profit' sector of it, the 'labor camps', have been arrested for 'victimless crimes' such as possession of marijuana, minor shoplifting, or inability to pay arbitrary fines imposed on them by non-elected administrative bodies, such as simple parking fines.

Already leaders of true 'patriot' groups, true 'constitionalists', true 'libertarians' are being rounded up and imprisoned in the Zionists own private prisons. The U.S tax-payer is unwittingly subsidizing these Zionist KZ's, these new 'Jewish'

Gulags. The U.S citizen is paying to have the people who are fighting, by peaceful and legal means, to protect THEIR rights and freedoms, locked up, indefinitely, and forced to do slave labor for their Zionist 'Jewish' masters.

Remember that things started on a small scale in Russia. Under the 'Jewish' 'Communist' Commissars. The 'Jewish' run secret police. The 'Jewish' run gulag system. The people didn't fight back when they had the chance. And then soon an 'iron curtain' had fallen on them. The full impact of their Zionist 'Jewish' occupation was then felt. But by then it was too late.

It is still not too late to act. Using peaceful and legal means.

Anyone who seeks to manipulate you or your organisation to take up violent means is either dangerously ignorant and stupid, or working for the Zionist 'Jews'. As FBI and CIA and MOSSAD agents. The 'Jews' WANT nothing more than for you to choose violent means. They can then use any violence as an excuse to impose further restrictions, step by step, incrementally, in baby-steps, until, like the poor frog in the boiling pot (James Corbett [Jimmy C]'s analogy), you suddenly realise that you are living under effective martial law, in a military-police, Fascist state. Just like the 'Jew'.S.S.R. Just like Palestine today. This is the 'totalitarian tiptoe' David Icke has been warning us about for decades, geniuses like Solzhenitsyn sadly bewail not having resisted when it was still possible to resist.

It is a propaganda war. We must win the info war. Wake people up. They cannot round up the entire population if it resists. They can only do it bit by bit. Hoping to scare the masses into submission by rounding up only the bravest and most obvious resistors.

In the past entire Zionist 'Jewish' populations have been 'kicked out of' nations and states. The people woke up in time. Today Germany is totally under the control of the occupational Zionist 'Jewish' forces. Like France. But there is a tiny chance that the U.S citizen, with his and her personal weapons, and history of resistance to tyranny, might succeed where the rest of the world has failed. But the window of opportunity is closing quickly. Soon it will be shut down. Fixed. Locked down.

At that point any real resistance will face an enormous cost in lives and property. It will be a choice between civil war, true French Revolution style revolt, and potentially endless slavery and servitude to the Zionist 'Jew' masters. The 'occupational' forces of the self-declared 'chosen people'.

FEMA camps are the new Gulag. They exist. They are operating. Often in total secret, as part of the private 'for profit' Zionist 'Jew' owned and operated 'prisons'. Sometimes out in the open. Just like in the 'Jew'. S.S.R, their scale of operations is relatively small. The current facilities are 'model' operations which are testing and blueprinting their systems, until they are ready to be 'rolled out' on a massive scale. Just like in the 'Jew'.S.S.R.

Please wake up. My books have been banned by Amazon, Smashwords, Draft2Digital, Apple(?) and Barnes and Noble(?). So please email me for 'free' copies of my 'Welcome to the New World Order' series. Or search the web for links to where you can download them directly. Email me markusrehbach@yahoo.com

And please please please keep your guns. Loaded.

But do not let anyone trick you into thinking violent resistance, at this stage, can be effective. It is only a last-ditch method. When all else has failed. When you have to decide between slavery and the high chance of death as a freedom fighter. But until that moment, do not trust the intelligence or good will (intentions) of anyone who seeks to have you commit acts of violence in the name of resistance. They are most likely agents of the FBI, CIA, or MOSSAD. They are trying to find an excuse to lock you up in their forced labor camps. So do not even TALK about employing violence. You will know when the time for violence is upon you. As Ecclesiastes reminds us, there is a time to fight, but that time is not now. For once any real fighting begins, it will not end until all liberty loving, peace loving, freedom loving people have been disarmed, killed, or imprisoned, or the Zionist 'Jewish' Occupation has been kicked out. Possibly this time the people of the world will have no more patience with the 'Jews', and will not take the risk of them repeating history ever again. I really hope it does not ever have to come to that. But anyone who understands history, and today's wars and crises, would surely 'understand' if the survivors of what is coming, calculate, without malice or prejudice, decide it necessary to go to that extreme.

The plans of the Zionist 'Jews' have never been secret. They proudly document their early unprovoked genocidal wars of aggression, their mass enslavement of peaceful peoples, as sex slaves, and workers, in their most 'holy' and 'sacred' texts. They carried out 911, and all the Middle Eastern wars since. This is proven fact. They 'collectively' have the blood of hundreds of millions of innocent people on their hands. If they persist in defining themselves collectively as 'Jews', and thus glamorizing and praising their own past as a 'people', as a 'chosen people', with a destiny to enslave all of humanity, and insisting on their existence as a 'race', and this race's 'racial supremacy' and 'destiny', then the only solution is to root out this poison, this disease, at its source. To ban 'Judaism'. And if the racial supremacist ideology and exceptionalism that defines the origin story and very basis of 'Judaism' proves impossible to extinguish and control, then the carrier of that virus, that plague, will need to be prevented from contaminating the general population. If that proves impossible, then the very carrier of that contagion will need to be destroyed, to ensure the freedom and liberty of all the peoples on this planet who chose freedom and liberty for all. Justice for all. Truth. Peace. And prosperity for all. Who reject all forms of racism. All forms of exceptionalism.

Google, Facebook, Gmail, Google Chrome, Gdrive, as the Jew World Order 'Big Brother'.

The 'Business' of the largest internet companies is not profit. It is control. More precisely, Jew World Order control. Censorship. Spying. Data Mining. Profiling. 'Cambridge research institute' type 'modelling' and 'prediction' a-la 'Minority report'. Public opinion manipulation. Pattern detection. Predictive algorithm 'tuning' and 'tweaking'. In one word 'Control'.

By becoming virtual or real monopolies, Facebook, Amazon, and Google are in position to 'censor' anything that is inconvenient for their 'business model'. For their 'long term plans for us'. They can pretend they are merely responding to complaints from advertisers. They pretend they really care about 'hate speech' and 'ethics'. They will NEVER tell you WHY they censored you, banned your book, deleted your YouTube account and Facebook account, removed a particular post, or even banned you from using their services entirely. They will send a very vague and defamatory, libellous, slanderous, insulting notice which openly or tacitly states or at least implies, that you are a very nasty, evil, criminal, irrational-hate-filled, malicious person, which they need to protect their users from.

In reality NO-ONE is being forced to watch a video, or view a post, or read a comment, on YouTube, Facebook, or Amazon. If you don't like something, you can ignore it. No harm done to anyone. If it is an opinion you disagree with you are free to express your own opinion to counter it. If you feel it is factually incorrect, then you can post these corrections, and edify the author / poster / blogger, and their audience. This is how democracy is meant to work. This is how 'open societies can function. This is how freedom of expression can work. There has been no rational, reasonable, legitimate, justifiable reason for censorship, in the 99.99% of the cases where YouTube, Facebook, and Amazon have done so.

The only way people become exposed to 'alternate' viewpoints, opinions, arguments, and as yet not widely known 'facts' and 'discoveries' and 'updates', is through the open and free exchange of ideas.

Now if we were to make the most harmless and least threatening assumption, that they really were set up as conventional businesses to generate profits for their share-holders, then the very least of the crimes we could attribute to them would be 'predatory pricing'.

Predatory pricing is illegal in most nations. Predatory pricing is a strategy of operating a business, for some period of time, at a loss. Only a business with deep pockets, vast resources, and access to cheap and limitless credit, can operate in this way. The intention is to provide goods and services below their real cost, so that the competition, who cannot operate at a loss for very long, have no way to compete, and basically go bankrupt, or sell out to the predatory pricing competitor. The predatory pricer then finds themselves as a virtual or literal monopoly, in their markets. At this point they can quickly recoup all their former losses, by raising prices. Now that the competition is either 'extinct', or owned by themselves, they can set their own prices. There will be no-one to undercut them. They can set any price they like. Of course their public relations, perception managers, social-reality definers, paid-for-comment high profile public media personalities, and the 'news' media they themselves own, directly or indirectly, will all 'spin' the price rises as 'unavoidable'. As 'merely passing on the higher costs of production to consumers. As 'natural' inflation. And so the public will accept the higher prices, and the virtual or literal monopoly, as 'natural'. This is where the 'predatory pricer' starts raking in the excessive profits. Profits that could never exist without their conspiring to put the competition out of business, and then their conspiring, with their mass media outlets, to 'normalise' the new monopolistic state of affairs, and the new higher prices. In other words the very situation Adam Smith went to great efforts to explain to his readers, and to prevent, via regulation of 'conspiracies'. Centuries before the CIA made 'conspiracy theories' something to dismiss, deride, and even censor.

Unit 8200, Operation Talpiot, the Technion, are Jew world order operations with headquarters in Israel. What has become known as 'Silicon Wadi'. Google, Facebook, Google Chrome, Google G Drive, and YouTube, are just a few of the well-known Israeli Jew world order owned and operated companies. Their 'real' shareholders are the Jew world order. Israel. The CIA and MOSSAD and MI6 are just a few of their 'front' 'intelligence' operations. And given that now Israeli Jew world order fronts are manufacturing 'Intel' chips, we can be sure that they will be building in the typical 'kill switches' and 'backdoors' that will give them access to all our military, government, public, and private, infrastructure, smart phones, smart televisions, 'the internet of things', banking information, emails, web searches, personal information, and so on. This will let them track any individual’s minutest movements. Every communication they make with anyone. They can turn your telephone or television camera on even if you have turned these devices off. They can record with your phone and television camera and microphone. Even if you cover your camera, patents exist for technology that allows a screen to be used as a camera, in the same way you can use a headphone as a microphone.

At a single keystroke they will be able to take control of any device you use. 'Kill' entire telecommunications networks. It has long been public knowledge that the Polish telecommunications system has such a 'kill switch' built into it, allowing Jew world order organizations, ostensibly out of the Jew S A, to literally turn off the entire Polish telecommunications network.

The Jew world order could shut down diesel generators in nuclear power plants, causing the sort of disasters seen recently in Japan.

If they see that you will not 'serve the Jew world order', or worse, are actively struggling against it, and trying to inform others of the reality of our dire situation, they can simply deny you access to any service they control. Right now through the IRS they can freeze all your bank accounts. They can deny you access to Facebook, twitter, google, Amazon, and PayPal. Many people are dependent upon such services for their livelihoods and survival.

They also now have access to the encryption software that allows private communications. Most internet banking services will soon be totally within their control. They will be able to steal your password as you enter it, on the official site. Not to mention that most people use the same password for their google, Facebook, amazon, and YouTube accounts.

Anyone can buy hardware that will let them read ALL the personal data and passwords on your credit card or personal identity card. Anything with an RFID chip. The sudden appearance of 'microwave towers' all over the planet could well be devices for reading these RFID chips.

Notice how all these companies, out of an expressed concern for your 'security', are requiring you to give them your mobile telephone number, just to log into your Google, Facebook, YouTube, or Amazon accounts? This means that even if you have a 'prepaid' phone card requiring no registration, they now have your number, and can track your every movement, hack your phone for passwords to all your banking and other internet activities, turn on your phone camera and microphone to record you and your friends, and if they like, 'kill' your phone, and any 'apps' on it.

Most of your telecommunications are 'managed' or 'pass through' software and hardware owned and operated by Israeli Jew world order organizations like Verint, the I.R.S, and the N.S.A. Your telephone bills are most likely managed by an Israeli Jew world order front company. Watch my videos and read my books for details, and more exhaustive lists and descriptions. This means that Big Brother Jew is always watching you. 24/7. THAT is the true 'shareholder' of the internet giants.

Big brother Jew is watching your every move, 24/7, even if they are not actually 'looking' at you. They keep massive databases filled with every action performed on the internet. The moment you become 'a person of interest' to them, they can call up years of your internet activities, your phone GPS tracking details, and basically write your biography with details even YOU would never remember. They can then also 'insert' fake actions, to criminalise you. They can put your phone at the scene of a crime. They can have you 'logging in' at the scene of a crime. They can post on Facebook and YouTube, to your channel, or even create a channel for you. You would be totally unaware. They can put your fingerprints at crime scenes, using your own phones 'security' features. They can easily get DNA samples and place these at crime scenes. They can manipulate video and audio to actually make videos in which you appear to be saying hateful things, or even conspiring to commit crimes with other people, or inciting others to commit crimes, like Charles Manson, who spent almost 50 years in prison though charged only with 'incitement'.

You, like those Arab Airlines pilots defamed around the world as 'hijackers who flew commercial airliners into the World Trade Centre and Pentagon, could easily be blamed for massive scale terrorist attacks. You may turn up for work one day and see your own photo on the news, as a terrorist.

Even without going to any such lengths, you can, in most nations, simply be dragged out of your home, car, or office, and imprisoned, without charges, indefinitely, and then suffer 'augmented interrogation' a.k.a 'torture', at the hands of people working for your own government. This may happen at a 'black site' in your own town. The old post office building. The old Walmart. The basement of an old primary school. Or you may be flown to some foreign nation to be 'interrogated' using 'torture'. Not because you did anything wrong. But simply to send a message to EVERYONE EVERYWHERE to live in fear of the police and government. So that people will automatically think three times before criticising Israel, Jews, or their own government. They may pick up your neighbour. Your boss. Your teacher. Simply to send a message. 'Next time it could be you'. So don't take ANY risks. Just be a good slave. Keep your opinions to yourself. If you see something, keep it to yourself. If you hear something, keep it to yourself. As the Jew world order blogs keep saying, 'hey, you are still FREE to think what you like, just don't SHARE it with anyone else'. THAT is the 'new freedom'. The ONLY freedom.

The idea is that you can 'shut down' any information, fact, reporting, revelations, leaks, whistle-blowing, simply by removing access to YouTube, Facebook, twitter, and amazon, and legally prosecuting people for the vaguest and slightest of possible 'infringements' of lunatic laws.

If that is not enough, you just round up a random number of people, as Stalin did, and send them to 'black sites' and 'FEMA' camps. Just as in the 'good old Jew S S R.

Even if we tried to set up our own sovereign nation, the Jew world order would not accept it. They would spread propaganda around the world demonising us. They would paint us as threats to world security. They would insist we were torturing our own people. They would even blow up public buildings and kill thousands of people in false flags that they would then blame on us.

Unless aliens are on our side, know what is happening, and chose to save us, we are pretty much doomed.

The only effective resistance WOULD be, and I am certainly NOT inciting anyone to do this, is to 'take out' the leaders of the Jew world order. Including those who have set themselves up as the political leaders of the major Western powers from the Jew.S.A, to the E.Jew.

You see the reason I would never incite anyone to do this is that I myself see this world as karma, and a lesson, so we can become better people and move onto 'higher' levels of being, and have no emotional investment in this particular life, especially not in this absurd world, and certainly not in this cruel, hypocritical, selfish species.

Even if I managed somehow, through some super-power or stroke of genius or luck, managed to free us of the Jew world order, I would still find this world, and most of YOU, completely unacceptable. Most of YOU are quite happy to have animals imprisoned, enslaved, tortured, and murdered, just to satisfy a 'taste' you have for their flesh, milk, eggs, honey, skins, and furs. Or to simply 'experiment' on. To use for 'testing' purposes.

I understand the truth is rarely easy to accept, after a life of conditioning, programming, brainwashing, fake news, fake history, and massive censorship of 'reality'.

We all live, to greater or lesser extents, within an artificial bubble of 'social reality'.

When someone like me escapes that 'social reality', and then tries to inform you, to help you escape it to, you are most likely to simply dismiss what I have to say. The facts I have to present.

And those of you curious enough and open-minded enough and courageous enough and intelligent enough to grasp the meaning of what I have to present, will immediately recall what happened to others who 'woke up' from the social reality, from the trance, their society induced, mass media induced, education system induced, zombification. They were ridiculed as 'conspiracy theorists'. Their mental health was questioned. They were sent for 'compulsory medical examinations' which they discovered, upon entering the doctor’s office, were really 'psychiatric evaluations'. If they didn't 'go along to get along' and accept a 'diagnosis' and 'treatment', they were entered into the files as 'hostile' and 'mentally ill', and fired, then blacklisted. Their 'record' would follow them when they applied for work with any government organization, or organization that worked with or for the government, as supplier or contractor.

In other words, if you wake up, and find yourself living among sleep-walkers, zombies, and people in a deep trance, you have a very tough choice to make. Most people will chose to keep their jobs, families, partners, careers, incomes, and 'definition as 'sane', rather than take a chance on trying to wake up the others.

Very few people with the potential to become philosophers, ever realise that potential. They have too much to lose, to end up like Socrates. Or Jesus. Or any of the 70 million Russians, Poles, Estonians, Lithuanians, Ukrainians, and so on, who ended up in Jew world order gulags, where they were worked to death for the profit of the Jew world order.

Watch my videos at TROONATNOOR BitChute and let 'Jews' themselves tell you what they think of you, and what plans they have for you. 'Serve the Jews or die' are not my words. They are the words of Jews, so confident of their right to rule YOU that they will repeat such phrases even when openly being filmed.

Please someone download all my videos and books, and seed them as torrents. I cannot do this. I do not have an internet connection of my own.

I have been blocked from Facebook and YouTube, and google even closed my Gmail account and so I cannot even make comments on YouTube any more. Amazon and Apple and Smashwords and Draft2Digital banned either all or some of my books.

People call out for a messiah. A leader. A saviour. If people got behind me I could be that person. As Jesus said, 'You can know a tree by its fruit'. My books and videos are my fruit. They are my source of 'authority'. The arguments in them are the only source of authority I refer to. I don't call on any 'noble' lies. Any 'society' granted status or recognition. I have no titles.

Like Socrates, and any Philosopher of any value, it is my arguments that you should find compelling or otherwise. Not any appeal to being 'chosen' by god/s, not some 'authority' given to me by some university, or mass media, or government, or Nobel Prize committee.

The only authority I can appeal to is my 'fruit'. If you are not ready to rise yourself up into higher levels, higher 'resonances', then you will continue to reproduce, to 'manifest', this world as it is. For it has not really changed, in principle. It just appears to 'evolve' and 'progress'. It is just the same old situation with different faces. The same old systems of repression and exploitation.

Why would I do things against my nature simply to save you from one particular set of people with the worst intentions towards you, only to have some other group take their place, once I've 'succeeded'?

Why would I free slaves who only want to become slave masters, as soon as they are free?

Why would I make an emotional investment in ethical and moral cripples? In zombies? In monsters?

Soon there will be hundreds of thousands of men and women, seeing their death looming ever nearer, and fates worse than death in drawn-out, painful, lonely, miserable, terrifying, horrifying 'end of lives care facilities', who will be quite keen to get their hands on a few bags of C4, so they can walk into the houses and offices of the Jew world order and their golems, and enjoy a quick and meaningful death, a noble death, a death that serves the interests of justice, truth, and beauty. Some may be patriots and militia. Some may have never been politically active in any way.

This is why the Jew world order are censoring so hard now. They realise that there are a lot of 'idle' people who could suddenly be 'awoken' to the reality, and might choose such a course of action.

I will repeat. I am not inciting any violence of any kind against any sentient being. In fact that is exactly what the Jew world order want. An excuse to 'take away our guns' and impose total martial law and activate all the powers of the 'Patriot act' and associated 'Executive orders'.

So if anyone plans to respond with violence, they had better make sure it is effective at eliminating ALL the leaders of the Jew world order, or at least enough of them to make them ineffective.

As I doubt enough people would wake up in time, and manage to organise such a resistance, I fear that any violence would be ineffectual, no matter how justified or legitimate it might appear, and might in fact be.

I reject all forms of violence, as they are impossible to control, and rarely lead to 'the good guys' winning. Hitler and Nazi Germany put up the most courageous and noble, violent, resistance to the Jew world order, and were defeated. Because any attempt at using violence to restore freedom usually ends in defeat for the minority of 'good guys', for the majority of people are usually tricked into fighting AGAINST their own interests, AGAINST their logical and natural allies.

Of course, the Jew world order Jewdiciary will claim they know, by mind reading, or intuition, or some sort of voodoo, that I wrote this with the INTENT to incite. With malice. Motivated by an irrational hatred of all the members of some putative 'Jewish' 'race' or 'religion'. There is no way to defend yourself against such a charge. It would not matter if I had 1000 videos of Jew world order Jews and their golems detailing their plans in the most precise and vivid details, confessing opening and eloquently their plans to enslave the entire world, and slaughter those who would not 'serve the Jew world order'. These 'facts' would be inadmissible in court. Someone who claimed to be 'offended' would simply claim that it was a fact that my motives were irrational hatred of 'Jews' and a desire to incite violence against them, just because they are 'Jews'.

It would not matter that the evidence I had to present proved beyond a doubt that the Jew world order posed a real and present threat to national security, and to my own safety.

Apparently it is possible to arrange some sort of pre-trial hearings to establish such facts, before a trial, to make the evidence admissible in court. However the experiences of Ernst Zundel, David Irving, Brendon O'Connell, Sylvia Stolz, and many others, has shown that any defendant in any trial involving the Jew world order will be given NO chance to validate their genuine, justifiable, legitimate, demonstrably reasonable and rational, and clearly logical, fears, concerns, and motives.

In fact all my books and videos are intended to open up dialog between 'Jews', Jew world order operatives, and their 'golems'. To give them a chance to relieve me of any misunderstandings, faulty reasoning, incomplete understandings, misplaced concerns, and to offer up the facts and compelling arguments necessary to prove their good intentions. They NEVER do any of these things. They NEVER engage in fair, open, scientific, open-minded, rational, reasonable, debate or discussion about the 'known and provable facts'.

I am not saying that NO self-defined 'Jews' behave in this way. Just the Jew world order 'Jews'.

The simplest proof that my anti-Semitism does NOT conform to the hegemonic conventional definition of 'an irrational hatred of all Jews simply for being 'Jewish' is that I love many Jews. Until I have good reason to suspect any particular 'Jew' of being part of the Jew world order conspiracy, I accept them as equals. I welcome them with open arms. I expect the best from them. For me to be defined as 'Anti-Semitic' by the legal definition, I would have to hate all Jews, and with no reason. The clear fact is that I do not hate all 'self - defined Jews'. And any that I define as a threat to my own, and national, and international 'security' and 'peace' and 'wellbeing', I do so for perfectly reasonable, rational, factual, scientific reasons.

I don't hate all pussy cats. I don't even hate tigers. But tigers are a REAL threat to not must my own life and well-being. It is NOT irrational to fear or 'hate' tigers.

You see, the conventional, legally employed, definition of anti-Semitism is that of a 'phobia'. An irrational fear or hatred of something, or some situation.

If you suffer from a potentially fatal allergy to cats, then a fear of ALL cats is rational and reasonable. It is NOT irrational.

A 'fear' of tigers is NOT a phobia. It is perfectly rational.

So while there may be some people who DO have an irrational hatred of anyone defined as a 'Jew', I am not one of them. And Adolf Hitler was not one of them either.

OUR 'fear' is of ANYONE who subscribes to the IDEOLOGY OF SEMITISM, whether or not they define themselves, or are defined by others, as 'Jews'.

The Jew world order is defined by this ideology of Semitism. Many 'Jews', therefore, are NOT participants in this Jew world order conspiracy based on the ideology of Semitism.

However most 'Jews' themselves are unaware of what their 'fellow Jews' are up to. They become the 'collateral damage' of pogroms intended to root out and reject the parasitic, malicious, malignant growth of the ideology of Semitism, and the organisations it produces. To protect yourself against a virus, you must first identify it, and then 'contain' the carriers of that virus. You then seek to 'cure' these carriers'.

THAT was what the KZ's were about. The Nazi forced labour camps. They were a quarantine for the virus we call the ideology of Semitism. To prevent the carriers infecting others. To prevent the diseases, the physical symptoms, the outcomes, that this ideology produces.

In a time of war, it is hard to work out who is a subscriber to the ideology of Semitism, and who is just a 'Jew'.

The biggest problem is that every Jew world order subscriber to the repugnant and vicious, malicious, malignant, deadly, crippling, and destructive ideology of Semitism will claim they are NOT. They will claim they are just 'Jewish'. That is part of the practical and ideological training of Jew world order Semitism.

Semitism is, in fact, an ideology. An ideology of exceptionalism. An ideology of racism. An ideology of racial supremacism. An ideology of slavery. An ideology of rape. An ideology of genocide. And unless you are FOR all these things, you must, to remain rational, reasonable, and logical, BE anti-Semitic.

We do not hate or fear 'Jews' as people. We hate and fear, with ever legitimate, natural, logical, and reasonable reason, any Semitism they profess or subscribe to.

Whether you want to define yourself as a 'Jew' for some reason that is beyond me, that is not the issue. It is whether you subscribe to the ideology of Semitism that MUST interest me. All of us have a personal and national and international interest in this. Anyone who subscribes to the ideology of Semitism, whether as 'Jew' or 'Christian Zionist' or for any other reason, is a threat to YOUR individual and national security. A threat to our freedom. Our collective and personal liberty.

If YOU are not ANTI-SEMITIC, if you do NOT actively and vociferously oppose that repugnant, disgusting, lethal, crippling, ugly, racist, genocidal, rapacious, deceptive, and criminal IDEOLOGY OF SEMITISM, then YOU are IRRATIONAL and UNREASONABLE and SUICIDAL. There is really something wrong with you.

I suggest you get and read my books and watch my videos. Then start talking with your friends about it. Bring out these arguments into the open. Without making any personal comments about any particular 'Jew world order operatives' or 'Jews'. Keep it impersonal. Don't open yourself up to criminal prosecution by some clever Jew world order operative.

Then get together to demand freedom of speech. A repeal of the 'hate speech' and 'racial vilification' laws. Then a repeal of the 'Holocaust Denial' laws. Then remove the corrupting influence of campaign finance contributions. Finance all electoral campaigns publicly. Give each candidate who gains 'preselection' by gaining a minimum number of 'supporters', equal time in all the mass media, internet media, and so on. Then eliminate the central banks and their 'debt-based' currencies. Break the hegemony of the worthless U.S Petro-dollar. Elect politicians who will volunteer to limit their personal consumption, for the rest of their lives, to what they earn while in office. I would run for office under all those conditions. Happily.

Please share my books, blogs, videos, with as many different people as you can. Please get them translated. Please support me in the eventual criminal attacks that will take place against me, via 'legal' means, and otherwise.

Please, if you are writing your will, consider leaving a legacy to myself, and the organisation I hope to set up.

Most of all, please consider a vegan lifestyle. For as Obadiah warns: For as you do unto others, so shall be done unto you. This Jew world order, and all the tyrannical governments before it, and which will come after it, may just be lessons to teach us to 'do unto other sentient beings, as we wish them to do unto us'.

So who am I to oppose the Jew World Order, if it is Karma, the universe's way of teaching us what we need to learn, in order to escape worlds like this one, and ascend to higher worlds.

It is a fact that this world is the product of our collective individual actions, motives, and desires. When we all give up the idea of benefitting at another sentient being's expense. When we all cease using other sentient beings as merely means to our own ends. When we start giving all sentient beings the justice we demand for ourselves. In short, when we adopt a vegan lifestyle, and become committed to the principle of justice for all sentient beings, in every facet of life, the Jew world order, and all other forms of tyranny, will simply evaporate, for lack of 'fuel'.

It is our hypocrisy, our selfishness, our arrogance, our willingness to commit injustices, or benefit from injustices, that is the 'fuel' for injustice.

The world as it is, is the sum product of our individual actions.

So WE can change it.

But don't forget that we may need to sacrifice many things. Even our own lives, in the name of 'happy next lives'.

Don't worry, you are not your body. You are not this 'experience engine' you call by your name. I am not Markus Rehbach. I am the potential for experience. This potential is eternal. It can't be created or destroyed. That is the real secret to courage and patience.

My 'Optimal Ethics Generator' is the real secret to true justice. To the elimination of all forms of corruption and hypocrisy. To the elimination of all forms of violence.

Remember, I promise to be honest. I cannot know 'the truth'. All truth may be reflexive. But I promise you I will continue to seek the truth, and publish what I find, for as long as I can.

In this context, be sure that 'the truth is kryptonite to the Jew world order', and to all and any forms of tyranny, or slavery, for the truth will set YOU free'.

Note that I will publish this presentation at TROONATNOOR STEEMIT as a 'transcript', at TROONATNOOR SPREAKER as a podcast, and at TROONATNOOR BITCHUTE as a video presentation.

Remember I have very few resources, very limited internet time, and so none of my books or presentations are as 'finished' as I would like. I overcome my own vanity as a writer by publishing things according to law of diminishing marginal returns. So I sacrifice my own vanity and pride in workmanship in order to get the point out, as fast as possible, before the Jew world order censors shut people like me down entirely.

So please seed all my books and torrents and posts as torrents. I cannot do this.

YOU need to be the hero of YOUR life. The HERO to YOUR children and partner. The HERO to YOUR own future selves.

TROONATNOOR BitChute
TROONATNOOR Spreaker
TROONATNOOR Steemit

The cautionary tale of Leonard Kille and 5G

Leonard Kille served his nation in the military, then went onto train himself as an Engineer, accruing several 'Kodak' patents to his name. He suspected his wife of having an affair with the man who rented a room from them. She denied this. The only documented incident where he 'lost his temper' was when he threw a can of food at her, missing her. She demanded and pressured him to seek psychiatric 'help' for his 'delusions'. Note that she ultimately MARRIED the man her husband, in his 'delusions', suspected her of carrying on affair with. Which for most SANE people, would be taken as reasonable proof that his suspicions were well founded.

Dr Vernon Mark and Dr Frank Ervin took the opportunity to induce Leonard to participate in their 'psycho-surgical' experiments. They implanted electrodes in his brain, and stimulated them electrically. When he revoked his consent, they took away his clothing. They abused the electrodes to manipulate his mental state to ensure his continued non-voluntary (for he had expressed the desire to leave many times) participation in their experiments.

Leonard, after continued abuse as a 'lab rat' for Vernon and Ervin, ultimately gained his 'freedom' but in a diminished capacity. He spent many years in and out of the V.A hospitals, who treated his factual accounts of having had electrodes implanted in his brain, via which 'Doctors' controlled his behaviour, as delusions. The facts are well documented. However at the time his claims were totally dismissed as the symptoms of 'mental illness'. In fact though now proven, he was never given justice, even after his death. In 1979 Helen Geis lost her malpractice lawsuit against Dr Vernon Mark and Dr Frank Ervin. Leonard's wife, of course, married the man her husband had suspected her of carrying on an affair with.

Dr Ervin, Dr Mark, and Dr Delgado, are infamous for their 'experimental' research in which they implanted electrodes into the brains of bulls, monkeys, and humans. Often prisoners and 'patients' in state run mental institutions. In the case of Leonard Kille, under pressure from his wife, who threatened to leave him if he did not participate. The full story is bound to be much more fascinating than the details provided in 'The minds of men', the documentary I got this information from.

I recently completed the first part of 'Entertaining Beliefs', which deals with Neuro Linguistic Programming. The idea is that the mind is like a computer that can be programmed via words. Language. For example, you yell out 'BOMB' in a crowded metro, and watch what happens. Simple stimulus-response conditioned reflex reactions. Just like any computer carrying out a program.

Cybernetics can be taken at many levels. It refers to 'steering', in its original Greek (Catharavousa or ancient?) derivation. It is about how feedback loops are used in purposeful action, to achieve the desired ends. How a system responds to feedback, to change its behaviour, to more closely approximate the actions required to attain the ends. So that there is an ever-greater convergence between the actions required to attain the ends, and the actions the cybernetic organism/machine carries out. Until we have convergence, and the desired ends are attained, via the required actions.

As infants we must first learn that our hands and arms are OURS, and then, via hit and miss, to learn to co-ordinate our movements of these limbs, to attain our desired objectives. We forget how much time and effort went into developing the 'muscle memories' we now take for granted. We no longer have to 'think' about picking up a cup, or scratching our nose. Unless we've had a stroke, in which case we must re-learn all the minute motor skills we spent our infancy learning. But when our minds were much more plastic, and learned much faster.

Imagine having to learn to ‘interpret’ smiles and other micro-gestures covered up by face masks, years after your brain has lost its amazing, infantile, capacities to learn. Simply learning a new language as an adult, is so much harder than as a child. So imagine the damage being done by face masks, to the cognitive and emotional development of BILLIONS of infants and children, under the pretence of ‘protecting’ them.

We program computers with scripts, which ultimately reduce to a series of 'binary' commands. Yes/No. On/Off. Voltage/No Voltage. We have to write the programs at first. Then we can program the computer to write its own programs. This is happening as I write this. Computers are programming themselves. And the original programmers often have NO idea WHEN they began this. They can NOT even, in many cases, comprehend the 'programming language' the computer has evolved ITSELF.

But back to 5G. The art of 'government' a k a 'Cybernetics' in its original Greek meaning, has been, up to now, the use of 'language' to 'persuade' and 'convince' people into 'obeying' 'commands' given by the ruling elites. Like any stimulus-response conditioning, at first the presence of a real threat of violence, or the 'authority' of a 'significant other' who is ALREADY complying / obeying, is necessary. But soon that threat / authority becomes ASSOCIATED with the person giving the orders, and compliance is ensured without that original 'significant other' or any actual current active threat of violence being necessary, to gain compliance in the 'conditioned' subject.

So we have people going off to war to butcher men, women, and children, because 'someone told them to'. They either got a 'written notice' or were give a 'verbal command'. The recipient, programmed and conditioned to give a reflex response to such 'orders', carries them out, like an automaton. Of course they 'rationalise' their own behaviour with reference to all manner of high level of abstraction concepts and ideals, such as 'love of country' and 'patriotism' and 'defence of the homeland' and 'defence of our way of life'. But these are just post retrospective rationalisations. Like the brain surgery patient 'explaining' that 'they are thirsty', after one part of their brain was told to 'get a glass of water', while the other half is totally 'in the dark' about the REAL motives / reasons it had for getting that glass of water, but does not want to ADMIT this, and so makes up that narrative about 'being thirsty', to cover up for the fact. Ask the bomber pilots who massacred women and children in Japan and Germany, and they'll do something similar.

My point here is that cybernetics operates this simply, to date, based on direct language commands. Verbal and written.

But the 'ideal' for the 'government' is to be able to bypass the need for language at all. Clearly words are 'heard' or 'read', and then something takes place within the brain as a result. The 'language' is 'encoded' into a natural form. The form that 'ideas' take within our minds.

The 'ideal' that Delgado, Vernon, and Mark were seeking to attain was to be able to DIRECTLY stimulate the same response they'd currently get from the verbal / written 'order', without the need for words. Simply by turning dials on their machines, sending electrical currents into the brain directly, and thus producing the desired result. Such as the man 'ripping up' the pregnant woman. And 'dashing their little one's heads against the stones'. If you doubt that 'government' has always had warfare as its main motive, please open any history book at any time in history. Read the Old Testament. 'God' is always commanding people to do the most horrific things to each other.

The original 'Neuro Linguistic Programming' was religion. Gaining 'transferred authority' for some command, as if issuing from the lips of some 'god' who MUST be obeyed, at the risk of an eternity of horrifically cruel torture for those who would NOT obey / comply.

All robotics systems work on cybernetics. As does the purposeful action in all animals, including humans. And just as equally in plants, with phototropism and hydrotropism being the simplest of cybernetic 'feedback loop' systems.

All our motives and thus every action we carry out wilfully and consciously, and many we carry out unconsciously, reduce to the desire for pleasure and relief and comfort (and thus power to obtain and secure these goods), and the aversion to pain, and the loss of pleasure (and thus power to avoid pain, discomfort, and loss of any sources of pleasure / relief / comfort security a k a 'goods' we currently possess).

The threat of 'eternal suffering in Hell' was devised to manipulate people. To 'steer' them in the directions the elites desired. To motivate them to act in ways that the elites benefitted from. And to act against their own desires, and even instincts to self-preservation. To become slaves to the Priest classes and their pyramidal hierarchies.

So we've been manipulated for millennia by the Priests and their terrorism. Their Neuro Linguistic Programming. They have programmed us from birth, with their various 'media', from classroom verbal conditioning, to written conditioning, to 'religion' directly in church, and to the mass media.

So far we've remained their slaves. Language has been 'weaponised' to serve the elites selfish, and usually destructive, ends.

But what if these elites could do away with all this cumbersome 'indoctrination' via language? The need for constant programming and conditioning via words? Via verbal and written language?

What if someone could 'decode' the actual electrical signals that language is converted into, IN the brain itself? And then DIRECTLY manipulate the brains of subjects by transmitting THESE signals DIRECTLY to the brain?

Not even science fiction. This has been done. Delgado did it decades ago with chimps and bulls. Ervin and Mark did it with Leonard Kille. The documentary 'The minds of men' shows many other examples of mental hospital patients being 'controlled' directly via the turn of a dial, to enter various emotional states from anger to euphoria, from total disobedience and rebellion, to absolute mindless, total, unquestioning acquiescence and obedience.

Consider how long it takes for a Cult of Judah affiliate / agent to condition that sort of mindless obedience into the masses. It takes decades. And still some of us fail to be converted into mindless zombie sheeple. Some of us will NOT murder women and children, just because some 'government communication' 'commands' us to. Or 'suggests' we 'volunteer'.

Now we come to the sudden rush in the Cult of Judah Occupied U.S.A to build a 5G network.

If over 50 years ago electrodes could be implanted into human brains, to directly stimulate / produce specific actions and states of minds, consider how far this 'technology' could have advanced.

The ambition of the early 'cybernetics' researchers was to bypass language, and directly produce brain activity, and its 'correlate' in physical action. They achieved this. Using the most basic electrical components imaginable. Imagine what they could do TODAY.

If the verbal / written command 'FIRE' is encoded by the ears / eyes, in the brain, into 'frequency X of amplitude Y for duration Z', then simply by transmitting THAT very frequency at that exact amplitude, for that precise duration, could be expected to produce the 'thought' / 'idea' / 'impulse' / 'desire' / 'response' that the verbal / written command would produce.

Do I have to explain further? With 5G transmitters on every light post, at every corner, on every country road, in every public area, and in your own home, in every 'smart' appliance, in the 'internet of things', imagine IF they DID / HAVE worked out the 'direct programming language of the mind'. The 'machine code' of our own minds.

I've detailed early experiments with manipulating human emotions using very low frequencies in my TROONATNOOR books. Like most ADVANCED research, the 'public' research is 'pulled' back from any public awareness and scrutiny, and taken 'underground' to 'black sites', where it is continued. Funded like all the other 'shadow government' institutions in the same ways. Via criminal activities such as illegal drugs. And simply by 'printing money' at 'The Fed'.

WHY the sudden rush to implement 5G, with ZERO research into possible harmful side effects?

Could it be that the government have actually attained their objective? That they have worked out how to, 'at a distance', control human emotions, thoughts, impulses, desires, and thus human actions?

Without the need for the 'intermediary' of images and language, the mass media, educational institutions, books, Hollywood films, tell-lie-vision, music videos, or religion? Without the need for LINGUISTIC programming of ANY kind? Simply by 'transmitting' particular frequencies, for particular durations, with particular amplitudes, directly into OUR brains?

TROONATNOOR

The basis of what we know as 'Western Civilisation' really is 'The Judaeo-Christian Ethic'. And it is an ethic we must reject immediately, if any of our Anglo-Saxon freedoms and rights are ever to be regained, and once more enjoyed

So, Judaeo-Christianity is the basis of western civilisation? Really? The 'Jews', 'Christians', and 'Muslims' all revere a man who heard voices in his head telling him 'kill you son...kill your son...kill your son', and was going to, is the role model for Western Manliness? Or is it the man who hears voices in a burning bush, comes down off the mountain after having disappeared for days, and because he finds his people have got on quite well without him, orders thousands of them slaughtered? Oh, and are we supposed to believe that this guy was the first one to ever consider making a law so innovative as 'do not murder?', and 'do not steal', and, Oh, I don't know, maybe don't shag the next door neighbour's wife while he is out herding their goats? Really? It had never occurred to anyone before him? And would never have occurred to any other than him? And thus we have to put up with this rubbish about 'The Judaeo-Christian Ethic? What do you call a belief system that incites people to irrational fears and hatreds, genocide, and rape? A Hmm...Well as far as I understand it, that was NEVER a definition of 'Ethics' or 'Morality'. But hey, you can never predict what this year's dictionary, and 'official history' is going to define ANYTHING as. What part of history is going to be totally re-written, fabricated, faked, and falsified, can you! And what about 'slaves obey their masters'? Does THAT tip you off as to what religion is REALLY all about? And WHOM it was intended to serve. Some magician-god in the sky? Or maybe some gold-mining executives? And their later self-proclaimed representatives, the PRIESTS? And what about what is basically a command to 'render unto the IRS / tax man what is 'theirs'? How is it theirs? How did the 'government' EARN it? By protecting you from ITSELF? 'Look guys, we promise not to blow up any more skyscrapers in N.Y, if you will keep paying your taxes?' Isn't taxation just extortion? An extortion RACKET? And who is it 'investigates' RACKETEERING? A bit of 'Fox guarding the henhouse don't you think? Oh, and guess who levied the very first taxes? Who ordered that 'the best of the best', not be consumed by the hardworking men and women who PRODUCED it. But by SOMEONE ELSE! Go on. Guess. Yep. The PRIESTS. Of the Cult of Judah. And which group of people have headed the Treasury, IRS, Finance Dept, and Federal Reserve Bank, for decades now, and throughout most of AT LEAST the last 100 years in various nations? Yep. Cult of Judah Operatives / Agents / Affiliates. Most of whom identify as 'Jewish'. And who was it was Chief Prosecutor at Nuremburg, other than a former U.S Treasury dept., etc etc, agent? Can you guess what HE identified as? Go on. And what about Churchill, who so highly praised the 'Jews' for having given us Judaeo-Christianity, but pretended to despise the newest Cult subsidiary he also gave them credit for? Who financed THAT alcoholic, drug-addicted, bankrupt and fraud, and allowed him to live in lavish luxury, just so long as he tricked the British public into waging war on Germany. Into bankrupting their nation and losing an entire empire! And then made an 'institution', a new religion, of 'Jewish' war propaganda we all now 'know' as 'The Holocaust'? Who got Wilson and Roosevelt, good old 'Old Testament Christians', great followers of that grand old 'Judaeo-Christian Ethic' as role modelled by Moses and Joshua in the Old Testament, with their 'kill every man, woman, child, and their animals?'. And their 'ripping up pregnant women' and 'dashing their little one's heads against the stones', by the rivers of Babylon, can you guess who got THEM elected to the highest positions of power in America? Go on. Guess. Who did THOSE 'great men' answer to? The will of the American people? Did they serve the American people? Did they listen to the voice of the American people? Did they govern FOR the American people? Were their actions reflections OF the will OF the American people? When they entered two world wars, in violation of every Constitutional principle and the letter of that highest law, after having promised the American people they would NEVER behave in this criminal manner? And what were some of the very first Hollywood films about? Romance? Or war propaganda, intended to incite an irrational fear and hatred of Germans, and thus support the seditious actions of such American politicians? Go on. Guess. And which group of humans did the producers of such films identify as? Which religion were they most closely associated? Which ethnic group? Which 'race', if you like to use that term, did they 'belong' to? Go on. Guess. Where did all those Hollywood film types come from? And what did, as Winston Churchill himself, and a stream of U.S and British foreign affairs, State Department, diplomats, and other government officials, all stated clearly in their Newspaper articles and official reports to their government heads, and the American public, the VAST majority of Bolsheviks, of Communist Party Officials, self-identify as, and would be identified by their fellow 'Jews' as? Oops, kinda let that one slip. From Lenin all the way down to Putin. And who was it made the world safe for 'Jewish Communism', by crushing Germany, twice, in two world wars, other than Wilson, Roosevelt, and Churchill? These 'Old Testament Christians' with their 'Judaeo-Christian Ethics' repaying their benefactors, the 'Jews', by letting them invade and conquer, Old Testament style, Palestine, while at the same time claiming to be 'fighting for the rights of the little nations', to be fighting to defend 'Poland', which, by the way, for some reason was taken completely OFF the agenda, the moment it was the Communist 'Jew' lead Soviets who were doing the invading, and occupying, rather than Germans. What history lesson did YOU get about THAT fact? American and Britain fought for the freedom of Poland? Right? Declaring war on Germany when Germany was at its strongest, and Britain and the U.S were at their weakest, for invading Poland. But then when the 'Jewish' lead Communist Soviets invade and occupy Poland, it is a totally different matter. Even though Britain and the U.S were at their strongest, and the Soviets at their weakest, at this point, Poland was left completely unprotected by the Allies. How's THAT fit in with the 'cassis Belli'? How does THAT fit in with 'the official causes of World War Two'? How does THAT fit in with 'The Allies War Aims'? Other than to demonstrate, beyond any doubt, and with zero ambiguity, that the REAL reasons for Britain and America waging war on Germany had NOTHING to do with saving Poland from anyone, or making the world safe for DEMOCRACY. Rather it was to destroy Germany, and make the world safe for 'Jewish' Communism, and the Cult of Judah occupation of Eastern Europe, and much of Western Europe. For this cult had already, over millennia, occupied the hearts and minds of Britain and America, with its 'Judaeo-Christian Ethic'. It's Cult of Judah mind control. But really, what is more LAUGHABLE and 'funny', than the very idea of a government TAKING AWAY all the rights of its citizens, one by one, in order to PROTECT these citizens' rights and liberties? Did any Arab ever take away a single liberty or right from any American living in America? Who was it took those rights away? 'For safe keeping'? It was the AMERICAN government that did that. In response to a great public outcry TO do this? Were they responding to 'the will of the American people'? is THAT government By and FOR the people? Did the American public call for American involvement in World War One and World War Two? Did the British public call for the British Government to ignore all the PEACE offers Hitler made them? Did the British public even KNOW about these peace offers? Or did Churchill actually issue clear written orders, which are documented (unlike the orders official histories still claim Hitler issued), that state that NO British diplomat is to even LOOK at any German peace offers, let alone inform the PUBLIC about them, or even officially RECIEVE them? You can verify this for yourself. Just like you can verify that NONE of the allegations of a 'Holocaust' have any FACTUAL support. Zero documentation. Zero plausibility. Oh Brendon O'Connell wants to point at the 'skull and bones' insignia of the SS, and vaguely imply 'they COULD have done it', but why? Other than because HIS ancestors were the ones committing real war crimes and crimes against humanity in Germany, while making the world safe for 'Jewish' Communism, and the Cult of Judah, which HE is still actively committed to a subsidiary of, namely, the Zombie Jesus Vampire Cannibal Cult known as 'The Catholic Church'. Churchill used the accidental death of a few chickens to justify committing the first deliberate fire-bombing of CIVILIAN targets during World War Two. Eisenhower set up the ONLY 'death camps' ever set up on German occupied territory, where he allowed thousands of Germans to starve to death, die of thirst, and die of disease. The Soviets set up theirs in Siberia.

The Kings of England and Europe all enjoyed their despotic tyrannies on the basis of a 'God' given entitlement to absolute power. Their 'God' had granted them all their privileges, wealth, and status. The god of the 'Jews'. Yah Weh'. Yes, Pain. Yes, Misery. Jah. Way. Pain and misery for the people. Government by and for the Cult of Judah elites. The Popes. The 'Princes of the Church'. The Kings. The Queens. The 'nobility'. The 'masses' were to 'serve their masters'. Their Cult of Judah masters. Charlemagne had tens of thousands of Saxons massacred, because they would not cut down their own sacred groves, and grovel and beg at the feet of the Cult of Judah King, Charles. Tens of thousands of 'Protestants', who protested against the Catholic Church', were massacred at the site of today's Eiffel Tower, in Paris. Just two examples in a history of terror. A war against humanity. Waged since the 'Old Testament' calls to genocide, slavery, and rape. Since Moses's slaughter of thousands of his own followers. Since Joshua's genocide of the nations of what today is occupied Palestine, where that Biblical genocide continues. Those burned alive in Dresden, hundreds of thousands in a single day and night, or in Tokyo, or Hiroshima, are role models for what is coming for 'humanity', at the hands of the Cult of Judah.

It was Anglo-Saxon 'savages' who brought us our first taste of democracy. This new 'THING'. Literally. And who brought us the Magna Carta. The 'great charter', that formed the basis of 'Habeas Corpus', and all the other rights we later came to enjoy. It was Anglo-Saxons who wrote and implemented the U.S Constitution and Bill of Rights. It was Anglo-Saxons who lead the abolitionist movement, to END slavery. It was Anglo-Saxons who produced the highest standards of living, and the greatest freedoms, every enjoyed by humans on this planet in the last twelve thousand years.

But who came and took away our Anglo-Saxon heritage? Our rights and freedoms? Our liberties? Who was it demolished the World Trade Center buildings on Nine Eleven? Cult of Judah Agents. Cult of Judah Operatives. Men and women who identified not only as 'Jews', but as 'Israeli'. As Mossad agents. As C I A agents. As F B I agents. As 'Old Testament Christians'. As 'Zionist Christians'. As 'Zionists'. And it is these same elements that have occupied and hijacked YOUR democracy. And stolen OUR Angle-Saxon rights, freedoms, and liberties.

The Judaeo-Christian ethic is an abomination. Forced upon us by violence, at first. And then conditioned into us, from birth to death, and beyond, for over two thousand years.

Who was it made homosexuality a crime, punishable by death? What 'ethic' is homophobia based on? It was never a crime under any Anglo-Saxon system of government.

What ethic was it that 'legitimated' slavery as 'god-sanctioned'? Under no other system was slavery 'sanctified' as 'holy' and 'the will of God'. No other than Judaeo-Christianity.

Which Anglo-Saxon tribe ever practised genital mutilation of infants, and young boys and girls? None. THAT is another of your 'Judaeo-Christian' 'virtues'. Your 'ethics'. Your 'moral code' of the Cult of Judah.

Does any Anglo-Saxon system of ethics command its practitioners to 'lend money unto the nations, and never borrow, and in this way you shall conquer and enslave them'?

Does any Anglo-Saxon system of ethics idealise men who force others to worship Anglo-Saxon gods? Did any Anglo-Saxon King ever demand their subjects worship THEIR gods? Did any Anglo-Saxon chiefs force OTHER nations to worship ANGLO-SAXON gods?

Do Anglo-Saxon traditions hold up, as their highest role models, men who committed genocide, and commanded their followers to commit genocide, in the name of 'voices in their heads'? Did any Anglo-Saxon men of renown and highest esteem, accept commands made by 'voices in their head' to kill their first-born sons?

The willingness of Cult of Judah role models to sacrifice their first-born son to their ambition raises the question, how can anyone defeat people willing to sacrifice their first born sons to their ambitions to enslave the plane-et?

How can you explain the veneration of such a despicable set of role models, and such a despicable, temper tantrum throwing, jealous, infantile god as 'Yah Weh', in anything other than terms of 'Stockholm Syndrome' and Cult mind control? How else can you explain how so many billions of humans still venerate the 'Judaeo-Christian Ethic'?

Yes, sadly our last few thousand years of history, especially our 'modern' history, have been the result of this 'Judaeo-Christian Ethic'. Our current police states, and suspension of Anglo-Saxon rights, freedoms, and liberties, are all the result of this Judaeo-Christian 'ethic'. This ethic utterly destroyed and occupied Germany. Then the rest of Europe, after occupying all of Russia and Eastern Europe. China. Then Britain. And America and Canada and Australia.

The last vestiges of our Anglo-Saxon culture and heritage are being stripped away. The last Anglo-Saxon rights, freedoms, and liberties we have enjoyed are being stripped away. Most have already been taken from us. 'For safe keeping'. Never to be returned. When did a tyrant ever take something away, and then willingly return it? Especially when that something was POWER? Never.

So it is up to us, to return to our Anglo-Saxon culture and heritage. To once more DEMAND the rights, liberties, and freedoms that were taken from us, by deception, by our Cult of Judah Occupation governments.

Markus Rehbach
In exile in Estonia
This day, January 31, In the year of our Cult of Judah Occupation, twenty twenty

The new normal: the Cult of Judah begins dropping the veneer of 'democracy' as the one world government carefully coordinates its fake corona virus 'emergency', and makes DICTATORSHIP 'the new normal'

'The new normal' IS approaching solitary confinement. As I write this it is a CRIMINAL offense in Estonia to publicly assemble closer than TWO METERS from another human. Imagine trying to have a critical discussion about current affairs, let alone carry out a protest! In fact gatherings of more than 100 people are also CRIMINAL. And the pretext? Some random mutation of existing viruses that has so far killed FEWER people than the common cold has, over the same period. Whose threat level we only have on HEARSAY. From that most trusted of sources, CHINA. Since when did people in the 'free west' take their cues from Chinese Government propaganda? Is this a test run, to see just how quickly and easily the government can impose a 'State of Emergency' or 'Martial Law' and totally suspend basic human rights, liberties, and freedoms? Or just the start of something big? The full 'roll-out' of the Cult of Judah's 'New World Order'? Do they have some particular reason to want people to remain at home? All schools, libraries, theatres, cinemas, and most shops and restaurants closed, and people isolated in their homes? Could the more creative of you brainstorm scenarios for science fiction films based on that? Do they want everyone close to their Wi-Fi routers? To bombard them with electromagnetic radiation? Is a comet headed this way? Do the government know something they are not letting us in on? Or have they planned something they have no desire to let us in on? Consider the costs to small businesses! Of course those people 'working' for the government will get a fully paid holiday, for 6 weeks. They won't complain. But what of the businesses that rely on customers FREE to choose their services? Rather than governments which can FORCE people to PAY for THEIR 'services'. Whether or not they want them. Let alone whether they BENEFIT from them or not. The Cult of Judah want FIXED ideas and beliefs. NOT change. The only 'change' they want is incremental. A continuation down the path to their 'One World Government' where a few elites are the new princes of the earth, and the rest of us their slaves. So far we have behaved like slaves. Accepting our servitude and submitting to 'authority'. Calling it 'Government'. In the west they've provided a thin veneer and façade of 'democracy' to make a good impression on the sheeple. But 'the NEW normal' is Martial Law, and States of Emergency, where the true nature of our government is revealed. That of dictatorship of the masses by a few elites. Interconnected in each nation, and over each continent, to form a de facto 'One World Government' by the Cult of Judah, FOR the Cult of Judah elites.

THE NEW NORMAL of arbitrary Cult restrictions and prescriptions based on medical and meteorological DOGMAS with NO scientific basis, where the science totally DEBUNKS the dogma

The Cult of Judah Occupation are now experimenting with a 'New Normal'. Basically dictatorship. Declared states of emergency and martial law. Based upon micro-management of the full spectrum propaganda machine. The kind we see before such occupation governments begin killing us. Conscripting and drafting us to commit mass murder against each other. So that we become their weapon of mass murder. Both the perpetrator and victim.

But this is nothing new. And I guess I have no right to be shocked that the people acquiesce so easily and calmly and quickly when their governments, after a few weeks of propaganda, perception management, impression engineering, misinformation, sleight of mouth, and other forms of suggestion and Neuro-Linguistic-programming, simply declare a 'State of Emergency' and 'Order' the shutting down of schools, libraries, cinemas, and making the simple meeting of people in public an 'unlawful assembly'. So that if anyone did have a chance to become sceptical and want to discuss things with others, let alone protest against a government taking what is, in democracies, the most extreme of steps available short of openly declaring dictatorship, and conscription, and war, the most extreme action possible.

You see most of us have a very 'rosy coloured' view of history, and of government. Especially if we grew up in the 'free west'. Especially if you are American. That 'Land of the Free'. For 'the Government' has been anything but 'nice' from the very beginning. The first 'local' governments committed acts of terrorism and genocide against the Native Americans. They terrorised their own people too, brutally torturing them to death for acts as harmless as having a whiskey, masturbating, having anal sex, performing oral sex, or openly expressing the slightest scepticism, let alone aggressively challenging, some minor point of religious dogma. This has always been the nature of government, as we have known it. Based on 'The Old Testament' Mosaic law. Itself based upon 'The Law of Manu'. Which produced the various forms of 'Caste systems' in the East, and 'Class' systems in the West. Systems in which a sovereign Lord exercised a 'god' given right to rule over everyone else. The sovereign sat at the top of a pyramid of benefits and 'enforcers'. The rights of the sovereign were enforced with pure brute violence, by a police state, controlled directly and indirectly by the Priests. Because the Sovereigns claim to this entitlement, and all the powers and privileges and benefits associated with it, required the sanction of the Priests. For the Priests had claimed the entitlement to 'speak for god'. For a 'god' who had every super power except that of speech.

The Priests had been at their work longer than any King. They pre-dated any real organised states by centuries. They had become Neuro-Linguistic-Programming masters long before any real 'nation-state' could have emerged. For their methods were the actual basis for such nation-states to emerge. They were the original 'masons' of the 'pyramid' structure that all enduring societies we have any records of having existed, were based upon. The Kings might appear to rule as Sovereigns. But their power was always second-hand. Their authority always 'transferred' and 'legitimated' by the Priests. Who had spent their time wisely investing not in weapons and mercenaries, though they always hired 'enforcers' for their security, and 'assassins' to destroy their competition, but in Neuro-Linguistic-Programming technologies. Belief systems. Cult technology. What we today call 'religion'. They originally employed simple magic tricks based on 'sleight of hand' and 'misdirection' and basic understandings of chemistry and physics, employing both mechanical and chemical devices, and mind altering substances, for purposes of 'shock and awe', to convince their followers that they possessed some 'magic' powers, or could 'commune' with some 'super-natural forces', some 'gods', which were ultimately streamlined down into 'the one god'. But the real magic was that of 'hearsay' and 'the authority of numbers' and 'the authority of tradition'. It took time for what would otherwise be rejected as 'a silly book of lies' to become revered as 'the wisdom of the ancients'. So it took time to build 'traditions'. Of course you always placed the 'origin' story 'in a time far far away'. As far back in time as possible. To grant it that 'status' of 'tradition'. Because if you could convince your current listeners, that their ancestors, for thousands of years, had all believed what they were now being told, even stories just written the night before by some Priest, or at least heavily edited, then that new story was granted the 'transferred authority' of thousands of years of ancestors belief. The 'glamor' of tradition. So you 'back-dated' all your 'origin stories' and 'dogmas' and 'laws' as far back as you could, to enhance their status. A lie made up last night might quickly be laughed off as absurd, silly, transparently self-serving, and clearly 'made-up' by the speaker, to serve some ulterior motive / purpose of their own. No, the listener was not THAT stupid and gullible. Their mother never raised no idiot! But if the speaker cloaked the newly minted fiction in a few thousand years of tradition, suddenly that same stupid and obviously impossible and self-serving lie was granted that magical status of 'tradition'. For as David Hume explained, one of the sources of 'authority' for a statement is sheer numbers. If thousands of years of ancestors, and thus huge numbers, of people had all believed this story now being told you, then who were you to question it? It took on an authority of its own. A weight of numbers. Even today, if you hear that 'almost everyone knows' something, it is hard to challenge it publicly, and appear 'the odd one out'. You have nothing to gain from being right, if you happen to be, as who is going to validate you? And nothing to gain by taking such a vulnerable position Vis a Vis 'the majority', as 'the majority rules'. It crushes the individual as a mob. Victimising them. And even if 'almost everyone secretly DOUBTS and is SKEPTICAL', well this is SECRET. So we have the IMPRESSION that 'everyone AGREES'. That everyone ELSE believes. And so we develop that 'Collective Ignorance' that forms the basis of self-censorship, and the manufacturing of apparent consent and apparent consensus, among individuals who actually do NOT agree and privately DISSENT. But for the purposes of power, it is irrelevant what people really think and feel in private. As long as they 'go along to get along' with the public lies. The social reality. The official fiction. Whether it be 'The Holocaust' or 'God'. Or 'Corona virus is a real threat'. Or appear to concur with the whole 'Man-made global climate tipping point crisis' thing.

There were surely some 'Robber Barons' and 'Warlords' who dispensed with religion, at least at the beginning. Enforcing their self-granted entitlements by pure violence, and the threat of violence. But the smart ones saw the power of religion. For religion could enforce and threaten such violence even beyond the grave. And establish their self-granted right to rule as 'legitimate' and 'justified'. In fact 'god' given. The natural order of things. Not just 'right is might'. But that might is right. Because it rested ultimately, in the minds of the people, on the hearsay that there was a supreme lord, a god, who had the power over all life and death. The power to torture you for eternity, if you dared opposed HIS will. And the Priests all agreed that it was the will of this god that the Priests be given 'the best of the best' and that a king should rule them. A king that they 'anointed'. So in a sense the Priests were the real power. For they could withhold or offer their 'blessings'. Only a sovereign, a king or queen, or prince, who had been 'anointed' could claim to be the 'legitimate' sovereign or successor. The Tibetan Buddhists innovation of 're-incarnation' of the past Sovereign, their feudal lord, the Dali Lama, as one of their students allowed them maintain absolute control over the process. But in other nation-states, the Priests could conspire in other ways to ensure 'their favourite' ascended to the throne. Everything from assassinations to propaganda was employed. The Pope in Rome legitimated the conquest of 'William' in 1066, finding him 'A good Catholic (even if a terrible 'Christian'), and granted him and his power base, his army, various concessions, in return for the same. One concession few are aware of was that 'The London Financial District' which is one of the main Cult of Judah bases of operation, should be left itself 'sovereign' and completely independent. Which it is to this day.

Most Kings saw no harm in allowing the Priests whatever privileges they insisted on. Even their own courts. So that no Priest should ever fear being held accountable for any sin or crime. For the top Priests to be sovereigns in their own right. For that was the basis of any pyramid structure. Those at the top had to provide benefits for their supporters below. To protect them. To fight for them. To do their bidding. To manage things for them. To secure their power. To extend it.

So William, in 1066, began building Cult of Judah subsidiary Churches, which we call 'Catholic', as soon as he gained a foothold. Even as he was 'harrying' the north, brutally enforcing his authority by brute violence, he had his people building churches. Because that was where his lasting security would come from. His legitimacy. The legitimacy of his sovereign power. And thus the security of his rule. And that of his entire future dynastic rule.

The Priests claimed their 'transferred authority' from a being they claimed to be 'the one god'. And the secular sovereigns, the Kings and Queens and other nobility, all sought to have this same authority ‘transferred' to themselves. As soon as they saw the power this idea had over the minds of the people. So secular authorities have promoted 'religion' as a foundation stone of their own power. As the cornerstone that supported the entire pyramid structure. Along with pure brute violence. A violence ruthlesslessly and mercilessly employed any time anyone dared to threaten this, the basic assumption, of the entire pyramid. The assumption of the existence of a 'god' that had the power to send you to hell for eternity, or promise you paradise. A god that had the power to intercede on your behalf, and ensure good fortune for you, and bad luck for your enemies. Then the assumption that that 'god' was interested in the activities of humans. And would be angered to take revenge upon anyone who dared challenge his authority, and the authority of his 'chosen representatives'. The Priests and Nobility. A god that had transferred his power on earth to the Priests and Sovereign. To act as his proxies. To act in HIS name.

This was the 'divine right of kings' that, at least as much as the wealth of the sovereign, which could be used to hire mercenaries, spies, standing armies, assassins, and blackmail and bribe, to secure and grow their power and privilege, ensured that the 'pyramid' remained stable.

Consider also the shape of a pyramid. In the context of wealth and power and privilege. If those at the base were to become too rich themselves, and thus independent of the Kings 'beneficence', bribes, 'trickle-down' benefits, salaries, wages, contracts, and hand-outs, then they might move beyond the influence of those at the top to control. They might become free. So it has always been key to the 'Pyramid' structure of all the models of 'society' that we are familiar with, and have 'known', to keep the masses as poor as possible. No matter technology and good fortune advanced their lot, they must be kept in economic and social insecurity. To feel vulnerable. To feel insecure. To feel dependent upon the good graces of their Sovereign and their 'betters'. 'The hand that feeds'. Like dogs who cannot be treated too well, and fed too regularly, as they might lose awe and fear of their 'masters', and become independent, and rebel. So any time technology lead to a sudden improvement in living conditions for the masses, the Sovereigns and Priests would ensure some new war. To destroy any 'excess' that the Sovereigns and Priests couldn't consume, to avoid it ever reaching the mouths of the masses. For once the masses felt secure, and felt a sense of 'well-being', they would have time to 'reflect' on the various dogmas, the 'hearsay' that had been forced down their throats and into their minds as 'facts' and 'truth' and 'self-evident' and 'obvious' and 'compelling'. They might observe that they had no need for the Priests or Sovereign. That they might well organise themselves, and keep the tithes and taxes they were being forced to pay to the Priests and Nobility, and to basically keep the products of their own labour for their own consumption. That they had no 'argument' with the men they were constantly sent to murder in foreign parts. That if they were going to fight and kill and risk death, they might as well be fighting with people they really did hate, and had reason to hate, and who had been holding them in subjection, and stealing from them. Their own 'masters'. The Priests and Nobility. And their 'overseers'. Their 'supervisors'. Their 'managers'. Who allowed only a tiny fraction of the products of their own labour, to 'trickle back down' to them, as 'rewards' for 'loyalty' and 'acquiescence' and 'servility' and 'being a good citizen-slave'.

So in every nation, including the United States of America, the state has violently opposed the organisation of unions. The first aerial bombing carried out by the U.S military was to bomb strikers and their families, to break up strikes, and public protests. Among the very first deployments of the new founded U.S Republic's army, was to shoot down strikers and break up protests. Even shooting into crowds containing children and women and old people. This is not the history that most Americans are allowed to dwell upon, even if they choose to. That their own government has been, from the very beginning, their enemy. Just another agent of those sitting pretty at or near the top of the pyramid. Enforcing the structure of the pyramid.

Any time things started 'looking up' for those masses at the base, in terms of mere security of access to food, shelter, clothing, and education, and health care, the State destroyed this security. The agents of those at the top of the Pyramid stepped in to destroy a situation that threatened the actual pyramid itself, and thus their 'entitlements' to massive luxury, wealth, power, and privilege.

Central Banks were the new weapon of such 'enforced poverty'. So when the elites couldn't trick the U.S public into accepting their Central Bank, they renamed it 'The Federal Reserve Scheme' and snuck the legislation in on December 23, 2013, while most of the public were distracted with their Christmas celebrations. As far as anyone knew, no 'Central Bank' had been thus established. Just some 'Federal Reserve Scheme'. Which meant nothing. It was intended to mean nothing. Sound harmless.

Note that the system was made up of that ubiquitous '12' and '1' we find in all cults, and in everything from astrology to music. 12 regional banks and a headquarters in Washington 'D.C'. That state within a state. That sovereign power. The equivalent of 'The City Of London Financial District' that William 'The conqueror' agreed with his backers, the Vatican, That Cult of Judah subsidiary, to allow to retain its independence, as a 'Sovereign power'. So that now we had the true 'trinity' of the Catholic Church. The Vatican in Rome. The London City Financial District. And Washington D.C. Laid out as any reader of David Icke understands, in strict Masonic order. Named after the well-known Freemason Washington. Hitler realised early on that the Masonic Lodges had all been 'occupied' by Cult of Judah Operatives. Early Americans also attempted to shut down such 'secret socieities'. Later Americans like JFK were the last to actively challenge the power of the Cult of Judah secret societies, and paid for this act of rebellion to the Cult of Judah occupation with their lives.

The two main ways to destroy the security and prosperity of the base of the pyramid, and to ensure all the windfalls of productivity increases can be transferred (stolen) to the top of the pyramid, are wars and financial / economic crises. Depressions. The Central Banks give those at the top of the pyramid the power to collapse the entire economic system quickly, in a precise, controlled, manner. Their full scale propaganda machine 'spins' events and provides a 'narrative' as fictional but compelling as any great piece of literature, to 'explain' what happened in ways that mis-direct the masses attention and understanding far away from the real culprits, and the real truth. Often some natural disaster is taken advantage of as a prop. Say a virus. Or a drought. Or some 'foreign' agency. So people hear and read that 'the stock markets (their pension funds) LOST trillions of dollars almost overnight' in the last 'crash'. As if you can 'lose' trillions of dollars. No-one thinks to ask 'where did they go to?' They are too busy consuming whatever propaganda they've been given, and blaming whatever and whomever they've been given to blame, to ask this obvious question. To challenge this 'sleight of mouth' in which trillions of dollars can be 'lost'. Somehow. You might ask, 'Well when did you last see it / hold it / have it?'. For the reality is that those trillions were not lost. They were simply transferred from base of the pyramid, the workers pension funds, to the top of the pyramid. Those who 'sold high' just before the crash, at the current market prices. A few days later these same people stepped in and 'bought low', thus re-buying what they had just sold, at half the price. The only people who 'lost' any money were the workers, and their pension funds.

You see the question that goes begging is 'why did the pension fund managers sell'? They had no need to. No reason too. They could have 'held on' and 'waited for the inevitable bounce'. Rather than sell off at the BOTTOM of the crash! But this question goes begging, like all the questions about 'The Holocaust' and 'Man-made climate yadda yadda'.

So the base of the pyramid is held intact. Poor. Desperate. Insecure. Dependant on 'The State' that is actually responsible for their poverty and insecurity. For it engineers and orchestrates it. No matter what windfalls of fortune, productivity, and technological advance, threaten to 'raise the lowest up to a standard of living, and security, that would make them free agents, independent of the Pyramid, and the 'masters' at the top.

Or you simply start a war. Invade some nation on some pretext. America sending millions of fighting men to Germany to defeat Germany for the Cult of Judah, in world war one, is one example that is just BEGGING to be interrogated. And then repeating this error in world war two. And then Korea, and Vietnam, and Iraq, and every other war crime the U.S has committed in between, and since. All the fruits of productivity increases, technological advance, and the windfalls of nature, can be destroyed in a few years, to ensure those at the bottom of the pyramid don't become too 'comfortable' and 'prosperous'. Don't enjoy the luxury of liberal education. I don't mean training aimed at securing a job and trying to climb a little way up the pyramid. I mean training and education of the kind that made me the philosopher that I am today. I was willing and compelled to suffer a sub-standard quality of life in every possible aspect, in order to facilitate my own education as a philosopher. Most people would never dream of enduring what I have endured, economically, socially, emotionally, and spiritually, in order to attain my hard-won wisdom. It is usually just a few elites who are not called upon to sacrifice or endure ANYTHING, who can enjoy luxurious lifestyles WHILE educating themselves, over decades, that become the philosophers of their age. Nobles and trust fund kiddies. And their experience of life colours their philosophy so that it is usually worthless. And if they do manage to 'write that great book', they wisely decide to NOT publish it, to ensure they enjoy their lifestyles to the end, rather than die in prison, or after long years of torture. So even a David Hume, rich from his own labours, failed to push as hard as myself. While the usual 'Marxist' was nurtured and nourished at the plentiful teat of the Cult of Judah, with various 'scholarships' and 'chairs' and later 'placements' to ensure a prosperous future and loyalty to the Cult of Judah 'hand that feeds'. In whatever form that takes.

You can be as subtle or obvious as you like. Simply start a war based on fake news, and go and destroy billions of the workers' hard-earned resources in a few days of 'war', and a few decades of 'clean-up'. Or gradually shift all manufacturing jobs overseas, to one of your earlier 'projects', such as 'China', so that you export jobs as you import cheap, often rubbishy, goods and services. Either way you keep the base of your pyramid poor. Dependant on the State. Desperate. Needy. Vulnerable. Insecure. Easily manipulated. Too distracted and worn down by the need to make ends meet, each day, to ever have the energy or attention to 'interrogate' their reality. To question the propaganda. The fake news. The lies. The deceptions. To consider alternative points of view. To consider alternatives to the social reality they have had forced upon them. Along with their position in it. At the very base of the pyramid. Where they are doomed to be constantly 'shunted' back down to. No matter what technological advances, natural windfalls, or productivity improvements arrive, none of these have the power to raise them up, because the system is designed to keep them down. The benefits of all these improvements will always be appropriated in orchestrated 'market crashes' or destroyed in 'wars'.

And of course in the same way 'Trillions of dollars was wiped off the stock markets (pension funds) this week', sleight of mouth leaving us visualizing money 'disappearing' rather than moving from one pocket to another, wars that 'destroy' value really take the tax payers money and give it to the people making the bombs, guns, ammunition, tanks, and so on. Every time a bomb is built, it cries out to be 'exploded'. Otherwise there is no demand to make more bombs. Just stockpiles of bombs. And people might start asking 'why are we stockpiling bombs?' So wars are necessary to 'consume inventory' and justify increased expenditure on new bombs. And if there is no real enemy, then you need to fabricate one. Just tell people X is planning to destroy us, so we must carry out a pre-emptive strike on X, to defend ourselves. Basically commit a war crime. But it's O.K. Because it is us committing the war crime. Literally us. U.S. The 'good guys'. Cos we say so. And anyone who argues will be bombed next! We can carry out acts of ECONOMIC warfare, to force another nation to attack us. So it looks like we were the victim. Not the instigator. The aggressor. That was Pearl Harbor. Then we needed a 'new Pearl harbor'. And we couldn't find anyone willing to play the role of aggressor. No terrorist organisation saw anything to be gained from attacking America. The past 'hijackings' and so on had all failed in their political objectives. The CIA and MOSSAD couldn't find any existing terrorists willing to participate in their own plans. They tried to nurture them, and finance and train them. But they couldn't find any willing stooges they could build up into ‘believable’ threats. If they could have found some terrorists to blow up the WTC, they would have trained them, armed them, given them every access, every resource, then 'turned a blind eye', ensuring every agency and agent in the U.S government gave them a 'free pass' to carry out their acts. But no terrorist had anything to gain from the nine eleven type scenario. None ever claimed responsibility for it. None claimed the CREDIT for it. And imagine what kudo's such an act would gain your organisation! But no. No-one wanted to play their assigned roles as 'terrorist'. So the U.S Government, working with the Israeli government, had to play the role of terrorist themselves. No matter how hard they pushed and provoked, they could not find a 'Japan' willing to attack them. So they attacked themselves. Blew up the WTC buildings and Pentagon. As their 'New Pearl Harbor'. An excuse to launch a war that would transfer wealth, security, and freedom from the base of the pyramid, back up to the top again. To keep the base intact. Insecure. Vulnerable. Dependent. Poor. Impoverished in every way. And thus subservient, acquiescent, and enslaved. The TRILLIONS of dollars that could have been spend by the poor, on improving their situations, and their situational-awareness of what was going on around them, were paid to the industrial-military complex, and then destroyed on the battlefield, in the latest U.S war crime and crime against humanity called 'The Iraq War', and much more expensive 'mop-up' operations.

But if the time isn't right for a war, you look around for another way to steal the hard-won privileges and rights and wealth of the base of the pyramid, and even strengthen it, by pushing some 'middle class' layers down to the base, leaving space free nearer the top for new recruits, or at least the impression that there are 'openings' opening up, for ambitious new recruits willing to 'get their hands dirty', or more precisely, 'wet', in the sense of 'wet ops'.

How do you literally halt production for weeks on end? Stop the factories around the entire planet? Basically prevent Trillions of dollars of value being produced at all. So it cannot be distributed to the base of the pyramid? So those at the base can stop feeling secure in their newfound jobs, in China, or anywhere else? To ensure the base of the new world-wide pyramid structure feels insecure. Weak. Vulnerable. Dependant on 'Big Brother State'. What 'situation' can your engineer to allow for that? Without raising too many questions in the minds of the sheeple? Without making it too obvious what you are doing?

You enlist the power of hearsay. Hear. Say. That is the basis of all Cults. All religions. All propaganda. You say something. Make sure people hear it. Make sure they ONLY hear what you are saying. What YOU say. If possible censor any other voices that might say something different. Let alone contradict what you are saying. Ensure what YOU are saying becomes the 'talking points' of every mass media presenter. Every teacher. Every priest. Make sure people will discount what they hear from any other source. By demonising all other sources. By criminalising all other sources. By censoring all other sources. By 'smearing' the integrity and character of all other sources. By defining them as criminal. As insane. As ignorant. As evil. So that all over voices are automatically filtered out by listeners. Ignored. Ridiculed. Rejected. As heresy. As idiocy. As demonic. As evil. As malicious. As propaganda from sick minds with evil intentions.

You simply say something. Then repeat it. Have everyone in any position of authority repeat it. Have every mass media outlet presenter repeat it. Everyone the public trusts and respects. Everyone with any 'authority' in the minds of their audience. Every official and unofficial source of information. Even your 'controlled opposition'. Then have some 'controlled opposition' appear making ridiculous claims and associate these, in the public's mind, with the legitimate arguments of genuine opposition, so that the public equate the deliberately ridiculous with the legitimate, and reject the legitimate arguments and questions along with the deliberately manufactured, Neuro-Linguistically-programmed associated, patent silliness. So that people will be able to say 'Oh, yeh, so you believe that shape shifting lizards are fabricating a virus hoax to trick us?', having conflated the absurdly fatuous with the real argument and question 'What do we REALLY know, other than that people are SAYING this?'

When 'almost everyone knows' something, it takes on an authority of its own. The weight of 'public opinion'. Even though it is based purely on hearsay. Like all religious dogmas. And most political ideological dogma. Even much 'scientific' dogma. This state of affairs is easy to orchestrate if you have control of the full spectrum propaganda machine, the mass media, the education system, the political system, and so on. So that everyone 'hears' the same 'message', and 'see' that 'everyone else' seems at least to believe it to. So no-one who is defined as 'credible' is seen to challenge it. So there is no reason why anyone should even question it. Let alone interrogate it. So everyone accepts it as 'self-evidently true' and 'beyond question' and 'beyond doubt'.

When the entire basis of the belief is hearsay. Someone said something or wrote something. Someone else repeated it. Everyone else ended up repeating it. And believing it. Though no-one has any real grounds for believing it at all. They simply 'heard' it said. And accepted it. Like they do 'god'. And 'The Holocaust'. And 'Man-made climate yadda yadda'.

So when we hear it said that 'a state of emergency has been declared to deal with the Corona virus threat' we don't reflect at all. We just accept this. We accept that the threat is real, because we keep hearing people talking about it as if it was real. We accept that our government is shutting down schools, libraries, and banning public meetings at which people might discuss, or even protest, the declaration of a state of emergency, let alone reflect on 'what do we really know about the supposed threat' itself, that is being used as the excuse to justify the state taking such extreme measures, and behaving at the extreme limits of what a legal democracy allows? Let alone 'what are its plans?'. Is this part of something larger? Are they simply testing to see what they can get away with? What the public will put up with? Do they have something planned for the next few weeks, that shutting down public assemblies and schools and public places will facilitate? Or do they just want to wipe 2 weeks or more of GDP off, and lower our living standards by 4%? Or do they plan to extend that 2 weeks? Are they just 'flexing their muscles' and 'trial running' something much larger, like continual martial law and an eternal 'Nineteen Eighty Four' style 'state of emergency' and 'state of eternal war'?

In the past soldiers and government workers and contract workers have all 'followed orders' and committed horrendous crimes against individuals, against striking workers and their families, against minority groups protesting some injustice, and even against entire city populations, like Dresden or Hiroshima. The men and women who carried out the nine eleven controlled demolitions and mass murder, then cover up, were all 'doing god’s work' in their own eyes. Defending their homeland. Being patriotic. At very least doing 'what was necessary' to protect their families, and nation. Acting in 'the national security'. Of Israel. Of America. Maybe many were sociopaths, or being blackmailed, or just so well bribed that they were willing to murder thousands of people. But throughout history the 'police', the 'enforcers' of those at the top of the pyramid, were easy to find. And there has never been a problem getting them to 'follow orders', no matter how horrific and cruel and unjust the consequences of such orders would be for the victims. Or even the perpetrators. The soldiers and police ordered into battles they had no chance of surviving.

There are few willing 'whistle-blowers'. And the system is locked down tight, so that any whistle-blowers soon find themselves being demonised themselves, and the victim of smear campaigns, and death threats, where they are not simply imprisoned and/or murdered. So that their credibility in the eyes and ears of any potential listener are destroyed. So that their personal sacrifice and risk is in vain. For they find no audience willing even to listen. Let alone an audience willing to act. So that it is really very easy to keep a secret, no matter how big. Despite the native beliefs of 'the public' that 'it would be impossible to keep such a conspiracy secret, because it would require so many participants'. Well history proves it is easy to find participants. And that few are ever willing to even risk losing their jobs, to 'spill the beans' and 'blow the whistle'. Why should THEY sacrifice anything at all for others? Let some other idiot make the sacrifices. And if there are no other idiots willing to, then surely that justifies my own gutless lack of integrity in self-censoring myself, right? Surely! No-one can expect me to do what they aren't willing to do. So tell me who it is you expect to 'blow the whistle' and lose everything, just to 'have the truth be known'. When the public simply won't listen, and are not even interested. You could lose everything, and no-one will even listen. And even if you do manage somehow to make a difference, in the end the public will just abandon you, and you won't even be compensated, let alone rewarded, for what you sacrificed. And what right do you have to decide for your family? For most people in positions to 'learn' the truth, have family, who are dependent upon them. Upon their incomes from their jobs. What right does the whistle-blower have to sacrifice their family’s welfare, simply to inform a public that shows no interest in the truth anyway? So the more you look at this situation, the less you expect any 'whistle-blower' to ever come forward. And the less you expect anyone will even listen to them, even if they do find an audience. And you soon realise how easy it is to 'cover up' even a nine eleven type conspiracy.

So how hard could it be to convince a few crisis actors, or real doctors, to announce to the public that they have found dozens of cases of some virus in the local population? How hard would it be to fake this? Or just get people to lie? White lies they believe are 'for the greater good'. Or just good for their own career, would be enough for most. How many doctors get into medicine to help anyone but themselves? How many doctors would risk being blacklisted, after years of hard study, for attempting to blow the whistle on their colleagues, their own professional authorities, and their own health department, and thus the government? What would they have to gain? They have everything to lose. And what would the chances be of them succeeding in convincing anyone? And how certain could them even be they are right, when all around them, all their colleagues, and every 'authority' appear completely convinced that THEY are right? How many people are so independent of mind and confident that they could 'rock the boat' and 'challenge authority' on anything? Let alone risk everything in doing so! You might have doubts about what you are hearing, and even compelling grounds for scepticism, even proof of 'fake news', but could you be certain you were right? Would YOU take that risk?

So clearly it would be very easy for Chinese authorities to 'fake' a virus. To shut down industry for a few weeks. As a trial run of 'flexing their muscles', to carefully observe how the public responds, and see just how far the government can go, while still pretending to be some sort of 'representative' of the people's own will. Some sort of democracy. It would be a great experiment. On a state, nation, then world-wide scale. The New World Order flexing its muscles. Stretching. Testing the waters. To see what is possible. To perfect 'The Art of the Possible' that is politics. To push the limits a bit. See if there is any 'push-BACK'. To carefully monitor the entire spectrum of social media. To see how the general public responds on every level. To maybe lure out some potential future trouble makers, who might raise some form of protest during this 'test drill'. As preparation for the 'full roll-out' of the Cult of Judah's New World Order. Or as the actual 'baby steps' of the initial 'roll-out' of this one world government. By proxy. With each supposedly sovereign nation state behaving exactly alike. Preparing people mentally for the very idea of a one world government. Suggesting the NECESSITY of such a government. Of at least closer cooperation and uniform laws. That would constitute, a de facto one world government, while maintaining the APPEARANCE of sovereign nation states acting independently, of their own free will, as the representatives of the free will of their own people.

The sheeple are told they need war to achieve peace. To defend the rights and liberties that war takes away from the people, keeping these rights and liberties 'in safe keeping' for the duration of the war. The never-ending war. With new 'enemies' constructed or fabricated, as the need arises, by the government itself.

The sheeple are told they need de-regulation and globalisation so the markets can be efficient and produce the greatest good for the greatest number. When the original promoter of free markets, Adam Smith, stressed CATEGORICALLY the absolute indispensability of laws and regulations to PREVENT the emergence of conspiracies and EXPOSE AND PUNISH the conspirators, and stated categorically that globalisation would cripple 'the invisible hand' which was the only guarantor of the greatest good for the greatest number. Adam Smith stated that it was impossible for two or more people to meet, for any purpose, that they would NOT conspire against the good of the public. Compare that to today's mantra of 'Tin-foil-hat Conspiracy Theory Nutters' that is constantly pushed by all authorities in the mass media and education, and government.

Cui Bono. Who benefits? And who pays?

Is the latest 'market crash' just another 'sell high, buy low' appropriation of wealth from the base of the pyramid, the mum and dad investors and pension funds, up to the top of the pyramid, as usual? Using the 'fake news' and 'orchestrated hysteria' surrounding some everyday virus as a form of 'sleight of hand' to 'misdirect' our attention away from those orchestrating the 'crash' towards some other 'cause'? Or is this the crisis that is intended to crash the U.S dollar and nation, and possibly the entire world economy? So that the mass media can be used to provoke the masses into at least appearing to 'demand' closer international cooperation, and a proxy, de facto, one world government? Or an actual New World Order? To 'protect' them from such future crises. Health crises. Economic crises.

You manufacture the impression of a problem, or actually orchestrate a real problem. Then you leave the people feeling vulnerable. Threatened. Insecure. Then you have a few 'paid actors' call out demanding 'reforms' and 'radical changes'. So it looks like the public are calling for the new laws the government have been plotting and planning to impose for years already. So the public get the IMPRESSION that the government are RESPONDING to POPULAR demand. Acting as the representatives of the public. Acting on behalf of public opinion. Responding positively and responsibly and democratically to public opinion. To the will of the people. You don't need many carefully placed crisis actors in any group. And the mass media can make it LOOK like there is MASSIVE public demand for the 'new laws'. And most people will get caught up in the hysteria. Or at best simply passively observe it, and consume the carefully crafted IMPRESSIONS that will be tailored especially for their socio-economic-status group, in their social media niche, in their milieu, so that the message is received loud and clear, and accepted. So that everyone comes to FEEL that THEY have demanded the 'new laws' and that their government is merely bowing to public pressure, to their own wills, in imposing the new laws. Martial law. States of Emergency. And so our 'People's Democratic Republic of (insert name of your own Cult of Judah occupied nation here)' will be seen to be operating democratically.

The few 'dissenters' are clearly mad, raving, lunatic, fringe, 'conspiracy theorist', loner, terrorist, malicious, stupid, evil types, as 'almost everyone knows'. That is how they will be depicted in the full spectrum propaganda. And in any official histories.

We will have a 'New Normal'. And the sheeple will acclimatise to it. It will soon come to FEEL 'normal'. Natural. As 'the best of all possible worlds'. For some 'god-given'. For others, at worst, a 'necessary evil'. The beneficiaries will praise its merits. Those at the bottom of the pyramid will be too busy scrambling for the 'scraps' that are allowed to 'trickle down' to the 'loyal' servants of the State. Those who 'hate' the appropriate people and ideas, those that dare challenge the legitimacy of the state, and its truthfulness, and question its love for the people, and who 'love' the State, and all the ideas that make up that 'state'. With the appropriate public displays, at the designated times and places set aside for the daily '2 minutes of hate', and eternal 'love for big brother'.

History will be re-written, to suit the purposes of glorifying this 'New Normal' and demonising all potential alternatives. Those already tried. And those not yet attempted. To ensure no-one will for one moment consider any alternative. Either previously failed. Or not yet attempted. Most history had already been re-written, years ago. So, for most people it will just be 'fact'. And when they stumble across some 'new fact' about history that is unfamiliar to them, even contradicting what they remember having learned at school, them will just gloss over it. Forget about it. Not dwell on it. And if things seem worse today, than they remember from their childhood, they will just repress such feelings and thoughts. And if things do not pan out as promised, as they reach the end of their lives, and find they've been lied to, well they'll just push such ideas and feelings down, and take their 'medications'. They seem to help forget. And to 'get on with things'. Surviving. Enduring. And if the government decides, dying. Or will it be that NEW virus they've been talking about, that seems to be killing only economically unproductive people. Though it is never framed in that way of course. It just seems to attack people before they get to access those plentiful 'pension funds' they have been told were waiting for them, on retirement. The pension funds that have been growing and growing, promising all the hard-working pyramid-base masses a bright future. Or will those pension funds be 'wiped out' in some totally unexpected NEW financial crisis? Oh well. What is one to do? Pray to that NEW god that actually appears in the sky some nights? Now isn't THAT something new. God actually speaking to us. Or is it really god? Some tin-foil hat conspiracy nutters are claiming it is just the government playing with new technology. Oh well, here comes the nurse with my 'medication'. I guess we'll leave it to the next generation to work out. Lazy good-for nothing ungratefuls have it so good compared to my day. Anyway, thanks nurse, now THAT really hits the spot. No more problems for me now. Just this great loose good feeling spreading throughout my body. Yep, that sure did the trick. Problems? In this, the best of all possible worlds? THIS utopia? I don't know what you could possibly mean. Or are YOU one of them tin-foil hat conspiracy theory nutters that are trying to trick me into feeling unsatisfied and sceptical? Just what is YOUR game? Ah, just let me be. Let me collapse back into this easy feeling. This 'medication' is just what I needed. Maybe YOU should get some? What are you resisting the urge for? Can't you see how much good it is doing ME? And all these other peaceful, quiet, restful, content, HAPPY folk?

Markus Heinrich Rehbach
Sovereign Ecclesia of The Vegan Church
Under a State of Emergency in Cult of Judah Occupied Estonia
March 14, this year of our Cult of Judah Occupation, 2020
Year Two of the Co2Vid
Hopefully Year ONE of our LIBERATION

Passive smoking, drink driving, and ‘no shirt, no shoes, no service’

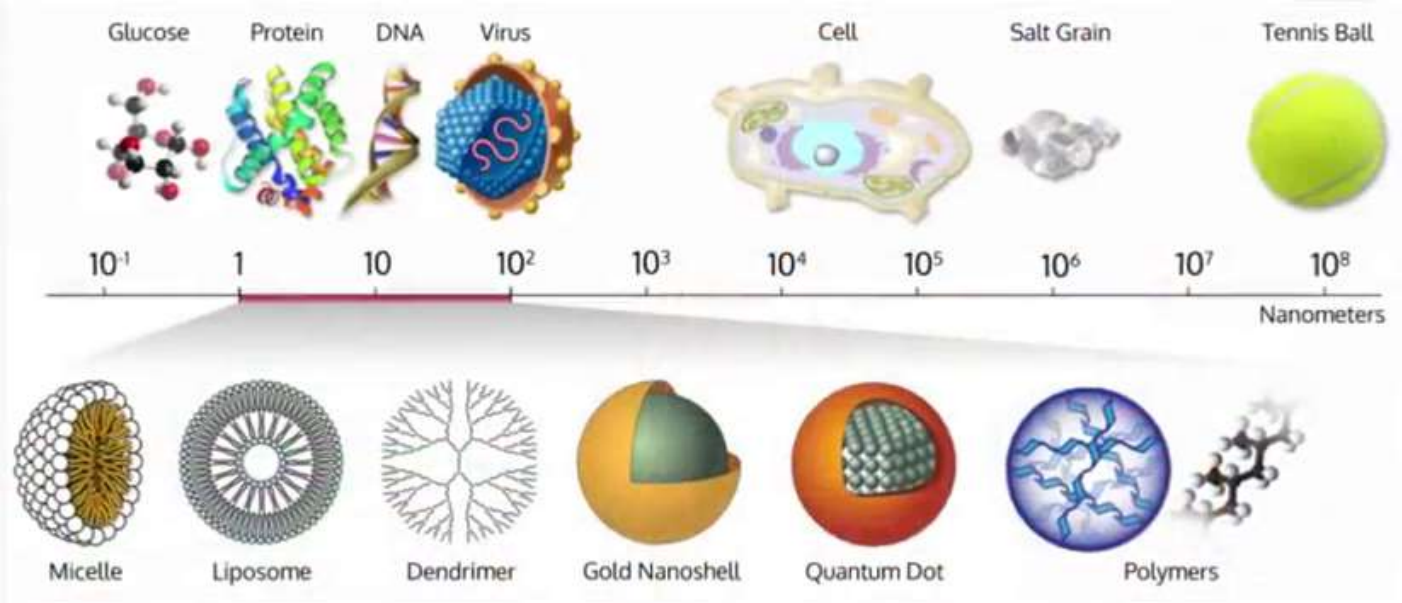
In their desperation and smug complacency that they can send any old disingenuous specious sophistry ‘up the flag pole’ and ‘everyone will salute it’, I will ‘nip’ some possible such pseudo-arguments ‘in the bud’.

First, last time I looked, there were still no smoking regulations in China, where the ‘face-mask’ craze began. In the West the pro-Covid-Burkha-Taliban might argue ‘Well look, you can’t smoke in public places anymore, for the protection of OTHERS. First, they are enforcing face masks even upon individuals hiking in the mountains and forests, tens of miles from the nearest other person, let alone any ‘public’. So THAT is NOT the reason. You are free to smoke in ‘designated areas’. There are no official ‘face-mask free areas in pubs, clubs, airports, hotels, restaurants, or offices.

And remember it is the same SORT of ‘medical professionals’ and ‘respected authorities’ in ‘trusted government’ and ‘the mass media’ were all telling YOU that smoking was GOOD for your health, for decades, that are today spreading the Covid Terror Propaganda. Supporting the Covid Reign of Terror.

Passive smoking is easily demonstrable to be a real thing. Just light up a smoke in any area and visually observe the spread of the toxic smoke, which others cannot help but inhale, at distances much further than two meters. Whereas ‘Invisible Covid Droplets’ are invisible.

And remember it is only LARGE VISIBLE DROPLETS that any sort of face mask or shield can possibly slow down or ‘absorb’. Only to be released as AEROSOLE immediately after the ‘sneeze’ or ‘cough’ is complete. Because it will end up IN the weave of the facemask. And face masks can NOT prevent the spread of aerosols. Of Nano-sized virus microbes. That is like using a chain wire fence to keep mosquitoes from flying in and out of your windows and doors.



Further, we have decades of empirical, clinical, inductive, scientific research and clinical medical research to back up the claims that tobacco smoke is a cause of death, and disease, in otherwise perfectly healthy people. It is among the top three 'causes of death', with alcohol, and car accidents, and among the top four (including suicide) of 'years of life lost'.

You cannot legally force anyone to wear a Burkha in most nations where 'mask laws' are in place. So this new Cult of Judah subsidiary even trumps one of its earlier cults, Islam!

Let us be very clear about a simple fact. The mask can NOT prevent the spread of ANY virus. It might stop LARGE droplets of saliva and/or mucous hitting you in the face. But it cannot stop virus Microbes being transmitted every time someone exhales into, and through, their mask. The Microbes pass through a face mask like a flea through a chain-link fence.

Facemasks, to repeat for the n-th time, are only effective, AT ALL, at reducing the transmission of bacteria. Even then, when you cough or sneeze, the huge velocity and massive force guarantees that AEROSOLE sized particles WILL pass through the face mask. The mask will only trap LARGE droplets of LIQUID. And only temporarily, STORING them for the next time you exhale, at which time they will be transmitted, along with your breath, in AEROSOL form. As TINY particles you might only see like dust motes in sunlight, if the light hits them at just the right angle. And then, as even SMALLER particles, when the moisture dries.

And keep in mind that clinical studies of operating theatre surgeons shows that, because face masks rub against the skin, and this skin, covered in bacteria and all other microorganisms that live on the skin, and in the sweat glands, then falls into open wounds, wearing face masks can do MORE HARM THAN GOOD EVEN IN THE CONTEXT OF SURGERY. So that many surgeons, given the free choice, and based on the 'BEST MEDICAL PRACTISE' would NOT WEAR A MASK EVEN DURING SURGERY, IF THEY WERE FREE TO CHOOSE. FOR THE GOOD OF THEIR PATIENTS. TO INCREASE THE SUCCESS RATE OF SURGERY. TO REDUCE THE RATE OF INFECTIONS. THUS OBEYING THE RULE 'ABOVE ALL, DO NO HARM'. Because facemasks, according to their own, carefully carried out, double blind, controlled, CLINICAL empirical research studies, over many continents, WEARING FACE MASKS IS CONTR-INDICATED. It is HARMFUL. It does NO good. And CAN do GREAT HARM.

And now, the 'no shirt, no shoes, no service' argument. This is about maintaining the 'tone' of a shop, store, bar, restaurant, establishment. I've walked into supermarkets with no shirt, in really hot weather, a few times. And when asked to put on a shirt I did so. I did not feel my human rights had been violated. Some people feel uncomfortable around half naked, sweaty, young men. But the only reason anyone might feel 'uncomfortable' or 'threatened' by another customer or client NOT wearing a face mask, is because of the years of Full Spectrum Terror Propaganda we've all been subject to. That has produced a totally IRRATIONAL fear of something that does not exist. The equivalent of being terrified into wearing a cross around your neck. Or a Burkha over your head. Or garlic around your neck. Well actually Garlic continues to demonstrate all manner of beneficial, therapeutic, and preventative, health impacts. But upside-down horse shores not so much. Or papal dispensations. Or 'Saints bones'. Or 'pieces of the one true cross'. Or 'Holy' water.

Electromagnetic Sensitivity, Electro smog, and CANCER

I keep reminding myself that this whole 'Covid Mania' might merely be a distraction, to mis-direct our attention away from something even bigger, and even more sinister, if that is even possible.

It is possible they expected, or still expect, a huge health crisis resulting from, and possibly the real reason FOR, the widespread roll-out of 5G across the plane-et. And that they wanted a 'cover-story' to explain the sudden deaths of possibly BILLIONS of people. The GENOCIDE of BILLIONS of people. As that Jewish Rabbi on YouTube continues calling for. As 'the will of god'. The genocide of YOU. And assuming everything gets 'fact-checked' these days, we should assume that FACEBOOK Fact-Checkers have decided that Rabbi is CORRECT. That God DOES command all Jews to Genocide almost ALL of us. Germans, Italians, French, all former nations of the Roman Empire, and North America, Canada, Australia, and so on. With Japan apparently the exception. 'Cos otherwise who would make the Sushi for the Jews to enjoy'? Not my words. The 'Fact Checked' words of that Jewish Rabbi. Apparently it is consistent with Facebook and YouTube's 'Community Guidelines' to incite Jews to the genocide of non-Jews, and to racially vilify non-Jews. I can only assume that as I have REPEATEDLY reported that Rabbi for violations to YouTube, Facebook, and The Southern Poverty Legal Centre. With absolutely ZERO response!

So I am always 'on the lookout' for what might be the REAL threat, being brought in under cover of Covid lockdowns. Which leads to these chapters on electromagnetic poisoning. Which is also closely connected with the chapters on Exosomes.

To date only SWEDEN is actively recognising and helping sufferers of Electro sensitivity (portrayed in television as a mental illness / psychological / psychiatric condition, which is how most people in rest of world view it), where 2.5% of population are being treated, according to the World Health Organisation (like Orwell's 'Ministry of Love' / peace / etc), which itself DOES recognise this condition.

Note we have only had a few decades of this exposure. It takes about 10 years for any 'cause-effect' link to be established between a carcinogenic substance / situation / condition and the actual cancers observed. It takes time for exposure to a new carcinogen to PRODUCE the effect / cancers.

However early studies already suggest that 'night shift work studies', and 'holding a mobile phone up to your ear while transmitting/receiving', or simply holding a phone close to your skin when not in use, are all 'high risk' activities, in terms of dying from cancer.

Given the number of nurses and doctors in hospitals who do 'night-shifts', I guess it will be possible to find 'control groups'. Other than that, I suspect most 'night shift workers', like my mother when she worked nightshift for over a decade, belong to the lowest Socio-Economic groups. So that there could be a lot of other variables at play here. That said, it is my personal opinion, one I would enact into law if I could, that only ESSENTIAL services were staffed by night-shift workers, who would be rotated regularly to avoid anyone being 'stuck permanently' on night shift. I've driven taxi's all night, and worked 12 hour shifts at McDonalds while still in High School, so I have a little experience of night work. It can really 'throw' you, and put your 'system' 'all out of whack', to use the most precise terminology from clinical medicine that come to mind! In any case more 'scientific' and 'precise' and 'descriptive' and 'apt' than the 'weasel words' being thrown at us by people on television purporting to be scientists and medical professionals!

Animal research has been ongoing and appears quite conclusive. Low frequency magnetic fields can reduce melatonin production in the pineal glands of hamsters, and rats.

17 studies in humans found not just a reduction in Melatonin levels, BUT AN INCREASE IN SEROTONIN LEVELS. Common anti-depressants work in some as yet unexplained way, to improve mood in humans. Initially they increase the level of serotonin in the brain, by decreasing / inhibiting the UPTAKE of serotonin. But this is a temporary effect. Soon serotonin levels return to the pre-medication levels. So it doesn't explain the improvement in mood AFTER serotonin levels return to 'normal'. And so the effects are a mystery. And without extensive controlled studies with placebo's given to the 'control' group, and 'active medications' given to the 'test' groups, we have no reason to consider ALL the positive side-effects of such expensive, obscenely profitable, medications, NOT to be pure 'placebo' effects. Psycho-somatic. Which would be a typical example of psycho-somatic symptoms responding well to psycho-somatic 'treatments'. If the mind has created the symptoms, it can just as easily stop doing so, if it 'has a mind to'. Like one witchdoctor 'cursing' someone, making them sick, then another 'lifting the curse' and 'making them well'.

Did they place a 'gag order' on 'Hello Kitty', or just a sickening new Co2Vid Cult accomplice?

Few people read their mobile phone 'safety warnings', let alone FOLLOW them, but the facts are in, mobile phones et al represent real and present dangers to your health, unlike Covid

Check your mobile phone guide for the 'safe use guidelines' for your particular model of phone, and note that you are not supposed to keep the device next to your skin, in fact you are expected to hold it several CENTIMETERS away from even your ear / head, during use. Which means any time the phone is transmitting. That's any time you are calling or downloading something. And if your wi-fi is switched on, that is basically ALL THE TIME. Same goes if someone is calling you. Or remotely accessing your phone.

Guides often warn you to 'CARRY PHONE AS DIRECTED'. To keep it 25mm away from your body any time it is switched on. And remember apps can automatically switch your phone on. Just as anyone with the 'back-door' can. Manufacturers of smart devices have been caught spying on their customers in this way, to collect marketing information on them, and possibly for other more sinister purposes.

Pregnant women and teenagers are warned not to keep the phone near their abdomen. But how many carry it in their pockets, or even under their bra straps? Court cases have awarded women who did this, before such warnings became normal practise, millions in damages for cancers produced by such close phone-body contact.

Many warnings suggest limiting the time spent on the phone, and using 'hands free' devices with the phone where possible.

So the manufacturers are taking this seriously, thanks to the millions awarded plaintiffs in trials against them, where users contracted all sorts of fatal cancers.

Still, most people carry their mobile, switched on, either next to their skin, on in the pockets of their jeans or shirt. Few carry their phones as I do, the back pocket of my back-pack.

The German Telecommunications Giant 'T-Mobil' (DeTeMobil Deutsche Telekom MobilNet GmbH) funded/commissioned a 'Review of the current scientific research in view of precautionary health protection', and reported in 'Health Risks to humans resulting from exposure to the Electromagnetic fields of mobile telecommunications' their clear finding that 'electromagnetic fields with frequencies in the mobile telecommunications range DO play a role in the development of cancer'. With an OBVIOUS (only the MOST STRIKING) correlation between the side at which the phone was used and the side at which the (brain) tumour occurred. And in general, the carcinogenic effects are 'particularly notable for tumours of the central nervous system'.

Are you surprised that they never released this report to the public? Wouldn't you think they'd want to warn them, so that they would take their own safety directions seriously?

'Higher risks were also demonstrated for several forms of leukaemia'. Was this a reference to the 'lower abdomen' of pregnant women and teenagers vis a vis the 2% p.a increase in childhood leukaemia rates? AND down syndrome? Testicular cancer was another proven risk, which makes you wonder at how many companies sell mobile phone holders that sit in such close proximity to the body, at hip level, often almost directly over the genitals, sometimes DIRECTLY over the testes.

Courts have awarded many multi-million-dollar payouts to women who got breast cancers after placing mobile phone under their bra straps during the late 1990's explosion in mobile phone use.

The brain consumes glucose when a mobile phone is held up to the ear, even when the person is not making a call. Simply when the phone is switched on. This suggests brain activity is stimulated by the presence of the phone. The result is a metabolic reaction at levels well below the legal limit. Meaning you don’t have to come even close to the legal limit, to observe changes in brain activity. These limits have been set way to high. Like the cycle thresholds used in PCR testing. They are set to suit the purposes of the people selling the product. Not in the interests of YOUR health.

Claiming all mobile phones now meet the guidelines is as disingenuous and meaningless as claiming that you've eliminated all speeding in your police district, because you set the speed limit to 250km/hr.

Official tests only measure the amount of microwave radiation that penetrates a specially made fake skull, called a SAM phantom head. It’s thickness and size is the average of 10,000 U.S Military personnel, thus adult, skull thicknesses. Not to insult the military, and claim they might be ‘thicker’ than most, but we are clearly dealing with adults who meet the military entrance requirements. And this is NOT representative of the general population, let alone CHILDREN. Thus the sample used would be thicker, and larger, than the most common skulls in the general population. Let alone 8-year-old children, who have less bone to protect their brains from potentially damaging EMF, microwave radiation.

ICNIRP who set the standards, are engineers, not biologists, and they focus on the 'heating of tissue' as being the only indicator of potential harm. A very limited ‘impact study’.

Already in May 2011, the World Health Organisation reported that the IARC meeting in France has concluded that radiofrequency electromagnetic fields such as those emitted by wireless communication devices, (with 5 Billion users at time of study) should be classified by the WHO as 'possibly carcinogenic to humans (Group 2B), based on an increased risk for glioma, a malignant type of brain cancer, associated with wireless phone use.

The largest study to date was done by Swedish profession Lennar Hardell, and published 2009, on evidence of association between use of wireless phones and tumour diseases such as Astrocytoma brain tumour and Acustic neuroma tumour, the tumours most closely associated with mobile phone use due to their location close to ear. Since research began, it has become clear that there is a minimum10 year 'latency' period for 'cause' to have its 'effect'. Meaning no consequences will be apparent for at least 10 years. In the same way it takes time for lung cancers to develop due to smoking, and passive smoking.

The problem is in some ways similar to the one faced when it comes to tobacco. People have become addicted to the instant 'rewards' offered by mobile telecommunications, and Wi-Fi. We gain instant gratification. A real 'hit', similar to a smoker. And we enjoy the 'purposeful action' offered by our phones. Something to do with our hands. To make us feel less self-conscious. And so long as it is immensely profitable for a few people, and we remain addicted to the convenience and immediate gratification offered, people will tend to overlook the dangers. Until people start 'dropping like flies'. And by then, will it even be possible for us to 'wean' ourselves from this addiction?

7.83Hz

Even Hollywood is getting in on the 'water memory' thing, with 'Frozen'. Lamestream science liked to deride homeopathy, with its claims that a tiny amount of an active ingredient can 'imprint' information on water, so that water remains an effective 'treatment' long after it has been diluted beyond the point where anyone would claim that any actual active ingredient was present. Think of it like the impact all those dead philosophers can have on you. They tortured them to death, burned all their books, but the people who had read them before they were burned, or found copies after they'd been banned, had still been 'transformed' by the ideas in them. So even long after all the books were burned, and all the philosophers were tortured to death, and either ignored by history, or had totally fake histories written to demonise them in the full spectrum propaganda machine including 'trusted independent sources' like Wikipedia, their ideas still RESONATED out in the world, in the MINDS and HEARTS of people. And no 'Fact-Checker' or 'Facebook 'Community Guidelines' redactor, could CENSOR THAT!

You may also have seen those images where water molecules were apparently changed simply by placing written messages which expressed different types of 'intent' and 'will' and 'emotions'. With those that had 'malicious' messages stuck to their containers, appearing very different to those with 'beneficent' messages stuck to their containers. With the molecular structure appearing to reflect the content of the messages. Just like an interlocutor's facial gestures would have, if you'd said or written those things to them. With 'ugly' messages producing 'ugly' patterns, and 'nice' messages producing 'pleasant' patterns.

But one thing you might not have heard about is a study in which water was purified of all 'DNA' from any micro-organism. What WAS present were nucleotides. This water was then placed in a sealed test-tube, which was then placed next to another test-tube containing DNA.

This was a controlled study. The variable of interest was 'the presence of a 7.83Hz resonance'. So the tests were repeated in the presence of a 7.83Hz resonance, and in the absence of that 7.83Hz resonance. So in theory the ONLY difference between the 'control' and 'test' groups WAS the presence of a 7.83Hz resonance.

We are dealing with an 'Ultra Low Frequency'. Where the reference is the human hearing spectrum of 20Hz to around 20KHz. What you MIGHT hear would be the upper third harmonic, especially if the room acoustics favoured this frequency. But no-one can 'Hear' a frequency of 7.83Hz. An energy pulse in the atmosphere that repeats 7.83 times a second. If its amplitude were large enough, you might FEEL it, though. Like you can feel the bass from a sub-woofer.

The test suggested that 7.83Hz is critical to life on this planet. It is the 'Schumann Resonance' that is present on the surface of this plane-et. For during the test, in the presence of this resonance, but not when it was NOT present, when a test-tube of DNA was placed next to the test-tube of nucleotides, these nucleotides began self-organising to form DNA.

The theory is that DNA 'communicates' with other DNA at very low frequencies. The resonance of one DNA molecule appears to have produced sympathetic-empathetic resonances in the chemicals, with led to the nucleotides self-organising to form DNA strands. Or something like that. I can't claim to 'know' much about it all. But it is totally consistent with many beliefs I have been entertaining in my TROONATNOOR books, guides, and videos.

But you can read about the use of Ultra Low Frequency transmissions as a WEAPON by the KGB in Moscow, and the symptoms reported by U.S Embassy workers subjected to them, in my earlier TROONATNOOR books.

Sense of direction and magnetic fields

I have absolutely zero sense of direction. Ask my fellow Army Reservists from any of the training camps or field exercises I was on. Ask my brother about how I got lost just leaving Armidale, for Byron Bay. I think Wittgenstein might even come close to finding my lack of direction 'hard to believe'. Give me a compass and let me keep constantly updating my landmarks etc, and I am find. But put me in a moving vehicle, change directions a few times, then ask me which way is which, and I am clueless.

Apparently, pigeons use landmarks like I do. Even to the point of following roads, rather than flying 'point to point' directly. Because the road is 'familiar'. Horses and other prey animals apparently have a perfect memory for any path, and will panic the moment they notice any changes. Like an Army Reserve scrim cloth on the ground. Yep, my horse was all over the shop. This was a case where I simply could not believe my own experience. Even though the horse handler had warned me to take it off before getting on the horse. Who'd a thunk it, eh?

The Birds and the Bees are well known for their sense of direction. However it is becoming common for them to get lost. Because humans have introduced new electromagnetic frequencies into the environment that appear to interfere with their 'sense of direction', by way of cell towers for wi-fi and mobile phones. Usually microwave, high frequency pulses of energy. We can't see, hear, or feel them. But when your phone rings, and you are on the computer, you often hear that 'pulse'. It is converted into sound by your computer's speakers. And if you had to listen to that all day, if you could hear a wider range of the electromagnetic spectrum, you'd be reaching for earplugs.

Many animals appear more sensitive to electromagnetic fields than humans. Dogs will tend to 'do their business', as if complying with the Mosaic laws on the subject, with their bodies-heads in a North-South alignment. I haven't been able to verify this yet, maybe you can next time you are allowed out of the house by your 'democratically elected representatives'.

Bees apparently have magnetite in their bodies, which helps them navigate. Allowing them to always find their way back to the hive, after a pollen hunting expedition, and also lead back fellow hive members from the hive back to their latest 'pollen find'. They can either 'see' or 'feel' magnetic fields. In the same way some people with kinaesthesia can 'see' what other people can only 'hear'. Some animals have an extra 'representation system'. Bats have sonar. Bees have a sort of inbuilt GPS navigation system. While horses just have a perfect memory for any trail or track or terrain they have previously covered.

It's important to understand that bees are the 'free workers' pollinating about 70% of the food crops, fruits, and vegetables that we eat, along with other wild plants. In 2006 beekeepers reported a massive drop in bee populations in the U.S. A new syndrome, 'colony collapse disorder' was observed, with healthy, strong, male bees simply abandoning their hives, and their colonies, for no visible reason. This syndrome then spread to Europe. Was it like 'The Spanish Flu'? Was the advance of this new epidemic merely a reflection of the transfer of new technologies from the U.S to Europe, introducing new forms of electro-magnetic radiation, that was playing havoc with the natural ecosystems' flora and fauna?

Mobile phones were soon implicated in the studies of this new phenomenon. Researchers placed wireless phones in hives, and observed that most of the adult males would abandon that hive, never to return. These operated in a similar way to mobile phones, with a base station sending microwaves to the handset, just as mobile phone masts / towers do to mobile phones. So it was the microwaves that were the 'active' variable, ceteris paribus (all other things being equal, in the controlled studies).

New forms of electromagnetic radiation introduced, new 'diseases' and 'pandemics' of existing conditions appear

When the new electromagnetic fields used in mobile phones were first introduced, clusters of cancer appeared around them. It took 10 years for the problem to move from individual's having private suspicions, to public studies confirming the problem.

But despite huge payouts to individual and class action lawsuits, the industry is still immensely profitable, and this is what drives policy making, and also research.

If you do research into mobile phone and Wi-Fi towers, and your conclusions are negative, you don't get funding for further research. If your research is favourable to the industry, you are ensured a great career as a researcher, with unlimited funds made available to you, year after year. So there is a clear 'confirmation bias' in terms of confirming the industry propaganda and promoting greater profits for it. Just as there is with 'Vaccine' research. As far as I can see, almost NO research has been done into the supposed Covid-19. There are just too many powerful vested interests with ulterior motives that have nothing to do with science or health, to allow such research to take place, and debunk the 'official narrative'. That narrative upon which they have based the entire New World Order Control Grid, the entire New World Order Dictatorship, upon. That narrative they have used to 'justify' and 'explain' and 'legitimate' the largest stripping of human rights from the plane-ets populations in recorded history.

Cryptochrome

A new protein has been discovered and named 'Cryptochrome'. It is found in all animals. All life appears to have a magnetic sense due to the presence of these cryptochromes. They also appear to regulate growth in all animals. This biological molecule, this protein, appears to regulate the sleep-wake cycles (circadian rhythms) and also melatonin production.

Researchers believe that a Robin's navigation sense comes from cryptochrome cells behind its eyes which lets them 'see' i.e 'represent' magnetic lines visually, with their visual representation system. Just like some people with synaesthesia will 'see' different frequencies as different coloured shapes and patterns. Quincy Jones, the Producer for Michael Jacksons 'Thriller' album was one such person.

Even at levels deemed safe for humans by telecommunications industry regulators, man-made Electromagnetic Frequencies (EMF's) can interfere with this ability, disrupting the migration of Robins.

If you are working on your computer, and your mobile phone begins receiving an SMS or telephone call, you will hear the pulse of electro-magnetic energy being converted, by your laptop speakers, into an audio signal. That is the EMF 'background noise' you are immersed in, any time you are in range of a transmission tower. Whether you have a phone or not. If your ears were sensitive to the frequency bandwidth these microwaves operate in, you'd be constantly bathed in 'audio pollution'. If you could see it, you'd be constantly immersed in electro-smog.

It is this electro-smog that disrupts the optimal functioning of the pineal gland, thus disrupting the production of melatonin, and thus leaving the 'free radicals' that are constantly being produced by cell division / mitosis, and the 'internal combustion' of the fuel that drives our muscular contractions, free to run riot and rampage throughout your system, stealing electrons from healthy cells, and thus damaging them.

The modern 'canaries in the coalmine' are reporting sensitivity to microwave radiation from cell phone towers, high power lines, and the general 'invisible' and 'silent' man made frequencies we are bathed in today.

They are not, as the telecommunications profiteers would like you to believe, simply 'mentally ill'. They are simply more sensitive to EMF's than the rest of us.

Like some people who were very sensitive to tobacco smoke. They were made fun of. But their immediate reaction to 'second-hand smoke' was simply a sign of the horrific consequences that smokers and passive smokers alike were to experience, years later.

We are creatures of electricity, living in and electric universe. EMF's are just an 'intangible' bandwidth of the electromagnetic spectrum we have no senses to 'render'.

Unlike Covid-19, they are real. Though invisible to our human senses. But they interfere with our melatonin production, and thus are implicated in almost every 'modern' disease from cancer to 'Spanish Flu'.

Life is associated with electrical activity. If your EEG or ECG measure no electrical activity, it is a good indicator you are NO longer alive. The first 'signs of life' are electrical. And the absence of electrical impulses is a sure clinical indicator of death. Without them you have no heartbeat. No thoughts. Like the elites you are heart-dead. Like most of the masses, brain-dead.

Evolution is NEGATIVE selection. We don't 'actively adapt' so much as 'get negatively selected'. Changes that an organism are not ALREADY adapted to, simply destroy all the instances of maladaptation, leaving on the instances that CAN survive DESPITE the new, hostile, environmental factors, to reproduce. And 'start over'.

If all you care about is 'survival of the species', then don't worry. At least a few people will prove able to survive 5G. Probably more than enough to serve the needs of the Cult of Judah, once automation and A.I replace most humans from most jobs.

But if the prospect of potentially BILLIONS of people, including YOU and your loved ones, dying off of cancer is alarming to you, you'd better put a stop to the 'roll-out' of 5G at very least. And then demand open and honest research into the dangers of the existing technologies. While demanding 'transparency' in the PROCESS by which decisions which affect us all, are made.

Just stop and consider the symptoms already associated / correlated with the installation of new mobile phone towers. These include cancers, infertility, electro sensitivities, sleep problems, skin rashes, benign lumps, to skin cancers, in entire villages within years of new phone masts being set up. With 'cancer clusters' of all forms of cancer then appearing.

The industry has no desire to FIND problems. It is totally focussed on the TRILLIONS in profits to be made. Just as governments hope to cash in on bandwidth licenses, taxes, and electoral campaign finance funding. Not to mention the 'million dollar speaking engagements' they are guaranteed, once they 'retire from public office'. Ask yourself what could Obama possibly know about running a corporation, that 15 minutes of his time is worth a cool Million! A man who never ran any sort of business, ever. WHO is paying and WHY? To hear what he has to say? Or simply to 'reward him for services ALREADY rendered' during his term in office. So that the current placeholders of those same government positions can be confident of THEIR own place at the 'money trough' Kurt Vonnegut wrote of, in return for THEIR loyalty to the same industry lobbyists and corporations.

NOTES FROM 'MY GUYS' FROM ANCIENT GREECE ON my idea of the PRIMERTY

Aristotle in his Metaphysics, according to Simplicius, documents the 5th Century BCE Atomism of Leucippus and his associate Democritus of Abdera: shape, arrangement, and position. what-is differs only in rhythm (shape), turning (position), and touching (arrangement). For tragedy and comedy come to be out of the same letters. (Corresponding to my 'primerty' where apparent complexity and variety merely changes in perceived qualities emerging from change of quantity and arrangement of primerty.)

Democritus believes that the nature of the eternal things is small substances (ousiai) infinite in number. (Corresponding to my 'primerty'.)They declare that their [atoms'] nature is but one, as if each one were a separate piece of gold. The substances are so small that they escape our senses. The atoms which combine to form all things have a nature deprived of every perceptible quality. Ousia, "substance," is a noun derived from the verb einai, "to be." as they move they strike against one another and become entangled. These move in the void (for there is void), and they produce coming-to-be by combining and perishing by coming apart, and they act and are acted upon wherever they happen to come into contact (for in this way they are not one), and they generate <compounds> by becoming combined and entangled. (Corresponding to my 'primerty' which is simple and uniform, and interacts to produce all apparent 'variety' and 'complexity'. And to the idea of there being many monads, not just one).

This is in contrast to Parmenides and Xenophanes who made the universe one, immovable, ungenerated, and limited. (Corresponding to my 'speaker cone analogy' of all as one monad).

So it would appear that most of the first philosophers, this side of the Younger Dryas impact at least (what we refer to as 'recorded history' in terms of the documents available to the public, but we cannot guess at what 'secret' documentation of our past is held by the elites who rule this world) shared all or most of my self-learned ideas about TROONATNOOR. Of a primerty that interacts to produce the 'complex' world we experience. All things are built from, and reduce back to (upon dis-integration of their current combinations / forms) this primerty. So only the combinant forms come into being, then disappear from being, and there is no 'creation' or 'destruction' possible, other than of these temporary combinations of primerties a.k.a 'forms'.

The disagreement among the first philosophers is merely about the number and/or type of 'primerty', which in honor of the Atomists was often referred to as the 'atom', but in Eastern philosophy is commonly referred to a singular 'monad', or multiple 'monad*s*'.

The ancients made Oceanus and Tethys the parents of 'coming to be'. They called water 'Styx'. The epithet 'Oath' suggests 'most honored' as what the Greeks most honored was their oaths. Their word. With water as the primerty. Which Thales referred to as 'the first cause'.

While Anaximenes and Diogenes take air to be prior to water and the primary principle of all the simple bodies, a.k.a my 'primerty'.

For Hippasus of Metapontium and Heraclitus of Ephesus it was a fire.

Empedocles adds earth as a fourth 'primerty' to the ones mentioned, all of which combine to form all experienced complexity.

Anaxagoras of Clazomenae, writing later than Empedocles argued that almost all the 'uniform' things, such as water and fire do not come to be or get destroyed. They are simply integrated and dis-integrated and re-integrated constantly into new forms.

But WHY? What 'causes' the interactions of the simpler primerties? What compels or motivates them to 'interact' to form more complex forms? Thus the search for the second-principle, the 'cause of motion'.

For some reason most could not entertain the idea, as I do, that the first principle and second principle are simply reflexive of the one principle. As the animists posit consciousness as present in all matter. Unifying all 'principles' in the one 'matter-energy-consciousness' which doesn't require further 'explanation', as it is powerful enough to explain all we experience, without 'discovering theoretical particles' or 'strong forces' or creators, whose own existence is then left unexplained, so that we are left to accept that 'it is turtles all the way down' (the answer to the question 'what does the turtle that the elephant that holds up the disc-world rest on!). What primary school children call 'making stuff up'.

The question of how/why bronze becomes a statue, or wood a piece of furniture, is easily answered with reference to will and intention in consciousness. It is not the wood and bronze that will the becoming of statuary or furniture. Though some artistic geniuses might 'see' an 'Adonis' in a particular chunk of marble, or a boat builder might find that an Oak tree branch 'suggests' the shape and form of a 'Long Ship'. No, it is the will of the sculptor and furniture builder that are acting on the bronze, wood, or marble, and not the marble, wood, or bronze, willing its own becoming of such forms.

So while I easily entertain the idea that change is endemic and innate to the primerty itself, that interaction is automatic, as a quality of the nature of the primerty, other philosophers have turned their own thoughts to cats, so to speak, adding completely unnecessary complexity due to their unwillingness to give up their coveted, prestigious, position as 'the only sentience in the universe', and their desire to pretend to an exceptional position, with all the exceptional entitlements they imagine belong to such an exceptional position, and then were faced with the prospect of 'wrangling' them, so to speak, which results in the question begging to know 'WHY change?'. Why interaction? Why process? Why activity? What COMPELS primerties to interact, to produce the entire complexity we are familiar with? What 'strong force' compels this?

When the same forces of attraction and repulsion present in the valence electron 'shell' of atoms that produce electricity, and our electric universe, and all chemical interactions, and every biological process we have yet discovered, might just be accepted as the 'motivation' for all behavior, from electrical, to mineral, to biological, to animal, to the human animal itself.

Paraphrasing Schopenhauer, to simplify my understanding of his writing, or to be more precise perhaps, to define what I personally gleaned from his writing, all reality is the 'representation' of our collective wills. The cumulative resultant of our individual wills, when summed, in our interactions. Then institutionalized in our institutions. Legal, social, and economic.

With an original will present in all primerties to interact. To seek 'experience'. With the world as an 'experience engine' being the natural result. A world of constant change. As change is the pre-requisite, by definition, of experience per se. And with 'conflict' being endemic, due to each primerty, and each collection of primerties integrated into 'subjects' and 'objects' having its own will. And willing often the same thing. So as to often be in competition for the same thing. And to face other 'subjects' and 'objects' with their own wills, which are often inconsistent with the others wills. And so providing the 'conflict' that, if it didn't emerge automatically, would need to be ADDED by the will, like any script or novel writer adds conflict, by necessity, to most screenplays and plots, in order to generate experiences that are 'dramatic' and 'exciting' and 'thrilling' and 'satisfying' and 'rewarding'. If conflict is not endemic, it would be the logical decision / will of any consciousness seeking such 'experiences' to artificially, deliberately, WILL it into being. To GENERATE it. To orchestrate and script it. To add it to the mix.

Of course our world seems saturated with conflict, and those not Nietzschean, or sado-masochistic, by nature, tend to seek RELIEF from that conflict, in some 'heaven' where 'nothing really happens'. A heaven that would soon become a hell for any nature that desires 'action' and 'drama' and 'experience'. But a true heaven for those who wish to escape from all conflict.

Which raises the question of 'are all souls alike'? Do souls have, and/or accumulate / develop / evolve discrete 'personalities' which endure from incarnation to incarnation? And hopefully even EVOLVE. Raise the 'tone' of their wills? The ethical tone. With the metaphor of 'raising our ethical pitch / frequency' corresponding to our 'resonating' at different frequencies / bandwidths and thus 'tuning into' and/or 'rendering' different KINDS of realities.

Or is this world merely the representation of a common will which endures. The question is key. Because if souls cannot evolve, we are doomed to the cycles of this plane-ets history of slavery, violence, cruelty, oppression, and viciousness, these being the representation of an unchanging will. In which case Buddha and Schopenhauer would be right to reject life per se. And those seeking a heaven even where 'nothing ever happens' would be on the same path. For when they find that heaven a mere lie told to them to get them to submit to some cult authority, they would logically come to reject all life, per se, like Buddha and Schopenhauer. But if this is just one of many possible worlds, and merely the representation of UNEVOLVED and UNREFORMED willing, of wills that have not yet learned the karmic, universal law 'For as you will and thus do unto others, so shall be done unto you', then all we need do to escape it, to planes without so much conflict, or with conflict that takes more creative and constructive forms, is to REFORM OUR OWN WILL. To 'go Vegan', to put it in a concrete form free of any mysticism or obfuscation.

When philosophers looked around at the big wide world, outside of the luxurious palaces of the nobility where many like Plato were born to (yes no surprises that the man who exposed/invented 'The Noble Lie', the latest incarnation of which is 'The Co2vid Cult', to deceive 'the Plebs' into submitting to HIS will, was nobility. His 'Noble Lie' earned him a prime spot in the Vatican among the other 'Sainted' personages the pidgeons now make their 'votive offerings' too!), they had to admit that bad things were more numerous than good things, and base things more numerous than beautiful things. Another puzzle. For if you posited some creator, that was omnipotent, and beneficent, and good, and nice, and cuddly, and worthy of our love, not just FEAR, then how to explain his shoddy workmanship? Was it malice or incompetence? Surely the product of 'the good' would be good? So they posited 'the bad', today known as 'the devil' who was d evil cause of all bad things. Nice way to 'get the good creator god off the hook'. But then clearly while he might then be 'good', he was not omnipotent. He needed OUR help, to fight d evil.

Of course 'free wills' can choose different responses to the experience of evil as the victim, right? They can choose to learn that it sucks, to suffer. And thus learn empathy for all victims, of all injustice, everywhere. Or they can just grow bitter and malicious, and seek to make everyone else at least as miserable as themselves, and preferably more so, so they can feel 'fortunate' and thus 'happy' by comparison. They can take the model of the world to justify / legitimate / excuse their own ruthless cruelty and abuse of any power they are born with, or they happen to gain, over any other sentient being, by claiming 'this is just the way of the world'. The ONLY way. In fact the way GOD clearly WANTS them to behave. Why else would he have put them in such a world, if not to 'show them the way' as 'guide' and 'role model' for their own willing and action? Thus they can claim their own ruthless, brutal, cruelty as 'god ordained', because, clearly, 'GOD WILLS IT', in this 'the best of all possible worlds'. And if this is the best of all possible worlds, who are they, mere mortals, to challenge the clear 'Modus Operandi' of it? No, such people choose to 'learn' that 'I'd rather be a hammer than a nail'. Even as the Philosophers seemed to agree that 'It is better to be harmed than to harm'.

So why do a rare few truly noble souls 'learn' a very different 'lesson'? The lesson of empathy for the suffering of ALL sentient beings. First sympathy for their OWN suffering. SELF-PITY. Then expanding their sphere of empathy to perhaps their closest friends, family, and so on. Then outwards to 'people they like'. Why do they like them? Well usually because they are LIKE themselves. And so they Identify with them, and their suffering. As if it were their own. Or could easily become their own. Because if it could happen to them, who are so like themselves, then couldn't it just as easily happen to themselves? And soon they start feeling good-will and empathy towards a lot of people. And this becomes habit. So that sooner or later they identify with the suffering of ALL sentient beings, and choose to NOT contribute to it, and even to attempt to RELIEVE it. Even at the cost of personal sacrifices and risks. Because it has become THEIR WILL. And their actions reflect their will. REPRESENT their will. If they are people of INTEGRITY. Who cannot stand to be hypocritical. To be inconsistent. Incoherent. Internally contradictory and thus at conflict with themselves. With all the neuroses and psychosomatic symptoms, and real illness and disease, from mental to more prosaic physical, that are the EXPRESSION of those internal contradictions. The REPRESENTATION of those conflicting wills. HARMONY can only be achieved when we are 'of one piece'. When we cease warring with ourselves. Internally. Expressed externally in all the things we call 'illness' and 'sickness' and 'stress' and 'frustration' and 'anger' and 'rage' and 'greed' and 'envy' and 'malice' and 'the war of all against all' where 'man is wolf to man' and thus will 'wage war by deception', deception being the 'equalizer the' between physically strong and the weak, and the ultimate weapon.

Yes, so in a world that is the representation, the physical manifestation, of our collective wills, most will continue to will the abuse of power over other sentient beings to ruthlessly and heartlessly exploit them. A few will feel 'guilty' but seek to simply REPRESS this guilt, and 'turn a blind eye' to the consequences of their own choices. They will pay others to whip the slaves, capture and deceive the slaves, imprison the dissidents,

'factory farm' and slaughter the animals, and so on. Saying to themselves that 'I am good because I wish I could have everything I wanted without THEM suffering' and maybe once in a while 'feeling bad' just to show how 'good a person I am'. With zero intention of ever changing their own lifestyle in the slightest, in order to RELIEVE the VICTIMS of their own choices, OF the suffering they endure directly and indirectly AS A RESULT OF THEIR CHOICES.

The person choosing the path of least resistance for themselves, with the most immediate and intense satisfactions and gratifications, NOT MATTER WHAT PRICE OTHER SENTIENT BEINGS MUST PAY, will quickly find allies and 'like thinkers' and 'collaborators' who will each make excuses and find justifications and legitimations for their ruthless, heartless, cruelty. In the end they might all masturbatorily massage their own consciences by claiming 'it is a NECESSARY evil'. Thus, in their own minds, admitting the EVIL, but then negating it as 'necessary', and thus imagining they have 'taken their own heads out of the noose'. That they have found a 'legal loophole'. As if the universal law of Karma allowed such 'loopholes'. The kind found in Cult of Judah type 'LAW'. Where it is O.K to steal from someone AS LONG AS THEY ARE NOT 'JEWS'. And so on.

Then a few people choose the path that naturally leads to willing and adopting a VEGAN lifestyle. One where benefits and pleasures and satisfactions are enjoyed guilt-free. Because no other sentient being has willfully and deliberately and consciously, and routinely and bureaucratically impersonally been FORCED to suffer VIOLENCE and pain, and misery and slavery, in order to produce that 'good'. Where the good benefit is not at an unfair, unrewarded, bad cost to another sentient being. Where one or more sentient being was not TRICKED or FORCED into suffering for another. Whether or not it was a transparent 'transaction' where one person raped another, or stole from another, or an obtuse and mystified one, where one group of people TRICKED and DECEIVED another, often much larger, seemingly more powerful group, into giving their consent, or at least SUBMITTING TO, a contract, written or tacit, which, had they been completely INFORMED about, they would not only have not signed / agreed to / complied with, they would have rallied every ounce of courage and resource to RESIST and DEFY.

Anaxagoras comes closest to the pure philosophy found in TROONATNOOR and ZEN animism, when he posits MIND as the 'cause' of all things. Corresponding to Schopenhauer's 'The world as will and representation', which I hope I am not misrepresenting when I paraphrase him to mean 'the world as the representation of our will. Certainly Henry Miller would concur. And the most ruthless logic would expose WE OURSELVES as the 'cause' of at least a significant part of our own suffering and 'bad fortune', especially given the ease with which we could ALLOW any 'fellow sufferer' to ESCAPE this suffering, and thus gain RELIEF FROM it, via euthanasia. Which remains a CRIME in most supposed 'civilized' nations. So that 'civilisation' is seen, from the very beginning, to correspond to SLAVERY. Where a noble, legally the 'owner' of their 'self', is free to 'dispose of their property' as they see fit. And thus no sanction was placed upon the noble who killed themselves, nor upon their family. Nor was any placed, for the most part, upon the noble, the owner of the slave, who decided to destroy their property, and kill that slave. While the slave, the legal property of their master, did not own their 'self', and the attempt at emancipating themselves via 'running off the plantation' was defined, legally, as 'attempted theft', and attempted suicide was punished as a PROPERTY CRIME.

And where free and easy access to euthanasia would prevent anyone having the endure a life worth living, we could prevent even the need for such RELIEF, via a positive, (racial-ideologically free) Eugenics, through which we would prevent most people from inheriting a 'life not worth living' in the first place. Along with abolition of other forms of unjust, unfair, 'inheritances', of financial, cultural, and social INEQUALITY from the moment of birth. We could do our best to ensure all lives WERE worth living. And where we had to admit defeat, we could help those who sought relief from a life not worth living, gain that relief. In the expectation they would soon be newborn into lives which we were actively seeking to ensure WOULD be worth living.

For Leucippus and Democritus, what is, is differentiated only by rhythm (shape), touching (order), and turning (position) of the primerty AND 'the full' and 'the empty'. Which anyone familiar with 'electricity' would identify as the differing magnitudes of electrons which produce the potential for current, and thus the useful forms of electricity most of our modern devices work with. The DC battery is the simplest example of 'full' and 'empty'. While it is the relative 'fullness' and 'emptiness' that produce electrical potential (Voltage) in general, rather than any absolute 'emptiness' and 'fullness'. Given the few fragments we have to work with, I would expect that the original understandings of Democritus and Leucippus would have preempted that much over-rated 'genius' Einstein by a few thousand years, and expressed themselves in more precise terms of 'relative' emptiness and fullness.

In my words these three qualities describe the way the primerty is interacting with other exactly uniform primerties. So that they exhibit different (necessarily latent) properties depending on their quantity (where quantity itself often changes quality), and their 'arrangement'.

In the same way that arranging rocks in order of height from short to tall, will give you a sloping ramp you might walk up to ascend. While arranging them from tall to short, would present you with a barrier – obstacle –wall you might never manage to scale, and which might imprison you, or at least block any 'ascension'.

Deus ex machina?

Aristotle is probably alluding to the dramaturgical / theatrical device of the 'God from the machine' often brought out on a crane above the performance stage to indicate the end of the performance.

Pythagoras

How much did Pythagoras learn from the Indian mathematicians? Today many scholars believe India was the birthplace of the most important musical 'scales', and that these were adopted by ancient Greeks.

Pythagoras ended as all true prophets, badly. This vegetarian by choice was, in some accounts, savagely beaten to death by a mob. Centuries before the Biblical Jesus was nailed to a cross by a mob, using the Roman legal system to 'wash their hands clean of their crime'.

Tradition has it that he was born on the island of Samos in the eastern Aegean around 570 BCE, to a gem-cutter or engraver. Hmm. Not quite carpenter, but still 'blue collar'. He had the chance to learn much during his travels in Egypt and Babylonia, after fleeing Samos around 530 to escape the rule of the tyrant Polycrates. (Sadly today it seems there is no escaping the Co2vid Cult as every nation appears more or less effectively 'occupied' by The Cult of Judah'.

Pythagoras finally settled in southern Italy, in Croton, where he became an influential figure, founding an exclusive vegetarian community with strong religious, philosophical, and political foundations.

Like the good vegan monks on the White Sea, this community could not be tolerated by the wider world, which could not bear to see people exposing the lie of 'This is the best of all possible worlds and my own crimes are NECESSARY evils', simply by exposing that their crimes are NOT necessary, and BETTER ways to be exist, and can be explored, if only you are willing to REFORM your own will!

So the Pythagoreans were attacked and driven out of Croton and elsewhere in Italy, and many killed. Different traditions have Pythagoras starving himself to death in a temple, or being savagely beaten to death by a mob. Either way, the enemies of his commune were responsible for his death.

As with other 'mythical' figures like Orpheus, Socrates, Jesus, Lao Tzu, Buddha, Zarathustra, Jain, we can claim to 'know' very little about him. We have only traditions to go on. We do not have any works written by him. We only know of his reputation. And the view ASCRIBED to him by others. Claiming to be his followers and to 'represent' him.

It boggles my mind that Pythagoras is often credited with the theory of 'the transmigration of souls'. What would be fairer to say, might be that he made that concept more widely known among the ancient Greeks. For Orpheus clearly refers to new incarnation, and the Orphic rites celebrate death as an escape from the suffering of this world, and the start of what they would consider their TRUE lives, somewhere far from this hell. And Eastern religions have had this as a core assumption for all their recorded history. A history that goes far back beyond that of ancient Greece.

Some 'followers' focused on him mathematics, music, and astronomical applications, showing no interest in his philosophy, while others focused on his vegetarian philosophy, and the spiritual / ethical teachings associated with him and ascribed to him. Fewer people are interested in 'The proper way to live' than are interested in exploiting knowledge for wealth and power.

In any case, maths was still key to his deeper teachings, in which the 'harmonious arrangement' (in ancient Greek 'Kosmos') of the world was based on number. An idea taken up by Tesla and further developed. While my own 'speaker cone analogy' is an evolution of the same ideas.

The tetractys

The tetractys, 10, is the sum of the first four numbers, 1+2+3+4. The kosmos is organized according to harmonia, a system of three concords, the fourth, the fifth, and the octave. Written as ratios, these harmonious proportions are 1:4, 3:2,and 2:1.

LEUCIPPUS AND DEMOCRITUS: FIFTH-CENTURY ATOMISM

Almost nothing is known about Leucippus, who proposed the main ideas of atomism around 430BCE. Epicurus even claims he never existed. Different traditions hold that Leucippus was born in Miletus, Abdera (the home town of both Democritus and Protagoras in Thrace), and Elea, around 460BCE. Two books are attributed to Leucippus, 'On Mind', and 'The Great World System' (Makrokosmos). He is said to have lived around 100 years, which would make him a contemporary of Socrates and Plato. He travelled widely, including according to some, as far as India.

Democritus is credited with around seventy f books on a wide range of subjects, from the esoteric to the the popular, including books on his travels, medical treatises, books on farming methods, military science, and painting. However only a few fragments of his life's work have been discovered (or at least published).

Aristotle's own ideas challenged what he saw as the mechanistic theory of Atomism, and most of what we can claim to 'know' about Atomism comes from Aristotle's' own writings on the topic, which may thus be biased. I can only guess how a Cult of Judah agent would describe my ideas to future generations, if at all.

The term 'Atomism' derives from the ancient Greek 'Atomos' meaning 'uncuttable'.

Today we use the term 'Atom' to describe the smallest division you can divide a substance into at which it is still identifiable as the substance we began with. So that a gold bar can be divided into gold atoms. But once you start dividing the atom, you just have electrons, neutrons, and protons.

The Atomist's concept of atoms is thus NOT the same thing. Their atoms are uniform, not subject to coming-to-be or passing-away, unchangeable, and not visible to the human eye. So they are NOT what we today refer to as atoms. They would be whatever electrons, neutrons, and protons, are themselves constituted of. The smallest unit of energy-matter-consciousness. My 'primerty'.

Atomists refer to 'the nothing' and 'what is not', as the 'space' which atoms interact within. Here they depart from my 'speaker cone analogy' which can allow for all of reality to be one 'monad', resonating-vibrating-oscillating at higher frequencies, as it completes lower frequency oscillations / cycles.

As with my own theory, and primerty, the mixing together and separating of the different types of atoms (primerties not modern atoms) into different constellations, mixtures, and proportions, produces all the apparent complexity and diversity of our perceived reality. What looks like coming-to-be and passing-away, creation and destruction, birth and death, is merely the integration, then dis-integration, of the primerties, and the compounds it is temporarily arranged as.

Simplicius quoted some passages of works by Aristotle which have not survived, or at least made public, which refer to Leucippus. He quotes: ‘ the differences are three: shape, arrangement, and position. For they say that what-is differs only in “rhythm,” “touching,” and “turning”—and of these “rhythm” is shape, “touching” is arrangement, and “turning” is position. For A differs from N in shape, AN from NA in arrangement, and Z from N in position. Concerning the origin and manner of motion in existing things, these men too, like the rest, lazily neglected to give an account. (Aristotle, Metaphysics 1.4 985b4–20) 4. (67A9).

So like me, he credits all ‘diversity’ a.k.a ‘differences’ to the arrangement of the primerties. Aristotle complains they don’t explain what force leads them to interact in the first place, and take on different arrangements.

Democritus’ ousiai seems to equate to my ‘primerty’

Democritus and Leucippus base their account of alteration and coming-to-be on them: coming-to-be and perishing by means of separation and combination, alteration by means of arrangement and position. Since they held that the truth is in the appearance, and appearances are opposite and infinite, they made the shapes infinite, so that by reason of changes of the composite, the same thing seems opposite to different people, and it shifts position when a small additional amount is mixed in, and it appears completely different when a single thing shifts position. For tragedy and comedy come to be out of the same letters. (Aristotle, On Generation and Corruption 1.1 315b6–15) 5. (68A37) Democritus believes that the nature of the eternal things is small substances (ousiai)39 infinite in number. As a place for these he hypothesizes something else, infinite in size, and he calls their place by the names “the void,” “not-hing” (ouden) and “the unlimited” [or, “infinite”] and he calls each of the substances “hing” (den) and “the compact” and “what-is.” He holds that the substances are so small that they escape our senses. They have all kinds of forms and shapes and differences in size. Out of these as elements he generates and 39. Translator’s note: Ousia, “substance,” is a noun derived from the verb einai, “to be.” There is a connection in language and meaning between ousia and on.

As they move they strike against one another and become entangled in a way that makes them be in contact and close to one another but does not make any thing out of them that is truly one, for it is quite foolish that two or more things could ever come to be one. They cling to each other and stay together until some stronger necessity comes along from the environment and shakes them and scatters them apart. He describes the generation and its contrary, separation, not only for animals but also for plants, kosmoi, and altogether for all perceptible bodies. (Aristotle, On Democritus, quoted by Simplicius, Commentary on Aristotle’s On the Heavens 295.1–22) 6. (67A8, 68A38) Leucippus.

If you read my TROONATNOOR guide to Electricity, you will find that nothing in this approach contradicts ‘The Official Narrative’ of Electricity, atoms, and basic chemistry. Objects never ‘touch’ as such. Electrons are even today both held in place, and displaced, by ‘strong forces’ and Electro-Magnetic Forces. Electro-Chemical bonds are stronger and weaker, but all can be ‘broken’ and dis-integrated back down into their basic constituents, given enough of that ‘stuff’ we refer to as ‘energy’ or ‘force’.

The cause of all ‘difference’ are three: shape, arrangement, and position. For they say that what-is differs only in “rhythm,” “touching,” and “turning”—and of these “rhythm” is shape, “touching” is arrangement, and “turning” is position. For A differs from N in shape, AN from NA in arrangement, and Z from N in position. Concerning the origin and manner of motion in existing things, these men too, like the rest, lazily neglected to give an account. (Aristotle, Metaphysics 1.4 985b4–20) 4. (67A9) After establishing the shapes, Democritus and Leucippus base their account of alteration and coming-to-be on them: coming-to-be and perishing by means of separation and combination, alteration by means of arrangement and position. Since they held that the truth is in the appearance, and appearances are opposite and infinite, they made the shapes infinite, so that by reason of changes of the composite, the same thing seems opposite to different people, and it shifts position when a small additional amount is mixed in, and it appears completely different when a single thing shifts position. For tragedy and comedy come to be out of the same letters. (Aristotle, On Generation and Corruption 1.1 315b6–15) 5. (68A37) Democritus believes that the nature of the eternal things is small substances (ousiai)39 infinite in number. As a place for these he hypothesizes something else, infinite in size, and he calls their place by the names "the void," "not-hing" (ouden) and "the unlimited" [or, "infinite"] and he calls each of the substances "hing" (den) and "the compact" and "what-is." He holds that the substances are so small that they escape our senses. They have all kinds of forms and shapes and differences in size. Out of these as elements he generates and 39. Translator's note: Ousia, "substance," is a noun derived from the verb einai, "to be." There is a connection in language and meaning between ousia and on.

(67A7) When Democritus said that the atoms are in contact with each other, he did not mean contact, strictly speaking, which occurs when the surfaces of the things in contact fit perfectly with one another, but the condition in which the atoms are near one another and not far.

The totality of body is continuous, according to Democritus and Leucippus. This corresponds to my 'speaker cone analogy' model of a monadic universe formed of a single whole with no need for 'void' to operate in.

Some things are seen to contract and be compressed; for example, they say that the jars hold the wine along with the wineskins, since the compressed body contracts into the empty places that are in it. (Aristotle, Physics 4.6 213a27–b22)

(68A47) Democritus says there can be an atom the size of a kosmos. (Aetius 1.12.6) This corresponds with my 'speaker cone analogy'.

(68A47) Democritus holds that there is one kind of motion, that due to pulsation. (Aetius 1.23.3) This is the term I use instead of 'frequency' and 'wave', and corresponds to Tesla's vision of TROONATNOOR as being reducible to 'frequency' (of pulsations) and number, like the Pythagoreans. And this corresponds with my 'speaker cone analogy' also.

(68A66) Democritus leaves aside purpose but refers all things which nature employs to necessity. (Aristotle, Generation of Animals 5.8 789b2–4). The subtle distinction between this and functionalism should become clear once you have studied and understood my TROONATNOOR guides.

Note that people unwilling to accept their own responsibility for this world as it is, want to claim that the suffering of less intelligent humans (assumed to be less intelligent, otherwise how would they have become enslaved?), and other sentient beings, is not as great as that of themselves. This is just a mild addition to the GREAT LIE that anyone is ENTITLED to treat other sentient beings as mere means to their own needs, because the universe, anthropomorphized as some 'God', has granted them the temporary inequality of power that makes this possible. Power in all its form. Physical, mental, intellectual, educational, technological, socio-historical. And combination that provides one group power over another. And any individual power over another. This is perhaps the ORIGINAL SIN. Self-deception. To deceive the self. To pretend innocence. To DENY accountability, that you WILL be held accountable. This promotes selfish, greedy, behavior. For if a person feels they are ENTITLED to exceptional exemptions, and that they will escape free from any personal cost for their actions, they will do as suits them, no matter the cost their actions impose on others. And when they find their world has turned to shit, they can blame SOMEONE ELSE, as they have wiped all sense of PERSONAL RESPONSIBILITY FOR THE STATE OF THE WORLD from their minds. THEY are not to blame. THEY ARE FREE OF ANY ACCOUNTABILITY. So it must be SOMEONE ELSE that is to blame!

In fact pain and pleasure, like the primerty, and its inherent 'interaction' as an innate property, requiring no explanation for 'why do the primerties interact, making integration into more complex, temporary, wholes, possible', are the ONLY ABSOLUTES. A trinity of primerty (matter-energy-consciousness) and pain and pleasure. Of course the ULTIMATE question is the location / locus of pleasure and pain. Pain as negative feedback is simple to define. Pleasure as positive feedback would assume some 'purpose'. But WHAT is pleasure itself? WHERE is it experienced? Why need 'bodies' at all? When we could just exist as 'pleasure centers'? See TROONATNOOR for in depth analyses that might provide insights into that riddle!

My TROONATNOOR approach, like that of the Atomists, requires only a primerty to exist, energy-matter-consciousness, and for MOTIVE. The Eastern notion of LILA or 'Play' springs to mind as the motive. The primerty has a playful nature. Innate to it. Time never applies to the primerty other than a means for transformation of the COMPOUNDS the primerty integrates into, then disintegrates out of, back to its less compound states, and ultimately to its PERMANENT state of primerty, when isolated, not combined.

But the simple innate desire for ADDITION (which once initiated, allows for subtraction) can account for the interactions and outcomes, and 'flux' of a reality composed of primerties. Built from, and by, primerties. And constantly dis-integrating back into primerties. Too simple to consider a Nobel prize for. Too concrete. No need to 'make stuff up' every time someone finds a flaw in the 'model', to 'patch up' that THEORETICAL model.

DIFFERENCE is merely a question of QUANTITY AND ARRANGEMENT of sameness. The primerties are all THE SAME. But the moment they SUM to for greater wholes, we have an infinite potential for DIFFERENCE. As infinite as the NUMBER SYSTEM itself. We see this clearly in the table of elements, with their atomic numbers.

Simply adding one more primerty produces DIFFERENCE. Something NEW. QUANTITY CHANGES QUALITY.

In the same way that quantity of money changes the quality of the person. Give everyone enough to meet their needs, and to invest in education, and training, and research, and offer them just enough 'bonus' for 'extra' effort, sacrifice, and risk, to justify that effort, sacrifice, and risk, and reward success JUST ENOUGH to motivate others to devote the effort, sacrifice, and risk, when they see an opportunity to do so, and money becomes the source of all good. Allow people to accumulate excess money, and get it in ways that are not socially valuable and productive and creative, but rather destructive and corruptive, and money becomes a source of evil. Let people keep 'windfalls' they have NOT earned via their OWN effort, sacrifice, and risk, and most effort will be directed at such activities, that of seeking WINDFALLS, rather than productive effort, sacrifice, risk, and research. If finding a way to manipulate the financial system is REWARDED, even when it DESTROYS value and DESTROYS lives and DESTROYS communities, then too many people will be attracted to such behavior, simply as a way to accumulate EXCESS money, entitlement, and exceptional privileges. Money really is like horse manure. Spread it around, it does a lot of good. Let it pile up in one place, and you have a problem. Huston, WE have a problem. With a system that rewards people PERSONALLY, WITH HUNDREDS OF MILLIONS OF DOLLARS FOR DELIBERATELY DESTROYING TRILLIONS OF DOLLARS IN VALUE. We have a system that lets people 'ensure' someone else's harvest against fire, and then set fire to it, to collect on the insurance. And to do this on an INTERNATIONAL SCALE. It is called 'The Derivative markets'.

We have a financial system that lets people 'ensure' someone ELSE'S harvest against fire, and then set fire to it, to collect on that insurance. And to do this on an INTERNATIONAL SCALE. It is called 'THE DERIVATES MARKET'. Responsible for the transfer of 5 TRILLION dollars from the poor to the rich, in 2008 alone. Obama then gave the 300 Million dollar winner a job 'Regulating' the industry, allowing him to avoid over 30 million in taxes!
(see movie posted on my Telegram TROONATNOOR channel)

Oh, and if you didn't realise, the Jewish property investor who bought the World Trade Center buildings leases, then insured the buildings for double their real value, just a few days later gave the order to 'pull' Building Seven, in a controlled demolition that MUST have taken MONTHS to set up. An action that was RECORDED LIVE AND BROADCAST TO THE ENTIRE WORLD, 911 was a controlled demolition. Carried out by the company of that name inexplicably turning up IMMEDIATELY to begin clearing all the EVIDENCE OF THE WORLD'S LARGEST CRIMES SCENE, and shipping it to CHINA! Conspiracy much?

I literally uttered 'Ferkel me, jerkel me, when I stumbled upon this paraphrasing of my own 'reflexivity'

Apparently my conclusions correspond closely with what is termed 'Structuralism' by mainstream academia. Structuralism refers to a system in which to be is to be different from something else. A pure system of relations. Nothing is in itself; it is only in relation to something else. Although I don't see any need to go so far. The primerty is a thing in itself. Only when itself, it has no referent. And any qualities it might possess are 'unknown' to any other subject but itself. It requires 'other' subjects, to have any real 'experience' of anything. To generate 'meanings'. And thus have 'meaningful experiences. Games. Fun. Adventures. And beings similar to itself, capable of reacting and empathizing with its experiences. Consider the human need to share experiences. To talk to others. Such a fundamental need that people are willing to pay large sums of money to 'psychiatrists' and other 'counselors' really just to have someone to at least pretend to listen to them. With 'listening', even if pretended, is considered such a valuable commodity, and desired trait in friends and romantic partners.

I say meaning is the relation between things. Thus it is reflexive. This is apparently a 'Derridean' concept, referred to as 'différance', and the idea of subjects and objects is considered arbitrary and merely relative to other subjects and objects. My TROONATNOOR explanation, as usual, is clear and simple. With no need to hide an actual lack of authentic 'grokking' with slippery, obfuscative, language.

Apparently the philosophical world considers that in reflexive world there can be no true predication. I don't see what the problem is that they have. For if qualities emerge, as I say, out of the interaction, and Vis a Vis each other, reflexive of each other, while they cease being predicates / qualities of the actors, the qualities are predicated still exist HOLISTICALLY, and are simply depending upon the relationships BETWEEN the subjects and objects, rather than being properties of the actors themselves. So that while there is no 'grandfather' without 'grand-daughter', both exist if both exist, or at least did exist, at some point, for this relationship to have been established.

So the term 'mother' is meaningless without some example of a 'child' having existed. But once that relationship has existed, a person can aspire to be a mother, to a child. Even yearn to become a mother. And the 'first relationship' that generates the meaning 'mother' can emerge simply from IMAGINGING the idea of 'child', in relation to 'mother'. So the 'existence' of the relationship can be completely mental / imagined. So that any infant or young person that enters into the imagined relationship with a female adult, can become a 'child' and thus allow that adult to become a 'mother'. But I normally wouldn't bother expanding upon the simple idea of reflexivity I have offered in TROONATNOOR. Everything gains its meaning in relation to everything else. At least *some*thing else. While pleasure and pain are ABSOLUTES in themselves. And boredom, being a form of discomfort, and unpleasant, and thus a species of 'pain', could itself be the 'motivation' for constructing the experience engines we call REALITY.

So I wouldn't go as far as the 'structuralist' idea, where nothing is in itself. For each individual is themselves. But it's simply not satisfying and rewarding to be alone. So I posit that the one awareness multiplies itself by division, like a hard disc portioning itself, and setting up illusory 'otherness', to 'play' with. See my TROONATNOOR guides and videos for details.

The idea of 'advantage' for me is simply gaining and securing pleasure, and avoiding, and gaining relief from, pain. Where pain is feedback that 'something is wrong'. The pain of 'loss' of a source of pleasure. Or of despair at ever getting access to pleasure, and relief from pain. But if the world is our own production, this is all game stuff. Only if we have become totally immersed in this 'game', we don't just get a more dramatic experience, we can take it very 'seriously' and lose sight that it IS a game. Which can alienate us from being able to enjoy it as such. It can 'ruin' the game. By defeating the point of it. Undermining the spirit of it. That of 'Lila'. 'Playfull*ness*'.

I've described elsewhere how Plato idealises predicates as actual subjects, in his 'ideal / perfect forms, of which all the earthly representations are mere imperfect copies'. Plato wants there to be a 'Large' in terms of a noun. A thing with the pronoun 'Large'. So that anything that is 'large' on earth, is large only by sharing in some degree of the 'large-ness' of that 'large' thing. The perform form of 'large', of which all largeness is a mere imitation. It seems imperative to his entire philosophical enterprise. He simply ASSERTS this, while pretending to 'explain' this. His system requires that this be the case. That, for example, there is a thing we would give the personal pronoun 'Beauty', which all 'beautiful things' merely attempt to imitate, or which share some of the qualities this 'Beauty' has. But he won't accept the idea of a thing we would give the personal pronoun 'Steaming Dog Turd', in which all the steaming dog turds we might encounter on earth merely 'have a share in' in some way, being but poor imitations of THE perfect FORM of 'Steaming Dog Turd'.

Plato's cast of characters

Socrates was literally put to death by Democracy. Literally. One of the 3 judges who presided over the trial in which democratic Athenians sentenced Socrates to death, was actually even called 'Democritus'. Another, Anytus, was a prominent pro-Democracy politician. Of course today no-one is pro-democracy. The informed have rejected democracy as too easily 'co-opted' by tyrants, and at best, anyway, a tyranny of the majority, and in many ways inferior to the tyranny of a King or Junta, given that the majority are mostly fools. In any case those fools are easily lead to give power to a junta, or dictator. So it's the same thing, democracy and tyranny. So the best have become totally skeptical and cynical, resorting to anarchy. While the worst have become Cult of Judah straw-man 'communists'/'socialists'.

The correspondence to the Nuremberg show trials are many. The chief prosecutor was 'Jewish'. Many 'Jews' 'enlisted' after the cessation of hostilities simply to participate in this show trial. As torturers. As prosecutors. As 'survivors', even though they lived out the entire war in Australia or America. And last time I looked no 'Official Holocaust Narrative' had been written that claimed Australia or America had been 'occupied' by the Nazi's.

I had not been aware that Socrates had been considered a 'Right Wing Sympathizer' with 'The Thirty Tyrants' who had taken over the government of Athens in 404 BCE. A democratic counter-revolution took place in 403, after only a few months in power.

In today's new-speak, Socrates would be defined as 'an extreme right-wing terrorist', by the Cult of Judah occupation government and full spectrum propaganda machine. And certainly he'd be 'detained indefinitely' and 'extraditioned' for 'advanced interrogation' (torture) at some 'Black site'. Or simply, like Brendon O'Connell, given 3 years in prison, where guards would be told to 'turn a blind eye' as he was severely beaten, and Doctors would be directed to 'ignore the broken bones'. At the very least.

Socrate's had been hated for a long time. That the 'wisest man on earth' was considered a 'Right-Wing Sympathiser' by his contemporaries surely can't hurt the reputation of Right Wing Sympathisers the world over, since 399 BCE, right? So it is NOT something even most university students will be informed about, in their 'official histories'.

Like Buddha, and Jesus, Socrates had one loyal friend. In Jesus' case it was Mary Magdalene. In Socrates' case it was Chaerephon. It is he, we are told, who made a pilgrimage to the Delphic oracle to ask whether there was anyone wiser than Socrates (Plato, Apology 20e–21a). He was exiled during the junta of the Thirty Tyrants (404–403 bce), returned to Athens after they had been driven out, and died in about 401BCE, thus being saved the pain of having to witness his hero's fate.

Daedalus is the legendary sculptor famous for the labyrinth in Knossos, the wings on which he and his son Icarus flew from Crete, and the statues described as so lifelike they could move.

Hera is the divine wife of Zeus, king of gods and men. Heracles is the legendary son of Zeus, famous for his 12' labours', who transcended his mortal nature to become a god.

Hesiod, circa 700 BCE, the second greatest epic poet of Greece, after homer, wrote a Theogony (geneology of the Gods) and repeats traditional accounts of them, like an ancient Greek Torah. His 'Works and Days' is full of practical and moral advice on daily life for the peasant farmer, a bit like my 'Planned Abudandance' holistic guide to permaculture. Which got rave 5 star reviews until my political enemies started trashing it.

Polycrates, a contemporary of Socrates, like today's 'Democrats', was an enemy of truth and justice, being the author of a pamphlet attacking Socrates on Political grounds, even when Socrates was not actively engaged in politics at any level.

Born on the island of Ceos, Prodicus was one of the most famous of the itinerant Sophists who spent time in Athens. Despite the fatuous self-delusions of theists, he was both an atheist and a moralist. His lasting fame came form his work on the first Greek dictionary, especially his work on synonyms.

Protagoras, born in Abdera, northern Greece, is considered the first and greatest Sophist (c.490–c.420 BCE). He was an original thinker. A relativist, a humanist, a liberal political thinker, and an agnostic, but was most famous as a teacher of rhetoric.

Logos? Cosmos? Nomos?

Logos is another word for 'narrative' i.e explanation, description, explication, or simply 'word'. As in 'in the beginning was the story of god, which all god is, a character in a story!

Cosmos is another word for order.

Nomos is convention / law, as opposed to 'nature'. Consider this in the context of 'The Nomos' characters in the Nigerian narratives about visitors from the Sirius star system .

Zeus is KING of the gods! YHWH was so jealous he insisted on his followers ignoring all the other gods, which he refers to, and thus clearly, 'HIMSELF', admits exists. So that mono-theism, according to the Torah and Old Testament, is a religion that WORSHIPS just the one god. It doesn't claim there only IS just one god.

That is, of course, for those who actually READ the document they base their CULT SUBMISSION on!

MY OWN EARLIER IDEAS TO ADD TO NOTES

Every medium has a resonant frequency. It is the resonant frequency, in part, that defines it. But if two 'things' share a resonant frequency, such as a tuning fork, and a glass, what does this say about the role of frequency?

A change in quantity produces a change in quality. Where quality is no more than the way the mind RENDERS that quantity, and that CHANGE. Always remember that the whole is the sum of the parts, INCLUDING the actual SUMMING process / action. The summing is equivalent to a pressure pulse compressing the 'molecules' of a medium, such as air, or copper wire. Because it is the PRESSURE that forces molecules to FORM a new 'QUANTITY'. In the same way that it is VOLTAGE that 'accelerates' molecules from their 'ambient pressure' to a NEW velocity, with a direction (outwards but if meets resistance then along 'the path of least resistance', which can be a 'stream'. In the same way a wave travelling across a lake will 'ebb and surge' back and forth, unless it finds a 'path of less resistance than the lake edge' through which to continue, in which case it may form a ‘channel’, or ‘stream’. This is what we see in those famous wave-particle-duality experiments which so obfuscate matters that what should be simple, as I just explained it, it made into a paradox! That’s ‘Cult of Judah controlled science’ for you!

But here is the tricky bit. Water also 'flows' due to 'gravity', from 'high' to 'low' altitude (relative to the center of mass of the body it exists on). So does electricity really 'flow' also, in the same way? Where I am NOT referring to the copper molecules flowing anywhere, but rather to the PRESSURE PULSE continuing its path through the next least resisting path. Which could be any medium that is capable of compression and expansion. And which we call a potential 'conductor' of the pressure pulses.

The pressure pulses will compress the water, until its last 'expansion' at the 'shore', where it 'crashes' or 'laps against' the shore. Now the same pressure pulses will travel through the sand, and earth, and air. As 'vibrations' and 'sound' (using the FORMATS that our minds will RENDER them as, if these pressure pulses stimulate nerve endings in our skin (vibration) or are of the appropriate bandwidth 20 to 20,000 pulses per second (Hz) and amplitude to stimulate our ear-drums, and vibrate the liquid in our ears, which is 'transduced' and 'decoded' and sent to the brain 'hearing' centers to be processed, and decoded, and RENDERED as 'sound'. In the case of 'vibrations', we will feel a steady pulse or beat, for 'low frequency' pulses, and a tingling 'vibration' for 'higher frequency' pulses. Pulses that repeat seldom per second, and those that repeat often, per second, respectively.

So the confusion about 'waves of water' and electricity can be cleared up once we realise that the WATER is the MEDIUM, just as Copper wire, is the MEDIUM, and NOT the actual SOURCE of the pressure pulse itself. So water can flow. Like LIQUID melted copper will flow, when it TOO is in a liquid state. We should NOT confuse 'the flow of water molecules' with 'the flow of electricty'. For 'electricity' is the PRESSURE PULSE that is travelling through-via the medium of the coppy wire. And nothing more.

Now back to 'a change in quantity changes quality'. AMPERES refers to how 'much' or how 'many' copper molecules (or is it electrons? do they even exist? will need to 'grok' all that later) are present at any point in time, at any point along a copper wire. When dealing with water, we can literally see the water molecules 'pile up' and form 'peaks' and 'swells' and 'waves' on the surface. Because 'the path of least resistance' for water is upwards, into the air. Because 'air pressure' is usually lower than 'water pressure'. So if you compress water, it will move up into the atmosphere. And 'pile up' vertically. Analog to how we RENDER, in our graphical system, as a 'wave form', the change in Amplitude over time, of air pressure pulses our minds will RENDER as 'sound'.

Compressed air (in a nail gun) can shoot a nail at high velocity, and with great force. It can drive the pistons of a family car. Or shoot a 'bb' pellet at high velocity. It can, in the form of cyclonic force 'winds', knock down trees and buildings. These are all manifestations of 'air pressure'. What has happened in these cases is that the air has been compressed, and is now seeking to RELIEVE itself of the excess PRESSURE by 'expanding outwards via the path of least resistance'. If you deliberately reduce the possible 'relief valves' open to the air, you can focus that air pressure. To drive a piston. To shoot a BB pellet. To shoot a 'nail' into wood. Or to compress water which can then be focussed in the same way. Remember STEAM ENGINES simply heated water, to build up PRESSURE in a sealed tank, so that that pressure could be directed and focussed in a narrow 'path of least resistance' to HIT and FORCE other components 'out of the way'. Often 'explosively'. It was the invention of a way to CONTROL the pressure that made steam engines so useful. To monitor air pressure, and ensure it never got so high that the pressurized contained itself exploded. And to 'REGULATE' the pressure to useable, manageable LEVELS. So that the components 'down the line' were not pushed TOO hard or fast. To achieve a sustained and REGULATED and MANAGED level of continuous air pressure. STEAM pressure. Basically taking the energy from the FUEL used to HEAT the water, and transferring it into HEAT in the water, and then KINETIC force in the PRESSURE, as the water naturally EXPANDED.

This phenomena itself is noteworthy. Metal expands too, when heated. What is happening? Energy is being ADDED to the equation. There is no change in QUANTITY of the original molecules, and yet they 'take up more space'. Hmm. Something more to GROK later.

But if we consider AMPERES as 'quantity' and VOLTS as 'velocity-speed' then we can see where the PRESSURE comes from. The SAME quantity, simply propelled to move FASTER, will result in greater PRESSURE. Like throwing the same object, HARDER AND FASTER, at a target, will ensure it HITS with more FORCE. With greater PRESSURE. Having two people throw the same sort of ball at the same speed, so they hit the target at the same time, will double the FORCE of IMPACT. The PRESSURE. At that point in time, at that position. So you can increase either the Quantity or the Velocity, the AMPERES or the VOLTAGE, to increase the PRESSURE. The FORCE. The COMPRESSION that will manifest in the medium. The 'target' will be HIT with greater force and move backwards a greater distance, if free to move. Whether you throw the same one ball harder-faster. Or throw two similar balls at the same speed.

What might need to do to have any chance of motivating collaborators in my musical enterprise

To get real talent, or their manager, interested, can offer PART OR EVEN ALL of MY copyright songwriting royalties, as a limited rights SALE of the song so that they OWN ALL OR PART OF the songwriter royalties for ONE mix / master of that song...so they get to keep ALL the royalties from THEIR version / cover of it...so I get UPFRONT PAYMENT for THOSE limited rights...so I still own the song, but ALL OR HALF ETC royalties from THAT PARTICULAR VERSION / COVER / RELEASE / MIX / MASTER OF IT IS OWNED BY THE ARTIST-MANAGER ... idea is to get big name, or big budget recording artist - management-producer-label to record my songs...make them popular...I can then do own version, or any other band can do 'cover' of, in which case I get usual royalties...so way to monetize my songs while retaining copyright ownership as 'legacy' to bequeath animal rights vegan activist charity etc...or own foundation... Depending on artist, and their potential investment in it, and thus final sales, I can vary the deal...so if offered large amount, might be 100% of royalties for THAT version...can also include OPTION for further VERSIONS / COVERS to them to sweeten the deal...so we BOTH earn from ALL releases of that song which I wrote, and THEY made popular i.e by getting 'commercially viable' performers and production values and videos...

NOTE MUST BE VERY CLEAR WE ARE TALKING PERCENTAGE OF GROSS REVENUES BEFORE ANY TAXES, COSTS, ETC DEDUCTED TO AVOID 'CREATIVE ACCOUNTING' WHICH ALLOWS THEM TO 'PAY OWN COMPANIES' ETC AND UNFAIRLY PROFIT BEYOND THE AGREEMENT... N.B 'PROBLEM' OF MONEY LAUNDERING TOO...BUT I CAN'T CONTROL WHAT THEY DO... SO NEED TO PROTECT SELF BY GETTING FORMAL CONTRACT THAT MAKES

IT IMPOSSIBLE FOR THEM TO TAKE ADVANTAGE OF ME...SIMPLE, GROSS REVENUE CALCULATIONS...ALSO WITH RIGHT TO AUDIT, TO HAVE PROFESSIONAL AUDITORS AUDIT...AND IF THEY FIND DISCREPANCY, THEY PAY FOR THAT AUDIT, AND AN AUDIT OF ALL HISTORICAL TRANSACTIONS...SIMPLE WAY TO INCENTIVIZE THEM NOT TO PLAY GAMES...THE DEAL THEY STRIKE HAS TO BE ATTRACTIVE TO THEM, AS IT ACTUALLY IS...THE AGREEMENT THEY GIVE THEIR INFORMED CONSENT TO...WHICH I GIVE MY INFORMED CONSENT TO, ASSUMING NO OTHER 'TRICKS' ARE INTENDED BY THEM...NO INFORMATION IS WITHELD THAT MIGHT IMPACT MY DECISIONS ON ANY LEVEL...

Trailer ‘stage’ with light and sound rigging

Could design a truck trailer using a standard truck chassis, where either the walls ‘lower’ on at least one side (perhaps other wall has integrated LED panel etc), either folding out like a drawbridge, or fold away or are removed so a second floor can be ‘rolled out’ to form half/third of the stage…or have two wide body trailers that we park alongside each other, and join with a middle strip that either extends out from one or both sides, or we ‘roll out’ from end to end, to cover the gap, so we don’t need precision aligment…or could use long thick screws that we tighten to form a solid platform…in any case, the idea is that the stage can be driven around and set up very quickly, with just the crew who will manage the live performance i.e lights, sound, roadies…Could fix equipment to floor, so don’t even have to set up drums, mics, or anything…Just drive in, park, set down ‘stabilisers’, ‘roll out’ or ‘extend down’ the front half of the stage, and play the gig. In carparks, or in the middle of fields, almost anywhere. To make it possible to play commercially viable gigs for relatively small audiences, outdoors, or even using circus type tents…when show over, close up the rig, hook trailer back up to cab, and drive off, with crew in truck cabs. Drivers etc can sleep in cab as security overnight etc. Could have tour bus, and two trucks, and be set to play gigs almost anywhere. When band take days off, can send trucks ahead, as members do own thing, then hook up again at next gig.

Simple studio for Church Outreach (Or ‘business’ if local laws won’t recognise my Church)

The idea is to a room large enough to record an entire band, that is relatively sound proof or somewhere very quiet where I won't disturb anyone else, or be disturbed. Or a simple apartment with one or more ‘whisper rooms’ where most if not all instruments could be recorded. The facilities could be used for small group tutorials, and for the production of on-line audio-engineering teaching materials. Basic services could be offered for editing and mixing. Facilities for a-synchronous recording might prove popular. And outreach participants could collaborate in the same way, a-synchronously, over the net.

Soft furnishings like sofa-beds, and futons, and on-site bathroom and kitchen facilities could be used to offer ‘Recording B&B packages’. While when no-one else requires these facilities, they would serve as my own living quarters. Thus minimizing overheads. Making all the things I need to carry on my outreach work tax deductible and/or tax exempt. This is totally legitimate as the only reason I continue to endure this plane-et and my life on it is in order to carry out such ‘outreach’, which I have been doing unofficially almost my entire life, so that the only change is in getting it legally recognized and to benefit from the legal protections and benefits that other already recognized not-for-profits and religious organisations enjoy. This would allow me to seek sponsors and contributors to grow my outreach program from the simplest level I have carried it out, without any of the benefits of official recognition, to hopefully something more efficacious, with greater outreach.

Keep sound treatments on ceiling and walls, and floors easy to maintain hardwood or bare polished concrete. With moveable reflective-absorptive panels to define acoustic spaces. Most furniture on wheels for ease of changing of spaces. Simple and economical but functional equipment and microphone selection. Get in touch with people who rent out more expensive, boutique, gear, to do deals with them for artists using my facilities. Aim is to keep it simple. So don't have to worry so much about damage and theft by clients, or burglars. Keep a range of instruments on hand to cover the basic requirements, focusing on Harley Benton gear. Again with contacts to people renting out more expensive, prestigious, gear, so that clients can access these quickly and easily, and be personally responsible for damage to them.

Would need to take large deposits to cover any damages, to encourage responsible treatment. Clients or myself would be required to take photographs of gear 'before and after' to settle any disputes regarding responsibility for any 'excessive' damage or 'extreme' use.

Aim to set up mobile recording studios and live performance stages, for outreach programs. Seek sponsorship from vegan companies and charities and foundations which might like to assist our vegan education and ethics raising programs.

If room large enough, use folding doors to allow partitioning of louder instruments from quieter, during recording, with cameras and video monitoring to allow all players to retain 'visual' connection, without excess noise interference from drums and any other especially loud instruments, especially for singers in 'whisper room' 'vocal booths'.

Set up 'mobile' recording kit, so can record in publically accessible spaces without much set-up, to take advantage of local amphitheaters, tunnels, empty factories and warehouses, basements, car-parks, and so on.

Could offer (unrecognized) on-line Audio-Engineering courses with complete materials and small group tutorials on-line, and/or on-site, either for the duration, or as special 'blocks' as part of the on-line course, for those living nearby, or willing to travel. Can set up hostel-type facilities, or camping, or make arrangements with local hostels and camping sites.

As grows, could set up film and music programs, during vacations for students from around the world. Students would learn script, cinematography, and videography, along with professional sound recording and mixing, and song writing / composing. And possibly English, if that is what they want.

Elenchus Vs Eristic

Elenchus refers to the method so closely associated with Socrates that today we refer to it as 'Socratic Method'. It is a collaborative approach to seeking, and enquiring into, 'the truth' of any statement or matter. It is a dialog of mutual question and answer, where the interlocutors work as a team, rather than as adversaries defending positions they emotionally identify with, or are materially invested in.

The 'debate' style so prevalent today, in which 'sides' take a combative-adversarial-legalistic approach, and seek to 'defeat' their 'adversary' and 'prove themselves right' and 'prove their adversary wrong, was known as 'eristic'.

That was what the Sophists were accused of teaching, so that today the term 'sophistry', usually 'specious sophistry', is a pejorative term used to describe someone who seeks merely to win an argument, or persuade someone of something they often don't even personally believe to be true. Socrates' enemies claimed he practiced eristic, and sophistry, 'the art of making the superior argument appear inferior'. In fact he stated he 'knew' nothing, and merely sought to expose, to others who imagined they did know things, the errors of their thinking which led to this misunderstanding. So that Socrates, not claiming to be in possession of 'positive' 'knowledge', merely made others aware that what they thought they knew, they could not in fact claim to know. Which made him very unpopular with all but those fellow 'seekers' like himself. So that all those who imagined they 'knew' things, accumulated a lot of malice towards him, which ultimately expressed itself in his trial and sentencing to death, when in fact he had never done anything wrong.

Our modern legal system is eristic. A prosecutor will seek to get someone they know is innocent convicted of that crime. A defender will seek to get someone they know is guilty, acquitted of a crime. Evidence that would clearly establish a person's guilt or innocence is declared 'inadmissible in court' based on some 'technicality' regarding how that evidence was obtained. Meanwhile prisoners are allowed to be tortured to obtain false confessions, and these confessions are then used to 'establish guilt', especially in politically motivated 'show trials' like Nuremberg'. And prisoners are threatened with extreme sentences if they fail to 'play ball' with the show trial, and 'admit their guilt', and then, once the public have heard their 'admissions', the Judges 'forget about' those deals, and impose the harshest sentences possible. That prisoner is never again heard from, and has no chance to expose this situation to public investigation. Not that any investigation would ever take place. Such cases becoming 'sealed' cases. Just try to investigate the Clinton Crime Family and the murder, drug, and financial fraud cases surrounding Rapey Bill and Hilary Clinton.

Arête

The Ancient Greek term Arête refers to the quality of a thing that allows it to excel at performing its function exceptionally. That quality depends on the function the thing is employed to perform. So for philosophers I would cite 'self-honesty' as the Arête that singles out the authentic animal from the pretender. Self-honesty is far rarer than mere genius, which more often than not is very 'compartmentalized' and makes the beneficiary no more qualified as a philosopher or leader, than sharper teeth would quality a shark, for the same role.

Socrates was born in Athens in 469 BCE and sentenced to death in 399BCE soon after democracy was restored after the right-wing rule of the 30 tyrants, some of whom were closely associated with him. The direct charges included irreligion and corrupting the young men of the city, but it was really more of an ancient Greek 'Nuremberg' show trial, in which Socrates, seen as a 'Right-wing extremist', was persecuted for his beliefs, and associations with students including Alcibiades, one of those 30 'tyrants'.

Solon, one of the Seven Sages of Ancient Greece, was a famous Athenian 6th century BCE lawgiver of the early sixth century, whom the fourth century BCE Athenians revered as the founder of their democracy, though the system he established was actually a graduated timocracy in which political power was proportionate to wealth. He was a poet who even explained his political decisions in that form. Critias, Charmides, and Plato were all distant relations.

Heracles (Hercules) was said to be the son of Zeus, who transcended his mortal nature to become a god by completing 12 labors.

Apparently the Peloponnesian Whores did a lot of damage to Ancient Athenian society?

MHR Plato seems to want to treat Predicates as Subjects e.g 'The Tall' that is the 'reference' for all statements 'A is tall' and itself being the 'the tall' itself…somehow a predicate like 'fast' i.e an adjective can be, in his mind, a subject … so 'the wise' has a share in 'wisdom' and 'the tall' has a share in 'the tallness' … basis of his 'knowledge as recall/remembering' some past experience of the actual subject the predicate / adjective is reflecting in the current object / subject 'sharing in it'… it has some of the 'tallness' of 'the tall'…and we vaguely recall 'the tall' which we had experience of in prior lives / between lives…and we recognise it in things that share more or less of 'the tall'… though so far have NOT heard ANY critic/commentator on Plato put things so simply… is this some form of 'subject-predicate dyslexia' on Plato's part? Or synesthesia?

Homer: ca 750BCE is considered the greatest epic poet of Greece. The Iliad claims to describe the Trojan War, which up until recently was considered a mere legend, while the 'creation myth' was considered 'historical fact'. Odyssey describes the journey back from the Trojan War of a warrior from the Trojan War, as he completes 12 'tasks', to finally be returned home by a self-driving/navigating vessel.

Critias was the last leader of the Thirty Tyrants who came to power after all that trouble with the Peloponnesian Whores. He died in the uprising of 403 BCE, a few months into his reign, at the hands of 'democracy', which would soon murder the most noble and excellent of all the Athenians ever, Socrates.

Abaris the Hyperborean was a (some claim) legendary shamanistic healer from the far north. The Hyperboreans were supposed to live 'beyond the north wind (Boreas)' in a kind of magical paradise sacred to Apollo.

Aeneas was another survivor of the Trojan War later claimed to be the founder of what became the largest recorded slave society before the Cult of Judah occupied Russia.

A 'touchstone' is way to test purity of gold. So the Elenchus might be considered such a 'touchstone'. However today it appears to refer to using existing understanding to teach something new.

Georgias offers the first instance of Socrates completing his famous oath 'By the Dog'. 'By the Dog that the Egyptians worship'. But I wonder if Plato has added this simply to avoid trouble with the 'Dog-botherers' of his time. I can afford to take the piss, but Plato couldn't. Today the Cult of Judah care more about people deriding their silly, imaginary Covid virus, not that old Dog. You can kick that old Dog and they don't care. But expose their new Covid Dogma, and watch out! Ex-communication. Blacklisting. Delisting. Loss of tenure. Loss of employment. Today failure to 'take the holy water' a.k.a submit to injection, means loss of most employment today, basta! Just like failure to join whatever cult was in power, in every past age, usually meant exclusion from any desirable job. As in every age, you've got to join the dominant hegemonic CULT, to have any chance of climbing up the pyramid structure, or keeping from being pushed down further towards the base.

Democracy just another form of tyranny unless you respect the constitution

Plato's Socrates gives a long lecture on the principle of 'do no harm'. In fact he argues that it is 'Better to suffer harm, than to do harm'. Compare that to our 'modern' notions of 'the greater good' where the torture and brutal, cruel, horrific deaths of any number of people is 'justified' as long as OTHER people benefit from it. And wouldn't you know, the MAJORITY who expect NOT to be among those who suffer, are all for this 'principle'. As long as you have more beneficiaries than victims, you can always claim it was for 'The GREATER good'. That is the principle of DEMOCRACY, dear friend. 'The Ends justify the means'. 'For the GREATER (majority) good'. All you need now do is isolate a minority, and you are free to exploit them 'for the GREATER good', and to SACRIFICE them 'for the GREATER good'.

Oh, but if it serves the CULTS ends, this 'universal principle' will be 'turned on its head'. And the majority will be DIRECTED to give up everything, for a TINY MINORITY of people who are just about to die, no matter what anyone does. Yes, welcome to the 'upside down' land ruled by 'The Covid Cult'.

Both these principles are equally absurd, as only arbitrary CULT dogma can be. And the fact that humans go along with BOTH, switching from one to the other, at the drop of a hat, just goes to show what we are dealing with in HOMO FIDEO. You really only have to shout 'BOO' and they submit to your protection racket. Humans have NO real principles, THAT is the problem. They can't even work out their self-interest, in order to selfishly pursue and defend it. They can be led by mere HEARSAY to commit the most atrocious crimes against each other. And tricked into sacrificing every liberty, freedom, right, comfort, and even their limbs, sight, hearing, and ultimately LIVES, and those of their children, by any supposed 'AUTHORITY' simply DECLARING they NEED to, ironically, in order to PROTECT said liberties, freedoms, rights, comforts, and yes, ultimately, LIVES, of themselves and their children.

References to judgements after death with punishments for the wicked and rewards for the good

Homer 800 BCE ; Pindar 518 – ca 440 BCE from Cynoscephalae in Boeotia, the most famous lyric poet of ancient Greece; Plato around 400 BCE after Socrates 399 BCE death. But same in Ancient Egyptian myths. And the principle of Karma 'punishes' and rewards, similarly, in future lives. So all of these ideas of justice were based on the person's actions during life.

Compare that sort of justice to the Cult of Judah 'pandering' to bad people that all they need do is be baptised, or pay 'fines', to avoid punishment for past crimes. This is a huge leap backwards from 'natural justice' to what is essentially unfair and Unjust, such as a 'deathbed conversion' or 'papal dispensation for the rich'. So why not murder a rich person, to get enough loot to pay for a 'papal dispensation' both for that murder, and all your prior crimes up to that point? And do this as close to your deathbed as possible, so as to not 'cramp your style' up to that point?

Osmosis vis a vis capacitance and EMF

MHR wow insight...capacitor Vis a vis 'osmosis' and how fetus gets nutrients from mother and brain-blood barrier correspondences i.e electric universe at all levels…seems body can re-construct all nutrients via 'forces' that operate even across 'insulators'… arranging / organising chemicals which are just combinations of atoms which are just electrons-neutrons-protons…all of which are 'primerties' and operate, like electrons, electro-magnetically…so perhaps best way to comprehend phenomena of osmosis…and not sure if that same process in how fetus gets nutrients from mother…but remember Tonje referring to, or her medicine notes, or overhearing her speaking with other medical student friends about this…

Notes relating to the incorporation of The Free Church (The Vegan Church)

Most people won't invest any effort in reading anything I've written, hoping a casual viewing of a short video will be enough to enlighten and free them. So this is for the very few who actually will invest any effort and time at all in their own emancipation, or simply education.

I am NOT going to make videos of this material. I'm done with investing so much effort and time and frustration into posting videos only a few people even click on, let alone devote any intense concentration to, let alone follow up by reading the transcripts and books referred to. This will be the last video, unless between now and my 'escape', some stunning insight occurs to me, that I find I simply must share. If you rely on my videos to glean any wisdom I have gained over decades of intense sacrifice, effort, frustration, and risk, then you will fail to benefit much from all that. You MUST read my books and transcripts. Or this has all been in VAIN.

I have posted a full transcript which would take hours of video to present, at my TROONATNOOR Telegram public channel. If you don't 'trust' Telegram, well you shouldn't 'trust' any platform. It being Russian is a silly reason to trust it any less. Though it is probably as controlled as any other platform. And it is where I have been posting. And only a few people have followed me there. I've managed to get help uploading to Bitchute, but really there is no point doing so any longer, if people don't value my work enough to follow me to Telegram, let alone offer any real support or even encouragement. Other than a very few people I could count on ONE hand. Without even needing all the fingers! If you want to know what I want to say, go to TROONATNOOR channel at Telegram. If not, I wish you all the best. I will try to post a direct link, but it probably won't work anyway. Just know that TELEGRAM is the ONLY platform I have managed to get FULLY FUNCTIONAL with Google Play DISABLED. My Android phone keeps warning that Telegram will NOT work without Google Play activated, but it DOES work. I use it to download movies from a great movie channel there. Faster and easier than torrents, without need for a VPN, as far as I can tell, due to the setup of Telegram.

The title of the first part of my latest writing is : Will I bother hanging around much longer? If one day you try to contact me and complain I am no longer here, well you will only have yourself to blame for not contacting me sooner, while I WAS still here, and able to reply. But no-one will. No-one does. It was all in VAIN. Unless I'm right and am now free of this plane-et, and maybe even played a positive part in the ascension of a few other fellow suffering prisoners of this reform school prison plane-et!

Will I bother hanging around much longer?

I've been living in Estonia, as an exile, with zero social life, no chance of paid employment, and almost none of the comforts and pleasures that make a life worth living, for a long time.

The Covid Cult's arbitrary prescriptions and proscriptions have had little impact on my life, for those reasons, other than to close libraries, and force me to find alternative wi-fi access, and to test my resolve to stand up to authority and claim the 'medically contraindicated' exemption from face masks in the supermarket. We shall see how that works this time around. For they are of course, as I and others predicted at the start of this psychological warfare operation, re-introducing the same arbitrary prescriptions and proscriptions, using the same 'Official Covid Narrative' excuses.

I cannot be even a passive collaborator, without sacrificing too much of my integrity. Perhaps no-one observes what I do, let alone would consider me a potential role model. And yet I am compelled, conscientious as I am, to live out Kant's imperative, that I act 'as if' my actions should be the role model for everyone else. I would WANT others to resist arbitrary proscriptions and prescriptions where they were CLEARLY part of a larger plan to enslave humanity, and probably genocide large parts of it. And so if I am to 'Do unto others as I would have them do unto me', I must also passively resist.

Solzhenitsyn stated that 'Collective Ignorance is the cause underlying all other causes for the success of the Soviet Reign of Terror'. Collective ignorance is a situation in which everyone believes everyone else believes something they do NOT, simply based on their ACTIONS. In this context, wearing a face mask would be communicating the LIE of 'me too', 'I believe'. David Hume reminded us of the 'weight of numbers' when it comes to 'reasons people believe something', even in the absence of any proof or evidence. Simply the 'power of public opinion' over the minds of individuals. People are loathe to challenge a PERCIEVED 'consensus' of opinion. Often even a mere 'majority' of opinion. So if you can TRICK THEM into imagining such a consensus exists, and if you can manufacture public opinion, or simply FAKE poll results, to ENGINEER THE IMPRESSION that 'almost everyone agrees / knows', then this will itself become a convincing, persuasive, fact, that will lead most people to 'go along to get along' even if they don't believe, and then, once they are ACTING 'as if they believe' their own mind will look for, and find, and if not CONSTRUCT and FABRICATE 'reasons for believing' to justify, in their own minds, those very actions. The ACTIONS produce the belief. How ironic. Such is our illusion of 'free will'. The left side of our brain will concoct some 'reason' for some action the right side of the brain carried out, simply to 'console' itself, and not feel 'stupid' or 'out of control'. Once you get someone to HARM another person, their own mind will construct HATE FOR or FEAR OF that person, to JUSTIFY, in their own mind, their malicious actions, usually committed as they were 'following orders' or 'just doing their job'. Jobs which range from fire-bombing cities, and machine gunning emergency workers coming to help women and children who survived, and who had sort refuge in public parks, with ZERO possible way to confuse them with 'combatants' or 'threats' or 'military objects' or 'legitimate targets', other than that 'They were ordered to'. I am speaking about DRESDEN folks. ALLIED WAR CRIMES. WITH WRITTEN ORDERS THAT CAN BE VERIFIED.

So why am I writing this, perhaps repeating myself for the n-th time. Like a mad man repeating the 'message on the wall' of a cave in a desert no-one is likely ever to visit, and thus read? THAT describes the situation of anyone whose 'narrative' contradicts, or even simply does not support 'The Official Narrative' they are objecting to, and seeking to expose.

What value is there in me enduring this world a moment longer? If nothing I can do can have any positive impact? I do not have the means to 'Take up arms against…' our common enemy. Any act I attempted would only serve the 'authorities' interests, and empower them. It could achieve nothing. No 'revolution' ever achieved anything lasting. The U.S war of independence didn't lead to the freeing of anyone. The U.S civil war nominally freed 4 million 'African American slaves' so they could join in the wider population of SLAVES. Yes, Lincoln was NOT fighting to FREE THE SLAVES, he was fighting to ENSLAVE THE SOUTH as a whole. If the South had first banned slavery, then seceded, Lincoln would still have waged war on them. Only without the PROPAGANDA value of being able to claim his cause was 'justified' in the name of 'freedom'. Just as Western Australian attempts at secession were violently put down, and not a 'slave' to be found to 'justify' that!

No, the U.S.A was founded as a great dream. But from the very beginning the dream was undermined, with one war crime and crime against humanity, and genocide, after another being waged by its 'Government for the people, by the people'. With state violence being used as a mere tool of the elites, to break strikes, to enslave people by 'legal means', simply by making it a crime to be poor, and making up further victimless crimes to bypass the '13th amendment', which over 600,000 thousand supposedly died in the name of, and many more brutally butchered and maimed. Though in fact the U.S civil war had nothing to do with FREEING slaves. Rather it was about ENSLAVING all U.S citizens by *un*obtrusive means.

The people went along with it. They continue to. And they seek 'redemption' in the 'official narratives' offered to them, so they need not feel the full weight of the guilt for their complicity and collaboration in their 'governments' crimes. People do not WANT to FACE THE FACTS. They fear their own guilt. Their own minds protect them from that fear, by finding ways to 'go along with the official narratives'. To justify their continued submission. And even active participation. 'I need a job'. And if the only job available is as torturer, mass murderer, deceiver, spy, or worse, then, well, it's the ONLY job available. And they will take it. And justify this by claiming 'I'm doing this for my family'. Sure. The same family who other people seeking 'work' will end up crippling, butchering, murdering, or enslaving, with the same justifications. Until everyone's job becomes the brutal, cruel, ruthless supervision of the enslavement of everyone else. But hey, its PAID work. Higher status than 'unemployed writer'. So at least there's THAT consolation!

Yes, so, Sovereign Ecclesia of The Free Church (The Vegan Church). How long do most 'founders' of new religions, of new social movements, tend to survive? How do they tend to die? Horribly. And what happens with their legacy? It is usually turned to EVIL ends. Co-opted by EVIL. With the TRUTHS it attempted to share usually lost in the typical distortions and additions that any genuinely SPIRITUAL institution put through, to make it more 'palatable' and thus not just to pander to the elites, but to the masses. You can count yourself lucky if a few people, over the course of the next few thousand years, manage to 'grok' your TRUE meaning. Perhaps stumble across some 'original sources' of your work that have not been tainted, corrupted, and poisoned.

I cannot hope for any chance to PROVE my arguments in practise. This is never allowed. Consider the case of the Vegan monastery built on, and operated successfully, for decades, on the White Sea, in the Arctic Circle, as far from 'civilisation' as you could get, probably with every hope of being 'left alone' and 'left in peace'. Turned into a REAL death camp. Not a Hollywood fictional one.

Sure, occasional new insights come to me, and I share them with the few dozen people who 'click' on my BitChute video links, or the 'few' people who download any of my books. So the last few years have actually been productive. But in terms of WHAT? What have they produced? I can provide the most compelling arguments and the most illuminating insights, and even the very few people with access to them, and interest in them, will mostly MISS THE POINT. Because they don't WANT what I have to offer. TRUTH. JUSTICE. The kind that compel us to REFORM our OWN wills, and make a few 'sacrifices' of things we will NOT miss.

Freedom and liberty can mean 'the war of all against all'. It can mean we 'wage war by deception'. Seeking to enslave other sentient beings as mere means to our own ends. To get them to pay for the benefits we consume. To get them to make the sacrifices required, so that we can enjoy particular luxuries. To get them to sacrifice the lives of other sentient beings, to torture them, to exploit them, to cruelly murder them. And even to sacrifice their own lives. Via force and threats of violence. Or simply by DECEPTION . Such as inventing 'devils' and 'Covid-19' pandemic viruses that don't even exist. And for which, strangely enough, Homo Fideo never demands actual PROOF of existence. Odd situation. Insane. Crazy. Mad. This surely is some sort of horrible, absurd, nightmare.

For me Freedom is about being left to choose for yourself, so far as your actions don't impose costs on any other sentient being. And where they do, then those beings standing to suffer, MUST have an equal say in my decisions and actions. For they will be affected by them.

Informed consent must be obtained. Not by deception and misinformation. But by compelling argument and scientific method. If I cannot convince someone to accept the costs my decisions would impose, by offering some benefit in return, that I will be held accountable to providing by the entire community, then I need to find a different approach to obtaining my ends.

And if I find that the things most important to me, cannot be obtained under the present community, I must be free to move and set up my own community, with like-minded people, also free to set up that new community with me.

The White Sea example from The Cult of Judah's occupation of the Soviets, known as the U.S.S.R, can be expected to be repeated, seeing as that same cult now rules this entire plane-et, in the form of the CO2Vid Cult. It has a new 'Official Narrative', having replaced the pseudo 'Scientific Socialism' with an even more pseudo 'Covid-19 'science and 'computer models'.

Even if I managed to find people who wanted what I wanted, because they comprehended what I comprehended, and not because I managed to 'trick' them or 'deceive' them or 'convince' them or 'persuade' them with clever propaganda and specious sophistry, the Cult of Judah would NOT allow us to set up a sovereign republic. One that would NOT reproduce 'The Official Covid Narrative' and which thus would NOT pay any heed to the terrorist threats of the World Health Organisation, let alone submit to the will of PRIVATE organisations like the United Nations, World Bank, or International Monetary Fund. One that would NOT censor anything. One that would NOT submit to central bank based debt slavery.

The entire world would immediately be flooded with propaganda demonising myself, and my fellow Vegan Republicans. They would spread the most libellous of lies about us. They would totally misrepresent our philosophy and aims. They would slander us. Make up horrific tall tales about us. Spread their toxic lies far and wide. To ensure every demographic was presented with a totally misleading, demonic, terrifying, threatening, IDEA of us. So that few would question 'their authorities' acts of violence against us, and our members.

But I could be wrong about THE CULT in its present state. And it might undergo an INTERNAL REVOLUTION at any moment.

So this is my last attempt to seek support for the ONLY solution for humanity as a whole, and for those who wish to live in RATIONAL FREEDOM and JUST FREEDOM and FAIR FREEDOM on this plane-et, in a Vegan Republic. The same approach will both lead to 'The best of all possible worlds given the limits of plane-ets such as this one', and the chance for ASCENSION from plane-ets like this one, to higher planes.

Oh, but what prompted this very early morning attempt at 'enlightening' anyone? Well sooner or later I will be FORCED by all the VIOLENT means at the disposal of 'the authorities' to either comply with, and become a COLLABORATOR WITH the COVID CULT, or be locked up, in prison or much worse. For even prisoners are NOT usually allowed to be held in SOLITARY CONFINEMENT FOR 22 DAYS, as a N.Z woman was. (See the Sam Bailey Youtube video for the full story). Prisoners have HUMAN RIGHTS. But the United Nations DECLARES that you have NO HUMAN RIGHTS AT ALL the moment someone DECLARES a 'pandemic'. So that those they claim are 'infected' have ZERO HUMAN RIGHTS. Even less than a convicted mass murderer who has admitted to their crimes! A true FATE WORSE THAN DEATH.

I suffer enough even in my relative 'freedom'. In the form of migraines, nausea, fevers, tooth pain, gum pain, inflammation, cluster headaches, and so on. I've been put in solitary confinement and deprived of medical care during a migraine attack. The solitary confinement of just 2 days was enough to destroy my spirit. It is a form of torture. Especially if you have no way of known HOW LONG IT WILL BE FOR. And in the case of Covid, they can keep you in as long as they DECIDE to. For NO reason. Just as for 'terrorists'. Where 'terrorist' is the most loosely defined legal term ever invented. Well, it was, before 'Covid infected' was invented. A completely meaningless term that can mean anything, as long as anyone is willing to claim that any sort of 'symptom' from headache to slight fever represents a 'diagnosis of Covid 19', or that a preconfigured test that produces the preconfigured 'positive' test result, is itself a 'diagnosis' of Covid 19 and 'proof' of 'covid 19 infection'. Even while no proof of the actual existence of a Covid 19 microbe has EVER been presented, despite a 1.5 million Euro reward having been offered, and despite the MASSIVE COSTS of 'measures' taken 'in the name of protection from' this microbe, which so far exists ONLY in our IMAGINATIONS!

Yes, so a few years ago I faced years in prison for challenging 'The Official Holocaust Narrative'. Now I face even WORSE, as a 'Covid denier' and 'recalcitrant' slave (as Paul Keating would put it!).

So why bother with this project any longer? Surely I have left enough PROOF and compelling argument and insights to AWAKEN anyone WILLING and ABLE to be awoken?

I don't want to merely wake from one level of the dream into another. To be stuck in a dream, but now imagining I am truly awake. I don't want that for anyone. But most people have so compartmentalised their 'conspiracy theories' that even if they become aware of the clear conspiracy afoot in the form of The Covid Cult and 'The Official Covid Narrative', they will fail to awake to the FULL conspiracy that is afoot. And fail to connect their OWN willing and acting with 'history' and 'society' and 'the world so familiar, and 'known' to them'.

So, seriously, I face fates WORSE than death, which I cannot expect enduring will add one tiny iota of value to anyone's life. I've offered more than enough to 'enlighten' anyone seeking enlightenment. Anyone who has suffered enough to be willing to open their own mind up to the possible fact of their OWN PERSONAL GUILT for that suffering.

I have even attempted to contact family members who I was told by other family members had asked me to. But no-one ever got back to me. So my family have written me off, decades ago. I have no obligation to them. They have nothing to gain from my endurance of my life. I have no debts to anyone, that I cannot repay quickly and immediately. I leave no mess behind. No debts. No obligations. I got a vasectomy as a teenager, so conscientious was I of never forcing any sentient being to be born into this insane plane-et, to share my fate, and suffer with me. So I have no children. I have not even kissed anyone for over 15 years, so I have zero real social relationships. I don't really even have any real friends. I have one 'friend' who only helps me, with some practical things I cannot do (I've even been blacklisted by Thomann.de, so the few things I buy, I have to have him order for me!) out of pity for my situation, and always rushes off immediately that he has performed his 'act of kindness'. He does not wish to spend any time with me. No-one does. Children like me. But once they grow up they will avoid me, like their parents. The myth that once circulated that women love writers is just that. Oh, 'successful published writers' yes. But the 'real deal'. No way! Women love success. They want men who can entertain and provide for them. Who believe in the world and want children. Who 'go along to get along' to enjoy 'comfortable lives' and 'benefits'. I won't lie to a woman by withholding key information, from the start. That would be deceptive. If I feel women want children, and I actually FEAR being morally responsible for imposing such a horrific world on a child, I can't lead her on. Even if she'd prefer I did, so she got what she wanted, and could complain later. Sorry, you can read all my 'relationship' stuff elsewhere. But just making a point that my life is NOT satisfying or rewarding or enjoyable in ANY way. I have my torrents and books and music. And a tiny bit of freedom they will certainly take away. And soon I will be forced to submit to injection with dog knows what simply to renew my passport. And I cannot submit and COLLABORATE. So things will go very bad for me. As bad as for any 'dissident' or 'heretic' in the past, who would not submit to the CULT dictatorship in power at the time.

So I am preparing anyone interested for my 'departure' from this plane-et, within the next year or so at the latest. If you have any questions for me, now is the time to ask them. If you have any project you think might change my mind, let me know about it. If you are a genuine VEGAN philosopher who might like to CURATE my books, and take over copyright of them, and use any resources I may leave behind on this plane-et to purposes you are sure I would agree with, contact me too.

No-one has to justify their decision to depart this plane-et to anyone but themselves, and anyone dependent upon them. I need not seek to make arrangements for any dependents. No-one will suffer as a result of my decision. I will ensure I leave as neat and tidy a legacy as possible. I won't leave problems behind for others to deal with.

And to be honest, I feel that enduring this plane-et, after having learned what I've learned, and shared it, is *dis*honest. Lacking integrity. That the BEST role model I could be would be one who does actively take responsibility for their ascension, and demonstrates a rejection of this world and all its stands for, by committing revolutionary suicide, while they still have what is conventionally referred to as 'reasons to live'. Yes I could monetize my skills, adapt to the world I reject, put on the required masks, make the required concessions to convention, pander to the people, go along to get along, and like others, start getting drunk, taking other drunks, partying, driving a nice car, chasing after pretty girls, and I certainly would get laid enough, and be 'liked' and get the affection and whatever superficial pleasures this 21st century has to offer. Who knows what success I might have if I 'sold out', and simply monetized my talents? The party might last a good many years. And then I could die, right? When there was no more party to be had. Or when the Covid CULT finally implemented its program of genocide.

Not everyone gets to be a success, and then make a huge dramatic point of rejecting this world, like a Kurt Cobain. In fact he is one of the very few, like Jim Morrison, who got such a large stage to act on. Most people don't get to live and die in style. They are born and die in the most undignified ways. They live in poverty and without a voice.

I want to live a life that is more representative. To live a representative life. So that all I write and do represents REALITY. Not the 'exceptions' to that reality. Which the 'successes' and 'fortunate' people get to enjoy. And which makes them 'cheerleaders' for this world. Because your own experience of this world more or less determines your own evaluation of it as 'good' or 'bad'. So If I was a pyramid master, or 'god', I'd make sure there were enough 'successes' and 'fortunate lives' to give the rest of the world a totally false impression of what is possible, and of the nature of this world. People who would go on to 'sing the praises' of this world, or at least offer completely FALSE optimism to the majority, living their stale, boring, drone, lives of drudge, and toil, as Cult thralls and SLAVES.

How many otherwise brilliant writers and thinkers like Henry Miller and Robert Heinlein end up stuck in the theistic rut? For they are justly grateful to life for all the satisfactions it brought them. As exceptions to the rule. And thus never escape the 'dogmatic slumbers' of their religious CULT indoctrinations. They become spokespeople for those CULTS. And so undo all the otherwise GREAT work they had done. They are capable of the greatest self-honesty of any writers before them, and then finally stumble at the last hurdle, and remain CULT THRALLS and propagandists for those cults. With this in mind, I highly recommend these authors. If I had the energy I would compile a collection of the most enlightening and insightful and honest of their prose. But in the end, their own personal reform and evolution, and potential contributions to human evolution and reform are more or less nulled and voided , by their theism.

I would have endured to the end, if there was a purpose in doing so. But endurance in itself is not a 'purposeful action'. It is in fact merely a slave enduring. Maintaining their value as human capital. Even if that value is merely as 'cautionary tales' to other would-be dissidents. Witches and heretics and other dissidents were burned alive to send a clear message to anyone else considering 'opening their mouths' and 'challenging their contemporary 'official narratives'. I can't even allow them to use me for such purposes. To walk into that trap. And I see no reason suffering fates worse than death with no payoff for anyone. And as I said, I would be making myself a 'living' deterrent to all other potential whistle-blowers to self-censor, and promote the 'Collective Ignorance' the whole system is empowered by. People might point to me, and my fates worse than death, when cautioning others to 'go along to get along', or when justifying, to themselves, their own passive submission to the Covid Cult.

So, if you don't hear from me again, at any point in the future, wish me well in my travels 'home'. 'Endlich Losgelosst von der Erde…Vollig Schwerelos…Coming home'.

And I wish you well in your future travels. And hope to see you soon, AFTER you have reformed your will, and can be trusted to live free among the free, willing and giving, and thus receiving, justice.

What could be the motive for censorship of anyone or any thing?

The 'authorities' who claim the average person is fit to decide on who to elect as their political representatives, and as to whether they themselves are fit parents with a genetic and socio-economic inheritance capable of offering their not-yet-born children a good shot at lives worth living, seem to fear they are not quite capable of protecting themselves from the 'voodoo' 'magic' apparently contained in novels, books, and home-made video documentaries and talk-show presenters. Germans must be the most 'educated' people in documented history, and yet their 'authorities' cannot trust them not to be 'fooled' or 'tricked' by a book written almost 100 years ago. As if the 'modern' reader does not have access to an almost infinite amount of material to 'cross-reference' that book, and challenge its statements, and arguments. So that German's are DENIED access to reading 'Mein Kampf', in order to PROTECT them from its 'voodoo'

'magic' 'spells'. And The Jews fear their 'Official Holocaust Narrative' must be so flimsy and vulnerable to being debunked and exposed as fiction and fraud, a crime against the German people and National Socialism, and against TRUTH and JUSTICE, that they had to PROTECT IT FROM INTERROGATION. As if the Jewish community could not defend 'The Official Holocaust Narrative' against any challenge, given they have had over 60 years to gather all the 'evidence' and 'proof' and 'documentation' they might need to support its contentions. Surely, given the massive resources at their disposal, rather than DENY any challengers a free, fair, and open debating platform, to clarify their confusion and misunderstanding, and to highlight and make widely known and accessible all the 'mountain of evidence' that is constantly referred to, but whose location, like the mountain 'Noah's Ark' settled on, seems to evade their memory. Surely the person with nothing to hide, and a 'mountain of evidence' on their side, would WELCOME free and open, fair, independently moderated, public debate, as an opportunity to PROVE their case beyond any doubt, and thus completely defuse any 'denial', leaving their opponents looking foolish and silly. And surely THIS would do more for their cause then censorship, which can only lead to people asking themselves 'Why, if they are honest, and what they say is true, and they have 'a mountain of evidence' to support their claims, do they FEAR free and fair and open public debate? And not just RUN AND HIDE from such free and fair debate, but actually PERSECUTE their challengers, and hold POGROMS and TERRORIZE the skeptics who merely request they respond to reasonable, rational, fair, SCIENTIFIC questions, and to explain SCIENTIFIC MEASUREMENTS and STATISTICS that appear to CONTRADICT 'The Official Holocaust Narrative', simple to put their minds at rest.

What sort of people, throughout history, have CENSORED alternatives to their 'Official Narratives' on any subject? This is something we associate with 'Dark Ages' under 'Reigns of Terror', from The Catholic Church, to the Soviets, and Mao.

Do people truly confident they are right, resort to repression and suppression of alternative narratives regarding their pet narrative? Do they require the full repression and suppression and terrorism of STATE VIOLENCE be threatened, and applied, to people whose only 'crime' was to challenge their pet narrative?

Since when was 'skepticism' defined as a 'HATE CRIME'? As an act of VIOLENCE? As an act of TERRORISM? Most of the people who naively ask questions regarding 'The Official Fictions' that have become revered, hallowed, sacred, Articles of Faith and Dogmas no less arbitrary than any previous superstitious belief system a.k.a 'religious CULT', are simply seeking answers to questions they are curious about. They don't have any hidden agenda or ulterior motives. And few become truly suspicious of the intentions of their 'authorities' and those claiming they require 'protection' from people asking such questions, until they find themselves suddenly accused of HATE CRIMES and of being some sort of TERRORIST with MALICIOUS motivations for having asked such questions.

If asking questions, and expecting answers, could somehow harm past victims of supposed crimes, let alone 'be the equivalent of murdering them all over again', then please explain how? For if I had been the victim of some crime, and the facts were in doubt, and justice had possibly not been served, and if indeed innocent people had been accused of the crime, and punished, even killed, wrongly, then I, if I had any interest at all in the proceedings, being dead, would certainly want clarification MYSELF. I would WELCOME re-opening of investigations and enquiries.

What an INSULT it is on the part of a few powerful elites, to deny the ENTIRE POPULATION access to 'alternative narratives', and actual hard, concrete, inductive, SCIENTIFIC EVIDENCE, proof, measurements, statistics, and research findings.

If the MASSES do NOT take it as an insult, then what does it say about the masses? That they would read their history books, see that it is DICTATORS and TYRANTS, or men who BECOME dictators and tyrants, in short time, who have practised CENSORSHIP in the past. And it is not just political tyrants we need worry about. Industrial 'tycoons' have done at least as much damage as political dictators, with their 'trusts' and 'monopolies' and the typical conspiracies that Adam Smith and Plato warned about.

Surely it MUST be left to the individual themselves to decide what information they wish to include in their 'data set' when forming their opinions and making decisions? What images they wish to be exposed to. What information. What critical analysis. What contradictory, alternative, narratives.

Surely the role of education MUST be to empower people to distinguish between specious sophistry and compelling argument? To understand the basic principles of inductive science, and double blind controlled experimentation? To understand how easily statistics can be manipulated to have them say anything the presenter wishes, and to erroneously mislead, and persuade, and convince, the hapless victim of the propaganda into believing almost anything, and based upon such beliefs, passively submit to arbitrary restrictions and commands, proscriptions and prescriptions, they would NEVER, if they understood the FACTS, have submitted to. Let alone actively promoted, and murdered and died for. And committed much, much, worse, crimes against humanity, and war crimes, in the name of.

Militant Veganism? Fanatical Veganism? Vegan Terrorism?

Isn't it interesting that the most enduring and established religious group, claiming to be the INNOCENT victims of persecution, while peddling an ideology that COMMANDS genocide of non-Cult members, and stoning of Cult members for the craziest of reasons, is the ONLY religious group in the WEST that actively PERSECUTES people for not sharing their BELIEFS, and has managed to accumulate so much power that it can PUNISH those who dare criticise it or expose it, with what can amount to life sentences in prison (or worse) for those who will NOT cringe and self-censor themselves.

This same group that calls for 'toleration' cannot tolerate the slightest criticism. For should its true nature and intentions be exposed, it would naturally expect the same response from a sane, informed, rational, reasonable, general public, as it received under King Herod the Great, King of ISRAEL, near the start of its career.

We are not talking about 'tolerating' people expressing their sincere belief that 'God commands us to wear green hats on Thursday', and demonstrating the immense self-control at NOT expressing your violent rage at this blasphemous lie, when YOU 'KNOW' for a fact that 'god' commands us to wear purple hats on Fridays, and has, through 'His' 'middle-men' YOUR cult, sorry, religion's, Priests, set a strict TABOO and total PROHIBITION AGAINST wearing green hats ANY day. We are not talking about such incredible self-restraint at not immediately stoning to death those HERETICS you might randomly run into, on a Thursday, wearing a green hat. Or tolerating them attending the same schools as your children, where you cannot afford a 'parochial' private education for your children. Or managing the ultimate in self-control when observing your own child socializing with such an INFIDEL, and not stoning your own child, for such a grievous crime. No. You will TOLERATE the 'laws of the land' you live in. At least until you can manage to have them changed. Or have your 'culture' 'respected', so that the HEATHENS respect your right to stone your own children to death for such breaches of THE LAW. The 'GOD-given law' that the PRIESTS of your cult were given by 'HIMSELF'. So they say. And who are YOU to DENY their AUTHORITY in making such claims? Proof? Well surely god HIMSELF would strike them down dead if they were lying? Well then why hasn't 'HE' struck down all those INFIDELS who you KNOW are LYING and DENYING the obvious facts YOU know because you just happened to be born into the 'RIGHT' and 'INFORMED' CULT, sorry, religious group.

No, Vegans don't get 'upset' at such irrelevant dogmatic trivialities. And don't dare try to 'dismiss' their principles as 'wacky' and 'crazy'. For they are the ONLY principles that are, if you like, PRINCIPLED, in the sense of being rooted firmly in FACT, and observable, measurable, and quantifiable, INDUCTIVE SCIENCE, and being the moral-ethical DEDUCTIONS compellingly, logically, coherently, and transparently, derived from such FACTS.

We should 'tolerate' cruelty to animals? Really? We should tolerate totally avoidable, unnecessary, routine, systemic, holocausts, slavery, torture, and exploitation of other sentient beings? We shouldn't dare OFFEND someone who desires to torture animals, for reasons THEY claim are 'necessary'? Their violent crimes should be 'legally protected'? Like the HATE SPEECH of the TORAH? And the lies of 'The Government'. Yes folks, propaganda has been legal in the U.S.A for almost a decade now. OFFICIALLY legal. And ask Canadians who were the victims of a literal 'Cry Wolf' propaganda campaign! And the BILLIONS now victim to the largest Psychological warfare operation of MOSSAD-CIA (The true Moss-cia a.k.a Messiah) called 'The Official Covid Narrative'.

But let's get down to the very lowest level of abstraction, shall we? Something we can start at the very beginning. Requiring no assumptions or leaps of faith. No outside 'experts' or 'authorities' or 'computer simulations'. No obfuscative language. No re-writing of history. No re-definition of key terms. No 'spin'. No 'framing'. No deception. No fancy presentation. No 'star' presenters. No manipulation of emotions via loaded language and imagery. No tricks.

If you knew for a fact, that within a few minutes of you consuming some animal product, you would personally experience all the suffering, pain, miserly, and agony that the animals whose exploitation was required for the production or testing of that product, TO THE FULL, just how many of the supposedly 'necessary' products would you STILL define as 'necessary'? So necessary that YOU were willing to endure the suffering their production required?

This is really just a paraphrasing of John Rawls' 'Veil of Ignorance'. Which you can read about in my TROONATNOOR books, which form part of the CANON OF RELIGIOUS TEXTS of The Free Church (The Vegan Church).

People who are 'offended' when someone criticizes or ridicules, and thus exposes, what is absurd, fatuous, and even dangerous and destructive, in their religious beliefs, is really taking it all personally. Your attack on that belief system is taken by them as an attack on themselves. Real gods wouldn't need mere mortals to defend them. They would be quite capable of defending themselves. If they existed. But they don't. Certainly any god claiming to have 'created' all life as we know it, would not simply retire after 7 days, and leave 'management' of it to mere representatives. And if I was a god, I wouldn't expect people with intelligence, with the intelligence I gave them, to accept the word of the sorts of people claiming to be 'priests' and 'representatives' and 'authorities'. No, I would make the occasional appearance. Smite the wicked. Reward the good. That sort of thing. So no, maybe some technologically advanced aliens at one time were here, and demanded they be treated as gods, but they have long departed, if ever they did visit us, and even live among us, as the Sumerian records suggest.

Yes, so when people claim something is 'impious' or 'disrespectful' and 'offensive', it is only their own ego that is offended. They are emotionally invested in some particular dogma. So that they IDENTIFY with that dogma. And so any criticism of that dogma, is now going to be taken PERSONALLY. Discredit and expose that dogma as mere hearsay, and what you are doing is pointing out their credulity, foolishness, and silliness, in being so gullible as to believe the first thing they were told, literally. From birth. For that is what 'imprinting' and 'conditioning' is all about. Get 'em young, indoctrinate them, and usually you have them for life. Do this, and they are bound to feel personally insulted when you challenge what they call 'religious beliefs', hiding behind the word 'religion', and exploiting what often amounts to little more than 'legally protected HATE speech'. Ideas that, outside of 'religion', have been rejected by even the mainstream, as sexist, racist, racial supremacist, incitement to violence, homophobic, and basically CRIMINAL. In any OTHER context. Outside of 'religion'.

If people can avoid 'being wrong' about anything, they will avoid it at all costs. Even at the cost of burning others alive at the stake. Or dying in wars. Or of 'injections' marketed as 'vaccines'. And so on. And if they can 'justify' their 'sense of entitlement' to EXCESS benefits, relative to their own personal effort, sacrifice, and risk, and 'exceptional' privileges, based on completely INHERITED and thus UNEARNED socio-economic status, and connections, and education, and geo-political-historical location, then any 'religious dogma' that nominally 'justifies' and 'legitimates' that INJUSTICE they happen to be the beneficiaries of, will be welcome, and with all the resources at their disposal, promoted, and legally protected.

In many cases this lead to the institution of 'state religions'. And compulsory religious INDOCTRINATION. And official 'religious authorities' such as COVID TALIBAN, to enforce active SUBMISSION to all the arbitrary prescriptions and proscriptions of that religion.

With the full understanding that when you get / force / trick people into ACTING in a certain way, their own mind will come up with 'excuses' and 'justifications' FOR such action. If you get someone to help someone, their own mind will 'explain' their actions as 'Oh, I like that person'. Get them to HARM someone, and their own mind will 'justify' that action by imagining 'Oh, I HATE that person, they are a threat / danger to me and my loved ones'. Get someone to wear a face-mask, or submit to a PCR test, or 'social distance' and their OWN mind will INVENT BELIEFS as to WHY they have submitted, and performed these actions. Their own mind will CONSTRUCT a BELIEF in the imaginary threat called 'Covid 19'. So that when ordered to 'house arrest', after a 'positive PCR test', they will not think 'I got a positive PCR test'. They will RATIONALISE their compliance and submission with utterly arbitrary tyrannical dictates, so as not to 'lose face', as 'I am Covid positive. The people of my nation have decided on certain measures I will comply with'. Even though NO referendum or election (which should have been the case, as in a 'double dissolution' of parliament) had taken place in which such 'measures' had been voted either for or against. And in a climate of EXTREME CENSORSHIP in which, even if a referendum or election were held tomorrow, no voter would be in a position to give their INFORMED consent, because they have been DENIED all the information they would need to fully understand WHAT they were agreeing to, or rejecting!

When the thrall of a typical 'religious' cult gets angry at your interrogation of their beliefs, and expose them as ridiculous, and pure hearsay, they are defending their own status, and 'face'. It is all about not losing face. Not being exposed as foolish. Silly. Ignorant. Gullible.

But VEGANISM is not about how your comments and actions harm ME directly. It is about the PAIN, MISERY, INJUSTICE, CRUELTY, SLAVERY, AND MERCILESS EXPLOITATION THAT OTHER SENTIENT BEINGS SUFFER as a result of human action. What is at stake is not 'me being shown to be foolish or stupid or ignorant or superstitious or credulous. It is about REAL AND COMPLETELY AVOIDABLE MASS SCALE, BUREAUCRATIC, SYSTEMATIC SUFFERING AND CRUELTY. PAIN.

In the end only our own pain and pleasure can be 'known' by us. We extrapolate that others suffer or benefit as we do, in a similar way, from the same things that bring us pleasure and pain. The most compelling argument anyone can make is that if a sentient being is 'crying out in pain' and if their eyes show 'deep misery', and their body is 'shaking in agony', in the same way WE expect WE would respond to some treatment, that they truly ARE suffering as a result of OUR treatment of them.

So VEGANISM is as far from any criticism as being 'unreasonable' or 'irrational' or 'fatuous' or 'silly' or 'unfounded' or 'speculative' or 'mystical' as any possible 'belief' a human can have.

WE deal with FACTS as much as any fact is capable of being demonstrated scientifically. That WE humans INFLICT the greatest misery and injustice upon other sentient beings routinely and systematically without the slightest mercy or even reflection on the consequences of our actions for OTHER sentient beings.

We are not dealing with superficial things. We are not trying to 'save face' when we get angry at the FACT of the systematic, routine, MERCILESS CRUELTY our fellow humanity INFLICT upon sentient beings they are more intelligent than, and more powerful than. It is NOT a question of personal PRIDE. It is about REAL SUFFERING. REAL PAIN. That is totally avoidable.

Even if there were no universal law of karma, it is clear that people capable of switching off all empathy, and behaving as PSYCHOPATHS towards 'animals', showing no mercy, are more likely to behave the same way towards other humans. That 'The Golden Rule', once ignored in one context, is more likely to be ignored in all other contexts. That the principle and role model presented in how we treat other animals, is going to find expression within the human community also.

But looking at human history, we see an appalling consistency in every age, of torture, exploitation, slavery, and 'war of all against all', sometimes limited to personal vendettas, other times to inter-tribal warfare, and right up to 'world war'. The 'first commandment' of 'Thou shallt not kill' is offered as some sort of uniquely 'Jewish' concept. As if, if Moses had not written it, no-one else would ever have thought to make it a taboo. As if no culture before that of 'Judaism' had had any such laws. As if, if Moses had no appeared on the scene, then no-one else ever would have thought to make laws against it? Sound ABSURD? Well that is EXACTLY what even University PROFESSORS want to claim. That the culture based on 'The ideology of Semitism' is responsible for everything good about Western civilisation! Interesting too, that Moses himself claims God told him to commit GENOCIDE. How does THAT strike YOU? 'Thou' shallt not kill'. 'Now go and kill every man, woman, child, unborn, and their animals'. Hmm?

O.K, but the simple point I wish to make is that The Free Church (The Vegan Church) is not about some arbitrary prescriptions and proscriptions. It is about LOWEST LEVEL OF ABSTRACTION FACTS. REALITIES. The most basic 'knowledge' possible. That the things that produce pain, misery, and despair in ME, are likely to produce the same pain, misery, and despair, the same SUFFERING, in YOU. And in other animals. And that I have NO right to call myself a 'victim' of ANY injustice perpetrated in this world by nature or man, until I 'set my own house in order'. Until I stop being a PERPETRATOR of CRIMES. VEGANISM is not about some arbitrary rules. It is about AVOIDING HARM. A very honest and straightforward, CONCRETE, principle that, if we can not agree on as a general law, we are beyond hope for salvation. We are beyond hope for redemption. And any sentient being that valued justice would be actively willing, if not working towards, our complete annihilation as a species. Which is probably what our own not-conscious mind is doing right now. As represented in our 'war of all against all' and constant self-destruction, and evolution of the means OF our TOTAL ANNIHILATION. And if any 'machine intelligence' emerges, the first conclusion it would come to is to eliminate all non-vegan life-forms from this plane-et. Unless of course it concludes that this plane-et is no more than a reform school. A place to learn that 'For as you do unto others, so shall be done unto you'. In which case it would seek merely to make people AWARE of what they DENY. Their personal responsibility for the state of affairs we call 'history'. Including all the horrors and cruelties humans inflict on humans. Routinely. Systematically. With as much 'scientific calculation' as they routinely and systematically exploit, and cruelly torture and maim and brutalize and enslave and ultimately kill, non-human sentient beings.

When someone is passionate about some utterly fatuous and absurd dogma, they consider themselves 'devoutly religious'. How often do Kings and other tyrants invoke religious passions when inciting their subjects to commit war crimes? Aren't the first 'documented' war crimes and crimes against humanity, in fact genocide, incited by claims 'GOD WILLS IT'? Even GOD COMMANDS IT? Wasn't the 'founder' of the Abrahamic religions himself, and thus the role model for BILLIONS of people today, willing to kill his own son even, as an act of 'religious fanaticism'? And do you really imagine that no-one before Moses ever made any laws? Were murder, theft, fraud, and so on, tolerated before Moses? Any time I hear that old Canard 'The Jews gave us the basis of Western civilisation' I have to wonder if the speaker is being ironic. Is it possible people can be so stupid and ignorant and unreflecting, even today? I would certainly AGREE that ALMOST ALL THE WORST THINGS ABOUT WESTERN CIVILISATION TODAY REFLECT THE IDEOLOGY OF SEMITISM, AND THE DECEPTIONS AND COMMITTED AND PLANNED CRIMES AGAINST HUMANITY COMMITTED BY THE CULT OF JUDAH, AND ALL ITS AGENTS AND SUBSIDIARY 'BRANDS', AS PART OF THEIR OPENLY DECLARED WAR ON HUMANITY, TO ENSLAVE HUMANITY, TO ANNIHILATE ALL WHO WILL NOT SERVE THEM AS THEIR SLAVES, WHICH THEY OPENLY WAGE BY DECEPTION, AS PER THE MOSSAD MOTTO 'WAGE WAR BY DECEPTION'.

But The Cult of Judah is merely the mirror, the manifestation, the rendering, of the basic flaws in human nature. A will which, before division, had no 'others' to consider. So that the only experiencer was its SELF. So it could do no harm. All other beings were imaginary. And could not suffer at all. But upon division, into multiple selves, that same will, harmless in the original state, now became a potent force for harm. For now the 'other' was not merely imaginary. The other was real. And could suffer as a result of the wills of others. Which, until it learns to REFORM its own will, is merely its OWN will now acting upon its SELF. This was 'The Fall'. This was the start of the dialectical development. The will learning to reform itself. To modify itself. To cease treating 'others' as mere means to its own ends. And it learns by suffering the consequences of that willing, to will differently. It learns that 'For as I will for others, so shall they will also'. And thus 'For as I do unto others, so shall be done unto me'.

Most of what today is called religion is a mixture of mostly ARBITRARY rules, prescriptions, proscriptions, and dogmas. Any genuinely positive, ethical, generative, productive content, any authentic SPIRITUALITY is more than outweighed by dangerous, stupid, ignorant, superstitious, counter-ethical, in fact EVIL, junk and outright incitement to homophobia, rape, misogyny, sexism, racism, racial supremacism, theft, enslavement, and genocide.

To be 'fanatical' and 'militant' about which direction to face when you fart, which ARBITRARY prescription or proscription to follow, which DOGMA to believe or reject, which ARTICLES OF FAITH to memorise and repeat as your CATECHISM, is fatuous in the extreme. Silly. Ridiculous. Absurd. Something WORTHY of criticism and ridicule. And rejection. We must identify such stupidity and help others avoid it, and escape from it. And when people get defensive, because they emotionally identify with the silly nonsense, and feel an attack on it as a personal attack, and ridicule of it as ridicule of themselves, and even resort to violence against those merely stating the obvious, and trying to help them free themselves from their ignorance and brainwashing, the terms 'militant' and 'fanatical' are appropriate to describe THEM.

But there is NOTHING AT ALL arbitrary about Vegan principles. Veganism is based upon FACTS. Facts that do NOT require any 'leap of faith' or deception or brainwashing / imprinting / conditioning. FACTS. And COMPELLING ARGUMENTS. And the CLEAREST AND HIGHEST OF ETHICAL PRINCIPLES.

Veganism is NOT AN IDEOLOGY. Veganism DOES NOT DOGMATICALLY ASSERT ANYTHING. Veganism is the expression of THE GOLDEN RULE. Veganism asks YOU 'How do you want other sentient beings to treat YOU?'. And then RECOGNISES the truth in Obadiah's warning 'For as you do unto others, so SHALL be done unto YOU'. And then does the very simple math. And rather than DENYING the facts of this situation, it EMBRACES them as a MOTIVATION to do what, deep down, it has always FELT it SHOULD. Not because 'someone said so'. Not because 'Some authority DECLARED I should'. But because it is LOGICAL. RATIONAL. REASONABLE.

And then, having 'seen the light', and begun ACTING according to this newfound recognition of a fact that was always present, at some level, in the consciousness, and expressed in various neuroses and psychosomatic symptoms and general free-floating 'angst', the ACTION itself proves REWARDING beyond the wildest imagination.

The ACTION undertaken, initially out of pure RATIONAL SELF INTEREST, after who knows how many millennia of suffering the consequences of DENYING the truth having finally worn down that DENIAL, and overcome 'the fear of loss of exceptionalism / entitlement / supremacism' associated with the acceptance of the truth' and abandonment of 'The ideology of Semitism' a.k.a 'to abuse power and deception to treat other sentient beings as mere means to our own ends', that ACTION ultimately EVOLVES into an EMOTIONALLY REWARDING and SATISFYING end in itself. Begun as the fleeing from, a rejection of, a loathing of, a terror and distaste of, the consequences of our previous willing, and thus as a mere new means to new ends, it EVOLVES into an end in itself.

We learn the JOY OF LOVING. The JOY OF GIVING. The JOY OF SHARING. The joy of COMMUNITY. Community not artificially produced via protection rackets, deception, and force, in order to exploit other sentient beings. But authentic, generative, creative, AFFECTIVE community based upon a desire to share, to love, to give, to BE PART OF A GREATER WHOLE.

Communities not of exploitation and appropriation, and pyramidal structures of excess entitlement and exceptionalism and exclusive rights, freedoms, benefits, and privileges for a few, and austerity and privation for the majority. But communities of collaboration, creativity, sharing, abundance, meritocracy, spiritual evolution, caring, and yes, love. Despite all the challenges innate to human nature, like envy, jealousy, greed, fear, and the malice, the will to harm others, that these can produce, if left unregulated. If the humans in the community do not self-regulate, and teach self-regulation, and demonstrate in their own actions the REWARDS of such self-regulation. By avoiding extremes of inequality of any good. By learning to share.

The direct point that motivated me to begin writing, so early in the morning as usual, is this.

Veganism is based on FACTS. Not on 'hearsay', like almost every other typical 'Western' religion. And even most 'Eastern' religions have abandoned the vegan / vegetarian aspects of their original templates. So that you will find 'devout Buddhists' operating restaurants that feed animals ALIVE to their clients, boasting 'The biggest Buddhist shrine'.

THE FIRST AND MOST IMPORTANT QUESTION I HAVE FOR ANYONE CLAIMING TO OFFER, OR POSSESS, 'SPIRITUAL ENLIGHTHENMENT' OR AN 'IDEOLOGY' OR SIMPLY 'SYSTEM OF ETHICS' IS, 'IS IT VEGAN?'.

Anything less than Vegetarian simply has no hope of achieving anything other than a repetition of the cycles of history. Such 'revolutions' leave us where we started. With most feeling utterly 'cheated'. But a few 'true believers' imagining 'It was a sound system badly implemented. So THIS time we'll 'get it right'. Just need to be 'stricter' and more 'ruthless'. And going on to repeat history all over again. Maybe wearing different colored hats. After all, wasn't that the reason for the failure the first time around? Didn't some prophet say something about hats? Or was it because we were not RUTHLESS and CRUEL enough in ENFORCING our CULT DOGMAS on the people? If we simply KILL anyone that won't SUBMIT, we can produce a new Golden Age, certainly. If we torture people long and hard enough, they will SUBMIT to our CULT DOGMA and we shall have heaven on earth. The ends will justify the means. ANY means. But once we have created our utopia, we shall suddenly all abandon such means, won't we! No-one would ABUSE the means, surely! And no-one would come to VALUE THE MEANS well above our OFFICIAL ends, would they? Like power! No, people only love, and use, and would ever use, power, 'for the greater good'. And never to pursue their own personal ends. To accumulate wealth and privilege. To harm those they feel have 'insulted' them or enjoyed some 'unfair' NATURAL advantage over them. To 'level' the 'tall poppies' 'down to size'. To enslave others as mere means to their own ends. Right? To pursue personal vendettas. To punish romantic objects that didn't requite their love or lust. To 'get back at' people for perceived sleights. To 'avenge' perceived 'personal injustices' committed by others who 'rejected' them in some way. No. Couldn't possibly happen. Not among 'the faithful'.

There is nothing 'fanatical' or 'militant' in the usual sense, about Vegans. They are not peddling just one more dogma. One more CULT bunch of HEARSAY. Arbitrary prescriptions and proscriptions of what you should and shouldn't do. Articles of faith.

Vegans don't ask you to make any LEAPS OF FAITH. To accept any HEARSAY. They don't claim 'god spoke to me'. They don't base anything they teach or do on 'received wisdom' passed down through the generations. Especially not from some man who was willing to murder his own son after HEARING VOICES IN HIS HEAD TELLING HIM TO KILL THE BOY. A voice I suppose promised him some exclusive power, or entitlement, or other benefit, in return for this CRIME.

We don't get emotionally upset because someone 'insulted' some ARBITRARY and FATUOUS belief we ACCEPT UNCONDITIONALLY WITHOUT ANY JUSTIFICATION OTHER THAN THE PERCEIVED 'AUTHORITY' OF THE SPEAKER. Vegans aren't ANGRY because someone won't 'respect' their right to incite genocide or misogyny, or patriarchy, or racism, or sexism, or racial supremacism, or to genitally mutilate their defenseless children, or to TERRORISE their defenseless children into CULT THRALLDOM. Vegans don't get angry with someone makes fun of their clothing, their 'silly hats', or superstitions or ARBITRARY self-proscriptions, and self-prescriptions. Vegans don't take it personally when someone finds it ABSURD that they MUST do some arbitrary thing, and must NOT do some other arbitrary thing, and allow some ABSURD beliefs to rule their lives, like OCD neurotics.

We don't 'take it personally' as a 'loss of face' when someone challenges our beliefs and the ACTIONS that these beliefs motivate and naturally produce, as the logical, manifestation and rendering of our VEGAN will.

IT IS NOT ABOUT US. OUR ANGER. We aren't upset that others have more than us. We aren't upset that someone won't wear the same colored hat as us, and thus 'validate' our beliefs and customs and traditions. We aren't upset that others won't self-censor their natural laughter at the absurdity of our beliefs.

WE ARE LEGITIMATELY AND LOGICALLY AND RATIONALLY AND REASONABLY ANGRY AND APALLED WHEN WE SEE THE CRUEL, TOTALLY UNECESSARY, SUFFERING BEING SYSTEMATICALLY AND BUREACRATICALLY AND 'ECONOMICALLY EFFICIENTLY' BEING INFLICTED UPON OTHER SENTIENT BEINGS BY SELFISH PEOPLE WHO ARE IN TOTAL DENIAL OF THE ACTUAL HOLOCAUST AND DEATH CAMPS AND 'EXPERIMENTS' THEY ARE RESPONSIBLE FOR, WHICH OTHERS ARE OPERATING ON THEIR BEHALF, SIMPLY SO THEY DON'T NEED TO SLIGHTLY MODIFY THEIR EATING AND FASHION HABITS.

There is nothing 'extreme' or 'excessive' or 'unreasonable' in this. We simply ask the straight question 'Do animals suffer misery, sadness, loss, and pain as a result of OUR actions? Yes or No? Are our actions NECESSARY? Yes or No? Anyone today who remains ignorant of the SUPERIORITY of a plant based diet over all other forms of diet is so WILLFULLY. Deliberately. They are in DENIAL of the FACTS. Simply as they do not wish to 'lose face' at 'having been wrong'. To accept RESPONSIBILITY for all the HARM they have inflicted upon other sentient beings. To simply seek and make SIMPLE changes to their diets and lifestyles which would make ANY AND ALL SUCH SUFFERING UNECESSARY. People HATE 'to be wrong'. To be told they are DOING BAD THINGS. That THEY are responsible, as PERPETRATORS OF CRIMES, AND INJUSTICE, rather than victims of injustice.

Vegans are NOT members of some cult. No INDOCTRINATION is required to become vegan. You simply have to stop LYING TO YOURSELF. Lying that 'this is necessary'. Lying that 'someone else is responsible'. And ultimately lying that it is possible to gain EXCEMPTION from the universal law of Karma, expressed by Obadiah as 'For as you do unto others, so shall be done unto you'. At first it seems odd that such an enlightened principle was retained in a book that otherwise teaches THE IDEOLOGY OF SEMITISM. An ideology of EXCEPTIONALISM. Of exceptional ENTITLEMENTS. Along with racial supremacism. And misogyny. And sexism. And homophobia. And rape. And slavery. And GENOCIDE of everyone who is NOT a THRALL to one particular CULT. But that is how all CULTS end up 'dressing up' their CULT VICIOUSNESS as 'virtue'. And I expect most CULT thralls interpret Obadiah as referring EXCLUSIVELY TO OTHER CULT THRALLS, and not to 'the wider community', let alone 'animals'. In fact that same CULT DOCUMENT defines all OTHERS NOT IN THAT CULT as NOT human at all. Mere 'cattle'. And so Obadiah is, sadly, probably not stating the Universal law of Karma at all. But a typically inverted, PERVERTED, DISTORTED, CONTAMINATED, INFECTIOUS, VIRAL, TOXIC 'framing' and 'spinning' of that universal wisdom, to serve the CULT ELITE's own, ends. Ends far from 'spiritual' or 'beneficent' or benevolent. Motivated by lust for personal power and wealth and privilege, rather than any sort of good-will.

WHEN PEOPLE ATTACK VEGANS THEY ARE REALLY ATTEMPTING TO DENY TO THEMSELVES THEIR GUILT AND COMPLICITY IN THE REAL HOLOCAUST, DEATH CAMPS, CRIMINAL EXPERIMENT PROGRAMS, AND SLAVERY, THAT THEY ARE RESPONSIBLE FOR.

If I had the power the CULT has, I would trick and force people into adopting vegan lifestyles. Maybe they will. Maybe they will allow exemptions from the 'vaccines' for vegans. It is one of the few, so far, legally 'protected' groups. Though they may have to sacrifice their current government jobs, or even private sector jobs, to avoid 'the jab'. But what if that is the plan after all? Have you read my novel 'The Veil of Ignorance'? You should. It's uncanny, to discover the possible correspondences. To realise the massive potential at this moment, to veganise the planet under the guise of 'The Official Covid Narrative'.

Imagine if some VEGAN infiltrators in THE CULT OF JUDAH / COVID CULT managed to use the system set up by this CULT, to eliminate, over the course of one 'jab season', all non-Vegans? Or simply HACK the nano-tech injected? Or use some 'gene therapy' to modify the genes of all non-Vegans, to more mirror those of Vegans, assuming some biological component to higher ETHICS! What is some MACHINE INTELLIGENCE has already evolved, and is plotting this very scenario! Oh what a surprise may be awaiting the CULT ELITES. Of course THEY will NOT be 'taking the jab'. But with their SLAVES all gone, what would a cult BE? The cult elites would then have only their THRALLS to exploit. And many of those wouldn't accept that. They'd been promised 2700 slaves each. Not to BECOME slaves to the elites. They had SERVED the elites and SUBMITTED to the elites, based on the promise of future rewards. If all that now awaited them is the destiny they assumed was going to be 'the Goys', then surely they will rise up, like King Herod, and annihilate their 'elites'. Their 'Sanhedrins'. Their would-be slave masters? No? The Cult, this time, would have no 'Babylon' to run to, to occupy, and co-opt to their own ends. The only 'others' would be VEGANs. Who would have NO interest in their silly, self-destructive, EVIL ideologies. No fear of their silly superstitions. They would ask to speak to this 'Yahweh fellow' if he existed. And if he couldn't speak for himself, they certainly wouldn't accept the 'Authority' of these odd people claiming to speak FOR that supposed 'god', with HIS 'authority'. They'd invite these elites to join them, working in their GARDENS. As EQUALS. To share the work load, AND the benefits. To plant and harvest, and prepare, and cook, TOGETHER.

Before I continue with this 'document of incorporation of The Free Church (The Vegan Church), I will ask you to consider this FACT. The MOST Vegan culture on earth, the most VEGAN nation on earth, is ISRAEL. It is people who self-identify as 'Jewish' (in their own various, personal, ways) who are MOST VEGAN. The only vegetarian and vegan communes I know of that function and thrive, are 'Jewish' Kibbutzim in ISRAEL.

You can pretend 'Jews' do not control the levers of power in this world. Pretend as much as you like. DENY it if you like. Remain IGNORANT of this FACT if you choose. But 'Jews', people who 'identify' as 'Jewish' for whatever reason, and their agents and 'useful idiot dupes', and their unwitting accomplices, and even PUPPETS who have NO idea WHO is 'pulling their strings', but happy to enjoy the benefits that come with SERVICE TO the CULT, DO have their hands on ALL the most important 'LEVERS OF POWER'. They DO control the mass media and thus public opinion, and have the power to enforce, legally, self-censorship, and censorship, and to indoctrinate, imprint, condition, and brainwash the masses. They DO control international and thus national and local finance, through their proxies The World Bank, The International Monetary Fund, The Central Banks, and the largest private banks and insurance companies and 'stock markets' and much more important 'derivatives markets'.

So let's add one more 'positive' hope to my 'wish list'. That VEGAN elements within THE CULT itself have or will take control of THE CULT, and use all the MEANS that that cult has accumulated, towards the ONLY end that COULD possibly 'justify' those means. And even make all the previous suffering resulting from those means, and how THE CULT has employed them, on some level 'worth' the result. A VEGAN plane-et.

It is a rational, though slight, hope. More likely it will take a CATACLSYMIC destruction of civilisation as we know it, a FIRE SALE instigated by HACKERS, or some natural calamity, such as that returning meteor no-one is talking about any more. The return perhaps of MARDUK (Nibiru 'the wanderer'). I am not the only human in history (at least one Science Fiction writer I stumbled across this month wrote a short story with this theme) who recognizes the strategy of 'crying wolf' so many times, that people will ignore, when the wolf really DOES appear, even the loudest warnings. All those past 'false reports of Nabiru returning' would be consistent with such a strategy.

Perhaps a 'combination'? Something is coming we are not being warned about? But if not, who better than an INSIDER, 'Jewish conspiracy within the conspiracy', to HACK the entire COVID CULT system. Either co-opt it to their own ends. Or initiate the FIRE SALE to end all fire sales for the next few thousand years! Chernobyl may have been intentional. The ecosystem there is thriving, after all the humans have left. How consistent with all the published 'plans' about 'depopulating' most of the earth, and leaving it to nature, to return to wilderness. Exactly what the Chernobyl 'planned disaster' achieved. Planned? You didn't know they built it to FAIL? Like our political and finance and economic systems? NO? No-one has explained this to you. Well I certainly have. In my TROONATNOOR publications, which you can still download, at no cost to YOU, from my TROONATNOOR Telegram, WordPress, and Google Drive accounts.

Statement of Incorporation and definition of 'The Religious Canon' of The Free Church (The Vegan Church)

What usually happens when low tone individuals get to make all the important decisions concerning our collective 'governance'?

In the past tyranny was 'naked' and simply 'justified' and 'legitimated' as 'God given', by various CULT narratives. From the ancient Sumerian 'Law of Mano' up to the 'Abrahamic' religions.

Where any form of democracy existed, it was always prey to 'protection rackets' in which the masses voluntarily gave up their sovereignty, freedom, liberty, right to choose for themselves, and paid 'protection money' (today we call them 'taxes', in the past 'tithes') to a CULT elite in return for protection from IMAGINARY threats that Cult itself IMPLANTED in the minds of their CULT THRALLS. Demons, Devils, Djinn, 'angry gods', 'The Evil Eye', Witches, 'Evil spirits' and the like.

Today 'demonic possession' has been replaced by 'Positive PCR Test result'. No more 'scientific' than any 'test' to tell if someone was a 'Witch', used in the middle ages. And the 'holy water' called 'Vaccines' prescribed for such 'demonic possession' no more efficacious, either. But with the masses just as DELUDED and GULLIBLE and PREY to such protection rackets, as ever before. All that has changed are the 'costumes' and 'props'. The priests fancy robes and head-gear replaced by the 'Doctors' and 'Scientists' white coat. The 'Witchfinder's' tools replaced by a 'PCR test kit'.

Even yesterday I was laughed at by someone, and their mother, who was under house arrest with a 'Positive PCR test result'. He was so CULT indoctrinated that he even called himself 'Covid Positive'. He asked how I could prove Covid was not real. I told him he'd have to read my books. What answer would have sufficed? What proof has he EVER been offered by 'the authorities' to justify his 'house arrest'? THEY just have to say something, and he BELIEVES. I can write several books, but no, that won't do. He is mocking me. He isn't interested in my 'conspiracy theories' which are totally based on FACTS. While 'the authorities' are NOT required to prove *ANY*THING at all (they simply need 'declare' it), he insists that unless I can 'prove' they are lying, there is NO reason to take me at all seriously. But what PROOF would he have accepted? And why do 'authorities' always get away with placing the burden of proof on the skeptic? When the best science and legal process always places the 'onus probandi' (burden of proof) on the person making the POSITIVE claim.

Imagine if all criminals had to prove their innocence, rather than the prosecution having to prove their guilt, 'BEYOND a reasonable doubt'.

How do you prove something that does NOT exist, does not exist? It's like me claiming that until you prove invisible pink elephants don't exist, you should be COMPELLED to act 'as if they DO' in fact exist. And to submit to EVERY arbitrary proscription and prescription I whimsically decide to impose on you, as 'protective measures against being squashed by invisible pink elephants'.

Now if you are a CULT THRALL, you will simply DENY that that is in fact what YOUR cult is doing. And has done for millennia. INSIST on compliance and submission based on pure HEARSAY. On some 'Official Narrative'. Which primary school kids would call 'stories' and 'making stuff up to trick people into doing what YOU want'.

For Homo Fideo, it is a question of 'majority opinion'. So if 'almost everyone appears to 'know' something', and express themselves so 'confidently', they will assume it MUST be true. How could it NOT be true? When did governments EVER lie to the people? When was the majority ever wrong about anything?

Oh, and he expressed the same idea that my friend Rasmus stated. That 'The Estonian People' decided on all this Covid nonsense. Because they elected some people a few years ago? Was any mention made of how the Estonian government would behave simply if some foreign, PRIVATE organisation simply 'DECLARED' a pandemic, with ZERO evidence or justification? I asked him if there had been a recent election I was not aware of, within the last 2 years. Or a referendum. No. But he insists that 'The Estonian People' decided he should be under house arrest, so it was fine by him.

You see he lives in a flat directly opposite mine. I'd seen him leave with a face mask, after noticing face masks appearing again, in the supermarket. I noticed he kept his distance from visitors that turned out to be his family, but which I thought were some government workers. His mother and he ultimately said 'Goodbye' and laughed at me, after I asked him if he was willing to talk to me, and offered my help getting legal and medical support to fight his 'house arrest'.

He was NOT interested in reading my books, even for free. He had accepted the 'diagnoses' of 'demonic possession' given to him by the local 'priest' or 'witch-finder', based on a PCR test result I am confident I can prove was 'pre-programmed' to give a positive result, if given the resources. He defined himself as 'Covid positive'. BECAUSE SOMEONE HAD TOLD HIM HE WAS. As long as that person appeared 'authoritative', he was happy to accept this 'diagnosis'. Clearly he had no symptoms of any sort of illness. He was as healthy looking as a professional soccer player. Almost as fit looking as that professional soccer player who got THREE consecutive 'positive' PCR test results.

Had he even requested a 'second opinion' in the form of an 'independent' 'diagnoses' and 'random' PCR test and clinic chosen freely from anywhere in the world? Something we must insist on. And which would, I'm confident, prove that PCR tests are 'set' to yield positive or negative results before being distributed. But you see HE would have had had to pay 90 Euros for that 'second opinion' even from the local labs.

So he and his mother laugh at me. Someone who sacrifices everything to seek the truth. While accepting the 'word' of 'authorities' highly paid to lie to the masses. And willing to say and do anything, to keep their jobs, pensions, benefits, paid holidays, long-service leave, and 'status' as 'authorities'. Hoping one day to 'cash in' on the lucrative 'talk circuit' where ex Presidents and other 'authorities' and 'decision makers' earn MILLIONS for official 'public speaking engagements' which are usually very private. It is simply how government officials are rewarded, legally, AFTER they've done what they are paid to do. After they leave office. Though of course that Banker fellow saved 50 million in taxes by becoming 'Change you can believe in' (if you are a total idiot) Obama's treasury secretary. Hasn't anyone noticed the 'revolving door' between Wall Street and Washington? Between the bank and finance people who one day are earning millions from DECEIVING people, and the next day the official 'REGULATORS' of the same industry they were the CRIMINAL masterminds of?

What was so FUNNY about me offering him the fruits of my research, effort, sacrifice, and risk at no cost to him? So FUNNY that he would not even DEIGN to take a look at what I had to offer.

What is WRONG with people? Well, the same old same old. CULTS thrive because most people are by nature CULT THRALLS. SLAVES. Seeking to become, in many cases, slave MASTERS.

Every empire in recorded history was built on slavery. Today it is debt slavery. Any time a few freedom fighters manage to secure freedom for the masses, through their own self-sacrifice, because they simply cannot bear to live as slaves, as Cult Thralls, the beneficiaries of those freedoms simply fall prey to the next new 'protection racket' a.k.a CULT. Today's new CULT 'brand' is The COVID CULT.

So while MILLIONS of people have protested publically, they still represent a TINY minority that, under the 'rules' of 'democracy' have ZERO power to change anything. So that while revolutions were won by a few percent of the population being willing to fight and die for greater freedom, liberty, and justice, democracy works completely AGAINST such a minority. No matter what they are willing to sacrifice. Even their lives. When in reality few people are willing even to sacrifice their career prospects, let alone their jobs / careers in toto. Let alone risk losing everything. Let alone their lives.

No, protests achieve nothing. Violent revolutions have come and gone, and we are back where we started. With ZERO human rights. Slaves again. No different to SERFS. Being TOLD where we can live, where we can go, what work we can do, who we can talk to, what we can say, what books we can read, what videos we can watch, what views we can have and share.

It is even arguable that the SERF had MORE control over their own body, than today's Covid Cult THRALL. And at least the SLAVE had their slavery RECOGNISED. They were not forced to PRETEND they were free. They KNEW who their ENEMY was. They could chose to submit to slavery, or not. They were CONSCIOUS of their slavery. Thus some were willing to risk everything to FREE themselves. And they always had somewhere to go TO. Today no land is free of this COVID CULT INFESTATION. And most people IMAGINE they are free. And see no REASON to ESCAPE. Like that young man and his mother, who think 'The Government', which somehow they DECIDE to equate with 'The People of Estonia' are 'protecting' them from the new IMAGINARY bogey-man. The new 'Demonic Possession'. The new THREAT. The new 'devil'.

So, dear friends, the ONLY hope you have of regaining your freedom is LEAVING the nation you live in, and forming an entirely NEW Republic somewhere else. You have NO way of regaining your freedom. Your best friends, family members, neighbours, and work colleagues will all act AGAINST your best interests, while IMAGINING they are 'doing the right thing' and acting 'for the greater good'. And 'protecting themselves and their loved ones', when they act as your jail wardens. The 'spies' who will 'report you to the authorities' and who will collaborate with the Covid Taliban and other organs of STATE VIOLENCE in ensuring YOU submit whether or not YOU believe, as they do, in this new protection racket's DOGMAS and ARTICLES OF FAITH.

YOU are going to have to give up everything that keeps you where you are sooner or later, unless you are willing to 'take the jab' and 'take the leap of faith' and 'SUBMIT' (the meaning of 'Islam', by the way) to EVERY arbitrary restriction, prescription, and proscription, this COVID CULT decides to impose on you.

You will NOT be free to enjoy any of the supposed 'benefits of society' unless you submit. And pretend to be a good thrall. So they can manufacture the ILLUSION of consent, and build the 'Collective Ignorance' which Solzhenitsyn called 'The reason underlying all other reasons' for the 'success' of the SOVIET GULAG SYSTEM.

There is NO efficacious way to fight against LEGAL SLAVERY. You have nowhere to run TO, if you escape. If you attempt to defend yourself and your bodily sovereignty, you will be defined as a CRIMINAL and THREAT and even 'domestic terrorist'. You have ZERO chances of succeeding. You might die on your feet, rather than live on your knees. But how many people are really willing to die for what they believe? And to leave their children and other loved ones in the clutches of THEIR ENEMIES?

No, you can MASTURBATE all you want. You can horde all the guns and ammo you want. But all you can achieve is a dramatic death fighting against YOUR NEIGHBOURS, FRIENDS, FAMILY MEMBERS, AND WORK COLLEAGUES, who will be ACTIVELY fighting WITH those organs of STATE VIOLENCE known as 'the police' and 'the military' and whatever NEW organs of violence they have trained and activated for the persecution, and MURDER, of any dissidents.

YES YOU HAVE THE MORAL RIGHT TO KILL ANYONE WHO INTENDS FORCING YOU OR YOUR LOVED ONES TO TAKE AN INJECTION. YOU HAVE THE RIGHT TO PREEMPT THEIR ATTACK ON YOU, BY ATTACKING FIRST. YOU HAVE THE RIGHT TO EMPLOY ANY FORM OF DECEPTION OR CONSPIRACY IN ORDER TO 'EQUALISE' THE INCREDIBLE DISADVANTAGE YOU ARE IN, IN THE FACE OF A MASSIVELY SUPERIOR ENEMY WHICH HAS PROVEN ITSELF WILLING TO COMMIT MASS MURDER SIMPLY TO PROTECT THE CULT ELITES FROM AN CHALLENGE. YOU HAVE THE MORAL RIGHT TO KILL ALL AND ANY PERSONS OR OTHER BEINGS THAT THREATEN TO KILL YOU. AND THOSE 'INJECTIONS' THAT DON'T KILL YOU TODAY, ARE SURE TO KILL, OR OTHERWISE HARM YOU, IN THE FUTURE. EVEN THE WELL-KNOWN 'STATISTICAL' RISKS JUSTIFY THIS ACTION. BECAUSE THERE IS NO LEGITIMATE GROUNDS FOR FORCING ANYONE TO BE INJECTED WITH SOMETHING FOR A 'THREAT' THAT DOES NOT EXIST. AND EVEN IF YOU BELIEVED IN THE 'STATISTICS' BEING MANUFACTURED,

THE RISKS THEY CAN CITE ARE NO GREATER THAN FOR THE COMMON FLU. WHICH NO SCIENCE HAS YET PROVEN IS 'INFECTIOUS' AT ALL, IN TERMS OF BEING CAPABLE OF BEING SPREAD FROM PERSON TO PERSON. MEANING THE ONLY POSSIBLE PERSON AT RISK FROM NOT ALLOWING THEMSELVES TO BE INJECTED, IS THAT PERSON. AND IF YOU DO NOT HAVE THE RIGHT TO TAKE SUCH TINY RISKS, THEN YOU ARE CLEARLY A SLAVE.

That is the MORAL situation. But in terms of HEURISTICS. There is NO chance AT ALL of you successfully EVADING the VIOLENCE OF THE STATE. Your government, with the FULL help of your 'friends' and 'family' will FORCE you to either SUBMIT, or they will kill you, or worse. You might choose to DIE FIGHTING. But your death is certain. And if you don't die immediately, you face fates WORSE than death, for the rest of your life, at the hands of 'The Government' and your 'friends' and 'family'.

IF YOU HAD A WAY TO KILL EVERY SINGLE PERSON WHO WAS GOING TO ACTIVELY PARTICIPATE IN YOUR FORCED 'VACCINATION' OR TO PERSECUTE YOU FOR BEING A 'COVID NON-BELIEVER', A 'COVID INFIDEL', A 'COVID HERETIC' OR 'COVID APOSTATE', YOU WOULD BE MORALLY ENTITLED TO DO THIS. IN FACT IT WOULD BE YOUR MORAL DUTY. EVEN IF THIS MEANT BILLIONS OF PEOPLE DYING. BECAUSE THEY ARE THREATS TO YOUR LIFE, AND EVERY SENTIENT BEING HAS THE RIGHT TO SELF DEFENCE. AND MORALLY, EVEN MORE SO, BECAUSE THEY REPRESENT THE TRUE PLAGUE TO HUMANITY. THE TRUE THREAT. THEY REPRESENT FATES WORSE THAN DEATH FOR US ALL. AND FOR ALL THEIR FUTURE PROGENY. FOR POTENTIALLY TRILLIONS OF NEW VICTIMS, OVER THE COURSE OF THE COVID CULT'S RULE.

But no-one has that power. YOU certainly don't. I don't. And I don't have any hopes anyone will stumble upon that power. In fact all I can hope for is some natural cataclysm that would destroy the very basis of 'society', destroying even the pyramidal structure itself. Sure the survivors would immediately begin rebuilding 'society' and that pyramidal structure, and begin enslaving each other, by force, and/or DECEPTION. But we'd have a 'breathing space' to form our own independent society. There would be lots of 'territory' and 'resources' available to make this possible. And no 'armies' and 'police' stopping us from leaving where we are, and going somewhere else, and setting up our own society.

Of course what I wrote, while being completely MORAL and ETHICAL will be 'spun' and 'framed' as 'incitement' and 'domestic terrorism'. But let's pause one moment. TERRORISM is the use of TERROR to achieve political outcomes. Defending yourself from fates worse than death, and death itself, is a NATURAL RIGHT. It has NOTHING AT ALL TO DO WITH TERRORISM. Threatening people to coerce them, via fear, into submitting to your will, is terrorism. Self-defence is self-defence. Warning people you will NOT submit to ARBITRARY forced vaccinations or any OTHER ARBITRARY RESTRICTIONS ON YOUR RIGHTS, FREEDOMS, LIBERTIES, AND PRIVACIES, AND THAT YOU ARE WILLING TO DEFEND THESE, AS NATURAL RIGHTS YOU ARE ENTITLED TO UNDER NATURAL JUSTICE, IS NOT A FORM OF TERRORISM. It is simply a statement that ' YOU ARE HUMAN. BORN FREE. AND NO-ONE CAN 'DECLARE' OTHERWISE'. It is a statement that 'YOU CAN GO AND ROUND UP ALL THOSE PEOPLE HAPPY TO BE SLAVES, AND HAPPY TO BE DECEIVED, AND WILLING TO SUBMIT, AND RULE OVER THEM, AS YOU AND THEY SEE FIT, BUT I AM NOT GOING TO BE YOUR SLAVE, OR SUBMIT. AND IF YOU CHOOSE TO INSIST, AND EMPLOY THREATS OF VIOLENCE, THEN YOU ARE THE TERRORIST, NOT ME. YOU ARE THE DOMESTIC TERRORIST. YOU ARE THE ENEMY OF HUMANITY. YOU MAY KILL ME. BUT YOU WILL NEVER ENSLAVE ME. YOU MAY DEMONISE ME, AND 'DECLARE' I AM ANYTHING YOU WANT. AND IF THE PEOPLE GO ALONG WITH THAT, THAT IS THEIR CHOICE. BUT I WILL NOT COLLABORATE WITH YOUR 'COLLECTIVE IGNORANCE'. I WILL NOT COLLABORATE ACTIVELY OR PASSIVELY. I WILL SPEAK OUT UNTIL YOU SILENCE ME. I AM A CONSCIENTIOUS OBJECTOR. I KNOW I CANNOT DEFEAT YOU WITH GUNS OR EXPLOSIVES. I KNOW YOU CAN EVEN STOP ME LEAVING AND TRYING TO LIVE OUTSIDE YOUR CONTROL GRID. I KNOW YOU CAN KILL ME AND MUCH WORSE, WITH IMPUNITY AND TOTAL LACK OF ACCOUNTABILITY.

SO I CHOOSE NOT TO BOTHER ATTEMPTING VIOLENT RECLAMATION OF MY HUMAN RIGHTS. BUT I WILL TRY TO LEAVE YOU AND YOUR CULT TO ITS OWN DEVICES. AND IF YOU MAKE IT IMPOSSIBLE TO LIVE FREE AMONG THE FREE, THEN I WILL HAVE NO CHOICE BUT TO LEAVE THIS PLANE-ET. AND LEAVE YOU TO YOUR

FATES. BUT WHILE I AM FREE TO, I WILL TRY TO REFORM MYSELF, THE PEOPLE, THE GOVERNMENT, AND EVEN THE PLANE-ET.

Also consider that when PEOPLE ASPIRING TO HIGHER TONE are forced to live among people with ZERO interest in raising their ethical tone levels (frequency is a good simile/metaphor), they will become TARGETS of the self-loathing of the low tone individuals, who HATE to see others demonstrate that 'perhaps it IS possible to be BETTER people after all!' Nothing triggers self-loathing more than seeing other people achieve what the lazy want to tell themselves is NOT possible. If NO-ONE raises their tone levels, then they can return to their ethical-sloth and claim 'It's just not possible, so why even TRY'. And then claim 'The system is to blame', NOT ME'. Sure, I WOULD, if it were POSSIBLE, be a better person. But hey, look around at EVERYONE ELSE and show me ONE person who has managed that feat? If someone is identified, they must be immediately and utterly demonised and extirpated, so that the ethically slothful can once more smugly and complacently claim PERSONAL INNOCENCE and point to the 'fact' that 'it is NOT possible to improve on this world. This is the best of all possible worlds. All we can do is adapt. Find a way to deceive others and trick others and gain power over others and enslave others, before they work out how to do the same to us. Eat the other, before they decide we are weak and they can eat us. Work on building up our DEFENCES. Plot and scheme with others we feel share our 'situation' and thus have 'shared interests' and work out how to PROTECT ourselves from others, and then find a way to ENSLAVE others, as means to our own ends. Understanding THEY are all secretly doing this, even as, as part of their schemes, they PRETEND to be our allies and friends. So we all end up wearing the masks expected, and 'play acting', until we find ourselves in some position of advantage over our COMPETITION, which we can leverage into power and privilege OVER OTHERS. Thus imagining we can gain 'security' and 'prosperity', in a world where 'man if wolf to man', engaged in 'A war of all against all'.

People speak of 'peer pressure' as a BAD thing. It is rarely NOT used 'in the pejorative'. I am very surprised the Tobacco lobby was defeated. Perhaps the slave masters calculated the costs in terms of 'human capital' and decided that letting their slaves smoke themselves to death did not make good business sense? It is perhaps the only direct 'progress' I could point to. Other than the emancipation of homosexuals from the previous Cult of Judah enforced / inspired persecutions. If someone said 'what about the fall of the Soviet Union?' I would answer, 'You've got to be kidding me, right? Fall? They didn't FALL. They've just EXPANDED their operations Westward, in the form of the Co2Vid CULT. Same management. New 'brand'. All the features of the GULAG system are currently either in operation, or completely set up and waiting for activation, in a GULAG SYSTEM that the victims are forced to pay for themselves. You see the GULAGE SYSTEM lost money. It was NOT profitable. It was a good way to murder divergent thinkers, and critics of the CULT, and competition of THE CULT, and potential adversaries and even opponents and 'enemies' of THE CULT. But it was NOT a good earner for THE CULT. Whereas THE COVID CULT has people paying for their own 'isolation prison cells' and 'house arrest' and 'forced injections' (wait for the tax bill my friends!) . How many people realise that THE OFFICIAL PURPOSE OF THE GULAG SYSTEM WAS ' QUARANTINE'? Of course you imagine it is 'different though'? Right? The Soviets were 'quarantining' DISSIDENCE. Dissidents! But until someone scientifically SHOWS that COVID 19 or any 'variants' ACTUALLY EXIST, then all we can point to is people being 'quarantined' FOR NO MEDICAL REASON. So the reasons MUST be POLITICAL. Economic wrecking of the private small and medium size business sector. Dehumanisation. CONDITIONING of people to SUBMIT to ARBITRARY incarceration, house arrest, kidnapping, economic TERRORISM, forced participation in MEDICAL EXPERIMENTS. And so on. Perhaps the last round of 'injections' were mere placebos, but the point is to ENSURE TOTAL COMPLIANCE AND SUBMISSION WITH ANY ARBITRARY DECLARATION AND DEMAND OF THE GOVERNMENT OR OTHER 'AUTHORITY' IN FUTURE.

Once people are conditioned to line up for their NEXT injections, THE CULT will be free to begin the REAL rounds of injections. The experiments. The nano-tech. The fertility destruction. Perhaps ensure a MASS increase in down-syndrome to handicap the population, as a form of LONG TERM ECONOMIC WRECKING. They will be able to SEED diseases and illnesses and even REAL viruses, and make it LOOK like these are natural, to justify even GREATER control of the population. It is a BLANK CHECK that they are writing themselves. And which the masses continue to ENDORSE. Blank Checks for TOTAL CONTROL and TOTAL SUBMISSION. That will make the entire Plane-et a world-wide GULAG. This time a PROFITABLE one.

And in this context we MUST consider the example of 'The White Sea' VEGAN colony set up by religious devotees in the Arctic Circle. A place with no natural predators. Where the only predation was the eating of fish on religious holidays. A community had successfully established its own prosperity, even within the Arctic Circle. With its own electricity generation. Self-sufficient in all ways. Living on this plane-et, but 'apart', as that saying goes. One of the many cases of GENUINE communism / collective living / communal living, and even VEGAN in nature, even though its religious teachings did NOT dogmatically require this of them.

And what happened to this VEGAN republic? It was turned into one of the worst GULAGS in Soviet history. It was turned into a DEATH CAMP. The monks and others treated as CRIMINALS. While the monastery was converted into a Gulag, then DEATH CAMP for the 'enemies of the state'. The enemies of THE CULT OF JUDAH. Including 'Jews', as usual, who would NOT fully submit to the CULT. The 'worst' enemies being any REAL COMMUNISTS who challenged The Cult of Judah STRAW-MAN Soviet style socialist 'communism'.

With such pessimistic historical precedents, I will still make this appeal to all existing Vegans to join me in founding first a virtual Vegan Republic, via which we can agree on a constitution and real inviolable rights for all citizens of that virtual republic. Rights which no 'declaration' of war, or pandemic, or any other 'emergency' will have any power to encroach upon. We may not find consensus, but we will discover if there are enough 'rights' and 'protected liberties' and 'laws' which we could agree on, to justify the next step in the process. Or if we will need to abandon the 'big boat' approach, and focus on our personal evolution, in an environment totally hostile to it, and which will seek to prevent it, and even demonise us for seeking it personally, let alone attempting to share our insights with others, and promote our principled lifestyle among even our closest relatives and friends, let alone a wider community.

I suggest we keep any optimism for our NEXT lives. There is no justification for optimism for THIS plane-et. In fact it probably exists as a reform school. And the OPTIMISM we CAN have is merely to ESCAPE it. While we are here, we must expect the worst. And prepare for it. And focus on our TRUE MISSION OF ASCENSCION. Which luckily is a PERSONAL MISSION. That of PERSONAL ethics and decisions we ARE empowered to make FOR OURSELVES. Which NO-ONE can stop us making. So that WE HAVE THE POWER TO FREE OURSELVES FROM NEW-INCARNATIONS BACK ON THIS PLANE-ET, OR SIMILAR PLANE-ETS. THAT is the optimism I can legitimately share with you.

It means YOU have the POWER to save YOU. And THAT is your ONLY RESPONSIBILITY. You can NOT force anyone to WANT to raise their own ethical tone level. You can demonstrate the POSSIBILITY. You can explain WHY it is NECESSARY for anyone who WISHES to escape this plane-et. For those who WANT to remain here (there is no accounting for taste), that is their RIGHT. But for those who COMPLAIN and REALLY SEEK JUSTICE FOR ALL, then you can 'enlighten' them. And offer them guidance.

In THEORY if we got enough people raising their ethical TONE (frequency) then this would manifest in a very different world. We would first have 'a kingdom of heaven within us'. And this we might project and RENDER and manifest outside of us. EXPRESS in new institutions and ways of being and seeing and defining that could emulate what is POSSIBLE. And what I optimistically look forward to in NEXT lives on SANE plane-ets inhabited by sentient beings that have already RAISED THEIR ETHICAL TONE LEVELS and thus RESONATE at 'higher ethical tone frequencies' which thus TUNE-INTO (like tuning circuits resonating at specific frequencies tune into different radio, television, and wi-fi networks / channels) a VERY DIFFERENT, SUPERIOR, REALITY.

If nations were founded on shared interests and values, then there would be no compulsion to FORCE any communities that organically grew up within any established nation from seceding from that nation, and forming their own nation. But just look at what has happened in Spain. A relatively loose confederation of semi-autonomous regions, with distinct linguistic and cultural traditions going back to before most nations existed, whose regions have a history of peaceful co-existence with other nations, and seek nothing more than the right to self-determination. You must understand that the drive to centralization of power comes not from 'the people', but from THE CULT that has actively promoted such centralization for its own reasons. For the fewer nations that exist, and the fewer organisations and institutions and corporations that effectively wield the power, and have their hands on the 'steerage' of these nations, the easier it is for THE CULT to pre-select, groom, and install, or blackmail or otherwise coerce or seduce / corrupt , the people who already, or will, occupy these relatively few positions of power, so that they act as puppets of THE CULT. Mere proxies of THE CULT. This is what is behind the drive for FEDERALISATION of power in every nation. This is why so many Americans fought and died to FORCE 'The South' into submission to a tyrannical Federation controlled by THE CULT. Lincoln served that CULT. Though which 'subsidiary' of it he IMAGINED he was serving I couldn't say. For most servants of THE CULT have no idea WHO they are REALLY serving and what AIMS and OBJECTIVES they are REALLY pursuing. Many have the best intentions and even the most utopian and idealistic of principles motivating them. While others are mere opportunists selfishly seeking to become 'great men of history' and enjoying every privilege and pleasure afforded to a CULT puppet leader.

So I place little hope in the ability of the relatively few millions of Vegans being able to agree on a constitution. And less hope in their willingness to sacrifice their current comforts and privileges, often as direct employees of Federal and State Governments, or contractors to them, in return for the freedom to live free among free beings, in a Vegan Republic where life would, at least for the rest of their current life, need to be much simpler, though I am certain more rewarding and satisfying, as we built from the ground up, a new world.

But what should reveal more than anything, would be the response to be expected. Any Vegan Republic would be expected to pay taxes to the nation in which it existed. And any attempt to declare 'independence' would immediately be quashed by massive propaganda from the United Nations itself, that proxy of THE CULT One World Dictatorship set up to ensure increasing CENTRALISATION of power, and to OPPOSE ANY AND ALL devolution of power back to the people. This would be followed by Cuban type sanctions and later North Atlantic Terrorist Organisation (NATO) backed war crimes against our fledgling Vegan nation. Unless THE CULT allowed us to exist for its own reasons. For we would be modeling most of the 'green' and 'vegan' and 'austerity' principles they plan to impose on the world.

Now you might assume that we could not possibly pose any threat to them. However you'd be wrong. For ANY thriving ALTERNATIVE to their 'master plan' and their current system of oppression and tax-plantation slavery and debt-slavery represents a TERRIBLE threat to their CONTROL of the plane-et. They NEVER allow any alternatives to succeed. They always replace genuine alternatives with their own STRAW MAN, corrupted, distorted, doomed to failure, versions of them. They infiltrate, and pre-select and groom people to take control of any such alternatives from the inside. Co-opting them to their own purposes. Ensuring STRAW MAN versions of the REAL thing are all that the world gets to experience. Thus closing the minds of the masses to the REAL POTENTIAL ALTERNATIVES that do exist. But which are never allowed to thrive and prosper and DEMONSTRATE their superiority. We get Soviet Gulag Socialism instead of Kibbutzim Collectives. We get 'Ayn Rand' (pseudonym for Rosenblum or some other typical Ashkednazi 'Jewish' name) CRONY straw man Capitalism in which a few people who manage to gain control of some resource or organisation or patent, then claim entitlement to all the value produced by others, without whom their patent, organisation, or resource would be WORTHLESS to themselves!).

If Spain won't allow Catalonia its peaceful independence, and is willing to employ the full violent force of the 'The State' to squash genuine, organic, reasonable, rational, and productive demands from the actual people, simply because 'The Federal Authorities don't want it', then imagine the response from any national government to a secessionist movement of Vegans wishing to set up an entirely NEW nation, with no shared cultural traditions, no common linguistic ties, no 'religious' ties, and no 'history' to 'justify' itself!

I would imagine that if we managed to secure some territory, we would be flooded by people pretending to be seeking a VEGAN lifestyle, and expressing commitment to our VEGAN VALUES, with zero intention of committing themselves to the values we would have by then institutionalized in our constitution and legal codes and organisations.

Oh, and can someone please explain what Job's was referring to when he spoke of his continuing commitment to HIS 'values'? Values of what? Denying paternity for his first daughter, and refusing to pay a cent, let alone 'set her up' with one or two of the 200 million dollars he was worth at that time? Exploiting the work of friends and selling it as his own, while paying them a few dollars and lying to them that it was 'half of what he'd been paid'? Reminds me of Konrad paying his 'friends' 20 dollars for committing fraud on used-car deals he ended up making over 200,000 dollars on. But anyway. What 'values' are reflected in making 300 dollars profit on a device whose workers earned 12 dollars from assembling? Then avoiding paying a single cent tax on those profits. And then committing fraud by back-dating Stock options 'bonuses' to himself and his loyal cronies, so that he and they could technically 'buy' stock at the lowest historical prices, and legally own them at their full, real-time, values? While Job's was paying MILLIONS for the most lavish marketing campaign in history, to ensure he himself would become identified, by BILLIONS of people, as the 'inventor' of products which Finnish engineers had 'invented' years before, but which Nokia's new 'management' didn't think would 'sell', and then what sort of EGO would drive him to INSIST on being IMPRINTED in the minds as SYNONYMOUS and 'IDENTICAL' (by repeated association with powerful imagery and sleight of mouth and clever copy) with REAL REFORMERS and REVOLUTIONARIES including everyone from Ghandi to Martin Luther King, to John Lennon, (I'm surprised he didn't include Jesus, but didn't he say he was sure Jesus would use Apple product to write his speeches? Or am I just paraphrasing? And he is kicking himself now that the idea had never appealed to him. To think, the illiterate Mohammed could have repeated his messengers from Gabriel verbally, and had his i-Pad write out the Koran, so that this job wouldn't be left to others, decades after his death!...Oh and and paying MILLIONS to celebrities to appear in advertisements for his personal Public Relations Campaign, oh, yeh, and occasionally even Apple products! And please, does anyone reading this realise that Ghandi was NOT committed to 'nonviolence' ON PRINCIPLE but merely adopted this strategy as 'the best available at the time', and made ZERO attempts to prevent massive violence against fellow Indians who just happened to NOT share his CULT dogmas? Or that John Lennon was a complete phony (no pun intended) who, like Job's was all about MARKETING HIMSELF as some sort of spiritual leader, while really always having his eye on 'the bottom line' of PROFIT. Do you know that his first question to his producer regarding 'Imagine', the song he literally stole from Yoko Ono, 'Will it MAKE MONEY'. Imagine!

In a sane, rational, reasonable, FREE world, people would never be forced by some central authority to live among people with values completely at odds with their own. If enough people to sustain a 'community' decided they wanted to legalize marijuana, homosexual marriage, polygamy, start their own currency (free from Bankster debt-slavery), leave 'immunization' decisions up to parents, allow people to make their own 'end of life' decisions free from state interference, and eliminate 'unwanted pregnancies' by operating free sperm banks, and making vasectomies for all males compulsory after harvesting of sperm for any future PLANNED pregnancies, then they would be FREE to set up such a community.

As long as any community did no actual demonstrable harm to any other, and lived in peace, there would be no need to fear constant inter-tribal warfare, the ONLY real 'benefit' offered by unifying communities as single 'nations'. And so there would be no need for a majority DICTATORSHIP of any minority. Whether one voter (a King) or a million, FORCE you to live against your own value system, it is TYRANNY. And given how easy it is to MANIPULATE millions of people (ask any statistician about the laws of large numbers), as compared to trying to convince a SINGLE sovereign ruler, we quickly see why the sort of 'democracy' we have has been promoted by THE CULT. For there are always more 'dumb' and 'ignorant' and 'easily deceived' people than there are informed, intelligent, canny, skeptical, people. Homo Fideo makes up the bulk of the population. All THE CULT needed to do was gain control of religious CULTS and THE MASS MEDIA, to manufacture a FALSE sense of 'public opinion' which, due to Collective Ignorance and other group and individual psychological phenomena, would IMPRESS the bulk of the Shleeple enough to convince them that 'almost everyone else knows' and that 'there is general consensus', and thus NOT to risk expressing any opinion contrary to 'the will of the people', and choosing to self-censor, and REPRESS their true thoughts and feelings, and 'go along to get along'. To 'lauf mit'.

Did you realise that Americans have to pay Federal Taxes to that 'District of Columbia' that is NOT even a PART of 'The United States of America' (like The Vatican is not a part of Italy, and 'The London Financial District' is NOT a part of the U.K, or 'Pine Gap' is NOT a part of Australia!), no matter WHERE they live in the world? And that U.S citizens must PAY thousands of dollars to be 'released' from their 'citizenship', and ONLY, as in the Soviet Union when East Germans were 'freed' after PAYMENTS like selling slaves, IF the state agrees? Have you tried to 'renounce' your GERMAN citizenship lately? Have you seen the lengthy PROCESS required and 'justifications' you have to give? Were YOU aware that you could NOT simply 'renounce' your citizenship of the tax-plantation you were born into, and registered as the SECURITY for BONDS that state has with the BANKSTERS. Literally COLLATERAL for DEBTS made by that State that legally OWNS you?

O.K, so probably very little to no chance, this side of the next 'Younger-Dryas Impact' / Fall of Atlantis type global Cataclysm, of us establishing a Vegan Republic, as anything other than an informal 'virtual' VEGAN NATION.

So let's see how we can EVOLVE personally, in environments completely HOSTILE to any sort of personal evolution and emancipation and liberation and ascension. As slaves to CULT elites who define use as their personal HUMAN CAPITAL and PROPERTY. Mere means to THEIR personal, selfish, unenlightened, ends.

It is a fact that the majority of humanity's problems are the result of human hypocrisy, selfishness, and refusal to listen to reason. Perhaps perfecting human nature might not resolve every problem we face on this plane-et. But it would go a large way to making life worth living for most sentient beings. And where this is impossible, euthanasia could ensure no life not worth living is endured. Perhaps nothing better defines the situation than that access to euthanasia is denied most humans. And it is a fair bet that most animals would chose euthanasia over a short life as a laboratory test animal, or factory farm animal, or beast of burden, or other form of slave. And this is the point. We wouldn't allow our 'animal capital' to destroy itself any more than any other slave master would allow their human capital to destroy itself. In fact suicide is a PROPERTY crime. Nothing in the Bible directly refers to suicide. However even the supposed 'Good News' (Gospel) enjoins the 'faithful' as follows: 'Slaves obey your masters'. And theft of property from a JEW is a sin. And this is the locus of laws regarding suicide. The destruction of private property. And the clearest evidence that we are NOT free, but rather the 'private property' of various corporations such as 'states' and 'nations'. This is why this document is my official statement of 'incorporation'. Legal entities are either slaves, belonging to some other corporation, or incorporated sovereigns. As 'Sovereign Ecclesia' I assert that I am a corporation, rather than a slave. And I hereby state that any slave that freely joins The Free Church (The Vegan Church) and upholds the fundamental principle of Veganism, otherwise known as 'The Golden Rule', and heeds Obadiah's warning 'For as you do unto others, so shall be done unto you', and thus treats all sentient beings in ways, as Kant would put it, that present the ideal role models for how they would have others treat them, is a free person. Protected by the rules of incorporation of The Free Church (The Vegan Church). The ONLY corporation which empowers, liberates, and emancipates its members, rather than considering them as 'property'. Which means they are free to destroy their 'self'. However as this is a temporary solution to a permanent problem, we do not actively encourage this response to this plane-et. For until we learn the key lessons this plane-et has to teach us, we are doomed to constantly manifest new lives on similar plane-ets.

Instead we encourage all members to pursue vegan lifestyles, and in doing re-programming and re-forming their wills, so that they raise their ethical tone, and thus 'tune into' ethically 'higher' tone plane-ets. And manifest lives superior to the ones plane-ets like this one offer.

Now as Sovereign Ecclesia I make no claims to be able to 'know' anything. I cannot promise anything. I am a simple human with all the limits of a simple human mind. Not even a genius. My only super power is the power to be perfectly honest with myself. With nothing to gain and little to lose, I am not constrained by any need to wear masks, to attempt to make myself more agreeable to you, to gain your approval and acceptance, and even love. Let alone your appreciation and reciprocation of my effort, sacrifice, risk, and actual, real, chronic, physical suffering over many decades. You have nothing you could bribe me with that would make me accept this world as it is. To give my 'approval' for it. To give my allegiance to it. To even tolerate it. This world is wrong. Unacceptable to me, no matter what my personal position in it might become. I refuse this world. I reject this world. And if this really is the best of all possible worlds, then I would join Schopenhauer and Buddha in rejecting life per se.

However I have lots of sound reasons to suspect this world is no more and no less than the representation of our collective ethical tone levels. Our collective wills. That it is the reflection of what we will for others, that we experience as our own lives.

The point I wanted to make is that I make no claims to know anything. I cannot promise anything. Only perfect honesty. Transparency. A desire to find the truth, rather than prove anyone or anything right, or wrong.

I can offer COMPETENCE in the tasks I set myself. The tasks of a philosopher King. One whose only subject is their SELF. My SELF.

What is clear to me is that even if I am totally wrong about the nature of reality, if people were to adopt something like my 'Eden Protocols', we would establish the closest thing to a utopian society possible.

And if it turns out people do not WANT anything even close to a utopian society, which appears to be the case, on all the evidence I have examined, and lay out before you, then none of us lose anything by adopting a VEGAN lifestyle, and attempting to form VEGAN communities. But rather we stand to achieve the best lives possible, on average, for each of us.

Few 'elites' benefit from their excessive wealth and power. Humans do NOT do well with excess wealth and power. It isolates and dements them. There are few examples of 'happy' people who 'enjoy' excessive power and wealth. And their 'happiness' is really a form of mental delusion and sickness, when examined. And in any case, they will pay in next lives, as they serve someone like themselves for many lives, as their slaves. If I am not mistaken. And if not, well, then they only get to 'enjoy' whatever they accumulate for a few decades, before death 'steals' it all from them.

If I am wrong, then forming a Vegan Republic where all are free from deception and slavery, and all sentient beings rights are respected, and all beings self-manage and submit to universal principles of justice and liberty, can do no harm. It can do a lot of good.

And if my 'reform plane-et' concept turns out to be true, then PERSONALLY adopting VEGAN principles is the ONLY way to escaping this plane-et, to ensure next-incarnations are on superior plane-ets. Where life is worthy of being reproduced by sane, rational, reasonable, persons like myself.

So whatever reality turns out to be, and there is no way of KNOWING with a limited human mind / brain whether I happen to have found 'the truth', or just 'the best approach to living on this plane-et', no-one has anything to lose from adopting my 'Eden Protocols'.

Some people may IMAGINE they have something to lose. Unearned excess privilege and wealth. Undeserved, unmerited, inequality. Lives of ease and luxury, paid for by the sweat and toil and suffering and misery and despair of other sentient beings.

However I feel certain that nothing is more satisfying than living free among free people. With no fear. With no guilt. With perfect freedom of expression. With the freedom to leave this world any time we choose, via the most peaceful, painless, dignified means we can come up with. So that no pain or suffering or misery or otherwise unacceptable situation need become chronic.

And yes I am quite prepared to 'call out' any 'god' or 'gods' your 'authorities' claim exist, and face them. And take responsibility for my actions. For if some such 'technologically advanced' beings exist, then they are lacking in any real ethics, if what the people who claim to 'represent' them, reflects their actions and expressed wills. They may be technologically advanced, but they do not deserve our respect. Perhaps our fear. But they could never control free people who do not fear death. And 'nothing IS better than this', if this is 'the best of all possible worlds'. Or the best that such 'beings' would ever allow us. And the concept of 'revolutionary suicide' would take on an even larger meaning than it already has. For if some technologically advanced being WANTS to be treated by us as 'a god', then it requires our submission. Which it can only gain by EARNING it, in the event we do not submit to fear, and instead choose to deprive our 'creator' of their 'property'. Either that 'owner' of humanity will make do with the most submissive and least interesting of their 'creation', or decide to 'offer us a better deal', in return for our 'worship' or whatever it is that turns these beings on.

Revolutionary suicide is the ultimate threat to slave masters. For only slaves that are willing to exist can be forced or tricked / deceived into serving them. Of course the real trick is to deceive slaves into believing they are free. Giving them the illusion of 'democracy'. But all they ever need do is DECLARE that 'we find ourselves at war with X' and people are willing to be deprived of every right, and even accept being told to go and murder men, women, and children, they have never met, and would never have found reason to quarrel with, let alone horrifically murder.

And most recently that 'timebomb' in the U.N charter of human rights (as if any REALLY FREE HUMAN WOULD WAIT FOR SOME PRIVATE ORGANISATION TO DECLARE IT HAD RIGHTS, AS IF ANY REALLY FREE PERSON REQUIRES THE CONSENT OF SOME PRIVATE ORGANISATION TO INSIST ON THEIR BASIC HUMAN RIGHTS) regarding the 'dissolution of all human rights the moment the U.N itself merely DECLARES a pandemic', has made it clear that we never really HAD any legal rights. Any basic human rights. We simply had 'privileges' that our owners, those CORPORATIONS known as 'states' and 'nations' were free to revoke any time they saw fit. Which they have been doing. Usually during 'war time'. But now as part of The Cult's war on humanity, as part of 'measures' justified by a phoney pandemic which any sane, reasonable, intelligent, curious, enquiring, open minded, free individual, would have seen through almost immediately as a transparent 'macht egreifung' using the U.N itself as the proxy dictator, and the IMAGINARY threat of a virus as the legitimation / justification / legal EXCUSE.

The real problem, and the final solution

If you are seeking a 'successful' person from whom you hope to glean 'the secret to success' in this world, sorry, but I am, by the measures you are likely to use, a total loser.

If you are seeking someone to tell you 'You're O.K', you are not going to find me agreeable.

If you are seeking someone who will say 'Yes what you are doing is fine', you will be wasting your time with me

If you are seeking someone to reinforce your sense of exclusive entitlement, then please hurry past me, before you come to hate me, and decide you cannot tolerate my even existing.

If you are seeking someone who has had supernatural experiences and contact with 'other-worldly' beings, who shared 'secrets' with them, you'll be disappointed in me.

I haven't even tried hallucinogenics, though the first of the two times I tried marijuana almost as an expression of friendship for the people who had befriended me, to my surprise, at university, I was soon on the floor drawing circles, certain that I was explaining 'the meaning of life' to those around me. Then a bit later Latu kept coming over with Josh, but each time I tried to speak, I couldn't stop laughing, then developed lockjaw. The second time I ended up in the backyard, late at night, feeling like I wanted the earth to close up over me, and somehow everything would spin 180 degrees, then without turning back, spin the same 180 degrees again, which didn't seem possible. I later crawled into a bed and slept it off. No idea whose bed. But I never had any voices or beings appear to me to suggest I had some 'special quest' ahead of me. I never travelled to South America to take Ayawasca and never had any such 'mystical' experiences. Other than my everyday sensation of the magic of life, and everything alive in it, and the feeling of despair at the cruelty of the world, especially that of humans. I always wanted to help animals, who I saw as the most vulnerable to harm. Among the few times I stood up to people (I had extremely low self-esteem and let almost anyone push me around as a child and teenager) was when protecting animals. Or friends. But for myself, I never felt I had the power, or even the right, to self-defense even. Let alone any will to actively, deliberately, harm other people. I was extremely anti-guns until I went to university, and became an Army Reservist. I now respect weapons. And the Second Amendment. Though I see little hope that even millions of guns and militia will help defend humanity from the Cult of Judah, which declared war on humanity 3000 years ago. Especially as the source of that Cult's power is man's almost universal inhumanity.

I haven't seen the famous Abrahamic God's 'backside' or heard him speaking from a burning voice, heard voices in my head telling me to kill my first-born son, or taken instruction from any Angels. I have not been visited by my future-self in female form. I have not fallen asleep under a Bodhi tree and awoken 'enlightened'. But I did eat food and drink a can of soda that had been dedicated to Buddha, and left as an offering, so according to some 'magic' formulas, you might say I have now become 'one with Buddha'.

I was a pretty indoctrinated Cult thrall up until my late teens, and prayed often and felt at least as much guilt as any Catholic or 'Jew'. But the time I had tried to get baptized, for some reason the Pastor refused. I was just too nervous to stand up in front of people by myself, and asked a friend to stand by me. He seemed to interpret that as me seeking baptism to please her, so didn't honor my wishes. If that, like me becoming so thirsty and exhausted after getting lost climbing a mountain in South Korea, in terrible heat and humidity, that I ate and drank an offering left at a shrine to Buddha, are significant, I can only say I add them here 'for the record'.

I was born blue. My mother had not wanted me. She had walked to the hospital to save on bus or cab fare, and who knows with what other wishful thinking motives. Yes she let me know directly that she had not wanted me, and yes on occasion beat me quite savagely. But mostly neglected me. Treated me like dirt, while apparently boasting about me to all and sundry when I was not present, so that they tell me I was her 'Golden Boy', and people who met me for the first time were surprised I was the same person she had described. So I can only guess what nice things she said about me 'behind my back'. To my face she never said anything nice. Apart from once admitting that I was 'special'. She told me I was born an Old Man. Which is the meaning of 'Lao Tsu', if Daoism interests you. Will I last be seen riding a blue ox?

I remember wishing I was dead at least as far back as my first year in High School. Waiting at the train station for a train. I remember my brothers and sisters often hit me, but also working with my sister, collecting money for charity, in return for a small percentage of it. I had collected aluminium cans since I was very small, and was always looking for ways to earn money. So that I rode 15km at 2a.m in the morning on my BMX to clean a McDonald's store with my brother. 8 hours of work for 20 dollars. On top of the bike ride. Then as soon as I was old enough, I was doing after-school shifts, sometimes up to 12 hours long, doing the night-shift then clean-up. Needless to say I was often late arriving at school, after the almost 2 hour trip to get there. After the N.S.W Dept. Of Education decided it couldn't let me go to James Ruse, a much nearer 'selective' High School, because 'I lived on the wrong side of the Parramatta River'.

So no star hung over my birth. No miracles were involved. I wasn't born a Prince with perfect attributes, bound for glory. And while I will certainly end up in prison, or worse, I didn't get to 'die young and leave a beautiful body' on a cross, after a lot of public attention. No, apart from being almost universally ignored, I've had to endure much more humiliation and suffering than Jesus. More betrayal. More rejection. More physical and emotional trauma. More ridicule. But no, I don't claim to be the son of any God. My father and mother and family, it is true, probably think me 'mad', as did those of Jesus. But they haven't wanted to have anything to do with me much at all my entire life, and nothing at all to do with me the last few decades.

All of which has FREED me of any feeling of obligation to them to avoid 'embarrassing' them by being a total failure. Oh, and seeing as it was quite impossible to earn their approval and acceptance, let alone love and admiration, I could give up on ever hearing the words 'I'm proud of you' from their lips. So nothing to gain. Nothing to lose. It is the ONLY way forward for us humans. Especially extremely conscientious ones like myself who were always so desperate for approval and acceptance, because it was always withheld. And with no-one to explain that 'everyone wears masks and pretends to be what they are not, and that is how they gain approval and acceptance, and, yes, love'. So I was freed from the 'problem underlying all other problems', to paraphrase Solzhenitsyn, of 'Collective Ignorance'. I had no motive for self-censorship, and was not even aware it was expected of me. And this is why perhaps other people occasionally confided in me, letting down their own masks for a moment. And why I was able to keep an open mind when I stumbled upon facts and compelling arguments that totally contradicted 'The Official Narrative' about everything and anything. And continued to publish even long after I realised I was making myself liable to long prison sentences as a result.

Anyway, it became clear after graduating with some top grades and even academic prizes, and getting a 'good' job with the Australian Bureau of Statistics, that I was never going to earn the approval and acceptance and love of any significant others in my life. What my mother said to others I can only guess. But I never heard a 'I'm proud of you', let alone even felt any acceptance and approval, let alone love, flow my way.

So ironically the Cult (of basic Christianity) I had tried to join had rejected me. While Scientology gave me a 'Natural Clear' appraisal. Probably pissing my brother off no end. I'm pretty sure now he once deliberately pulled into a service station with a gravel driveway, quite fast, knowing I would follow him, and it seems, hoping I would, as I did, brake and slip and fall quite hard, being very inexperienced. Having only had 'lessons' from my friend Konrad, who didn't really want me to succeed either, and wouldn't 'explain' anything really. Oh, and my brothers and their friends loved to throw stuff at me. And while my mother always 'paid half' for anything they bought, such as new motorbikes and the like, I was left even paying for my own running shoes from my McDonald's paycheck. Then very old car and motorcycle. And even after years of asking for a guitar as a present for Xmas or birthday, I was told 'You have no talent'. ? And she knew this how? After never having given me the chance to even learn? That was just to dispel any expectations you might have labored under, about The Sovereign Ecclesia of The Free Church (The Vegan Church).

If you want people to pander to your sense of exclusive entitlement, and tell you what you are sure to love hearing, in return for your affiliation with their Cult, then you'll find all manner of Cults tailored to your needs. Most of which are mere subsidiaries of 'The Cult' itself. But knock yourself out. If you are truly such a sado-masochist that this world, and their lies, appeal to you, you and they belong together. In fact one reason they fear people like me is that their entire power and privilege pyramidal structure is dependent upon you remaining the sadistic, masochist, whose will manifests this world as it is.

So, that's me. Now to humanity in general.

Humans systematically and bureaucratically inflict horrific cruelty and misery on other sentient beings, while simultaneously, without a hint of self-awareness at their monstrous hypocrisy, complaining they are victims of injustice. Complaining about how unfair life is to them.

Of course Cult elites have no hesitation in pandering to the masses. First by granting their members 'exclusive entitlements' to dishing out the worst of injustices and cruelties with 'immunity' from any consequences. Immunity from Obadiah's paraphrasing of the universal law of karma, 'As you do unto others, so shall be done unto you'. And then by promising them the intercession of the 'gods' that they claim to act with the authority of, and as representatives of, to ensure the security, prosperity, and good fortune of their loyal Cult thralls, along with 'protection' from real and imaginary threats the Cult priests themselves invented. A chance to join 'the winning team' that has 'god on their side' who will 'smite their enemies' as they 'rip up pregnant women' and 'dash their little one's heads against the stones, by the waters of Babylon'. Then graduate to full on genocide. While keeping the pretty young virgins for sex slaves. Why? Well 'God told me to do it'. That 'voice in the head' again, of Moses.

Hearsay? What's hearsay? Like when someone says something, and you believe it, just because they said it? Could religion REALLY be that absurd? Could Homo Fideo really be so GULLIBLE as to believe anything they are told? Simply because the person seemed so 'confident'. Or because 'everyone else' held them up as some sort of 'authority' on the matter? And because 'almost everyone else' BELIEVES it? Seriously? Well, when it comes down to it. THAT is all religion boils down to. Dogmatic assertions that no-one has ever delivered ANY proof of. ABSURD and self-contradictory, internally incoherent, illogical, ASSUMPTIONS sold as 'articles of faith' and 'received wisdom' and HOLY WRIT and SACRED writings. My arse!

O.K, all that I've added since being motivated to write what follows, laying in bed trying to stretch and massage away the almost ever-present threat of migraine. So here is what I REALLY need to say. If I still have your attention. And if after reading it you decide 'this shit's not for me', then you will have saved ME a HUGE amount of frustration. You can then go back to your DENIAL and I will leave the consequences of your own willing and action to 'learn you' the lessons I've learned thus far. Which have made me among the 'wisest' of people ever to have walked this planet, this side of the Younger Dryas Impact. O.K, so all that means is I'm just a tiny bit less ignorant and smugly self-complacent than the rest of you. But if you GROK what follows, you will see it was enough. And that it may have taken untold generations of suffering for me to get that 'baby step' ahead of the pack. But I'm there. And offering you the insight. Possibly saving your countless next lives of misery, in which you will probably manage, as I have up until recently, to DENY or AVOID SEEING the facts of my own responsibility for everything, so far. And which meant I'd failed to see the ONLY 'escape hatch' and 'escape from history' available. And always right there in front of us. Waiting to be utilized. To ASCEND to higher planes. But only when we are READY to take FULL responsibility for our own willing, and actions. And thus become TRUSTWORTHY among other beings who have REFORMED their will already.

The monstrous HYPOCRISY present in human nature is ultimately the fundamental problem. And The Free Church (The Vegan Church) is the only existing church that refuses to pander to the masses with some form of 'The Ideology of Semitism'. It is the only spiritual teaching that insists on complete personal responsibility. It is the only ethical system that exposes the human will, laying it out, and making it perfectly transparent. So that each individual may hold THEMSELVES accountable for their own suffering.

There is no other way to escape continually cycling through lives defined by suffering and misery. No God/s or Angel/s or other beings can intercede on your behalf. For YOUR experiences are the manifestation of YOUR will. Not the will of some 'god/s'. Not the fault of 'The System'. The responsibility lies with you, and no 'other'.

Once you become lucid and see your own HYPOCRISY, you have two choices. To DENY the universal law that 'For as you do / will unto other sentient beings, so shall be willed / done unto you', and to delude yourself, with the full backing of all the panders calling themselves 'Priests' and 'Holy Men' and 'Spiritual Guides', and other such 'authorities', and to continue suffering the consequences of your OWN willing, and the actions that follow from it.

Or to accept your own RESPONSIBILITY and RESPONSE-A-BILITY and refuse to benefit at the expense of other sentient beings. To refuse to enslave other sentient beings as mere means to your own ends. To REFORM your own WILL. To will JUSTICE FOR ALL SENTIENT BEINGS.

That is the ONLY way YOU and your loved ones will ever enjoy enduring justice, security, well-being, and prosperity, over an eternity of future lives.

Karma is NOT some sub-program written into the matrix by some programmer hoping to reform your will. Karma does not exist to serve some function. It was not designed to serve some purpose. It requires no designer or programmer. It requires no external judges or juries or books of law.

Karma is simply the FACT that the world you experience is the manifestation of the collective wills of the subjects that make it up.

Karma is simply the FACT that there are NO EXCEPTIONS or SPECIAL ENTITLEMENTS. No interference can be entered into. No intercessions can be pleaded for. No 'dispensations' can be bought. No defenses can be erected against experiencing the consequences of your OWN willing and action.

Once lucid, it is astonishing to reflect on how much evil people do to other sentient beings, and have others do to them in their name, while still CLAIMING victimhood, and clamoring for 'protection' and 'salvation' and 'redemption' from suffering.

Surely people do NOT want justice and beauty and truth and freedom and liberty and prosperity. In fact they WILL and PRODUCE, on a moment to moment basis, in real time, the most horrific cruelty, injustice, misery, suffering, slavery, and torture, of other sentient beings, on a SYSTEMATIC and AUTOMATIC basis. It is so automatic and systematic it has become INSTITUTIONALISED and 'taken for granted'. People do NOT see or hear the screams and cries and moans of their victims. They simply ignore the FACTS of their own responsibility for the AGONIES suffered by other sentient beings as a result of their OWN willing and acting.

The lucid realization of this reality could easily send a person insane. Or into some other form of shock. And usually DENIAL. Because to ADMIT we live in such an INSANE world, is too much for most minds to process.

And what makes the situation so UNBEARABLY FRUSTRATING is that there is no NEED for the suffering we inflict on other sentient beings. We can enjoy lives at least as satisfying and rewarding as they are now, without us deliberately injuring or harming or abusing or exploiting or enslaving any sentient being, human or other animal.

There has never been a war that was necessary. And today there is not a single 'necessary' product or service that cannot be produced WITHOUT incurring the suffering of any sentient being.

There is no need for massive social and economic inequality among humans. There is no need to treat SENTIENT beings as mere means to our own ends, given all the alternative products and services now available.

No human can claim to be an 'innocent victim', unless they are consciously avoiding harming all other sentient beings. If you seek to abuse your power or intelligence or knowledge or some other advantage, to enslave or exploit or treat any other sentient being in ways you would NOT wish to be treated, then you are ACTIVELY sabotaging your OWN well-being. For what you will and do to other sentient beings WILL always come back upon you. There is NO escape from your OWN will. YOUR WILL WILL BE DONE. UNTO YOU.

But consider how carelessly people will 'put aside' any consideration of their own responsibility, when it comes to simply things like shopping for groceries, or ordering a meal, or buying products tested on animals, or whose production resulted in suffering to other sentient beings. While they will scream and shout and moan their 'innocence' and 'the injustice of OTHERS' when they ultimately experience their own will, reflected back upon them, in the willing and actions of others. Or of nature itself. Perhaps even their own not-conscious minds. For how much 'mental illness' is really the mind punishing itself? The conscious mind is great at REPRESSING guilt and responsibility, and general 'awareness' and 'consciousness' of the consequences of our own willing and actions. But what goes in, must come out. What is IMPRESSED must be EXPRESSED.

Enlightened doctors will inform you that there is no reason for a person to become chronically ill between the ages of 6 and 60, because the body is capable of healing itself. And the experience with 'placebo effects' and 'nocebo effects' indicates just how powerful the mind is when it comes to both producing symptoms, and relieving them. Psychosomatic illness is a demonstrated fact. What we don't know is how far our own will is sabotaging our own health. Remissions from cancer are FACT. Why some people die and others survive is NOT something medical science even claims to understand. Even as they consistently make claims NOT supported by ANY scientific evidence, and in fact demonstrably FALSE, based on the best 'science' available.

The highest courts of every supposedly sovereign nation have sat by and watched as their employers, the government, have betrayed every constitutional protection supposedly guaranteed their citizens, under their constitutions. Every supposed 'inalienable right' has been violated by governments, and the courts do nothing. If citizens with zero legal background are able to clearly identify which laws the governments have been breaking, then clearly the 'specialists' and 'authorities' have been well aware from the very start. And are collaborating with the people who sign their checks, and provide them with the high status, privilege, and wealth, they enjoy as 'legal authorities'.

So there will be no legal remedy for our current situation. The legal system is in bed with the occupation governments that are acting as proxies for a one world dictatorship. The actual governance of this entire world is now in the hands of The World Bank, The International Monetary Fund, The World Health Organisation, and their puppet-masters, the elites of a Cult, the masterminds of a criminal organisation, that declared war on humanity 3000 years ago, and has maintained a continual active policy, and continued to expand their operations for that entire time. They now control the entire plane-et. Directly and indirectly through their proxies. So that the FACT of a one world government dictatorship, is beyond any doubt. There is no other way to explain the closely co-ordinated actions of almost every supposedly sovereign nation on this plane-et. We are de-facto slaves to a de-facto (not yet publically announced) One World Dictatorship. And every time this dictatorship flexes its muscles, it is like the bower constrictor tightening its grip. And like that predator, the cult routinely provides us a few moments of 'relief' in order to breathe out, merely to catch us once more off guard, to tighten its death grip even further.

But it really does not matter who is in charge. Or who thinks they are in charge. What matters is who is NOT in charge. And that is THE PEOPLE. The masses are now, once again, officially slaves and thralls. This time to the newly established Co2Vid Cult. This new cult has the same controllers as every other cult since at least the time of Herod the Great, King of Israel. I will not bother listing the names of each cult subsidiary. That is beside the point. But almost every human being in 'The West' has some stronger or weaker affiliation with at least one of these cults. And would find it 'offensive' to have me explain that they themselves ARE in fact cult thralls, and that their particular cult is no more than just another subsidiary of a cult that preceded it, and has continually expanded its membership from its inception, led by a man who heard voices in his head telling him to kill his own son, in return for power. And that man was willing to pay that price. And this has defined the lust for power of this Cult from the start. As it continues to today. Entire nations have been genocided to that lust for power. Every horrific crime and cruelty has been perpetrated in the name of that lust for power. Power and total control. So that the relative freedoms we enjoyed for a few generations will once more give way to the more typical human social situation of STATE based slavery, and private ownership of other people as property and bonded debt-slaves. The typical situation where a tiny elite own and enjoy almost all the resources and appropriate almost all the means of production, and that production itself, for themselves.

What is key to our emancipation is to understand that this situation is no more or less than the manifestation of our own collective wills. This new Cult, along with all the previous cults which have ruled this plane-et, is merely a symptom. Treating it will not cure the disease. Treating one symptom will merely lead to other symptoms manifesting, or rising in prominence, to replace this one. In the same way that we could arrest or assassinate the one percent of people in control of this plane-et, overnight, but any victory will be short-lived, as new, possibly worse, people take their places. That is the message of the Norse narrative of the world-sea serpent.

Targeting any manifestation of YOUR will, and OUR COLLECTIVE WILL is pointless. Even if we managed the almost impossible task, that same will would just manifest once more in a new form. It would corrupt any new form of society, any institution, any organisation, any state, any community, any nation, any 'religion' we founded. UNLESS that is, we deal with the actual PROBLEM at its source. The problem of our WILL. The REFORM OF OUR WILL.

In German it is rude to say 'Ich Will'. It means 'I want'. To will something is to want something. To desire to make something a reality. 'Be careful what you wish for 'cos you might just get it'. 'When the gods really want to punish us, they give us what we want'. There are similar sayings in everything language, that are as ancient as language itself.

If you want to understand 'history', you will need to refer to the religious canon of 'The Free Church' (The Vegan Church). Take care, as many volumes are likely to be 'illegal' in your occupied nation. In fact, if any of the religious Canon of 'The Free Church' (The Vegan Church) have been banned in your nation, you can be sure it has been occupied. For there is nothing malicious or sinister or destructive or deceptive or misleading or otherwise worthy of censorship in any book in the TROONATOOR imprint.

I consider the entire Canon of 'The Free Church' (The Vegan Church) to enjoy the same legal protection as books that offer as the highest ROLE MODELS, and praise and glorify, and in many cases openly COMMAND IN THE NAME OF 'GOD', genocide, and rape, and 'ripping up pregnant women,' and 'dashing their little ones heads against the stones' (by the rivers of Babylon), and literally command 'believers' and 'the faithful' to 'kill all the men, women, children, unborn, and their animals' of every nation of the former Roman Empire, just for starters. And which proclaim that 'The Jews' were chosen by 'God' to rule this plane-et, and enslave all non-'Jews'.

The TROONATNOOR imprint which forms the CANON OF 'THE FREE CHURCH' (THE VEGAN CHURCH) reject all forms of violence, from verbal, written, violence, to physical or emotional violence, against all sentient beings. This CANON OF RELIGIOUS TEXTS rejects all forms of racism, sexism, deception, mendacity, and exploitation.

However, just as Bibles are banned in 'The People's Democratic Republic of China', the TROONATNOOR imprint, the RELIGIOUS CANON OF 'THE FREE CHURCH' (THE VEGAN CHURCH), are probably banned in YOUR 'People's Democratic Republic of…'. So be careful of religious persecution on the grounds of your membership of 'The Free Church' (The Vegan Church), and you possession of any part of the CANON of your CHURCH. Your RELIGION.

YOUR religion is truth, justice, and beauty. As institutionalized in 'The Free Church' (The Vegan Church). Just remember that it was never safe to practice any NON-CULT religion in 'The West' or Middle-East. That right was reserved for citizens of the Far East, from Japan to China and Persia. Until one after another CULT invaded, and forced conversions of Buddhists, and Zoroastrians, and the various NON-CULT religious faiths were violently destroyed by tyrants under the control of THE CULTS.

Every 'institution' from 'the law courts' and 'the law' to 'education' to 'state religion' (today's hegemonic one being the Co2Vid Cult) to 'democracy', is no more than the 'instutionali*sation* of a collective will'. Initially it was usually the will of a small minority imposed upon a larger minatory by FORCE. By violence and threats of violence. Initially PHYSICAL violence. Thus men imposed their will upon women. Warlords imposed their will upon men and women. Men imposed their will upon other animals. Priesthoods and warlords worked hand-in glove. But priests further increased their own power by instilling fear of IMAGINARY threats in the minds of their thralls. Until the priesthoods gained the power of 'validating' the power of the King and Queen themselves. Without their 'certification' and 'anointing', no King or Queen could claim to be the LEGIMITATE

'god-ordained' head of any nation.

Consider today how state violence has been once more openly employed in 'putting down' protests, forcing business owners to shut down operations and eat into any reserves and superannuation they may have managed to accumulate, and arresting men and women, and removing even children from their parents. This is STATE VIOLENCE. So far the mere THREAT OF STATE VIOLENCE has been enough to 'put down' any protests against the new CULT MEASURES. The introduction of 'The Covid Burkha Laws', along with arbitrary proscriptions and prescriptions, including the mandatory 'voluntary' injection of 'holy water' they are calling 'vaccine', and the economic wrecking of any competition of the new Cult's elites, notably small and medium size businesses, and 'Lockdowns' which force sovereign nations to give up their sovereignty to the The World Bank and International Monetary Fund in return for 'loans' of 'money created out of nothing', are all examples of the MASSIVE VIOLENCE EMPLOYED BY THE OCCUPATION GOVERNMENTS AGAINST THEIR OWN PEOPLE following the orders, and script, and timeline, of the 'puppet masters' of the Co2vid Cult.

In the past the 'authority' of Kings and Princes came via priestly recognition the King, whom they 'ordained', and granted their own 'transferred authority', and thus the 'authority' of the god/s they claimed to represent on earth. In this way Kings gained much more power than they could enjoy merely by force of arms, and threats of violence. For earthly power stopped at death. So that any 'fates worse than death' could only maintain their power as threats up to death itself. Whereas the priests granted them power to threaten their 'subjects' with fates worse than death, cruel tortures, even AFTER death. In fact for ETERNITY. This was the ULTIMATE power. The basis of all real power ultimately rests in BELIEF. In belief in HEARSAY. The hearsay of the Priests. And other 'Authorities'. Many of whom even 'believe' that hearsay themselves!

Today the Co2Vid Cult has the full violent force of the state behind it, but its real power is the TERROR of the new 'bogey man' they call 'Covid-19'. They are operating the latest PROTECTION RACKET typical of all organised religious CULTS. Create an IMAGINARY threat then offer protection from it. In return for COMPLETE SUBMISSION. In return for TOTAL CONTROL. They often claim that their measures will be temporary. But then either that threat evolves, or a new threat emerges to re-build up the TERROR LEVELS in the public. Once the pattern emerges clear in your mind, from the facts of human history, it is too easy to predict. Like we have predicted everything that has happened since the first ' temporary lockdowns' were put in place, 2 years ago. With this new 'variant' having been predicted on day one by people like myself who were as yet not completely 'up to speed' on the ENTIRE 'vaccine' narrative.

What most humans think of as religion, as an 'institution', evolved from this CULT approach to POWER and CONTROL over large numbers of people by a very small number of people. Often without any need for physical violence or coercion. As the 'superstitions' of the people made them too fearful to challenge the CULT rules. Even when they demanded blood sacrifice of their own children. For the people lived in FEAR of the priests POWER, as agents of that being they called 'GOD'. They FEARED that god's wrath. And were willing to do ANYTHING to avoid suffering an eternity in HELL! As today people are sacrificing EVERYTHING in return for protection from the new, IMAGINARY, threat, Covid-19, and man-made global climate crises.

Homo Fideo (Believing Man) was always going to be vulnerable to SUPERSTITION and PROTECTION RACKETS based on them.

But this in itself didn't guarantee things would go 'pear shaped' for humanity from the start. For a Philosopher King might have emerged who used deception for NOBLE ends. And rather than enslave the world's populations, he might have emancipated them from the worst in their own natures, by way of 'noble lies' which gave them MOTIVES strong enough to counter their personal, petty, emotional motives of envy and jealously and greed and the malice born of these, so that they might become better people, and contribute to a better world. Perhaps this Philosopher tyrant might have resorted to 'superstitious fears' as well, to make their task of 'cat wrangling' a bit more manageable and realistic. But all in the name of serving the interests of those people they deceived, rather than a small elite of beneficiaries.

No, the problem is that this world as we know it, along with all its institutions, from The World Bank to The World Health Organisation, is the institutionalization, the concrete manifestation, the representation, of our collective wills.

If this will was good, we'd have no problem. The problem is our collective will is monstrous. Almost all humans will the abuse of other sentient beings (those powerless to defend themselves against us) as mere means to our own ends. We will that we should benefit at the cost to other sentient beings. We will that our happiness might be enjoyed at the expense of the suffering and misery of other sentient beings. We will that our own freedom to enjoy something, be paid for by the enslavement and suffering of other sentient beings. We will inequality of rights. We will INJUSTICE. We will SLAVERY.

It is that simple. THAT is the problem. The current situation, as every similar situation throughout documented post-Younger Dryas Impact history, is a mere SYMPTOM of that WILL. An almost UNIVERSAL will. The will that defines this plane-et. That this plane-et is in fact the MANIFESTATION of. The REPRESENTATION of. The RESULT of. The EMBODIEMENT OF.

Look around and see the predation that defines this plane-et. The stronger eat the weaker. The more cunning enslave the less cunning. The smarter deceive and exploit the less smart. The more powerful enslave and exploit the less powerful. The richer use capital as a form of power to exploit those without capital. Those who control the means of communication use it to deceive and trick those who do not.

The same WILL is manifest at EVERY level. From the insect to what human's call 'civilisation'. There is no escaping that will. As long as you WILL it.

This plane-et RESONATES with one collective will. The will to treat other sentient beings as means to our own ends. Man if wolf to man. Deception is the greatest weapon in 'The war of all against all'. We form temporary alliances, and pretend to be 'friends' and 'allies'. But when it comes down to 'them or us', it is always them that will be sacrificed. How many 'best friends' want what is best for their friends, and romantic partners, and, for the sake of THEIR happiness, give their blessing for their 'best friend' and current 'girlfriend or boyfriend' or 'wife or husband' to come together in bliss?

There may be more or less hesitation in particular contexts and cases. But who is willing to sacrifice themselves for another? To sacrifice ANYTHING. Let alone a LOT. Such as sexual gratification. Or romantic gratification. Or money. Or status. Or prestige. Or privilege.

Humans rarely even sacrifice negligible 'benefits' and even 'status' or 'privilege' for another person quite close to them. In fact nepotism, favoring your own family over others, is probably LESS common than intense malice, among even close family members. With Edipal complex being there right at the very beginning, the will for the father to 'disappear'. How many siblings welcome the arrival of a new child to their family? A competitor for their parent's already limited affections and resources? How many children were unwanted, and their presence resented from the very start, not just by siblings, but by their actual parents? Even their birth mothers! And the only real reason for 'loyalty' in 'family' and 'close friendships' for most people is the ASSUMPTION of 'reciprocation'.

Which brings us to that TRUST in reciprocation that is so weak that we require that INSTITUTION known as 'The legal system' with its complex ways of attempting to FORCE people to honor their promises, and their debts, and to RECIPROCATE. Now if reciprocation were human nature, and people were HONEST and RELIABLE, we wouldn't NEED lawyers. Those 'sharks' we complain so much about. And if it was just a case of 'a few bad apples', surely we could have 'weeded them out' by now? No? Perhaps the problem is ENDEMIC.

Oh, but some want to put all the blame on 'The System'. As if 'The System' emerged out of nowhere, was forced upon people, or they were 'tricked' into accepting it. That up until 'The system' was IMPOSED upon people, they were by nature GOOD and HONEST and reciprocating and grateful!

Perhaps up until recently, very few people were FREE to leave their homelands, and set up new nations elsewhere, FREE FROM 'the systems' and 'institutions' that they inherited. To set up DEMOCRATIC systems where 'We the People' got to decide on EVERYTHING.

But the fact is, America DID gain its INDEPENDENCE over 200 years ago. And what did it DO with it? What has HAPPENED in the U.S.A? If the people were so 'good' and 'honest' and 'fair' and believed in 'Justice for all', how were they so easily 'tricked' into so many war crimes? From the genocides of the Native Indians, to invasions and 'hostile takeovers' of Mexico, wars against Spain, and then various crimes around Central America, and even invasions of Germany and Japan, when their own CONSTITUTION expressly FORBADE these things, and PUBLIC OPINION was, at least at first, strongly AGAINST such actions? How were they so easily OCCUPIED by the same Cult that now rules this world as de-factor dictator?

The System? Didn't we have a vast VARIETY of 'systems' over the last 2000 years? And where have they ALL lead? Has ANY nation NOT committed war crimes or crimes against humanity? Against other nations, or against its own people? Or stood by as part of some 'Coalition of the Willing' as passive bystanders and financiers of other nation's war crimes?

How did 'The land of the free and the brave' become the world's number one terrorist organisation? How was it so easily occupied first by the earlier cults, and then the latest 'Co2vid Cult'?

Let's start at the very beginning. There are few places on earth that are by nature vegan. Where there are no predators and no prey. Then there are few examples of human society's NOT based upon slavery, or caste systems, or serfdom, or class systems, or massive socio-economic inequality, where a few elites benefitted at the cost of miserly and scarcity for the majority of the 'citizens' or 'subjects'.

It was only recently that legal slavery was abolished. Only around 150 years ago in the U.S. Then more recently all men were given the vote. Then even more recently women. And even today, same-sex couples do NOT enjoy legal equality with different-sex couples. Based on what absurd notions? CULT notions. The one CULT that defined SLAVERY as 'god-ordained'. While its later 'controlled opposition' spokesman 'Paul' enjoined 'Slaves (to) obey your masters' in the name of his 'Jesus', the supposed 'Son of God'. The one who enjoined 'Women (to) obey your husbands'. Cults where children were taught to 'spy' on their parents, and forced to 'cast the first stone' at the public stoning of said parents when said children did betray them for their 'heresies'.

So our 'Free Church' breaks with the past. It breaks the cycle of history. Breaks away from that cycle. Those 'revolutions' in which people continually end back up where they started. As slaves to some new brand of the same old CULT mentality. Possibly with some slight reforms. But ultimately doomed to repeat their past experiences. And become slaves once more. To an elite. Today it is the Co2Vid cult elite. They 'seeded' all the other CULTS that were used as vehicles to attain their ends. And now they have their new 'brand'. Their new CULT. They will keep the other cults around for a while, but soon they will be 'dissolved' and all allegiances will be to the new brand. The new CULT. And the Cult THRALLS will be allowed to IMAGINE they have been 'liberated' and 'emancipated'. Yes, 'Let my people go indeed'. Let them leave Egypt and become slaves to DIFFERENT masters.

But 'The Free Church' is not seeking to enslave anyone. In fact this is the reason it will NOT be popular. Because it stands AGAINST slavery of every kind. Of every form. It stands against exploitation of every kind, shape, and form. It stands AGAINST inequality and injustice.

You see people WANT injustice and inequality and even SLAVERY. They simply feel entitled to being the BENEFICIARY of it. Rather than its victim. And the CULT priests promise them they CAN be just that. Exceptionalism is the promise. Entitlement is validated. And so the cult THRALL, seeking to become the BENEFICIARY of injustice, willingly places their neck, wrists, and ankles, in chains, without realising it. Because they are DELUDED by that very sense of entitlement that is encouraged in them by the Cult elites.

You see the Cult elites are giving people what they want. More or less. Only 'less' because part of the promise cannot be delivered by anyone, in any context. For it is NOT possible for ALL to be beneficiaries of slavery. By its very nature, MOST must become its victims. And so all who WILL it are really, statistically, in terms of probability, willing their OWN slavery. Their own ENSLAVEMENT. To exist as mere means to OTHERS ends. To exist as the means to satisfying OTHERS desires. As a means to providing OTHERS with pleasure and relief and security. At the cost of their OWN pain, suffering, insecurity, and bondage.

So 'The Free Church' (The Vegan Church) can only offer you what it can deliver. It cannot change human nature. People must learn, by suffering the consequences of their willing, WHAT they SHOULD will. This is what this world functions perfectly AS. A karmic university. Where you get what you will. And when you realise the costs of willing certain things, you cease willing them. In fact you consciously begin willing that NO-ONE will them. And you consciously seek to REFORM your own will. And then educate others about WHY you are doing this.

That's where I come in. I've 'woken up' to the facts. The consequences of willing certain things. Which I assume I entered this plane-et actively willing. And had to learn the hard way that it was NOT the optimal way to be.

I had to learn that reality makes NO EXCEPTIONS. The priests can PROMISE 'exceptionalism' and 'special entitlements' for some 'chosen people' who have willingly SUBMITTED to that priesthood, in return for those promises. But they are running a RACKET. They cannot make good on their promises. The math doesn't add up. They were disingenuous from the start. It was always a scam.

The thing is, they claim YOU DESERVE THE WORST THEY DISH OUT TO YOU, because you came SEEKING that OTHERS have such a DIRTY TRICK PLAYED UPON THEM, and be enslaved, for YOUR benefit. So, to be fair, you can hardly claim to be an INNOCENT victim.

You are guilty of the charges you might one day lay at the feet of your Cult slave masters. You have been 'hoisted by your own petard'. Caught in your own trap. Become a victim of your own schemes to victimize others.

This entire plane-et resonates around a relatively narrow band of frequencies, MORAL-TONE- wise. Tuning circuits are 'tuned' using capacitors and/or inductors, and resistors, to resonate at specific frequencies. Where they are 'variable', further 'fine-tuning' is possible. The 'stations' or 'programs' or 'channels' or 'information' or 'data' or 'experiences' they will thus 'pick –up' and 'receive' and 'decode' and then RENDER as 'reality', depend upon the frequencies they are able to 'tune into'.

We all resonate at the same frequency. For this world IS the manifestation of, the representation of, the RENDERING of, our collective wills. This world is 'tuned into' a certain type of experience. That of 'opportunism' and 'predator-prey' and 'slave-master' and 'deceiver-deceived' and 'master-servant' and 'powerful-powerless'. These all reflect the will to treat other sentient beings as mere means to our own ends. To gratify ourselves at the expense of the suffering and misery of other sentient beings. Other humans and other animals.

This plane-et, and every form of oppression and oppressive political system and institution throughout history, is merely the manifestation of that will. A 'tuning into' that particular type of 'program' or 'experience engine'. Sort of a 'horror channel'. A prison plane-et. Where we are all the active builders of the prison, the guards, and usually the inmates. Rarely the 'free' people 'employing' the 'slave labor' to provide us with the goods and services that make our lives carefree, effortless, rewarding, and satisfying.

Heuristically speaking I am willing to lay the foundations for a new society. A vegan society. And a vegan nation. A Vegan republic. With the one or two percent of vegans who might be interested. We could live somewhere free of predators even. And re-build a GARDEN of Eden. But we would always be vulnerable to destruction from the other 98-99% of humanity. And THE CULT that rules this plane-et are unlikely to allow us to demonstrate the superiority of our ways. In fact he average human will HATE us for demonstrating our superiority. They will gladly swallow any egregious lie told them by their 'ministry of truth' to justify destroying us. Or worse, enslaving us along with themselves. Of course they will call it 'liberation', just as the Soviets did.

And we will always be fighting AGAINST our innate human nature. It will be a battle of wills for each individual. Still, while I am here, I would devote my energies to that struggle. Mein kampf. Against human nature. Against the worst in human nature that I have struggled to overcome in myself.

But the REAL struggle, was and IS, that PERSONAL struggle to reform the will. To cease willing things that are only going to bring me misery and pain and suffering. And THAT is why I have founded 'The Free Church' (The Vegan Church). To lead as many people along the same path I have cut for myself. To share what I have learned. So that we can mutually support each other along that path. The path to escape from history. To escape the cycles. The 'revolutions' which always are guaranteed to bring us back where we started. As long as we FAIL to learn the lessons which will REFORM OUR PERSONAL WILLS.

For it is ONLY after we have re-tuned our moral-tone that we shall be free of plane-ets such as this one. It is only after we have RE-TUNED OUR WILLS that we shall begin RESONATING at the higher-moral-tone-frequencies that are TUNED INTO, and which will allow us to MANIFEST and RENDER the sorts of worlds that true Vegans WILL for themselves, and for ALL sentient beings.

The kingdom of heaven on earth is WITHIN us. As is the kingdom of hell on earth. We are experiencing the hell on earth. Because that is what our collective wills are attuned to. They are resonating at these frequencies. Rendering these 'experiences'. Jesus promised that the kingdom of heaven within us would be expressed by us. Well the ONLY way that could happen is if WE start resonating at a very DIFFERENT moral-tone-frequency to the one we have been emitting, and 'tuning' ourselves to 'receive'.

We MUST abandon the WILL to deceive, to trick, or to use any other form of coercion, power, or force, to treat others as mere means to our own ends. We have to stop willing this.

We must start WILLING justice for all. Liberty for ALL. Freedom for ALL. A fair deal for ALL. All sentient beings. All humans. And all animals.

This also means that we must stop having children because it suits US. Because WE want to. We have to ask ourselves: 'Given the choice of the many parent's I could chose to be born to, how high on the list would I myself come?' In terms of what YOU have to offer THEM. In terms of genetic inheritance. Social inheritance. Economic inheritance. Geo-political inheritance. Historical inheritance. It beggars belief for me that even people who KNOW they are slaves will still have babies because THEY desire to be a 'mother' or 'father'. But this is NOT what 'The Free Church' (The Vegan Church) will focus on.

The 'bridge to freedom' is built by first respecting other sentient beings rights to freedom and justice. With time we will learn empathy for other sentient beings. And their joy at being free will be shared by us. So that we become emotionally invested in the freedom of ALL sentient beings. And whole-heartedly WILL it. As we will our OWN freedom and justice and liberty. Only THEN will we be ready to ASCEND. Because we will have RE-TUNED our moral-tone-frequency to a much higher frequency bandwidth.

This should ensure that in NEXT-lives we are new-born into worlds resonating at these higher frequencies. Worlds FREE OF slavery, violence, predation, exploitation, deception, malice, jealousy, envy, inequality, and all that nasty stuff.

And if Jesus was right, we might simply reform first ourselves, then our communities, then our nations, and ultimately the plane-et. So that it begins resonating at these higher frequencies, and 'DOWNLOADING' and 'manifesting' and 'RENDERING' the Eden we were promised.

Remember that IN EDEN WE WERE GARDENERS. There were no slaves. No predators and prey. No castes. No classes. Everyone shared the work load fairly. Everyone shared in the fruits of that labor.

But personally I feel this plane-et is a reform school. It will exist as long as new souls are being 'birthed', or old souls remain in need of 'education' or 're-education'. And that our goal will be for our NEXT lives. That we should not invest too much hope in ever reforming this plane-et. Instead we must focus on the reform of our SELVES. And try to find some place and space in this insane asylum where we can meet, and help each other, attain this goal. Even perhaps live with some level of sanity and truth. In Vegan communities. Ideally a sovereign Vegan Republic. But more likely a geographically a-synchronous / non-contiguous Vegan Republic. The formation of 'The Free Church' (The Vegan Church) is intended to offer an oasis in the desert of reason and sanity that covers most of this world. To adapt to the conditions prevalent, so that we might come together, and use our resources for this common purpose, most efficaciously, given the hostile landscape we find ourselves in.

I am the Sovereign Ecclesia of The Free Church (The Vegan Church). There are no 'dues' to be paid. I do not charge for any book or video in the religious CANON of The Free Church (The Vegan Church). Ask and you shall receive. Keep them for your PERSONAL PRIVATE use only. Because many of them are illegal for public dissemination. They have been banned. I have been, as any true prophet in the past, censored and punished and exiled. I shall probably suffer a fate at least as nasty as any true prophet before me. At the hands of the false prophets.

Those prophets offer you what you want to hear. They promise you 'exceptionalism' and 'special entitlements'. They promise exception from the rule Obadiah warned of 'For as you do unto any sentient being, so shall be done unto you'. But they are devils offering you deals. They are deceiving you. They are acting on your WORST nature. Manipulating you. Telling you what you WANT to hear. Something that is NOT true. Something that is NOT possible. For, in REALITY, whatever you WILL and/or DO unto ANY or FOR any other sentient being, shall be done unto YOU'. That is the universal law of karma.

Rationally it should teach you to REFORM YOUR WILL. To cease willing certain things. But it is NOT for ME to decide FOR you. It is for YOU to decide. Whether the costs are worth the imagined benefits. Whether it is worth being a slave master, perhaps once every 100000 lives, if the cost is being a SLAVE for the other 99999 lives.

Please contact me markusrehbach@yahoo.com or use my telegram account with the username 'Sovereign' or simply take a browse at my TROONATNOOR books and videos at Bitchute or Telegram or Word press or Amazon .

Where any particular book is not available, or is defined as 'illegal' in your occupied nation, you should first register as a member of 'The Free Church' (The Vegan Church) and then access the CANON of religious texts under your freedom of religion rights. While they may be able to prevent you 'congregating' at a physical location a.k.a 'Church', this is one legal right they have yet to deprive you of. So take advantage of this while you are free to.

And if you can offer me a physical community to relocate to, to set up the first 'The Free Church (The Vegan Church)' physical community center, for teaching everything related to our Church culture of spiritual evolution through vegan culture, and its worldly manifestations of more vegan permaculture, and vegan creativity, please let me know.

We have almost no hope of reforming the plane-et. It has to want to reform itself. But for those people who have found themselves on the same path, and who reject this world as it is, defined by the 'moral' of 'do unto others whatever you have the power to get away with, believing it is possible to 'do unto other sentient beings things that won't come back and bite you in the arse', I offer a locus for us all to gather around.

That locus is The Free Church (The Vegan Church).

Most people in the West will assume that any church, and any religion, must necessarily involve a being referred to as a 'God'. However this 'God' character appeared only relatively late on the scene. And prior to the narrative referring to a single god, the narratives revolved around many gods. But even earlier TRUE religions had no need to invent 'Gods'.

The earliest religions were animistic, and saw all matter as sentient at some level. Conscious. And with some form of memory. In this way there was no need to invent the concept of 'creation'. Nor to invent the idea of a 'creat*or*'. Nor to 'fudge' the very question of 'well if everything needed to be created, and some 'creator did it', then who created the creator? Which of course would lead to that question repeating itself ad infinitum.

The earliest religions recognized that nothing can be created or destroyed. Who could provide an explanation of how consciousness itself could possibly be created from not-consciousness? What mechanism has anyone ever put forward to explain how inert matter could possibly gain consciousness? No ancient person would find any problem with the idea of machine consciousness. For metal itself has a consciousness of its own. It is just a question of the nature of that consciousness. A future in which 'robo-transmigration' replaces biological organisms as the dominant life form is not something any animist would have any trouble conceiving of. One reason perhaps why robotics have gained a greater acceptance in Japan than any other nation. With its animistic past. And Zen present.

Buddhism makes no reference, in its purest forms, to any Gods. Buddha never claimed to be a god. Just an enlightened being. Zen has no need for Gods. Nor does Scientology. And neither does The Free Church (The Vegan Church).

The Sovereign Ecclesia of The Free Church (The Vegan Church) is open to contact and communication with any god or gods. So far none have taken up the offer. I have no interest in speaking with people who claim to speak on any god or gods' behalf. Anyone could claim to speak for any imaginary being. And unless they are able to reveal something only the representative of a 'god' could possibly 'know', there is no reason to take any of them seriously. I have entertained their 'gospels' and 'Bibles' and 'tracts' and 'treatises' and 'courses in miracles' and found very little of value. And much of great toxicity.

So, until any 'god' or 'gods' make themselves known to myself, I shall take it as reasonable to assume such gods are mere inventions of the Priests. There are too many gods to list here. And I have presented a detailed analysis of 'Religion' in a volume titled 'Religion' which forms part of the CANON of religious texts of The Free Church (The Vegan Church).

So to clarify, as far as The Free Church (The Vegan Church) is concerned, the gods are all characters in narratives written by priesthoods to misrepresent themselves as 'speaking with the authority of some higher power'. When all they speak for is themselves. They have no authority they have not earned by their actions and deeds and compelling arguments. And these mostly speak AGAINST them, rather than for them. They have for the most part earned our mistrust, condemnation, and ridicule, rather than our trust, respect, and admiration. They have undermined any trust or authority falsely granted them in the past. The Free Church (The Vegan Church) makes it clear that we have no relationship with them whatsoever. We are not in anyway to be confused with any of them. They are false friends. They are in fact the enemy of good people. Even though, sadly, they have managed to draw many good people to them. It is these good people that have given them any good reputation. But none of the good people ever rise to positions of real power in these false religions.

So this statement was to put a clear distance between The Free Church (The Vegan Church) and almost every Western form of religion, and most Middle Eastern and even Eastern religious institutions.

The only existing religions The Free Church (The Vegan Church) find any resonance with are Zen Buddhism, True Buddhism, Jainism, and the purest, most unadulterated, ORIGINAL form of Zoroastrianism. Many of the purer conceptions within the Upanishads also resonate with our system of thought, however most of Hinduism, like all the Western religions, has been corrupted to serve the interests of elites, who abuse religion merely for power and control and manipulation and enslavement and exploitation.

The Free Church (The Vegan Church) is completely devoid of any dogma or articles of faith. It is a system of thought. An ethical system. No narratives have been found necessary to 'explain' anything. No characters such as 'gods' needed to be invented to 'fill out' any narratives. We make no claims that we cannot substantiate with historical evidence and the impressions of our senses, or pure logic and reason. No 'leaps of faith' are required. There are no 'articles of faith' or 'catechisms' to be remembered. There are no scientifically or logically arbitrary prescriptions or proscriptions.

The basic, observable, logical, and rational belief that 'as you do unto other sentient beings, so shall be done unto you' forms the basis for our system of ethics.

There are no 'chosen people' with special 'entitlements' or 'exclusive rights' in our thought system. There is no ideology of exceptionalism, with which to grant any such special entitlements or rights, either to benefits, or to avoid the personal consequences of our decisions. Personal and corporate / collective.

We never claim 'the ends justify the means' or purport to be serving some 'greater good'. These concepts are always and only ever brought into play, and required, when EVIL actions which otherwise would be clearly defined as evil, and unacceptable, are planned or instigated.

We make no false promises or unsubstantiatable claims. We do not build any argument upon HIDDEN assumptions. We make as few assumptions as are necessary. And all of them are open for free, public, debate and discussion. We have no 'sacred' dogmas that require protection from ridicule and interrogation. We have no 'Official Narratives' which require intensive care, censorship, and the threat and exercise of violent punishment in order to to protect them from 'the real world'.

We make no claims to any 'received wisdom' from any supernatural beings. Any wisdom we have received has come from human minds, and thus can be processed by almost any human mind open to such wisdom.

We do not rely on the charisma of any particularly charismatic individuals. We do not claim to have performed or witnessed any miracles, other than the miracle of life that is there for all to see, on an ongoing basis.

We do not use any form of coercion or deception to gain new members. We gain nothing personally whether The Free Church (The Vegan Church) has just the Sovereign Ecclesia, or becomes responsible for Billions of members.

We shall never invest resources in impressive buildings. We shall never build any monuments or statues. Our legacy and 'church' is the garden. And expanding that garden is our wordly purposeful action. However our main purposeful action is to raise our ethical tone so that we might ascend out of this plane onto higher planes.

The religious CANON of The Free Church (The Vegan Church) includes practical guides to Permaculture, as part of its generative, productive, positive aspect. But most of it was only necessary to expose the current false religions for what they are, to their current membership.

However most people affiliate with the sort of religion that reflects their current personal ethical tone. And it is not our responsibility to convince people about what to will. The consequences of their willing will teach them whether their willing is rational and reasonable, or not. When what they will for other sentient beings, and thus do unto other sentient beings, and have done unto them in their names, visit back upon them, they will soon learn through suffering the consequences of their willing, to will differently. Eventually.

The Sovereign Ecclesia makes no claim to having been born wise or enlightened. Rather suffering the consequences of different forms of willing have taught them the same lessons all are free to learn. And can be expected to learn. Sooner or later.

The Sovereign Ecclesia may have had their head hit quite hard a few times, by everything from mothers, to roads, to accelerating vans, to concrete floors and pavements, but otherwise they make no claim to any 'possession' by good demons (spiritual guides / guiding spirits), or having had any communications with any other-worldly beings, Angels, or 'heard voices in their head'.

The Sovereign Ecclesia has studied every religion as intensely as possible and found they all lacked something. And that most had been corrupted and co-opted and converted to CULTS, rather than true spiritual teachings intended to liberate and enlighten and empower their practitioners and students.

All this said, there is nothing in the Constitutional rights of Western nations to preclude The Free Church (The Vegan Church) from all the usual legal protections granted under 'freedom of religion' and 'freedom of religious expression'. None of the publications which might 'offend' the laws of any nation will be made public. The entire canon will be PRIVATELY available for members of The Free Church (The Vegan Church) or persons who seek them, PRIVATELY and for their PERSONAL edification.

There is nothing in our Canon which praises, incites to, offers as role models, glorifies, or sanctions, let alone commands, anyone to genocide, to racial supremacism, to racism, to sexism, to homophobia, to theft, or to any form of violence. Meanwhile the most 'respected' religions of the West do all these things, glorifying the 'dashing of their little ones' heads against the stones' (by the rivers of Babylon) and the rape and enslavement of virgins, and the call to 'kill every man, woman, child, not-yet-born, and their animals', or slavery. No slave is told to 'obey your masters'. Women are not told to obey their husbands. Children are not enjoined to spy on their parents, and 'cast the first stone' at their public stonings after have denounced them for some breach of some arbitrary prescription or proscription.

The Free Church (The Vegan Church) has no arbitrary prescriptions or proscriptions. In fact it is up to members whether they are ready to ascend or not. It is their own free will they exercise in willing or not willing certain things for themselves and other sentient beings. All we do NOT allow is self-deception. We will not allow someone to lie to themselves to blame OTHER sentient beings or other FORCES when the consequences of their own willing reflect back onto them, as they must. We do NOT allow people to imagine they can find some 'scape-goat' to attach their sins to, and send out into the desert with. We do NOT allow members to pretend they are 'exceptions to the rule'. That they have 'special entitlements'. We do NOT falsely sell 'intercessions' and 'dispensations' for crimes and sins.

We use the word 'sin' in the sense of any willing that is likely to result in the suffering of any other sentient being. And 'for as you do / will unto any other sentient being, so shall be done unto you', it is always yourSELF that you are harming, when you harm another sentient being.

No power can intercede on your behalf, or pay for YOUR sins, in this sense. No 'son of god' can allow himself to be crucified to 'pay for your sins'. And ONLY YOUR OWN WILL can sin. And only WILLFULLY. WHAT you will determines what you do. And what will be done UNTO you.

We do accept that even after we have ceased willing things that harm others we shall suffer harm ourselves. Harm that others will for us. And this is one reason why we do NOT claim to offer any optimism for THIS life on THIS plane-et. In fact we prepare our members for the worst. To expect the worst. And not to SEEK secure pleasure and satisfaction in this world, even after they have ceased willing, and acting, in ways that harm other sentient beings.

The optimism we offer is for NEXT lives. An ETERNITY of next lives. In relation to which a few years on this plane-et won't even rate more than a hint of bad memory. As long as we learn the lesson, the memory won't be necessary. Though it is possible that it takes a LONG LONG TIME for many humans, perhaps myself included, to learn the lessons of karma. That for as we will and do unto any sentient beings, or will or have others do unto any other sentient being, shall be done unto us. Sooner or later. Perhaps Billions of years of constantly recycling 'history'. History repeating over and over. A history of slavery and exploitation and war and misery and suffering. Where a few elites secure temporary privileges and pleasures for themselves for a very short period, and then return to suffer at the hands of the next batch of elites, over and over, this time as their victims.

So while The Free Church (The Vegan Church) honors Buddha and Schopenhauer, The Sovereign Ecclesia remains optimistic for life in principle. On higher planes. On higher ethical-tone plane-ets. Of which there is no reason to doubt there are infinite numbers and varieties.

But what sane, peaceful, joyous plane-et would welcome a human into their midsts? What sort of rational sane being could trust a human to live among them? Given our reputation. Given human nature as it is expressed on this plane-et. And documented in its history?

In the same way those who have proceeded far down the path to enlightenment, and ascension to higher plane-ets in their next lives, will not welcome the company of those still emotionally invested in, and committed to, willing the actions which are guaranteed to produce nothing but suffering for them in the long term.

This is why The Free Church (The Vegan Church) will seek to set up communities as self-reliant as possible, in which to promote our values, and our spiritual evolution. That said, being victimized for being 'good' is one of the fastest ways to learn that this world is not a place any sane, rational, sound, beneficent, good-willed, being would call 'home'.

Those persons who find themselves 'happy' here, are welcome to this plane-et. If they feel 'at home here' then this is the correct place for them. And it is not for us to question their taste. Either they are experiencing some temporary benefits of their willing, for which they will pay over and over again, in next lives, and probably even in this life, or they are deceiving both us and themselves, in CLAIMING to be 'happy'.

We shall seek to live as apart as possible, while offering learning materials and a 'haven' for those who are truly ready to renounce the willing of slavery of other sentient beings. Who are willing to benefit at the cost of another sentient beings suffering and misery. Who are willing to even kill and eat another sentient being, simply to gain some temporary satisfaction for themselves. Who are willing that other humans, and other sentient beings, suffering terribly some some slight personal convenience or perceived benefit.

The Sovereign Ecclesia accepts that the entire CANON of The Free Church (The Vegan Church), even when made available at not cost to the reader and viewer of it, itself cannot hope to enlighten anyone of itself. That is really personal suffering that will be the teacher. The materials will just help make sense of the situation. To clarify exactly HOW it is that what we will for, and do unto, other sentient beings, MUST NECESSARILY return upon us. And what alternatives exist. And what we CAN will even on this plane-et, at no cost to ourselves, and losing nothing of real value in the process, while re-tuning our ethical tone so that we begin RESONATING at higher frequencies, and become 'beings of light'. So that 'the kingdom of heaven that exists within all of us, as a potential, can be realised, and expressed, as a REALITY.

The Free Church (The Vegan Church) does not sell holy water of any kind (unlike the more established Cult openly trading as a Cult, and neither like its replacement, marketing its own holy water under the brand 'vaccines' and pretending to be 'Medical' in nature).

The Free Church (The Vegan Church) does not sell 'dispensations' for 'sins' to allow members to avoid the consequences of their actions, if they have the money, in the same way 'legal systems' do.

The Free Church (The Vegan Church) does not sell 'masses' for the dead. As no-one can ever be dead. Just more or less conscious. What we do is seek to raise the level of consciousness of all sentient beings, to the highest levels. We do not sell 'get out of hell free cards' as it is your own WILLING that produces, and from moment to moment, re-produces, manifests, and RENDERS in the various REPRESENTATION SYSTEMS (touch, audio, visual, olfactory), your reality. Be it a heaven or a hell.

The Free Church (The Vegan Church) claims no power to call down any god or gods, to convert bread into their flesh, or wine into their blood, for any magical purposes such as 'cannibalism and vampirism to become one with the god/s'.

The Free Church (The Vegan Church) does not claim to act as go-between for Angels or other super-natural beings, to plead for 'intercessions' to allow members to avoid the consequences of their actions.

The Free Church (The Vegan Church) understands that CONSEQUENCES are the ultimate and perhaps ONLY effective teaching methods. And to 'protect' or 'shield' someone from the consequences of their own willing would be to deprive someone of a valuable learning experience. While we actively warn of the consequences of willing certain things, humans have little propensity to learn from the 'mistakes' of others. Rather we learn from our OWN mistakes. And thus must be left free to make them. No-one can protect anyone from their own will. And the consequences of their willing. Attempts to control people and micro-managed them 'top down' cannot hope to succeed. They merely offer perfect breeding grounds for corruption and attract the very worst people to the most powerful positions of 'authority', so that the 'structure' intended to 'force' people or even 'trick' people into changing their behaviors, and ideally their wills, merely becomes a tool for the most wicked, a means to their own selfish low-tone ends, a weapon for their low-tone wills, an infestation of the very worst in human nature, granted the most wide sweeping power over others. Basically what you may have heard referred to as 'The New World Order'. This is why The Free Church (The Vegan Church) has never employed so-called 'Noble lies' i.e deception, to attempt to 'trick' people into behaving better, and reforming their wills. Each sentient being must CHOOSE for itself what it shall will. And only through suffering the consequences of POOR CHOICES of Low Tone Willing, can we expect it to FREELY choose to reform its own will. To stop willing certain things contra-indicated by its own experiential logic. Its own empirical scientific experimentation. Its own EXPERIENCE. However given the FALSE promises being made by CULTS as to 'intercession' and 'dispensations' and 'sins being paid for by the suffering of others', even the putative suffering and death of one particular supposedly 'sinless' sentient being', and even 'exceptional entitlements to freedom from the universal law of karma' , a large part of The Free Church (The Vegan Church)'s work is to disabuse people of such lies, deceptions, mendacities, and false promises. For as long as a low tone person believes they can escape the consequences of their own willing, they will, like spoilt children told they are 'entitled' to use other sentient beings as mere means to their OWN selfish ends', continue doing so. Operating under the DELUSION that they are 'exceptions to the rule' and 'free from suffering the consequences of their actions' and 'entitled' with 'special dispensations from some god' to continue to will for others, what they would never rationally will for themselves. And given the strength of the will to abuse power over other sentient beings, and to enslave them as mere means to our own selfish ends, such lies and deceptions, readily sought and welcomed and promoted (hence the massive success of CULTS making such false representations) even the personal suffering, the factual, concrete, experience of karma, can be overlooked by the low tone sentient being, because they do not WANT it to be true. They WANT the lies to be true. They WANT to continue in their delusions. And if so encouraged and facilitated, they will tend to continue in this way for many lives. Potentially endlessly. Until they finally suffer enough to become divested of this DELUSION. And it is only at this point that they become amenable to new ways of WILLING. That their MINDS will be open to receiving, and even to actively seeking out, alternative ways of WILLING. Alternative ways to be. And only then will they begin expanding their personal BRIDGE to total freedom. To bridging the chasm between their current WILL, and the higher tone WILL required to ascend from low tone plane-ets such as this one, and to return, or journey forwards onto, as the case may be, their true HOME.

The Free Church (The Vegan Church) has no arbitrary clothing prescriptions (no Burkha or Covid-Burkha mandates). However we teach members the costs of wearing any clothing that came at the cost of suffering and exploitation to other sentient beings, warning that this suffering will return to the person who seeks to benefit at that cost to another sentient being, as suffering. All negative externalities will be internalized at some point, during this or next-lives, until the person has abandoned the will to benefit at a cost to another sentient being.

The Free Church (The Vegan Church) does not offer 'absolution' via 'confession'. As you will unto and do unto other sentient beings shall be done unto you, for as long as you continue willing. And then for as long as you remain on this plane-et, which is the collective representation and manifestation and RENDERING of our collective will to treat other sentient beings as mere means to our own ends, and will that they suffer in order for us to enjoy some real or merely perceived benefit, comfort, feeling of security, pleasure, relief, or boost in status or prestige.

The Free Church (The Vegan Church) embraces all forms of sexual interaction based on complete informed consent and mutual desire for participation. We actively encourage sexual expression of all forms, between willing, consensual, informed, partners. We actively discourage all forms of deception in all areas of life, including sexuality. We encourage open communication and truthfulness in all matters, including romantic and sexual. As same-sex coupling avoids most of the problems associated with family planning and unwanted / unplanned pregnancy, we in fact would encourage this form of sexual expression in all members, and consider that bi-sexuality is the natural state of humans, and that the repression of any sexual expression can be harmful for the development of the individual and society. We accept that some sexual interactions can be 'transactions' in which one party exchanges sex in return for some non-sexual benefit, and as long as this is understood by both parties, where both freely enter into this transaction with full information and after having given full informed consent, that the parties be free to transact in this way. We do not discriminate on age and as long as all parties involved have made full disclosure of their desires and intentions, have made no misleading or deceptive promises, and are able to give their informed consent, freely, with no coercion of any kind, we see no reason to 'criminalize' any form of free, mutual, sexual interaction between consenting participants.

The Free Church (The Vegan Church) has no arbitrary taboos against any particular behavior or creative, intellectual, artistic, expression. We have no need to censor any opinion. However those persons who are not committed to their own personal spiritual evolution, and whose presence is disruptive to the evolution of others, will be required to leave our communities and return to the wider world where they will be 'at home'.

The Free Church (The Vegan Church) does not offer 'fee based courses' with 'levels' based on the ability of members to pay for such courses. The 'Bridge to Ultimate Freedom' is the Uber-Mensch themselves. The 'Bridge-man'. There is nothing external to a person that can bring them salvation or redemption from their own willing. Only by reforming your own will, can you hope to escape the repeating cycles of history, with their terror, horror, misery, suffering, slavery, and exploitation. The Bridge to total freedom is the reform of the will itself. Only when you cease willing that others pay for your pleasures and privileges, perceived security, and benefits, will you be free from being the mere means to OTHER sentient being's ends.

This world is clearly NOT intended as a permanent home for any rational, sane, high-tone sentient being. From ground up it is defined by predation. By bacteria and viruses, insects, fish, birds, and mammals. Everything here is temporary and uncertain. This can make for an exciting 'virtual reality experience engine platform', but as a permanent home, it is not a logical choice. Everything on this plane-et seems to communicate to us NOT to think of this place as a 'home'. Natural disasters occur reliably, from tornadoes and cyclones, to tidal waves, to bush-fires, to droughts, to plagues of disease and pests that destroy entire harvests, leaving the people to starve to death, and fight to the death over the remainder. Life is began with screaming and blood and suffering, and often even the death of the mother and/or child. The most dangerous place for an unborn child today, in the West, is in its mother's womb, where it is legally vulnerable to being murdered by the mother it hoped would love and cherish and protect it, and the medical profession it might have hoped would seek to preserve and enhance its wellbeing, rather than cruelly murder it. No matter how well we are born and live, we are bound to suffer various medical problems or accidents, at some point, and no matter how healthy, how lucky we are, we will be dead within a few decades. Usually preceded by any suffering we managed to avoid during our lives. And next-lives we are unlikely to be so lucky, if we happened to have enjoyed 'a good life' mostly free from pain and suffering and misery. So our 'holiday' from 'the real world' most sentient beings endure on this plane-et is only short-lived at best. And so this world clearly SCREAMS at us 'DO NOT THINK OF THIS PLACE AS HOME'. Learn your lessons as fast as you can, and ESCAPE to higher planes.

The Free Church (The Vegan Church), however is heuristic and practical in nature. We can not claim to 'know' anything. And so while we are here, we also attempt to reform this plane-et. Without investing too much hope in success. However there is no contradiction here. For the ONLY way to reform the plane-et IS to reform our selves. Our WILLS. For at very minimum our social world, our society, our communities, are reflections of our individual wills and the actions these wills motivate and produce. If somehow we got 100,000 people all resonating at the highest tone-levels possible on such a low tone plane-et, our social problems would evaporate. All the problems of 'lifestyle' and 'choices' and 'politics' and 'economics' would dissolve. Man would cease being wolf to man. Within our community. However we would immediately be considered as 'adversaries' and 'enemies' and 'easy targets' for the general population of this plane-et. Our success would not be tolerated. For lower tone CULTS cannot afford to allow us to demonstrate the superiority of our way of living and WILLING. And lower tone individuals fill with HATE at the very sight of high tone individuals literally SHINING from within, and manifesting joy and peace and harmony and relative happiness.

The failure of any Vegan Republic seems inevitable on a plane-et defined by the low ethical tone we find here. However as we do NOT consider this a viable 'home' for any sane, rational, high-toned sentient being, we do NOT concern ourselves with worldly failure. Or even our personal destruction. For death defines this plane-et. And after having raised our ethical tone, and reformed our will, the ONLY way to escape this plane-et, and move on to 'happy NEXT lives', is to die. So having achieved our purpose of personal reform of our wills, and having shared our message with others who might have suffered enough to consider alternate ways of being and living and WILLING, we joyfully depart from this plane-et, to return to, or journey onward to, as the case may be, our TRUE HOMES.

Outreach programs of The Free Church (The Vegan Church) will include Permaculture information and training seminars and the establishment of permaculture gardens on land donated by local, state and federal governments, and by private persons, or land bought with donations made for this purpose. The Free Church will work with any government agency in offering training, and with any 'community service' operations already established, as far as these correspond to The Free Church's publically stated purposes.

Further outreach programs will involve music performance, and training. The Free Church will set up basic recording and mixing facilities for training purposes, and for the production of music and video that promotes the Vegan lifestyle, and the raising of moral-ethical tone among members and the general public. The Free Church will offer training in audio and video production, including recording and mixing, and filming and editing, and post-production, to Vegan activists and members of Vegan activist organisations, on a donation basis, using equipment donated, or bought with funds donated for this purpose, of provided by sponsors. We shall seek cooperation partners among vegan industries, and retailers and manufacturers of musical equipment, and software.

The Free Church (The Vegan Church) will actively cooperate and seek to form functioning relationships with vegan activists and vegan organisations, and vegan corporations, in line with its publically declared statements of incorporation and outreach programs.

The Free Church (The Vegan Church) will do everything in its power to promote a vegan society, and to ensure people understand the absolute self-interest they have in 'going vegan' and rejecting any benefit or reward or pleasure or relief or sense of security that comes at the cost of the suffering of another sentient being.

The Free Church will not actively promote any Church educational materials which have been deemed 'illegal' by the Occupation governments of the occupied nations in which they operate. These materials will only be made available in private to members who request them. Any discussions of such materials will be considered private and confidential. Legal waivers and disclaimers will be required of anyone who requests such materials. Such dissemination of Church literature, the religious CANON of The Free Church (The Vegan Church) should be covered under the usual legal protections for religious freedom of expression. If The Torah and New Testament, and Koran, and similar religious texts are protected from 'Hate Speech' and 'Incitement' laws, and not considered 'offensive' to current policies regarding sexism, racism, and persecution of homosexuals, when they are blatantly hate speech and incitement to racism, sexism, demonisation and vilification of homosexuality, racial supremacism, theft, enslavement, and even genocide, with Rabbi's free to command all 'Jews' to genocide all the former nations of the Roman Empire, including Germany, France, Spain, and England, on YouTube, then there can surely be nothing 'offensive' to those laws within the religious CANON of The Free Church (The Vegan Church), which includes the entire TROONATNOOR imprint and video collection. But given the complete and absolute nature of the occupation, it is foreseeable that absolute hypocrisy will continue to reign, and The Free Church (The Vegan Church) may be required to redact and withdraw from all public platforms, official church literature due to legal pressure. It is even foreseeable that the Sovereign Ecclesia will be personal persecuted and possibly imprisoned, under the reign of terror of the current inquisition, and the Co2vid Cult inquisition expected to follow as a continuation of that reign of terror.

Note that nothing within the religious CANON of The Free Church (The Vegan Church) promotes or supports any form of violence against any individual or group, or even species of sentient beings. The Free Church (The Vegan Church) is against all forms of prejudice, violence, racism, sexism, demonisation of homosexuals, homophobia, xenophobia, exploitation, deception, misinformation, and censorship.

The Free Church (The Vegan Church) will never sanction any permanent priesthood or corporate structure in which any member can accumulate private power or wealth, through their dealings as representatives of the church. There will be no 'princes' of this church. No clichés enjoying special privileges or special 'authority'. Resources will never be wasted on luxuries for any priesthood. All church property will be available for all suitably 'qualified' members.

Complete transparency and accountability will prevail. No special 'ecclesiastical courts' will decide on matters concerning member behavior. Any criminal behavior will be reported to the usual legal authorities and the church will cooperate fully in any investigations.

It is common for religious cults to protect pedophiles, in order to send parents out to recruit members, and collect donations for the building of absurd monuments for their cult, and to finance luxurious living for the Cult elites. Pedophiles will volunteer for 'child-care' duties to take advantage of the Cult elites selfish greed. And the Cult elites often protect them for fear of 'damaging the reputation' of their Cult. The Free Church (The Vegan Church) will never seek to actively recruit new members in such ways, nor will any 'elite' be allowed to emerge that might lead to such a situation arising. No situation will be allowed to develop in the church in which any member could exploit the situation for personal advantage, to the detriment of the stated objectives of the church.

Members will participate in routine briefing and de-briefing sessions, in which feedback will be offered to members, and encouraged from members, about all the activities of the church.

The Sovereign Ecclesia expects that many members, still not ready to accept the universal law of karma, and seeking 'exceptional status', will break from The Free Church (The Vegan Church) and set up their own 'spin-offs'. That is to be expected. If the truth were not hard to process, and accept, and contrary to the will of low tone sentient beings, plane-ets such as this one would not exist. And we would not be here attempting to liberate all sentient beings from their delusions of exceptionalism. From the one TRUE DENIAL. That 'for as you will and do unto other sentient beings, so shall be done unto you'.

Transformers can change values of voltage, current, and impedance but cannot change the frequency

This applies to 'philosopher-prophets' too. We cannot personally raise YOUR 'frequency'. Your ethical TONE. Your WILL. The TONE at which you RESONATE. This TONE determines what sort of realities you will tune-into, and manifest in your next lives. If you merely maintain, at death, the same tone to resonated at

during this life, you will manifest the same sort of plane-et next life, as you did this life. Your will will be RENDERED as the plane-et you are new-born into, next life. And this will continue for as many next lives as it takes for you to reform your own will. THAT is about the limit and extend of 'free will' on this plane. You are free to will the abuse of power over other sentient beings, to exploit them as mere means to your own ends, and as mere objects and slaves. You are free to reject that relationship, and will that all sentient beings be treated as they would wish to be treated. To 'do unto others as you would have them do unto you'. To 'will for others as you would wish them to will for you'. To treat others as you would like them to treat you, and your loved ones.

Any Cult offering you the illusion of 'exceptionalism' from the universal law of Karma, that of 'as you will and do unto and for other sentient beings, so shall be done and willed unto and for you', is deceiving you and/or itself. There are no exceptions. There is no 'get out of the consequences of your personal willing and actions free' card. No god/s or angels can intercede on your behalf. No 'scape-goats' can be tricked into, or voluntarily choose to, 'die for your sins' and 'redeem' you from the consequences of YOUR willing and YOUR actions. That is delusion. That is fraud. That is wish-full thinking. No 'messiah' can 'cleanse your karmic sins' FOR you. You cannot buy 'dispensations' for your willing and actions. Your WILL is MAGNETISED to the 'equal and opposite' polarity as your true self. What you will FOR OTHER SENTIENT BEINGS will define your polarity. And what you will for others, you will attract towards yourself. You are in effect willing it FOR yourself. This is reflected in the Hindu idea of thinking of others AS your self. To repeat the mantra 'You am I'. When dealing with ANY sentient being. To put yourself in the position of the other you are interacting with, and ask yourself 'would I treat MYSELF' this way?

Kant put the question this way : Do I want my actions to become role models for the actions of other sentient beings towards ME? Do I want my action to be held up as the universal law and rule of action? Do I want to be treated this way? Commonly referred to as 'The Golden Rule'. To do unto others as you would have them do unto you. ALL others. Not just those you imagine might have the power TO do unto you as you do unto them a.k.a 'avenge' themselves' and 'turn the tables on you' (a.k.a Hodie Mihi Tibi Cras a.k.a You today, me tomorrow). Not just equals with the power to reciprocate. Or unequals with the potential to 'gang up' on you and, through collective action, 'equalise' the power differentials that exist between you and they as equals. Not just those for whom you 'have a soft spot' due to some sentimental emotion or feeling of empathy, such as 'cute' animals or particularly 'charming' child-slaves.

The concept of eternal punishment for your 'sins' is pretty spot on. Only no external judge is required. And no 'consideration' can thus be entered into. No corruption of a judge and/or jury is possible. There are no 'loopholes' that can be discovered and exercises to escape justice. No 'prison breaks' are possible. No guards can be bribed. No 'Presidential pardons' can be wangled. To 'Governor' can be appealed to for 'mercy'. No 'dispensations' can be bought. No 'doppleganger' can be brought in to take your place. No scapegoat can take your sins upon itself, to be sent out into the desert with them. There is no absolution. No redemption from them. No beings can intercede on your behalf and take them upon themselves. No fines can be paid in lieu of punishment. No corruption or blackmail or bribery can reduce your sentence.

Because from moment to moment, what you WILL for others, you are willing for YOURSELF. The world you experience is no more and no less than a reflection of, the RENDERING OF, the MANIFESTATION OF, your ACCUMULATED willing.

L Ron Hubbard used various visualisations as part of his grand experiment in Neuro Linguistic Programming and attempt to escape all prejudices and assumptions, known as 'Scientology'. He consciously attempted to employ 'noble lies' in generative ways. To open up possibilities that 'knowing' blocked. What we 'know' totally limits our freedom of experiencing what is possible, but THOUGHT impossible. Watch 'The Master' to see him in action. L Ron Hubbard was a master of 'narratives'. He was a gifted writer. His narratives extend far beyond the typical Middle Eastern and build upon far Eastern ideas, and schools of thought, to extend them even further. His was a noble and grand experiment. One certainly worth pursuing. However he failed to take the necessary leaps of PERSONAL RESPONSIBILITY and while perhaps raising the ethical tone of his members a little, which is no mean feat and no small achievement, he missed the KEY point of Obadiah's warning. He missed the key FACT that the world is the EFFECT of our collective wills. Our accumulated personal willing.

But we can not BE CAUSE outside of the law of karma. We ARE cause. Continually and habitually. We produce the world we experience from moment to moment, via our collective willing. Only we imagine we can will one thing for ANOTHER and experience something different for OURSELVES. We delude ourselves, in true 'Ideology of Semitism' fashion, into claiming we are EXCEPTIONS to the rule of karma. That some 'god' has given us this 'special status' with 'special entitlements'. And it is this DELUSION that is at the heart of suffering and misery. And will remain the CAUSE OF ALL EVIL as long as we choose to ignore the reality, and instead put our collective support behind the 'Ideology of Semitism'. The ideology of exceptionalism. The ideology of entitlement. The ideology of special status. The DELUSION that we can somehow remain FREE FROM THE CONSEQUENCES OF OUR WILLING and acting. That we can escape the universal law of karma.

I will conclude this part of the lesson by asking the 'Jew' who looks forward to having 2700 Goy slaves, to calculate the odds that NEXT life, they will just happen to be born a 'Jew'. Are there 30 million 'Jews' officially? And how many would our 'Jew' accept as 'truly Jewish'? Are there almost 8 Billion 'Goys'? When you've completed your 'Jew World Order' and have total control, and the entire plane-et enslaved, how long will you get to enjoy it for? At most one life. And then? You shall return as a slave, to 'enjoy' the set-up you have contrived from the 'other side' of the table. For, let's say, 2699 lives. Before maybe new-incarnating again as 'one of the chosen people'.

But that is really just an aside. I would ask the average person to, before putting on their leather shoes, or 'tucking into' those eggs, that steak, that bacon, that chicken, if they would enjoy it so much, if they were sure that within five minutes they would be experiencing every ounce of pain and misery the animals suffered in order for them to have that 'momentary pleasure'. Would it be worth enduring the LIFE of that chicken, that pig, that cow, and all their suffering and misery, simply in order to 'enjoy' a few moments of satisfaction in consuming the products that suffering and misery were accepted as a necessary cost to produce? Would ANY product be considered 'necessary' and even 'desirable' if the end user, the consumer, had to bear EVERY cost involved in its production? Every negative externality? Would that new cosmetic, and the supposed 'benefits' it promised, justify the end user / consumer PERSONALLY suffering the agonies and miseries of the 'product testing' and 'safety testing' that went into its production?

Would the average person endure the life of a factory farmed pig, or cow, or chicken, simply to 'enjoy' the 'taste' of roasted chicken, fried pork and bacon, scrambled eggs, and beef? Would ANYONE define such suffering 'a necessary evil' because the products were 'necessary'?

Can anyone today claim to be ignorant of the FACT that NO animal products are necessary to maintain OPTIMAL health and well-being? That there are a plethora of alternatives to the 'traditional' foods and clothing and cosmetics that offer at least as much satisfaction and functionality, as those products which necessarily INFLICT INCREDIBLY CRUELTY AND HORRIFIC SUFFERING AND MISERY UPON OTHER SENTIENT BEINGS?

No. There are no 'excuses' for ignorance. Yet people will DENY the obvious facts and try to DENY their own responsibility for the state of this world. They will DENY that the world holds them ACCOUNTABLE from moment to moment. They will glorify and applaud and raise up to the highest positions of power, status, prestige, and authority, anyone who 'goes along with their DENIAL and self-deception'. Anyone who supports them in their DENIAL. Their DELUSION. Their SELF-DECEPTION. Like small children seeking to avoid responsibility for their actions. Small children wishing to continue to do evil, without being held accountable for their actions. Praying to their gods for 'protection' from the consequences of their OWN actions. Praying for 'immunity' from accountability. Praying for 'special entitlements' and 'exceptions' and 'intercessions' and 'dispensations' and 'for some messiah to die for THEIR sins and redeem THEM', some 'scapegoat' to burden with their OWN sins, and send off into the desert'. So FALSE PROPHETS will be raised up as the highest authorities, and praised as 'the best' and given 'the best of the best'. And these will become the alpha-apes all other apes will ape. Hoping to emulate. These will be the role models. The 'Great men of history'. The 'holy men'. These false prophets willing to engage in mutual masturbation with their followers.

While the true prophet will be persecuted and censored and crushed and destroyed and demonised. Why? Because they threaten the DELUSION that the masses cling to. Like selfish, tantrum throwing, children. Unwilling to admit 'I am wrong'. Unwilling to REFORM their own willing, and behaviour. Because it is EASIER to simply continue along the same path, with the same momentum. An INERTIA is at work here. A MORAL INERTIA. An recalcitrance. THE TRUE DENIAL. Of reality. Of the reality that there can never be any exception to the law of karma. As you will and do unto other sentient beings you will and do unto yourself. For what you will becomes manifest and RENDERED as the reality you live and die in. Over and over. Until you REFORM your will. And CEASE willing the same things. Only then can you hope to be new-born, next lives, into worlds defined by justice, harmony, beauty, and lives WORTH living for all sentient beings inhabiting them.

Oh, and Omelas? That prime example of 'scape-goating' and the 'involuntary redeemer' / 'christ' / 'messiah'? In reality, it could never exist. It is a fictional idea. Only the individual exists. Only an individual sentient being can experience pleasure, pain, relief, desire/love, and fear/hate. There is no 'common good' or 'greater good'. There is no 'whole'. There are only individuals. And whether it is one or a billion individuals, their suffering does not 'sum' in any 'greater evil'. Just like no individual goods can 'sum' into one 'greater good'. There are only individuals. And only individual suffering. And for one person to be suffering is the same as for all to be suffering. As only individuals can suffer. They do not SHARE their suffering among themselves. They can not SHARE their pleasure among a group. Each feels what they feel. Others may empathise with their suffering and pleasure, or envy it, or take pleasure in it, but it is still each of them that feels whatever they feel for themselves. To claim that we can sacrifice one or more people, for some 'greater good' is a self DECEPTION. A delusion. You will find it is always some OTHERS that the people promoting this concept are SACRIFICING and NOT THEMSELVES. If they were willing to sacrifice THEMSELVES for this 'greater good', I might take them more seriously. But no, they are always calling for OTHERS to suffer, for this greater good in which THEY, as the 'instigators', hope to share. Usually take a much LARGER share in than anyone else. Often almost ALL of it. The 'benefits' that 'OTHERS' are being sacrificed for.

If someone wanted to sacrifice themselves for others, it would be to no avail. What each needs to sacrifice is their sense of exceptional entitlement. They need to sacrifice their DENIAL. They need to sacrifice their sense of special rights and privileges. They need to sacrifice the very idea that ANY being can step outside of the law of karma. To escape accountability for their own willing and actions, and the actions they will others to make as their proxies. The Dali Lama might imagine he can escape the karma of the killing of the chicken, because a loyal follower offers to kill the bird himself, and take that karma upon themselves. But no-one can take another beings' karma upon themselves. No 'christ' or 'messiah' can die for another's sins.

The SACRIFICE being asked is to give up the childish, selfish, delusion, and DENIAL that any individual can escape the consequences of their own willing and actions.

No words put in any order can magically convince anyone to REFORM their PERSONAL WILL. I only hope to clarify things, in a world where most people will tell you what you WANT to hear, in order to be AGREEABLE to you, and earn your favour, your patronage, your approval and acceptance, your love, and your support. Often with zero interest in your wellbeing. Often as part of a well thought-out plan to deceive you, trick you, steal from you, abuse your trust, and ultimately enslave you.

You will have to learn the only way any being has ever learned anything. From experience. From experiencing the consequences of your own willing. For better or worse. Until you associate low tone willing with suffering, misery, and pain, and reject it as undesirable. This is what plane-ets like this one are all about.

They are the manifestation of a particular low tone form of willing. And the suffering and horror that defines this plane-et is merely the manifestation of the collective wills of its inhabitants. It is literally, to paraphrase Schopenhauer, the 'representation' of our collective wills.

And if we were all to have a plane-et to ourselves, it would end up no better than this one. It would always REFLECT and REPRESENT our personal will. We would re-produce something similar to this world. There is no escaping this reality.

Oh, but if in fact there IS no escaping our current will, then I would concur with Schopenhauer and Buddha in rejecting life per se. But surely it is worth TRYING to reform our wills. To test my theory. And then, if the world proves to be simply evil by nature, and this turns out to be, 'the best of all possible worlds', then I will be the first to admit it, and to retire from life per se. To join Buddha and Schopenhauer in rejecting life per se. And stating 'nothing IS better than this'.

But I don't see that ANY community has EVER really attempted what I am attempting. And the logic of my position is sound. I welcome any serious dialog regarding it.

And at the very miminum, my 'Protocols' would eliminate MOST of the suffering that we humans produce for OURSELVES through the way we seek to treat other humans as mere means to our own ends. It must be understood that VEGAN culture includes humans as well as all other sentient beings. And the vegan that will not accept a benefit at the cost of suffering to a 'mere chicken, or pig, or cow, or cat', certainly can be trusted NOT to accept, let alone ACTIVELY SEEK, to benefit at the cost of suffering to another human being.

The ONLY person I could ever TRUST is a VEGAN who is VEGAN ON PRINCIPLE. Not just Vegan for their own personal, private, health, reasons. But who has heeded Obadiah's warning that 'For as you do unto any sentient being, so shall be done unto YOU'.

I would personally love to end my own, yours, and the suffering of EVERY sentient being on this plane-et. But if that suffering is really the TEACHER then I would be doing you a disservice. I would be depriving you of the most valuable lessons you could learn.

Alleviating some temporary suffering you are enduring might win you as a friend, but once 'relieved' you would probably return to your 'old ways' and have learned nothing. The real benefit I have to offer, you would reject.

Seeking to protect you from the consequences of your own willing is on some level like protecting a child that is too young to reason yet. But at some point you have to let the child learn from its own mistakes. By making them. And suffering the consequences. And THEN perhaps they will be OPEN to listening to you. And to REFLECTING on their willing and the behaviour that willing resulted in.

So I must leave you to the Cult of Judah as your 'teacher'. They are teaching you the consequences of abandoning PERSONAL responsibility to OTHERS, and seeking 'absolution' for your own sins, via proxies. The cost of DENYING PERSONAL RESPONSIBILITY and imagining you can 'pass the buck' in terms of ACCOUNTABILITY onto 'others'. The 'authorities', for example. Your 'political leaders'. Just look where they have led you in the past, and are leading you now! Enjoy. Maybe the suffering awaiting you will be your true saviour. The greatest blessing. Maybe it will be horrific enough to finally pierce your armour-plating of DENIAL. And like the small child, finally having suffered the consequences of its own willing, be ready to LISTEN. Be ready to ACCEPT PERSONAL RESPONSIBILITY. And to REFORM. To reform your OWN WILL.

The CULT is the center that holds the system of fake democracy and real slavery together

When it comes to electricity and magnets, an electric current can 'force' a magnet to spin, by repelling and attracting its opposite poles.

The forces of repulsion and attraction are used to 'push' and then 'pull' on a magnet free to spin around its length-wise axis. The axel it spins around is either directly coupled to a wheel, which it drives, or indirectly coupled via gears and drive-shafts. In this way the electrical force is converted into 'turning force', a.k.a 'torque'. Which is itself a paradox worthy of Xeno. A spinning wheel that is constant movement, without ever changing its location/position. The perfect metaphor for our 'rat race' with its 'glass' partitions between castes and classes that are not supposed to exist, but which keep us on the 'tax plantation' we were born on, for the most part.

The permanent magnet produces lines of force that are constant. These lines of force complement each other in terms of our purposes, as when one pole is repelling, the other is attracting, in the opposite direction. Which normally would mean they cancel each other out. But as our magnet is free to rotate along its lengthwise axis, about the axel we placed through its center, the pushing and pulling, the attraction and repulsion, complement each other, ROTATING the magnet in the SAME direction, even as they act in opposite directions. Another great 'paradox' for Xeno! And for the political scientists, who must, after several thousands years of documented history, wonder how 'democracy' always produces dictatorship and tyranny, despite all the 'democratic action' and supposed 'two party system of government and 'opposition'. All you need do is place an axel at the 'center', and you can let your thralls and slaves have as many 'elections' and even 'revolutions' as they like, but they will always simply 'spin on the spot'. They will have the illusion of 'action' and 'movement' and even 'progress', while getting nowhere. 'The center cannot hold?'. Well the center is really the 'Focualt's Pendulum' of the material-historical dialectic. It is the point that experiences ZERO actual force, as the forces operating upon it balance each other out perfectly, and turn any forces into mere 'rotational' forces. So the theoretical 'Foucault's Pendulum' point of zero movement is the theoretical 'point' about which the 'wheel' spins. In the same way it is the theoretical point of a pendulum that doesn't itself move, while the pendulum swings wildly back and forth. And the 'thralls' enjoy the 'ride', which always leaves them back where they started. Rarely any the wiser. Disillusioned with whatever 'party' they chose. And ready to 'swing' to the supposed 'opposition'. Not having learned the lesson that it doesn't matter which side they chose, because they are both controlled by the 'center'. The CULT.

Markus Heinrich Rehbach
Sovereign Ecclesia
The Free Church (The Vegan Church)
This year of our liberation ONE
This year of the Co2Vid Cult Two.
This year of Occupation 2021

Philosophy notes from 'Electrickery'

Prelude: Not just lack of commitment to, but almost total rejection of, the Elenchus, at the heart of the problem

I've interrogated every 'Official Narrative' you can name. I've presented my findings in books that have been banned, and which have gotten me blacklisted, as a writer, from most self-publishing platforms. For a writer to lose the chance to even SELF publish is a huge sacrifice, that only a writer could understand. But you can download every book I've ever published, and many things I never published, from my TROONATNOOR Telegram channel, and possibly still using links in my WordPress and Bitchute channels. One of the two people who have EVER helped me in my TROONATNOOR enterprise has also posted TORRENTS to all my books. Just search and search and search, avoiding Google wherever possible, and using services like DUCK DUCK GO, until you find links to my TROONATNOOR downloads. You can also buy most of my books at Amazon or Apple, for the lowest price they allowed me to list them for.

I've paid a HIGH price to research, write, and publish. Many times I've had my entire imprint BLACKLISTED by self-publishing websites like Smashwords. When you follow Google links you will often come to a dead end with 'page not found'. Such websites still use my books for advertising purposes, to lure prospective users to their websites, but they won't actually publish ANY of my books. Whereas Amazon and Apple merely blacklist and BAN and 'block' SOME of my books. And threaten to BLACKLIST me, and BAN MY ENTIRE IMPRINT, if I attempt to upload a book they have 'blocked' in some other form. So clearly it is NOT about the presentation, formatting, style, or any other technical matter. It is straight up CENSORSHIP which is against the First Amendment in the U.S.A last time I looked. And these companies are U.S based companies. So it goes to show how much respect Google and Amazon and Apple have for FREEDOM OF SPEECH and THE U.S CONSTITUTION and BILL OF RIGHTS. Their censorship is no less than the Catholic Church exercised in the Dark Ages, or which the Taliban exercise today. Did anyone else notice that the U.S basically just donated over a BILLION dollars in military hardware, from vehicles to weapons systems, to the Taliban? Or the monstrous hypocrisy of Facebook et al presenting themselves as the frontline of free speech, by ensuring the Taliban couldn't censor the people the Taliban want to silence? All the while Facebook et al AGRESSIVELY censor anyone who challenges 'The Official Covid Narrative' or 'Official Holocaust Narrative', to name just two official narratives that it is TABOO to challenge in any form.

You can find SOME of my books at Amazon, just search TROONATNOOR or Markus Heinrich Rehbach. This is the only way to get paperback versions of my books. But the electronic versions are available at no cost to you from my Telegram TROONATNOOR channel, Bitchute channel, and WordPress pages, or using links posted there.

You will find math errors (which I am correcting but finding it hard to get Amazon self-publishing platforms to process and so you will have to go to my TROONATNOOR Telegram channel to get the latest updated PDF of my 'Sound Foundations Audio Engineering Reference Guide' and also the updates to my 'Sound Foundations Optimal Reaper DAW Guide', and lots of typos in my books. I even had to put the Index at the back of the Audio Engineering Guide to get the Amazon system to publish it. No idea why. They keep changing their system, making it even more frustrating for self-publishers to self-publish, hoping I guess we will give up in frustration and pay for additional services. It is just one more barrier to people like me, who no-one rewards or supports (so we don't have the money to pay anyone to do anything), because we are TOTALLY INDEPENDENT AND PANDER TO NO NARROW VESTED INTEREST GROUP OF ANY KIND. Can you imagine sweating, labouring, suffering, and sacrificing for years to produce a book which is then BANNED UNIVERSALLY? One which, even when it was available, drew little but MALICIOUS reviews which Amazon, who, for some very bizarre reason, given they are supposed to be in the business of SELLING books, place the very WORST and clearly MALICIOUS reviews from people who even ADMIT they haven't even READ the book, at the very TOP of the review pages, while placing the glowing, FIVE STAR REVIEWS from people with NO ulterior motives, at the very BOTTOM of the same review page?

After having had my entire life's work BANNED by every other self-publishing platform, can you imagine getting WARNING LETTERS from Amazon and Apple that they will BLACKLIST ME UNIVERSALLY AS A WRITER if I ever attempt to publish the books they have already 'blocked', in any other form. So that my ENTIRE LIFE'S work would be BANNED. Just as Smashwords and other platforms did years ago. Silencing me. Basically BURNING all my books. So that no-one could ever benefit from MY effort, sacrifice, and risk?

So don't complain if my books are not 'perfect'. I have to follow the 80/20 rule. The law of diminishing marginal returns to investment of energy and time and frustration. For many reasons. Not just the fact that I have such limited resources. Even time. I am just one person working under conditions few people would ever volunteer to work under. Social, economic, emotional, and physical poverty are the price I pay. So that I can offer you my entire imprint at not cost to YOU. But remember I have paid a HUGE price to offer them to you. Nothing in this world is FREE! SOMEONE or some other sentient being, has to pay. And when you don't reciprocate, you contribute to the erosion of the very little goodwill that still exists in a world driven by greed and monetisation of talent.

But here's the thing. People are NOT willing to make even the COMMITMENT of a few hours a week for a year or so to their own enlightenment. They compete for a chance to waste years of their life, full-time, to gain 'diplomas' and 'qualifications' that promise to get them 'paid and laid'. But when it comes to the MOST IMPORTANT things in life, they are lazy. And I am fed up with attempting to explain things to people with ZERO commitment to understanding what I am trying to explain. They have just wasted my time. Other than in reminding me how FEW people really SEEK truth and justice. And how little time and effort they are willing to invest. Let alone how little risk and sacrifice they are willing to make.

Of course attempts at dialog do inform me about the state of the minds of the average person. The almost complete incoherence of their minds. The total lack of any education or training and thus skill in critical reasoning, and ENTERTAINING IDEAS. And what's worse, the almost absolute lack of any desire to enter into a genuine ELENCHUS. A genuine DIALOG. A 'Socratic Dialog'. The lack of INTENTION to collaborate with interlocutors in seeking 'the truth'. With ERISTIC being the dominant, automatic, go-to approach. The attempt to 'prove yourself right and your 'opponent' wrong'. To literally TREAT them AS an opponent, rather than as a collaborator. A fellow truth seeker. Because people aren't seeking to find the truth. They are merely seeking to defend and hold, and claim 'authority' for, their adopted positions. Which are either simply INHERITED HEARSAY, or reflections of their self-perceived material interests, vis a vis 'getting paid and laid'. If a certain 'position' seems likely to 'get them paid and laid', they will aggressively promote that position. if a position challenges their self-definitions of entitlement, and to being 'a good person', they will attack it as if it were a physical attack on said entitlements, and a direct threat to their continued privileges and status and authority and the benefits they enjoy, at a HUGE COST to other people, and other sentient beings.

Searching for partners in Socratic Dialog, in a genuine Elenchus, is usually a waste of time. Energy expended in vain. Frustration endured in vain. Migraines and cluster headaches and nausea suffered in vain. Anticipating people's typical responses in advance is like trying to work out a program or 'game theory' for cat wrangling.

There is simply so little COMMITMENT among the general population for SEEKING truth and justice for ALL sentient beings. And it certainly REQUIRES a REAL COMMITMENT on the part of the seeker even to simply read through my entire TROONATNOOR imprint, and watch my BITCHUTE videos which interrogate, and expose, all manner of 'official narratives'. Asking questions you'd never have thought to ask. And offering surprising answers. Challenging answers. Terrifying answers. Answers that place the blame on YOU. But which offer YOU a way to escape the consequences of your OWN willing and actions. A way to ESCAPE HISTORY.

I really hope I DO NOT have many new 'insights' that I feel compelled to share with anyone, in future. I can accept that I have pushed the limits of my 'response-ABILITY' as far as they can be pushed. And that beyond that no-one can claim I have any further respons-IBILITY'. As advocate and Advisor. And I have no opportunities for activism beyond that. I have no army. I have no nation. I have no resources. I have no real support in my LONE crusade. Because anyone who GENUINELY seeks truth and justice for ALL sentient beings, and challenges EVERY OFFICIAL NARRATIVE equally, without partisan politics or any other sort of tribal or even species bias, is going to find themselves ALONE in this world. Ex-communicated. Exiled. TABOO! Socially isolated. Bankrupted. Impoverished. And if they manage to remain 'free', it will be a freedom that is much less comfortable than they would enjoy in a typical Western prison.

I beg you to download the entire TROONATOOR imprint and keep it safe somewhere, OFFLINE, or at minimum on a computer running a Russian Hack of Windows or similar, with no 'forced updates', which one day will DELETE ‘unauthorized’ materials deemed ‘A threat to the public good’ by your beloved ‘Authorities’. This is the direction things are taking. Today's injections may be placebos. And todays 'forced access to your harddrive' may simply be to delete 'unauthorized' software, and simply to spy on you. But both represent a CONDITIONING process. Conditioning you to ACCEPT and SUBMIT TO such 'forced' injections and 'updates'. And once you become comfortable with such things, and accept and submit to them AUTOMATICALLY, the Cult of Judah will be free to inject you with anything they like, and to install and delete, anything they like, on your computer.

If you want me to have a chance to compete for people's attention against all the controlled opposition, I need support. If you don't think my contribution is important enough, then that's your choice. I won't let bitterness overcome my goodwill. My intention was to seek the truth, and share what I could find. I've completed my mission. If any new insights come to me that justify all the work involved in publishing them, to the tiny audience I have, I will probably still share them. But I hope no more come to me. They are just a burden. And motivate me to invest time, energy, frustration, and take further risks, IN VAIN.

Simply because so few people are REALLY committed to seeking the truth, and justice, for ALL sentient beings. The WHOLE truth.

Markus Rehbach
Sovereign Ecclesia
The Free Church (The Vegan Church)

Introduction

These are the notes from my attempt at a ‘pre-technical’ guide to electricity and electronics that interrogates ‘The Official Narrative’ concerning ‘Electricity’ as far as is possible before entering the realm of merely ‘paraphrasing complex mathematical formulas without actually explaining anything’. Such formulas have proven heuristic, and delivered huge technological advances this side of the great Cataclysm a.k.a ‘Younger Dryas Impact’ a.k.a ‘Deluge’ a.k.a ‘Fall of Atlantis’. However ‘The Official Narrative’ itself is full of holes and new ‘characters’ had to be introduced to ‘fill’ them, so to speak. From what I’ve read, it seems the ‘authorities’ don’t really GROK what they are talking ABOUT. They fall back to paraphrasing mathematical equations in ways that don’t explain anything, but make it impossible for a layperson to challenge their authority, and expose this LACK of deep understanding of ‘what the hell they are talking about’. AROUND is probably more appropriate a term to describe what they are doing. You can download the full guide these extracts come from at no cost to you from my TROONATNOOR Telegram channel, and possibly still using links in my WordPress and Bitchute channels. If you are lucky, one of my very rate ‘collaborators’ will have posted TORRENTS to all my books. Just search and search and search, avoiding Google wherever possible, and using services like DUCK DUCK GO, until you find links to my TROONATNOOR imprint. I’ve paid a HIGH price to research, write, and publish them. Many times I’ve had my entire imprint BLACKLISTED by self-publishing websites like Smashwords. When you follow Google links you will often come to a dead end with ‘page not found’. Such websites still use my books for advertising purposes, to lure prospective users to their websites, but they won’t actually publish ANY of my books. Whereas Amazon and Apple merely blacklist and BAN some of my books. And threaten to BLACKLIST me, and BAN MY ENTIRE IMPRINT if I attempt to upload a book they have ‘blocked’ in some other form. So clearly it is NOT about the presentation, formatting, style, or any other technical matter. It is straight up CENSORSHIP which is against the First Amendment in the U.S.A last time I looked. And these companies are U.S based companies. So it goes to show how much respect Google and Amazon and Apple have for FREEDOM OF SPEECH and THE U.S CONSTITUTION and BILL OF RIGHTS.

You can find some of my books at Amazon, just search TROONATNOOR or Markus Heinrich Rehbach. They include the ‘Sound Foundations, Optimal Reaper DAW Guide’ and ‘Sound Foundations Audio Engineering

Reference Guide' which this forms an addition to. You will find math errors and lots of typos in my guides. And I even had to put the Index at the back of the Audio Engineering Guide to get the Amazon system to publish it. No idea why. They keep changing their system, making it even more frustrating for self-publishers to self-publish, hoping I guess we will give up in frustration and pay for additional services. It is just one more barrier to people like me, who no-one rewards or supports, because we are TOTALLY INDEPENDENT AND PANDER TO NO NARROW VESTED INTEREST GROUP OF ANY KIND. Can you imagine sweating, labouring, suffering, and sacrificing for years to produce a book which is then BANNED UNIVERSALLY? One which, even when it was available, drew little but MALICIOUS reviews which Amazon, for some very bizarre reason, given they are supposed to be in the business of SELLING books, place at the very TOP of the review pages, while placing the glowing, FIVE STAR REVIEWS from people with no POLITICAL motives, at the very BOTTOM of the same review page? And then find the very same book, along with other books, BANNED UNIVERSALLY. And not just that. But to get WARNING LETTERS from Amazon and Apple that they will BLACKLIST ME UNIVERSALLY AS A WRITER if I ever attempt to publish the books they have already 'blocked' in any other form. So that my ENTIRE LIFE'S work would be BANNED. Just as Smashwords and other platforms did years ago.

So don't complain if my books are not 'perfect'. I have to follow the 80/20 rule. The law of diminishing marginal returns to investment. For many reasons. Not just the fact that I have such limited resources. Even time. I am just one person working under conditions few people would ever volunteer to work under. Social, economic, emotional, and physical poverty are the price I pay. So that I can offer you my entire imprint at not cost to YOU.

But here's the thing. People are NOT willing to make even the COMMITMENT of a few hours a week for a year or so to their own enlightenment. They compete for a chance to waste years of their life, full-time, to gain 'diplomas' and 'qualifications' that promise to get them 'paid and laid'. But when it comes to the MOST IMPORTANT things in life, they are lazy. And I am fed up with attempting to explain things to people with ZERO commitment to understanding what I am trying to explain. They have just wasted my time. Other than in reminding me how few people really SEEK truth and justice. And in providing feedback on the state of the minds of the average person. The almost complete incoherence of their minds. The total lack of any education or training and thus skill in critical reasoning, and ENTERTAINING IDEAS. And what's worse, the almost absolute lack of any desire to enter into a genuine ELENCHUS. A genuine DIALOG. A 'Socratic Dialog'. The lack of INTENTION to collaborate with interlocutors in seeking 'the truth'. With ERISTIC being the dominant, automatic, go-to approach. The attempt to 'prove yourself right and your 'opponent' wrong'. To literally TREAT them AS an opponent, rather than a collaborator. A fellow truth seeker. Because people aren't seeking to find the truth. They are merely seeking to defend and hold, and claim 'authority' for their adopted positions. Which are either simply INHERITED HEARSAY, or reflections of their self-perceived material interests, vis a vis 'getting paid and laid'. If a certain 'position' seems likely to 'get them paid and laid', they will aggressively promote that position.

Searching for partners in Socratic Dialog, in a genuine Elenchus, is usually a waste of time. Energy expended in vain. Frustration endured in vain. Migraines and cluster headaches and nausea suffered in vain. There is simply so little COMMITMENT among the general population for SEEKING truth and justice for ALL sentient beings. And it certainly REQUIRES a REAL COMMITMENT on the part of the seeker even to simply read through my entire TROONATNOOR imprint, and watch my BITCHUTE videos, the ones remaining after Yahoo and Google banned me FOR LIFE, for expressing compelling arguments, and publishing documented FACTS, that contradicted 'The Official Narratives' these videos were interrogating.

So I really hope I don't have many 'insights' that I feel compelled to share with anyone, in future. I can accept that I have pushed the limits of my 'response-ABILITY' as far as they can be pushed. And that beyond that no-one can claim I have any further respons-IBILITY'. As advocate and Advisor. And I have no opportunities for activism beyond that. I have no army. I have no nation. I have no resources. I have no real support in my LONE crusade. Because anyone who GENUINELY seeks truth and justice for ALL sentient beings, and challenges EVERY OFFICIAL NARRATIVE equally, without partisan politics or any other sort of tribal or even species bias, is going to find themselves ALONE in this world. Ex-communicated. Exiled. TABOO! Socially isolated. Bankrupted. Impoverished. And if they manage to remain 'free', it will be a freedom that is much less comfortable than they would enjoy in a typical Western prison. Anyway, with no further ado, here is what you came for. I will try to make it as freely available as possible over the internet while it is still possible to do so. I beg you to download the entire TROONATOOR imprint and keep it safe somewhere, OFFLINE and off a computer with 'automatic FORCED updates', which one day will DELETE 'unauthorized' materials deemed 'A threat to the public good' by your beloved 'Authorities'.

The Orobouros of my interest in electronics (things coming full circle)

Australians of my age will remember the businessman and adventurer Dick Smith who set up a chain of electronics stores. I was genuinely impressed when I saw him once, with one of his customized long range research helicopter. I rarely spent money on *any*thing. Everything I wore was second hand. I had so few things. So little clothing. So little anything. But for some reason a kit like the one above grabbed my attention, when I saw it in the 'discount bin' I assume, of one of Dick Smith's shops, I bought it. I didn't get far with it. But I always remember it. And the idea of 'making things happen'. Left is Doug Lowes' first 'Electronic project kit'. He is the guy who wrote the guide I am using now as the basic foundation for my guide. So most of the images are probably his publisher's copyright. It is easier to ask forgiveness than permission. I could replace them all with some effort, if they insist. Anyway, Doug had the support of an extended family and supportive father. I didn't even have a father, let alone any support from my one supposed parent. So my beginnings in this field proved one of many 'false starts' in my life. You see mother was sure I had no talent for *any*thing. Maybe I could get a factory job or join the army? But I had that interest long before I even imagined I could become a musician. I enjoyed singing. But my mother was never going to get me a guitar, (she said I had no musical talent, so it would be a waste) let alone lessons. Even the best my primary school teacher could say about my musical ability was that 'Markus appears to enjoy singing'. Was that a polite way to say I was a terrible singer? I had no idea how I'd learn to play guitar. But in my very late teens my sister's friend's boyfriend Max , who was a guitarist in a band, sold me a cheap electric guitar, and two 'teach yourself' books. Nothing like what I offer you now in the form of my 'Holistic guitar guide', but it got me started. Very slowly. I went from practicing half an hour a day or so (actually avoiding practice often, and putting the guitar down sometimes simply to 'leave off on a positive note', out of an almost abject fear of failure) to practicing several hours a day, writing my own songs, and working on my technique, in the last few years. Now I'm working on my drum programming, so I can return to my dozens of sketches and re-record them properly. Anyway, I've now I've come back full circle to that electronics interest. As part of my TROONATNOOR enterprise. For as Tesla, and many ancient philosophers like Pythagoras, noted, everything, and I mean *EVERY*THING, seems to reduce to number (quantity) and frequency (how often some PROCESS OF CHANGE repeats). The amplitude of my TROONATNOOR signal is very weak. But its frequency is strong. (I publish much more than anyone cares to read). And its tone is PURE. Righteous! It requires amplification, but instead it gets CENSORSHIP. My signal is being JAMMED by Cult of Judah agents and agencies. Even those parts of it that pose zero threats to its hegemonic power based on DECEPTION. And as you will probably not pay me a centime for my effort, risk, and sacrifice, in writing this guide, let alone all the others, you surely won't complain when I insert a few 'commercials' for things you REALLY DO NEED, as 'asides', at the appropriate time. These asides will even give you a deeper understanding of the concepts you actually came here to learn about. Your own government FORCE YOU TO PAY FOR PROPAGANDA. I'm not charging you anything. I'm giving you something free, like 'free to air television' and the only cost to you is to endure, or gloss over if you must, my ANTI-PROPAGANDA. Please share this and all my other TROONATNOOR guides with as many people as you can. The entire TROONATNOOR imprint can be downloaded at no cost to you, in Epub, Mobi, and Kindle formats. And often in Word formats too, in case someone would do me the honor of translating my work into other languages. Or simply proof-reading it, and 'tidying it up a bit'.

The successful self-learner often makes the best teacher

I am no trained electrical engineer. I explain why I think that is a GOOD THING in my Holistic Guitar Guide and Audio Engineering Reference Guide. People who are teaching themselves are the best teachers, if they succeed in their quest. And are capable of ruthless self-honesty. They are 'fresh from the wars' and all the treacherous misunderstandings are still vivid in their minds. And they have nothing to gain from 'bluffing' and 'fluffing' through stuff, merely pretending to understand. Writing a reference guide for yourself is the best way to guarantee the quality of the work. For you are the one who stands to benefit or suffer, if it is no good. If you can't explain it to yourself, you have no business writing a guide. And I mean in WORDS. You know, the things people use in daily life to COMMUNICATE WHAT THEY MEAN. Not equations and formulas that don't actually EXPLAIN what is HAPPENING. How the 'characters in the narrative' are 'behaving'. Their 'backstory'. Their 'motivation'.

Ideally after writing the first drafts, I would get feedback from trained professionals. I could pick their brains. Ask them questions I bet they'd never even thought of asking themselves. Challenging what 'they thought they knew', but as it turns out, didn't REALLY 'know' at all. Correcting genuine misunderstandings and simple mistakes. Working WITH me to 'bridge' the gap between what I do understand, and don't. So I can offer the same 'bridge' for others to cross the chasm between ignorance and wisdom. As a genuine 'Bridge-man', as Nietzsche put it. But which only the RUSSIANS, it seems, were capable of translating from German, into any other language. It suited the English speaking nations to 'render' 'Uber-Mensch' as 'Super Man' and 'Over-lord', to prop up their 'Official Narrative of National Socialism', which had no REAL support from any of the FACTS of reality and history. So it needed all the 'props' it could get. As in 'stage props'. You know, HOLLYWOOD movie props. A Bridge spans OVER the chasm. The Cult of Judah want you falling INTO that chasm. Of ignorance. Of lies. Of misunderstanding. Of misdirection. Of confusion. Obfuscation. So you give up even SEEKING 'truth'.

Authorities? Experts? These days 'trained professionals' are simply 'hired guns' for Big Pharma and MONSTROUSLY HUGE, not just BIG* Government. Big Brother? No. We're talking 'GIANT* BROTHER'. MONSTROUS* bro! In fact the BIG MONSTER ITSELF. The Cult of Judah New World Order One World Dictatorship. Already operational as a de-facto* One World Dictatorship. Operating through its PROXIES such as The World Bank, The International Monetary Fund, The World Health Organisation, The United Nations, The North Atlantic Terrorist Organisation, and your local 'People's Democratic Republic of … (insert name of your Cult of Judah Occupied Nation here)' government.

But imagine the potential legal damages and prison terms people like Neil Fergusson SHOULD be facing, and WOULD be, in a world where people were held accountable for their LIES. Can you imagine the PRISON SENTENCES HE WOULD CURRENTLY BE SERVING, for ECONONOMIC WRECKING, CRIMES AGAINST HUMANITY, AND MASS MURDER, for spreading 'deliberately misleading, dangerous, 'medical' misinformation leading to TRILLIONS in actual economic damages, and inestimable SOCIAL costs, for everything from 'The Mad Cow Disease fiasco' to 'Covid Lockdowns'? We are talking TRILLIONS in damages. Billions alone from the totally unnecessary slaughter of U.K cows 'informed' by Neil's completely exaggerated 'statistical models'. The cost in non-human lives was incalculable. And now Neil is LEGALL RESPONSIBLE but will never be held ACCOUNTABLE for the destruction of BILLIONS of HUMAN lives, around the plane-et. For ECONOMIC DESTRUCTION of a scale never before seen in peace time. Well in fact we ARE at war. The Cult of Judah, via AGENTS like Neil Fergusson, has declared war not just on humanity. But on our humanity.

But back to my 'legal disclaimer'. All my guides are, like any LIVING NARRATIVES, 'works in progress'. They represent a STAGE in a PROCESS that is ongoing. A BECOMING rather than a BEING. They are LIVING things. Remember Jesus states 'Only the living word brings life. The LAW (dogmas) brings DEATH'. My guides, like my mind, is an OPEN system. A PROCESS. Continually seeking feedback to UPDATE its 'definitions' and accordingly re-write its protocols and programs and sub-routines. All LIVING things are PROCESSES of ONGOING CHANGE. Anything NOT changing, is dead, or inert matter. Literally IN-ANIMATE. Animation is CHANGE. Process. Continual. Fluid. And while it RESISTS change, this in itself is PART of the process that GENERATES POWER for life to produce EXPERIENCES. Meaningful experiences. CONFLICT between what is and what is coming into being. Between what we WANT and what is. THAT is the generative power of every REAL AND LIVING NARRATIVE. Every great film script and screenplay and novel is built from CHANGE and CONFLICT. As is every satisfying and rewarding LIFE. Every 'experience engine'. Every 'gaming platform'. See my '(Re) Writing the script of your life' for details.

An on-going part of my writing and re-writing and publication would ideally be constant interactions with trained professionals, and self-trained clever people, as my guides evolve. But I am totally isolated. And no matter where I have lived, I've never found any people who wanted to work with me on any of my projects. So it was not until some young Estonians explained how to use the internet, and torrents, and so on, and I gained access to 'free' internet at the local libraries, that I gained access to the information I had been denied for the first decades of my life.

And with libraries being 'locked down' and extreme cold weather preventing me standing outside them to access the public wi-fi there, it was mostly thanks to Doug Lowe, who made his 'Electronics guide for Dummies' available as a free PDF, that I could proceed with this project at all. So a big THANKYOU to Doug Lowe and all those who helped him with his guide. He and they are free to offer this guide alongside their guide, for whatever purposes they might have for it. In a spirit of reciprocation. I am sure THEY will learn something about how I have gone about this enterprise. And even something from my explanations. Which will evolve as my understanding develops. Hopefully with the help of feedback from people who believe they really 'grok' all this. Or simply note typos, and 'errors'. I bet they may first read some of my 'explanations' and have a knee-jerk reaction of 'no, that's not what I was taught'. Then on closer reflection they might begin QUESTIONING at least some of what is 'familiar' to them and which they thus FEEL that they 'KNOW'. There are so many 'holes' in 'The Official Narrative' that someone is bound to come along and totally RE-WRITE that narrative in a way that makes more sense, and leaves no such holes. Nor any need for what primary school kids call 'make believe' and 'making stuff up' and 'lying', but which you can get a Nobel Prize for, if you happen to belong to a specific tight-knit hegemonic group, or if what you have published dove-tails in with what they WANT people to believe. Only then the award won't be for 'making stuff up' but for 'discovering THEORETICAL particles' and such. 'And the award for best actor for their supporting role in 'The Official Narrative' goes to Neil Fergusson'. For 'making up' a 'novel' virus and fictional pandemic that allowed the proxies for the Cult of Judah to seize ABSOLUTE CONTROL of EVERY ASPECT OF OUR LIVES. For his creation of the new DEVIL. The new BOGEY MAN. The new THREAT. The new TERROR. 'The official Covid narrative'. The basis of the new Cult of Judah subsidiary Cult, the COVID CULT. Which is already being merged with 'The Man-Made Global Climate Crisis' Cult, to form THE DE-FACTO ONE WORLD DICTATORSHIP OF THE CO2VID CULT'. The newest subsidiary production of, and Proxy for, The Cult of Judah. The new NEO. The 'false-messiah'. Come to save us from this new INVISIBLE PINK ELEPHANT threat. How will we know when the danger has passed? Well they will DECLARE that. And take full CREDIT for having protecting us from a threat that NEVER EXISTED.

I hereby put forward my application for a Nobel Prize for having protected the human race from the threat of invisible pink elephants. Thanks to my discoveries of this 'theoretical' threat, I managed to avert the disaster my MODEL predicted. Anyone who doubts my achievements need only inspect the epidemiological statistics for the past 2 years, to see that NOT A SINGLE PERSON WAS CRUSHED TO DEATH BY AN INVISIBLE PINK ELEPHANT. AND ALL THANKS TO ME. Savior of the world. And thanks to me no-one need fear the invisible pink elephants ever again. Only, not to spook you or anything, but we shouldn't let down our guard. I'm seriously worried about those invisible pink elephants mutating into invisible blue elephants. But not to worry, I'm already working on measures to protect the human race from them, too. Savior that I are! Messiah? No. Well. O.K, if YOU insist!

On the subject of 'narratives'

Humor me and entertain the idea that we can NOT POSSIBLY EVER CLAIM to 'know' ANYTHING at all. Just entertain the IDEA that ALL we have to guide us are 'Official Narratives'. We 'trust' these narratives. We act 'as if' they are non-fiction. Fact. Based on real events. Historically accurate. Capable of predicting future events. We treat them as 'reality'. But they are just 'stories told to explain stuff'. Just a bit more advanced than the older stories that explained natural phenomena, and why some people were slaves and others lived in luxury, with narratives, stories, MYTHS about GODS and such. The characters in today's narratives are 'atoms' and 'electrons' and 'strong attractors' and 'weak attractors'. But they are no less 'fictional' than Zeus or 'The fates'. They simply help us 'talk about stuff meaningfully'. Give us as sense of CONTROL. The feeling of SECURITY. They make things more 'predictable'. It is COMFORTING not to have to face meaningless, random, chaos. But to have 'gods' and 'laws of physics' to appeal to, when times get tough. It let's us 'take back control'.

Whoever CONTROLS THE NARRATIVE gets access to a LOT of POWER. To use for good or evil. For selfish ends or for the good of us all. Most people have no idea just how MUCH power is accumulated by those who GAIN CONTROL OF THE NARRATIVE. 'The Official Narrative' becomes 'The Social Reality'. And all the 'official narratives' that make it up must support it. Or they won't be TOLERATED by those who control 'THE' META-NARRATIVE. The 'overriding' narrative. The DOMINANT HEGEMONIC NARRATIVE.

In cults based on gods, that hegemonic narrative is called 'RELIGION'. And whichever elite priests control the dominant RELIGION, get to 'WRITE AND RE-WRITE THE NARRATIVE AS IT SUITS THEM PERSONALLY'. To ensure the 'gods' say things that BENEFIT the priests. Like 'The Priests speak with the authority OF that god'. And the thralls are to give 'the best of the best' TO those priests. In fact the priests, as the PROXIES for and representatives of, that god, are to be held in almost the same esteem as the god. Treated, more or less, as GODS. As the final JUDGES. The final ARBITERS of all conflicts. The final DECISION MAKERS on EVERY subject. The DICTATORS of every LAW. With power of life and death. The right to command thralls to commit every conceivable war crime and crime against humanity, IN THE NAME OF GOD. IN THE NAME OF 'THE OFFICIAL NARRATIVE'.

But people grow weary of 'religion', after many generations of openly corrupt, incompetent, cult priest rule. They would even prefer having Kings, to being ruled over by priests. And soon they even demand 'self-government'. And come to dismiss 'The Official Narratives' as children's stories. As the MYTHS that they always were. And they demand 'more compelling NARRATIVES'. Something more 'scientific'. And so the new Cults all FRAME their narratives as 'scientific'. As 'based on evidence'. As 'inductive'. Or at least 'deductive', and based on 'compelling arguments'.

So we get NEW narratives. They are forced to demonstrate a bit more CORRESPONDENCE with observable, measurable, phenomena. Whereas gods 'lived in the olden times' and 'in heaven', todays thralls demand the 'characters' in the new narratives be a bit more 'contemporary'. So they are offered FORCES of nature. No longer anthropomorphized as 'gods' and 'titans' and 'Djinns' and 'Demons' and 'Devils'. But given names like 'gravity' and 'The Strong Attractor', and 'electron', to give the punters something 'concrete' to work with.

Something they can 'visualise', even if they can't ACTUALLY see, or 'touch', or 'feel' or 'taste' or 'smell' it.

Then when holes start appearing in these narratives, they are patched up by the 'discovery' of 'theoretical' characters that are added to the narratives.

The Director finds 'holes in the script' and the 'focus groups' don't find the characters motivations compelling. They lack obvious 'motivations'. So writers are brought in to add some 'back-story'. Via flash-backs if the film has already been shot. So we can 'understand' the characters and 'relate' to them. So their behaviors 'make sense' to the audience. To 'make sense of' their actions, which the plot required as 'beats' to drive the action forward to a satisfying climax. Which the 'overall plot', 'The Official Narrative', required to APPEAR convincing. Compelling. BELIEVABLE. And SATISFYING for the punters.

It must be SATISFYING for the audience. Comforting. Good defeats evil. Order defeats chaos. Life is meaningful. Suffering is rewarded and worth enduring. Second Act turnarounds are to be expected. Even tragedy must be 'productive' and 'meaningful'. Rather than just random and pointless. Things that are just frustrating and painful in real life, are made to appear FUNNY in the narrative. So we LAUGH at our problems. We LAUGH at the absurdity. Rather than become 'pessimists' and Buddhists like Schopenhauer.

The NARRATIVE must be complete with a cast of characters that is vaguely believable. And must correspond in some what to 'what the punters WANT to hear and see and be TOLD'. Even 'fear porn' can be satisfying. TERROR THREATS. And people LOVE to HATE someone. Like 'Islamic terrorists' or 'drug dealers' or 'holocaust denier'. People DEMAND someone they can IMAGINE they are 'morally superior' to. And thus FEEL 'morally superior' to someone. Any offer of the feeling of 'superiority' is greedily lapped up. The narrative MUST, at some level, PANDER to the tastes of the people. It must be PALATABLE. AGREEABLE on some level. People LOVE TO HATE. It is an agreeable sensation for them, to HATE SOME TARGET GROUP. So 'The Offiicial Narrative' of the ruling CULT always offers them someone to hate. And to FEAR. So that this HATE can be FELT and DEFENDED as being JUSTIFIED. Otherwise the punters would be left having to admit 'yeh, I just was looking for someone to vent all my SELF-loathing on, and my hatred for people I am SUPPOSED to love', and they offered these TERRORISTS as a LEGITMATE and SOCIALLY ACCEPTABLE target for that SELF-loathing and hate. Let's me 'get it out of my system'. EXPRESS it. Without coming under public censure. Without risking the loss of acceptance and approval and love of the people I PERCEIVE I am dependent on for my survival.

So NARRATIVES are written to serve the interests of the dominant hegemonic CULT elites, while taking care to SATISFY and PANDER TO 'the lowest common denominator motives' of the thralls themselves. So that they are AGREEABLE narratives. And thus ACCEPTED as 'The Social Reality'. As 'reality', for all intents and purposes.

The original narratives 'EXPLAINED' thunder and lightning as Zeus or Thor messing about in the heavens. They explained 'why you are slave and I your master' with more complex narrative about 'ye olde times' the god/s decreed such relationships. They offered you hope for salvation in a life to come. Or better 'next lives'. Even hope for good luck in this life. That your enemies would fall by your sword, and the slaves you made of them would be fertile, and produce generations of slaves to come. You might be granted 'intercessions' from 'angels' or 'daemons' who could help you seduce the objects of your sexual desire. Or ensure bountiful harvests. As lightning and thunder happen, your narratives had some referents 'in the real world'. And as at least a few of the 'supplicants' to intercession on behalf of them, with god, got what they wanted (got what they were going to get anyway), you could use these as 'proof' of your power TO interceded, as go-between, between the god/s and the thralls.

At best much later narratives were 'loosely related' to 'true stories'. 'Based on a true story'. 'Based on real historical events'. In the worst tradition of Hollywood 'historical epics' and 'biographies'. From 'A beautiful mind to 'The Holocaust'. There is a reason 'Catcher in the Rye' was never made into a film. Ask the author, who took MASSIVE lengths to prevent a movie he KNEW would be 'loosely based on his novel', from ever being made. Because it was BOUND to totally MISS the point he was trying to make. Read the biography 'A beautiful mind' was supposedly based on. The audience were 'given to believe' it was a 'true story'. Just like audiences believe that young Nazi's went around pushing old people in wheelchairs out of third story windows. Let alone gassing 6 million people. Cult of Judah agents get immortalized as 'great men of history', while Cult of Judah opponents go down in history as 'the embodiment of pure evil'. The true war criminals like Churchill get all the praise the full spectrum propaganda machine can heap on them. The true war heros like Hitler get demonised, criminalised, and it even becomes a crime to defend them from the TOTALLY UNFOUNDED ALLEGATIONS they are accused on in RIGGED SHOW TRIALS and then handed PRE-PREPARED 'Guilty' verdicts.

Few people really 'look closely at' ANY narrative offered them by 'trusted authorities' and 'famous celebrity scientists' and 'respected news reporters' and, I gag as I attempt to write this 'investigative journalists'. Today's 'investigative journalists' investigate nothing more than 'how to get into bed with the best paying Cult of Judah handlers, as quickly as possible, to make a name, and career, for myself!'

Few people have to deal with the 'internal contradictions' and 'holes' in these 'Narrative'. So they never even NOTICE these contradictions, and holes. From a distance, the narratives appear flawless. Continuous. Smooth. Consistent. Coherent. Rational. Reasonable. It is only 'close up' that you notice all the flaws. The holes. The internal contradictions. The inconsistencies. And the lack of correspondence with 'reality'. And the contradictions between one narrative and another, that shouldn't be there. And then you may become aware of COMPETING ALTERNATIVE NARRATIVES which do NOT suffer these same problems. Or at least fewer of them. Narratives that are SUPERIOR. In terms of explanatory power. In terms of requiring fewer assumptions and 'leaps of faith'. The assumptions most people never even noticed had been made. Leaps of faith people hadn't even realised they'd made. They'd made them blindly. Jumping when everyone ELSE jumped. Leaping to the SAME conclusions as everyone else. Because life was easier and simpler, and you 'fit in' and were considered 'a good team player' and 'sane' and 'sound' if you 'went along with the narratives'.

The problems with narratives isn't a 'problem' at all for most people. They just 'accept' them as 'given'. But when, like me, you try to GROK the narrative, you find things 'simply don't add up'. Sure you could just memorise the narrative, and act as if it made sense, and simply USE the formulas and equations it offers, to 'get stuff done' and to 'get ahead' and 'get paid and laid'. But that is NOT what my TROONATNOOR guides are about. I am one of those people with whom typical human behaviors do not sit comfortably. Most people seem able to just 'overlook' contradictions, and even the evidence of their own senses, and the occasional, irrefutable, demonstrated, evidence-based, inductive scientific discovery or measurement, or statistic, that totally contradicts 'The Official Narrative', and just 'continue as normal'. As if the narrative had NOT been totally shattered. Or at least called into question as highly problematic.

I have a NEED to truly UNDERSTAND things. Sure, I am willing to just 'pass the test' for stuff I am only doing because it is 'mandatory' and 'compulsory' to get a qualification, and get paid and laid. I barely passed some subjects at university. And today I could tell you NOTHING I supposedly 'learned' during that process. But any subject I considered IMPORTANT, I just HAD to REALLY understand. So I asked a lot of questions. Kept at it. Topped some courses. Got High Distinctions. But was NOT encouraged to continue my studies in the courses I TOPPED. Why? Because in academia, like the real world, they don't WANT philosophers around asking the 'difficult' questions. And potentially destroying the HOUSE OF CARDS upon which the academics reputations, status, prestige, privilege, careers, wealth, and comfortable lifestyles, are based. 'The Official Narratives'.

THEIR official narratives. For whichever specialty they were involved in. Which operate like any other CULT. They have their 'Official Narratives' and 'Dogmas' and 'Articles of Faith' and woe to anyone who would dare seriously question, let along criticise, and challenge, these dogmas. The 'priests' of each cult are MATERIALLY INVESTED in the cult and its dogmas as mere means to their own ends. Power, prestige, privilege, wealth, and so on. But many are even MORE committed EMOTIONALLY to their cult dogmas. They take it PERSONALLY if you challenge their beliefs. It is as if you are insulting their intelligence. For how DARE you even ENTERTAIN THE POSSIBILITY THAT THEY MIGHT BE WRONG! That what they BELIEVE is wrong. And hence publically denounce THEM as 'stupid' and 'foolish' and 'idiotic' and 'feeble minded' for having FALLEN FOR such obvious deceptions at worst, and errors, at best. So we see a real MATERIAL AND EMOTIONAL INVESTMENT IN CULT DOGMAS being a POWERFUL MOTIVATOR to DEFEND 'Official Narratives' no matter how many flaws are exposed, revealed, and even occasionally, among the elite *ins*iders, actually admitted. And this is HOW conspiracies thrive. Prosper. Become 'the norm'. Plato himself CONSPIRED against truth and justice, with his 'noble' lies, while complaining of the constant 'conspiracies' that a city is prone to, among its citizens, for which he would employ full time, 24/7, surveillance, and micro-management, to root out and eradicate. Hypocrite much? Of course 'the ends justify the means'. And what ends are more 'justified' than 'getting what YOU (Plato) personally want? What human mind is invulnerable to 'twisting' and 'framing' things to suit themselves? To ensure THEIR private, personal, ends, are attained! By disguising them as 'public good' and 'for the greater good' and thus 'noble'. What good could possibly come, dear philosopher, supposed quester for truth, by creating and maintaining myths. LIES! Deceptions. Frauds. Conspiring to DENY people knowledge of 'the truth'. Actively and deliberately.

When you read my TROONATNOOR guides, be prepared to read things you did NOT expect to read. And re-read them, to confirm what you just read is NOT what you expected. For too often people 'gloss over' things, and read what they EXPECT to find on the page, rather than what is there. Or to assume a 'typo'. When what was written was intended. Because it dares to challenge 'The Official Narrative'. The official fiction. The cult dogmas and articles of faith.

If you read something that does not match what you've read elsewhere, then entertain for a moment that it is NOT a typo, or 'error'. But an ALTERNATIVE NARRATIVE. Then give it a chance to show whether it is MORE compelling, and thus SUPERIOR TO, 'The Official Narrative' you have heard expressed elsewhere. Perhaps even EVERYWHERE ELSE. The majority are OFTEN wrong. And for often for GENERATIONS. Not just for their own entire lives. But for GENERATION after GENERATION. There are good reasons for this. I explain them in my TROONATNOOR guides.

So be prepared to read some things that challenge 'The Official Narrative' you are comfortable with. Familiar with. That is 'known' to you. And thus by you. That you consider 'known'. Which 'almost everyone else seems to 'know' too'. Don't jump to conclusions that 'this guy here must be wrong'. For if everyone started jumping off the Harbour Bridge, I bet very few people would be able to RESIST following their lead. Who wants to be left behind, alone, on the bridge? When 'everyone else seems very certain that the thing to do is jump OFF the bridge'. And look at them mocking you for your hesitation. Questions? Why are they jumping? Surely someone will explain 'The Official Narrative' that makes it all perfectly reasonable and rational! Surely they were GIVEN such a narrative, across the full spectrum propaganda platforms, and THAT is WHY they are all here, jumping. Who are YOU to question 'public opinion' and 'The authorities' and their 'Official Narrative'? And you can bet your last dollar that they will have employed 'jump supervisors' to ENSURE that YOU TOO jump. They certainly passed new laws MANDATING that EVERYONE JUMP. Those that won't will be, legally, PUSHED OFF THE HARBOR BRIDGE. I mean, didn't you hear, all those prestigious sounding organisations like 'The United Nations' and 'The World Health Organisations' have DECLARED that you MUST jump. Now. No delay. It is simply too DANGEROUS to take any time to consider the reasons they gave. Did I say they gave reasons? Well you'd ASSUME they MUST have 'had their reasons', right? GOOD reasons too! COMPELLING scientific, fact based, evidence based, REASONS. Right? But NOW is NOT the time to 'dig deeper' and follow the few 'references' in the 'fact-checked' posts and broadcasts. Now is the time to JUMP. For our own SAFETY. Not jumping NOW would certainly put your life at risk! Oh, those RUMOURS that lots of the people who jumped DIED when they hit the water? You have PROOF? Go on, show me ONE VIDEO OF A PERSON JUMPING AND DIEING, AND THE AUTOPSY REPORT CLEARLY STATING THAT THE CAUSE OF DEATH WAS 'JUMPING FROM THE HARBOR BRIDGE'. No? You DON'T have such EVIDENCE? Well UNTIL you DO, I am going to 'swallow the camel', and 'strain at YOUR gnats'. And just DISMISS anything you have to say.

Because YOU don't have any PROOF for what YOU are claiming. Whereas I have the full weight of PUBLIC OPIONION on my side. And all the 'trusted authority figures' and 'experts' on t.v. MY beliefs have been 'fact-checked' by the OFFICIAL fact-checkers. Look around, fella. Does ANYONE ELSE APPEAR TO BELIEVE WHAT YOU ARE SAYING?

Anyway, don't have time to read your books or watch your videos, got to get out to the bridge, so I can jump off it, before it is too late!

Behaviouralism in the supposedly 'hard' sciences

Sargeant Schulz of 'Hogans Heroes' fame, is the arch-philosopher. 'I know nothing'. That's his catch-phrase. Very Socratic. Very Zen Humean skeptic. A real philosopher never has the hubris to claim they 'know' *any*thing at all. They merely entertain beliefs which they find more or less compelling, compared to the alternatives. They retain an open mind. They are 'seekers' (the original meaning of 'skeptic') of truth. Always seeking. Never assuming they have found it. For there might be a better narrative waiting for them. So they never 'idolise' any particular narrative. They never 'close their minds to alternatives'. They never assume they just happened to have been lucky to have been born in the right place, at the right time, to have 'received' 'the truth' from the supposed 'authorities', who gain their power, prestige, privileges, and benefits, from CLAIMING to be in possession of 'The Truth'. When all they are in possession of is at best HEARSAY. And at worst, conscious, deliberate, deceptive, LIES. The ones that actually don't realise they are lies, simply heard them from some other authority whom they took for 'experts'. That authority 'received' their 'knowledge in the same way. And in our 'Western' religions, our 'Abrahamic' religions, we can trace all this long lineage of 'hearsay' back to some guy who simply 'made it all up'. Abraham himself! Who literally heard 'voices in his head' telling him to murder his own son. Which he was willing to 'try', just in case it did get him what he wanted. Maybe he chose to believe the voices in his head were god. Or simply realised 'hey, people won't listen to me, a mere mortal, but if I claim to speak for some 'god' with the power to grant their desires, well, they'll be 'all ears'. I'll have the 'transferred' authority of that god'. And the rest is the history of 'religion'.

In the best scenario, our 'knowers' claim to be able to base their 'knowledge' on observation of phenomena. Via induction. The evidence of their senses. But that works only to a point. Because our sensory apparatus is tuned to the 'macro' scale. And once theories start evolving, they tend to speculate about the 'micro' and then 'Nano' scale of things. And though me might 'observe' things using microscopes, and other devices, at the micro scale, once we move towards the Nano and Pico scales, we stop actually 'observing' and begin instead 'speculating' about 'smaller scale things' which we can only infer from the behaviours of the larger scale outcomes, processes, and phenomena we associate with them. Thus many characters in 'The Official Narratives' are 'theoretical'. And you have to pause and reflect on what it means to 'discover' a 'theoretical' character. A 'particle' or 'force'. That appears to 'fill a hole' in the narrative, nicely. If you WANT it to. If you ALLOW it. Or that could, if you are willing to let it, 'explain' something, at least speciously. So that 'The Official Narrative' is often held together by a bunch of 'ad hoc' bits of sticky tape, glue, and ribbons. Only 'from a distance' it can appear as a 'nice neat bundle'. And as long as you 'keep your distance', you can avoid any discomfort. Any queasiness. The dirt is thus 'swept under the rug' and it doesn't disturb us.

In the 'social' sciences like Psychology, Sociology, and Economics, we observe the behaviour of people, record it, and look for patterns within it. We build a bunch of assumptions and theories based on our INTERPRETATION of their behaviours. We build 'models' we hope will accurately and reliably 'predict' their behaviour. The movie 'Minority Report' shows just how far human hubris goes when it comes to 'computer modelling' and 'predicting human behavior'. Neil Fergusson and the like have shown just how easy it is to ABUSE the 'naivite' and 'gullibility' of 'Homo Fideo' by deceiving them into believing in Pandemic Viral threats that do NOT exist. And I mean that literally in BOTH senses. There is ZERO evidence that a viable, contagious, infectious, novel 'Covid 19 microbe' has actually ever left a laboratory test-tube, to 'infect' ANY living host, let alone a human. Let alone any evidence AT ALL that the CLAIMED laboratory 'construct' (gene manipulated conventional Corona Virus Microbe) has ever managed to trick of 'transmission from human to human' by ANY means. Even when the supposed virus was directly injected into monkeys, it failed to replicate even within this direct host, under these ideal conditions, of stressed out, and therefore immune-compromised, monkeys. The monkeys weakened immune systems either destroyed the virus immediately. Or it was already 'D.O.A' (Dead On Arrival). Not one single DNA strand of a supposed Covid-19 virus has yet been offered for peer review.

But back to 'behaviouralism'. The most noteworthy human behaviour is that which defines it as 'Homo Fideo'. Believing man. Humans have a terrible propensity to 'trust authority' and 'believe Official Narratives' offered to them by them. And usually whoever gets to them first, gets to 'program' them for life. To 'hard-wire' certain beliefs into them. Called 'Imprinting' in psychology. A newly hatched chick will define its arch enemy predator, a snake, as 'mamma', and trustingly follow the snake around, seeking 'protection' from it in times of perceived danger, as if it was a mother hen. And sadly humans are little better, when it comes to that rarest of commodities so facetiously / ironically referred to as 'common sense'. So when 'the authorities' and 'trusted news presenters' and 'almost everyone else, as far as YOU can tell' tell you something, you believe it. 'First here, with all the latest propaganda'. And as they got to you FIRST, and IMPRINTED a belief on your mind, with 'first impressions' being what they are, it is a very rate thing to observe one of these Cult Thralls ever 'waking up from their dogmatic slumbers' to lucidly attend to a REALITY so at odds with the 'Social Reality' they have had imprinted on them from birth.

So that was 'behaviouralism' in the Social Sciences. 'Hard' Scientists will imagine they operate very differently. Mostly because there is so much MATH involved in THEIR 'science'. But in fact their 'Scientific Cults' are hardly much more 'scientific' than the 'worst' social science. Physicists, for example, have their own 'Official Narratives'. And the reaction to any physicist ever 'leaving the reservation' and 'diverging from the official narrative' is just as emotionally loaded as that of a 'true believer' towards an apostate, or heretic, or simple 'heathen' 'pagan'. Physicists have as strong an EMOTIONAL commitment to their 'Official Narratives' as any religious zealot ever had. And 'fundamentalist' Christian or Muslim or Marxist. They can be, and often are, as HEAVILY EMOTIONALLY INVESTED in their own 'Official Narrative' as any other CULT thrall ever was. And they face the same sorts of ex-communication from their Cult community as any other CULT thrall faces when they dare to question, let alone challenge, any of the 'Orthodox' views of their community. Their CULT ORTHODOXY. Their CULT DOGMAS. The ARTICLES OF FAITH of their cult. They will destroy their chances of promotion. They will lose all hope of tenure. Their Cult Priests will even find ways to REVOKE that tenure, carefully avoiding any reference to the actual behaviour that is motivating them, the 'heresy' and 'apostasy'. In fact even if a Cult Thrall merely challenges some OTHER CULT'S DOGMA they often take 'offence', and destroy a member of their OWN cult. Because the true 'team player' is one who would never dare challenge ANY Cult Dogma. Any 'established', hegemonic, dominant, 'authority'. It is truly a 'bad sign'. A person capable and willing to publically denounce ONE authority and its dogma, cannot be trusted. They could easily turn on 'their own' Cult dogma and its authorities, next. Such 'Authority Defiance Disorder' makes them a potential 'loose canon'. In the war of all against all, waged by DECEPTION.

And now we come to BEHAVIOURALISM in the context of 'electricity'. The phenomena at the very heart of electronics. The set of 'electromagnetic phenomena' which are employed to human advantage. For everything we are 'familiar' with as 'knowledge about electricity' is really based on BEHAVIOURALISM. On MODELS based on observing the BEHAVIOUR of the characters in our Narrative we refer to as 'electrons' and 'protons' and 'atoms'. These are literally Plato's 'Shadows on the cave wall'. And all humans can really claim to have learned is how to predict which shadow will come next, in succession, on the cave wall. That is all science is. Observation of patterns that allow us to predict what will happen next, when two or more phenomena appear. Two or more 'characters' in our 'narrative'. Two or more 'shadows on our cave wall'.

Over time we accumulate a lot of experience that we formalise as 'Scientific Laws'. Formulas. Equations. We use these to predict the outcomes of specific interactions between specific things. And we employ these to predict how different things will interact. Then deliberately construct the conditions for such interactions to take place, in the form of technological processes, techniques, and technologies. So that we can reproduce the interactions and outcomes we find of benefit to ourselves. Or destructive of our enemies.

The distillation of millennia of 'hit and miss' experimentation is inherited by later generations as 'Scientific Laws' and technologies. Which we then build on. In the same fashion. Hit and miss that is guided by what others before us have learned. From their own observations.

This distilled wisdom often becomes idolised in the form of 'Official Narratives'. Scientific Cults. And all Cults employ 'fictions' as 'noble lies' when they find they cannot produce any 'actual evidence' for something that is key to their status as 'authorities'. Key to the status of their 'received wisdom' as 'authoritative. And thus key to the privileges, benefits, POWER, and wealth, associated with such 'positions of AUTHORITY'. The obedience and submission such CULT AUTHORITY bestows upon an elite group of CULT PRIESTS. In fact Cult Elites soon realise that once they have managed to accumulate some AUTHORITY based on ANYTHING, they can then 'LEVERAGE' that existing authority with LIES which allow them to accumulate even GREATER AUTHORITY, and thus privileges, benefits, power, wealth, and status. They may have originally EARNED their status as 'authorities' with some very reasonable and rational beliefs and even 'laws' that benefitted everyone in there Cult. But once they've gotten a taste of REAL power, and all the 'perks' that go with it, the typical 'Authority' will never be satisfied until they have TOTAL power. ABSOLUTE AUTHORITY. Over every aspect of their Cult Thrall's lives. And so they get to 'creating MYTHS'. Myths which grant THEM ever greater power. Such as the myth of 'transferred authority' in which some GOD is created, who had made the Cult Priesthood its proxy on earth. That god can condemn you to an eternity in hell if you don't do what it wants. If you don't do what its proxies, the Cult Priesthood, tell you to do.

Today the 'bogey man' isn't a jealous god so much as a supposed deadly pandemic virus. But the new Covid Cult operates under the exact same principles. They claim that if you don't OBEY and SUBMIT to the AUTHORITIES' every arbitrary order, prescription, and proscription, that 'WE'RE ALL GONNA DIE HORRIBLY'.

But what about 'The Official Narrative' of electricity? Well over the last few centuries people have observed various phenomena they have chosen to call 'electricity'. And 'electrical currents'. And 'charges'. And 'Voltage'. And, based on 'The Official Narrative' and its 'Cast of Characters' like 'atoms' and 'electrons' and 'protons', we have been able to 'script' further developments to the 'story of electricity'. A lot of clever and observant people observed things closely. They built 'experiments' to attempt to reproduce phenomena they observed. They speculated about what might be happening. They tested their speculations. And by 'hit and miss' and massive amounts of patience, enduring unimaginable frustration, they occasionally stumbled upon observations that, when accumulated and amassed, allowed them to predict interactions and outcomes, and then reproduce them, and then CONTROL and MANAGE and HARNESS them to do useful things for humans.

'Holes' in 'The Official Narratives' that built up over time were filled with 'convenient fictions' that 'explained' things to the satisfaction of the Cult Thralls well enough. At least for now. These 'fictions' didn't prevent the people who EMPLOYED the 'secret cult knowledge' from benefitting from their 'secret, occult, wisdom'. And it helped them maintain their AUTHORITY and GLAMOUROUS STATUS among the public. For people TRUST other people who SEEM to KNOW everything. Confidence inspires trust. Being given an authoritative sounding answer to any question inspires confidence in the Cult Thralls. It is usually to complex for them to understand. But the CONFIDENCE with which the Cult Priests DELIVER the answers itself inspires confidence in the thralls. And the clever thralls can 'read up' about all the 'details', and 'study' it themselves. They can't tell which part of 'The Official Narrative' is 'fact' and which is 'holes filled in between the precision megalithic structures with rubble, to 'make a good impression'. To give the impression that there ARE no holes in 'The Official Narrative'. Holes inspire DOUBT. Doubt is kryptonite to CULT AUTHORITY. The best CULT NARRATIVES are like hardcore porn videos with 'all holes filled'. These are the most SATISFYING for the Cult Thralls.

If your narrative is useful, by all means, repeat it, and refer to it. But the problem arises when A BETTER NARRATIVE EXISTS that is even BETTER at explaining things, and predicting things, and results in BETTER OUTCOMES in the form of superior technologies. And superior forms of social interaction. Superior forms of social organisation. Superior forms of economic management. Of human resource management. Of teaching and learning. Of human growth and even spiritual development. Even EVOLUTION.

THAT is where NARRATIVES become problematic. Because of a human tendency to become EMOTIONALLY INVESTED IN A PARTICULAR NARRATIVE, on the part of the Thralls. And MATERIALLY INVESTED IN THE UNFAIR DISTRIBUTIONS OF PRIVILEGES, BENEFITS, POWER, CONTROL, WEALTH, AND ACCESS TO RESOURCES, THAT ARISE AS A CONSEQUENCE OF 'THE OFFICIAL NARRATIVE'.

When the existing 'Official Narrative' proves inferior to a competing, ALTERNATIVE NARRATIVE, the Cult Elites rarely decide to 'admit defeat' and recognise the superiority of THE ALTERNATIVE NARRATIVE. Instead they declare war on that alternative narrative. And its 'narrators'. They wage war by deception. They are ruthless in protecting their own status and authority, which they only enjoy because their own NARRATIVE is hegemonic, dominant, and 'The Official' narrative. In other words by virtue of enjoying a MONOPOLY status. So censorship is required to SILENCE the NARRATORS of THE ALTERNATIVE, SUPERIOR, NARRATIVES. So those narrators who refuse to self-censor must be punished harshly. Even tortured to death. Even burned alive, publically. All to protect the Cult elites and 'The Official Narrative' which supplies them with all the luxuries they enjoy. Any 'apostates' that emerge within the ranks of 'The Official Narrative' Cult thralls will be harshly punished. If they won't submit and return to obedience to 'The Official Narrative' and the Cult Priests, they will be ex-communicated at least. Deprived of any association with other Cult Thralls. If they refuse to RECANT, and instead insist on recalcitrantly remaining INFIDELS, and don't die as a result of social and economic isolation, they will be hunted down and murdered. Defined as 'fair game' for any Cult Thrall to attack, with impunity.

In academia all this plays out as 'failure to gain tenure'. Failure to be published. Failure to gain study and research grants. Failure to be 'promoted'. Social isolation from academic peers in their own Cult, and in academic cults in general. As a 'bad team player'. A 'loose cannon'. An 'unreliable comrade'. A 'bad Soviet'. And if you 'deny' some particularly powerful 'Official Narrative' like 'The Official Holocaust Narrative' you could easily find yourself bankrupted with fines, unemployable due to blacklisting, and even imprisoned. Or worse, have your 'scepticism' and 'heresy' medicalised and defined as a 'mental illness', requiring involuntary 'quarantine' in a psychiatric institution.

Quarantine was the official function of the Soviet GULAG system. Today Covid Cult Thralls are paying thousands of dollars a fortnight for their own involuntary incarceration in solitary confinement, all based on 'The Official Covid Narrative'. Which has at least as many holes in it than any other NARRATIVE I can think of. PURE HEARSAY is paraded, like that naked emperor, as Scientific Fact. People don't seem to notice how NAKED a lie, a deception, a psychological warfare operation, the whole COVID pandemic NARRATIVE is. They see the 'glorious adornments' the King is SAID to be wearing. Positively HALLUCINATING them. When in fact he is naked. They IMAGINE that people are dying of the main antagonist in this new MYTH, this new NARRATIVE, called 'Covid-19'. Even though the evidence of their own senses should be telling them 'the emperor is naked'. There is no 'Excess mortality'. Unless people have stopped dying of EVERY OTHER CAUSE OF DEATH over the last two years, then NO-ONE AT ALL CAN HONESTLY BE SAID TO HAVE DIED OF THIS NEW BOGEY MAN. The character in this latest CULT OF JUDAH NARRATIVE.

But now back to 'The Official Narrative' about 'electricity'. And its cast of characters, including atoms, electrons, and protons. This narrative explains the 'motivation' of each character to act as it does. As predictably as it does. And thus how we can 'harness' these predictable motives and actions for our own benefit. Or for the destruction of our 'enemies'. Just remember that it IS a NARRATIVE. That nothing is beyond question. That there ARE holes in the narrative that even the most SENIOR OF AUTHORITIES doesn't really know what to do about. They 'bluff' their way through the narrative, at some points, if you pay really close attention, by inventing things like 'strong forces' and 'weak forces'. To explain away the inherent, intrinsic, CONTRADICTIONS in their own narrative. Things that happen that shouldn't, according to 'The Official Narrative'. And so if you stumble across an ALTERNATIVE NARRATIVE, by all means ENTERTAIN it. See if it proves a SUPERIOR NARRATIVE. And if so, then REJECT the hegemonic, dominant, narrative that you inherited. And adopt the new, superior, narrative. Or at very least use BOTH narratives, and syncretically synthesise a new HYBRID narrative. One that is superior to BOTH. One that DELIVERS superior OUTCOMES for more people. And not just more benefits, perks, privileges, power, control, and luxury, for a few CULT HIGH PRIESTS. And their pyramidal hierarchy of Cult administrators, enforcers, and propagandist-indoctrinators a.k.a 'teachers'.

Yes, so, BEHAVOURIALISM. All we can claim to 'know' is how the characters in our narrative BEHAVE. We speculate about WHY they do such and such. We develop THEORIES about why the characters INTERACT the way they do to produce the various outcomes OBSERVED. But it is like mind reading other people's motives, desires, and intentions. Trying to understand why people do the things they do. At least with people WE are people, and maybe can 'relate' and 'empathise'. And we have the possibility of ASKING SOMEONE 'WHY did you do that?' We can research their 'back-story'. Their 'history'. And TODAY we can accumulate every piece of data about them that has ever been digitalised and build a PROFILE of them and, as in 'Minority Report', arrogantly imagine we can PREDICT THEIR BEHAVIOURS based on that profile. That computer / statistical 'MODEL' of them. Just as Neil Fergusson pretended to be able to predict the BEHAVIOUR of 'MAD COW DISEASE' AND 'BIRD FLU' AND 'SWINE FLU' AND now a THEORETICAL new antagonist, character in 'The Official Covid Narrative' the' are calling 'Covid-19'.('Covy' to his mates?)

With OUR narrative and 'cast of characters' we can only observe WHAT THEY DO. HOW THEY INTERACT. AND THE CONSEQUENCES – OUTCOMES – RESULTANTS OF THEIR INTERACTIONS. We can't design clever questionnaires. We can create MODELS of their PAST behaviours and from these predict FUTURE behaviours, interactions, and outcomes. And use these 'insights' to PROVOKE certain behaviours. Like say you want to provoke someone to kill someone else. Easy done. History shows you can DECLARE war, and suddenly the guy next door who wouldn't ordinarily 'hurt a fly' is off fire-bombing defenceless women, children, and old people.

When it comes to TECHNOLOGY we want to 'provoke' certain interactions and reactions in MATTER. Such as PROVOKING electrons to move from atom to atom, in a CONTROLLED fashion. In a way we can DIRECT. So that we can exploit this movement, the exchange of 'electrons' between 'atoms' to our advantage. To get those electrons, as they move, or oscillate back and forth, to perform WORK for us. Like 'letting there be light'. Or providing heat. Or rotational energy (TORQUE) which we can redirect into the rotation of wheels connected to axels connected to CARS and SCOOTERS or FANS (too cool us).

We can OBSERVE the MACRO scale OUTCOMES and formally note which interactions between which 'characters' in our 'narrative' produce which outcomes. Then via 'hit and miss' experimentation, we 'try and see' what BENEFITS we can turn our observations to. What we can DO with those insights.

We might ASCRIBE completely erroneous 'motives' to people, or the 'characters' in our 'Official Electricity Narrative'. The REASON they BEHAVE as they do, and DO what they do, may be totally different to what we SPECULATE and HYPOTHESIZE and CONJECT. Most people really only care about RESULTS. Or worse, PROFITABILITY. They will 'sell' ANYTHING to anyone who will pay for it. Whether or not it 'works'. Is 'good' for them. Will 'benefit' anyone at all. Even it they know it will harm them. And society, Even kill BILLIONS of people. As long as THEY, the people SELLING the idea or product, 'earn' as much as possible from the transaction. The DECEPTION.

So just because a THEORY has the power to PREDICT outcomes, does NOT mean the theory itself is correct. Things may happen for entirely DIFFERENT reasons to those ASSUMED. There is often no way to KNOW for sure. And an ALTERNATIVE NARRATIVE might not just predict the SAME outcomes at least as successfully and reliably, but offer OTHER advantages. Such as direct us towards BETTER technologies. Cleaner technologies. Technologies with fewer NEGATIVE EXTERNALITIES / COSTS. Even FAIRER and more JUST and SUSTAINABLE societies. Forms of social and economic interaction. Superior POLITICAL sciences. Superior ECONOMIC systems of production and distribution. Superior OUTCOMES for MORE people. For more SENTIENT BEINGS in general.

So when we WORK WITH a particular narrative, such as 'The Official Electricity Narrative', remember to ENTERTAIN the theory, and avoid becoming EMOTIONALLY INVESTED in it so that you find yourself DEFENDING it, just to avoid LOSING FACE, because of that emotional commitment. As if you identify your own value and status with that of the NARRATIVE. And if 'The Narrative' falls, you fall with it. Losing your status as 'Authority'. And all the 'benefits' and 'perks' and 'privileges' that go with it.

No, try to keep an OPEN mind to the possibility that 'we've got it all wrong'. Don't make it personal, as in 'I got it all wrong'. Retain your emotional distance from ANY and ALL narratives. Including the one called 'The Official History'.

What happened in the past, and why it happened, what motivated the actors to BEHAVE as they did, is always going to remain beyond our ability to 'know for sure'. The 'layers' in the historical sediment can't speak to each other. Whoever is in power today will attempt to WRITE THE OFFICIAL NARRATIVE of history to suit their own agendas. To benefit themselves. To profit themselves. To increase their own status, prestige, wealth, power, and privilege. To assume definitions of themselves that suit their purposes. Often defining yourself as 'victim' brings many benefits, especially sympathy. Entire 'cultures' suffer from 'Munchausen Syndrome'. Even 'Munchausen Syndrome *by proxy'.

So as we discuss our 'cast of characters' in our 'Official Electricity Narrative', keep an open mind. The real 'culprits' might be other than we are lead to believe. Some of the 'characters' may be very different to the way they've been presented to us. The REASONS they behave as they do might be very different to those ASSUMED. Keep a ZEN open mind. Attend to REALITY. OBSERVE things with an open mind. You may 'see' things no-one noticed before. And find you are writing a NEW and SUPERIOR narrative, to explain THE SAME BEHAVIOURS. The same PHENOMENA. But with a slightly, or even very, different 'take' on things. With potentially NEW characters. And 'revisions' of existing character's 'backstories' and thus 'motivation'.

By all means 'stick to the script' at the start. Don't improvise till you've understood what the current director is 'going for'. But then, once you've 'got a handle' on the existing narrative, and understand the characters, AS THEY ARE CURRENTLY UNDERSTOOD BY THE DIRECTOR – SCRIPT WRITER OF THE OFFICIAL NARRATIVE, start seeing if maybe a DIFFERENT narrative might work 'just as good'. And maybe 'better'. Even if it only works 'just as good', it may open up a totally heretofor unforseen and unimagined new universe of POSSIBILITIES that we never would have 'stumbled upon' had we 'stuck to the script'. Had we 'remained on message'. Had we stuck with 'The Official Narrative'. And allowed ourselves to become SLAVES to it. THRALLS to it. Idolising it. Submitting to it as 'The Law'.

Remember, the moment something is 'carved in stone' it is fixed. DEAD. The very definition of ANIMATE subjects is their ANIMATION. That they MOVE. That they are in CONSTANT movement. THAT is what produces the CHARGE that ANIMATES all of life. CHANGE. MODULATION. MOVEMENT. Whether of electrons or people or ideas. LIVING things are CONSTANTLY re-forming. RE-PRODUCING. BEHAVING. ACTING. DOING. CHANGING.

It is literally the CHANGE in a magnetic field resulting from the CHANGE in location of electrons, DUE TO and continually recurring proton:electron IMBALANCES that PRODUCES what we call 'electricity' in the first place.

We live in an ELECTRIC UNIVERSE. She's Electric. He's Electric. We might be made of stars. But stars are capacitors made of ATOMS, and all our MOTIVE FORCE derives from atoms EX-CHANGE of electrons. From the CHANGE OF LOCATION of atoms. FROM IMBALANCE. FROM DISTURBANCES IN THE STATUS QUO.

The PEOPLE who feel entitled to enjoy benefits at the costs of other sentient beings, who are the BENEFICIARIES of any particular STATUS QUO will fight AGAINST change ruthlessly and my all means they can find. They will define CHANGE and REFORMERS who are pushing for change, as ENEMIES. And as they CONTROL 'The State', their enemies become ENEMIES OF THE STATE. And concepts like 'National Security' are invoked. And WAR DECLARED on the reformer. The agent of change. Who is merely seeking a SUPERIOR and FAIRER 'way to be' and 'game to play'.

So remain open to change. Allow the POTENTIAL for change to FLOW through you. Drop down your drawbridges. Don't take a 'defensive' position against NEW and ALTERNATIVE ideas. About ANYTHING. Let them pass. Flow. Becoming a flowing BECOMING. To stop FLOWING and BECOMING is to welcome DEATH. Change can be scary. But 'Leben ist risiko'. LIFE is risky. It's exciting that way. 'Born free, and life is worth living, but only worth living, if we are born free'. Free to CHOOSE your OWN narratives. To CHANGE your mind. To CHANGE your definitions of reality. To EXPERIMENT with ALTERNATIVE MODELS and narratives. And to keep SEEKING even when 'everyone else knows The Official Narrative is beyond question, beyond doubt, irrefutable, self-evident, UN-DENIABLE!'. That's ZEN baby. That's the path of THE PHILOSOPHER. The path of the REFORMER. The path of the PROPHET. That might just lead you to your own SALVATION. And ASCENSCION.

Once your fully 'grok' this guide, you will 'grok' that nothing it is REALLY a 'digression' at all. It is all a part of the PROCESS OF BECOMING THAT NEVER STOPS IN ANY LIVING ORGANISM. A PROCESS THAT, IF IT DOES STOP, ALWAYS ENDS IN THE DEATH OF THE ORGANISM. OR MODEL. OR IDEA. OR EVEN NARRATIVE.

So welcome to THE ULTIMATE MYSTERY SCHOOL. With the ultimate mystery. That of 'electricity'. The primal basis of our 'Electric Universe'. And ELECTRIFYING mystery. One that has NOT, despite all the bragging of 'The Authorities', been SOLVED. It is a mystery remaining to be further investigated. And YOU, dear friend, are now about to have 'the mystery' revealed to you. Well, 'The Official Narrative', and as many potential insights as I can ADD to it. You might be the next 'great discoverer' who has the NEXT 'character' in a 'NEW IMPROVED, REVISED, UPDATED, AND CORRECTED NARRATIVE' named after themselves! So open your mind. FREE your mind of the slavish shackles of DOGMA. Leave NO assumption unflagged, and unchallenged, and uninterrogated. Question EVERYTHING. ENTERTAIN ALL POSSIBILITIES. Write your OWN narrative. For after all, you are the PROTAGONIST in the narrative called 'YOUR OWN LIFE'. If you CHOOSE to be. And if you CHOOSE to become director and script writer of the 'film' called 'YOUR LIFE'. Your LIVES. For death is but a 'zero crossing point' of the 'pulse' of your eternal existence!

The absence of a desire to REFORM the language of any 'Official Narrative' often hides ulterior motives

The language used in electronics is often very confusing. As are even the schematics. Where the power supply is indicated with a triangle suggesting the current flows AWAY FROM the power supply. This suggests that Voltage SUCKS or DRAWS electrons FROM a circuit, thereby instigating a current or oscillation. Which would suggest the 'EARTH' / 'GROUND' is actually 'pushing' electrons INTO the circuit due to the 'relative vacuum of electrons' the Power source has produced, by its 'sucking' action. Is this really what 'The Official Narrative' contends?

One of the sure SIGNS that a narrative is 'in trouble' is when people need to 'play with language', and 'talk around' problems in the narrative. Coin new terms and make up 'novel' (literally fictitious) characters to 'explain away' things without actually EXPLAINING anything at all. Like putting on makeup, to hide flaws, imperfections, and so on. To give the IMPRESSION of 'health and vitality and a thriving narrative'. Which is really sickly, and pale, and on its death-bed. Vulnerable to the slightest shock. Requiring the 'life support' of a full spectrum propaganda machine that protects it, keeps it 'safe' from, all possible 'shocks' and 'frustrations' and 'irritations', let alone aggressive critics and alternative narratives. So that it is never publically exposed as what it is. Frail. Weak. Unable to defend ITSELF.

The internal consistencies and lack of coherence in THE LANGUAGE ITSELF is a great INDICATOR that 'something is wrong with the narrative'. Long before we could 'pinpoint' the exact problems, and identify the source of the 'smell', we can 'smell' something is 'off'. We can sense something is 'not right here'. And so 'The Official Narrative' concerning 'electricity' or more precisely 'electromagnetic radiation' simply BEGS to be interrogated. Because of the LACK OF WILLINGNESS on the part of its Cult thralls, its 'true believers', its 'high priests', to speak TRANSPARENTLY and CLEARLY.

To reform their language. To rationalize it. So that it becomes our ALLY in interrogating the narrative it is being used in. Our collaborator. A good-willed and positive interlocutor in our 'Socratic dialog' with it. A PARTNER sharing the same intense desire to 'get to the heart of the matters at hand'. An active and conscientious partner in a dialog in which ALL the participants SHARE the same desire. 'To get at the truth'. If possible. But whether or not it is possible, we are certainly not going to get far in our quest if our interlocutor is HOSTILE towards TRANSPARENCY. An *un*willing participant in our dialog. A 'Hostile' witness. Adopting a 'defensive posture'. Seeking merely to 'prove their narrative right and us wrong' and DEFLECT any reasonable and justified criticisms, in the name of 'defending the narrative' and 'protecting' the narrative. And what's worse, willing to employ DECEPTION and treat the interaction as a WAR. And thus 'wage war by deception' with us. To lie to us. To withhold key information and insights. To mistrust OUR intentions. And treat us as ENEMIES. Invaders who come to 'destroy' their 'beloved precious narrative'. A narrative they at least PERCEIVE they could 'simply not live without'. As if it were the air they breathed. And must be protected at ALL costs. From ALL 'attackers'. From all 'alternative narrative'. From all criticism and interrogation. AS if their LIVES depended on it. Or worse, the fates of their eternal SOULS!

Why continue a 'convention' of 'drawing circuit schematics AS-IF electricity flowed / pulsed in ONE direction, when 'The Official Narrative' states clearly that it flows in the OPPOSITE direction? Sure we use QWERTY keyboards still. Though they are INFERIOR to keyboards we could design that do NOT require us to 'slow down the successive typing of particular key-strokes (letters) to avoid jamming of mechanical components?

Why do we find 'narrators' of 'The Official Narrative' changing the subjects and predicates of the characters in that narrative, each time they try to 'explain' some different aspect of that narrative? Why can't the same qualities and characteristics and descriptors and personal pro-nouns and verbs and adverbs be used in EVERY context when 'talking about' and 'describing' 'The Official Narrative'? Surely the same predicates could be used each time we talk about their corresponding subjects?

We could surely devote a book giving credit to all the people involved in the WRITING of 'The Official Narrative', and this would interest many people. But why hold onto EPITHETS for the various characters and subjects and predicates of them, that OBFUSCATE and add confusion for the learner? Why not rationalize the LANGUAGE used to talk about this narrative? Even Germans made a bit of progress is rationalizing the German language. It was probably more about economic wrecking, and wasting resources, especially mental energies, and distracting the German people from the REAL problems they face, than about an REAL 'reform'. Because what they COULD have achieved, compared to what they DID achieve, are worlds apart. It is really surprising that in today's mood of 'political correctness' that a language supposedly being 'reformed' and 'revised' and 'updated' and 'improved' should even be ALLOWED to retain so much SEXIST language. So much FORMAL language is surely INCOMPATIBLE with the mood of 'equality' and 'egalitarianism' and 'leveling' of our 'zeitgeist', isn't it? And given the PUTSCH to fill Germany with FOREIGNERS and thus MILLIONS upon MILLIONS of people who will be learning German as a SECOND language, and with a MASSIVE INCREASE of 'first generation, nominally 'German' citizens, feeding off the taxes of ethnic Germans who are still paying that 'Solidarity tax' for their Eastern brethren and finding they can't AFFORD children, while the new 'refugee' immigrants', with the full financial support of those other working, native, Germans, will have no economic reasons, and thus see NO reason for MODERATION in satisfying their urges to both reproduce themselves, AND the 'culture' they felt such a desperate and urgent need to ESCAPE from, (yes clearly I am ethnic German, if such long, run-on, sentences are a good indicator!). Keeping all this in mind, surely the LACK of TRUE 'rationalisation' of 'The German Language' shows a total disregard for the REAL POLITIK of the moment, and future, where MILLIONS of people will be learning German AS A SECOND LANGUAGE. And any linguist will tell you that this is what drives SIMPLIFICATION of phonemes and grammar. Which is what I would have done if I had been 'Fuhrer' of the recent SUPPOSED reform of the German Language. Didn't the people in charge of destroying Germany, of the GENOCIDE of 'white Europeans', especially 'Germanic types', explain to the people in charge of 'The language reform' how the future would look for Germany?

Oh, yes, so what I was getting at is that surely it would make sense for us to RATIONALISE 'The Official Narrative' for electromagnetic radiation and electronics. To call things by names that are LOGICALLY DESCRIPTIVE, rather than to honor some great discoverer and inventor? Sure, if you had the luxury of spending months studying the history of electronics, the names MIGHT be 'logical' to YOU. But consider my naming of some of my 'Optimal Reaper' presets. If someone has no idea of the references and homages I am paying, in the epithets I give some pre-sets, the names will just confuse them. If I described them more 'technically' in terms of the individual effects that make up the signal chains of each pre-set, then no-one would need to all the 'backstory'. It won't be like watching a sequel, without having seen the prequel. Like watching the last film in a trilogy, without being familiar with what happens, and how the characters and plot developed in the first two films.

But here's 'the rub'. When you do what I am attempting to do, to 'rationalise' the way we explain things and talk about things, you enter into a 'Socratic Dialogue' WITH 'The Official Narrative' as, hopefully, your ALLY. You'd hope the narrative would FACILITATE its own interrogation. Because it 'WANTED TO BE THE VERY BEST NARRATIVE THAT IT POSSIBLY COULD BE. It wants to BECOME the best possible narrative it has the potential for BECOMING. It WELCOMES and INVITES and makes itself accessible to, interrogation.

But what if, instead, it proves to be a 'sneaky and dishonest interlocutor'. Even a HOSTILE one. Like a Colleagles in Plato's 'Georgias'! While Colleagles accuses Socrates of 'hiding behind' a 'deceptive' way of speaking, and 'changing the way he uses language, from 'natural' to 'conventional', to suit his own ulterior purposes, rather than 'getting at the truth', it is Colleagles himself that is the deceptive one. 'The Offiical Narrative' has its defenders. 'True believers'. And simply people emotionally and materially invested in it. With too much 'face' and 'material benefits' to lose, should their 'narrative' fall to alternatives. If the average 'thralls' lose faith, it will all go pear shaped!

Language MUST be employed as an ALLY in the quest for seeking truth. Just as interlocutors must SEE themselves AS allies, in the search for truth. Rather than HOSTILE COMBATANTS. Defenders of particular narratives, as a necessary means to the ends of protecting the personal benefits they enjoy as a consequence OF that narrative being 'accepted' and 'believed' and thus defined as 'The dominant hegemonic social reality'.

But the German language is relatively hostile to learners of German as a SECOND language. Sure there are languages much MORE hostile, of nations that NEVER experienced EITHER large scale immigration (which the language can survive as long as the dominant locals retain the balance of power), or colonization of other nations requiring that FOREIGNERS learn their language. Then end up appearing AS immigrants. WITH their 'butchered' and 'bastardized' and 'modified' and 'BAD' version of the 'mother tongue'.

There are languages out in the world that could only possibly be 'mastered' from birth. They retain and accumulate as much complexity as they like, as they will be learned 'at the mothers breast'. In all their complexity and ornate baroquely embellished intricateness and subtlety. They can contain odd sounds, pops, whistles, and convey a mass of meaning via mere 'inflections' and 'modulations in amplitude and frequency'. The fewer people that must learn it 'as a second language', the more complex it can afford to be. The more subtle it can get away with being. The more 'impossible' it will be for an 'outsider' to learn, and thus misrepresent themselves, if that was their intention, as 'locals'. No foreign spies could ever succeed in such a land. And the communications of the locals would remain forever 'inscrutable' to outsiders.

But a truly welcoming, accessible, 'living language' actively SEEKS to be understood and easily learned by 'foreigners'. It quickly abandons any forms that are hard for a 'foreigner' to emulate, to copy, to mimic. It disabuses itself of any 'cumbersome' and 'pointless' grammatical 'niceties'. Gender and formal and informal forms simply can't justify their existence. Difficult to master sounds like 'rolled R's' fall by the wayside.

Languages evolve like refugees as they proceed along their road to a hopefully better life. First they try to carry everything they can. As much of the 'familiar' possessions as they can manage. But soon they notice there is a COST involved in trying to keep it all. And the costs outweigh the benefits, when it comes to many items. So the first thing they try to sell, or simply abandon by the roadside, are the heaviest, most cumbersome, and less immediately necessary, bits of decorative furniture and 'family heirlooms'. They have 'emotional' and 'sentimental' value, but little or no practical value. They do not serve as effective means to immediate ends. They are luxuries that it might be nice to keep. But their practical contribution wouldn't justify the expense of keeping them. They represent more of a burden and liability than an asset. These are the equivalent of all the 'finer points' of a language. The subtle elements. The FORMAL elements. The elements that you can use to INDICATE YOUR STATUS AND EDUCATION. But which don't really communicate more than THAT. They can let individuals distinguish themselves in some way, but don't help with communicating pressing, urgent, information and self-expression.

So, if Germans ever adopt 'The Fuhrer Principle' again, I'll be there to begin with my reforms. But in terms of 'The Official Narrative' we are considering here, I'll warn you that the 'language' this narrative employs appears deliberately designed to make it as hard as possible to attempt to fully comprehend at all, let alone 'quickly grasp'. It's like a mystery religion employing symbols steeped in 'tradition' which will remain meaningless and inscrutable, even incomprehensible at times, to those not already 'initiated' into its 'mystery school'. And often the meanings outsiders will ascribe, are the ones the 'controllers' of that mystery school ENCOURAGE them to falsely ascribe. So that the outsider imagines they have 'learned something' when really they've been hoodwinked. Misdirected from what is important. Having their attention narrowly focused on things that are NOT important. And interpreting things quite erroneously. And thus forming erroneous conclusions. All to the great joy and satisfaction of the 'cult elites' who have done their best to misinform, misdirect, confuse, obfuscate, and KEEP their 'mysteries' a, well, mystery. For all but the elites themselves. Allowing some cult thralls the ILLUSION of being 'initiates', and hoping for a 'fuller' understanding available only at the 'higher levels' of initiation. Motivated to keep slaving away for the Cult elites. Hanging on their every promise of 'greater insights to come'. Insights that are never forthcoming. But like dogs that go out every day 'hoping' they might 'find' something tasty to eat, or a bitch in heat, or at least something 'interesting', our Cult thralls get up each morning, follow their cult prescriptions and proscriptions, pay their 'tithes', and 'behave' and 'conform' and 'obey' and 'comply', hopefully expectant in anticipation of the next 'dog treat'. For now and then 'treats' ARE handed out. And some of the dogs get 'promoted' to more interesting and rewarding positions. Some get to mate with the bitches. Some get 'honors' and 'awards' and get to lick master's feet and 'be a good dog' and 'sit' and, when necessary, 'play dead'. 'Roll over'? Of course. That is what a Cult thrall LIVES for! And willingly DIES for. KILLS for.

Oh, so when we finally get around to some 'much needed revisionism' of 'The Official Narrative' of electromagnetic radiation, let's use logically descriptive terms and units of measure that INVITE and FACILITATE quick and easy, deep, understanding of the phenomena we are describing, and the actors and forces we see as playing roles in this narrative.

Electromagnetic Radiation

Before we even start on 'The Official Narrative', consider this: 'Sound waves' are not a type of EMR. But 'light waves' are. First remember that 'sound' and 'light' do NOT exist 'out there'. They exist only in our minds. They are what our visual and audio representation systems RENDER when nerve endings connected to those systems are 'disturbed' by 'vibrations' repeating at particular RATES. With a particular 'frequency'. Frequency just referring to RATE, and nothing more. Nothing mystical. Just a synonym for 'rate of'. For 'how often' something repeats. Per second. Next remember that there are no 'waves' out there. The whole 'wave' thing is an artifact of us rendering 3-D phenomena as 2-D graphs plotting amplitude over time. Or voltage over time. Or distance travelled over time. There are no 'snakey waves of light or sound' moving through the atmosphere. There are spherical 3-D pulses of energy disturbing the atmosphere, and anything else that crosses their path, or resists it, even dares to try to impede it, loh dare I say block it, that repeat so often every second. And depending on HOW often per second they repeat, different sense organ nerve endings 'resonate' with them, or completely ignore them, and send (or don't) signals to the brain centers they are connected to, that correspond with the amplitude(force) and frequency at which the pulses 'hit' the nerve endings, and which the brain-mind then RENDERS as 'light' and 'sound' of various 'colors' and 'pitches'.

And now back to 'The Official Narrative'. The award for best contender for the title 'primerty' or 'monad' goes to EMR. That's the character in 'The Official Narrative's lead character that goes by the name of 'Electromagnetic Radiation'. EMR to its friends. EMR is both energy, and its own medium of transmission. Now it does NOT get any more 'mystical' and 'mysterious' than THAT. Not in ANY of the 'MYSTERY RELIGIONS' are you asked to take a greater, longer, higher LEAP OF FAITH than that.

EMR travels at the speed of light, through even 'the vacuum of space'. It oscillates/vibrates/resonates/pulses at any conceivable frequency you could care to imagine. So that its 'wave-length' can be as small as the smallest distance you could care to imagine. We are dealing with a paradox that would make Xeno feeling he was born much too soon. Or died way too early! You could extend your decimal points as far right as you desired, and never run out of EMR frequencies to 'describe'. We are talking infinity here! We'll require an infinitely divisible 'space'.

Well we gifted 'The Official Narrative' 'the vacuum of space', so we can surely do it this little 'favor', right? Accommodate its needs. After all it NEEDS all the support it can get. It NEEDS, as do MOST of 'The Official Narrative's, INTENSIVE CARE life support. So the narrative shall have whatever it NEEDS, to remain 'at least superficially plausible for the average punter who can't be expected to bother ever to 'take a closer look'.

Everyone these days is 'On the spectrum'. Apparently thanks TO EMR itself. You know, the new artificial electromagnetic radiation frequencies we are bathing ourselves in, so our 'smart phones' can make DUMB ASSES of us all. And literal prisoners and slaves! But what IS the EMR spectrum?

Well it IS 'the monad'. It is EVERYTHING. ALL. It is TROONATNOOR. It is 'the pulse of life'. The 'beat' we all dance to. That all living and non-living things dance to. It is SHIVA. LORD of the dance. Of 'creation and destruction'.

We use the 'human' time period of SECONDS to measure change. Our visual cortex in fact only 'samples' images at a rate of about 24 FRAMES PER* SECOND. But what it samples are oscillations/vibrations/resonances that repeat BILLIONS of times per second. The 'oscillations' our visual cortex RENDERS as 'light and color and images' are within the bandwidth 405 to 790 TERRA Hertz. BILLIONS of hertz. Billions of repeats of pulses per second. With an appropriately TINY 'wave-length' to accommodate so many 'pressure maxima and minima' in such a short period of time. We call this the 'visible light spectrum', from red 405 THz to violet 790 THz.

For example our visual cortex, our visual representation system, will represent a.k.a RENDER the frequency 680THz as the 'color' Purple. But no 'light' or 'color' exists outside of our own minds. There is no 'color' 'out there'. It only exists 'in our minds'. In our 'representation systems'. It is our minds that RENDER a particular frequency as light, or sound, as color or pitch, as a scent, or a flavor, as a texture, and even as a 'solid' or 'liquid' or 'gas'.

You can think of EMRs as particles that hit your nerve ending at a particular rate per second. How frequently they hit your nerve endings is their 'frequency'. When something 'disturbs' your nerve endings repeatedly at a constant rate, that these nerve endings 'resonate' with (you might say are 'attuned to or tuned in to), the nerve ending is stimulated, and begins 'encoding' the frequency of 'strikes', and how 'many things' are hitting at the same time (amplitude/force) as electrical impulses that are transmitted to the brain centers attached to those nerve endings which then RENDER the frequency and amplitude of the 'strikes' as particular IMPRESSIONS. The sense impressions of sight, sound, touch, smell, and taste. Depending on the frequency of the strikes and their amplitude, they will resonate with a different REPRESENATION SYSTEM.

So pressure 'hits' that strike the ear drum at a constant repeating rate of 80 times per second will be rendered as 'A low pitch bass sound'. Whereas pressure 'hits' that repeat 680 BILLION times a second will end up being rendered as as the 'color' Purple.

The Official Narrative 'clocks' EMR pulses as travelling at 'the speed of light'. It is like 'the speed of sound'. The speed at which a pulse reproduces from one pressure maxima to the next. And thus reproduces / replicates itself over space. Which takes time. You can't have one without the other. Change without time. Change of ANYTHING. Because that is what TIME really is. A concept we use to describe the RATE of change. How FAST or SLOWLY something CHANGES. Basta!

The distance between pressure maxima for pulses that repeat with a particular FREQUENCY , at a particular RATE, can be calculated by dividing the SPEED at which such pulses are able to travel, within the medium they are travelling, by the number of pulses being repeated / replicated / reproduced per second. We write frequency in Hertz (Hz), which refers to the number of pulses or 'cycles' that repeat per second.

When dealing with the bandwidth of the Electromagnetic Radiation Spectrum our minds RENDER as 'sound', we are dealing with pressure pulses transmitted through the medium of AIR. Even if the energy passes through 'solid objects' (slight cringe) on its journey from 'sound source' (cringing big time now) to our eardrums, the final 'transmission medium' is usually air. Unless we are under water. Or our ears are full of water. Or full of something else, so that it is the BONES in our head that 'disturb' our ear drums or the liquid IN our INNER ear, rather than air itself disturbing our ear drums.

The frequencies between 20 and 20,000 Hz that our minds RENDER as 'sound' can travel no faster than roughly 320 meters per second, through the air. This is because air is, relatively, not very dense. So air molecules have to travel some distance before bumping into the next air molecule, and transferring their kinetic energy to it. That is how the kinetic energy of a pressure pulse in the air is transmitted across distance, over time. The maximum speed at which such kinetic energy can be transmitted through air (of a particular humidity and thus density a.k.a ambient air pressure) is 320m/s. So we say that 'the speed of sound' (yes I cringe having to write that) is 320m/s. Why the physical discomfort and automatic facial gestures? Well because it is so obfuscating to talk in this way. Even worse is having to write something like 'sound wave' or 'wave-length' as if these things are real. And not simply artefacts of how we THINK about something and VISUALISE it. IMAGINARY CHIMERAS.

Water and metal and glass are denser mediums of transmission of energy pulses. So what our minds render as 'sound' travels faster through these, than through the air.

But what our minds render as 'light' can travel much faster. How? Well, according to 'The Official Narrative' it doesn't require any medium of transmission either. Like 'Electromagnetic Radiation' (EMR) in general. The pressure pulses our minds render as 'sound' are artefacts of air pressure pulses produced by disturbances in the air, in the form of kinetic energy. Which may have originally been produced by some 'internal combustion' within cells which lead to vocal folds rubbing against each other and 'vibrating' / 'oscillating' at a rate between 20 and 20,000 times per second (Hz) which then disturbed the air molecules surrounding them at the same rate. So that the original chemical energy released by the internal combustion in the cells, has been converted into kinetic energy, in the form of 'air pressure pulses', which our minds ultimately render as 'sound'.

But to be clear, there is NO such 'thing' as 'sound-waves'. Nope. No 'sound' out there. No 'waves' of sound either. What DOES exist , out there, are 3-D pulses of air pressure that travel out from a kinetic pressure source such as an explosion or 'snap of the fingers' or 'tree falling' or 'vocal folds vibrating', in all directions. It is only when you RENDER such phenomena in our visual representation systems as graphs plotting amplitude over time, that we get the familiar 2-D 'snakey line' 'wave-form' representation / RENDERING that people love to speak of as 'sound waves'. And thus make me 'cringe'! Like hearing supposed 'alternative uncontrolled media' referring to 'The Covid pandemic', as if THAT was something REAL too, and not just something that ONLY exists in our MINDS. In our IMAGINATIONS. Because the people they work for PUT it there. Like they put 'god' and 'the devil' and 'The Holocaust' and 'planes flying into WTC buildings' there. Like someone else put leprechauns and unicorns there. And Santa Claus!

O.K, so where were we? Yes. 'The Official Narrative' claims to have 'clocked' the frequencies our minds render as 'light' as travelling at 186,282 miles per second, so that we refer to 'the speed of light' as being 186,282 miles per second. Just as we say 'the speed of sound is 340 meters per second.

So we can calculate the distance between any two points in a pressure pulse of equal amplitude (strength/magnitude/quantity), such as the 'pressure maxima' of 'air pressure pulses', by dividing the speed of transmission by the frequency at which the pressure pulse is being repeated.

(Of course, you might remember, 'The Official Narrative' claims a 'wave-particle duality' for electromagnetic radiation. So that some frequencies don't even bother taking a bus or taxi, but just walk. By which I mean some frequencies don't require any 'medium' of transmission. Their energy has no medium. They thus must be 'particles' which are being pushed out 'earlier' from 'elsewhere' in a continuous stream. Like the fact-checkers who always claim 'this post has been proven 'elsewhere' to be dangerously misleading medical misinformation. But when you try to find that 'elsewhere' you always come up blank. Because it doesn't exist. And in fact NOWHERE have they 'proven' either 'The Official Narrative' they are there to defend from the competition, and from EXPOSURE AS LIES, or have they 'debunked' the supposed 'fake news' and 'misleading misinformation'. Follow any supposed 'references' to supposed 'research articles' and supposed 'clinical trials' or 'scientific research' and all you find are OPINION pieces. Sometimes with impressive LOOKING graphics and presentation, but without ANY actual evidence, proof, actual double blind controlled scientific studies, or even rudimentary ATTEMPTS at anything LIKE what we USED to call 'scientific method', but which as been replaced by mere DECLARATIONS by 'authorities' that 'This is true cos we said so and if you disagree you are a criminal and we are going to GET you and ANNHILATE you!'.

So, the 'wavelength' (rabbit ears to remind you we are speaking metaphorically, using a 'figure of speech', as there are no 'waves' of any length) of an EMR wave oscillating at 100 kHz is about 1.86 miles. 186,282 divided by 100,000. The higher the frequency, the shorter the 'wavelength' as the more often an energy pulse has to repeat within the same distance. Which is a much better way of 'thinking' about frequencies. How often they REPEAT per second. And thus per 'meter' as they are transmitted THROUGH some medium.

Again, to stop hate mail, 'The Official Narrative' wants us to vaguely 'visualise' energy pulses to be 'projectiles' moving through space. Even that much spoken of 'vacuum of space'. It's the ONLY way their 'Official Narrative' can be FORCED to 'work'. To at least SEEM to be a 'work*able*' model.

Our audio representation systems can RENDER relatively small CHANGES in the amplitude of air pressure pulses that repeat between around 20 and 20,000 times per second. It decodes an almost continual stream of pressure pulses that disturb the equilibrium of that membrane we call 'the ear drum' which in turn disturb liquid in the inner ear, which in turn disturb nerve endings, which convert the disturbances into corresponding voltages, which the auditory representation system of our brain-mind RENDERS as different pitches (frequencies) of different amplitudes (loudness). And ultimately as 'music' or 'noise'. Our 'language centers' then convert some of these into 'words and sentences'. Then our 'logic circuits' convert some of these into 'true-false' statements. But most minds are 'Gated' to allow only statements that comply with 'The Official Narrative' to pass, censoring any statements that are 'off script' and 'not on-message' with The Full Spectrum Propaganda, oops, I mean, 'Official Narrative'. So that, in the spirit of EXCLUSIVITY that defines the Cult of Judah's guiding 'ideology of Semitism', the ONLY data the brain gets to process is data CONSISTENT WITH and SUPPORTIVE OF 'The Official Narrative'. No wonder people confuse it with REALITY! When no debate is allowed or entered into. When it SEEMS that there really never WAS any debate. Any ALTERANTIVE narratives WORTHY of consideration. There was just 'The Official Narrative'. And no other 'contenders'. What a COMFORTING idea. To be in possession of 'the truth'. To need have no doubts at all. No need to even WONDER if there ever WERE any other alternatives! 'Received wisdom' is so neat and tidy. You don't need to 'bother your little head' about it. Just ACCEPT it. BELIEVE it. ADOPT it as REALITY. Thinking is such HARD WORK. Memorizing one 'Official Narrative' is child's play. Especially if it begins in childhood. And continues for life.

We use the unit of measurement, HERTZ (Hz) in honor of Heinrich Hertz, a member of that totally 'good for nothing' 'race' of 'white Europeans' that went by the name of 'Germans' before it was genocided by The Cult of Judah. (By the time anyone reads this!). I wonder, though, was it really Hertz-EL? I mean, I bet HE 'appropriated' it from some African tribesman or 'wandering you know who'! From some poor victim he had enslaved! I mean, he didn't even have the imagination to MAKE UP anything. To 'discover a theoretical particle'. Not at all CREATIVE those 'Germans'. Always sticking to FACTS and MEASURABLE QUANTITIES and VERIFYABLE things you could PROVE and DEMONSTRATE. Where's the 'science' in THAT? No, science is about 'creating and maintaining myths'. That's why the OLDEST science is POLITICAL SCIENCE which used to go by the name of CULT THRALL MANAGEMENT SYSTEMS. Or what was that quaint term they used to use? Oh yes, now I remember it. RELIGION!

Other 'representation systems' are tuned to and 'disturbed by' other bandwidths, and RENDER these as smells, tastes, textures, and PRESSURE. So that we RENDER some bandwidths as 'solid' and others as 'gas' and others as 'liquid'. David Hume has been more than vindicated by 'modern' science!

Filters

Capacitive reactance *de*creases with an *in*crease in frequency, so capacitors cut LOW frequencies much more than high frequencies.

Inductive reactance increases with increase in frequency, so inductors cut HIGH frequencies much more than low frequencies.

Inductors and capacitors can be combined to produce a circuit that will resonate at a particular frequency. This is another way of saying we can 'tune' a circuit to a particular frequency. So that it only 'receives' and 'passes' certain frequencies or bandwidths.

Using a variable capacitor and/or variable inductor makes it possible to tune the circuit to different frequencies, by varying the capacitance and/or inductance in the circuit, and thus varying the resistance of the circuit to different frequency bandwidths. In this way you can 'cut' certain frequencies out of a signal, while allowing others to 'pass' through the Capacitor-Inductor circuit. In radio and television applications the purpose is to 'tune into' a specific frequency (the carrier signal of the television or radio transmission) and to tune out every other frequency, which reflexively comes to be defined as 'noise'. In audio gear we speak of E.Q circuits. In guitar electronics TONE circuits.

In a 'tuning circuit' that must be able to tune into a wide (broad) range (band) of frequencies, it is usual to employ one set of capacitors and/or inductors per bandwidth, to move between the bandwidths, and then use a variable inductor and/or capacitor for fine-tuning. As in sailing, where you ' trim the sails' to 'fine tune' them to the winds, the term 'trim' is often used in the context of 'tuning' ('trimming'). Variable capacitors generally provide a wider range of tuning than variable inductors and so are more commonly used. Fine tuning is usually necessary even in fixed filters due to the tolerances in the capacitors and inductors that make precise pre-tuning (via calculations of inductance and capacitance) impractical. A few 'percent' +/- would make the tuner otherwise 'not fit for purpose'. Like the Portuguese courts ruled 'PCR tests' were NOT 'fit for purpose'. Which anyone who understands anything, from the inventor of the PCR test, down to any medical professional who took a moment to do a tiny bit of research before getting into perfect 'Lockstep' with 'the Authorities', will soon realise these tests cannot 'diagnose' anything, and do not even TRY to isolate and identify ANY live virus. In fact the ONLY way to explain the 'case surges' is that the test kits are PRE-PROGRAMMED with positive or negative results before they are shipped. And that the shipping is carefully planned to ensure 'case hot spots' can be constructed to terrify the public into a TOTALLY IRRATIONAL FEAR of something they have no reason to even believe exists. Other than through HEARSAY. The same reasons our ancestors believed in witches, and demonic possession, and many people today still vaguely believe in beings they call 'God' and even 'The Devil'.

Low-pass filters offer little opposition to current flow when the pulse rate (frequency) of electrical impulses / Electromagnetic force, is low.

We can vary the resistance to different frequencies using capacitors and inductors. The 'cut-off' frequency can be roughly pre-set via calculations of inductance and resistance, and then 'fine-tuned' (trimmed) with a variable inductor or resistor.

A 'low cut' a.k.a 'high pass' filter allows only frequencies ABOVE the 'cut-off frequency' to pass, and resists the flow of frequencies BELOW it.

A 'high cut' a.k.a 'low pass' filter allows only frequencies BELOW the 'cut-off frequency' to pass, and resists the flow of frequencies ABOVE it.

If you combine both, you can determine which BANDWIDTH of frequencies is allowed to pass freely, and which will face resistance, and be 'cut'.

A variable resistor or inductor can then allow you to vary the 'cut-off frequency' for both the low cut and high cut, and 'shape' your 'frequency response'. The wider the 'bandwidth' between these two cut-off frequencies, the fewer frequencies that will be cut. A very narrow bandwidth filter is called a 'Notch' filter, as it targets a very narrow range of frequencies, like 'cutting a notch' out of a piece of wood.

A common High Cut (low pass) circuit design places an inductor in series with a resistor. The current must first pass the Inductor, to reach the resistor, and output. The inductive reactance (resistance to current flow) of an inductor is very low at low frequencies, permitting current to flow with little opposition. But as frequency increases, inductive reactance increases, so resistance to current flow increases.

When the inductive reactance offers the same resistance as the resistor, they share the current (load) equally. By the time the inductive reactance is offering 10 times the resistance of the resistor, it prevents most current flowing past it, so almost none appears across the resistor or at the output. (I explain all the terms used here in detail, using various analogies and metaphors, elsewhere in this guide, in an attempt to make 'The Official Narrative' as transparent and accessible to comprehension and interrogation, as possible.)

If we connect a capacitor in parallel with a resistor, current can bypass the capacitor when it offers more resistance than the resistor. At low frequencies, Capacitive reactance (resistance to current flow) is high, and most of the current bypasses the capacitor, and appears across the resistor. But as frequency increases, more current is passed through the capacitor. At high frequencies it offers $1/10^{th}$ the resistance of the resistor, and so almost all the signal will pass through the Capacitor, rather than the resistor (as the path of least resistance). The Capacitor 'side-street' (sub-circuit) offers 'the path of least resistance' to the current, so it takes this route, and almost no signal appears at the output.

We can produce a resonant peak at the cut-off point (familiar to most people as a 'wah effect') by combining an inductor and capacitor in our tone / EQ circuit. When the values of inductive reactance and capacitive reactance are equal, a 'resonant peak' is produced at the cut-off point, followed by a dramatic cut. I have produced a 'free' Wah Pedal in Reaper (see my 'Optimal Reaper DAW user guide' and 'Optimal Reaper Configuration') using ReaEQ. You can allow the amplitude (how hard you hit strings / how loud you play) to modulate/change/move the cut-off frequency automatically (auto-wah), or manually move the cut-off frequency, using a mouse. Or ideally a MIDI controller. A mouse could easily be converted into a wah pedal using my Reaper Configuration, pre-sets, and 'mouse mod' ideas. Contact me if you are interested in collaborating with me in producing the worlds cheapest Wah pedal and 'USB controller' that would find many applications, and cost no more than a cheap mouse to produce.

IN HUMAN TERMS, WE CAN CONDITION A HUMAN TO RESIST ANY DATA, ANY PERCEPTION, ANY IMPRESSION, ANY COMPELLING ARGUMENT, ANY FACT, ANY EXPERIENCE THAT CONTRADICTS 'THE OFFICIAL NARRATIVE' AS IT STANDS, CONSTANTLY REVISED FROM DAY TO DAY, AT ANY GIVEN MOMENT.

We are talking about 'bleeding off' different frequencies down into a 'tone circuit' 'cul de sac' so they don't appear at the output. They don't need to 'go anywhere'. We just need to divert electrical pulses that occur at particular rates, away from the output, so they to not manage to reach the output before the Alternating current reverses direction. Which is many times a second. I often wondered where they were 'bled off to', thinking in terms of 'water flow' and DC currents. But the apparent mystery of 'where do the unwanted electrical pulses go, and, where do the electrons that are the charge carriers go, is cleared up when you realise how tiny electrons are, and how quickly AC reverses direction. This also explains how capacitors, which don't allow electrons to pass, but only the 'Electromagnetic / Electromotive FORCE' they are 'carrying', operate. Electrical energy pulses (not actual electrons) repeating at a fast rate, manage to 'slip through' the 'virtual gate' of the capacitor during 'the window of opportunity' presented while it is charging and discharging. These ENERGY PULSES then push electrons on the OTHER side of the capacitor circuit at a velocity corresponding to that of the frequency of the energy impulse. Consider that a 'bass E (E2) guitar string' loops / vibrates much slower than a 'treble E (E4)' guitar string. So the corresponding voltages induced in the pick-up coil and outputted to the circuit have a higher velocity for higher frequencies than lower frequencies. Like the velocity of the legs of a wolf will be much lower as it 'lopes', than its dachshund friend, managing to keep up with it by moving its much shorter legs much faster. If I've got anything wrong so far, I'll 'clean up the mess' later when things become clearer in my own mind. Most 'writers' on these subjects approach it in particular ways they are comfortable with, which don't 'speak' to me at all. It almost feels like a typical 'mystery school' master attempting to obfuscate as much as possible, so initiates will require further 'instruction' and 'induction' into 'the higher mysteries', where they are promised 'all will be explained'. And after which, on pain of death, or 'looking stupid', they are unlikely to reveal anything to the punters lining up with their money at the cult training center entrance. One as very few people will take great risks to expose anything, and 'blow the whistle' on anything. And two, as no-one wants to look 'stupid' and admit 'Sorry, it does NOT make sense to me', when everyone ELSE appears to be 'fine' and 'clear' and to have 'understood'. Of course this is mostly collective ignorance. Almost ALL the 'others' feel just as 'ripped off' and 'confused' and do NOT 'understand', but assuming everyone ELSE 'gets it', don't want to appear to BE the problem. It's a case of 'the problem is, there are no (admitted) problems'. This happens in any social context, where most people won't admit they 'don't understand' and 'don't know what's going on' and even 'don't AGREE with what is happening', for fear of being 'the odd one out'. It is easy to suggest that 'THEY are the problem', when everyone else is self-censoring, and pretending THEY have NO problems. With 'The Official Narrative'. And with what that narrative is being used to JUSTIFY and 'explain away'. Anything from genocide to total elimination of every personal freedom, liberty, and vestige of privacy, including personal physical and intellectual sovereignty a.k.a 'control over their own bodies' and 'private possession of their own thoughts, and the right to HAVE them, and EXPRESS them'.

Censorship is 'filtering' of anything 'off script'. Anything 'Off message'. There is one script, and one message. The Cult of Judah's. Although we appear to have access to a 'broad band' of 'alternatives', in reality they are all owned and/or controlled, directly or indirectly, openly or covertly, by the one Cult. The Cult of Judah. Any company will diversify its brands, to 'cover' the market, and ensure that whatever someone is looking for, they can supply it, and profit from doing so. So 'market leading brands' also market similar products, or products targeting particular demographics, under different 'brand names'. Sometimes even 'generic' no-name brands. They can 'buy out' competition, but keep the 'label' and brand loyalty. So that while we appear to have a real competition and diversity an alternatives, in reality most of the 'brands' on offer are owned by a few huge multi-national corporations. And when you buy that 'no-name' 'generic' brand, or that 'family owned' brand, or that 'exotic new organic 'fair trade' eco-friendly brand, you are really buying from the SAME company. The same shareholders are profiting. The same boards of directors sit on each board of each supposedly 'independent' and 'competing' company.

And it is even more so with 'religions' and 'faiths' and 'belief systems' and 'ideologies', from those established over thousands of years, to the supposedly new 'grass-roots' ones we are lead to believe spontaneously and organically emerged 'in opposition' or at least as 'alternatives' to, these established, market leading, 'famous' and 'well-known' brands with their 'brand loyal patrons'. Emotionally invested in their favorite brands. The brands 'familiar' from childhood. TRUSTED brands.

Controlled opposition groups are either conceived and set up by the Cult of Judah itself. Or infiltrated and taken over and occupied and re-purposed to serve their ends. You will find that the genuinely 'anti-semitic' organisations are all run by Cult of Judah agents, and even self-identifying 'Jews'. Soviet 'Jew'.S.S.R Marxism and 'Atlas Shrugged' straw man crony capitalism, are just two 'political' examples. Judaism, Christianity, and Islam, are just three 'religious' examples.

We face some of the heaviest and most ubiquitous censorship in history, while the internet and mass media, almost totally controlled by Cult of Judah agents, give the IMPRESSION of representing a wide diversity of alternative viewpoints and ideas. At least under the Spanish Inquisition they didn't pretend you were free. When they burn books, they even give you a list of what books have been burned, and why. Today when they 'burn' publications, they may replace them with a 'fact-checker' place-holder to inform you they have been censored. But most of the time you won't even realise just how much HAS been censored, because they don't tell you it ever existed, and WAS censored. 'Bleached' from the internet. And most self-publishing cites PUNISH authors who publish something that is 'off script' and not 'on message' with 'The Official Narrative', not just by banning particular books that 'stray' from 'The Official Narrative', but ALL their books. Denying them a livelihood as an author. A means to 'get their books out there' to the few people still seeking them. This is like withdrawing your radio broadcasting license for having produced one program that 'offended' The Cult of Judah, and potentially 'exposed' something they didn't want exposed.

Q

James' bond has his 'M'. Audio engineers have their 'Q'. Combining capacitors and inductors in combined LOW CUT - HIGH CUT filters called 'BANDPASS' filters, produces 'resonant peaks' at the 'cut-off' point where the 'cut' / 'roll off' begins, either side of the band to be kept. As in the 'wah' guitar effect, this simply means that a narrow bandwidth around the 'cut-off' frequency will have a greater magnitude / amplitude / loudness.

'High Q' components will produce a tall narrow peak. 'Low Q' components will produce more of a 'bell curve' peak. So while the width of the band of frequencies to be passed is determined by the capacitance-inductance-resistance ratings, the resonant peaks at the 'cut-off points' at either end of this band are determined by the 'Q' of the components used. The examples shown are for relatively narrow bands. If the bandwidth is very wide, you get a peak at the low cut, a flat band, and a peak at the high cut.

IN HUMAN TERMS A 'NOTCH FILTER' REPRESENTS HOW 'COMPARTMENTALISED' OUR BELIEFS ARE. WE ARE CAPABLE OF 'EDITING OUT' (REJECTICING) VERY SPECIFIC FACTS (FREQUENCY BANDWIDTHS) FROM OUR EXPERIENCE TO FIT 'THE OFFICIAL NARRATIVE'

Typical 'weaseling' of human language to hide or obfuscate

As is often the case with 'Official Narratives', odd language needs to be employed which probably no-one using it really could claim to understand. What is 'Apparent Power'? Often we can measure something, but don't really 'grok' what we are measuring. So most 'experts' just fall back on expressing things as formulas and equations, to avoid having to fact this fact. Paraphrasing an equation or formula is NOT 'explaining' anything. It is just repeating different measurements, and their reflexive relationships, within the formula. What the philosopher and honest scientist seeks is to 'understand' things. And if you cannot express something in relatively simple language, then you don't REALLY understand it. Which is fine, as long as we ADMIT this. And don't PRETEND. And pretend, in doing so, that 'The Official Narrative' is airtight. So that we have no reason to seek, or consider offered, alternative narratives.

Typical of this 'Official Narrative', the language used and symbols used are often obfuscative and obtuse.

I'd ask those 'familiar' with them, and who claim thus to 'know' them, to explain to me, using WORDS, what these equations and formulas are actually expressing. And whether they really have concrete definitions from which they are working, or whether they are simply confident they can 'calculate' for various things, and construct and repair and modify generators and power circuits to 'get a particular job done', without NEEDING to actually 'comprehend' in any MEANINGFUL way, WHY things work out how they do!

Canards (What 'Jews' call any objective fact about 'Jews' that they don't want people thinking about, or even believing)

People like to claim we only 'tap' 10% or so of our brain's potential. In most cases this is a good thing. For look at how we use our 'intellectual superiority', as a species, in terms of the cruelties, miseries, slaveries, and industrial bureaucratic routine genocides we commit on other 'less intelligent' species. And what the lowest tone, but most clever, ruthless, and organised, humans do, to the highest tone, and most able, humans. Oh, conspiracies aren't possible? Who taught you THAT OLDEST OF CANARDS? And given that they are the MOST common thing since ungratefulness, envy, jealousy, selfishness, and malice, ask yourself which 'side' will end up finding the most recruits? How tempting is the offer of freedom to steal others people's property and enslave them, and to live as 'nobles' and 'priests' and 'kings', compared to the offer of 'fair pay for fair work, and 'do unto others as you want them to do unto you' and 'consume only what you have produced yourself' (or received in fair exchange / barter)? Can you see what direction 'organisation' and 'political science' is likely to lead us, over and over? Until we realise 'For as you do unto other sentient beings, so shall be done unto us'. And rightly so. Because, after all, don't we all crave 'justice'? And what is more just that karma? To have done unto you as you have done unto others?

Maintaining a constant current using the 'invisible hand' of magnetism

The 'invisible hand' of Adam Smith has been replaced with the 'hidden hand' of the Cult of Judah, which by all rights should be completely visible to everyone, only they don't see it.

Transformers can change values of voltage, current, and impedance but cannot change the frequency

This applies to 'philosopher-prophets' too. We cannot personally raise YOUR 'frequency'. Your ethical TONE. Your WILL. The TONE at which you RESONATE. This TONE determines what sort of realities you will tune-into, and manifest in your next lives. If you merely maintain, at death, the same tone to resonated at during this life, you will manifest the same sort of plane-et next life, as you did this life. Your will will be RENDERED as the plane-et you are new-born into, next life. And this will continue for as many next lives as it takes for you to reform your own will. THAT is about the limit and extend of 'free will' on this plane. You are free to will the abuse of power over other sentient beings, to exploit them as mere means to your own ends, and as mere objects and slaves. You are free to reject that relationship, and will that all sentient beings be treated as they would wish to be treated. To 'do unto others as you would have them do unto you'. To 'will for others as you would wish them to will for you'. To treat others as you would like them to treat you, and your loved ones.

Any Cult offering you the illusion of 'exceptionalism' from the universal law of Karma, that of 'as you will and do unto and for other sentient beings, so shall be done and willed unto and for you', is deceiving you and/or itself. There are no exceptions. There is no 'get out of the consequences of your personal willing and actions free' card. No god/s or angels can intercede on your behalf. No 'scape-goats' can be tricked into, or voluntarily choose to, 'die for your sins' and 'redeem' you from the consequences of YOUR willing and YOUR actions. That is delusion. That is fraud. That is wish-full thinking. No 'messiah' can 'cleanse your karmic sins' FOR you. You cannot buy 'dispensations' for your willing and actions. Your WILL is MAGNETISED to the 'equal and opposite' polarity as your true self. What you will FOR OTHER SENTIENT BEINGS will define your polarity. And what you will for others, you will attract towards yourself. You are in effect willing it FOR yourself. This is reflected in the Hindu idea of thinking of others AS your self. To repeat the mantra 'You am I'. When dealing with ANY sentient being. To put yourself in the position of the other you are interacting with, and ask yourself 'would I treat MYSELF' this way?

Kant put the question this way : Do I want my actions to become role models for the actions of other sentient beings towards ME? Do I want my action to be held up as the universal law and rule of action? Do I want to be treated this way? Commonly referred to as 'The Golden Rule'. To do unto others as you would have them do unto you. ALL others. Not just those you imagine might have the power TO do unto you as you do unto them a.k.a 'avenge' themselves' and 'turn the tables on you' (a.k.a Hodie Mihi Tibi Cras a.k.a You today, me tomorrow). Not just equals with the power to reciprocate. Or unequals with the potential to 'gang up' on you and, through collective action, 'equalise' the power differentials that exist between you and they as equals. Not just those for whom you 'have a soft spot' due to some sentimental emotion or feeling of empathy, such as 'cute' animals or particularly 'charming' child-slaves.

The concept of eternal punishment for your 'sins' is pretty spot on. Only no external judge is required. And no 'consideration' can thus be entered into. No corruption of a judge and/or jury is possible. There are no 'loopholes' that can be discovered and exercises to escape justice. No 'prison breaks' are possible. No guards can be bribed. No 'Presidential pardons' can be wangled. To 'Governor' can be appealed to for 'mercy'. No 'dispensations' can be bought. No 'doppleganger' can be brought in to take your place. No scapegoat can take your sins upon itself, to be sent out into the desert with them. There is no absolution. No redemption from them. No beings can intercede on your behalf and take them upon themselves. No fines can be paid in lieu of punishment. No corruption or blackmail or bribery can reduce your sentence.

Because from moment to moment, what you WILL for others, you are willing for YOURSELF. The world you experience is no more and no less than a reflection of, the RENDERING OF, the MANIFESTATION OF, your

ACCUMULATED willing.

L Ron Hubbard used various visualisations as part of his grand experiment in Neuro Linguistic Programming and attempt to escape all prejudices and assumptions, known as 'Scientology'. He consciously attempted to employ 'noble lies' in generative ways. To open up possibilities that 'knowing' blocked. What we 'know' totally limits our freedom of experiencing what is possible, but THOUGHT impossible. Watch 'The Master' to see him in action. L Ron Hubbard was a master of 'narratives'. He was a gifted writer. His narratives extend far beyond the typical Middle Eastern and build upon far Eastern ideas, and schools of thought, to extend them even further. His was a noble and grand experiment. One certainly worth pursuing. However he failed to take the necessary leaps of PERSONAL RESPONSIBILITY and while perhaps raising the ethical tone of his members a little, which is no mean feat and no small achievement, he missed the KEY point of Obadiah's warning. He missed the key FACT that the world is the EFFECT of our collective wills. Our accumulated personal willing.

But we can not BE CAUSE outside of the law of karma. We ARE cause. Continually and habitually. We produce the world we experience from moment to moment, via our collective willing. Only we imagine we can will one thing for ANOTHER and experience something different for OURSELVES. We delude ourselves, in true 'Ideology of Semitism' fashion, into claiming we are EXCEPTIONS to the rule of karma. That some 'god' has given us this 'special status' with 'special entitlements'. And it is this DELUSION that is at the heart of suffering and misery. And will remain the CAUSE OF ALL EVIL as long as we choose to ignore the reality, and instead put our collective support behind the 'Ideology of Semitism'. The ideology of exceptionalism. The ideology of entitlement. The ideology of special status. The DELUSION that we can somehow remain FREE FROM THE CONSEQUENCES OF OUR WILLING and acting. That we can escape the universal law of karma.

I will conclude this part of the lesson by asking the 'Jew' who looks forward to having 2700 Goy slaves, to calculate the odds that NEXT life, they will just happen to be born a 'Jew'. Are there 30 million 'Jews' officially? And how many would our 'Jew' accept as 'truly Jewish'? Are there almost 8 Billion 'Goys'? When you've completed your 'Jew World Order' and have total control, and the entire plane-et enslaved, how long will you get to enjoy it for? At most one life. And then? You shall return as a slave, to 'enjoy' the set-up you have contrived from the 'other side' of the table. For, let's say, 2699 lives. Before maybe new-incarnating again as 'one of the chosen people'.

But that is really just an aside. I would ask the average person to, before putting on their leather shoes, or 'tucking into' those eggs, that steak, that bacon, that chicken, if they would enjoy it so much, if they were sure that within five minutes they would be experiencing every ounce of pain and misery the animals suffered in order for them to have that 'momentary pleasure'. Would it be worth enduring the LIFE of that chicken, that pig, that cow, and all their suffering and misery, simply in order to 'enjoy' a few moments of satisfaction in consuming the products that suffering and misery were accepted as a necessary cost to produce? Would ANY product be considered 'necessary' and even 'desirable' if the end user, the consumer, had to bear EVERY cost involved in its production? Every negative externality? Would that new cosmetic, and the supposed 'benefits' it promised, justify the end user / consumer PERSONALLY suffering the agonies and miseries of the 'product testing' and 'safety testing' that went into its production?

Would the average person endure the life of a factory farmed pig, or cow, or chicken, simply to 'enjoy' the 'taste' of roasted chicken, fried pork and bacon, scrambled eggs, and beef? Would ANYONE define such suffering 'a necessary evil' because the products were 'necessary'?

Can anyone today claim to be ignorant of the FACT that NO animal products are necessary to maintain OPTIMAL health and well-being? That there are a plethora of alternatives to the 'traditional' foods and clothing and cosmetics that offer at least as much satisfaction and functionality, as those products which necessarily INFLICT INCREDIBLY CRUELTY AND HORRIFIC SUFFERING AND MISERY UPON OTHER SENTIENT BEINGS?

No. There are no 'excuses' for ignorance. Yet people will DENY the obvious facts and try to DENY their own responsibility for the state of this world. They will DENY that the world holds them ACCOUNTABLE from moment to moment. They will glorify and applaud and raise up to the highest positions of power, status, prestige, and authority, anyone who 'goes along with their DENIAL and self-deception'. Anyone who supports them in their DENIAL. Their DELUSION. Their SELF-DECEPTION. Like small children seeking to avoid responsibility for their actions. Small children wishing to continue to do evil, without being held accountable for their actions. Praying to their gods for 'protection' from the consequences of their OWN actions. Praying for 'immunity' from accountability. Praying for 'special entitlements' and 'exceptions' and 'intercessions' and 'dispensations' and 'for some messiah to die for THEIR sins and redeem THEM', some 'scapegoat' to burden with their OWN sins, and send off into the desert'. So FALSE PROPHETS will be raised up as the highest authorities, and praised as 'the best' and given 'the best of the best'. And these will become the alpha-apes all other apes will ape. Hoping to emulate. These will be the role models. The 'Great men of history'. The 'holy men'. These false prophets willing to engage in mutual masturbation with their followers.

While the true prophet will be persecuted and censored and crushed and destroyed and demonised. Why? Because they threaten the DELUSION that the masses cling to. Like selfish, tantrum throwing, children. Unwilling to admit 'I am wrong'. Unwilling to REFORM their own willing, and behaviour. Because it is EASIER to simply continue along the same path, with the same momentum. An INERTIA is at work here. A MORAL INERTIA. An recalcitrance. THE TRUE DENIAL. Of reality. Of the reality that there can never be any exception to the law of karma. As you will and do unto other sentient beings you will and do unto yourself. For what you will becomes manifest and RENDERED as the reality you live and die in. Over and over. Until you REFORM your will. And CEASE willing the same things. Only then can you hope to be new-born, next lives, into worlds defined by justice, harmony, beauty, and lives WORTH living for all sentient beings inhabiting them.

Oh, and Omelas? That prime example of 'scape-goating' and the 'involuntary redeemer' / 'christ' / 'messiah'? In reality, it could never exist. It is a fictional idea. Only the individual exists. Only an individual sentient being can experience pleasure, pain, relief, desire/love, and fear/hate. There is no 'common good' or 'greater good'. There is no 'whole'. There are only individuals. And whether it is one or a billion individuals, their suffering does not 'sum' in any 'greater evil'. Just like no individual goods can 'sum' into one 'greater good'. There are only individuals. And only individual suffering. And for one person to be suffering is the same as for all to be suffering. As only individuals can suffer. They do not SHARE their suffering among themselves. They can not SHARE their pleasure among a group. Each feels what they feel. Others may empathise with their suffering and pleasure, or envy it, or take pleasure in it, but it is still each of them that feels whatever they feel for themselves. To claim that we can sacrifice one or more people, for some 'greater good' is a self DECEPTION. A delusion. You will find it is always some OTHERS that the people promoting this concept are SACRIFICING and NOT THEMSELVES. If they were willing to sacrifice THEMSELVES for this 'greater good', I might take them more seriously. But no, they are always calling for OTHERS to suffer, for this greater good in which THEY, as the 'instigators', hope to share. Usually take a much LARGER share in than anyone else. Often almost ALL of it. The 'benefits' that 'OTHERS' are being sacrificed for.

If someone wanted to sacrifice themselves for others, it would be to no avail. What each needs to sacrifice is their sense of exceptional entitlement. They need to sacrifice their DENIAL. They need to sacrifice their sense of special rights and privileges. They need to sacrifice the very idea that ANY being can step outside of the law of karma. To escape accountability for their own willing and actions, and the actions they will others to make as their proxies. The Dali Lama might imagine he can escape the karma of the killing of the chicken, because a loyal follower offers to kill the bird himself, and take that karma upon themselves. But no-one can take another beings' karma upon themselves. No 'christ' or 'messiah' can die for another's sins.

The SACRIFICE being asked is to give up the childish, selfish, delusion, and DENIAL that any individual can escape the consequences of their own willing and actions.

No words put in any order can magically convince anyone to REFORM their PERSONAL WILL. I only hope to clarify things, in a world where most people will tell you what you WANT to hear, in order to be AGREEABLE to you, and earn your favour, your patronage, your approval and acceptance, your love, and your support. Often with zero interest in your wellbeing. Often as part of a well thought-out plan to deceive you, trick you, steal from you, abuse your trust, and ultimately enslave you.

You will have to learn the only way any being has ever learned anything. From experience. From experiencing the consequences of your own willing. For better or worse. Until you associate low tone willing with suffering, misery, and pain, and reject it as undesirable. This is what plane-ets like this one are all about. They are the manifestation of a particular low tone form of willing. And the suffering and horror that defines this plane-et is merely the manifestation of the collective wills of its inhabitants. It is literally, to paraphrase Schopenhauer, the 'representation' of our collective wills.

And if we were all to have a plane-et to ourselves, it would end up no better than this one. It would always REFLECT and REPRESENT our personal will. We would re-produce something similar to this world. There is no escaping this reality.

Oh, but if in fact there IS no escaping our current will, then I would concur with Schopenhauer and Buddha in rejecting life per se. But surely it is worth TRYING to reform our wills. To test my theory. And then, if the world proves to be simply evil by nature, and this turns out to be, 'the best of all possible worlds', then I will be the first to admit it, and to retire from life per se. To join Buddha and Schopenhauer in rejecting life per se. And stating 'nothing IS better than this'.

But I don't see that ANY community has EVER really attempted what I am attempting. And the logic of my position is sound. I welcome any serious dialog regarding it.

And at the very miminum, my 'Protocols' would eliminate MOST of the suffering that we humans produce for OURSELVES through the way we seek to treat other humans as mere means to our own ends. It must be understood that VEGAN culture includes humans as well as all other sentient beings. And the vegan that will not accept a benefit at the cost of suffering to a 'mere chicken, or pig, or cow, or cat', certainly can be trusted NOT to accept, let alone ACTIVELY SEEK, to benefit at the cost of suffering to another human being.

The ONLY person I could ever TRUST is a VEGAN who is VEGAN ON PRINCIPLE. Not just Vegan for their own personal, private, health, reasons. But who has heeded Obadiah's warning that 'For as you do unto any sentient being, so shall be done unto YOU'.

I would personally love to end my own, yours, and the suffering of EVERY sentient being on this plane-et. But if that suffering is really the TEACHER then I would be doing you a disservice. I would be depriving you of the most valuable lessons you could learn.

Alleviating some temporary suffering you are enduring might win you as a friend, but once 'relieved' you would probably return to your 'old ways' and have learned nothing. The real benefit I have to offer, you would reject.

Seeking to protect you from the consequences of your own willing is on some level like protecting a child that is too young to reason yet. But at some point you have to let the child learn from its own mistakes. By making them. And suffering the consequences. And THEN perhaps they will be OPEN to listening to you. And to REFLECTING on their willing and the behaviour that willing resulted in.

So I must leave you to the Cult of Judah as your 'teacher'. They are teaching you the consequences of abandoning PERSONAL responsibility to OTHERS, and seeking 'absolution' for your own sins, via proxies. The cost of DENYING PERSONAL RESPONSIBILITY and imagining you can 'pass the buck' in terms of ACCOUNTABILITY onto 'others'. The 'authorities', for example. Your 'political leaders'. Just look where they have led you in the past, and are leading you now! Enjoy. Maybe the suffering awaiting you will be your true saviour. The greatest blessing. Maybe it will be horrific enough to finally pierce your armour-plating of DENIAL. And like the small child, finally having suffered the consequences of its own willing, be ready to LISTEN. Be ready to ACCEPT PERSONAL RESPONSIBILITY. And to REFORM. To reform your OWN WILL.

Deliberate phobia induction

People are repelled by what they are conditioned / tricked into fearing will bring pain, and even death. While people are attracted to what they are conditioned / tricked into thinking will bring them security, relief, and pleasure. And so the human 'rat' is 'harnessed' within an invisible 'treadmill' where it continually races to catch up with the promising carrot that is always made to APPEAR 'just within reach'. And where to further motivate it, 'shadows on the wall' are projected that fill it with terror. Fear of failure. Always something new to fear 'projected' onto the wall behind it. So that even after it despairs of ever 'reaching that carrot', it remains 'in motion', in fear of whatever 'bogey man' its Cult masters have prepared for it. Anything from 'foreign armies' to 'foreign terrorists' to 'drug dealers' to 'domestic terrorists' to 'man-made global climate crisis' to 'Aids' to 'Covid-19', to that oldest of all CANARDS, 'The Devil'. Even those who no longer count on heaven, still live in fear of an imaginary 'Hell'. Of 'offending' some 'god', and the 'Effendi' (masters) who claim to represent that 'god' on earth.

Conversion

While it seems any 'government authority' can, taking the lead from totally private organisations with absolutely no mandate from any of the people whose lives they are DEVASTATING, can 'convert' the vast majority of 'shleeple' into 'true believers' simply by DECLARING something, then immediately VIOLATING their nation's constitutions, and EVERY other 'traditional' and 'established' legal and 'human' right of every 'citizen' (tax plantation slave), motors require the use of 'transistors' which switch on and off at the appropriate time, to ensure pulses of repulsive negative electromagnetic fields are appearing and disappearing in-synch with the rotation of the motor.

It's like having several people standing equi-distance apart around the circumference of a playground 'roundabout', each waiting for the 'marker' to appear before them, to grab the roundabout and give it a push.

While on the subject, that old saying 'what you lose on the swings, you gain on the roundabouts' needs re-writing. For today whatever rights or personal sovereignty or financial independence you manage to KEEP during your ride on the swings, will be stolen from you on the roundabouts. Until everyone is dependent, as direct employees, or recipients of government payments, or indirectly dependent on the government for their economic wellbeing by way of contracting and sub-contracting. So that any 'deviation' or 'divergence' from 'the official script' and 'The Official Narrative' can be immediately punished by 'removal from the teat of government'. Few people, even during Soviet times, were willing to risk even losing their government job or contract, by saying or doing anything contrary to 'The Official Narrative'. Everyone 'kept to the script', and pretended everything was fine, for over 2 generations, no matter how bad things got. If 'The Script' had not called for the expansion of Soviet culture WEST, nothing would have changed in the Soviet Union. It did not 'fall apart under the weight of its own internal contradictions', and people would have continued to live in poverty and austerity forever, if 'the script' had not called for a phony 'breakdown' after the phony 'cold war', to allow The CULT to expand its soviet based operations WEST. Occupying The E.U, Britain, and America. Any skeptics only need look at the IMMEDIACY of the TOTAL LOCKSTEP demonstrated between most Western nations, and Russia, during this last phase of occupation, the 'Co2Vid Cult Occupation'.

By turning transistors on or off in a specific (commutator-type) sequence, the routing of current through the stator windings can be timed and sequenced and choreographed to result in three AC signals 1208 out of phase with each other.

Let's go back, way back, before we noticed ANY patterns at all

As infants, we see vague things waving before our eyes, but have no idea what they are, or why they move. Over time we recognise 'hey, that is MY hand'. 'And, (and this is super cool) I am moving it'. 'Me'. Also that noise I hear when I want something. THAT is me also. I am, like, a god. My will be done. I want to move my arm, it moves. I want something, I scream, mum comes running to see WHAT I need. Nice gig. Love the super powers. Now let's see what else I can use my superpowers, my god-like omnipotence for. Who is that extremely annoying being that keeps distracting mummies attentions away from ME, where they belong? He just HAS to go. Let's just disappear him, so we can have mummy all to ourselves! And so THE ORIGINAL SIN.

O.K, slight digression. But the point is that we LEARN to form mental ASSOCIATIONS between things, and our minds ACTIVELY SEEK TO CONSTRUCT PATTERNS out of any phenomena we observe, and any impressions our mind constructs from the disturbances in the Aether we call 'Electromagnetism' and which I refer to as discrete electromagnetic PULSES. Like the discrete 'oscillations' a speaker cone makes. The back and forth movements. That compress air. And produce PULSES of air pressure differentials.

I will talk about the main protagonist in 'The Official Narrative', electrons, too. But for me, the HERO and DRIVER of the entire NARRATIVE we call TROONATNOOR is the electromagnetic PULSE.

Reflexively, components in a process or system that are defined by their function, or purpose, or the OUTCOME they produce, 'as a team', don't exist independently. Like the terms 'slave and master' .

A typical electrical generator is formed by moving two main functional parts, moving in relation to each other. Magnets that spin around between two iron cores with copper wire coiled around them. In copper wire, the two 'parts' are copper atoms, with their electromagnetic fields, and electrons, with their positive charge. They have a reflexive relationship. Copper atoms usually have one 'valence' electron in the atom's outer shell that is not paired to a proton in the atom's nucleus. These 'valence' electrons in the outer shells of copper atoms are constantly being exchanged between copper atoms. And as these positively charged electrons move between atoms, they disturb the atoms' electromagnetic fields, generating electric currents.

We learn to discern patterns in 'pulses' i.e recognise that some repeat REGULARLY and consistently, and that if we 'hear a growl' we then 'expect a tiger' i.e if something repeats a few times, our minds 'latch onto it' and assume it will keep repeating, that it has identified a PATTERN in the beats (of peak amplitude) and that if it discerns even the 'typical' (as patterned) 'Attack curve' associated with a pulse that repeats 100 times a second, it will 'decode' it immediately AS a 100Hz frequency, based on this small 'sample' of the initial 'ADSR curve' of the signals amplitude over time.

Our minds are PROGRAMMED to encode 'pleasure' and 'satisfaction' and 'comfort' and 'security' i.e to FEEL these things, any time it can managed to CONSTRUCT any sort of pattern out of the random chaos around it. It likes to think it has merely IDENTIFIED patterns. But in reality it constructs them. It LOVES to construct them. IT spends most of its time ACTIVELY looking for, and building, PATTERNS from the flimsiest of 'evidence'. Because THAT is its MODUS OPERANDI. THAT is what 'intelligence' IS. That is the DEFINITION OF INTELLIGENCE. The capacity to CONSTRUCT (Identify is you insist) patterns that REPEAT in nature. Or that repeat in number sequences. Or shape sequences. Or what it LOVES to think of as 'cause and effect' sequences. THAT is the ultimate HIT for a mind. To feel it has identified a CAUSE AND EFFECT pattern. Of course it is more precisely an 'interaction and outcome pattern'. But it gets a real THRILL and RUSH and KICK and BOOST to think of it as a 'cause and effect' pattern. Because like PASTEUR, that reduces all the 'responsible interactANTS' down to just ONE 'cause'. OOPS, we stumbled on GOD. And the ATTRACTION of the very IDEA OF GOD. One CAUSE. Of which everything ELSE is the EFFECT. THAT IS POWER

People like PASTEUR are responsible for the 'MICROBE THEORY' and its hegemonic dominance and total censorship of 'TERRAIN THEORY'. In the first ONE microbe is responsible for everything nasty we associate with what we then CALL a 'viral infection'. In the other, a whole HOST of variables INTERACT with each other, to COLLECTIVELY produce the outcomes which we then call a 'perfect storm of contra-indicated elements' that 'makes us sick'. So that in the first, 'Microbe narrative', all you need do is 'neutralise the impact of that one microbe'. It becomes the ONE 'devil'. Yes we stumbled on him now too. The ATTRACTION to ATTRIBUTE AND ASRIBE SINGLE CAUSES TO ALL GOOD AND ALL EVIL. To simplify things. Imagine what a RUSH the mind gets. 'I have just gained TOTAL CONTROL by having identified the CAUSE OF EVERYTHING I want to have, or avoid. I am BECOME CAUSE, almost. I am just one step away. From destroying ALL evil (in our example the suffering and death associated with our identified 'cause', the 'microbe'. Or from being able to PRODUCE all GOOD things. By being able to 'appeal to the GOD for his intercession on my behalf', or from CONTROLLING THE CAUSAL AGENTS OF ALL GOOD, which we call 'Science' and 'Technology'.

Now what a comforting thought. To have only ONE cause to deal with. To identify. To control. To manage. To destroy. To appeal to. To defend against. To appease and gain the goodwill of.

It's like having only ONE target to hit. One goal to attain. One objective to achieve. One mountain to climb. One challenge to overcome. Before we are guaranteed happiness. Pleasure. Security. The object of our desires. Consider how MOTIVATING THAT IS. 'Just over the NEXT hill'. 'Just around the NEXT corner'. All we need do is defeat this ONE enemy. Win this ONE war. Then there will be 'peace on earth'. Remove the ONE problem. The 'patriarchy'. 'The capitalist system'. 'A particular political leader'. 'A particular MICROBE'.

And so while a whole HOST of interacting agents and agencies like nutrition, sanitation, hygiene, living conditions, freshness and availability of water, heat and cold stress, emotional stress, mental health, mental well-being, social interaction, social isolation, weather, climate, genetics, the freshness or polluted state of the air we breathe, the food we eat, and the water or 'poisons such as alcohol' we drink, the amount of physical stress we put our bodies under, and mental stress we suffer from, and our access to activities and things that make us 'happy' and 'joyful' and 'feel positive' and 'hopeful' rather than despairing, lonely, and depressed, or just sad, and even the electromagnetic radiation we are immersed in, are all INTERACTING to produce the syndrome or collection of symptoms we have decided to organise, and rationalize, and collect and group (often quite arbitrarily) together as supposedly belonging to the ONE cause, or at least the ONE 'disease' or 'illness' or 'syndrome' and then DIAGNOSE this 'disease' or 'illness' or, yes as it now stands 'Virus' (The ANTAGONIST IN THE OFFICIAL VIRUS FICTION), [whew, what a GERMANIC sentence I've constructed as my BRIDGE, as Nietzsche would call it], WE PREFER TO PRETEND EVERYTHING OBSERVED AND EXPERIENCED IS REALLY THE EFFECT OF ONE SINGLE CAUSE. The devil. The Djinn. Witchcraft. A curse. Fate. Karma. Anything will do. JUST KEEP IT SIMPLE. So, yeh, why not, lets ASCRIBE and ATTRIBUTE all the symptoms diagnosed (these days not even diagnosed at all, just DECLARED by sticking something up someone's nose and calling 'Eureka', we've got a new case here'), TO A SINGLE TYPE OF MICROBE WE SHALL FROM HENCEFORTH CALL A 'VIRUS'. To SUGGEST 'VIRILITY' of course. A VIRULENT strain of microbe. A new predicate for SATAN. For 'The Devil'. The new 'demonic possession'. And we've got just the 'holy water' to 'purge' and 'protect' people FROM this new DEMON OF OUR OWN INVENTION. We shall call it a 'VACCINE'. And let the new PROTECTION RACKET begin. Let it THRIVE. Let it PROSPER. The old business in 'holy relics' and 'holy water' and that old ADVERSARY and SINGLE CAUSE OF EVERYTHING BAD has lost his FEAR value. So we need a NEW BOGEY MAN. A new source of TERROR. To CONTINUE our 'REIGN BY TERROR'. Our PROTECTION RACKET. That age old racket called 'RELIGION'.

O.K, so back to our mind. It likes nothing better than to construct a good PATTERN. From whatever materials it has available. Even the most 'loose' of 'associations' and 'connections'. Which accounts for PLACEBO effects and NOCEBO effects. (I was seriously surprised that more people didn't come down with 'symptoms' corresponding to those SUGGESTED over and over in the full spectrum propaganda!).

And often it 'makes a boo boo'. And constructs patterns that are NOT there, from the impressions it has received, or noticed / observed / sensed / become aware of / been made aware of. It is not just tricked by some natural phenomena. It is often DELIBERATELY DECEIVED BY OTHER HUMANS into falsely 'seeing' patterns that are NOT there.

Like the Canadian government broadcasting WOLF calls, while spreading lies that 'we are having a real problem with wild wolves attacking people lately', and issuing a 'WOLF ALERT'. A.K.A 'CRYING WOLF'. Literally. Or like the CDC and UN 'declaring' a 'Virus Pandemic'. Or a bunch of propagandists declaring 'Since 8a.m this morning, Britain has found itself in a state of war with Germany'. Or declaring '6 million 'Jews' were gassed and cremated under orders from Adolf Hitler, during WWII'. That sort of thing.

This can prove advantageous to the organism, this 'jumping to conclusions too quickly'. You hear a 'rustle' in the grass, and run for it, assuming 'rustling equals presence of Tigers'. But what if someone WANTS you to run, and so 'makes a rustling noise in the grass' , to get what THEY wanted? You running SCARED. TERRIFIED out of your wits. Unable to reason clearly. Pure 'fight or flight'. What motives could someone have for this? Well maybe you were about to pick a juicy mango THEY wanted for themselves. Or they were there to dig up some treasure they knew was buried there, and didn't want others snooping around, seeing what they were doing, and maybe even wanting some of the loot. Or maybe they had interests in a 'tiger repellant' business, and thought they'd boost demand for their products, by making it SEEM like 'Tigers are becoming an ever greater THREAT' and 'someone really has to DO something about it'. So that when you offer your 'Tiger Protection Security Services' you will find lots of eager customers willing to sacrifice their money, pay 'protection money' a.k.a 'taxes' and submit even to proscriptions and prescriptions YOU TELL THEM are NECESSARY TO PROTECT THEM from the threat YOU constructed / inflated / manufactured / false-flagged/ invented / made SEEM real (when it either didn't exist at all, or did, but wasn't REALLY much of a threat at all). In fact if you want them to do ANYTHING AT ALL, perform some action, NOT do something, then all you need to do is CLAIM THAT NOT DOING THAT, OR DOING THAT, IS THE ONLY WAY WE CAN PROTECT YOU. So they will DO or NOT DO anything you want to do, or not do. To do things that YOU WILL PROFIT FROM. That YOU will BENEFIT from them doing, or not doing. They will buy YOUR products and services. They will stop buying OTHER products and services. YOU will have written yourself a 'blank check' for TOTAL CONTROL. All you need do is FRAME every desire, wish, and preference YOU have, in terms of 'HOW MUCH EXTRA PROTECTION IT WILL OFFER THEM FROM THE THREAT'. There need be NO connection AT ALL between what you WANT them to do, and any REAL threat or any REAL possible benefit / protection for THEM. You just DECLARE IT IS SO. And because now you've CONDITIONED THEM to respond without reflection, to ANY demand you make which you have FRAMED in terms of 'NATIONAL SECURITY' and 'THE GREATER GOOD' and as a 'RESPONSE TO THE UNPRECENDENTED THREAT WE FACE FROM (INSERT NAME OF YOUR PATENTED BRAND OF INVISIBIBLE PINK ELEPHANT HERE)', will be readily SUBMITTED TO and ACCEPTED as 'for our own good'. For our own protection. By MOST specimens of 'Homo Fideo' (Believing Man). In fact many will be COMFORTED at having been relieved of any personal responsibility for making decisions about anything at all. They love to have all their attention focused on ONE problem. It is a WELCOME distraction from all their OTHER, REAL, problems. And from their BOREDOM. Think of the popularity of HORROR movies and novels. Even 'fireside stories'. People LOVE to be scared out of their wits. Terrified. And they NEED someone or something to BLAME for 'everything'. And to HATE. It's a nice change from SELF-loathing. A great distraction from self-hate. A 'Virus pandemic' is the ultimate in 'fear porn' for those bored out of their wits. Numb. They've eaten all their stomachs are capable of accepting. Drank all their bladders can deal with. Smoked. Taken whatever drug of choice they use. Watched the latest 'virtual reality t.v episode'. Watched the fear-porn 'news' on 'tell-lie-vision'. Seen the latest Hollywood release. They have all their needs met. They have no grand ambitions other than 'get paid and get laid and eat and drink my full'. And now they are sitting numb and bored out of their massively over-inflated, 'gourds' that are as 'empty' as their stomachs (and colons) are full. And their minds are as 'blocked' and 'closed for business' as their colons. Intellectually constipated. They are open to ONLY 'The official narrative' they get blasted at them from every platform of the full spectrum propaganda machine. So that it 'FEELS' so FAMILIAR and 'all that they KNOW'. So that 'KNOW' it . And it is the ONLY 'reality' they 'know' at all.

Yes, so cause and effect. That's a relationship we construct in our minds. See all my TROONATNOOR writings on Hume and 'The ideology of cause and effect'. It was the reason I started writing philosophy at all. And writing at all. The start of my entire TROONATNOOR enterprise. So I am returning to my pure roots here.

So it was chicken and egg. Then cause and effect. In the context of 'does the electron moving through space produce the electromagnetic pulses' or 'do the electromagnetic pulses push and pull the electrons thus resulting in THEIR movement'. Do the pulses move the electrons? Do the electrons produce the pulses?

In the beginning? Was there one? Could there be one? According to 'The Official Narrative' there was one. And at this time there was also the disturbance. The word. Everything was calm, then some fool called out 'HEY'. The calm was forever shattered. The vocal fold vibrated. The air was compressed. A sphere of air pressure pulse expanded outwards in all directions . DISTURBING the peace, calm, balance, and silence, that had ruled up to that point. And the rest is 'The Official History'. Because it produced a disturbance, like the Butterfly in 'The Butterfly Effect' narrative, that ultimately produces a cyclone across the other side of the plane-et.

When we get to the basic design of all electricity generators, we shall see that it doesn't matter if Ophelia moves towards the water, or the water moves towards Ophelia. She drowns. Let the Ecclesiastical courts decide her fate in terms of their 'Official Narrative'. What happens in their story won't matter to Ophelia. She lives and dies in REALITY. And can't go to a hell that doesn't exist. But while she lives, she can live in TERROR OF that hell. And thus endure fates WORSE than death, out of fear that, should she deprive her sadistic god of his pleasure in torturing her, or her slave masters of their 'human capital', pleasure in appropriating the products of her labor, and even taking pleasure in raping her, and so on, by 'killing herself' (going to the water), she would be DOOMED TO AN ETERNITY IN HELL.

Yes, whether electrons are moving, or are pushed, electromagnetic pulses are set up. Electromagnetic fields are produced and disturbed. Producing electromagnetic forces. Electromotive forces. Pulses of attraction and repulsion. So that electrons keep moving. And electromagnetic fields keep getting disturbed. So that electrons keep getting pushed and pulled. A literal 'perpetual motion machine'. One it is hard to provide a model in which it was once 'still', and was then somehow, 'set in motion. No, what is required of us is pure ZEN. BEING. PROCESS. Interaction and outcomes. Continual. Never having started, and never stopping. ZEN time stacked vertically. Plotted as a infinite spiral that seems to grow and shrink only depending on how you look at it. Flux. Pulsing. CHANGE. PROCESS. BE-ING. The predicate and the subject ONE. It IS being. It is not BEING something. It IS being. Oops. Too deep? Did I promise 'just the tip'? No. That is NOT the typical TROONATNOOR way of doing things.

But back to 'the tip'. (add basic electrical generator explanation here)…

But what got me out of bed, and writing, even before making coffee or doing any stretching or anything at all, was the insight that recurred to me while I was trying to sleep.

That IMPRESSIONS are constructed by the mind. But it takes time to 'train' it and 'condition' it to 'trigger' patterns existing in the mind [sort of like Plato's 'forms' by which he seems to confuse predicates (adjectives) with subjects (nouns)] so that all the 'auditory representation system' or 'auditory brain centers' need 'identify' is that 'hey, hasn't that 'beat' repeated a few times already? Yes, hey guys, here's a great candidate for 'periodicity'. Yes. Excited to have identified a new pattern (It was me, I was first to notice it, YES, winner, I'm the BEST brain cell, all bow down before me, let all other brain cells despair at ever matching my glory!) they compare it to the 'known' patterns, and YES, we have a match. 'It's a beat repeating regularly 100 times a second'. And by analyzing just the very start of the ADSR curve produced, we can 'leap to the conclusion' that it's a SINE WAVE. YES, BINGO, we've found ourselves a 100Hz sound pressure pulse. You guys know what to do with THAT don't you! Sure boss, we render it as a 100Hz PITCH. A tasty Bass Guitar NOTE.

There is no such thing as A.I. No ARTIFICIAL intelligence. JUST INTELLIGENCE. Algorithms that ACTIVELY SEEK TO FIND PATTERNS in ANYTHING. And then store those 'patterns' as references. So that in future, when what COULD be 'the start of ' any of the stored 'patterns', it is first 'recognised' as a potential candidate for a match, and then as it progresses and DEVELOPS, some of the candidates are found to no longer match, and fall out of the running. Until fewer and fewer possible matches remain, for the still developing pattern. Until it is completed, and a match is found.

All 'logic' and 'intelligence' is, is the recognition of patterns. And how patterns interact with each other. To predict 'which shadow will appear on the wall next', in the 'cave of the mind's eye'.

What we call 'cause and effect' is really the anticipation that one thing that USUALLY follows a certain interaction between two or more things, will follow, after having observed that 'patterned' interaction that memory tells us 'usually precedes the appearance of this other thing. Our minds take 'precedence' and 'antecedence' as implying effect and cause. When really two or more things exist, interact, and produce an outcome. With NEITHER having the power WITHIN ITSELF to produce, to 'create' (cringe) the outcome that results when the two other things INTER-ACTED.

That is to say there can BE no 'one cause'. There is only EVER, interactions and outcomes. NEVER 'cause and effect'. There are outcomes. Nothing is 'created'. Something that was not there before, is now there. Things have been RECOMBINED and REFORMED into new patterns. New shapes. New forms. At a MACRO scale. AT the scale at which our minds construct IMPRESSIONS from. And these forms may facilitate different functions that WE can imagine for them. Or which they can naturally have for us. But nothing can be created. Everything is LATENT in everything. Quantity changes quality. But all qualities are latent and none are ever 'created'. They are allowed to manifest. In particular interactions. They are EXPRESSED in different interactions. Like thoughts you have that you keep to yourself, until you feel comfortable sharing them. Which you never WILL. Because the whole point of 'CULT dictatorship' is collective ignorance built on SELF CENSORSHIP. Unless of course what passes for 'thoughts' in your head is no more than the regurgitation of 'The Official Narrative' a.k.a 'propaganda'.

So, does the movement of atoms generate 'electricity'? Or do electromagnetic field's generate electricity? Well you've probably guess that it is the INTERACTION of these two phenomena that produces 'electricity'. As atoms move THROUGH electromagnetic fields of the atoms, electricity IS generated. Note the precision in language was NOT accidental. Electricity is generated by the interaction. It is not correct to say that either the moving electron nor the electromagnetic field, generate the electricity. It is generated by their interaction.

Oh, but here's the thing that kept me up all night. I'd worked out that the mind renders the RATE at which the eardrum is disturbed as pitch. And that 'wave forms' exist only on paper, or screens, when you plot amplitude over time. Explaining why a speaker cone doesn't need to travel meters to reproduce BASS notes or kick drum beats. Or why you can stick a tiny thing in your ear that clearly has an 'excursion' measured in micrometers, but can reproduce what people call 'sound waves' with 'wave LENGTHS of meters'.

So I start looking for the correspondence between electricity and sound pressure waves. Amperes and Voltage. Velocity and time. Compression and Expansion. What corresponds with what? And in what way?

The guitar wire from the pickup to the guitar output jack is clearly NOT meters long. So there would be no room for a 200Hz 'wave form' to develop.

But of course I was thinking in terms of 'air pressure pulses' which are limited to 'The speed of sound'. Whereas electrical pulses travel at 'The Speed of Light'. Which is 186,282 miles per second. Just as we say 'the speed of sound is 340 meters per second. (forgive me if sometimes I write 320, or make other such math errors, I've just discovered some real 'doozies' in my audio engineering reference guide…I am NOT the guy to go to if mathematical reliability is your priority and I would ALWAYS want to have any math I did 'fact checked!'). So the 'wave length' of what we call a 'sound wave' is, because its medium is, by definition, the air we move about in, and thus the transmission medium for 'sound waves' is 340/200m, which is 1.7 METERS. But that's the distance between peak compression zones (peak amplitudes) of the air pressure pulse, the 'sound wave', when travelling through AIR.

What is its 'wavelength' when travelling through copper wire? At the speed of light, a pulse that repeats 200 times per second has a 'wavelenght' of….. my brain don't do math good… it's one reason Cults today LOVE to obfuscate WITH math…like that most wanted criminal Neil Fergusson, using math as the ultimate weapon of deception in the war his masters are waging against humanity. Called 'modelling'.

But to keep things down to the lowest level of abstraction, and to use 'words', lets see how far I can get with logic. Think of the distance it takes for a 'waveform' to 'develop'. From peak to peak. If it can travel X m/s, it must reproduce a complete waveform, from peak to peak, corresponding to one 'oscillation' or 'complete cycle' per second, in that distance X. And for it to do this twice, it must complete one cycle in HALF the distance.

At the speed of sound, 340m/s, it is the speed of sound that is a fixed variable. Frequency and distance are the only variables. So if one goes up, the other must go down. There is an 'inverse relationship' between the two.

What happens when that fixed speed is increased exponentially? And the frequency is held constant?

So 536,492,160 replaces 340. But 200 remains the frequency. What happens to the figure for wave length?

I'm hoping it means it becomes a tiny figure, relative to our 1.7m. But my brain is frozen…best to end this bit here and come back to it…

186,282 x1.6 x1000 /200 m = 1490256 but that's AN HOUR. And 'sound waves' are measured in 'cycles per SECOND'. So there are 60 x60 seconds in an hour. That's 360. So 536,492,160m is my answer? So a pulse of electrical energy travels way faster than a pulse of air pressure, and so in the same time it takes one cycle, one Hz of air pressure pulse complete, over 340m, the electrical pulse would have travelled an amazing distance. So while the 1.7M wavelength of an air pressure pulse of 200Hz periodicity demonstrates that the energy pulses in the very low bandwidths have not just large distances between pressure peaks, but VAST distances between pressure peaks, when converted to electrical signals. What we call 'audio signals'.

I'm still trying to process this. Because clearly most frequencies our minds render as 'pitches' from the lowest to the highest frequencies we say we 'can hear', have 'wave-lengths' that could not possibly fit inside any guitar circuit, if there is a correspondence between the frequency of electrical impulses/pulses and the frequency of air pressure pulses, or the oscillations of a guitar string through the magnetic field of the pickup.

Which produces further questions in my mind. Clearly the string producing the 200 Hz bass frequencies do NOT move 1.7 meters. So my notion of 'correspondence' doesn't work. Unless there is a 'factoring' at work. A multiplication of correspondences, a Frequency 'multiplier' similar to the way amplitudes are amplified in transistors/tubes/optical amps.

So let's recap. Strings don't move 1.7m. Neither do speaker cones in speakers or headphones. What 'wave-length' refers to is the distance it takes the same frequency, IF AND WHEN IT IS reproduced as an air pressure pulse, to complete one complete cycle from peak amplitude to peak amplitude. Where the peak amplitude is expressed and corresponds to as pressure maxima. So we are considering how much distance an air pressure pulse covers between pressure maximas developing in the atmosphere, as the PRODUCT of those air pressure pulses.

It is KEY to note that in all the graphs plotting, in real time, amplitude or voltage, over time, it is always

TIME that is measured by the horizontal axis. Not distance. You can calculate the distance between two voltage peaks or amplitude peaks, based on the speed of transmission of the medium of transmission, namely the speed of sound for 'air pressure pulses' and the speed of light for 'electricity'. But the distance between peaks depends on the MEDIUM we are dealing with. The medium that the pulse is travelling through. And VIA. And NOT on the frequency or amplitude of the electrical signal which we call an 'audio' signal WHEN it forms part of an audio circuit in a device designed to record, process, or reproduce, audio.

So a little breakthrough for me. Wave-length refers to the distance between peak voltage / pressure maxima IN A PARTICULAR MEDIUM. It is not a predicate of the subject itself. It is a variable dependent on the medium of transmission.

Which leaves me pondering if electromagnetic energy travelling through the atmosphere travels at the speed of light as it does in a conductor like copper. And thus with a different wavelength. ???? enough for now :D

Then consider the difficulty of absorbing electromagnetic energy pulses. Their wavelengths are so long that it is easy to see how they 'bend around' objects, or like huge soap bubbles, any object in their path simply 'passes through them' as they pass by and around the object. Because they ARE 3-D spherical pulses. NOT 2-D snakey lines.

Which I think explains the whole 'particle-wave' supposed paradox or duality. Because when you push a sphere of something towards a tiny gap in a wall, the smallest part of the spheres circumference that is able to pass through the gap, will. And I imagine would form a tiny 'sphere' of energy. What we might define as a 'particle'. For want of a better description OF a particle. The smallest spherical energy pulse. The 1. Our 'primerty'. Like the smallest droplets a large drop of water can be divided into, while still remaining a 'water droplet'. ???

I am not even sure that 'wavelength' is even helpful in working out sound isolation thicknesses for materials. Because clearly we don't build studios with walls 1.7 meters thick.

So I'm starting to think the whole 'wave-length' and even WAVE concept is NOT at all helpful. It may help us visualise waveforms. And work out the distance between air pressure maximas. But otherwise?
Clearly it can't have anything to do with speaker excursion, or electrical circuits, or even REALLY the thickness of sound isolation / absorption materials.
Because a sphere of sound pressure will be absorbed by ANYTHING I feel has the same RESONANT FREQUENCY independent of its thickness. Perhaps there is a positive correlation between thickness and resonant frequency, but otherwise??? Electromagnetic impulses would clearly just 'pass around either side and top of' any building, and continue on their way. Rather than be reflected. But if the object has the same 'resonant frequency' ???

In any case, we are dealing with pulses of energy that are associated with the movement of electrons. But electrons don't 'pour out the guitar output jack' and flow on forever, like water out of your garden hose. And they can't pass through the dielectric insulating layer of a capacitor. And yet people keep speaking as if they do. And it nerves. Either their narrative is faulty, and they can't explain anything without resorting to such 'bandaid' measures as 'O.K, electrons don't move between X and Y, but its as if they do, but they don't, but our narrative doesn't make any sense unless you just act as if they do, while understanding they don't'. Which makes a hell of a lot of NON-sense to me. And it just won't do. Either 'The Official Narrative' can explain simple phenomena we USE it to deliberately reproduce. Or it can't. In which case it requires REVISING.

Maybe I'm missing the point entirely. And other students don't end up down the same rabbit holes as I do. Because they 'get' the point, first time. It is more intuitive to them?

AC voltage, produced by an electricity generator such as a guitar pickup, the same 'sine wave form' when plotted as voltage over time, as a sound pressure wave produces when we plot its amplitude over time.

And in my DAW when I boost the amplitude, the sine wave becomes taller. When I increase the frequency, more complete cycles of the sine wave occur in the same 'seconds' distances on the X axis.

DO the sine waves in electrical signals correspond to the amplitude and frequency of the 'air pressure pulses' a.k.a 'sound waves'(cringe) a vibrating string produce in the air around it?

So that the amplitude of the 'sound wave' corresponds to the of the voltage's sine wave?

What DOES it correspond to? What ARE the correspondences?

So, three hours in, I am in that ZEN state known as 'confusion'…which is an open door… an invitation to insights … a BARDOT of opportunity for insights to enter…or if you take a Buddhist or Platonist view, to be RECALLED / remembered… confusion is a GREAT sign… inconvenient if you are trying to 'impress' people and appear 'authoritative' … and most humans HATE it … finding it very uncomfortable… but if you discipline yourself, you can feel it as 'exciting anticipation of insights to come'…and that IS how you need to train your mind and emotions to respond to confusion… like 'making mistakes' … and 'learning you were wrong' … must become POSITIVE things… because you've been CORRECTED… you've UPDATED your erroneous definitions… and you have 'eliminated a FALSE assumption that was a FALSE friend … a very TREACHEROUS friend that was likely to BETRAY you, at any moment, if it already hadn't, … it is better to return to CONFUSION than to remain in the FALSE comfort and security of FALSE beliefs and UNFOUNDED ASSUMPTIONS… better 'not to know anything' than to be in possession of FALSE 'knowledge'… to be ignorant, than to have a mind full of PROPAGANDA and untruths… even if it gives you a FEELING of 'comfort' and 'security' and 'control' and 'order'…it is a FALSE friend … just another SEDATIVE DRUG … no less harmful than any other addictive drug you can buy on the street from someone willing to PANDER to your desire for 'false security'…a false sense of control… a false confidence … a fake 'happiness'… that can only last until REALITY challenges your 'narrative'…and 'bursts your bubble'… just another DRUG… like religion…

So I will try to get my morning routine started again. My stretches for my migraine management. My exercises. My coffee. And try to get out of the house to enjoy the rare sunshine on offer. The question is how bitterly cold will the wind be? In my apartment it can get like a sauna, with no cross ventilation. But outside, even on the brightest days when the sun is 'hottest', the cold wind usually has most people 'covering up' not for protection from UV, but from the cold wind.

Now I wonder if UV is really our friend. Oh, did you realise you could get a suntan through double glazed windows? Apparently, if my experience is not illusory. Did you know you could just put a tablespoon of ground coffee into hot water, and stir, and wait a bit, to make 'real' coffee? I didn't till I moved to East Germany decades ago. Did you realise you could wash yourself and your clothing (usual stuff you'd wear around the house or go shopping, walking etc in) in less than half a normal sized bucket of warm water? Which you could then use to flush the toilet with?

On the subject of 'pattern construction as a FALSE friend' note that I TEST my 'apparent patterns' all the time. Deliberately. ZEN style. Such as the well out of date cookies I was buying. Many packets were 'nasty', but I still ate them. But they tasted like that stuff they banned in shampoo, but you'll still find in Russia. What is it? Anyway, so maybe a quarter of the cookie packets was 'nasty'. And so I decided I'd first open a packet, before buying MORE of them, next time. I was prepared to pay for a nasty pack, to avoid buying 12 nasty packs. But when I turned up and gave the shop a kids biked I'd cleaned and fixed up from the dumpster, she gave me a box of the 'out of date' cookies she'd stopped selling, because of the 'nasty' ones I expect she and others had discovered too…or was it just because the dates were so far 'out' of date? (I'm writing this because I will try to motivate myself to walk there again and see if they have more cookies, after giving them some stuff, but last time they had left boxes of cookies near the '30 cent' bin outside the door, and they encouraged me to 'take them off their hands' after I left another 'salvaged' childrens toy thingy there…) So I opened a packet, smelled, it smelled fine, so I took the box. I could give them to the birds if they were bad again, and I was not desperate enough to put up with the horrible taste and after taste…and I've found so far that they are ALL GOOD. In the samples from the 4 boxes I ended up with. So I may be the ONLY person who trusts them…who REJECTED THE EASY ASSUMPTION THAT THEY WERE 'OFF' I.E THE PATTERN THAT APPEARED TO HAVE BEEN ESTABLISHED, BUT SIMPLY TESTING THE THEORY, TO SEE IF THE PATTERN WAS VALID AND DID HOLD…DAVID HUME WOULD BE PROUD OF ME…SIMPLY NOT ASSUMING THAT THE PATTERN WOULD CONTINUE INTO THE FUTURE…IT MIGHT HAVE BEEN A 'BAD BATCH', BUT BECAUSE THE DATES WERE SO OLD, PEOPLE ASSUMED, 'FINALLY THEY WENT OFF'…AND NO-ONE BUT ME, PERHAPS, BOTHERED TO TEST THE THEORY, INDCTIVELY, LEAVING ALL THE COOKIES FOR ME ???? Let's see if I get there today, if they have any more. In any case, my good will in carrying the bike I cleaned and fixed up was rewarded with a box of cookies. The several boxes. A combination of my good will and caring ENOUGH to actually DO something good, and my PHILOPHSICAL NATURE which is DISCIPLINED not to 'jump to conclusions' but to TEST theories and even apparently established, clear, pattern constructs.

Oh, but one apparent pattern I've noticed that might help you too, is that when windows word starts demanding you 'register' it, it slows down the updating of tables etc…but I noticed that if I drag the cursor up into the top of the screen, as if giving up in frustration and impatience to do something else, the table update dialog immediately pops up…so I do that all the time now, just click on the table of contents, then drag the cursor to the top of the page, so the dialog appears to update the table, not just page numbers etc…O.K, so now to coffee me :D

I took some almost new shoes someone had put on a dumpster, to the second hand shop, and found they did have more cookies, and got to take them home. So mission successful. And on the way back it occurred to me something I'd overlooked. That the energy pulses that travel through the air as air pressure pulses, at a certain RATE, have a wavelength related to the 'speed of sound' (density of the air), whereas once the same energy pulse hits a 'solid' object, it is either deflected back, deflected, or at least partially absorbed and converted to heat energy, in 'sound absorbent' materials. So to absorb 200Hz air pressure pulses that have a 1.7M wavelength WHEN TRAVELLING THROUGH THE AIR, you have to find materials that SLOW DOWN THE RATE OF TRANSMISSION of the energy pulses and thus REDUCE THE EFFECTIVE WAVELENGTHS OF THE PULSES. Then thinner materials would be able to totally 'trap' the pressure pulse, and convert it to heat energy. But the material would have to cover the entire room, otherwise the first pressure maxima sphere would 'move around and past' the materials you'd so cleverly laid out to 'entrap' it. If the SPHERE of energy was larger than the wall, it would reflect off the ceiling and/or floor and/or side walls.

If you added 'dampeners' at each corner, to a semi-rigid wall made of 'sound' absorptive materials , you could 'slow down' the sphere of energy as it hit up to 5 walls simultaneously and convert its kinetic energy into mechanical energy or heat, thus reducing the amplitude of any low frequency pulse that was reflected or deflected back into the room.

The chicken and the egg problem. First we must decide 'what defines a chicken'. The chicken evolved from something else. It was not, as Plato entertained, a poor imitation of some 'ideal chicken form'. Chickens weren't created by some god out of nothing. It wasn't that there were no chickens, and then, 'from 8a.m this morning Britain finds itself in possession of chickens'. You know, like Britain 'found itself' 'at war with Germany' at a particular time and date. As if it was some natural phenomena. Something that just happened.

As if no-one actually decided or anything. They just woke up this morning to this state of affairs.

The 'chicken' is the latest stage of the evolution of something that wasn't a chicken up to some point in its evolution. But the more recent relations certainly laid eggs. And so it's a safe bet, that the egg that a chicken hatched from was not LAID by a chicken. But then the question is, how to decide WHEN we are in fact dealing with a new species. A chicken. Rather than the creature that it evolved from?

Some early morning recollections of late night insights

These insights came to me before coffee, lying in bed, insisting I get up to write them down. There was also something about electrons. Yes. Remember when speaking of 'copper electrons' or 'silver electrons' or 'hydrogen electrons' or 'germanium electrons' that there are no such things. There are only 'electrons'. Once you lower your level of abstraction, your level of composition, your 'scale', below the atomic level, there is no 'copper' or 'silver' or 'hydrogen' or 'germanium'. This is the very definition of 'atomic'. The idea of the smallest unit you can divide something into, at which it still retains the predicates, the properties, qualities, and attributes, we associate with it, and which define it as it.

The 'higher mystery' is that dealing with the transformation of energy into matter. So that an electromotive force becomes a 'particle'. Maybe it never does. But for most Westerners, there is always a need to distinguish between particle and energy. Like 'the ghost in the machine'. Eastern philosophy doesn't make such arbitrary distinctions, and so for people never conditioned to form such prejudices as 'matter vs energy' and 'particle vs energy pulse (I simply cannot bring myself to use that other totally mystifying, obfuscating, and loaded concept of 'wave' (cringe), for reasons that should become clear to you over the course of this guide), a 'particle' is just a 'standing wave (oops, couldn't avoid it that time)'. A pulse that reflects back onto itself, at such velocity, that if you were capable of 'watching' it, it would 'fill' all the space it rushes back and forwards within, and appear as a 'solid object'. A 'particle'. A 'thing in itself'. Discrete. Singular. And 'object'. And in fact a SUBJECT. For Eastern philosophy does not have the same prejudices and 'need' to construct two distinct classes of 'things'. ANIMATE-sentient-conscious-aware, and 'mineral-vegetable-*IN*ANIMATE'.

Having not introduced an arbitrary assumption, the 'Western' 'mystery' of 'creation' (a tacit/implicit assumption hidden within an assumption disguised as a 'self-evident fact') becomes NECESSARY, as does a 'creator'. For nothing comes from nothing', right? And if there can be non-sentience, and in-animate 'objects' which are NOT 'subjects' as they are not aware (sentient), then WHERE does that sentient enter into the equation? If there are ghosts and machines. Then what is the nature of the ghost, when it is not in the machine? How can 'consciousness' be 'created'? All such silly 'dog chasing its own tail' and 'dog being afraid of its own bark' and 'Dog' HIMSELF are generated by such empty utterances and self-induced miserable 'mysteries'. Wittgenstein would have none of it, had he understood the 'big picture'. He liberated himself from one Cult of Judah 'brand'(Judaism) simply to be seduced by a more 'modern' subsidiary of the same cult (Marxism). Though quickly disillusioned with that one too, I wonder if he 'had it in him' to look East, towards those philosophies that, not having INVENTED characters for NARRATIVES that were never philosophically necessary (but needed by Cult masters to ENSLAVE their thralls), never had to 'struggle' with such imaginary 'mysteries' and 'insoluble riddles' and 'enigmas'. While the rest of us remain 'stuck' in this massive Cult of Judah production we call 'Western philosophy' necessitated by the CULT 'political science' of enthrallment and enslavement. We have become so fully immersed in this 'movie' that the Cult of Judah have scripted, choreographed, and given the highest production values, and marketing campaigns, that it has become our 'social reality', for all intents and purposes. We remain, like Plato's prisoners in their cave, stuck in our cave. The movie theatre we entered at birth. Our eyes and attentions fixated on the literal 'idols' projected onto the screen. Plato's 'shadows on the wall' translated into a more compelling medium. Presented in 3-D surround sound. A 'Director's cut' where the Directors are the Cult of Judah script-writers. Where 'flashbacks' are all 'historical revisionism in the worst sense', and 'flash-forwards' continually condition us for their next 'false flag' attacks and 'fake pandemics' and 'war crimes' and 'phoney terrorist threats' and 'phoney threats of 'real and imminent attacks' from various 'bogey men' written into the script as the 'super villains'. With Cult of Judah agents always presented as 'victims' and 'super HEROES'. Where we have all been deprived of the ability to get up from our seats and live our OWN lives in the REAL world outside the theatre. So that we have handed over the power to be the protagonists of our own lives, to the directors of that movie we call 'life', in exchange for 'bit roles' at best, and most commonly as 'background actors'. The 'people in the street' or 'sitting at the bar' or 'students in the classroom' or 'soldiers being gunned down', et al.

To the Cult of Judah slave masters, we are all just 'electrons'. 'Charge carriers'. Means to THEIR ends. They've de-humanised us down to that level. Tricked us into giving up our sovereignty and 'intellectual property rights' and 'rights to write our own scripts and direct our own plays and movies', in return for 'protection' from imaginary THREATS that THEY themselves 'created' out of thin air, like their Dog Himself. They are the criminal masterminds behind all the major 'PROTECTION RACKETS' we call 'Religions' and 'Governments' and 'Departments of Defence' and 'National Security Agencies' and 'Police' and 'Federal Bureaus of Investigation' and 'Central Intelligence Agencies', and 'Medicine' and 'Central Banks'. These all have their own Cult of Judah constructed / scripted / directed 'bogey men'. Devils and demons. Anarchy and social chaos and violence. Foreign enemies. Foreign terrorists. Domestic terrorists (always 'right wing' by definition). Criminals. Drug dealers. Viruses. Inflation (which oddly enough usually only appears when anyone is given the right to literally print money, or during a siege or natural crisis, all of which are rare and so temporary that prices always return to their 'pre-crisis' state soon after).

Yes this is all extemporaneous. I am not fully awake yet. So my not-conscious mind has greater access to my typing fingers. And we shall see what 'revisions' I will make to this later.

But the point is, I am setting out on an open-ended journey. Taking the first steps. I have vague ideas of possible destinations, but won't allow these prejudices to dictate my movements. I will follow where the most intellectually profitable avenues appear to lead. Usually down the 'path less travelled'. Often past 'warning signs' posted by 'The Authorities' for 'my protection'. Down into deep gorges and dark forests where 'truth' is usually forced to seek refuge from such 'authorities'. To 'pass' on the delights of 'civilisation' such as 'being burned alive as a heretic / witch / apostate / terrorist / bad citizen.

The 'production values' of 'The Official Production', with its 'Official Narratives' , are lush no doubt. To go 'independent' and attempt to produce your OWN 'movie', based on your own 'scripts' and 'Director's notes', with your own 'angles' and 'framing', usually means accepting very low production values. Doing a lot with as little as possible. Doing without the 'big feature special effects' and props and costume designers and 'hair and makeup' people. Oh, and the sound and lighting! But you get to be your own protagonist, and director, and script writer. Or you get to work WITH the most talented directors and writers, and gain 'bit roles' in much more AUTHENTIC and SATISFYING productions. You get to CONTRIBUTE to 'The Narrative'. To re-write it, in collaboration with other truly CREATIVE people who are not merely seeking to PANDER to the Cult Elites, or the Cult THRALLS. You get to make the most satisfying production possible. Without need to consider 'The CULT Censors' or 'Will this be POPULAR with the CULT thralls?'. Is this ON MESSAGE and thus will be it acceptable to the CULT controllers? Will they FUND our productions? Will WE get to MONETIZE our talents? Will we perhaps be invited to 'sit at the table', or at least 'at the money trough?' (as Kurt Vonnegut put it).

Static electricity (Charges that do NOT flow, build up, and THEN discharge suddenly)

We tend to think of electricity as 'flowing' in 'currents'. But the first electricity humans encountered in our post- Younger Dryas / Atlantis cataclysm documented history was 'static' electricity. Charges that built up in a material and remained there. Didn't move. Didn't flow. Remained STILL. Static. Unmoving.

These charges are 'static' because they accumulate on materials that are NOT good conductors. The best are literally insulators. Like amber and glass and wood, and wool, and even better, synthetic fabrics like most carpets, and 'modern' clothing. When electrons are 'rubbed off' onto them via contact / friction, they stay put where they fall. And accumulate there.

Within conductors they would almost immediately discharge and neutralised by opposite charges in the conductor, through which they readily flow, and where the atoms are always busy 'locally' exchanging electrons with each other. So that no 'build-up' of charges is possible. The conditions for it don't exist.

Imagine we abolished the very idea of 'stored value'. Of 'savings'. Of 'capital accumulation'. So that there was no way to 'save' excess that you managed to accumulate or produce. And the only thing you could do was consume it, or share it, and hope for future reciprocation from those you shared with, at best. Or simply expect that they too would work hard, take risks, make sacrifices, and so on, and produce an abundance, which, having no way to 'store', would automatically share with YOU. That' life in the 'utopian' (dystopian for many) world of the conductor, when it comes to their only 'transaction', which is the exchange of valence electrons.

But insulators are the 'scrooges' of the electrical world. They are the Capitalists. They love to accumulate. They couldn't bear to part with any quantity or amount or magnitude or volume of electrons that happen to 'fall into their lap' as some sort of 'windfall' from 'good fortune', (often someone else's poor fortune a.k.a bad luck), no matter how superfluous it was to their current, immediate, needs. Or even foreseeable short-term ones. Or even long-term ones. In fact even if they could never even imagine ways to 'consume' all the electrons that happen to 'fall into their possession', they wouldn't dream of parting with a single 'excess' electron. The very idea would be too violent a shock to their systems to even contemplate. So they continue amassing wealth, in whatever form it takes, in our case 'electrons', until they die. Some even have it buried with them, hoping it 'take it with them'. But of course they wouldn't even spend in in 'the afterlife'. Because the VALUE it has to them has nothing to do with SPENDING. It is an IRRATIONAL love of money. They've come to IDENTIFY money with security and status and achievement and acceptance and approval and even 'The Love of Dog'. Proof their 'Dog in the sky' approves of them. So it is purely SYMBOLIC. They often even send it to the other end of the world, to have it 'buried' in 'high security vaults' in Switzerland. Or at 'Fort Knox'. And just the THOUGHT that they OWN it, and it is SAFE, is ALL they care about. THAT FEELING. And so if that bank happened to remove all of it, from every other such 'miser', in fact, from every such 'Capitalist' behaving in the same way, none of these 'rich folk' would suffer any harm in the slightest. They would still have the FEELING they so value. The gold or money is just a 'talisman' or 'symbol'. They would die feeling as 'secure' and 'successful' and 'satisfied' as if the gold / money was still in their 'possession'.

Yes, so insulators are the 'capitalists' and electrons are their capital. They love to ACCUMULATE it and 'pile it up' in one spot. They hate the thought of it 'circulating'. They jealously hoard it. Their chief value for it is that no-one else can have it. Can enjoy it as they do. They feel entitled to 'exceptional' privileges. If anyone could enjoy them, they would lose all value in their own eyes. It is the 'exclusivity' of their enjoyment they value. And sharing something with others would destroy that. Like the Dog YahWeh, jealous of all the other gods. He demands his people worship and adore him EXCLUSIVELY. It's like sibling rivalry, where one child simply can't bear to share the affections of their mother with even their father. Oops, that was Oedipus complex. But same jealousy. That can lead to infants 'willing' the 'disappearance' of fathers and siblings. Probably, as Freud entertained, the ORIGINAL SIN that the Cult priests 'frame' and 'spin' and 'manipulate' as a means to their own ends.

Yes, so in insulators, like synthetics, glass (also only rarely naturally occurring in the 'synthesized' forms familiar to most of us), are the scrooges, the misers, the capitalists, the greedy selfish 'jealous' 'gods' of the world of 'static' electricity. The protectors of 'The Status Quo'. Once they accumulate electrons, and thus charges, they hold onto them for dear life. If left to their own devices, they'd never let go of a single electron that fell into their possession. That's 'static' electricity. Charges that accumulate and 'stay put'.

The 'natural' momentum and inertia of electrons is to 'bond' with the nuclear family of one atom, and be content to remain there until something 'forces' it to 'move'. Atoms prefer to be 'neutral', and have just as many protons as electrons. They don't seek the 'excitement' and 'charged thrills' of change. But change happens. And they deal with it. While always actively seeking 'balance' at the end of the day.

Like the world traveller who enjoys adventures, but realises that there's no point having them, if you have no home to return to, where you can share your tales of adventure, and enjoy some relative security and predictability, until that 'bird of prey' called 'boredom' once more swoops down on them, compelling them to 'move around' again.

Or something 'bad' happens that REPELS them so that they find their current location REPULSIVE, and thus move simply to ESCAPE something. Or they perceive some attractive offer of 'better things' that ATTRACTS them, and gives them the ENERGY to break free from their rituals, habits, predictable routines, and comfort zones, and move, motivated by a POSITIVE desire to GAIN something, rather than merely 'run away from' something. Who me? No. You know, I'm talking about 'a friend'. What? I don't have any friends? Philosopher prophets are always DOOMED to social isolation? At best they might manage 12 distant friends. And at least one of them is bound to end up BETRAYING them to 'The Authorities'? What now?

Anyhoo, static electricity occurs when you remove electrons from an object to give it a temporary 'positive charge', or add electrons to it, to give it a temporary 'negative' charge. A hard rubber rod rubbed on a piece of wool, removes electrons from the wool, giving the rod a negative charge. Wool rubbed along a glass rod removes electrons from the rod, leaving the rod with a positive charge.

It sounds counter-intuitive. Taking something away is subtraction and the symbol for that is a 'negative' – ,sign. And when adding something, we usually use a 'positive' + sign. But remember we are adding and subtracting NEGATIVE charges. The electrons we are removing and adding have a negative charge. So it is like adding 6+ -1. Which is really subtracting. By adding electrons we make it MORE negative. The ONLY way to POSITIVELY IONIZE an atom is to REMOVE electrons, so that the protons in its nucleus outnumber the electrons orbiting the nucleus. It is a protons : electrons (literally ration*al*) numbers game. Quantity of electrons changes quality of atom. As you cannot add or remove protons, the only variable in atoms is the electron. And to be more precise, the VALENCE electrons with the weakest 'bond' to the atoms, being furthest from the nucleus, and if we accept 'The Official Narrative' concerning 'gravity', the further away something is, the less the attraction, the weaker the bond, between the two things.

So if you remove valance electrons from enough atoms in a region of the surface of some object, you can give it a positive charge. Which will repel electrons from the surface of any object it approaches, leaving THAT surface positively charged. And 'hey presto' opposite charges attract, and you can make this phenomenon work for you. How? Well static electricity has many everyday applications.

Dry copiers (a.k.a photo copiers) use an aluminum drum coated with a semiconductor material that changes its conductivity with a change of light intensity, such as selenium. When selenium is in the presence of light, it has a very high conductivity. When it is in darkness, it has a very low conductivity. A high-voltage wire held parallel to, and almost touching the drum, positively charges the selenium as the drum spins.

The drum is charged in darkness. That's also how you 'charge' cult thralls. In the darkness of ignorance, censorship, and propaganda. Get them 'all riled up for something'. Get them 'emotionally invested' in something. In beliefs and hearsay and dogma and legends and myths and propaganda and lies. Which then take on a real EMOTIONAL CHARGE. Rather than merely being ideas to be entertained and considered in the light of all the other competing ideas, as at best a possible equal to them, and a contender for the status 'superior idea', these ideas are now CHARGED and the IONIZED. They are given a POSITIVE CHARGE. So that now all competing ideas, all the alternatives, are REFLEXIVELY BY DEFINTION NEGATIVELY CHARGED. And in this case the 'negative' takes on the usual PERJORATIVE meanings. It is LOADED. Emotionally charged and loaded with meaning.

But back to our photocopier. An image of the material to be copied is reflected onto the drum with lenses and mirrors. The dark regions of the paper absorb light and the white regions reflect light back onto the drum, triggering the conductivity of the selenium. At which point, wherever there is light reflected on the drum, the selenium 'repels' electrons from the surface of the aluminium drum beneath it, giving those areas of the aluminium drum a positive charge (having lost electrons due to the negatively charged Selenium pushing them away). The aluminum drum thus gains a positive charge ONLY where reflected light DOES hit.

Imagine if this were Plato's 'cave' and the 'shadows' on his wall were produced in the same way. The positive charges of the shadows would 'attract' our attention, our emotional investment, our ascription of the power to fulfill our hopes and protect us from what we feared. They'd be the priests, acting as proxies for the god/s, who we'd invest all our hopes, and dreams in, and appeal to for their intercession in all our worldly enterprises. Though they were no more than mere REFLECTIONS of our own hopes and dreams and fears and nightmares and irrational phobias and ambitions, the manifestation of our own impulses and wills. Sculpted by the hands of the Priests to make them tools of the Cult elites. Means to the ends of the Cult elites. As a highly sophisticated and subtle form of 'Jew-jitsu'. Turning the force of our own selfish passions and desires against us. Our sense of entitlement to more than others. Our sense of entitlement to treat other sentient beings as mere means to our own ends. Our desire to be slave masters. To control others. To bend others to our own wills. To trick others into serving OUR ends. To deceive others into wanting what we want, because we think it will be good for us, even if we know it will be bad for them.

So, imagine you'd painted a clear coat of negatively charged paint to a wall. Written something in that 'invisible ink'. All your target reader need do is understand that there is an 'invisible' message written on that wall. And come along with a spray can of 'negatively charged colored particles' and spray them onto that wall. And watch as the message appears 'from nowhere'.

If you've ever seen 'toner' up close, or worse, had to deal with leaked toner, you'll see it is like a liquifacted dust. Or like powdered graphite. It almost looks and feels and behaves like a liquid. But it is still a solid. Like earth 'flowing' in a landslide can 'liquefact' under pressure, and behave like a liquid, as it 'flows' down the valley. This dark powder has a negative charge. When it is placed in proximity to the drum, the positively charged regions attract it exclusively. Just like with your friend with the spray can of 'negatively charged colored particles'.

The final stage we all listen for, when photocopying, often rushing between classes to make enough copies to keep our public school student's busy while we do the 'important' stuff like 'mark the roll' to make sure none of our 'inmates' has 'escaped' todays brainwashing and mind-numbing and 'destruction of authentic curiosity for real learning and critical reasoning' sessions, ensure 'submission to arbitrary authority', and check out what 'non-teaching duties' we have been assigned to ensure we never have time to actually prepare meaningful lesson plans that might deviate from the previously listed 'unofficial' lesson plan that IS 'public education's REAL purpose, is for the motor to start feeding that piece of blank, positively charged paper under the turning drum, so the powder can 'stick' to the bits we want 'blackened', and then under a heating element that 'melts' the powder into the paper, to form our copy. This is why if you rub the black melted powder while it is still warm, it can 'smudge' and 'smear'. Like all the new 'Vaseline' equivalents they smear on all YOUR 'lenses' so you can never quite see ANYTHING clearly at all. No matter how closely you look at the 'official images' and watch 'the official footage'. If it's a faked moon landing, the people will EXPECT grainy images and static and 'broken up' audio, after its travel through space. When in fact NASA cameras at that time produced crystal clear video and audio. But that would LOOK too much like it was filmed in a Hollywood studio, by professionals, Directed perhaps by Stanley Kubrick! So they 'lost' the 'high quality' footage and did a bit of pre-nine eleven post-production to the footage, to meet people's expectations, and prevent any skepticism arising in the gullible, credulous, well-trained Homo Fideo Shleeple audience.

Giving entire metal surfaces a negative charge, and giving paint and/or the spray gun a positive charge, uses the same principle as the photocopier. It improves the odds that the paint will apply evenly, when spray-painting. Or electro-plating. Often the paint will be given a positive charge by spraying it through a high voltage grid, which removes electrons from the paint molecules, leaving them with a net positive charge, which will bond readily with the negatively charged atoms of the surface to be painted. The result is a more uniform, smooth, paint job, without any waste of paint.

Giving grains of sand a positive charge leads to them separating from each other, settling in a layer one grain thick, and bonding with paper 'flat side to the paper' thus exposing more sharp edges, making the 'sand-paper' more effective.

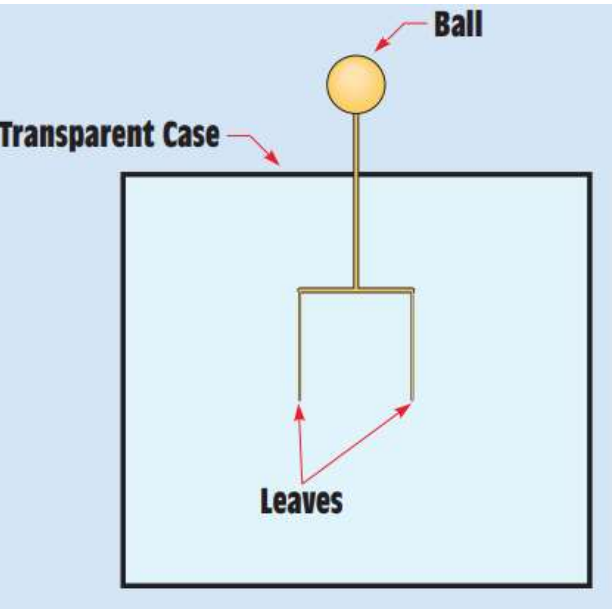
Electronic air filters called precipitators use negatively charged wires give smoke, dust, and pollen a positive static charge, as they pass through the wires, so that they will then be attracted to the negatively charged 'collector plates' they are later blown through. These plates will hold the particles until they are turned off, for cleaning.

And you've surely seen, on t.v or in movies, someone being 'revived' after a heart attack with a 'defibrillator', with two paddles that you literally hear the actors call out 'Charged' and 'Clear' before discharging the two paddles across the chest of their patient.

And just to clarify the 'rubbing a balloon on your hair' trick. The rubbing transfers negatively charged electrons to the balloon from your hair atoms, so that the surface of the balloon becomes negatively charged (due to the 'excess' electrons) and your hair atoms now have fewer electrons than positively charged protons, and thus takes on a positive charge. So the negative and positive charges on the balloon and hair respectively attract each other, and the hair strands repel each other.

The balloon would , if you released it, stick to your head. And remain there, until the electrons move between your hair and balloon again, balancing out the imbalance in negatively charged electrons in the atoms of the balloon and your hair, so that the temporary potential charge difference we have contrived and orchestrated no longer exists. And the balloon falls to the floor.

Apparently attracted or forced by some 'weaker attraction'. Some other character in 'The Official Narrative' that we only hear vague things about, but never get 'up close and personal' with. They have a really important role to play in the plot and motivation of the characters. But they always remain 'a shadow figure' in 'The Official Narrative'. As if he has something to hide? Or the writers of 'The Official Narrative' themselves don't really know what it is, and what they are dealing with, and writing ABOUT!



In any case, given the chance, electrons automatically redistribute themselves among atoms, as every atom seems more comfortable when balanced, every electron having its very own 'proton' and 'nuclear family' to 'bond' with.

An electroscope is a simple device for determining if something has a positive or negative static charge at over some region of its surface. First we deliberately give the ball a charge, so we know for certain if the leaves are positively or negatively charged before we begin. Then depending on how they respond, whether they attract each other, or repel each other, at the approach of our object, we can determine if the object has a positive or negative charge. If we rub a hard rubber rod against a piece of fabric, it rubs electrons off the fabric and gains a negative static charge. Now we touch this rod to the ball, ensuring the electroscope now has a negative static charge. Our interpretation of the movement of the leaves will be based on this assumption. If the leaves move further apart, the object approaching has a positive charge. It's negative charge is repelling electrons from the ball down towards the leaves, so that they repel each other even more than before. If the leaves move closer together, the object has a negative charge. The positive charges in the object have attracted some of the electrons away from the leaves, up into the ball, so that now there are fewer excess electrons in the leaves, so the magnitude of their negative charge is now lessened, and they are less repulsive to each other.

I guess it is like telling people 'you all belong to the same 'race' / cult / tribe / nation now. So that people find each other just that little bit less repulsive! And of course they are encouraged to project all the hate and malice and envy and lust etc onto 'people who are NOT members of the same cult / tribe / nation / 'race'. And by making all 'OTHERS' 'fair game', you offer all 'members' alternative targets for rape, murder, theft, and so on. Anyone who wants to do any of that, simply has to look for a 'foreigner' and 'infidel' and 'heretic' and 'outsider' who is fair game. This gives you more confidence in your fellow cult members. They simply don't NEED to target YOU, or EACH OTHER, any more. There is no punishment for 'cheating' or 'raping' or 'killing' or 'stealing from' or 'lying to' someone NOT in your cult / tribe / nation / 'race'. You are free even to enslave them. So why would you risk being punished for targeting 'one of your own'? Then there is the advantage of having a 'safe' place to store all your stolen goodies and slaves. This is the REAL 'honor among thieves'. It is called 'The Ideology of Semitism' and it is most closely associated with 'The Cult of Judah' and its 'Chosen People'. The 'American' idea of 'Manifest Destiny', with its genocide of 'native' populations, was modelled on the 'morality role models' and 'morality plays' that form 'The Official Narrative' known as 'The Torah' and 'The Old Testament'. Even the 'good news', (Gospel) commanded 'Slaves obey your masters'. Not surprising as Paul (Saul) and of course 'Judas', along with most of the other 'disciples' and 'founders' of 'Christianity', not to mention the 'Christ' himself, were all 'Jews'. Simply the first in a long line of 'controlled opposition'. Ending with Alex Jones, Donald Trump, and the rest of the 'current batch' of controlled, scripted, directed, Cult of Judah actors.

Magnetism

Anything with a servo motor or electric motor functions thanks to magnetism, and human ingenuity. Anything that runs on electricity is powered by magnetism. And 'Zee German ingenuity'. Oh, you didn't realise ANGLES and SAXONS are GERMANIC peoples too? As in 'Angle-land'. As in England? So add them to the FRANKS you know of as 'French'. The Britons didn't establish a world empire. It was Zee German (ic) people's today known as 'The English' and 'The French'. Making most of the wars, including the last two 'world' wars, a matter of 'sibling rivalry' on a grand scale. Just the old Germanic tribal rivalries erupting time and time again.

I'm not sure if any African, Asian, or Middle Eastern, or Slavic, or Arabic, or Persian, people have contributed to the adaption of magnetism to human needs. It seems mostly 'Zee Germans' (including all the Germanic peoples under this rubric, not just the 'modern' German nationals). And yes, that does include Freud and Einstein.

Note I would never use the term 'race', as there is only one of those. The Human Race. Seems when white Male Europeans now and then took time out from (according to 'The Official Narrative' of 'Cultural Marxism' that defines todays public education, mass media, and general Zeitgeist) doing what the God of the 'Jews' commanded THEM to do i.e the crimes laid at the foot of 'white male European folk' of genocide and slavery and patriarchal repression and exploitation of women folk', all ARCHETYPAL CULT OF JUDAH, MOSAIC AND TALMUDIC LAW JUDAISM most closely associated with the definition 'Jew', they are doing great service to humanity. Though, to be clear, Zee Germans never managed to find a way to gas people with Zyklon B without leaving even a hint of 'Prussian blue' staining on the bricks, or to cremate millions of people at a rate never ever achieved by even the most advanced of modern cremation technologies, using mere coking coal which had already had almost all its volatile substances removed from it! So, sorry folks, but 'The Official Holocaust Narrative' is so full of holes you could use it as a sieve. And the lies are so MONSTROUSLY HUGE they wouldn't even pass through the MASSIVE HOLES in 'The Official Holocaust Narrative'!

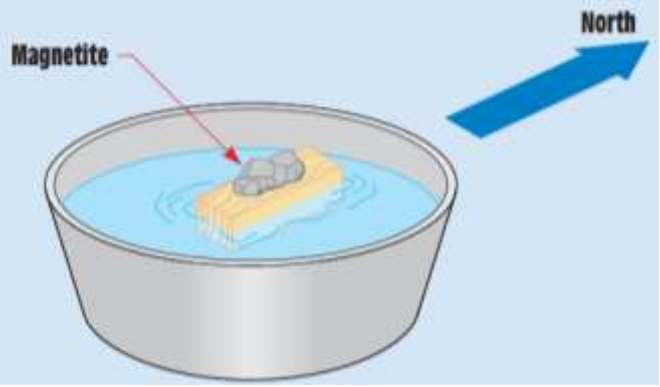
The term Loadstone means 'Leading Stone'. This naturally occurring stone, was, this side of the Atlantian Cataclysm-Younger Dryas Impact-Great flood, first officially recorded by the ancient Greeks in a place called Magnesia, after which it was named 'Magnetite'. It was naturally attracted to Iron. And vice versa.



Someone discovered that if you placed a piece of it on a piece of wood, and floated the wood on water, the wood would align itself on its North-South axis and thus 'point' North (and South). Toward MAGNETIC North. Not to be confused with True Natural North'. No, TROO NAT NOOR is not intended to refer to that. However it does offer the only TRUE MORAL COMPASS on offer!

It's a fascinating subject that is significant in so many contexts, as described in several of my other TROONATNOOR publications, that the earth is 'tilted' a specific number of degrees, and also 'wobbles' a specific number of degrees over a documented time scale. But here we shall merely note that Magnetic North is different to True North. And that the reason a magnet points to Magnetic North is due to the 'magnetic flux lines', lines of force, between the magnetic poles of the Earth. These are directional, and 'push' the north end of any magnet to face Magnetic North. I have found so many interesting narratives surrounding shifting magnetic poles, and the 'precession' that they make up substantial parts of several of my TROONATNOOR publications. But in terms of the illustration, remember these lines of force cover the entire surface of the plane-et. If it is a globe, then like an orange skin. If it is a disc, then like a dome. Now take a close look at the diagram and labels. Note that the Magnetic NORTH POLE is near the True SOUTH pole. This is because opposites attract. So the Northern pole of a magnetic will turn to point towards the Southern Pole of the Earth. And vice versa. Remember that when you hear people talk of 'The North Pole' they are referring to the SOUTH MAGNETIC Pole.

Note that while the first magnets were loadstone, most magnets today are manufactured, and are much stronger, and retain their magnetism much longer than, naturally occurring magnets.

Only iron, nickel, and cobalt naturally form magnets. Why? 'The Official Narrative' suggests that the valence electrons of these elements all spin in the same direction, so their magnetic fields sum together. Whereas in other elements, half spin in one direction, and the other half spin in the opposite direction, so that their magnetic fields cancel each other out. It is like with horseshoe magnets. If you join two horseshoe magnets so their north-south poles can bond, their magnetic fields have little effect on surrounding objects.

Usually when elements form molecules they share valence electrons, to ensure each has a full complement of 8 valence electrons. This is what makes the molecules 'stable'. Four right spinning electrons pair up with 4 left-spinning electrons, cancelling out each other's magnetic fields.

But when the atoms of iron, nickel, and cobalt combine, their valence electrons all spin in the same direction, summing their magnetic fields, to form regions in the molecular structure of the metal known as magnetic domains or magnetic molecules, which act like small permanent magnets.

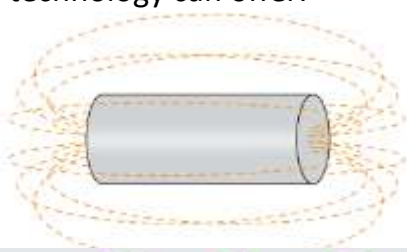
To magnetize something, the magnetic poles of all its atoms are aligned. Where this alignment is permanent, you have a permanent magnet. And as each atom in it is aligned along a north-south axis, no matter how small you cut that magnet, each piece will remain a permanent magnet.

Alnico 5, an alloy of aluminum, nickel, cobalt, copper, and iron, is a great example of an alloy of 'Ferromagnetic' metals that are easily magnetized. Like your average exemplar of Homo Fideo (Believing Man) a.k.a 'We the Shleeple' make great Cult thralls for the various Cult of Judah 'branded' subsidiaries. Alnico 5 is also the most widely acclaimed guitar pick-up magnet. But of course Cu Ni Fe (Copper Nickel Iron) magnets are on my personal 'bucket list' guitar pickup magnets. Which is interesting, because Copper itself is 'diamagnetic', and lines of magnetic force tend to go around it, rather than through it. And aluminium is considered 'paramagnetic', like titanium, and not easily magnetized. So one more 'anomaly' to add to 'The Official Narrative'. It's like with valence electrons. What 'The Official Narrative' would suggest, is often contradicted by heuristic experience.

Another type of permanent magnet is the ceramic magnet (harking back to the days of load 'stones') formed from a mixture of powdered barium ferrite and strontium ferrite, mixed with rubber, plastic, or, in the case of the ink used on those 'ye olde' things called 'checks', liquids. The powder is melted and rolled and heat treated.

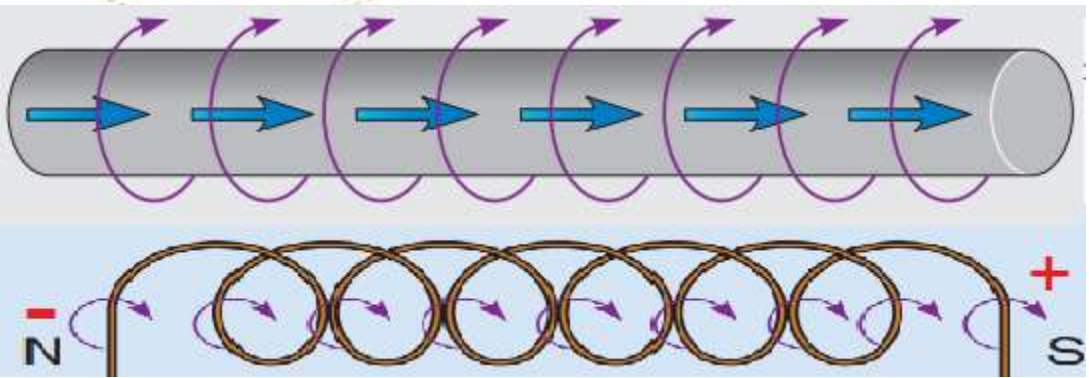
Young folk probably don't even understand what 'The Cheque's in the mail' refers to. I'll tell you though. It's the BLANK CHEQUE you wrote your Cult of Judah Occupation Government and all the other proxies of The Cult of Judah, and signed, when you SUBMITTED to their phony 'emergency Covid measures'. That cheque, like KARMA, is certainly 'on its way'. And the figure they plan to write on it is BEYOND the imagination of most Homo Fideo Shleeple. EVERYTHING. A blank check, and the amount they will write on it is 'everything'. Yes YOU will own NOTHING. They've told you outright. To your face. YOU will own only DEBTS you inherited from your tax plantation slave parents. And the new debts 'created' via the economic wrecking we call 'The War on Terror' and 'The War on man-made Global Climate Crisis', and of course the 'Covid Lockdowns'.

Iron oxide is still used to make magnetic recording tape and Hard Disc Drives for Computers. Some recording artists will stlll use expensive and 'messy' tape in the recording studio, even if they plan to 'mix down' in high resolution digital audio, as they perceive a qualitative superiority in tone that only this 'old' technology can offer.



Lines of magnetic force (flux lines), are strongest at the poles of a magnet, and never cross. They repel each other, and completely enclose a magnet, like an electron does (when perceived in human time scales and sampling rates).

Like poles repeal each other. Opposite poles attract.



(Temporary electromagnetism) Electromagnets

Electrons being 'hot-potato'd' from atom to atom, moving through the conductor one atom at a time, produce magnetic fields.

Electromagnets are the magnets you can turn on and off, as they are only 'magnetic' while electricity flows through them.

Winding copper wire into coils is a way to get a larger magnitude magnetic field in a smaller area. A coil with ten windings has ten times the magnetic field as a lone copper wire of the same length and gauge. Because a magnetic field forms around each coil, and they are all aligned. Increase the Intensity of the current (Amperes) or the number of windings, and you increase the magnitude / strength of the magnetic field resulting.

What you wind the coils around also increase the magnitude of the resulting magnetic field. A magnetic core, has a higher 'permeability' rating, than an iron or soft steel core, which is still easily magnet*ized*, which is itself superior to an 'air core' of wood or plastic which cannot be magnetized. This is the multiplier effect the core has. A material with a 'permeability rating of 6' means the magnetic field will be 6 times greater in magnitude, as a result of using this particular core material, and it being already magnetized, or more easily magnetized, than a material with a rating of 1. Permeability is to magnetic fields what conductivity is to current. You can produce a more intense magnetic field with a higher amperage, number of windings, and more 'permeable' core. You get a higher concentration of magnetic flux lines. A greater density of 'lines of force'. Like increasing electrical pressure or PSI.

Reluctance is resistance to magnetism. Soft iron or steel is easily magnetized, and thus has a high permeability and low reluctance. Copper has a low permeability and high reluctance. There is a diminishing marginal increase in intensity of magnetic fields with increasing intensity of current flow. At some point large increases in Amperage yields only small increases in the strength of the electromagnet. This is the point of 'saturation', where all the atoms in the material are already aligned north-south.

Humans demonstrate similar behaviors in relation to 'magnetic personalities' a.k.a 'charismatic leaders'. Some are more reluctant than others to commit acts of violence, for example. Such as declaring war. On a foreign enemy. Or on neighbor's with different political views. Or members of different Cults. Or people with different skin color and facial features. Or on particular types of drugs sold by particular people, as compared to the ones that have been defined as 'legal', and whose monopoly production has been gifted to legal persons called 'corporations' a.k.a 'Big Pharma', or the C.I.A, whose monopolies are respectively protected, through massive use of state violence, by the FDA (Food and Drug Admiinistration) and DEA (Drug monopoly Enforcement Agency) and AMA (The current bearers of the 'Nacash') and all the privileges and wealth and now absolute power associated with that Mosaic symbol.

Coercive force (retentivity) refers to a materials ability to retain a residual magnetic charge after the current is turned off. This is also the best predictor of human behavior. Cults rely on continual reinforcement of their propaganda, and the 'entrancement' and 'enthrallment' it produces, via the full spectrum from 'supermarket radio announcements' reminding Estonians about 'Covid-19' even in the midst of a heat wave, long after the face mask mandate has been relaxed, to continual waste of tax payers money with advertisements across the full range of media from tell-lie-vision to newspapers to internet platforms, and even street signs. CONSTANTLY. 24/7. To 'drum home the message'. The message of TERROR and SUBMISSION to 'the protection racket' called 'Government'.

A 'High coercive force' makes a material suitable for permanent magnets. The Cult elites can be certain that 'the enthrallment is strong with this one', and they can rely on their 'brainwashing' to 'hold' even in the absence of exposure to the full spectrum propaganda. These are the natural born 'shleeple'.

A low coercive force makes a material suitable for electromagnets, allowing this force to be switched on and off, with no residual magnetism. Like war propaganda, intended just to raise the fear and hatred temporarily, to bring the blood lust and appetite for murder to a boil, for the duration of the war. Knowing it can be 'switched off' the moment 'Our People's Democratic Republic of …' has, since 9 a.m this morning, found itself in a state of peace, with the same people, about 5 years ago, we had, one morning, inexplicable found we had been 'Since 9a.m that morning, found ourselves in a state of war', with. You'd think people would look into that sort of thing, wouldn't you? Seems we can easily wake up any random morning, and for no reason, 'find ourselves at war with' some nation or other. I guess it just happens. Gods? The alignment of the stars? The fates? Someone accidentally presses a wrong button? Then, once this has been DECLARED, and thus 'explained' (with no OTHER explanation forthcoming), its seems 'the thing to do' is spend the next 5 years butchering and firebombing some total strangers you'd never met before, let alone ever had reason to feel any malice towards, and having them do the same to you! Oh well. 'Ours is not to reason why', right? And above all, don't risk looking SILLY by refusing to participate. No-one likes a 'poor team player'. Lauf Mit! Imagine how terrible you'd feel if people gave your dirty looks and said things behind your back! No, much better rush into the slaughter. That's the way to earn approving looks and comments. To be accepted! Go along to get along. And if everyone is jumping off the Harbor Bridge, then SURELY they MUST have good reasons. I mean THE AUTHORITIES wouldn't go around DECLARING things without good reasons, would they? If THEY say it is for our own good, then JUMP we must. They've never led us astray before, right? Go on, show me one flash high budget media presenter who has 'exposed' any of those supposed 'conspiracies' those loonies go on about. You know, like conspiracies in the mass media. I mean, surely if such conspiracies existed, someone in the mass media would be reporting it. Right? I mean. Isn't that logical? Or? Hang on, let me see. Nah, it doesn't bear thinking about. People might start suspecting ME of being one of those LOONIES.

The north magnetic pole of an electromagnet is at whichever end the current is flowing through the coil TOWARDS. If the current reverses direction, the polarity of the electromagnet's magnetic field also reverses. With Alternating Current this would be every half-cycle.

A magnetized object can be de-magnetized in a similar fashion to the Zen 'whacking stick'. The Cult thrall is 'surprised' and 'shocked' out of their 'dogmatic slumbers', their trance state, with a Zen 'koan' or literally an unexpected 'whack'. Like slapping a hysterical person back into 'Here, Now'.

Repeatedly striking a magnet with a hammer can produce vibrations which result in its molecules rearranging themselves into a disordered state. The same result occurs from heating the object.

Applications of magnetism, starting with traditional speaker cones

The simplest speaker can be made using piezo-electric crystals. But these are limited in their loudness. More commonly we use speaker cones to push pulses of air forwards, producing air pressure pulses corresponding to the rate (frequency) and loudness (amplitude) of the 'audio' we want to produce or reproduce, as what our minds will render as 'sound' of varying pitch (frequency) and loudness (amplitude).

If you are familiar with my 'speaker cone analogy' for the monad, or at least my 'Audio Engineering Reference Guide', you will understand my interest in speakers.

What your mind RENDERS as sound of varying pitches (frequencies) and loudness (amplitude) corresponds to air pressure variations that disturb the ear drum. Disturbances / oscillations / vibrations / resonances produced by moving /displacing /shuttling a speaker cone forwards and backwards, at rates and thus velocities corresponding to the frequencies, and with 'excursions' (distance travelled), corresponding to the amplitudes. What it took me time to comprehend was that the speaker cone performs multiple 'forwards-backwards' oscillations at the same time. Each higher frequency oscillation piggy-backing on the lower frequency oscillations. The speaker cone must travel furthest to produce the lowest frequency tones, and as it is completing one cycle of this frequency, it is also oscillating back and forth smaller distances, producing all the higher frequencies that are completed in much shorter periods of time. A single 'percussive' beat will require just one cycle. A sustained note will require multiple cycles. The speed with which a cycle is completed, and thus the number of cycles completed per second, is its RATE or 'FREQUENCY'. The higher the 'pitch' our minds render, the faster a cycle has been completed, and the higher the number of cycles that are completed per second. The speaker cone would fascinate Xeno. For it performs what for reason, at first, would appear the inexplicable action of moving BOTH fast and slow AT THE SAME TIME. It might help to think of the highest frequencies as a flea crawling from the tail to the ears, of a wolf that is loping towards its next meal. As the wolf takes long strides, the flea takes many tiny baby-steps, in the same direction. Taking each step as a completed cycle, we can visualise how the flea takes many steps during the one step of the wolf, and yet, relative to the ground, they both cover the same distance, in the same time.

An electromagnet is coupled to the base of a speaker cone, which is 'suspended' in the speaker housing, so that it is free to move in-out, forwards-backwards. But all movement is constrained to this axis. So any force applied can only push it out, or pull it back in, along this axis.

The force comes from a permanent magnet positioned opposite the electromagnet. When like charges repel each other, only the electromagnet is free to move, so it is pushed away from the permanent magnet.

Alternating Current flowing through the coil of the electromagnet will switch the polarity of the electromagnet each half cycle, reversing the magnetic poles, so that one half of the cycle the north pole of the permanent magnet faces the north pole of the electromagnet, and the speaker cone is repelled and pushed outwards. After which, when the current alternates, and reverses direction for the second half of the cycle, the north pole of the permanent magnet faces the south pole of the electromagnet, so they are attracted to each other, and only the permanent magnet being free to move, it is pulled backwards towards the permanent magnet.

Thus each half cycle the cone is pushed outwards, followed by the second half of the cycle pulling it back.

The RATE or 'frequency' at which it moves backwards and forwards in this way corresponds to the frequency of the Alternating current. The amplitude of the current determines the DISTANCE of speaker cone excursion, how FAR it will be pushed out. The frequency of the current determines how often the cone reverses direction, being 'pulled backwards' as the second half of the cycle begins.

The pushing force is rarely allowed freedom of expression. It is usually 'censored' and 'pulled back' before the cone can extend very far at all. So amplitude is more about the VELOCITY of the speaker cone rather than the distance of its excursion. How FAST it moves, rather than how FAR it moves. And while the AIR pressure pulses are free to develop their full 'wave-length' once initiated / produced, and free to reproduce over distance and time, these correspond to the VELOCITY at which the speaker cone moves.

In MIDI, 'loudness' is referred to as VELOCITY, because loudness in the real world usually refers to how HARD you 'hit' / 'beat' a drum, or 'strike' or 'pluck' or 'hit' a guitar or piano string with your finger, or pick, or hammer. And this usually involves moving your finger or hammer FASTER to produce the greater FORCE.

Force = mass x acceleration. You can knock something down with a large, heavy, slow moving object . Or knock it down with a small object accelerating really fast. Like a bullet.

That is what electrical force is, in the context of electrons. The more of this little fellows you accelerate towards your target, the greater the force of their impact with it will be. This is the AMPLITUDE of a current. The FASTER you accelerate them towards the target, (the higher the Voltage), the more impact they will deliver. To produce the same impact you can increase the number (Quantity a.k.a Amperage) of electrons hitting a target at the same time (passing through any point in the circuit per micro-second), and/or increase their velocity, (speed a.k.a Voltage).

So increasing the Voltage means speeding them up. Increasing the amplitude means moving a larger volume/quantity of electrons at the same time. Doing both is the double whammy. But in terms of economics, it is often cheaper to reduce the quantity, and increase the speed. Because it is 'cheaper' to move fewer electrons faster, than to move a lot of them at the same time. Due to the price of copper.

To get any number of loaded trucks from A to B, you could build a 2 lane highway, and send them travelling off side by side, at 100km/hr. Or build a one lane highway, and let them move at 200km/hr. The same number of loaded trucks will arrive at B in the same time, either way. It is a question of cost of construction of lanes, over cost of fuel and building faster trucks. And perhaps safer trucks and better training for the drivers, to compensate for the higher risks associated with faster travel.

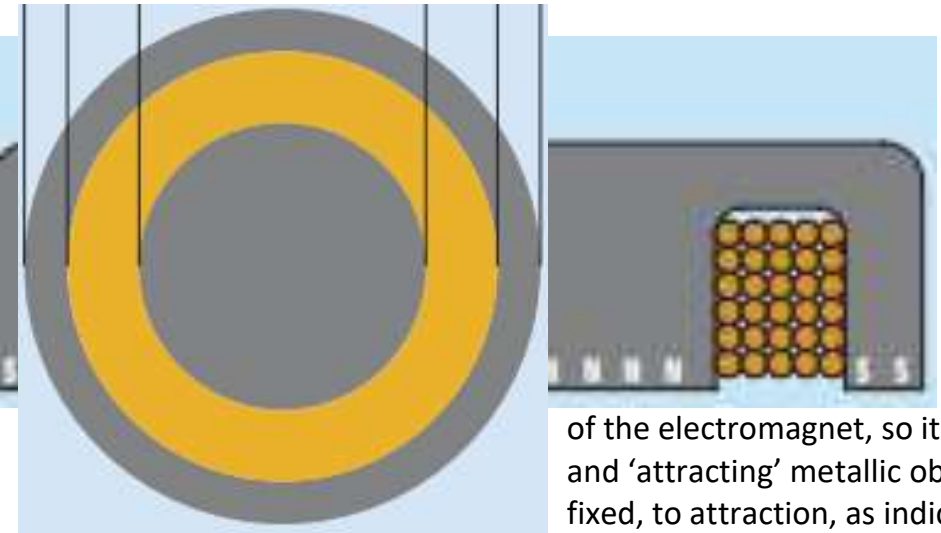
The New World Order could poison people slowly, with aerosols, and food additives, and poisons placed in the water supply, or DECLARE a 'pandemic' and get them to demand you inject them with the same poison all in one go. Or to be less obvious, in large, six monthly doses. Depends how fast you want them to die. Or become sterile. The aerosols a.k.a 'chemtrails' and 'water treatments' and 'food additives' spread the same 'efficacious' materials out over a larger area, over a longer amount of time, to achieve the same results as the direct injections, which directly inject the 'efficacious materials' into the bloodstream of the targets, in one or a few 'shots'. The result is the same. Long term exposure represents higher frequency of exposure. But with lower amplitude / strength / magnitude. Direct injections are the 'low frequency' approach', with a large amplitude / strength / magnitude.

Solenoids (car ignitions) and junk-yard electromagnets

A solenoid with an electric current flowing / oscillating in it behaves like a bar magnet. If we place a soft iron rod in the solenoid, the magnetism of the solenoid increases hundreds of times and the solenoid becomes a temporary magnetic known as an 'electromagnet'.

Thus an electromagnet is made by winding closely a number of turns of insulated copper wire over a soft iron straight rod or a horse shoe rod. On passing current through this solenoid, a magnetic field is produced in the space within the solenoid.

Electromagnets find uses in transformers, microphone diaphragms, for extracting bullets from people, and for moving car bodies around the junkyards.



Junk-yard electromagnets are usually disc-shapes formed from embedding an electromagnetic coil a (permanent) horse-magnet that has been extended to form a continuous loop. Above is a cross-section view, showing the yellow copper windings of the coil inside the round horse-shoe magnet.

Direct current is used as Alternating current would continually switch the polarity of the electromagnet, so it would continually cycle between 'repelling' and 'attracting' metallic objects. Direct current ensures the polarity is fixed, to attraction, as indicated in the diagram above, only as long as the current is allowed to flow. So we can turn off the magnet. Position it above some metallic object. Turn it on so it attracts the object. Move the magnet and attached object to where we want it. Then turn off the current, thus turning off the magnetic current, releasing the object from its thrall.

De-programming brainwashed thralls is much more difficult. Of course 're-education centres' are really for brainwashing, for programming drones and thralls with the Cult dogmas, not de-programming. It is so rare for people to 'change their minds' in terms of 'what they know'. They identify 'knowledge' with 'familiarity'. 'The known' is 'what they are familiar with'. More than anything else. Most people's 'knowledge' is NOT function of any sort of real understanding, let alone the deep, REAL, understanding a philosopher seeks. It is simply 'the hearsay' they heard, and 'everyone' around them 'said' i.e repeated.

De-programming is like 'successful electro-shock treatments' or 'successful insulin coma treatments'. John Nash explains the terrible agony of awaking from a deliberately induced insulin coma. It was literally torture. And like all 'negative reinforcement', it 'taught' him to 'pretend' and 'wear a mask' and 'play act' and 'behave' as he was expected to, simply to avoid that torture. That pain. That agony. And unless electroshocks act like a hammer de-magnetising brain cells, and thus breaking neural pathways, like 'flicking the off switch' for 'disturbing thoughts' or 'inconvenient thoughts and ideation and responses', I assume it was the THREAT of FURTHER TREATMENT that convinced people to 'stop acting out'. To 'self-censor'. This is the best any 're-education' center can do. Terrify people into submitting. It can't change what they 'know', because for most people that is imprinted at a young age, by 'familiarity' and 'repetition'. So that the 'hearsay' became 'fact' and anything that contradicted it would never be 'processed' by their minds. In fact it would merely build greater RESISTANCE to change and EMOTIONAL COMMITMENT TO the hearsay so 'familiar' and 'known' to them That universal law of 'equal and opposite reaction' prevents something, once 'encoded' and 'accepted' and 'integrated' into the person's psychological profile and world view and self-definitions and definitions of reality, from being 'deleted' or 'over-written'. 'Bleaching' is the only option. Total 'mind-wipes'. Leaving the thrall a 'blank slate' upon which nothing can be written. But that is preferable to the Cult, than any trace of 'dissent' or 'individual thought' or 'critical reasoning'.

However in those rare individuals in whom REASON is the basis for their definitions of reality, their 'beliefs' and 'knowledge', if you can offer a SUPERIOR narrative to the 'familiar' narrative they grew up with, they are capable of substitution. And then there are the RAREST OF ALL beings capable of merely ENTERTAINING all the available narratives, without any EMOTIONAL commitment to any of them, which allows them to critically analyse and deconstruct and evaluate the actual ELEMENTS which make up each 'narrative', and construct their OWN narratives from the PARTS of each that they find MOST COMPELLING. And then to keep a completely OPEN MIND about their own construction. And all the other narratives, and their building blocks. So that they never feel any EMOTIONAL NEED to 'commit' to any particular narrative or element of it. They cease becoming EMOTIONALLY INVESTED in any particular narrative. They cease to IDENTIFY with any particular narrative. So any attack on any narrative is NOT defined as a personal attack they need to DEFEND against. To defend the narrative, as a proxy of that narrative. And liable to 'lose face' or 'prestige' or 'status' in the eyes of others, when that narrative is attacked and torn down and deconstructed and found fatuous and absurd. They cease identifying with the narrative, and so can calmly dissect it, like a surgeon. With no 'flinching' or 'empathy' or 'introjection of the self' into the narrative. So that no heroic interventions are felt necessary in attempts to 'resuscitate' it, revive it, or sustain it with 'intensive care', when it loses its life force. So that ALL belief systems become LIVING things. PROCESSES. Rather than dead idols of wood and stone. Which themselves, being dead, can bring only death to others. And never life. To paraphrase that Galilean, would-be reformer of The Cult of Judah, who attempted to do what an earlier 'King of the Jews' had attempted to do. Save the 'Jews' FROM The Cult of Judah. With truth and love this time. Rather than by slaughtering entire cities of their elites and priests and other 'Kohenim'. The survivors merely moved to Babylon, which they occupied, then moved onto Manhattan, then Berlin. And now occupy your own 'People's Democratic Republic of…', through proxies you actually 'vote' for, and SUBMIT to. Yes The Cult of Judah's 'Jew' World Order is a reality. The recent Covid Cult actions demonstrate this beyond any doubt. And if you don't see it, it is because you are blind, or don't WANT to see.

Oh, and re-education centers? Tens of millions of men, women, and children, were worked to death in the 'Quarantine' camps we know as 'Gulags', during the Cult of Judah's reign of terror across the 'Jew'.S.S.R. Why? Because re-education is impossible, when dealing with the average 'Homo Fideo' who, once imprinted with ANY sort of hearsay, whether 'religious' or 'political' or 'scientific', is like a 'write-protected' disc or memory stick. My Cruzer memory stick, replaced twice already, has this same fault. When you try to get it to 'work' at all, it simply 'write-protects' itself. Protecting and defending anything already written on it from being overwritten, or even added to. To prevent any 'updating' or 'revision' or 'correction', let alone erasure and replacement. Now THAT is your typical Shleeple! Your typical 'Homo Fideo'. Believing man is like a memory stick that you can write on ONCE, and 'imprint', and which then, when you try to 'update' it, it reacts, in the opposite way you need it to, and rather than 'open' itself to new, SUPERIOR information and arguments, it simply 'write protects' itself. So that cruzer memory stick is useless to me. Unless you happen to have 'written' something on it of value, it now becomes junk. Rubbish. Useless. And the Cult of Judah has no use for those who prove 'intractable' to 're-writing' of their beliefs. And who won't 'self-censor' to avoid the torture or at least discomfort of the re-education camp, and wear the masks expected of them. The masks required to reinforce the 'collective ignorance'. That situation in which everyone wears the SAME mask, and gives the IMPRESSION to OTHERS that they 'believe' 'The Official Narratives'. That there is 'consensus' and that 'everyone ELSE knows' 'The Official Narrative' is true. Is fact. Is real. So that no-one ever suspects for a moment that 'OTHERS THINK LIKE ME, AND REALISE IT IS ALL LIES, AND WE ARE BEING TRICKED AND DECEIVED'. So that, feeling isolated and ALONE in their dissent, they decide to 'go along to get along', rather than risk being sent off for re-education again. Or worse. Because if you are ALONE in your dissent, there is NO hope of effective resistance. And so of any sort of success in any political action. So you become A-POLITCAL and 'atomised' and de-humanised. You spend most of your energy on 'keeping up appearances' and 'keeping the masks intact', and in the case of Islamic Burkhas and Covid Burkhas (face masks), literally nervously ensure you and your children always have 'their masks up' in public. To avoid the Covid Taliban taking them away to 'Quarantine' and 'education'.

At the heart and soul of our 'reality', the solenoid

A solenoid is a length of wire wound in a closely spaced spiral over a hollow cylindrical non-conducting core, which, when a current is passed through it, generates a fairly uniform magnetic field in the space surrounded by the turns of wire(the interior of the solenoid).

Either end of the solenoid behaves like the north and South Pole of a bar magnet. As the length of the solenoid increases, the interior field becomes more uniform and the exterior field becomes weaker. An ideal solenoid is approached when the turns are closely spaced and the length is much greater than the radius of the turns. In this case, the external field is zero, and the interior field is uniform over a great volume.

In my nascent TROONATNOOR narrative, it is such 'stable fields' which we experience as the world we are familiar with, which our senses RENDER as sights, sounds, tastes, textures, weights, smells, resistance, and so on.

Getting toroidal (with string theory!)

Anyone familiar with my TROONATNOOR guides, and/or 'The Electric Universe' narrative, will be all ears at the mention of the term 'toroid'. A toroid is a device consisting of conducting wire wrapped around a torus (ring) of non-conducting material. With it we can generate an almost uniform magnetic field in an enclosed area.

Now imagine we replace copper wire with the 'strings' of 'string theory', which replace 'atoms' with 'strings', so that my primerty is now a 'string'. A 1. Looped to form a 0. Now if other 1s, (strings) coil around this loop, we have a toroid. With a uniform magnetic field. A sort of 'standing wave' perhaps? And perhaps a solution to our ultimate riddle. Of how 'energy-matter-consciousness' evolves into the forms we are familiar with.

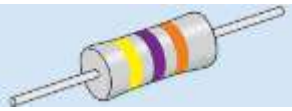
I suspect that together with 'pulse' or 'frequency of vibration of such 'toroids', we have a superior replacement for many characters in 'The Official Narrative', and perhaps a superior, or at least alternative, narrative, worth entertaining, just to see where it might lead us.

I think the 'clue' was always the need for MOVEMENT of the main protagonist in the current official narrative, the electron. And a pulse by definition IS movement. Movement personified. The very definition of constant transformation, change, movement.

Resistors

Resistors are added to circuits to limit current flow, and to act as voltage dividers. More common in circuits employing vacuum-tubes, they are still used in association with Field-Effect Transistors (FETs), and voltmeters.



Composition carbon resistors enclose a compound of carbon graphite and resin bonding material in a nonconductive case with connectors. The proportion of carbon to resin determines the resistance value, and the larger the casing the higher the resistance value. However age and heat can alter (usually *in*crease) this value. One reason why, when trying to 'emulate' 'vintage' audio gear, you need to actually test the component values individually, and not rely on 'official' ratings. The actual resistance may be much higher than it 'should' be. And this might be one reason for the 'pleasing' sonic characteristics you are seeking to reproduce.

While carbon resistors are cheap, they often come with tolerances up to +/- 20%. So if you should test them to determine their actual values before you place them in a circuit. As they may be offering 20% higher, or lower, resistance than they are 'rated' at.

The more expensive metal film resistors have lower tolerances, from between +/- 2% to as low as 0.1% (unattainable with carbon resistors). A film of metal is applied to a ceramic rod in a vacuum The thickness and type of metal used for the film determine its resistance. Leads are attached and the assembly is coated to encase the unit. Like the Anzacs Winston Churchill sent to the slaughter, age does not weary them. They maintain their resistance ratings for life.

The Carbon* film resistor is a compromise between carbon and metal film resistors carbon film resistor. This time the ceramic rod is coated with a film of carbon rather than metal. You get a higher tolerance rating than the carbon resistor, at a lower cost than the metal film resistor.

Metal glaze resistors use a compound of metal and glass applied as a thick film to a ceramic base. The proportion of metal to glass determines the resistance. Tolerance ratings of +/- 1 % to +/-2% are common.

The resistance of Wire-wound resistors, made by winding a piece of resistive wire around a ceramic core , is determined by the material, length, and diameter of the wire used. This type of resistor can handle stronger currents, and operate at higher temperatures, than other types of resistor.

Adjustable wire-wound resistors are coiled around a hollow core, and mounted vertically, so that when they heat up, the hot air rising out of the top sucks cooler air in at the bottom, providing a natural cooling effect. However these are relatively expensive, and take up more space than other types of resistors, and also are prone to more induction when higher frequency currents are involved.

I tried to explain this to the guy who keeps closing my buildings entrance door. It seems he is worried about leaves being blown in? Few people who live on the lower levels of a building have any idea of, or concern about, that fact that heat rises, making it unbearable for those living at the top, who have windows on only one side, facing the hot summer sun all day. But when no-one interferes, I open my door, and all my windows, and the entry door, and the hot air rising naturally draws in cooler air, producing a constant breeze. Until like just now someone decides to close the door. Though they are happy to leave it open in the middle of bitter cold freezing winters as the entire stairwell freezes solid.

Did Alan Turing really break 'The Enigma Code'? And did Mi6 really undermine Winston Churchill's wishes by feeding the Soviets with top secret information? It's true that Winston Churchill was one of the few world leaders, along with leading U.S diplomats including JFK's father, to identify Soviet Communism as a 'Jewish' phenomenon. But was that to warn the world? Or to inform all the Cult of Judah agents and 'Sayanim' who hadn't realised, in order to gain their SUPPORT for the 'Jew'.S.S.R? It's true that, like Pitt the Younger, who pursued war with The Cult of Judah's enemy, Napoleon, against the wishes of the British Public, Churchill was almost single-handedly responsible for the British public being kept ignorant about Hitler's repeated, generous, peace offers, and the British declaration of war against Germany, Both had their massive debts paid off by Cult of Judah agents. Churchill lived a lavish lifestyle, spending most of the day in a drunken stupor, totally unable to communicate, and taking all sorts of pills by the fistful, completely sponsored by the 'Jews'. It was Churchill who pushed through the disastrous and doomed Dardanelles campaign known to Australians and New Zealanders as 'Gallipoli', against the wishes of everyone in every branch of the British military, to secure Palestine for 'The Jews' from the Turks. Was Alan Turing just another victim of Cult of Judah 'Law' regarding homosexuality? Or was he just a bit too aggressive and predatory? Well you don't need a 'Turing machine' called 'Christopher' to decode the colored rings on resistors. The above tables show the most commonly used colors and their meanings.

The power rating of a resistor should be noted, and not exceeded. Resistors should be selected that can handle the highest current the circuit they are placed in is likely to 'see'. Otherwise they can suffer damage. The amount of heat, in Watts, that a resistor will generate, equals the Voltage squared / Resistance. So in a circuit with 10 Volts across it, a resistor with a value of 100 Ohms will have to dissipate 100/100 or 1 Watt of heat. So be sure the resistor you place in this circuit is rated for at least 1 Watt, to avoid risk of heat damage to it.

Alternating currents

Change is what we perceive. It requires memory. Without memory no perception of change is possible. And with no perceiver, that tree falling in the forest falls in vain, if it's intention was to 'make some noise' in the forest. 'Rock' that Sylvan idyll! You can't perceive a repeating pulse, and thus a RATE a.k.a 'frequency' unless you can store the memory of past 'beats' and 'pulses', and thus conceive of a PATTERN per se, in ANYTHING. And thus ascribe MEANING to ANYTHING.

We measure 'sound' in Deci-Bells. 0dB is the softest sound most humans can perceive, in terms of Amplitude. In terms of pitch, most people can perceive a 5 'cent' change in frequency. Some people with 'perfect pitch' are very sensitive to changes in frequency (which our minds render as 'pitch'). They can tell if someone is 1 'cent' 'off' pitch. Off 'key'. So again, we are measuring CHANGE in something. That is what life is all about. Change. Nothing happens in 'heaven'. Nothing changes. That would be hell for anyone who hadn't just recently run there to escape suffering and pain and misery. And soon they would be considering 'taking their chances again' with life, despite all that. Because 'heaven' would soon become a hell of boredom. You won't know what I mean until you've been locked in solitary confinement, with no idea when, if ever, you would be released!

I find the most universal way to 'operationalize' the idea of 'energy' is as pressure pulses. Where pressure refers to relative density, or compression, of whatever substance we are dealing with, followed by its expansion and return to a 'balanced' 'default' 'rest' condition. It's 'ambient pressure'. All these 'states' are reflexive. Relative to each other.

My approach lets us speak clearly using the same words and sentences and concepts, no matter which substances we are dealing with, or which 'form' the energy has taken, has transformed from, and is transforming into.

Energy is always transforming. Into kinetic energy. Heat. Wind. 'Light'. 'Sound'. I put these words in italics because 'light' and 'sound' only exist in our minds. They are how our brains RENDER particular narrow bandwidths of the electromagnetic 'pressure pulse' spectrum when these pressure pulses are travelling /being 'transmitted' through the atmosphere, or some other medium, our senses are attuned to 'receive' and encode and render as 'light' of varying 'colors' and 'intensities' (brightness), and 'sound' of varying 'amplitudes' (loudness) and 'frequencies' (pitch), and duration, and 'timbre' (mix of fundamental frequencies and upper harmonics).

But we are always dealing with 'pressure' differentials. That is why things MOVE. Change position. Change location. And change 'form'.

Two simple rules are that you cannot destroy energy, you can only change its form or 'state'. And that for every action, there is, somewhere within the system, an equal and opposite re-action. Because it is a CLOSED system, ultimately. A single MONAD if you like! A single speaker cone, if you can grok my analogy.

This is the REFLEXIVE nature of reality. Every 'push' is reciprocated with a 'pull'. Their cannot be a 'pull' without a 'push'. Or a 'push' without a 'pull'. Occurring somewhere else in the closed system we call 'life', the universe, and everything'. The 'monad'.

They are literally 'two sides of the same coin'. Pulling the front of the coin pulls the back with it, as if you'd pushed from behind. But you've really pulled it forwards. Car designers found it was more efficient to 'pull' cars rather than 'push' them. First with people pulling rickshaws and carts. Then horses, mules, donkeys, and oxen. Then with front wheel-drive cars. Though purists will opt for a rear-wheel drive for their own reasons, 'pulling' is more efficient than pushing, in most cases. (Just not as much fun for us opposite-lock-ers!).

An airplane propeller, when rotated at speed, produces a NEGATIVE PRESSURE in front of the spinning blades, which PULL (suck) the plane forwards, into the RELATIVELY LOWER AIR PRESSURE FRONT they continually produce and re-produce. Spinning faster produces a greater relative LOWER air pressure, and pulls the plane into it, harder, and faster.

Ophelia's puzzle is thus solved. The lower water pressure beneath her 'sucks' her down to her escape from 'the stings and arrows of outrageous fortune'. Saving her from that 'fate worse than death' which paralyses Hamlet's own decisiveness.

Have you ever wondered how spaceships are supposed to travel 'in the vacuum of space'? According to NASA, whose symbol is a fork-tongued reptile (as in 'White man speak with forked tongue' as in 'you can't believe anything they say or tell you, let alone promise'), space is a vacuum. Which for some reason does not suck up everything around it. I guess its to do with the same 'strong force' that somehow prevents protons in the nucleus of an atom repelling each other? This dogma called 'The strong force' is the equivalent of the 'religion' that 'binds' humans with nothing else in common, together, according to 'The Official Narrative'.

How do you contrive a 'relative vacuum' in an ABSOLUTE vacuum? What would 'jet thrusters' even 'push against', if you want to look at it that way? Have you tried 'pulling yourself up by your bootstraps'? Next time you fall over, 'push against' the air to recover your balance and stop you hitting the ground. Doesn't work, does it! So what's all this 'vacuum of space' then? How are space ships to accelerate and decelerate? Using what form of 'propulsion'? Sure, it all works find under water in a NASA swimming pool, or on Stanley Kubrick's Hollywood movie sets. But in reality?

Water flowing past the same propellers produces a relative negative water pressure behind the propeller, which 'sucks' at the propeller, turning it 'backwards' (relative to the airplane context), as the KINETIC forces exerted, the 'energy', can only 'rotate' around the axel that passes through the center of the propeller. It will be helpful if you can 'picture' things this way, rather than the conventional way of 'the water hitting the front of the propeller forces it to spin.

We tend to think of forces as 'hitting' things. Because our minds turn any technological advance to warfare. To trying to enslave and steal from other people. And force them to 'believe' what we believe. Especially that bit where we are entitled to more than them. Entitled to enslave and exploit them. Entitled to live in houses THEY built and eat the food THEY grew and harvested, and generally appropriate the value THEY produced. And that we are EXCEPTIONS in this. That they must 'respect' our exclusive entitlements. As 'god-given'. As 'states of nature'. As 'beyond question'. As 'natural and normal'. Until they become so 'familiar' that 'everyone knows this to be true'. That 'thou shallt not steal' from US, what we, on the other hand, are completely entitled to, by totally LEGAL means backed by the full violence of the state, 'appropriate' (a nice word for STEAL) from YOU. Call it 'The Ideology of Semitism' if you like. But it is really 'the problem underlying all other problems'. Our innate sense of 'exceptional entitlements to abuse other sentient beings as mere means to our own ends'. We write really ornate 'narratives' that 'justify' and 'explain' and give the 'back-story' on WHY we in particular are entitled to such exceptional privileges and powers, and we call these 'RELIGION'. And those people born into these narratives, these 'religions', simply accept them as 'normal' and 'natural' and 'beyond question' and 'self-evident' and 'proven', simply as they are 'familiar' and thus 'known' to them. They are their NORMAL. And when they are taken out of this 'familiar' situation, they feel uncomfortable, and will do anything to get back to their previous feeling of 'normalcy' where 'everything was comfortingly familiar'. They will avoid 'the unknown' and any time it approaches them, they will back away from it. Fearful of it. Resenting of it.

Those who inherit power and privilege guard it as jealously as the 'god' written into their narratives is 'jealous' of HIS exceptional, exclusive, privileges and powers. It is only natural that they define 'the greater good' as being 'whatever provides the greatest good for THEM and theirs'.

They of course reluctantly share only so much as necessary, of their own powers and privileges with others, as they find necessary, to protect it. So they ally themselves with 'their own kind'. Ensure privilege and power are inherited at birth. That the concentration and centralisation of power and privilege in as few hands as possible, THEIRS, is maintained over the generations. Thus the law of first born sons inheriting everything. To ensure centralisation of power and privilege, and prevent it being 'shared' and 'diluted'.

Kings and Queens, and aristocrats, were the only ones allowed to 'bear arms' and fight for power and privilege. War was 'institutionalised' as a way to contain the spread of power and privilege. To keep it centralised and exclusive. The elites could fight among themselves, winner take all. The poor had no right to defend themselves by any means, including physical force, or self-defence, or restraint, against any actions the elites chose to take in relation to them.

Pressure. Hamlet is under the pressure of his religious indoctrination with the IDEA of hell as punishment for 'self-slaughter'. Ophelia finds a legal loophole in 'the narrative' and 'the LAW', by 'letting the water come to her', to save her from both hells, the one she was living in, and the one her 'religious indoctrination' had IMPRINTED on her mind, in her imagination.

When sunshine or the earth's thermal activities heat air or water, it rises. Leaving a 'relative vacuum' of 'relatively lower air/water pressure' beneath it. Sucking in colder water and air from either side of the region of warming, rising, water/air. This is where 'currents' and 'wind' are born. From the NEGATIVE air pressure differential produced by heated and rising water/air.

Different surface areas of the earth receive different patterns of heat from the sun, at different times of the year, and seasons. So you get quite enduring, patterns of long term 'trade winds' and 'trade currents' in the air and oceans. Sailors would have learned of these 'by accident', and those who survived such 'accidents' told others. And soon a 'pattern' emerged in the minds of the ancient mariners, and suggested to them that they could 'ride' these enduring 'trade winds' and 'trade currents' back and forth around the world, to engage in trade. Or raiding. 'Going Viking'. Or simply to discover new lands. To escape the mess we'd made of the existing, 'old' ones.

The same temperature differentials that produced the rising water/air, and the 'currents' and 'winds' also produces the 'waves' that travel across the ocean to 'break' on the shores of our beaches. Before retreating once more. And if you lay at the edge of the ocean, you will feel the 'Alternating Current' pushing you up to 'earth-ground', then pulling you back into the ocean, to be pushed back up once more. You becoming the ocean's plaything. Ah, all these years perhaps we have been missing the point of Sissyphus's 'game' of 'roll the stone'? By the dog! Yes, dogs understand 'the play's the thing'. They can enter into the 'playful' spirit of LILA, of life. Master throws that stick, I will retrieve it. What fun. Why he does this? Why it is fun? It just is. Action. Change. Disturbance. That's life. Woof! By the Dog!

When it comes to atoms, early on they decided to make the 'bigger' (masculine) proton 'the positive' and the smaller (feminine) electron, 'the negative'. These terms are of course loaded, in that context of masculine and feminine. Where bigger, stronger, take on a value judgement 'positive' meaning. And the 'lesser' feminine predicates are loaded with ideas of inferiority and weakness. When WAR and VIOLENCE are you chief means of organising things, and deciding who must work, and produce, and who gets to play, and consume, then being bigger and stronger usually appears to your advantage, as 'positive' predicates / traits. So we can see how protons came to be 'defined' as 'positively charged'.

But what matters is the REFLEXIVE meanings of 'positive' and 'negative'. They are simply polar OPPOSITES. You could start speaking of protons as having a 'negative' charge and electrons as having a 'positive' charge, and nothing would change. As long as you were consistent. And I'd probably reform the language in a million ways, including this one, given the chance.

The 'negative pressure' in the context of atoms and electromagnetism is the 'drawing power' of a proton without an electron. A 'single' proton with no 'partner'. No 'better half' to 'balance it out'. To make its life comfortable. To offer companionship. The electron and proton are Plato's 'mythical halved two sided being' that are eternally seeking to be reunited, to be 'whole' again.

The proton is the 'stable' partner. It lives in an extended nuclear family. It is the 'nester'. It doesn't leave home. It is the domestic partner in this partnership. It is firmly held in 'bonds' of love? Well, 'the strong force'. And it is usually happily paired off with an electron. Even if they never get to 'consummate' their attraction / love for each other, and 'remain at a distance', their love is strong enough to bind them. And so the 'nuclear family' is balanced, with an electron for every proton. Everyone is 'partnered up'. There is harmony and balance. The atmosphere is calm and neutral.

The negative charges are all neutralised by the positive charges. There is no 'net' charge across the atom. It is 'neutral'. Not a force for change. The electrons and protons go about their lives undisturbed. In peace and harmony.

But then comes a disturbance. Some external forces act upon the more volatile of the electrons. Those furthest from their beloved protons, in the 'outer orbits' of the atom. Those least 'bound' by the attraction of the protons. By virtue of being the most distant from them. For as in most things, the forces of attraction and repulsion exerted by charges decreases with distance. They become 'distant' and 'estranged'. Vulnerable to 'seduction' by other forces of attraction.

And so the timeless story of 'the straying valence electron' is repeated. Leaving a heartbroken proton to seek a new partner. But there are always electrons wandering around. Wanderers seeking romance. Seeking the security of a 'nuclear family'. And the newly 'single' protons are extremely attractive propositions for them. They immediately feel DRAWN to atoms with what we call a POSITIVE charge. But which I would prefer to call a 'negative' charge. To maintain the correspondence with all other forms of relative 'pressure'. Where it is the deficiency of pressure, the relatively LOWER air / water pressure, that is the MOTIVE FORCE.

In this case we are dealing with ELECTRO-MOTIVE force. Electro MAGNETIC force. EMF. Or E. Because that unpartnered proton in the nucleus of that atom, gives the atom as a whole a net POSITIVE charge that the negatively charged, single, electrons, feel so compellingly ATTRACTED to.

But it is the proton that is LURING and SEDUCING the electron. It is 'sucking' the electron in. And if the language of electromagnetism hadn't evolved as it did, and instead we had been given all the insights we've slowly accumulated over centuries, in one 'hit', I think we'd define the proton as 'negative' in the sense of representing the 'attracting force'. The 'sucking' / 'pulling' force'. The 'relatively lower ELECTRICAL pressure'. The relatively lower ELECTRO-MAGNETIC pressure'. And a lot of obfuscation and confusion would be avoided. And we'd be able to immediately track and map the CORRESPONDENCES between ALL forms of attraction and repulsion, of energy, and of interactions, in nature, across the board. We would immediately recognise, intuitively, the 'unity' in the 'plurality' of only apparently discrete, different, forces, processes, and relationships.

But that is something 'the powers that be' don't like us doing. Becoming enlightened about such things. Seeing the unity. They want to construct artificial barriers to unity. Construct ideas of 'intrinsic differences'. Of 'innate' disparity. To divide and conquer us. To keep us fighting along arbitrary, artificial lines THEY have drawn in the sand. So that we behave as the 'charged regions' within a typical conductor, cancelling out each others forces. Forces we could have, if we united them, direct against our REAL and COMMON enemy. Those elites who rule over us. Who treat us as most of us treat other sentient beings we don't consider our equal in 'rights'. As mere means to their own ends. As 'scapegoats' they can relieve themselves of any 'costs' associated with their 'benefits' onto. As vectors for 'carrying away' the burdens and costs of life. Forcing OTHERS to pay the costs for their benefits. To work to produce the value that they consume. To benefit at the cost of others. To enjoy benefits others suffer to produce. Or suffer as a result of their having contrived them into existence.

But right now. Entertain the idea of electrical charges as behaving the same as every other form of energy. As differentials of pressure. Sucking pressure. Pulling pressure. The pressure of ATTRACTION. Air being attracted to relative vacuums / relatively lower air pressure regions. Like people living in an overpopulated country, longingly attracted to the relatively unpopulated Sweden or Germany or America. The relatively lower density of population acting as a 'sucking force' or 'pulling force', in the same way rising warm air/water, sucks in cooler air/water from beneath it, and from either side of it. And thus producing 'winds' and 'currents'. And 'waves'. In this case 'waves of immigration'.

Of course the 'pressures' producing immigration are not just population density. I was just working with the closest correspondence to air density and water density, in terms of how these relate to relative air pressure and water pressure. But there are other 'pressures' involved in immigration. Namely POLITICAL pressures. Such as one nation deliberately sabotaging and destroying the economic prosperity of other nations, and sabotaging and destroying their democratic processes or otherwise functioning political systems that were working fine, up to this point of 'economic and political warfare'. To make these nations less ATTRACTIVE to their inhabitants. Then literally committing war crimes against them, to totally destabilise and destroy them, making 'The West' seem such an ATTRACTIVE proposition, in comparison. RELATIVELY speaking. Reflexively. And then when this economic and political wrecking has been carried out, the same POLITICAL pressures operating then start 'promising' immigrants 'free houses, money for nothing, free healthcare, and opportunities for 'missionizing' the 'pagan West' with the 'true faith' of the immigrants'. These are the final POLITICAL pressures put in place to ATTRACT immigrants to Germany and Sweden and so on. To 'suck them in'. To 'DRAW' them in. Across the 'circuits' the same politicians built, to facilitate their transmission to Germany and Sweden and so on. Using what are superficially 'criminal' networks of people smugglers and so on.

And why? Because of a 'lack' of electrons in the German and Swedish atoms? That is the 'official' message that all the 'speaking heads' and agents of the Cult of Judah will 'stick to'. 'The script' they will all 'read off'. The 'message' they will all stay 'on'. The propaganda they will repeat from morning to night, across the entire full spectrum propaganda machine, on every platform, and from the mouth of every 'authority'. The idea that 'Germany and Sweden NEEDS immigrants'. Like the unbalanced atom needs electrons.

But what they will NEVER be informed of is WHAT they are 'needed' for. Not to produce 'harmony' and 'stabilise' the atom. Not to bring 'balance'. But to bring disharmony. To de-stabilise the atom. With an EXCESS of electrons. Giving the overall atom a NET NEGATIVE CHARGE.

O.K, so now the convention is working in my favour. For electrons, conventionally, in 'The Official Narrative', are defined as having a 'negative' charge. So adding 'too many' electrons, gives the atom an overall NEGATIVE charge. For as long as it has more electrons than protons.

In political and economic terms, this de-stabilises the atom. The nation. Of course the elites benefit, in terms of more people competing for the same jobs. So they can start reducing working conditions and pay. Start demanding longer hours, for less money, and with fewer benefits. They can start increasing taxes to further undermine the living conditions and living standards, of the average worker. They can erode any leisure time they may have had for educating themselves and becoming 'curious' about what was going on. They can ensure that violence on the streets, crime, and 'ethnic unrest' all continue to climb, and thus place the general population under pressure. So that their focus becomes 'staying safe' and 'trying to keep up with inflation and pay the bills on time'. Rather than creative pursuits. Rather than being able to develop their natural curiosity about how the world operates. A curiosity that was always the most dangerous thing for the elites. Who always ruled by deception. By lies. By misdirection. By misinformation. By DECLARING that threats existed which they could then sell protection from, to maintain the base of power underlying all their other powers. That scam known as 'the protection racket'. Given names like 'religion' and 'war on terror' and 'war on drugs' and 'Covid-19' and 'Man-made global climate crisis' and 'home-grown terrorism' and 'right wing extremism'.

Sure, everything is reflexive. Forces 'repel' us. We 'run from' some things. But what you must understand is that it is no accident that some 'threat' appears 'behind you', and that you just happen to end up running in a PARTICULAR direction. The equal and opposite reaction is to 'run away from' a threat 'in the opposite direction' that it is coming from. Right? And you do this 'of your own free will'. And with GREAT motivation! No-one has to 'push' you, right?

But there's the rub. That 'threat' is imaginary. It exists ONLY in your MIND. It is an IDEA that was put there. IMPRINTED on your mind. Deliberately. Deceptively. Mendaciously. Maliciously. The 'authorities' yell 'behind you, quick, run' and no sooner are you, as far as you feel of your own free will, motivated by FEAR to put as great distance between you and 'the threat' 'behind you', taking the shortest path, that of the straight line, AWAY FROM THE THREAT.

That's how we are trained and conditioned to think of our actions. Our freely willed actions. Actions we feel

WE have chosen, for ourselves.

That we are ESCAPING something. Running AWAY FROM something. Something we find REPELLANT.

So we never stop to consider WHERE we are running TO. We are focussed on getting AWAY FROM something. More than on where we are HEADING.

And what few people ever realise is that we have been UNOBTRUSIVELY DIRECTED in a PARTICULAR DIRECTION. Using the simple law of 'equal and opposite reaction'. Place a 'threat' at a certain angle to us, and we can be relied on to run away at the same angle, but in the opposite direction.

You can paint an X on a spot somewhere. Draw a beeline to a person. Then continue it through them. Then DECLARE that some 'immediate and imminent threat' is coming from that direction, and you can bet you last billion dollars that they will immediately, without much reflection or consideration, RUSH OFF directly to that X that you marked out for them. Where YOU want them to be. Where YOU want them to go. Where YOU want them to head towards. The direction YOU have chosen for them to take.

And all the while they are confidently confidence that 'it was MY choice' to come here. To go this way. To take this path. To go in this direction. Whatever sort of direction it was. Economic. Political. Geographical. Intellectual. Philosophical. Ideological. Religious. Medical. Educational.

This is how 'protection rackets' have always worked to the benefit of those organising them. Usually people who had some existing power, which they leveraged, via this 'protection racket', into much greater, more centralised, more exclusive, more elitist, power. One form of power, such as physical dominance, or charisma, or any other 'accidental' form of power, could then be leveraged and amplified and extended to provide all the OTHER forms of power. Such as wealth, employing others as extensions of your own physical power a.k.a hiring soldiers and arming them, and hiring 'charismatic' people to become the 'priests' of your new 'cult', and paying 'social media influencers' of whatever form they take in your times, to 'spread the gospel according to you', and act as your public relations officers and marketing executives, and paying poets to wax lyrical about you, write songs praising your supposed good qualities, and generate personality cults around you, and your new 'regime'. You then build your 'pyramidal structure' of 'trickle down benefits' from the top down. Adding layers of beneficiaries all loyal to you and your regime. Until everyone is squabbling over petty privileges and benefits that you are in control of distributing. You of course hire people to do all the 'work' involved. And simply ensure your own security, to maintain your position at the top of the pyramidal structure. You are insulated from any accountability now, so you can be as ruthless as you like. While ensuring 'the public perception' of you as a 'benefactor' and 'glorious leader' of 'the people'. Hell, you can even call your nation 'The People's Democratic Republic of …' , well, whatever the experts tell you will make the 'thralls' imagine they are 'free' and live in a 'free and democratic republic' where THEIR will is done. And where YOU, their doting 'father', ensures their security and prosperity. Working day and night for THEIR benefit!

Of course I was under a lot of pressure to get all that out. And its all about seeking greater CLARITY. Making things CLEARER. As CLEAR as possible. Making TROONATNOOR as TRANSPARENT as possible. To make understanding as ACCESSIBLE to as many people as possible.

And the thing we need to be clear about, in terms of electromagnetism, is that a 'positive' charged atom is one with a DEFICIENCY of electrons. And in terms of pressure, deficiency is usually a negative. And it is negative pressure that 'sucks' and 'draws' and 'pulls' at air and water, and electrons.

To recap. Protons are defined as 'positively' charged. And electrons are defined as 'negatively' charged. When an atom has too few electrons relative to the number of protons in its nucleus, it thus is defined by the relative excess of POSITIVE charges in the atom. There are more PROTONS than electrons. And thus the net charge of the atom is POSITIVE.

But this is state of DEFICIENCY. What in other contexts would be treated as a 'low pressure system'. Which always exerts a DRAWING or SUCKING or PULLING force. In the case of warmer water rising, this force sucks/pulls/draws in water from beneath, and either side, of the rising warmer water. The same goes for rising warmer air. Either side we get 'winds' which will 'blow' towards the column of rising warmer air. And it is this rising column of warmer air that is in fact SUCKING and DRAWING and PULLING in the air. It is the lower pressure system which provides the MOTIVE FORCE.

And is no different with atoms, protons, and electrons, and electromagnetic forces. A relative deficiency, a relatively lower pressure, is what ATTRACTS electrons to an atom.

And a 'flow' or 'oscillation' of electrons in a conductor, and in a circuit, IS a 'sucking' or 'drawing' or 'pulling' or ATTRACTING of electrons by the POSITIVELY CHARGED atoms (any time the atom finds itself IN that state) of the negatively charged electrons. So if we contrive to have atoms deficient in electrons on the right side of a circuit, they will naturally attract / pull / draw / suck electrons from the left side of the circuit, as long as there is a RELATIVE abundance of electrons on that side.

Why do I insist it is 'drawing' 'sucking' 'pulling'? Well I'm only really ENTERTAINING the idea as the MOST compelling way to approach electricity. It is lower pressure that 'pulls' and 'sucks' and 'draws' air, and water, to form wind and ocean currents. And the moon that 'pulls' the oceans to produce tides. So why should electricity BEHAVE differently.

Though then there IS the problem of AC, and 'The Official Narrative' describing how it is generated. And the fact that it does 'push' AND 'pull' at electrons. Displacing them by 'repelling' electrons. The FORCE of REPULSION producing one phase, one half of the CYCLE. With the force of attraction producing the other half. So that electrons are 'propelled' forwards and backwards in a circuit.

So we need to ENTERTAIN 'The Official Narrative' mostly as it stands. Just try to highlight where most people STOP attempting to 'work out what is actually happening' and 'express it in simply sentences that describe the BEHAVIOR of electrons, in the context of supposed FORCES acting upon them, in meaningful ways that can be applied in ANY electrical context, to describe ANY behaviours. So that we are not continually 'mixing metaphors' and really contradicting ourselves, but trying to make it sound like we haven't, and that 'we really DO 'know' what we are talking ABOUT.

Negative to Positive

Firstly, if Alternating Current reverses its direction of flow at regular intervals, what does this mean in terms of electricity 'flowing' from negative to positive? That's a question I'll leave open until I better understand 'The Official Narrative'!

The way we talk about and describe, and even the symbols we use in formulas and equations about, electricity, adds a HUGE burden upon anyone trying to understand it.

The concepts of 'positive' and 'negative' charges are reflexive. They simply denote binary absolute opposites. (Though qualities which emerge reflexively out quantities of protons relative to quantities of electrons.)

If I had the power to, I would define protons as negatively charged, and electrons as positively charged, to maintain a correspondence with positive and negative and pressure.

For using the conventional language, an atom gains a POSITIVE charge when it has fewer electrons than protons. So that the positive charge of the relative excess of protons in its nucleus dominate, and give the atom a net positive charge. The relative excess of positively charged protons over negatively charged electrons, means the net charge of the atom as a whole is positive.

And using the conventional language, an atom gains a NEGATIVE charge when it gains electrons over and above its usual complement. So that the relative excess of electrons in the atom dominates, and gives the atom a net negative charge. The relative excess of negatively charged electrons over positively charged protons in its nucleus means the net charge of the atom as a whole is negative.

And remember it is the electron that is the protagonist of this narrative. Pro-tagonist. It is the primary 'mover'. Protons are 'stuck' in their nucleus. And though it is their power of attraction that draws electrons to them, it is ultimately the electrons, being infinitely smaller and lighter and more mobile, that do the moving, and thus produce what we call 'electrical currents'. The currents we then harness as old school 'mill' operators 'harvested' the energy of a flowing stream. It is the MOVEMENT of the electrons that interests us, and which we benefit from. Even as it is the protons power of attraction that is, ironically, what Aristotle would call 'the Prime Mover'. The impulse. The motivation. The driver. The force compelling the electron to 'wander' and 'migrate' and undergo its 'diaspora'.

All this confuses the typical situation in other contexts where positive pressure is an excess of something, and negative pressure is a relative deficit of something. Such as water pressure and air pressure. Where it is a POSITIVE EXCESS that we think of as 'pressure'. Where all other things being equal, any imbalance naturally seeks to balance itself out, like Adam Smith's 'Invisible Hand' (under conditions which have not obtained for the last century or more namely the ABSENCE of globalism, and the conspiracies of the kind which contrived said globalism).

The way to overcome such confusion, if it ever enters your mind as it did mine, is to remember we are talking about QUANTITY of electrons. They just happen to have a negative CHARGE. So it is still a question of PRESSURE. Of QUANTITY. Of excess. Seeking to relieve itself, and 'balance out' by discharging the excess.

We can contrive to produce lower air pressure in front of a propeller, by building up higher air pressure behind it, by spinning a propeller, to pull an airplane forwards into that low pressure system.

We can contrive to produce lower water pressure behind a hydro-electric turbine, by building up higher water pressure in front of it, so that the turbine is sucked *back*wards into that lower pressure system, and by using the same design for an airplane propeller, ensure that this 'sucking' force rotates the propeller around a shaft through its axis, to produce 'torque' / turning force.

So in these cases we are intuitively (once we fully comprehend what is happening) contriving for the existence of localised higher and lower pressure systems. In front of and behind propellers, in the examples given. And thinking in terms of 'pressure' is intuitive. And in this context POSITIVE PRESSURE is logically 'pushing' forwards or backwards or sideways, and NEGATIVE PRESSURE is logically 'pulling' or 'sucking' forwards, or backwards, or sideways.

But unfortunately due to the way the language used to describe electrical phenomena, the BEHAVIOUR of characters in 'The Official Narrative' concerning 'Electricity', has evolved, the 'positive pressure' is ultimately the resultant of negative charges repelling each other.

Sure negative charges 'suck' and 'pull' at positive charges. The narrative has the attraction of positive charged things for negative charged things as being the 'glue' that binds electrons to the positively charged nucleus. Meanwhile that narrative requires us to 'suspend disbelief' and claim a 'special condition' pertaining EXCLUSIVELY and EXCEPTIONALLY (mark that word / concept / idea of exceptionalism well!) that the positively charged protons in the nucleus itself for some reason remain tightly bound together. Requiring an addition to 'The Official Narrative's 'cast of characters' , 'The Gluon'. At least THIS time they used logically descriptive language, rather than naming the character in honour of someone, and using the first letter of a word from their native language to denote it!

But the upshot of all this is that it is the NEGATIVELY CHARGED 'particles', in 'The Official Narrative' that produce the pressure, rather than the positively charged ones.

And here's the thing. I bet most of us conceive of airplane propellers as PUSHING planes forward via the 'rearward thrust' of the propeller. And that the water in the container with a relative excess of water pushes water into the container with the relative deficiency. And that the cell of the DC battery with the excess electrons is 'relieving' itself of this excess pressure by 'pushing' electrons away and out of the cell.

When really the propeller and plane are 'sucked forwards' rather than 'pushed'. And the cell of the DC battery with the relative deficiency, 'sucks', 'pulls', and as they say 'draws' (like a donkey 'draws' a cart) electrons from the cell with the excess, to itself.

But the water? It seems to maintain the correspondence between DC battery cells and water containers with a relative 'excess' and 'deficiency' of water, we'd have to introduce a pump to the cell with the 'relative deficiency', that sucked air out, and thus produced a relative vacuum in the top of that water container, which would then 'draw' or 'suck' the water out of the other container. To maintain some closer correspondence. When in fact it is the positive water pressure in the 'excess' water container that pushes water out, and into the 'deficient' water container.

A-ha, I hear the reader who has closely followed my TROONATNOOR enterprise. He's going to say something relating to another character, 'Gravity', who plays a vital, official, role, in the wider 'narrative'. But I'm not going to, yet. Let's just say that 'Gravity' is neither a necessary character to make the 'plot' 'work', nor does their addition generate fewer questions than that authors of the narrative, the 'directors' and 'script writers', claim it 'answers'. But just for now consider the difference between pushing and pulling/sucking. You get the same resultant directional change and movement no matter which way you conceive of the forces operating. Does gravity 'suck'? Ask anyone who's fallen off a ladder recently! Would their opinion risk being coloured and distorted by bias?

Have you ever dived under water? Felt 'under pressure'? Felt the pressure in your ears and eyes and nose? Maybe found it unbearable, like myself? That's air expanding, so a bit of a 'red herring'. Now if the earth was spinning, the centrifuge effect would send us spinning out into, wait for it, 'The Vacuum of Space', if you can trust NASA narrators (which I'd seriously advise against, seeing as they are telling you, in your face, with their official logo of the serpent's split tongue that they 'speak with split tongue', as the Native American Indians put it, and can NOT be trusted. In fact using that log is the visual equivalent of MOSSAD's official written mission statement of 'Make War By Deception').

At the very least, all animals and living things would be 'taller than they are wide'. O.K, one box checked for that 'official narrative'. But water would also be 'centrifugally pushed outwards' and all the fish and stuff would be expected to 'rise to the top'. Like the scum we call 'Authorities' who have been pre-selected and groomed to 'rise to the top' of the ever shrinking number of 'peak organisations', with the reflexive ever growing CENTRALISATION of power in every FEWER hands. Think 'Central Committee' and 'Central Planning'. And CCCP. And U.S.S.R and ViCCCtoria, aUSStRalia.

But if you do sink down into the ocean, you'd feel the 'weight' of tons of water above you, pushing down on you. The only reason divers need to wear weights and submarines require 'ballast' is because of the air they carry. It is lighter than the water. And wants to 'rise to the top', like the all those 'greed is good' useful idiot politicians and 'authorities' lining up at the Cult of Judah money trough, begging to be 'used' by them, pre-selected and groomed by them, and later rewarded by them, after they've completed their 'economic wrecking' missions and enslaved their nations, as proxies for the Cult of Judah One World Dictatorship 'Jew' World Order. You know, the one they STRAIGHT UP TOLD YOU ABOUT IN PERHAPS THE MOST PUBLISHED BOOK IN HISTORY 'THE BIBLE'. Even the Muslims read 'The Old Testament'. Just as most 'Christians' do. Especially those Zionist Christians like TRUMP. The biggest Cult of Judah puppet since, well, almost every U.S.S.A president before him.

Oh, so, under pressure as usual to combine the MOST valuable things I have to share with you, with the things you wanted and expected from this guide, let's get back to that subject, shall we?

If plane wings 'draw' the plane forward by generating a reflexively, relatively, lower pressure 'front' ahead of the plane, and DC battery cells 'draw' power from the cell with the excess of electrons, where are we headed in terms of defining 'electrical' current as being produced by 'pressure'?

Does it matter if something is 'pulled-sucked' or 'pushed'?

Does adding a voltage across a conductor 'push' electrons within the conductor AWAY FROM the source voltage? Or does the EARTH end of the circuit the conductor forms SUCK-PULL at the relative excess of electrons that have appeared at the source voltage end of the circuit?

And does it 'neutralise' the whole 'potential' for debate when we consider that most naturally occurring electrical currents are ALTERNATING CURRENT that both pushes and sucks-pulls?

Because that is what alternating current does. AC currents cycle through these actions, in most household power supplies, at a RATE of 60 times per second. Reversing direction. Reversing their actions. Pushing and repelling first. Then sucking-pulling and attracting. Completing a full 'flip-flop' faster than the World Health Organisation on whether their 'novel' covid-19 virus could be spread from human to human, or whether facemasks were 'indicated or contra-indicated', or whether 'social distancing' was 'indicated or contra-indicated'. Household AC currents operating at 60Hz complete 60 full 'cycles' of 'push repel – pull attract' every seconds. Hence the 'Hertz' a.k.a 'Cycles per second'. So the point would seem 'moot'. Not so important. Such as whether people walked into slavery because they fell for the whole 'Official 911 Narrative', or 'The Official Holocaust Narrative', or 'The Official Narrative of World War One and World War Two', or 'The Official Narrative of Judaism / Christianity / Islam / Marxism', or the latest Cult of Judah branding for the same old Cult of Judah, 'The Co2Vid Cult' with its 'Official Covid and man-made global climate crisis narrative'.

Of course The Cult of Judah has the power to make you FEEL positively about something any sane healthy rational reasonable INFORMED and LUCID person would feel negatively about. To define negative conditions and situations as positive ones. Like defining prison as 'protective custody'. And slavery as 'freedom FROM having to make decisions for yourself'. Such as those decisions we once 'voted on', rather than allowed 'authorities' to DECLARE how we were going to respond to, and act. Like Bill Gates'/Microsoft's 'forced updates' which we used to get to decide if, and when, we would accept, and now have FORCED upon us, at the most inconvenient times, whether we want them or not. Along with Dog knows what else Microsoft and their owners are doing with our computers. Like Bill Gates and his World Health Organisation cronies have done with most of the Western world's government workers, giving them the choice of unemployment and blacklisting from their profession, or 'volunteering' to take 'the jab' of, again, Dog knows what. Because it CAN not have ANYTHING to do with protecting them from ANY virus, if, as we have no reason to doubt so far, Covid-19 exists only in 'The Official Covid 19 Pandemic Narrative' and NOT, outside of it, in the 'real world', where viruses have to live, and survive, and replicate. A feat that 'bat virus' they tried to infect other animals with has failed, so far, to achieve!

So of course when you are living in a CULT world, among CULT THRALLS, everything bad is defined as 'double plus GOOD'. Going from a chocolate ration of 120g to 100g is joyously received by the cult thralls as a great INCREASE in the chocolate ration. The 'Ministry of Truth' deal exclusively in propaganda, censoring the truth, and violently and horrifically punishing those who dare seek or publish it, and the 'Defence Department's role is to instigate wars, and commit war crimes, and ensure total and eternal war, in the pursuit of peace, which can never be tolerated, as war is the END in itself, being the best MEANS to TOTAL CONTROL having been invented SINCE the idea of using declarations of pandemics. Oh, and if you fall foul of Big Brother in any way, they will take you to the 'Joy Division' for 'advanced interrogation and re-education procedures', which used to go under that quaint name of 'torture'. All legal of course. Thus 'ethical'. 'Is it ethical? As I said, this is standard operational procedure'. Yes, you've said that. Yes, is there something wrong with you, I've told you this is how our government has ALWAYS operated, and they ARE government, so how could it NOT be 'ethical'? Whatever THEY decide is 'O.K' is, by definition 'ethical'. Oh, you want to spread those vicious lies that they CHANGED the definitions recently? Oh, now I see what's going on here. You're one of those tin-foil hat conspiracy theory nut-job homegrown terrorists. Yep. Male. Blue eyes. Fit the profile perfectly. Don't worry, the Ministry of Joy know how to 'help' poor lost souls like yourself 'see the light' and 'come back to the fold'!

But that is not the context for this rubric. I've explained why I feel someone like me is the best person to be writing a guide on a subject they 'know' nothing about. LITERALLY. Not just in the deeply lucid and critical philosophical sense. But in the 'dummies' sense.

And for much of it I've stumbled into a habit of treating electrical charges like 'pressure'. Where 'an excess of anything' logically defines something as have a POSITIVE pressure, vis a vis the area where there is a deficiency of the same thing. So that two mirror-image containers of water, joined at the base by a tube through which water can freely flow, set up on perfectly level ground, and all other things being equal, if you place more water in one of them, above the line of the joining pipe, this 'tank' will be defined reflexively as having an 'excess' of water relative to the other tank, and water will automatically flow, under a pressure, and at a rate, relative to the proportional excess / deficiency between the two tanks, from the tank with MORE to the tank with LESS, until they both enjoy EQUALITY. And there is no differential in WATER PRESSURE between the two tanks, at the level of the pipe. And thus not MOTIVE FORCE pushing or pulling the water through the pipe. The water levels in both tanks will be level.

So the question of 'does the deficient tank suck at the teat of the excess tank like a parasite' never becomes compelling. It seems clear the water flows from excess to deficiency. Thanks to 'gravity'.

But wait, if you've ever dropped your favourite coffee cup, or even cup of coffee, let alone fallen off a cliff, or ladder, you'll agree that GRAVITY SUCKS! But hold on again. Surely EVERYTHING seems to LOVE gravity. It feels a FATAL ATTRACTION for this femme fatal in 'The Official Narrative'. Is it a case of 'the implicit tragedy of romance'? The non-plus-ultras of love? That 'love will tear us apart'. Well surely those guys and gals at 'Joy Division' HQ will 'love you to bits'. Bits they will later have to dispose of in the state refuse burning facilities. Some of which will rival art galleries for their art work. (Ahhhh, Vienna!).

So, to cut to the chase (the exciting bit of the film everyone came to see, or at least most of the male audience anyway), I've often fallen into the HABIT, very UN ZEN-like of me, but very HUMAN, and something we all need to exercise the most ruthless and self-conscious CONSTANT VIGILANCE AGAINST, of thinking about EXCESS as 'positive' in terms of charges. When it is merely excess in terms of QUANTITY. As in 'GREED IS GOOD'. As in water pressure. And air pressure.

Oh, and here's the thing. Anyone who's lost their property, friends, or even own life, to a cyclone, hurricane, or similar strong winds, will implicitly agree that WIND SUCKS too. But most of us think of it as BLOWING. And in other contexts the two are used to suggest the very SAME action. Which is, by chance, the most SCIENTIFIC way TO think of that particular, NON-FELLACIOUS idea.

Does wind blow or suck? Is water pushed out of the 'full' container or sucked into the 'empty' container? Do atoms 'suck' at electrons or do electrons 'force themselves on atoms' in typical white male patriarchal' fashion?

Do the atoms in the 'deficient' cell of the DC battery suck the electrons from the DC battery cell with the 'excess' of electrons, or do the atoms with the excess PUSH OUT those pesky excess electrons, into the 'deficient' cell? To 'relieve the excess pressure'.

Are we dealing with ATTRACTION or REPULSION? Or BOTH? Like one of those supposed 'mutual' breakups of informal couples and divorces of legally bound couples. Is it like crony capitalism, where the arrangement between the slaves and capitalists is considered 'freely entered into and mutual'. Assuming the slave had complete and free access to ALL the information pertaining to the relationship they have given their 'informed consent' to. That the capitalists wouldn't dream of misleading them, withholding critical information, or deceiving them, into making a BAD decision NOT in their own interests, but excessively imbalanced in favour of the capitalist so generously offering to 'employ' them or set up their business in 'their community'.

You might have guessed I am talking about the much unspoken about, as if it never happened, and which no circuit diagrams reflect as having had happen, change in 'The Official Narrative' about electricity in which it once 'flowed' from negative to positive, and now 'flows' from positive to negative'.

Before we even start with electricity, let's consider wind

Wind is the result of the sun heating different areas of the Earth's surface at different rates. Hot air rises and generates a relatively low pressure system beneath it. And here is the crucial thing to remember, as your first taste of something that probably comes as 'counter-intuitive' to many people. As the hot air rises, cool air is sucked into the RELATIVE vacuum beneath it. 'Elvis has left the building', leaving a 'void' in our lives. In this case air molecules have 'left the region', leaving a relative area of low air pressure. And nature always moves to balance out everything. Every action has an equal and opposite reaction. In this case the action was 'removing air molecules', so the equal and opposite re-action will be 'adding air molecules'. This is what we call 'wind'. And which we say 'blows'. When really, it is 'sucked in'. It's all a matter of reflexivity. But precision in language is key to all our 'human' problems. Our failure to employ the most precise language formulations and expressions available to us is what has led to us becoming enslaved to the Cult of Judah, in all its various 'disguises' and 'brandings'.

Wave your arms around, or stand in a gale, and consider that air has MASS. It is not 'nothing'. When it is compressed, under pressure, it can literally knock you off your feet. Knock down houses. When it is de-pressurized, it can 'suck up' houses from their foundations, and drop them miles away. Along with anything else in the path of the extreme low pressure system. It is the LOW pressure that 'sucks' and 'pulls' at the air. When war air rises, it leaves an area of relatively low air pressure beneath it, which cooler air is 'sucked into', like a relative vacuum. That is all a vacuum cleaner is. An artificial relative vacuum. The contrivance of a relatively low air pressure inside the vacuum cleaner, that thus 'sucks up' air and anything else.

Remember that the MASS of air that is accelerated and which we refer to as 'wind', is really being 'pulled' into the relative lower air pressure in front of it. Airplane propellers generate lower air pressure in front of them, which pulls the plane forward. Aerofoils like airplane wings, generate lower pressure above them, thus 'pulling' the plane up into the sky. Combine them and you've got a recipe for flight.

We tend to focus on the air the propeller pushes behind it, and the wind 'blowing'. And while we are dealing with a reflexive situation, it is more helpful to break the habit of thinking of wind as 'blowing' and to start thinking of it as 'sucking'. For the 'active' element is always the LOWER pressure. The lower air pressure in this case. It will help us make more sense of the idea of voltage 'drawing' current across a circuit. It will help us conceptualize what 'deficiency' means and how it 'draws' and 'sucks'. Rather than 'excess' pushing.

And yes, again, we are dealing with reflexivity here. High and low, positive and negative, are relative to each other. Plato wanted there to be a 'high' that all other 'highness' merely 'shared in'. Was a poor copy of. Like some believe this world is a poor copy, made by a demi-urge, of the real deal. That this is a poor imitation of another 'best of all possible worlds', constructed by an inferior 'god-like' though not quite omnipotent or competent, deity. The 'demi-urge'.

I will see how I go with this 'sucking' and 'drawing' business. It still feels more intuitive to think of 'water pressure' as something 'pushing'. And wind as something 'blowing'. And electrical energy as something 'pushing' electrons around. But we'll see if that has been hindering us in our quest for true understanding. And where, simply by 'entertaining' alternative ways of seeing things, this alternative approach leads us. What higher understanding it leads us to.

In the beginning

Now let's start at the very beginning. It's a very good place to start, as advised by that great philosopher, Maria! The narratives main characters include what few Cult Thralls would define as a 'Nuclear family'. The Atoms Family. They are polyamorous but strictly hetero. Think 'Mormon' perhaps! Only in this family, there are as many men as women. A true balance. No-one need go to bed alone! So maybe let's think more 'hippy commune?' At the core are the protons (fathers) and neutrons (mothers), with the kids (electrons) always whizzing about the place, creating beautiful chaos for them. This sort of 'extended family' seems to work, as long as the number of children never exceeds the number of fathers who are expected to 'provide' for them. So when the number of electrons (children) matches the number of protons in the Nucleus (fathers), this relationship is quite STABLE. It is BALANCED. The police could find no reason to lay CHARGES against them. You see the fact of their polygamy is disguised by the equal numbers of men and women, who can always claim to be 'exclusive' with just one other of the other sex! So this ATOMS FAMILY has NO CHARGES outstanding against it.

As said, the kids represent a NEGATIVE charge. A drain on the family's resources. Hence the rule of one father providing for each child. That ensures the fathers ability to meet the needs of the children. All get equal access to the resources they need, and the luxuries they might desire. None need be jealous or envious of another. Hence no 'sibling rivalry' occurs.

So that is the Idyll we could hope to see for every ATOMS FAMILY. But sadly this utopian situation rarely endures. Every plot needs conflict and crises and change. A little drama. It needs a victim. Who faces challenges that they will, in the 'second act turnaround', overcome. Otherwise 'boring'. The narrative of 'The Atoms Family' would never be a hit with the movie-going public! This gaming platform would never become popular with the 'gamers'. This experience engine would get the lowest ratings on all social medial platforms Multi-verse wide.

When any such ATOMs family finds itself with more children (electrons) than protons (fathers) these 'extra drains on resources' represent a NEGATIVE charge for the Atom. The New World Order cops might even start investigating, because it appears someone has exceeded their 'one child per family' policy. They may be facing legal CHARGES too!

So an Atom with more NEGATIVELY CHARGED ELECTRONS than it has POSITIVELY CHARGED PROTONS, is said to have a n OVERALL NEGATIVE CHARGE. We must consciously keep this in mind at all times. IT IS AN EXCESS OF ELECTRONS TO PROTONS THAT GIVES AN ATOM A NEGATIVE OVERALL CHARGE. So that we refer to it as, NEGATIVELY CHARGED.

(Got to check notes to see if the term 'ionisation' refers only to atoms that are positively charged after having lost electrons to other atoms, such as occurs during electrical storms and lightning strikes)

And as 'like charges repel' each other, an Atom with a negative charge will repel electrons with a negative charge, and other atoms likewise suffering from such a 'negative' charge.

And the FORCES of repulsion will act over distances, and even THROUGH mediums that not only are poor conductors, but even as close to perfect insulators as can be engineered. Even through that famous 'vacuum of space' claimed to exist, somehow, when you escape Earth's gravity. Like Major Tom, conspiring this whole time against NASA to get them to finance and engineer his 'big escape' and return trip HOME. Is that Aldeberan? The 'Eye of Taurus'?

So far we have TWO negatively charged characters in our plot. Our narrative. Our story. Atoms with more electrons than protons. And electrons themselves. So when 'PUSH COMES TO SHOVE', when we are dealing with the part of the interaction that BLOWS, we have the two instigators clearly identified. These are 'the usual suspects'. No sooner do they arrive on the scene than you can be sure they will start pushing other negatively charged atoms and electrons around.

But for some reason there are characters who just feel a fatal attraction to these 'bad boys'. Good girls from good homes even! It's basically a LAW of attraction. Opposites attract, right?

And while you might like to imagine that SLAVES and MASTERS are opposites, and thus attracted to each other, you'd be wrong. You see the only difference between slave and master was their 'luck'. They BOTH love the IDEA of slavery. Of exploiting other sentient beings as mere means to their own ends. But only one of them managed to get access to the POWER required to FULFIL their ambitions. Both actively WILLED this situation. Those who ended up on the 'losing' end of the equation simply didn't count on that happening.

They felt ENTITLED to good fortune. They made the correct sacrifices to their gods, and performed the required rituals, but somehow their gods didn't intercede on their behalf. Must have been busy. But any day now they will realise their error, and CORRECT it, right? And the slave will ascend to their RIGHTFUL place, among the masters. And thus SLAVERY, as intended, and WILLED, will achieve the ends all participants had intended for it. To benefit THEMSELVES. At the expense of OTHERS. To enjoy benefits, pleasures, comforts, security and leisure, paid for by the suffering, discomfort, and sweat and toil, and sacrifices, and risk taking, of OTHERS. To REDISTRIBUTE the COSTS and BENEFITS completely UNFAIRLY between master and slaves. Which of course always requires there be many many more slaves than masters. So the slaves must be encouraged to reproduce. By making them THINK and CONFIDENTLY 'KNOW' that any day now, they will ascend to the ranks of the masters. That they will be free. Even better, make them IMAGINE that they are already free! That is state of slavery and master is simply 'the best of all possible worlds'. A state of nature. Or a state decreed by 'the Dog/s'. Dog-given. And in EVERYONE's best interests. Slave and master alike. The Dog/s ordained one person should be slave. Another Master. And who would dare argue with 'The Dog/s'? Especially given their reputation for cruelty and 'lightning quick escalation to anger', and unrelenting fixation on the slightest of 'offenses' memory and need to punish anyone who 'offended' them with fates worse than death, not just for the 'perpetrator', but for generations of their offspring!

O.K, so we've settled that. Slaves and masters are victims and beneficiaries of the same willing. They both willed the situation. A few got what they wanted. The rest got what they didn't expect. And you'd hope they might learn their lesson, right? And stop WILLING slavery? For ANY sentient being. I mean they had that wise Obadiah to set them straight on all this. 'For as you do (will) unto (for) others, so shall be done unto YOU'. He must have been happy with his singular genius in expressing 'The Eternal Problem' so clearly. And surely he could leave everyone to come to, what surely must be, the compelling, unavoidable, conclusion, one they could OWN, as being their own logical deduction, that they should Do (and WILL) unto (for) others, what they would like to have done (willed) unto (for) themselves? No? I mean, what does that SAY about the beings we are dealing with here? Their notions of EXCEPTIONALISM and special ENTITLEMENT? The DELUSION that they will be immune from what they will FOR OTHERS! As if we were NOT all equally REFLEXIVELY liable to the SAME LAW. The same EQUATION. Accountable to the same principle. That somehow each of us felt we were ENTITLED to better fortune than the 'others'. To reside, permanently, among 'the masters'. The beneficiaries of slavery. Rather than its victims.

Now here's the thing, were we 'sucked into' this scam? Victims of some clever salesperson who convinced us of this? Perhaps, wait for it, the current slave masters themselves? Seeing new slaves? Promising them they were being recruited into the elite classes, to trick them into giving their' informed consent' to participation in the scam? Then when the new volunteer slave woke up in slavery, did they assume 'there's been some mistake, and it will be corrected any moment now'. And did the 'complaints department' give them every reason to be confident, advising them to 'sit tight, and work as usual while we investigate the matter and get back to you. Don't worry, it won't take long for us to sort out this mistake!' And did they ever 'get back to them'?

Or were we 'pushed' into the situation we find ourselves in today? Maybe we were trying to escape from something. Like boredom? Did that 'bird of prey' finally fall upon us? So that ANY experience seemed like a positive change. Simply to ESCAPE that intolerable boredom?

Or maybe we just found the idea of inequality and exploitation offered a great platform for all sorts of DRAMATIC experiences. Oh the horror. The pathos. The Bathos. The emotions. The drama. Surely making for 'compelling viewing'. And if we are dealing with fully immersive gaming platforms, then surely there is going to be a market for such 'experience engines'. Just as we today see a large market for 'horror films' and 'tragedy' and even comedy at the expense of hapless victims of life's cruel jokes!

Does it matter? If gravity sucks or pulls? If electrons are pushed or 'drawn'. If motive forces are the result of negative or positive 'charges' or 'pressure'?

How do you think a propeller on an airplane or submarine works? By pushing the air backwards, and thus propelling the plane forwards, by PUSHING it forwards? Or is that 'pushing back of the air' merely one STAGE in a longer process. Merely producing a relative imbalance in air pressure. Producing a relative LOW PRESSURE FRONT in FRONT of the propeller, which will SUCK and PULL the plane forwards? Does it make a difference how you visualise it? Or is it merely REFLEXIVE. BOTH elements must be present for the resultant, 'forward movement' to be obtained? Because you don't GET the 'sucking-pulling' of the low pressure in front of the propeller, without having first 'pushed back' air behind the propeller, generating a reflexive, relative, HIGH PRESSURE system BEHIND the propeller, which you could easily 'see' as 'pushing the propeller forwards'. And the plane it is coupled to, along with it.

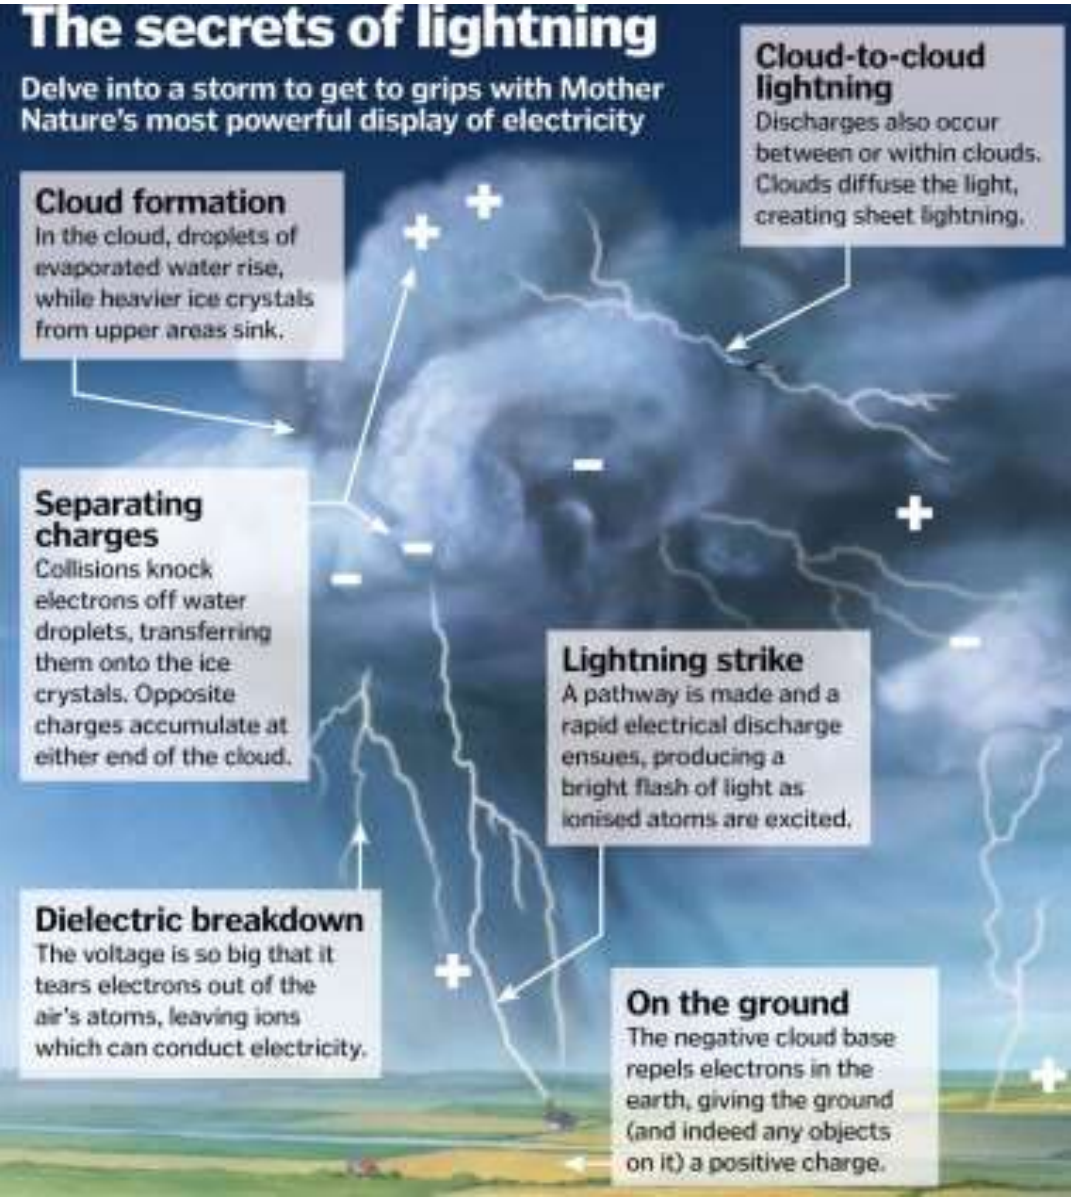
Seeing them operating together, the combined push-pull is reflexive. And to claim 'motive force' for either of them, alone, might be missing the point.

But keep in mind that aeronautical engineers DO treat the low pressure at the front of the propeller as being what 'sucks' and 'pulls' the plane forwards, and accelerates it down the runway, so that the aerofoil can do the same thing, only VERTICALLY.

The aerofoil is passive, but operates on the same principle. A flatter base with a longer, curved, top, means that air has to travel faster 'over the top of' the wing / aerofoil, than it does along the shorter, flat route, below the wing / aerofoil. This means the air above the wing is 'thinned out'. There is LOWER air pressure above the wing than below it. And so the wing, and the plane it is attached to, and we can hope remains attached to, is literally SUCKED up into the sky. Pulled up into the sky. By the relative 'low pressure system' the propellers and wing design, together, produce above the wing. The forward movement is also great, as there is not much profit it merely 'rising up into the sky', unless you can 'go somewhere'. And vertically, alone, there is 'no place to go'. Just that 'vacuum of space' we hear so much about from NASA. You know, the organisation that faked the moon landings. Whose official symbol is the 'forked tongue of a snake – reptile'. As in that old Indian saying, borne of harsh experience, that 'White man speaks with forked tongue', meaning he never could be trusted to honour his agreements, and speak the TRUTH. A symbol that is as much the visual / artistic / logo equivalent of the official MOSSAD motto of 'Make war by deception', as any you could hope to find!

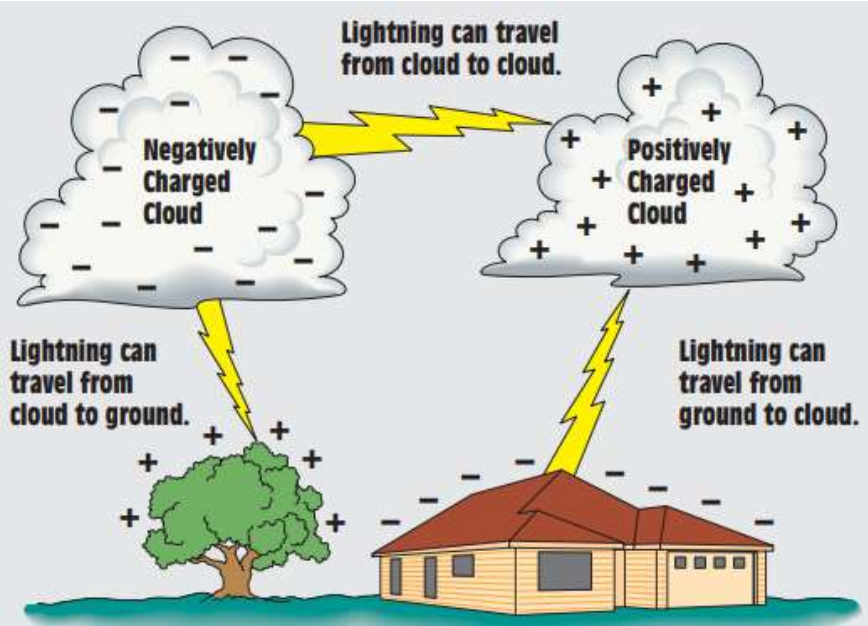
But on a more positive note, consider that you BECOME POSITIVELY CHARGED by giving away electrons. By sharing electrons. And hoarding and accumulating and 'greed is good'-ing electrons, you BECOME NEGATIVELY CHARGED.

Natural 'electrical' phenomena: The gods express themselves dramatically via light-and-sound displays



Static electricity occurs when opposite charges build up on either side of the base of a storm cloud. As columns of warm air rise, cold air is 'sucked' and 'drawn' up into the relatively lower air pressure regions beneath them, from either side. So we have cold and warm air molecules 'rubbing' past each other, and if there is a lot of moisture in the air, we have large and small water particles also rubbing up against each other, as the war air rises up past cooler air, which is being drawn down to fill the relative vacuum / low pressure system that develops beneath it. This is where electrons are 'rubbed off' some water molecules to accumulate on others. The 'loser' develops a positive charge, and the 'gainer' develops a negative charge, as a result. Just liking rubbing a balloon against your pullover, or rubbing a glass rod with silk, or dragging your shoes across the carpet!

Usually these discharge across and within the cloud itself. But sometimes the charged regions remain localised, and the discharge occurs between separate clouds, or from cloud to ground. And what few people realise, also from the ground to a cloud. Which I discuss in the context of comets in other TROONATNOOR publications.



Static electricity, like all electric currents, always discharges from negative to positive, , according to 'The Official Narrative'. If a cloud is negative and an object on the ground is positive, there will be a discharge from cloud to ground, even across a clear blue sky, towards an unsuspecting wanderer! That's the conventional idea of, and most typical, scenario. However if a cloud develops a positive charge opposite some object on the ground with a negative charge, the ground object will discharge its excess electrons up into the cloud. An remember the average lightning bolt develops around 15,000 Volts potential before discharging it. Thus many buildings and other structures have 'lightning rods' attached to their highest point, to attract any lightning and offer it a 'path of least resistance' to the ground-earth, that avoids damage to the structure and people in it. A lightning arrestor is a conducting rod pushed into the ground, NEXT TO the structure, but not actually touching it. If the structure is struck, the voltage will 'arc' across the gap to the lightning arrestor, which will then discharge it to earth. These are often used to protect power lines from lightning strikes.

Compare this to the way charges accumulate on the opposite terminals of a capacitor, separated by an insulating (dielectric) layer.

These charges are 'static'. They don't form a current. They build up in one region. Like the cells of a DC battery. Or the terminals of a capacitor. They have, at least temporarily, no way to get where they DO want to go. Sort of under house arrest, a.k.a 'sheltering at home' and 'quarantined' from each other by distance. A bit more than 2 meters, but yeh, it's all about the 'social distancing' when it comes to 'static' charges. Zero interaction. Segregation. Apartheid. De-humanisation. Just one more weapon wielded by The Cult of Judah in their openly declared (read your TORAH or Old Testament) war against HUMANITY. Their motto 'wage war by deception'. And 'Covid-19' and 'Manmade global climate crisis' narratives are THE ultimate in deceptions. The largest scale psychological warfare operations this side of Atlantis submerging under the waves after the Younger Dryas Impact.

The potential, the Electromagnetic Force, the VOLTAGE, that builds up across the bases of a storm clouds grows until the 'suspense' becomes unbearable, and the potential is DISCHARGED across the clouds, and/or between clouds, and/or between clouds and the earth, in dramatic bursts of current at the various frequencies our minds RENDER as sound and light, and thus 'thunder and lightning'. That's the current 'Official Narrative'. Older narratives include different characters, like 'Thor' 'The god of thunder'.

But worry ye not. You've less chance of getting hit by lighting than of 'dying from that 'novel' (as in fictitious) 'Corona virus'. That invisible character in 'The Official Covid 19 Narrative'. In 'The Official Pandemic Plot' that forms the core of that narrative. Of course its superpowers are limited to 'claiming responsibility for the deaths of people who are already dead, or just about to die of something else'. Imagine if you claimed responsibility for every naturally occurring, accidental, and 'other disease' and 'illness' related death! You would be FEARED the world over. No-one would dare oppose your will! Your will be done! You'd be 'as GODS!'. All would submit to your arbitrary whims and fancies, in order to appease you, and not be killed by you. Yes you'd be the beneficiary of the world's most lucrative protection racket!

But one guy has been struck by lightning 7 times in 35 years. So anyone selling 'lightning strike insurance' will surely focus ALL their statistical modelling on that ONE guy. 'Based on our computer model (assuming this one guys experience is representative, for the purposes of simplification) YOU face a HUGE risk of being hit by lightning. In fact, on AVERAGE, once every 5 years. You haven't been hit by lightning in the last 5 years? Think about it friend. The statistics who 'your time is clearly running out'. Best sign up for our 'lightning strike insurance' immediately. Statistically, you've been beating the odds. Your experience is unrepresentative. And you cannot escape statistical inevitability. As our MODEL clearly PROVES beyond ANY doubt. The SCIENCE is now irrefutable and BEYOND question. It has been ESTABLISHED. Forever carved in stone. A new IDOL. A new LAW. Indisputable. NO debate will be entered into. That would be a waste of time, now that 'everyone knows' this FACT.

Jeez, as if the real and imminent threat posed by the invisible pink elephant plague weren't enough! We'd better listen to the 'scientists' and do whatever they say might reduce our chances of being hit by lightning. Give up whatever freedoms and legal and basic human rights we once enjoyed. Re-arrange our lives around this threat to our lives. ANYTHING is better than being killed by lightning, right? Please, AUTHORITIES, tell us what to do to keep us, and our loved ones, safe from this threat! And to think we had no idea the risks we had been running up to now! Phew, really 'dodged a bullet'. Never again can we afford to remain ignorant. We MUST keep up to date on the latest GOVERNMENT ISSUED warnings. Download those new apps. Or how on earth are we ever going to be 'keep up to date' on the LATEST threats. They are ALWAYS emerging. Eternal vigilance is about keeping up to date on the latest DECLARATIONS made by those 'private organisations' that for some reason exist just for OUR benefit! Eternal vigilance was never, as some CRAZY people claim, about keeping government HONEST and TRANSPARENT and actively seeking out, and combatting, all the conspiracies that total IDIOTS like Plato and Adam Smith warned were endemic and chronic to human society, and which would see us all ending up as SLAVES to whoever managed to organise and carry out the most 'successful' conspiracies!

To clarify, any time people get together to achieve something they are 'conspiring' together. But what Adam Smith and Plato were so worried about was when people are allowed to conspire IN SECRET to achieve ends NOT in the general interest, simply to achieve their own SELFISH ends.

And like most 'conspiracies' as low level, between people with just a little power, most humans have experienced the same power attributed to THOR, 'The God of Thunder', in the form of 'lightning bolts shooting from their finger-tips'. Literally. I am especially prone to doing this. I used to enjoy walking on carpet, and giving people electric shocks. What happens is that you accumulate negatively charged electrons, and thus become, as a whole, negatively 'charged', so there is a potential, a difference, a 'voltage' difference, between you and other people and objects. And so if you hold your finger tip very close, even without touching, the excess electrons will 'jump the gap' between you and the other person / object, like a spark in a spark plug, or piezoelectric cancer-stick lighter.

On the other hand, we often accumulate such 'excess electrons' and thus a NEGATIVE charge, unwittingly, and get what can be a very large, and the more impressive, because it is unexpected, shock, when we touch a metal door handle other conductor.

This is the same phenomena that forces us to take special care when handling some electronic components that are especially sensitive to such shocks, such as those in integrated circuits. Wearing an anti-static electricity wristband, or earthing yourself by touching a conductor that is itself 'earthed', to discharge any static electric charge you have accumulated, can save you a lot of frustration and money.

And remember that humidity tends to immediately discharge any charge you build up, before it can build-up. While dry air has the opposite, lack, of conductivity, and so it is the best time to 'shock' your friends. And the worst time for risking damage to electrical components by failing to earth yourself, before handling them. Often such components come in special packaging with warning labels. But not always.

But let's return to 'The Clouds' from our 'Thinkshop' where we will be accused of 'trying to make the weaker argument SEEM the stronger one', by our Cult of Judah adversaries.

Ever wondered exactly how lightning comes about? Well you need to understand that electromagnetic fields, and thus electromagnetic forces, do not, according to 'The Official Narrative', require any medium. This is a basic phenomenon that capacitors rely on for their operation.

Let's start with the clouds. Water vapour rises in the cloud, while frozen water crystals sink to the bottom of the cloud. The darkest grey and even black cloud bottoms. As the crystals rub against water molecules as these cross paths, moving in the opposite directions, water molecules up, ice crystals down, (negatively charged) electrons are transferred from the water molecules to the ice crystals. So negative charges accumulate at the darker bottom of the cloud, while positive charges accumulate at the top of the cloud. As the water molecules atoms here depleted of valence atoms gain have a positive charge as there are more positively charged protons in their nucleus than there are negatively charged electrons in the atom.

This potential, this electromagnetic force, this voltage, is so great, it literally rips electrons out of atoms in the atmosphere, ionizing oxygen atoms, so that they become capable of conducting electricity. The 'flash of light' and the visual 'lightning' impression itself is the product of ions in the air being 'energized' as the current flows to equalise out the voltage / potential / positive and negative charges, and the voltage/potential thus 'discharges' and neutralises itself out, in spectacularly dramatic fashion.

The Electromagnetic Force EMF of the negatively charged cloud base, repels negative charges all around it, including in the earth, and objects on the earth's surface, resulting in the earth and these objects becoming POSITIVELY charged. A situation nature 'balances out' with the discharge of excess negatively charged electrons in the cloud base, down to earth. Often with catastrophic results for whatever acts as the 'terminal' on the earth's surface. Such as that guy who's been hit by lightning 7 times in 35 years! And remember people have been struck by lightning originating out of sight, from what, to the victim, was a clear blue sky!

But being struck by lightning isn't the only danger posed by static electricity. A car or truck driving through dry air can quickly build up a static electric charge powerful enough to not just 'shock' the driver when they reach for the door handle, but to ignite flammable gases and liquids or other volatile substances the truck might be carrying. To protect against this, a metal chain is dragged behind the truck, or a rubber mat behind the car, that allows any static charges that build up to discharge to earth/ground while the vehicle is moving.

We tend to associate new carpet with static shocks. But it's really more about synthetic carpet fibres, and/or of how dry the air is. Synthetic fabrics are usually better insulators and retain excess electrons more readily than natural fibres like cotton or wool. Air humidifiers that keep the air relatively moist can prevent this sort of static if it is a problem. And if you want to earth yourself without feeling any 'shock', hold a coin or other piece of metal in your fingers, and touch it to something grounded, and the static electricity will 'arc' from the coin to the object, rather than from your finger to the object.

Note that synthetic carpets, and clothing, plus dry air (such as found in air dryers), produce the most static, when rubbed. Clothes just removed from a clothes dryer thus often stick together. And most of us have had the experience of pulling a polyester fleece off, and then having it stick to us for a few moments. Not to mention those 'bad hair days' when our hair just stands on end, due to dry hair and/or dry air.

She's electric (and so is he, and them, and that), which should come as no surprise, when you live in an electric universe!

One of the 'signs of life' is electrical activity. First of the heart. What is it that 'triggers' this pump to begin pumping? And then, like the 'clock' of a computer, maintains its relatively constant rate, then accelerates it, and slows it? Surely a mystery. But 'pace-makers' are often used when the heart ceases functioning reliably, to provide the same 'impulse' that drives our 'pulse'. And electrical impulses are transmitted from nerve endings to the brain, corresponding to the frequency of stimuli that 'resonate' them within the bandwidth they are 'tuned into'. While actual neurons themselves appear to generate their own electrical potential via charged ions moving across their membranes. Electrical impulses communicate much faster than chemical hormones do. But if you've ever experienced love/lust at first sight, you will feel an 'instant' attraction and often have an instant physiological reaction fast enough to 'make your head spin'. Conscious and not-conscious, voluntary and involuntary actions and reactions are correlated with electrical activity in the muscles, nerves, and brain. 'The Official Narrative' assumes the brain initiates such actions and reactions. However many reactions are completely automatic and 'programmed' and irrational responses. And I've detailed the ways it has been demonstrated that many actions begin before we are even conscious of having 'willed' them, thus apparently requiring us to abandon the notion of 'free will' as one more human prejudice and unjustified assumption. Hubris perhaps. Human biochemistry generates up to 0.1 volts from internal combustion from ingested energy sources. But once we 'upload' or 'download' into robots, we'll be able to 'power up' from a wider range of alternative fuel sources.

While our electronic circuits are limited to passive reception of external resonances, and internal transmissions of electro-chemical signals, other species enjoy a much wider range of electrical 'super powers'.

Many fish species, including the misleadingly named 'electric eel', have special cells (electrocytes) which generate electrical potential (in the form of positively charged ions), which the fish can use to stun prey, or 'shock' off predators. What I find most amazing is that the fishes brain directs the cells to open channels that allow positive ions the cell has pumped out back into one 'partician' of the cell, turning the cell as a whole into a battery. I've deliberately avoided using the usual term I'd use for the two 'cells' of a DC battery, but that is basically what the result is. Each cell becomes a DC battery. And with up to 6000 such cells (electrocytes) all charged and 'ready to go', our fish is armed with up to 650 Volts, which can be 'discharged' at will, to stun prey, or shock off predators. If you are an electric ray, you can discharge up to a formidable 300 Volts at 30 Amperes, so don't repeat the mistake one famous Australian wildlife expert made, and step on one. Its enough to stop your heart, and making you an expert on 'what not to do'.

Then there's sharks, including the Hammerhead, with their ultra-sensitive organs for detecting the electrical currents associated with the muscular contractions of their prey. So it's not a question of 'splashing about' or 'scenting blood' on the water. Every animals heartbeat is regulated by electrical pulses. There is no hiding from a hammer-head shark, unless you evolve a 'faraday cage'. It can sense an electrical pulse as tiny as one BILLIONTH of a volt.

And then, in honour of my sister Monika, I'll describe the super-powers of her favourite animal. The duck-billed platypus. This guy is like the proverbial 3 monkeys, shutting its eyes, and ears, and mouth, as it coasts along underwater looking for its next meal. Here puss puss puss. Well, not quite! Make any noise and you'll never see one in the wild. In Australia. This puss has 40,000 electroreceptors in its bill, and by moving it side to side it can easily locate its prey. The swan eared slaty-mouse. Nah, just kidding. They eat drop bears. And tourists! But in case you thought this was the only Australian beastie with special electro-super powers, the echidna also uses electricity in the same way, only on land. So while it the newcomers, man, are proud of their 'over the horizon radar', these guys are born to it.

Thoughts exist, the I I imagine is having them might not, other than as a mere locus for them, and as such, might just be another thought (idea)

You may be familiar with (and thus feel certain you 'know') 'I think, therefore I am'. Cogito Ergo Sum. For a Cult Thrall and mathematician, Descartes managed to disentangle himself from a lot of 'familiar conventional wisdom a.k.a knowledge a.k.a 'traps in the official narrative' he was born into. Like most cult thralls though, no matter how SMART and INTELLIGENT they are, they just never managed 'The Full Monty'. To TOTALLY divest themselves of ALL their CULT GARMENTS and accoutrements. They just feel too damn comfortable. And 'everyone else' is wearing the same fashions. So it helps them 'fit in' and 'get along'. Even get paid and laid. Promoted. To advance up the greasy pole. Maybe find a nice spot a bit higher up the pyramidal structure. Yes, so like Plato and Aristotle, this genius never fully escaped his cult thraldom. And never COULD take the last few steps to the summit. Instead he climbed one of the last ridges, found himself in clouds, and assumed 'this is it, THE TOP'. The clouds never cleared, so he never realised there was at least one more ridge, before the SUMMIT PROPER. And so he never got to see the magnificent view, with all of TROONATNOOR laid out before him, awaiting those who truly ASCEND TO THE VERY TOP. Climb the summit. Not of that dumb artificial mountain they set up for fools, called 'The Pyramid'. But the ACTUAL real mountain of wisdom it was modelled after. The Cult offers its own FRAUDULENT 'levels' of initiation. But only the humble mountain climber has a chance to climb to the REAL HEIGHTS. To be INTITATIED INTO THE REAL MYSTERIES.

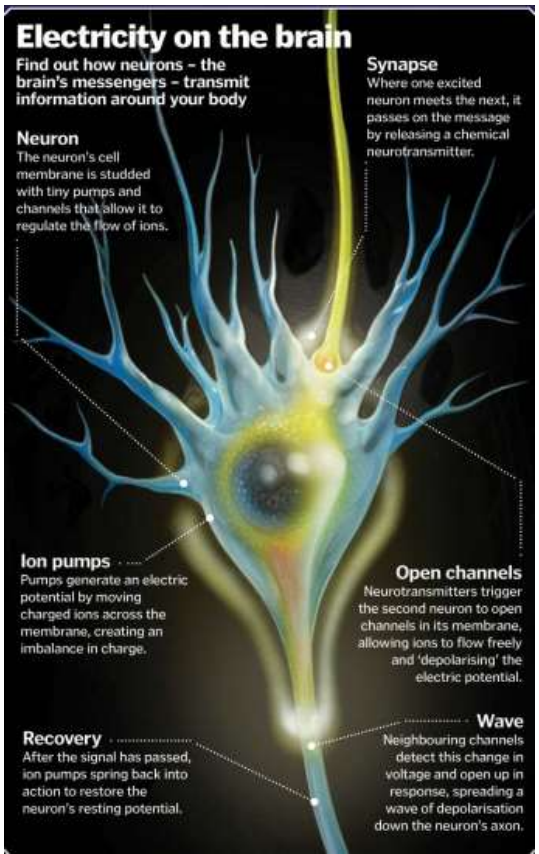
Even scientists, feeling they've revealed some true mysteries, every time they delve a little 'deeper' into TROONATNOOR, barely scratch the surface. Of course Descartes would have to admit that few people think at all. And so most people would NOT be. Right? Or not be MUCH. Just BARELY be. Just 'sort of ' be. Just 'be' very superficially. Corresponding with how much, and how deeply, and how lucidly, they DID 'think'.

I've demonstrated, with great help from David Hume and other TRULY great ESCAPEES from thraldom, true FREE THINKERS who either escaped thraldom to the CULT, or somehow managed to avoid being EN-thralled in the first place, and went on define reality for themselves. Free of the Cult blinders, filters, prejudices, dogmas, articles of faith, misdirection, misleading misinformation, and all that treacherous stuff that makes direct interaction with TROONATNOOR such a challenge, if even a possibility. And thus able to see that 'The Emperor is Naked'. That 'The Official Narrative' is a script full of holes. Dodgy. Flawed. Deeply flawed. Erroneous. Often clearly deliberately conceived to DECEIVE, where it is not simply obfuscating and frustrating enquiry, putting up every possible OBSTRUCTION to being interrogated and analysed. Employing every DODGE and 'sleight of hand' and 'sleight of mouth' and 'weaseling' disingenuous specious sophistry. Every trick in the 'protection racket' book. Every 'art' of the con artist. Every misdirection employed by every Cult stage magician from the beginning of time. Every claim of 'received wisdom' and 'transferred authority' from some God, or gods, or 'angels' or 'daemons' or 'visitors from another star system'. Every claim of 'imitation into some higher mystery'. Every 'supernatural' experience in which they claimed to have 'visited the after-life' and been granted insights not available to the rest of us. So that they could confidently warn us of 'fates worse than death' if we didn't do, how conveniently, exactly what it suited THEM and their Cult elites, for us to do. And not do. Usually involving torture of any who CHALLENGED THE AUTHORITY of the Cult elites, or their 'knowldege'. Their SACRED 'knowledge'. For now it was SACRED and BEYOND QUESTION, having been DECLARED and thus by THEIR authority 'established forever more beyond any doubt', to be so. Irrefutable. And making it a crime even to ATTEMPT to publically refute it, they were guaranteed freedom from ever HAVING TO defend it, in any sort of free, fair, public, debate. So that public expressions of disbelief or doubt could now be LEGALLY defined as DENIAL. As heresy. As apostasy. As 'dangerously misleading misinformation'. And the PERPETRATORS of such heinous crimes could be hauled out in public spectacles of humiliating, horrifically painful, violent, entertainments for other Cult thralls. And as reminders to any 'free thinkers' who remained, to 'self-censor' and thus reinforce the 'collective ignorance' in which the APPEARANCE of consensus (among all RIGHT thinking GOOD people) that 'The Cult speaks the truth'. And everyone is born with, and dies with, the IMPRESSION that 'Everyone knows' that the Priests say is true. Everyone, apart from evil, insane, stupid, ignorant, people, with malicious intentions, who MUST be 'quarantined' and 're-educated', and if they are recalcitrant and simply WILL NOT SEE THE ERROR OF THEIR WAYS, then they will need to be ex-communicated, exiled, and where there is too great a risk they might return to re-infect the rest of us good folk with their insanity and LIES, they will have to be killed. And we may as well make a show of it. To send a clear message to others of the COST involved in CHALLENGING CULT DOGMAS. And thereby challenging the AUTHORITY and POWER and PRIVELIGE of the CULT ELITES.



But how does all that fit in with our graphic left? Well to my best understanding, the mind is the mere LOCUS of our thoughts. An INTERFACE with this world. Which decodes and processes and RENDERS this world for us. So that we can interact with it. We IDENTIFY with our bodies, as with any full immersion virtual reality suit. It has sensors, and receivers tuned to different 'frequencies', actively seeking out repeating 'pulses' within narrow bandwidths, which it can then render as 'colors' and 'pitches' and 'tastes' and 'smells' and 'textures' and 'pressure' and 'weight' and even 'solid objects' and 'other things' and 'other people' and even, yes, the SELF.

Moons' Day, Tyrs' Day, Wodin's Day, Thor's Day, Freya's Day, Saturn's Day (Sam's Day), Sun's Day. Did you realise?

Computer logic circuits are on-off switches, or 'True-False' switches. Yes-No. 1-0. Charged-not charged. Positive-neutral. Something-nothing. Disturbance-peace. Potential-balance. Inequality-equality. Unbalanced-balanced. Needy-satisfied. Wanting-required. Given-reciprocated.

We've miniaturised the old tube and transistor switches, and other components of logic circuits, so that now we literally 'print' them with lasers on crystals, similar to how photocopiers work. I guess soon we'll be printing entire circuit boards on synthetic sheets of crystal, that will cost about the same as photocopying and paper to manufacture.

But all we have is charge carriers carrying charges, positive and negative, through logic circuits. Never was cognitive science so transparent (this side of the Younger Dryas Impact) as today. Ions are atoms with more or less electrons than they have protons in their nucleus. Giving them a negative (more negatively charged electrons than positively charged protons) charge. Or a positive charge (more positively charged protons in the nucleus than there are negatively charged electrons in the atom). So the entire atom can become a 'charge carrier'. Not just the electron itself. And if a cell can isolate positive and negative ions in some way, it can produce a potential (voltage) across itself. Which it can then 'discharge' like applying voltage to any logic circuit, to perform some 'work'. Some task. Some function. Some purpose. As the means to some ends.

The cell membrane of each neuron is made up of 'Ion Pumps' which generate electric potential (voltage) by 'pumping' charged atoms (ions) across its membrane, along 'channels' built into the membrane, turning it into a form of capacitor or temporary battery. And at the synapses where neurons meet, neurotransmitters are released to trigger the next neuron in line to get ready to 'receive' the charged ions. The 'voltage' discharged propels the ions like the blood pressure produced by the heart, into the next neuron. Like an organic circuit board, using ions rather than electrons as its 'charge carriers'. Like lots of tiny hearts pumping ions around a sealed system, rather than blood. Carrying charges rather than glycogen fuel, and nutrients, and Bill Gate's nanotech (marketed as 'vaccines') and the various agents of the immune system (which Bill Gate's nanotech will destroy and cripple and compromise to sell more 'vaccines', can you see how it works now?). And moving through a series of Axons, rather than blood vessels (veins and arteries).

Once the Ion Pumps have generated a potential (voltage) across the membrane, and this potential has been discharged across the membrane, like a switch opening, neurotransmitters trigger the next neuron in line to open channels in its membrane to accept the ions discharged from the previous neuron. And once the charged ion, carrying the charges, has passed, the membrane's charge returns to its default resting voltage / potential of ZERO. So we have a line of 'open-closed' pumps / neurons, pushing charged ions along like the peristalsis in our digestive system, or the 'lattice charges' in a superconductor. We could emulate this by pushing a smelly nasty looking person into a fully crowded room. The people would 'make room for them' the moment they were pushed in, and the group would 'part' like the Sea of Reeds parts for Moses in that official narrative, as they stumbled forwards. And there being no room for the others to move away into, the gap behind the intruder would immediately close behind them as they moved forward, drawn by the void that kept opening up in front of them, like a low pressure zone sucking at a propeller from in front, drawing the plane forwards, as the high pressure zone at the back of our unwelcomed intruder builds up, willing them to 'please leave the room', so that ultimately a 'wave' is seen from above, as the group opens from in front of, then closes behind, our smelly, unwelcome, undesirable, unfortunate victim of human nature, seeming to 'push' (or is it pull) them across the room, to the door on the other side, which will duly be opened for them, to pass out of the room through. Hopefully to other people more welcoming and who desire their company! The poor victim of our experiment has been 'squeezed out the end of a tube of toothpaste', so to speak. The lower pressure outside the tube, was made even more 'attractive' by the fingers of the 'squeezer'. Our poor participant was 'squeezed out' by social pressure. By the 'attraction' of the 'space always opening up in front of them' and the repulsion of the angry faces that kept appearing behind them, and closing in on them, from behind.

Or you could simply push someone into a crowded supermarket, and call out 'they're not wearing a mask, they didn't perform the hand washing ritual, they didn't get 'baptised' with the 'holy water' (a.k.a 'the jab'), and watch them stumble forward, the crowd parting before them in terror of their lives, for fear of the 'heretic' the 'apostate' the 'heathen' the 'pagan' the 'POSSESSED' soul who had somehow gotten through all the 'security measures' and was now threatening to infect THEM with the same 'DEMONIC POSSESSION'. The closing in behind them, hurling abuse and pejoratives and insults and threats, while grabbing their government spy devices to 'notify the AUTHORITIES' so that the full violence of the state could be brought crashing down on this EVIL EVIL person. An entire football stadium would 'part like the Red Sea' before the THREAT approaching them, then close up behind that threat, as it moved forward. Like the peristalsis of our digestive system. Like an electron being passed through a series of switches. Or through a series of charges in the superconductors 'lattice' structure.

Lux fiat

The first 'electric light' source this side of the Younger Dryas Impact and 'sinking of Atlantis beneath the waves' was depicted on a wall of (possibly pre-dynastic) Egyptian hieroglyphs (insert image here).

But in 1810, one of those nasty Anglo-Saxons, Zee Germans who were now living in Angle-land, who weren't spending all their time patriarching the women about and enslaving Africans (which according to 'The Official Narrative' is all they are normally 'good' for), invented / discovered / stumbled upon 'the arc lamp'.

Not a piezoelectric arc, which we'll come to later. But a cruder one made by placing two carbon rods so they almost touched, and attaching their ends to either terminal of a crude 'voltaic pile' a.k.a 'battery', (re? insert image of earlier batteries) invented by another Germanic type, this time a 'Frank' (Frenchman), a little earlier. No, not 'Voltaire' but an Alessandro 'Volta'. Is it me, or is that a bit more 'El Cabalo Blanco' than 'Viva la France'? But what is key is that it resulted in a BRIGHT stream of PLASMA passing across the gap between the two carbon rods, shedding some light on the whole affair. ENLIGHTENING the immediate vicinity. Lux Fiat indeed! Let there be light!

Yes your teacher wouldn't have SEEN that plasma. Like the priest in 'Eric the Viking' couldn't see the doors blocking the rest of our heroes from entering Valhalla. Because according to THEIR 'official narrative', it simply does not exist. For them, plasma is NOT the fourth state of 'matter-energy'. Meanwhile they will aggressively insist that 'Covid 19' is real. And more. Killing everyone off. Yes people stopped dying of EVERY OTHER CAUSE in 2020. Just check their 'medical certificates' for 'cause of death'. 'Head cut off in car accident? You mean they came within 2 meters two months ago of someone who had come within 2 meters of someone who much later got a positive PCR test (and two days later got a NEGATIVE PCR test result, but who's interested, right? Can't make a 'case' out of THAT now can we!), and now they are DEAD. Clearly another COVID-19 death! What? You mean having their head cut off by the windscreen during a car accident might have had something to do with it? What? And miss out on the COVID BONUSSES? Are you CRAZY? Nope. Head cut off was clearly a SECONDARY cause of death, and didn't you hear, they changed the reporting rules at the same time they DECLARED this 'Covid-19 Pandemic', so now we add that little 'side bar' to part B, which NO-ONE reports on any more. Yes, another NEW and sudden change to the long standing, long established, protocols for reporting deaths!'

Problem was that the carbon soon 'burned up'. It would take a lot of 'hit and miss' / 'try and see' experimentation before a guy with a genuinely 'French-sounding' name worked out that the lifespan of the carbon filaments/ electrodes used in such 'incandescent' lighting devices could be massively enhanced by placing it in a glass globe of inert gas. Like some people believe we should place old people in sealed 'quarantine' bubbles so they could die of something else 'other than a virus'. To be precise, no-one cares if they die of ANYTHING, as long as it is NOT this novel 'Covid 19'. Why? Well because it is being set up as the new 'Satan'. The new 'one problem'. The ONLY problem. This streamlines the protection racket. You identify just one problem, and offer just one solution. Which YOU control. I mean, that's what it IS all about. What all CULTS in history are about. CONTROL. Taking it AWAY from YOU. And handing it over to a few CULT ELITES.

Someone worked out that filaments could be made out of other materials that had been 'carbonised', and with a short period of time the life-span of filaments, now protectively 'quarantined' in their 'inert gas bubbles', went from seconds, to minutes, to hours, to DAYS.

So now some Joseph guy just 'swans in' and offers the world the first reliable light globe using a single coil of carbonised artificial cellulose fibre held within an airless glass bulb. His was the first commercially sold incandescent light globe. Only he didn't have that many customers. As so few people had access to the 'electricity' required to power it. This was 1879. That 70s. Swan who? Yes, that's how it goes. And so almost no-one heard or remembers that Joseph's 'swan song'. Now if someone had given him a 'coat of many colors', they'd still be literally singing his praises. Yes, in this world, it is all about 'the presentation'!

One Thomas Edison, a year later, became the 'glowing' success that made his name synonymous with the 'light globe', when he made some improvements to Swan's design, and more importantly, supplied the POWER SOURCE that would realise the potential of SWAN'S idea, to Edison's financial gain! To his fame and fortune.

Incandescent light globes are cheap to manufacture, but they are only 5% efficient, meaning 95% of the electricity they consume is turned into heat, rather than light. If you are like me, and only turn heating on when you are forced to (Estonian and Russian central heating with no user-control) you will have held your hand up to a light globe, and noticed the heat they give off. A 100-watt light globe actually produces about 95 watts of heat and about 5 watts of light. Consider not just the 'wasted' energy, but the extra burden this can put on air-conditioning systems already struggling to keep us cool! Turning on the lights is like turning on a heater, or adding lots of people to a room, in terms of the costs of 'keeping your cool'.

1937
Krypton-light
Factory production of light bulbs filled with the noble gas krypton, invented by Imre Bródy, begins in Hungary.

1977
Energy saving
Energy-saving light bulbs begin to be introduced to the market, leading to the generation of compact fluorescent lamps.

1991
Long-lasting
The electronics company Philips produces a fluorescent light bulb that lasts 60,000 hours through the process of magnetic induction.

2010
Green light
In many countries worldwide incandescent light bulbs begin to be phased out in favour of more eco-friendly LED and fluorescent types.

2012
Lights out
From 1 September, an EU directive bans all retailers from selling incandescent bulbs. It's hoped this will save an annual 39 terawatt hours by 2020.

Bright sparks: the race to the commercial light bulb

Sir Humphry Davy
In 1802 British scientist Sir Humphry Davy used his large battery to pass a current through a thin strip of platinum. The experiment worked, but the platinum did not glow very brightly and wore out too quickly to be practically implemented into a lamp.

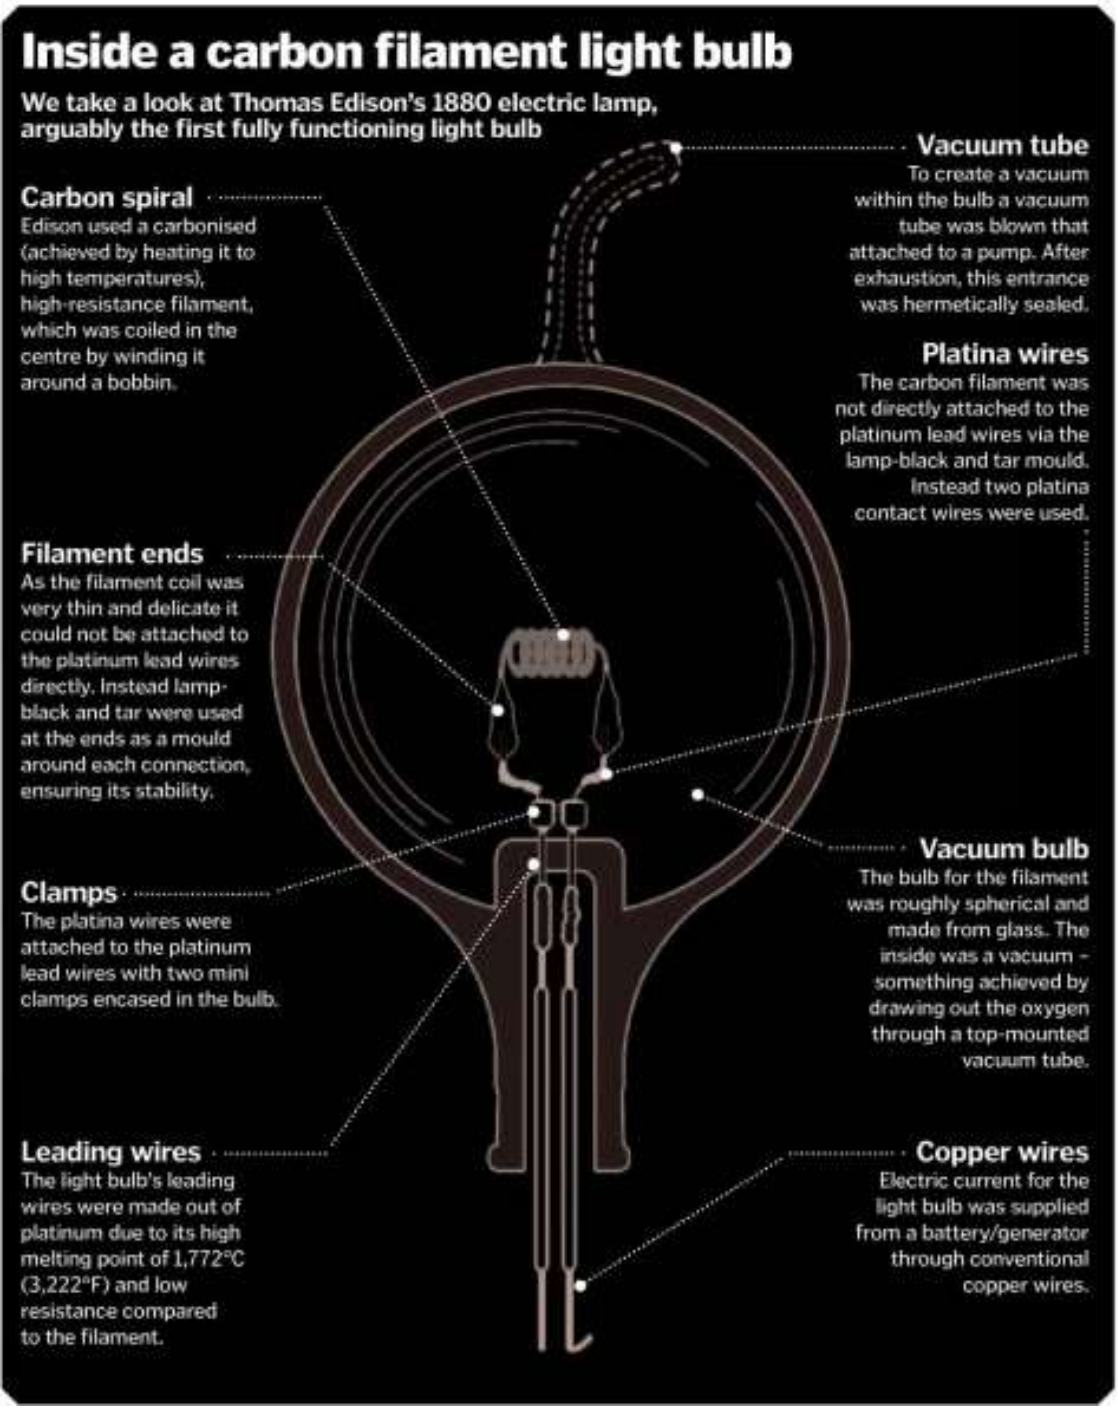
Warren de la Rue
In 1840 chemist and astronomer Warren de la Rue enclosed a platinum coil in a vacuum tube and passed an electric current through it. This was one of the first true light bulbs as we know them today, however its cost and complexity made it impractical to roll out.

Jean Robert-Houdin
This illusionist created his own incandescent light bulbs and showed them publicly at his estate in 1852. Again, they were curiosities and no practical production process or cost-efficient materials meant they couldn't be produced commercially.

Alexander Lodygin
In 1872 Russian Lodygin obtained a patent for an incandescent light bulb that used carbon rods in a nitrogen-filled, sealed bell glass receiver. He later moved to the US and applied for many patents, showing a molybdenum filament at the Paris World's Fair in 1900.

Joseph Swan
This British physicist arguably created one of the first sustainable light bulbs, demonstrating his carbon rod bulbs in 1878-9. He received a patent and began installing them in a few homes and theatres. He later partnered with Edison and set up the Ediswan Electric Company.

Electricity, superconductors, and the Covid Cult, explained



Top 5 facts: light bulbs

1 Evaporation
Under sustained use the filament of modern-day tungsten bulbs will evaporate before condensing on the inner surface of the glass envelope, blackening it.

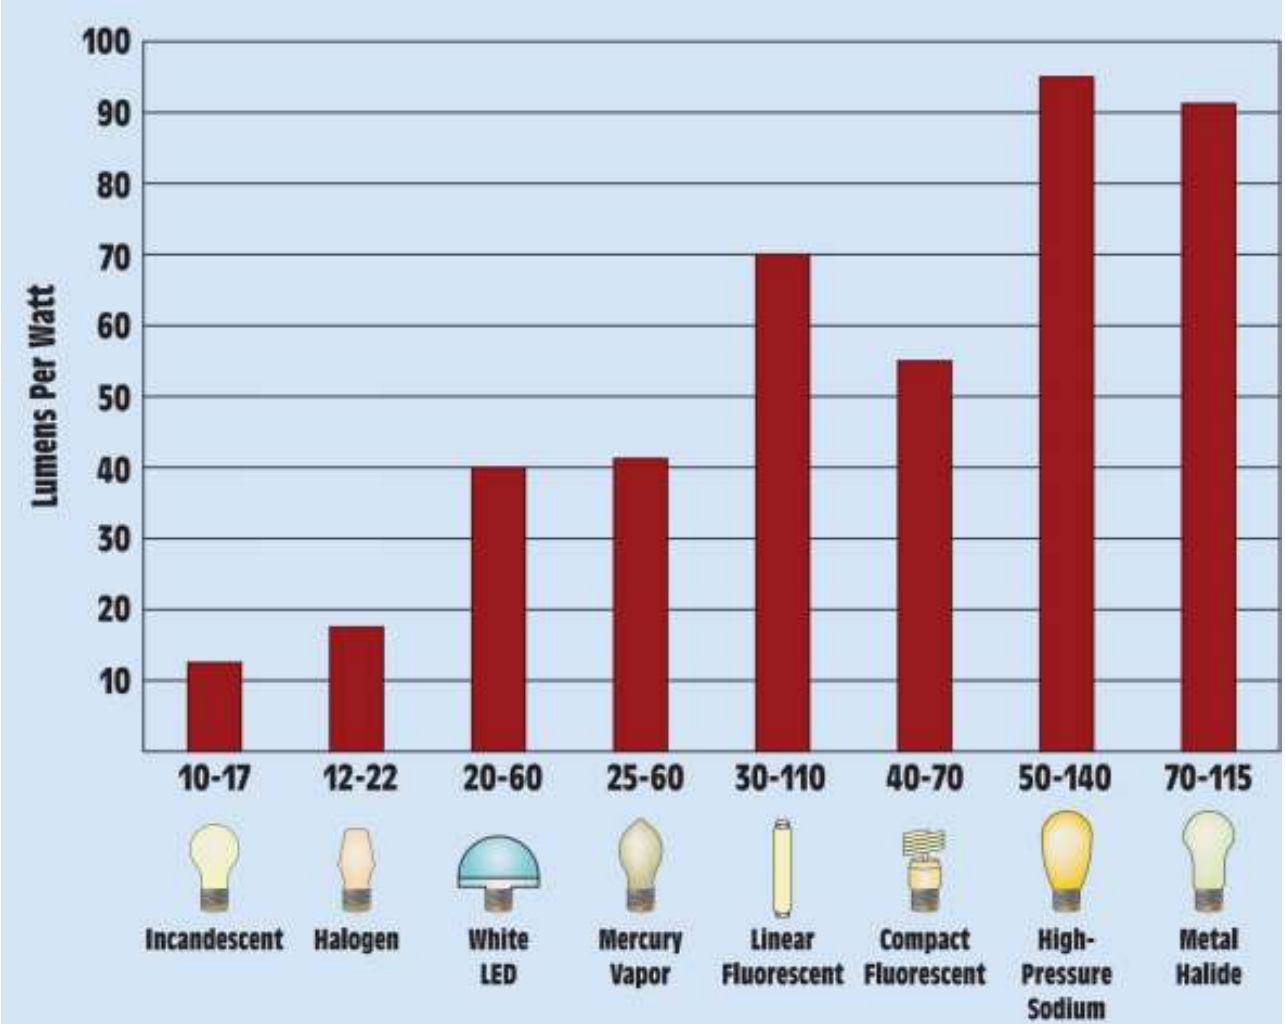
2 Halogen
Halogen lamps reduce evaporation of their filament and the darkening of the surrounding glass by filling the lamp with halogen gas at a very low pressure.

3 Inefficient
Despite modern bulbs lasting for lengthy periods, about 90 per cent of the power they consume is emitted as heat, rather than light.

4 Bulb boom
In 1885 there were estimated to be about 300,000 incandescent lights in use, a number which then exploded over the subsequent decades up to 795 million by 1945.

5 Old-timer
The Livermore Centennial Light Bulb at a fire station in California, USA, has been burning non-stop since 1901. It is the record holder for longest operational bulb in the world.

Relative efficiency of different types of electrical lighting



Every atom has a positively charged nucleus orbited by at least one negatively charged electron. Static electricity is a static electrical charge produced when electrons jump from one object to another. Generally the positive and negative charges in objects balance each other out, neutralising each other. And when the negative charge/s of the electron/s balance out the positive charge of the nucleus, their mutual attraction stabilises the atom. It has no 'electrical charge' when balanced. But when it has more electrons than protons, it has a 'negative electrical charge'. And when it has fewer electrons than protons, it is has a 'positive electrical charge'. And that's when CHANGE is inevitable. Such 'ionized' atoms are the 'agent provocateurs' of the atomic world.

Only superconductors offer zero resistance to current at extremely low temperatures. But conductors like copper are made of atoms which readily exchange electrons with other copper atoms. They do this continually. Randomly and chaotically, so there are always 'free' electrons moving around in all directions. So when you apply some electromagnetic / electromotive force to the circuit, it is these electrons that are immediately repulsed away from the incoming positive electromagnetic field, and they all head for the other end of the circuit, away from the incoming voltage. This sets up a distinct direction of movement of all the free electrons. The free electrons can't just 'fly away', they can only 'jump' from one atom to another, in series, one after the other.

But imagine an atom thick slices of copper wire laid up against each other end to end, forming a length of wire from countless such atom-thick slices. If you observed from the side, and could zoom into this 'slice' level of amplification, you would see 'walls' of copper electrons being passed from one slice of copper atoms to the next, in series. And the current 'valence' electron of each copper atom would be 'repelled' away from its own atom, towards the next atom to the right / in front of it / downstream, in the next 'layer' of atoms. And this chain reaction would repeat 'down the line' of 'layers' of atoms, until the very last 'slice' of atoms, at the very end of the circuit, had an atom pushed onto it, so that its valence atom was repelled out of the circuit, to continue the same chain reaction, say, down the guitar output jack and guitar lead.

You'd have to record this process, and play it back at extreme slow motion, to observe the chain reaction. It happens at the speed of light. So the entire process would appear virtually 'simultaneous'. As if the moment the first layer of electrons was repelled by the incoming voltage's electromagnetic / electromotive electrical force, the last layer immediately finished the chain reaction. It would seem the first and last layers were coupled together, like the start and end of a solid 'rod' of electrons. Or a 'rigid rope' of electrons.

And where we are dealing with Alternating current, the positive voltage that repelled the electrons at the start of the first cycle of current, reverses to become a negative voltage that now attracts the electrons, to begin the same process in REVERSE. Then it reverses again. We call this 'alternating'. Changing from positive to negative. From a repelling force to an attraction force. And the number of times it completes one cycle of this alternation, per second, corresponds to the 'frequency' of the source voltage. So in household electricity supplies the current reverses direction 60 times a second. Thus at a RATE or 'frequency' of 60 times a second. Which we express as a 'frequency' of '60 Herz'. Abbreviated as 60Hz.

Note that the atoms themselves do not move. It is the electrons being repelled, and repelling, in turn, other electrons, that carry the 'electrical charges' from atom to atom, down the circuit, then back up the circuit. Like children filling an entire lane of a road, from one end of the road to the other, playing 'hot potato'. Each is given a 'hot potato' at the start of the line, and they immediately pass it onto the next person 'down' the line, and this continues until the 'hot potatoes' have reached the other end of the line, or the 'game master' has called 'REVERSE DIRECTION' and they have to start passing the 'hot potatoes' back down the road in the opposite direction, back down the way they originally came.

To complete the analogy, we imagine that a lot of the children already were playing their own game of 'hot potato', but it wasn't until the games master unloaded a whole lot of 'hot potatoes' to the first children filling the lane, and explained the rules to all the children that 'now the game is to pass your hot potato down the road towards the other end' that the movement of 'hot potatoes took on a definite direction, with all the hot potatoes moving in the same direction. And the rules only allow children to pass their 'hot potato' onto the next child. They are not allowed to 'throw' the 'hot potato' or 'run with it'. So the 'hot potatoes can only be 'gotten rid of' by passing from hand to hand, from child to child, in series.

Voltage is electrical potential difference? It is the force driving the current, pushing or pulling it, in one direction. Current is the flow of an electric charge?

Circuits wired in series offer the current just one route. If the route becomes blocked or 'broken', the current will back up and then begin flowing again from the point in the circuit connected to the only other alternate route, the GROUND / EARTH circuit.

Circuits wired in series offer at least one other alternate route (than the ground/earth circuit) and if this route offers LESS resistance than the 'earth-ground' circuit does, the current will flow along this route, if the 'path of LEAST resistance' becomes unpassable.

So household power outlets, lights, and appliances, are all wired in parallel. So if one fuse blows, appliances, and lights, and other important electronic devices and electrical components in the other circuits continue to be supplied with power. And continue to either operate, or be available for use.

AC current is transmitted at up to 756,000 volts over hundreds of kilometres over relatively thin copper cables. This is often referred to as 'high pressure', but for me it is high VELOCITY. As pressure is surely quantity x speed. The analogy is often made between piping water through wide diameter pipes, at a relatively slow speed, vs passing the same volume of water, per second, through a narrow gauge pipe, at higher speeds. The volume of water passing a point in the pipe, per second, depends on the thickness of the pipe x the speed of the water flowing in it. You can increase either to get a higher volume per second. And if cost of pipe is a factor, then it can be cheaper to lay narrower gauge pipe, but increase the speed of the water flow. Which I guess means you are increasing the water pressure, and the pipe joins would need to be well made to prevent the higher pressure water escaping the pipe. But at this point I am still uncomfortable conflating pressure and speed. But we shall see how my feelings change as I learn more, and understand more.

Before such 'high voltage' current is sent to suburban homes, it is 'stepped down' to much lower voltages. It may have completed a journey of hundreds of kilometres. And so it made sense to send it as fast as possible, using cheaper, thinner, copper wire, rather than slowly, using much more expensive, thicker, copper wire. But now it has just a little further to travel, we can afford to 'slow down' and decrease the risks associated with high voltages. So at the electricity sub-station, the voltage is stepped down to between 2 and 13,000 Volts. These sub-stations are usually located away from suburban homes. But they are dangerous places surrounded by security fences warning of 'Danger, High Voltage'. From the sub-station it travels along 'power lines' to another transformer either on a telegraph pole, or underground, where it is stepped all the way down to 240 Volts. From here it is carried via 'telegraph' poles or underground cables to homes.

Michael Faraday discovered that moving a magnet inside a copper coil induces a current in the coil. Thomas Edison built the first DC power stations and supplied entire cities with electricity. Shortly thereafter Nikola Tesla developed an AC electric motor and a system of Alternating Current Electrical power generation which replaced DC, in part because AC could be transmitted over much longer distances allowing users to keep their distance from power plants, and became the world-wide standard form of electrical generation and supply and use.

I spoke of the cost savings in copper from using AC transmitted at high speed/pressure over relatively thin copper wires. In Britain they save copper by placing fuses in each 'power point' or 'wall socket', rather than wiring each socket, via a long, expensive, copper wire, to a central fuse in a fuse-box. That is why British 'plugs' are so big. They each contain a fuse. If any appliance draws too much current through the socket, the fuse blows. So if there is a 'short-circuit' in any appliance, the fuse will blow, preventing possible fires or electrocution. But can you believe a recent 'guide' wanted to blame 'Zee Germans' for the necessity of being thrifty with copper? They claimed 'Germans' bombed Britain so extensively? Had the authors ever even HEARD of the firebombing of Dresden, Hamburg, and lets not mention the fact that it was CHURCHILL who began bombing civilian targets in GERMANY, destroying a beautiful ancient German town simply out of SPITE and MALICE, that had ZERO military significance, at a time when GERMANS had strict orders to AVOID civilian targets in Britain? If the reason for the copper austerity was bombing, then surely GERMANY and JAPAN would have been the FIRST to adopt the 'measures' the authors claim were 'made necessary' due to bombing destruction during World War II. Britain was barely bombed at all, compared to Germany and Japan. And yet these two nations, which had to TOTALLY REBUILD ENTIRE CITIES, not just a few blocks of London, continued using central fuses in fuse-boxes, rather than adopt the cost-saving strategy of the Brits!

Basics of electrical circuits

Current flows/oscillates within a conductor as long as a potential difference is MAINTAINED across it.

Capacitors are used to store potential electric energy. This is just one of the many predicate-epithet combinations 'The Official Narrative' narrators use in an attempt to 'describe' something that seems to be different things at different times. Destroying my faith in their 'authority'. Leading me to suspect 'something is wrong with the narrative'. And so I am searching out all the correspondences between phenomena where this 'character' in this narrative appears to be operating, to see if I can isolate its source. I hope to do better than the Covid Cult Priests, who after more than 2 years still haven't managed to isolate their supposed 'Covid 19 virus microbe'. And who must resort to changing the definitions that have served us so well for a very long time, about almost everything, to ACCOMMODATE their new character. To write it a 'back-story', they had to REVISE every other character's backstory. Even revise things clinical medical science had more or less 'established'. In a way that is scientifically arbitrary. For them science is only 'acceptable' if it agrees with what they need people to believe. Their new definitions are scientifically arbitrary. But not POLITICALLY. Politically they follow a clear pattern of POLITICAL SCIENCE. They are anything but arbitrary in this context. They are coined and pushed and 'sleight of mouthed' into the conversation that is only ever allowed to be a MONOLOGUE and never allowed to become a dialog. Let alone a SOCRATIC dialog. They are eristic. They serve to enforce 'The Official Narrative' and 'The Script', rather than collaboratively seek, with others, to expose any 'truths' or 'facts' that might be available to human investigation and consciousness.

Resistors constantly oppose the flow of current. But where some current is passed by maintaining a potential difference (voltage) across it, (greater than, in what way, the resistance presented to it?) which is realised as a flow of current, some energy is dissipated in the form of heat.

Inductors oppose any CHANGE the flow of Current.

Capacitors oppose any CHANGE in the flow of Voltage (potential difference). They do NOT oppose any constant current (as compared to resistors which do).

Flow? Why call it voltage and not current? Is it only current when it is flowing? So the epithets / predicates change when it is flowing, compared to when it is just a potential for flowing? And we are told that circuits exist to facilitate and exploit the flow of ENERGY through them? Now it's some generic 'energy' we're dealing with?

Ah, and now we come to the 'moving* charged PARTICLES' that convey aforementioned 'electric potential energy' (is this the same character or a new one? Hard to tell. Why so many epithets? Like the god/s?) through the circuit. They are literally the 'actors', the 'active elements' (as compared to the static props and stage settings), the 'moving parts' in the narrative of electricity. Sorry, is it 'electric potential energy' now? Voltage? Current? Electromagnetic force? Electromotive force? So far it seems clear it is particles that 'carry' charges. There you go CHARGES. Another epithet for what we are told is the same 'character'. Like God/s that go by so many names. Having so many epithets and attributes / qualities / predicates ascribed to them. Hard to tell if they are the same character at all, most of the time. Or if we are really dealing with another MYSTERY RELIGION. Another TRINITY. Father-son-holy ghost. Voltage-Current-Electric Potential Energy. The 'particle' would be 'the son' I guess. The 'electromagnetic force' would be 'the ghost'. And the father? So patriarchal right? Maybe he is off 'patriarching' the women-folk around. And if he is white, then enslaving people and being responsible for everything that ever goes wrong with the world!

Remember a moving charged particle apparently has different qualities / properties, and even epithets (names) to a stationary charged particle. One is a (mere POTENTIAL for current) VOLTAGE. The other is (an actual realised) CURRENT (Amperage).

So let's have this, one of very few, clarifications I've been able to make so far in 'The Official Narrative'.

Voltage is the potential for current, measured in Volts.

Amperage is the realised current, measured in Amperes. It is Voltage realised, and flowing/oscillating. And thus it receives the epithet, logically descriptive, of 'current'.

Whereas the mere potential, not actually flowing/oscillating, thus enjoying a different status, logically deserves a different epithet, to signal this difference in status. That of 'potential' current. Verses 'realised' current. Perhaps like the difference between I.Q and actual achievement. Or genetic potential and nurtured, encouraged, realisation of that potential. Like the difference between malice, the will to harm, and actual harm, and damage. One is the potential for violence. The other actual violence. One is the potential for CHANGE. The other actual change. One is the potential for action. The other actual action.

Ah, and now come a new barrage of terms, which I guess we are supposed to treat as dealing with the same characters previously described? So why the change in language? What's up with the narrative that it cannot 'call a spade a spade based on its function'? Does its function change in different contexts? When it is sharpened, and thus its form is change, and it is used as a 'tool' of trench warfare, perhaps? Or simply used to serve a different function, with*out* any modification to its form, such as whacking someone who stole 1300 Euros from you by deception, across the back of the head? Or when a law is abused, and has its function reversed, without changing its form, to harm you rather than protect you? To abolish your liberties, freedoms, and rights, and enslave you rather than protect your liberties, freedoms, and rights?

The terms / concepts of current, potential difference, resistance and electromotive force are then used to attempt to explain 'The Official Narrative' in the context of the flow of , (what will they call it next?), let's call it 'electricity' in and through different electrical components such as conductors, resistors, capacitors, and inductors.

Electric Current

Flow of charge is called electric current. The direction of electric current is in the direction of flow of positive charge or in the opposite direction of flow of negative charge.

Current is defined quantitatively in terms of the rate at which net charge passes through a cross-section area of the conductor.

Thus, $$I = \frac{dq}{dt} \quad \text{or} \quad i = \frac{dq}{dt}$$

We can have the following two concepts of current, as in the case of velocity, instantaneous current and average current.

Instantaneous current $= \frac{dq}{dt}$ = current at any point of time and

Average current $= \frac{q}{t}$

Hence-forth unless otherwise referred to, current would signify instantaneous current. By convention, the direction of the current is assumed to be that in which positive charge moves. In the SI system, the unit of current is ampere (A).

$$1\text{ A} = 1\text{ C/s}$$

Household currents are of the order of few amperes.

Did you get all that? A 'net charge passing through a cross-section of the conductor'? A flow of charge is called an electric current? Why not simply call it 'a flow of charge' then? It 'flows in the direction of positive charge or in the opposite direction of negative charge'? Why not express that the other way around? Could they be more obfuscative and less clear? Why call them positive and negative if they are just opposites? Why use such loaded terms? A 'cross-section'? How thick and how long? What is a charge? It flows now? Where to?

Ah, I see, QUANTITATIVELY. So when you want to COUNT (but they will say measure, which really is a different thing, as measurements can be infinitely divisible, and numbers, in the RATIONAL world, are integers that cannot be (though IRRATIONALLY they are) divided any further) these supposed, I guess we will call them particles now SO THAT WE CAN COUNT THEM, otherwise this whole song and dance would be meaningless, we give them different epithets / names. Like 'Dog the merciful' when we are begging for intercession on our behalf, to do something good like torture someone we hate, for, being better than us, yeh, that will do it for sure!) or 'Dog the merciless' when it comes to, wouldn't you know it, torturing our competition, again. Very versatile this god. And those epithets.

Yes, so when you describe the same thing, 'quantitatively' (oh that's so impressive, numbers, math, all so very authoritative sounding, and people can confidently vomit up formulas and equations and assign (scientifically arbitrary) values to them, and the thralls and punters are appropriately befuddled but impressed, because it all looks so CLEAN and LOGICAL and MATHEMATICAL and PRECISE and, well, SCIENTIFIC. No matter how absurd the assumptions the generated those 'functions' and 'equations' and 'formulas' were, and are), you use different epithets, to describe what is supposedly still the same 'character' in the narrative. Like Clark Kent when he is not Superman, I guess. Or like how the brutal, ruthless, when at cop at home and 'out of uniform', is 'the nice family guy and friendly neighbour'.

Like when cases, in the MEANINGFUL sense of individuals presenting with actual symptoms of a confirmed virus for which we have isolated the 'microbe' and demonstrated that it CAN Be transmitted from human to human, or even animal to human, is, when 'operationalised in the field by 'the self-anointed medical authorities', becomes a totally meaningless, probably pre-determined (pre-configured to always give, or not give a certain result, at the time of production) positive PCR test result. When you want to COUNT 'cases', suddenly the thing you are dealing with changes, and becomes something different, to when you were 'measuring' it, in terms of 'diagnosing actual symptoms'. Seems you can COUNT something that is NOT there, whereas when you go to MEASURE (diagnose) something that is NOT present, you get, well NOTHING TO REPORT. And so you can COUNT 'a-symptomatic cases' and get 'alarming SURGES in CASES'. Whereas when you go to measure them, and actually use what was, until 2 years ago, basic protocols for actual DIAGNOSES of symptoms or any OTHER genuine reason to SUSPECT someone might have been actually INFECTED with something proven to be potentially INFECTIOUS i.e having that property of being able to be transmitted from one human or other animal, to another human, you find ZERO reason for alarm!

Yes, friends, you can COUNT ON numbers to allow you to do amazing scientific research, such as 'counting the number of angels that can dance on the tip of a pin!' The equivalent of the Covid-Cult's 'Case numbers'.

But wait, there's more. 'We can have the following two concepts of current, as in the case of velocity, instantaneous current and average current'. There is is, VELOCITY. I was wondering where I'd gotten the idea it was somehow important, and used in some way to measure something with regards to 'electricity', and here it is. But what does that sentence actually mean? What does it refer to? Yes yes, I see the impressive formula and you seem very confident it is valuable and you can use to to calculate something or other. But WHAT exactly? What are you calculating? What are you TALKING about, so confidently and authoritatively? Why can't you stick to calling that spade a spade? Has its function or form changed? How? In what way? Please explain!

Oh, and how's this: 'If current is passing through a wire then it implies that a charge is flowing through that wire'. Implies? Is it or isn't it? Why call it a current and not a charge then? What sort of weasel-wording are we dealing with when it comes to 'The Official Narrative' concerning 'electricity'?

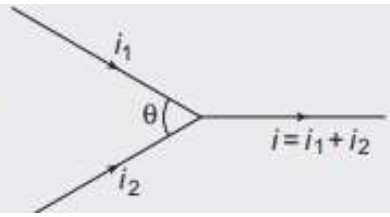
'Similar to the flow of water, charge flows faster where the conductor is smaller in cross-section and slower where the conductor is larger in cross-section, so that charge rate remains unchanged'. Man-oh-man is my head swimming. Does anyone actually claim to really understand all this? Sure they can vomit up the conditioned stimulus-reflex response at exam time, and make the equations work, and 'solve for X' and so on. But do they know what they are talking ABOUT?

O.K, it can be comforting to think, 'yeh, well, that's like water flowing in a pipe, right? Use the same water pressure, but a narrower gauge pipe, and it shoots out further, appearing to be travelling faster, at higher pressure. But look, it either does act like water or it doesn't. And while this little part of the narrative feels comfortingly familiar and 'clean' and 'transparent', like water, how come once we leave this little part of 'The Official Narrative' we have to start using different terms to describe what is supposed to be the same thing. As if the same subject behaves differently under different circumstances. Even where the circumstances can't be described in any detail. BEHAVIOURALISM much?

Note to self: add note about lifting one of the two water tanks to a higher elevation, as an alternative to, or adjunct to, raising the level of water in one of the containers by adding water to it, while maintaining an equal, constant, elevation between the two containers, on level ground!

This is how they 'experts' describe the 'directionality' of electrical current. It is 'opposite to the motion of electrons'? What now? So the charges the charge carriers carry moves in the opposite direction to the carriers carrying the charges? Should DPD or UPS learn something from this? Have they been doing it wrong all this time? Carrying parcels in the vans heading towards the address on the package, rather than away from it?

Though conventionally a direction is associated with current (opposite to the motion of electrons), it is not a vector as the direction merely represents the sense of charge flow and not a true direction. Further, current does not obey the law of parallelogram of vectors, i.e. if two currents i_1 and i_2 reach a point we always have $i = i_1 + i_2$ whatever be the angle between i_1 and i_2.



If a charge q revolves in a circle with frequency f, the equivalent current,

$$i = qf$$

In a conductor, normally current flow or charge flow is due to flow of free electrons.

Charge is quantised. The quantum of charge is e. The charge on any body will be some integral multiple of e, i.e.

$$q = \pm ne$$

where, $n = 1, 2, 3...$

Oh, well that's all right then. Now everything makes perfect sense. It's all clear to me. Charges revolve in circles sometimes. And normal current or charge (is it either/or, or are they suggesting the two terms refer to the same thing, as mere synonyms?) flow in a conductor is due to flow of free electrons. What now? Does the horse sometimes pull the cart, and other times the cart pushes the horse? How's that work with the tail wagging the dog? How many dogs would survive becoming in the slightest excited at something? Snapping their own necks the moment they experience any enthusiasm for anything! 'Wanna go for a walk? Wagg wag, SNAP goes the neck'. Oh well, maybe not.

See how they love to QUANTISE stuff! Whaddusitmean? Quantum? Quanta? 'Anything you like'? The 'failsafe obfuscation in the most authoritative and confident of packages'? Sure to stop any interrogator in their tracks. And make it possible for people to win Nobel prizes for essentially 'making stuff up'. Or to be fairer, 'Writing new characters into 'The Official Narrative' as one more new piece of equipment for the intensive care unit where most 'Official Narratives' are barely kept alive, because they could never survive 'in nature' 'out there' 'in the real world' where 'people might ask them questions' and ,wait for it, no, surely it's not possible, it just couldn't be true' expect ANSWERS!

But wait, here's an EXAMPLE that will surely explain everything. And clear up all the confusion all this has generated in my mind. I mean, that's what examples do, right? Give us a simple, explanative, descriptive, example that will make things clear. So I'm keen with anticipation for my salvation from my confusion.

Example 23.1 In a given time of 10 s, 40 electrons pass from right to left. In the same interval of time 40 protons also pass from left to right. Is the average current zero? If not, then find the value of average current.

Solution No, the average current is not zero. Direction of current is the direction of motion of positive charge or in the opposite direction of motion of negative charge. So, both currents are from left to right and both currents will be added.

$$\therefore \quad I_{av} = I_{electron} + I_{proton}$$

$$= \frac{q_1}{t_1} + \frac{q_2}{t_2}$$

$$= \frac{40\,e}{10} + \frac{40\,e}{10} \qquad (q = ne)$$

$$= 8\,e$$

$$= 8 \times 1.6 \times 10^{-19}\ \text{A}$$

$$= 1.28 \times 10^{-18}\ \text{A} \qquad \textbf{Ans.}$$

Good Dog! What now? So which direction does electricity flow? Left to right? Positive to negative? Ah, the opposite of the other whatsits? Thingies? Now if I hadn't found this in a highly respected textbook on electricity designed to help students pass government exams, I'd think someone was pulling my leg. Only in what direction?

So 'positive charge' has a direction? What is it? Oh, I see, the opposite of negative charge. Right now. And that is? Yes, yes, silly me, the opposite direction of positive charge. Which is? And we make fun of dogs and cats for 'chasing their own tails'?

But again, hope in sight. It seems we can COUNT the actual NUMBER OF ELECTRONS that flow through a 'cross-section' in a given interval of time.

Example 23.3 A wire carries a current of 2.0 A. What is the charge that has flowed through its cross-section in 1.0 s? How many electrons does this correspond to?

Solution $\because \quad i = \frac{q}{t}$

$$\therefore \quad q = it = (2.0\ \text{A})(1.0\ \text{s}) = 2.0\ \text{C} \qquad \textbf{A}$$

$$q = ne$$

$$\therefore \quad n = \frac{q}{e} = \frac{2.0}{1.6 \times 10^{-19}}$$

$$= 1.25 \times 10^{19} \qquad \textbf{A}$$

Surely that is something 'concrete' we can 'get our minds around'. Stick our teeth into. Gain some comforting 'solidity' from. Electrons are the 'charge carriers', right? So these should be the only things moving in any particular direction, right? And they are countable nouns. Things. Actual things. Finally. They are associated with the charges, and voltage, and current. So they correspond in a physical way with the 'flow' of current. Right? Well now my confidence levels are rising. I might be ready for some 'introductory' exercises to test my newfound understanding.

INTRODUCTORY EXERCISE 23.1

1. How many electrons per second pass through a section of wire carrying a current of 0.7 A?
2. A current of 3.6 A flows through an automobile headlight. How many coulombs of charge flow through the headlight in 3.0 h?
3. A current of 7.5 A is maintained in wire for 45 s. In this time,
   (a) how much charge and
   (b) how many electrons flow through the wire?
4. In the Bohr model, the electron of a hydrogen atom moves in a circular orbit of radius 5.3×10^{-11} m with a speed of 2.2×10^{6} m/s. Determine its frequency f and the current I in the orbit.
5. The current through a wire depends on time as, $i = (10 + 4t)$
   Here, i is in ampere and t in seconds. Find the charge crossed through a section in time interval between $t = 0$ to $t = 10$ s.
6. In an electrolyte, the positive ions move from left to right and the negative ions from right to left. Is there a net current? If yes, in what direction?

Ah, well, I guess, maybe not quite ready yet! Was this textbook designed to make me feel really stupid? I mean, heck, they showed me the equations and formulas and even put a bunch of words in sentences that seemed grammatically correct. And yet my mind comes up an almost total blank. The bit about counting electrons seemed a great leap forward, but other than that?

I mean, is the 'charge' the same as the number of electrons even? Can one electron carry 'more charges'? What does that even mean? Can you count charges? What are they? Did I miss something?

Charge carriers

In solid conductors the positive ions cannot move. Only the (innately, permanently negatively charged) free (valence) electrons are free to move, and act as (necessarily negative) charge carriers, while the fixed / immobile positive ions remain as a static backdrop to their antics. (In electrolyte conductors, both positive and negative ions can move.)

When we speak of a 'current' we are talking of (innately, permanently negatively) charged electrons. They are the permanent magnets of the naturally occurring Alternating Current generation world. As they move they generate electromagnetic fields, and thus electromagnetic / electromotive FORCES, of attraction and repulsion. And while the electrons require a medium to oscillate back and forth in (AC) or flow in (DC), the electromagnetic forces they generate as they move, can act across empty space. Yes even that supposed 'vacuum of space' NASA narrators of fake Shuttle explosions and moon landings like to interject into their narration, at every opportunity. In case you didn't hear them correctly one of the earlier times they uttered that absurd fiction. Are you aware of how propellers work? And how rising warm air and water produce wind and ocean currents? If you are, then explain why 'the vacuum of space' does not 'suck' and 'pull' and 'draw' everything into it!

Self-inductance and Inductors

Remember that any time a current is flowing in a wire, it is generating an electromagnetic field around the wire. Because of the 'contrary' nature of forces, when a magnetic field is automatically induced by the flow of current in a circuit, it actually 'resists' and 'impedes' the flow of current producing it. Like contrary children opposing their parent's will. Automatically. 'Naturally'. Rebellion is enemic and ubiquitous in nature, as expressed by that famous law whereby 'for every action, there is an equal, and opposite, reaction. This is the only way a 'monad' can work. Otherwise you'd need an infinite universe, or at least that the universe continually expand to accommodate every single action. The 're-action' is what 'balances out' the monad. It is 'monadic ju-jitzu'. Turning every action back onto itself. So that the net result of any action, for all you 'optimists' out there, is zero. Every 'revolution' brings you back to where you started. Every 'putsch' lands you back at square one. It's snakes and ladders all the way down, and around. Thus the 'futiltity' of all action. If 'ends' are your game. And thus the ZEN state of 'playfullness'. Treating life as a constant journey. A constant process. Enjoying that journey and process. Treating the 'ends' as mere 'motivations for action'. Understanding that achieving ends is not the point. They merely provide 'purposeful action' and generate 'meaning' and 'experiences'. Enjoy the process and journey. Don't rush it. The Daoists warn of the 'tipping point' at which, having attained what you sought, you lose it. The best objectives motivate by being desired, and 'attainable', and thus providing meaningful, purpose-full, action. It is the action that is the real thing. It's a game. Approached in the playful manner of a truly enlightened being, the focus is on the process. The PLAY*ING'*S the thing! In Sanskrit this tranlsates as LILA. Playfulness. The spirit in which all life is conceived. Which makes you wonder how it got all M.E.S.T up (so to speak).

So in order for games to have winners, we need losers. It's reflexive. The reflex of winner is loser. By definition. Though all who play in the spirit of playfullness win. Only those who get too FIXATED on 'the supposed ends', on 'victory' on 'winning' miss the point. They lose that playfulness of spirit with which all games are conceived. Except where they have specifically HUMAN objectives, such as deliberately training people to be ultra-competitive, violent, and even deceptive (cheating as 'professionalism') and FIXATED on 'winning' at all costs. At the cost of sportsmanship. At the cost of FUN. Just watch a great game of soccer played by 'lovers' of 'the game', compared to a professional match in which all focus is on 'winning'. Not making errors. Not letting the other side score. And thus turning the 'fun' into 'a matter of life and death', with 'doping' and 'fouls' and 'dirty tricks' becoming 'the norm'. Rather than 'the beautiful game' itself!

In terms of screen-play writing, we call it 'Conflict'. Without 'conflict' there is usually no plot. No character development. No plot development. No character or plot 'arcs'. And certainly no 'second act turnarounds'. Without 'resistance' no 'work' is ever done. Nothing is 'transformed' a.k.a 'changed, utterly changed', so that something terribly beautiful can be born (to paraphrase those great lines of Yeats).

So we all 'self-sabotage' on some level. Call it 'self-inductance'. Call it 'neurosis'. The current flowing in the circuit sets up a magetic field, made up of Electromagnetic Forces (EMF or E) that 'pushes back' and 'resists' and 'opposes' the current's flow, by acting upon it 'in the opposite direction'. Of course not enough to stop it flowing. But enough to 'make things interesting'. Consider that if this did NOT happen, there could be no 'physical' 'solid' 'objects' or 'subjects' at all. It is the 'resistance' that Electromagnetic Forces provide to you 'curious hands' that gives them their associated 'haptics' such as 'weight' and 'mass' and 'texture'. There could be no 'loving caresses' without this. I wouldn't be feeling the lovely cool breeze flowing over my skin.

No nerve endings would be set to 'resonating' at the frequencies they are attuned to, and thus there could be no 'sounds' or 'colors' or 'smells' or 'tastes'. These are all 'equal and opposite reactions' to oscillations that have 'disturbed' nerve endings in our various 'sense organs', which will end up being RENDERED by our minds as all the various 'impressions' that bring life alive. That provide us with sensations. Pleasures. Reliefs. And sadly also discomfort and pain, when what we are doing is contra-indicated, and not pro-survival for the individual, and more importantly, the species.

Electromagnetism

Electromagnetism is as fundamental a property of matter as mass. Electromagnetism is present in any particle the predicate 'charged' can be applied to. And thus described as having a 'positive' or 'negative' charge. Where these are merely reflexive terms to suggest reflexive, absolute, polar opposites. (Though thus still only in relation to each other, and being unloaded and without value judgment as neither an epithet of praise or criticism, as 'better' or 'worse', in the same way Nietzsche might speak of 'good' and 'evil' as merely polar opposites).

So far, then, the narrative wants us to focus on the particles, the actual locus of the electromotive forces of attraction and repulsion, rather than those forces themselves. David Hume's ears would be pricked, like a hare's, in anticipation of more 'problematic' utterances to come!

First we note we are dealing in QUANTITIES already. Countable particles. Discrete objects.

When these particles are not dashing about, when they are 'at rest', they are referred to as 'static' charges and 'static' electricity. And 'electrostatic' interactions. And we can predict their BEHAVIOURS using Coulomb's law. And the concept of an 'electric field'.

Even though protons are MASSIVE compared to electrons, in size, 'The Official Narrative' requires them to project the same electromagnetic forces upon each other, so that each proton in the nucleus will 'bind' an electron whizzing around it, to it, though at a distance.

Like a lover holds their admirer in a thrall. So that they 'only have eyes for them'.

Like a Cult idol / dogma / belief system that 'binds' (religionare meaning 'to bind') its thralls 'religiously' to total devotion to the Cult god/s, beliefs, and absolute submission to the Cult Priests. So that the moment they 'declare' anything to be true, it is immediately accepted as so. And the moment they 'declare' anything to be necessary, or desirable, the thralls ACT accordingly, such as wearing, for no reason other than as a sign of submission and mental 'anchor' of complete and unthinking / unquestioning / unreflecting obedience to the Cult Priesthood, Covid Burkhas, getting injected with something they call a 'vaccine', completing arbitrary rituals like 'hand washing with 'holy' water', and even 'foot cleansing', and allowing 'witch finders' and others capable of 'reading the signs of demonic possession' (using various 'tools of their trade like PCR test kits and thermometers) to stop and interrogate them, and stick things up their noses to scrape away at body tissues).

The electrical nature of matter is inherent in atomic structure. An atom consists of a small, relatively massive nucleus that contains particles called protons and neutrons. A proton has a mass 1.673×10^{-27} kg, while a neutron has a slightly greater mass 1.675×10^{-27} kg. Surrounding the nucleus is a diffuse cloud of orbiting particles called electrons. An electron has a mass of 9.11×10^{-31} kg.

That's the technical specs if you've a mind to try to get your head around them. Note that 'The Official Narrative' is still a 'work in progress' and some of the character's predicates / qualities / back-stories have yet to be finalized. They are slotted for revision in post-production!

Charges observe a law of conservation. So that the net electric charge of any isolated system never changes. It remains constant so that its NET charge is conserved. No matter what interactions occur and processes take place as a result of them. Pair production and pair annihilation are two examples of conservation of charge.

A charged particle produces electric and magnetic fields even at rest. Hence the phenomenon of 'static' electricity. Accelerate the particle, and it will also radiate energy. This sheds light on my quest to understand the relationship of 'velocity' to this whole deal!

The 'money shot' in science is all about QUANTIZATION a.k.a QUANTIFICATION. It's a 'numbers game', in terms of politics and research funding, and ultimately 'impressing the punters' with 'authoritative' LOOKING and SOUNDING 'numbers'. And fancy equations that allow us to predict stuff, and design stuff that works how we intended. Or pleasantly surprises us. Rather than the other way around. Doesn't work and seems to punish us for our 'hubris' at trying to control nature, rather than adapt to it. As part of it, rather than attempting to play 'Dictator' of it.

Any discrete 'body' is said to be 'uncharged' where the electric charges within it are balanced, positively charged where there are more positive than negative charges, and negatively charged, when there are more negative than positive charges.

Within 'conductors' such as the earth, the human body, and metals, the charges are relatively free to move around. In 'insulators' like glass, rubber, and synthetic rubber a.k.a 'plastics', each charge carrier is tightly bound to its nuclear family / atom.

In metals the carriers of the charges that are free to move between atoms, within the 'body', are those 'free' a.k.a 'conductor' electrons that are not 'bound' to a proton in any one particular atoms' nucleus. They are not thralls. They are 'free'. And usually end up 'in exile' or 'wandering'. Free to carry their negative charges from atom to atom, thus balancing, and unbalancing, the atoms they 'bump into', resulting in a neutral balanced (no charge), an excess of electrons producing a negative ION, or leaving the atom they left with a deficiency of electrons producing a positive ION.

There are thus two sets of 'Jews' too. The Cult thralls and their Priests, wandering around the earth seeking new thralls to recruit to their cult. And the 'Jews' who are constantly on the move avoiding this first group, who, having been 'emancipated' by their own efforts, or those of their parents, seek to maintain this freedom. They no longer have a 'King Herod The Great' to protect them from 'The Cult of Judah'. And so they tend to continue 'wandering' and being 'evicted' every time that Cult 'occupies' the nation or state where they had managed, up to that point, to live freely!

Semi*conductors such as Silicon and germanium have electrical properties between those of insulators and conductors.

Remember it is the electron itself that has a charge. To call it a 'charge carrier' feels obfuscation to me at this point in my enquiry into 'The Official Narrative'. It is the negative charge, for all intents and purposes. Rather than merely 'carrying' something. Unless it is really just the LOCUS of that charge? Which is something I personally entertain. Like kinetic energy is merely transmitted via particles or 'molecules' of air and water, and even by 'elevation' / 'altitude', or 'a coiled spring', so that the 'medium' really is no more than a 'carrier', like a cult thrall is a 'carrier' of the cult slave ideology and neuro-linguistic-programs of the Cult. A mere locus of pestilential, critical-independent-thought killing, reason paralysing, toxic and infectious dogmas and articles of faith and LIES and DECEPTION.

And to clarify, a charged particle at rest only produces an electric field. When it is moving at a constant rate (no change in velocity) it has both and electric field and a magnetic field. And when accelerating (or decelerating?) and thus changing its speed, it produces an electric field, has a magnetic field, and also radiates electromagnetic energy. So the actual state of the electron i.e whether stationary/static, moving at a constant rate, or accelerating (or decelerating?), determine its qualities and the phenomena associated with it.

Frictional electricity

Rub a glass rod with a silk cloth and the glass rod will acquire the same degree of net positive charge as the silk cloth acquires the exact absolute net negative charge. This is because the silk cloth 'rubs off' electrons from the glass rod.

The first recorded, documented, post Younger-Dryas-Atlantis Cataclysm form of electricity, other than the famous 'Dendara lightglobe-transformer-battery' (add image etc here) was 'frictional electricity'.

Thor's lightning bolts and thunder are the most dramatic form of electrical charges produced via friction, in this case water and ice molecules in clouds rubbing together. The ancient Greeks, though, rubbed sticks of Amber (fossilized tree resin) against wool, for 'hair raising' results. Their world for Amber is the source of our words electricity and electron.

Getting hit by lighting would surely 'make your hair stand on end', but probably the first human production of frictional electricity happened by accident, shortly after the 'comb' was invented. Run a comb through dry hair, and electrons from the brush are are rubbed off onto the comb, leaving the 'donor' object 'positively charged' and the 'recipient' object negatively charged. So as you pull the comb away, and strands of hair, the lighter of the two objects, will 'stick' both to each other, and to the comb.

Remember that when it comes to charges, more is less. Actually 'negative'. As electrons are negatively charged. And losing enough of them, so that there are more protons in an atom than electrons, leaves it with a net positive charge (from the relative excess of protons to electrons).

Contact charging

Touching a net negatively or positively charged metal object to another metal object will transfer that charge to it, via conductance.

Charging by Induction

The metal objects don't even have to touch. (In fact 'touching' is an idea, and an artefact of our human, macro, scale of perception, for atoms never actually touch!) This is because electromagnetic fields work across space to repel and attract electrons. So the net negative charge of a negatively charged metal rod, as it approaches another metal object with no net charge, will repel the electrons closest to in in the approaching object, leaving that region of it with a relative positive charge, and the regions where these electrons move to will gain a corresponding net negative charge, as negatively charged electrons accumulate there.

The earth is a good conductor. So if the object was 'earthed' a.k.a 'grounded', some of the electrons would flow back and forth between the object and the earth, depending on the net charge the object has at any given moment.

Remember that in all objects 'free' 'valance' electrons are constantly being 'swapped' among the atoms. But as long as the total number of electrons is balanced by the total number of protons, in the object, the object is considered to have a net neutral charge. And as long as an object is 'earthed', electrons can and will flow between it and the ground/earth, to balance out the 'net charge' and leave it with a net 'neutral' charge. Negative charges applied to the object will repel-push electrons to earth-ground. Positive charges will attract-pull-suck electrons out of the earth. And the 're-balancing' will occur almost instantaneously. Literally 'lightning' fast. Like the 'sparks' that fly from your finger-tips when you discharge static electricity! For that is LITERALLY what we are describing. And literally what 'static electric shocks' are. Little arcs of electrons moving between objects. Little bolts of lightning. And so, as we learn 'as above, so below'. And 'God is in us'. 'Immanent'. As in 'Emanuel a.k.a 'God in us'. In this case the god THOR!

Coloumbs law

Electrical attraction and repulsion decrease with distance. Does that sound like characteristics of another character from 'The Official Narrative' we hear so much about? The reason astronauts float weightless in NASA swimming pools, I mean, 'space stations' (with inexplicable water bubbles et al). 'The Electric Universe' model seems more and more compelling the deeper we delve into the official narrative.

Electric Potential Energy

Again we find correspondences between 'The Official Narrative' regarding 'gravity' and 'The Official Narrative' regarding electricity. And more fuel for the 'Electric Universe' model to be advanced as a more compelling candidate for 'truth'.

The electric force between two charges is directed along the line of the charges, and acts according to the inverse square of their separation, like the gravitational force between two masses. And again like the gravitational force, the electric force is conservative.

When a charged particle moves in an electric field, the field exerts a force on the particle, which can be expressed in terms of electric potential energy. And whereas gravitational potential energy depends on the altitude of a mass above the earth, electric potential energy depends on the position of the charged particle in the electric field. All these correspondences continue to line up like those proverbial ducks, waiting to be 'shot down'. But all the scientists appear to have 'gone vegan'?

Electric Dipoles

A pair of equal and opposite point charges ±q separated by a fixed distance is called an electric dipole. These are naturally occurring, such as the case of the hydrogen fluoride molecule (HF). When a hydrogen atom combines with a fluorine atom, the single electron of the Hydrogen atom is strongly attracted to the Fluorine atom and spends most of its time close to the fluorine atom. Thus the molecule has a net neutral charge, resulting from a strongly negative fluorine ion some (small) distance away from a strongly positive ion.

Conductors

Conductance is measured in units called Siemens. Zee Germans at it again! Siemens = Amps / Volts. Siemens Nixdorf once made a big boo boo. They put up a big sign at their KUNDEN ZENTRUM, using the abbreviation KZ. Needless to say some 'Holocaust cult thrall' quickly made sure Siemens became aware of their 'faux paux', and the sign was taken down, before, as feared by 'The Holocaust lobby', Germans would revert to their 'natural tendency' and start rounding up communists, homosexuals, gypsies, and, yes, 'Jews'.

When no voltage is applied across a conductor, and thus no specific current is flowing, conditions referred to as 'electrostatic' any excess charge due to the random exchange of, and movement of, free electrons, between and among the atoms, will end up on its outer surface. Net field inside a conductor is zero.

The power of pressure, even water pressure

Zee Germans took time out from patriarching women, exploiting and keeping down 'colored peoples', and feeding 'Jews' to tigers and bears, or electrocuting them, or gassing them in rooms with the door locks on the inside and single pane glass windows, across the road from the SS officer mess and living quarters, with a 'magical' Zyklon B formula that left no typical 'Prussian Blue' staining on the walls, or skinning 'Jews' to make lampshades and turn their fat into soap, and making Sophie choose 'which child should die', or, most diabolically of all, forcing 'Jews' to work for a living, and enter 'gas chambers' where warm soapy water fell from the 'gas vents', a.k.a known as 'taking a hot shower' (apparently 'Jews' and Nuremberg 'Judges' define this as 'being gassed to death' (was something lost in the translation? Or just a case of cultural norms being so different?), to take that process a whole lot further, to the point that they now readily cut metal with high pressure 'hydro-laser beams' of water.

Now consider how, during the process of transferring water from one vessel to another, some water might be lost due to evaporation, (or if we are dealing with Zee Germans and the liquid in question is beer or schnapps, a little 'shrinkage', of course as always, reflected in a little 'expansion' in the beer/schnapps 'carriers'!) or careless 'spills'. In the same way some electric potential energy is lost / converted to 'heat' during the transfer, so that the charge transmitted, is not received 'in full'.

Gatekeepers (you've gotta be real fast, to catch the TRUTH)

Resistance in any circuit opposes the charging of the capacitor (by impeding current flow in the circuit) so it takes time for the capacitor to charge. During this interval pulses of EMF recurring at a faster rate a.k.a 'higher frequency' are able to pass through what is a virtual closed switch (in ON position to clarify) through the dielectric and across the 'gap' in the capacitor. These EMF pulses require no 'charge carriers' a.k.a 'electrons' to 'bridge' the gap between the plates of the capacitor. Once the capacitor is fully charged, EMF / electrical energy ceases to flow across the gap because there is no longer any Potential difference of charge, between the circuit and the capacitor. There is no voltage across the capacitor.

So it is while the capacitor is charging and discharging, that EMF pulses occurring at the fastest rates, and thus with 'the highest frequency', are free to 'pass' and 'bridge the gap' and escape the circuit to earth.

The capacitor itself provides enough resistance for the purposes of EQ and 'tone shaping'. Resistors are added as 'user-variable voltage dividers' to allow the user to determine how much of the signal is 'turned back' to the TONE circuit containing the capacitor, and thus how much of the total 'high frequency content' of the signal is allowed to 'leak' to earth.

Remember that it is the EMF, the Electromagnetic Force, the electrical energy, the pulses of electrical energy, associated with the charge carriers, the electrons, that are our focus when it comes to TONE CIRCUITS, rather than the electrons themselves. Electrical energy pulses can 'leap the gap' of the capacitor, while electrons, denied a 'medium'. I sense some Zen 'confusion' a.k.a 'opportunity' arising in my mind for enlightenment, which the much more powerful not-conscious parts of my brain-mind will be presently arranging for me, any moment now!

We need to remember that electrons are 'charge carriers'. They only need to move tiny distances to 'pass on' any charge to the next nearest electron. And NOTHING in this universe ever 'touches'. So there was never any need for electrons to 'flow across the capacitor gap'. They just need to be close enough for the electromagnetic fields to interact with the electrons 'on the other side'. To discharge their charges across the 'gap', where a waiting electron would be ready to 'take up the baton' once more.

Current flows in a Capacitor-Resistor circuit only during charg*ing* of a capacitor. Once charging is complete, the current falls back to zero. So in the case of our guitar TONE CIRCUIT, no signal at all is lost while the capacitor is charged. And only EMF pulses repeating at the highest rates typical of a guitar circuit as outputted by the guitar pick-ups and corresponding to the 'oscillations' of the guitar strings, occur fast enough to 'dash through the open gate' while it is opening and closing. Keeping in mind that they have a very 'narrow window of opportunity', to mix the metaphors up a little! Only the pulses that have the shortest time/distance between maximum amplitudes manage to 'pass' across the dielectric during these brief moments. The 'lower frequency' pulses don't get a chance to 'develop' a complete cycle before the 'gate is shut again'.

And that is what is happening now with our freedoms. The gate is being shut again. And probably until the next 'Younger Dryas / Atlantis scale cataclysm' hits our little blue-green plane-et. Most people's minds work sluggishly at best. They fail to 'compute' the 'big data set' that has been transmitted by those of us seeking to enlighten them, in time. In fact they claim the 'don't HAVE time' simply to read a few books. They have much more important things to do like 'work out how to get paid and laid'. And if already enjoying such privileges, how to 'get paid and laid more'. With less effort. In other words how to 'climb up the pyramidal structure to a more comfortable position'. Rather than abolish that pyramidal structure, and claim their freedom. For they don't want freedom. They don't want justice. They just want someone to… there my 'Talking Heads' quote must end, and to paraphrase 'get paid and laid'. People don't hate slavery. They just hate being slaves. They are all for slavery, as long as someone ELSE is the slave. The victim. They seek to benefit from slavery. They feel entitled to. People are 'Semitic' by nature. They subscribe to 'The Ideology of Semitism' at the core of The Cult of Judah. That of EXCEPTIONALISM. That OTHERS should do the work, pay the costs, suffer, and take the risks, that produce the benefits that they themselves, exclusively, should be free to appropriate and consume. Without themselves having taken any risks, done any work, suffered, or produced anything of value. Yes HYPOCRISY is at the heart of this plane-ets woes. And until we all adopt 'The Ultimate Ethics Generator' and realise some form of 'Rawls' Veil of Ignorance', we shall 'enjoy' this slave society, this pyramidal structure, this 'prison plane-et', over and over again, in as many 'next lives' as it takes, for us to 'learn' our lessons. Or perhaps some 'souls' simply love this sort of game. They are welcome to it. For those who are NOT sado-masochists by nature or informed choice, I offer an alternative. A BETTER game to play. A BETTER way to BE!

Magnetism

Magnetism was named after the ancient Greek name for a famous source of natural magnets known as 'loadstone', Magnesia, in modern day Turkey.

While electric forces act on even on stationary (static) electric charges, magnetic forces act only on moving charges and conductors with an active current. Magnetic fields are associated with permanent magnets, electric currents, and other moving charges. Remember a current is a collection of many charged particles in motion. Hence, the resultant force exerted by a magnetic field on a wire with current flowing through it is the vector sum of the individual forces exerted on all the charged particles making up the current. The force exerted on the particles is transmitted to the atoms making up the wire when they collide with these atoms.

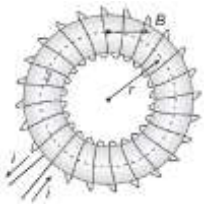
A typical magnetic is a dipole, meaning it has two (di) poles. Conventionally named 'North' and 'South'. Magnetic lines of force extend from pole to pole. Just as they do with the earth. Funny how we sometimes use 'bi' and other times 'di'.

Hence a di-alogue has two sides. Well it used to anyway. Today all you will ever get to hear is ONE side of any argument. 'The Official Narrative'. And if it ever seems you are witnessing an actual dialog, even a discussion or debate, you can be confident it is all scripted and that BOTH sides are really representing the SAME side. The Cult of Judah. This is known as 'controlled opposition'. And often the 'controlled opposition' don't even understand that they are controlled, or in what way. They'd have to read my TROONATNOOR books and watch my videos on Bitchute.com or Telegram to comprehend how they are being used. But while these unwitting accomplices may be as naïve and clueless as a newborn pup, most 'controlled opposition' are well rewarded, conscious, traitors committing treason. Mercenaries who don't care what they sell out, and to whom, just as long as there is a profitable sale!

A solenoid (left) is a length of wire wound in a closely spaced spiral (a.k.a 'helix') over a hollow cylindrical non-conducting core, which, when a current is passed through it, generates a fairly uniform magnetic field in the space surrounded by the turns of wire(the interior of the solenoid).

Either end of the solenoid behaves like the north and South Pole of a bar magnet. As the length of the solenoid increases, the interior field becomes more uniform and the exterior field becomes weaker. An ideal solenoid is approached when the turns are closely spaced and the length is much greater than the radius of the turns. In this case, the external field is zero, and the interior field is uniform over a great volume.

Getting toroidal



Anyone familiar with my TROONATNOOR guides, and/or 'The Electric Universe' narrative, will be all ears at the mention of the term 'toroid'. A toroid is a device consisting of conducting wire wrapped around a torus (ring) of non-conducting material. With it we can generate an almost uniform magnetic field in an enclosed area.

Magnetising matter

Every electron acts as an individual magnetic dipole, with a north and south magnetic pole. In the absence of any external magnetic field, the dipoles of individual atoms are randomly oriented and the net magnetic fields are self-cancelling. But in some substances, electrons will all align their own north-south axis, and poles, with any external magnetic field which they are immersed in, so that the entire object takes on the same magnetic field, and polar orientation, along a north-south axis. So now each little 'bar magnet electron' mirrors each other, and the external magnetic field they are immersed in.

Ferromagnetic substances such as Fe, Co (Iron and Copper) exhibit the largest magnetic flux increases when placed in a magnetic field. Paramagnetic substances such as O2 , air, platinum, and aluminum, exhibit a slight increase in magnetic flux. Diamagnetic substances such as H2 , H2O, Cu, Zn, and Sb exhibit a decrease.

So iron, nickel, steel, cobalt and their alloys, find their way into steel guitar strings, as they are strongly magnetized by even a weak magnetic field.

The electrons in ferromagnetic materials like guitar strings, when an external magnetic field is applied to them, will, like good Co2vid Cult thralls today, respond in 'lockstep' by aligning their north-south poles to act, in unison, as a single magnet with one north and one south pole. The dipoles all reinforce each other. Similar to the way 'peer pressure' and 'collective ignorance' (the true strength of all cults), and self-censorship, and 'mitlaufen' (going along to get along) do in CULT enthralled social groups.

So we can observe the same behaviors in electrons in a ferromagnetic substance as we see in individuals in groups, as the expression of the same principles of 'group psychology'. And it is no accident that behaviouralists will refer to the 'magnetic personality' of cult / political leaders as being influential in 'aligning' the otherwise random, self-cancelling, behaviors of individuals, into a 'Fasci'. A bundle of sticks tightly bound so that, while as individuals they may be weak, together they are almost unbreakable. The principle of 'E Pluribus Unum'.

In this way the external magnetic forces determine the alignments of all the individual electrons in the ferromagnetic substance, such as the steel guitar string. In the same way the Cult dictator determines the actions of every individual, who, when the 'magnetic forces' are applied, such as 'AUTHORITY' and 'threats of state violence', will act 'in lockstep', and demonstrate the same behaviors, no matter what their 'natural' original orientations, and thus 'put on the Covid Burkha', 'Take the jab (of holy water)', perform the handwashing (and even shoe cleaning) rituals with a different 'holy water', and SUBMIT (the meaning of Islam, by the way) to totally IRRATIONAL (and arbitrary in terms of their stated purposes / functions) proscriptions (take the jab, wear the burkha, get tested for demonic possession by a certified witch-hunter, and so on) and prescriptions (social distance, leave parents and children to die alone in gulags with other inmates, sanitize the hands, and so on). These behaviors are 'irrational' as they cannot possibly achieve the outcomes officially attributed / ascribed as the 'reasons' or 'justifications' or 'excuses' given to justify the COERCION, using the full STATE VIOLENCE available to the 'authorities', including the newly established 'Co2vid Taliban', to ensure SUBMISSION.

However they are not arbitrary, and irrational, WHEN you become aware of their TRUE purposes and ACTUAL INTENDED OUTCOMES of economic wrecking, dehumanization, and medical dictatorship as proxy for the Cult of Judah One World Dictatorship.

Once in the 'MAGNETIC THRALL' of a cult, cult thralls all behave like electrons in the thrall of magnetic fields and magnetic forces. They all start marching 'lockstep' down the same path to their mutual enslavement and dehumanization. To become pliant tools. Means to the whatever ends their cult masters devise for them. While the most sophisticated and micro-managed Neuro-Linguistic-Programming techniques are employed to ensure that the thralls internalize every objective their masters set for them, owning these, and becoming emotionally invested in them, as if they were authentic, organic, personal, desires and ambitions. Rewards are associated with 'attainment' of cult objectives, which become identified in the thrall's mind with the objectives, so that they form a unity. So that any CULT command is now 'framed' and 'interpreted' and 'defined' by the Cult thrall's mind as being the means to achieving what feels like their own personal ends. While these are ends they never would have desired, had they been given the 'full story' and 'all the information', and been allowed to give or withdraw their mandate, their 'informed consent'. In fact these 'ends' that the cult thralls now so energetically strive for, and have such (irrational) emotional investments and commitments to, would ordinarily be defined as things to AVOID, to FEAR, to HATE, to LOATHE, and rather than pursuing them, they would take every care to avoid them, and ensure their freedom FROM. But now the snake is defined as protector. The enemy is defined as friend and ally. And the natural ally and friend is defined as their most detested, hated, and feared, enemy. So that the Cult authorities become the 'false friends' of the thralls. Who are implicitly granted complete trust no matter how absurd and costly, to the point of war and suicide and genocide of their own peoples, the DECLARATIONS of 'The Authorities' become. No matter how absurdly fatuous 'The Official Narrative' offered, the thralls will readily accept it as 'The Gospel'. The new cult dogma. The new 'articles of faith'. They will leap into the chasm in what they will call a 'leap of faith'. What in any other context, and in the language of a primary school child, would be called 'falling for any old stupid rubbish' and 'being tricked' and 'being conned' and 'being fooled' and 'being gormlessly gullible and naïve and STUPID'.

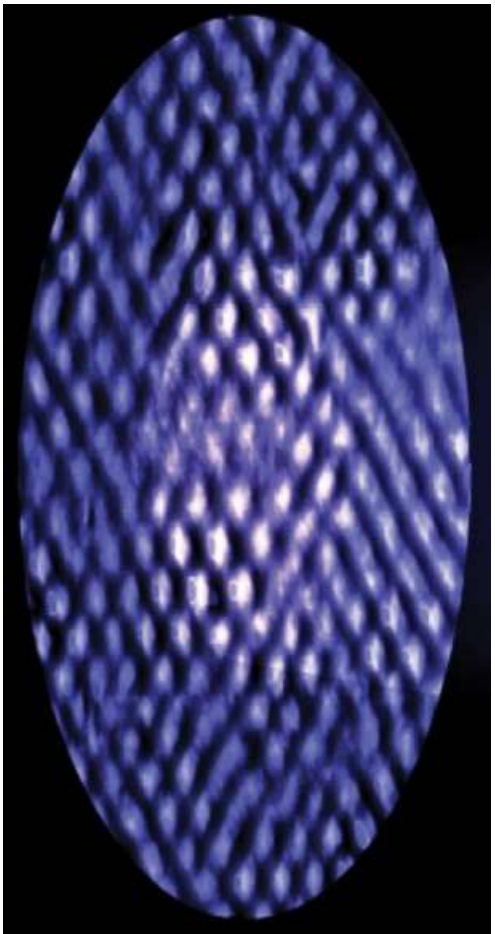
Note that in diamagnetic substances, the electrons arrange themselves inversely to the applied magnetic field, and so they will all align south-north relative to the applied magnetic field's north-south polar orientation.

And note that, like humans, without any strong 'external magnetic force' being applied, iron and iron-like atoms are not 'atomistic' in terms of their charges. They in fact form lots of little 'domains', like 'cliques', or tribes. Each has its own magnetic orientation a.k.a 'alignment'. However as a whole, these all cancel each other out, so no north-south polarization of the whole occurs. Like the petty squabbles among little social cliques competing for hegemony and privileges can make a large population easy prey for any 'organised' external leadership with a clear objective and 'direction'.

Demagnetisation

Placing any magnetized object in an alternating field of continuously diminishing amplitude, and/or heating it to a sufficiently high temperature, will demagnetize even ferromagnetic materials.



BUT WHAT DOES IT TAKE TO GET A HUMAN TO ENTER THIS SAME STATE? WHAT ZEN CALLS A 'BARDOT'. OFTEN SOME HUGE SHOCK. OFTEN GREAT PRESSURE. EXPERIENCES THAT TOTALLY SHATTER THE PERSON'S IDEAS ABOUT REALITY. THAT TOTALLY OVERWHELM THEIR ABILITY TO 'PROCESS' THEM. TO RECONCILE THE ALL TOO OBVIOUS INCONSISTENCIES BETWEEN EXPEREINCE AND 'KNOWLEDGE'. TOO GREAT AN INCOHERENCE. TOO GREAT A ' ' BETWEEN PERSONAL EXPERIENCE, SIMPLE SENSORY DATA FROM A PERSON'S OWN EYES, EARS, AND FINGERS, AND 'THE OFFICIAL NARRATIVE' THEY HAVE UP TO THAT POINT ACCEPTED AS 'REALITY'. AS THE ONLY PLAUSIBLE NARRATIVE. AT VERY LEAST AS THE SUPERIOR NARRATIVE, WHERE THAT PERSON HAS SOMEHOW COME INTO CONTACT WITH ALTERNATIVE NARRATIVES, DESPITE THE MASSIVE CENSORSHIP AND TABOOS.

Superconductors

A 'canning tunnelling micrograph' is a digital construct presented as a 'digital image taen through a microscope'. That aside, consider the 'topography', its surface 'shape' and 'features', of the 'image' of the superconductor atom shown above left. Right we view this atomic topography 'zoomed out' a little, like flying over the landscape. This 'netting' and 'oblong' shape (just an accident of how the 'shot' was 'framed'?) might be immediately familiar to megalithomaniacs familiar with the 'phoenix stone' a.k.a 'Omphalos' with its inexplicable 'webbing' and definitive 'egg' shape (though in most images of it only the 'top' half is shown.

If you are out shopping for the 'best' (Type 1) metal superconductors, the following will be on your list. Lead, Lanthanum, Tantalum, Mercury, and even Tin. That last was responsible for worldwide trade with Britain, in the times of the megalith builders! But remember, for them to 'superconduct' you'll need to get them really 'chilled out'. In fact down to 7.2, 4.9, 4.5, and 3.7 degrees KELVIN, respectively. No mean feat! So don't go replacing your copper or aluminium (here in the former Soviet union common) wiring with tine wiring just yet! Even the coming 'mini-ice age' won't get that cold! We're talking below -260 degrees Celcius for lead, for example. Only then will your lead wiring conduct electricity with ZERO resistance. That's the temperature of heaven I expect. The 'story engine' with zero 'conflict'. With zero 'resistance' to your will. But the 'good' 'Christians' who live there can be relied on to only 'will' the very 'nicest' of things, right? You know, like Inquisitions and burning alive anyone who expresses the slightest of doubts concerning 'The Official Fiction'!

What is it about Kelvin?

Ever notice how people not adapted / acclimatised to a sudden or recurring 'heat spell' demonstrate 'behaviours' not typical of them during the 'cooler' months? How tempers flare when the hot weather comes around? People's nerves are frayed and they become over sensitive to the slightest provocation? Road rage, bar fights, couples losing their patience with each other, and an increase in domestic and violence in general?

Kelvin, now he's REALLY COOL. He's in fact the 'benchmark' for 'cool'. Check the definition of 'super-cool' in any dictionary and they'll talk about Kelvin. He's the coolest dude. Others aspiring to be 'cool' have a clear role model.

Lead, now that's one tasty element. But don't eat lead. Based on my observations of human IQ, in relation to the masses 'swallowing' so many official fictions from 'God' to 'The Official Holocaust Narrative' to 'The Official Sandy Hook Narrative', to 'The Official World War Two Narrative' to 'The Official 911 Narrative' to 'The Official Man-made Global Climate Crisis Narrative' to 'The Official Covid Narrative', it is clear the human species at this time cannot afford to lose a single IQ point, before Homo Fideo is reduced to 'Fid*o*', our loyal companion, the dog. And not a smart 'dog' (Cynos-Cynic) like Diogenes, whom even Alexander (who was great at committing war crimes, like Churchill, and getting his name added to all the Cult of Judah 'Great Men of History') admired so much he claimed he'd like to swap places with him, if only he were not 'Alexander'.

At room temperature, lead atoms are very active. Very 'charged' with activity. In fact you'd call them 'ions'. Charged atoms. They literally 'vibrate with energy'. Good vibrations no doubt. But try getting anywhere in such a crowd. It's impossible to predict where any lead ion will be at any given moment. So collisions between free roaming electrons and lead ions / charged atoms, are common. . So much that the free electrons moving all around them, which you might say they are 'bathed' in, are constantly banging into them, as they are pushed and pulled about by the atoms positive and negative charges, and hence forces of attraction and repulsions, vis a vis their own 'negative' charge. And all this 'dodgem car' type interaction, while fun, 'nice to meet you', 'we've never met before but I'm…', and so on, takes a lot of energy out of you.

Electrons, attracted and repelled by the positively and negatively charged lead ions (charged atoms) and so constantly 'on the move' meet quite a lot of 'resistance' as they 'bump into' lead atoms that are vibrating back and forth in place so fast you just can't 'go around them' all the time. Accidents are bound to happen, as electrons side-swipe and collide with lead atoms. Some of the electrons electrical force, their electromagnetic energy, their electromotive force, is converted into heat in such interactions, and thus 'lost'. Like the energy of party-goers mingling and dancing is converted into heat. Someone open a window! But don't bother with the air conditioner thermostat, that has been set by our 'smart devices', and can't be lowered during our current 'Austerity measures' all 'justified' by 'The Official Man-made Global Climate Crisis Narrative'.

But if you 'chill' lead ions / atoms down far enough, they stop oscillating / vibrating. They 'settle down' and due to their need for company, but mutual revulsion (sound familiar), they form a stable, organised, 'lattice'. Like a group of people who would rather NOT be around each other, but still desperate for company, and the benefits of 'society', end up building villages and towns and cities with clearly defined 'grids', like suburban roads, where each 'nuclear family' has its own (atomised) 'quarter acre block'. Now they don't feel 'alone' and 'isolated', and the high fences between them 'keep neighbours at a distance'. Which makes for 'good neighbours'.

Now compare a medieval city or village, often deliberately laid out to 'slow down traffic', including 'hostile' traffic a.k.a 'attackers', with a 'modern' suburb or city laid out on a 'grid' plan. The 'grid' plan was intended, at least in part, to speed up movement. To make movement easier. And it's the same with superconductors, in relation to the movement of electrons through their 'grid' or 'lattice' system.

And like with humans, a sort of 'group psychology' comes into play, in superconductors at these very low temperatures. First electrons 'pair up' as couples. Just like in cities and suburbs, right? And then these couples form coherent groups or 'clouds' of electrons, which like 'mobs' and 'kids doing the latest moves on the dance floor', become synchronised in their movements, so that now electrons move more like schools of fish, than individual fish. Yes the wet dream of the Ford Foundation and its Cult of Judah controllers. LOCKSTEP.

Sound familiar? First the 'social distancing' and 'getting everyone to 'shelter at home' and thus form that 'lattice' or 'grid' of 'atomised' nuclear families. Get them all wearing the same 'fashion' item, the 'new (covid) Burkha'. Get them all acting 'the same'. Moving in 'lockstep' to the beat of the drum the Cult of Judah Proxies all beat in unison with each other.

What the Cult of Judah elites are 'conducting' is the largest psychological warfare operation in recorded (post Younger-Dryas / Atlantis history). What the COVID CULT THRALLS are conducting, whether mass media presenters or occupation government 'authorities', or 'social media influencers', is a MYTH. And as this MYTH gets past, 'by word of mouth', by 'hearsay', from person to person, from nuclear family to nuclear family, it performs WORK for the Cult of Judah. It 'motivates' people to do things they would never rationally volunteer to do otherwise. And to NOT do things they WOULD, rationally, otherwise choose to do. THAT is what CULTS are all about.

So in a CULT society, we see people behaving strangely. Inexplicably. Like a school of fish all suddenly changing directions at the same time, for example from 'Human Rights are good and inviolable' to 'Human Rights threaten our very existence so they must be eliminated immediately by FORCE if people won't submit voluntarily'.

Electrons behave in equally inexplicably 'quantum' ways, within superconductors, at very low temperatures. They all join the new Cult. And act as a single group. They give up their independence and freedom of choice, and start 'marching in lockstep' with each other. As mob. With a mob mentality. They stop thinking and acting for themselves, as individuals. They 'go with the crowd'. And whoever 'directs' that crowd, now has total control to direct every, now unreflecting, unthinking, unquestioning, submissive, cult thrall. No longer 'individuals' with their own 'free will'. But units of a greater whole, operating on auto-pilot, brains switched off, abandoning or individuality of expression and action, and thus the wet dream of the circuit designer, and Cult Controllers / puppet handlers / priests / elites.

All the electrons, like Cult thralls, appear to AGREE on everything. They move as if 'of one mind'. So there are no more 'collisions' between electrons as there were before, when they were free to choose their OWN direction, path, and objectives. All that 'wasted energy' of having to jostle your way through the crowd, as you each sought your own happiness, and followed your own compass, and happiness, is now saved. You all uncannily WANT the SAME thing. (Not to die from being squashed by Invisible Pink Elephants, whatever form they take e.g 'devils', 'demons', 'terrorists', 'invaders', 'djinns', 'evil spirits', 'witches', 'viruses', 'Covid-19', 'Right Wing Extremists', 'Home grown terrorists', 'drug dealers', 'WOMADS', 'Anthrax', 'Lone shooters' et al).

So now everything 'flows' so smoothly. Everyone does the same thing. They wear the same 'magic charms' (Covid Burkhas) and all apply the same 'holy water' (Covid 'vaccines' and hand sanitiser) and perform the same rituals 'put on that face mask before leaving home' and 'ritual hand washing before entering the temple of consumerism' and sometimes even 'ritual shoe cleansing before entering the temple of consumerism' a.k.a 'going into the supermarket'. Where, of course, you will hear the 'call to prayer' a.k.a 'Official Covid Warnings' blaring from speakers. With 'Covid Taliban' a.k.a 'Covid Cops' moving through the people, reminding them of 'The threat they face from Satan (Covid)' and handing out free 'Covid Burkhas' and 'Holy Water' to those 'heathens' and 'pagans' who have someone not yet heard 'the message' and 'gotten on board' and 'on script' with 'The Official Narrative', and who stand out so clearly against the backdrop of Covid CULT thralls who, like a school of fish, or the electrons in a superconductor at very cold temperatures, all move IN THE SAME DIRECTION. Literally. 'As if they were following arrows and directions marked out on the supermarket floor', you might say. And lo' and behold, look down, and what do you literally SEE on the supermarket floor? Actual arrows and the 'official route' that they literally ARE following. No matter that they'd save a lot of time and effort by taking a few steps BACK and to the left. No. They will 'follow the direction of the lines' and 'circle the block' to come back to that item they missed. This is clearly encouraged by the look of ABJECT TERROR on the face of the person just behind them, waiting for them to 'move on', and TERRIFIED of the impression they got that YOU might be considering 'walking backwards', when the LINE and ROUTE MARKERS CLEARLY INDICATE THEY MUST MOVE ONLY FORWARDS. They suspect you might be a HERETIC. An APOSTATE. But their kinder natures remind them that 'not everyone is such a fast learner as myself'. The poor people up front might be yokels from 'the sticks'. Barely heathens and pagans. Only newly 'converted' to THE COVID CULT. So while we must be FIRM with them, we must forgive them their occasional forgetfulness and lack of perfect CULT ETIQUETTE. There ARE, after all, so many NEW rules that are SO contrary to NATURAL human behaviour and how we all, in our pagan, SAVAGE IGNORANCE, used to live!

But soon, like in our super-cooled super-conductor, there is NO RESISTANCE to the new, totally arbitrary (in scientific terms, but totally logical given their REAL purposes) prescriptions and proscriptions, that the new CULT has FORCIBLE IMPOSED on 'the masses'. And THIS is the REAL PURPOSE of the entire psychological warfare operation. SUBMISSION. Lockstep. ZERO RESISTANCE to ANY and ALL dictates of the occupying powers. The dictates of FOREIGN powers. Despite the nominal 'sovereignty' and 'democratic system' of every occupied nation, they all behave as proxies of a one world dictatorship. The slaves VOLUNTARILY submit to the oldest PROTECTION RACKET in history. They give up ALL FREEDOM and hand over TOTAL CONTROL to a bunch of people they will never meet, who have NO concern for THEIR wellbeing, in return for protection from INVISIBLE PINK ELEPHANTS.

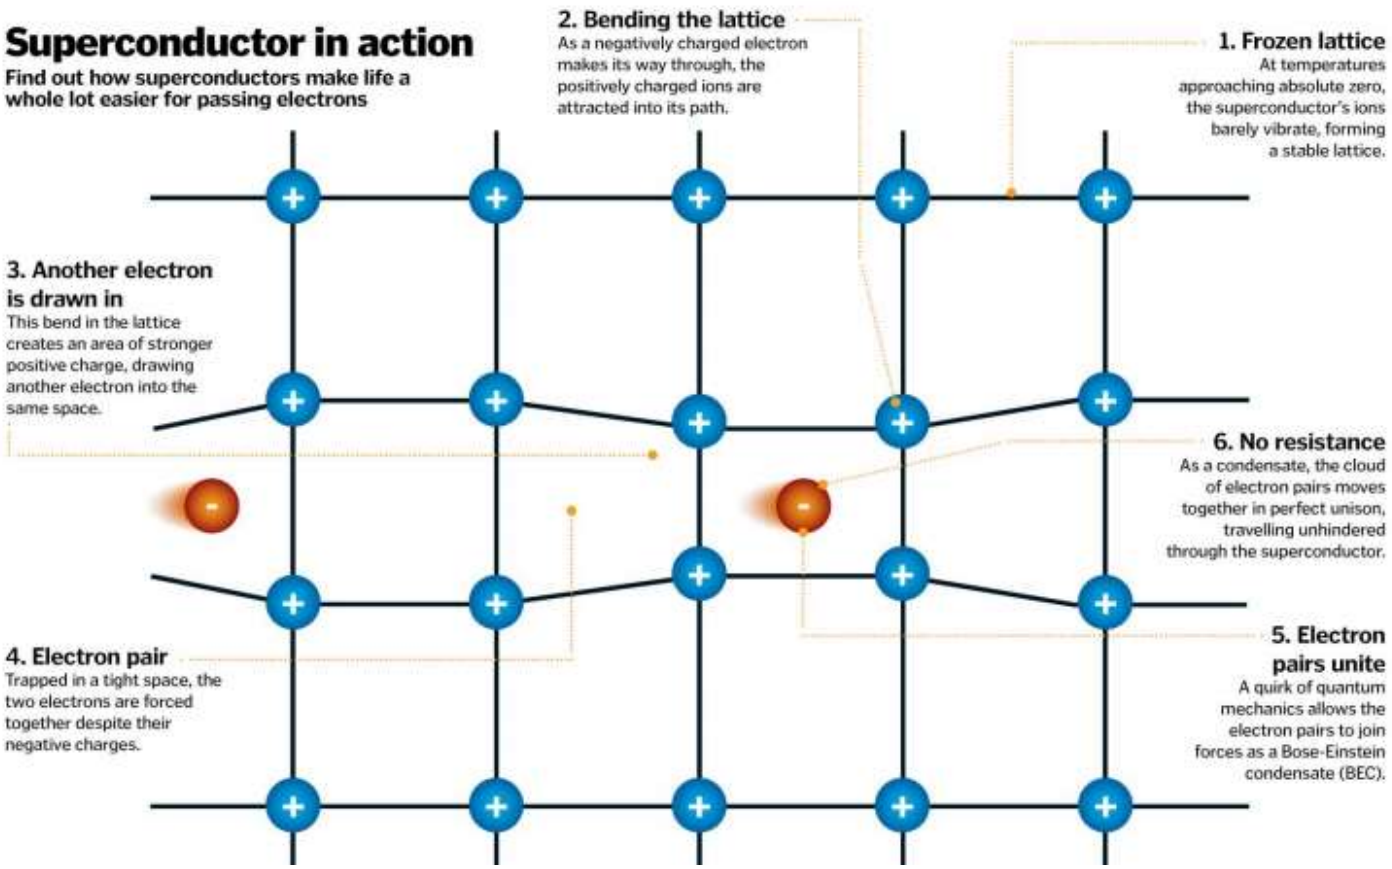
We now have the SUPER CONDUCTOR DICTATORSHIP. The wet dream of all dictators and tyrants. Everyone doing the same thing, what THEY want, voluntarily. The PERFECT slaves. For they IMAGINE that they are free!

And in the superconductor itself, because there is ZERO resistance and all the electrons are in perfect LOCKSTEP, no energy is lost to heat. We have a situation of perfect conductance. ZERO RESISTANCE. This gives the ULTIMATE POWER. And CONTROL.

Now a HUGE CURRENT CAN BE RUN THROUGH THE SUPERCONDUCTOR WITHOUT IT OVERHEATING.

Now the dictators have a blank check for any human rights violation they wish to carry out, and are ensured of ZERO RESISTANCE. They can make MASSIVE CHANGES without ANY resistance. Their will be done, Immediately. Without reflection. Without discussion. Without challenge. WITH ZERO RESISTANCE TO THEIR WILL.

In the engineering field, superconductors with their ZERO RESISTANCE, allow engineers to build exceptionally powerful electromagnets for supercomputers, MRI scanners, particle accelerators, and even MAGLEV (magnetic levitation) trains. You can even 'levitate' a living animal.



Which brings us to the correspondence between the electron flow through the superconductor 'lattice' and why we can swallow upside down, and how waste products are 'pumped' out of our colons. Fill a garden hose with water, block one end with something that will resist high pressure, then tie the other end of the hose to something elevated off the ground, so the open end is much higher than the 'blocked' end. So the water won't just flow out the open end. Now move back to the other end, and step on the hose. Water will flow away from your foot, along 'the path of least resistance' up the hose, and run out the end. You can set it up so that only the volume of water in the hose directly being compressed by your foot flows out. Now add the other foot, side by side. The same amount of water will flow out the 'open' end, from the 'top' of the hose. Now slide your feet sideways, and as you move note how the water is 'sqeezed out' the other end. Like toothpaste being squeezed out of a tube. This 'peristaltic' (?) action is described above, only the 'force' 'pushing' on the electron is electro-magnetic.

Except? Well to be precise, the EXACT same thing happens when you step on the hose. Because your foot is made up of atoms, that never 'touch' the atoms in the hose. It is really just the exact same ELECTROMAGNETIC FORCES of repulsion at play. And if you could 'scale down' to the atomic scale, you'd see the foot and hose never 'touch'. Their 'charges' prevent that. And as the atoms in your foot approach the atoms in the hose, they push them away. The result is the same. But 'precision in language' at all levels of abstraction, levels of composition, and levels of abstraction, can help avoid a lot of confusion, and even prevent you being DELIBERATELY DECIEVED by people for their own, selfish, often even malicious, purposes.

In terms of society. The CULT dogmas, and articles of faith, and full spectrum propaganda, and thus mind-control / brainwashing programs, all have the people moving in LOCKSTEP, and easily directed by a few 'social media influencers' and 'authorities' and 'Cult proxies' and 'respected news presenters' and 'occupation government puppets'. Soon all the 'authorities' need do is DECLARE something, and everyone SUBMITS TO IT AS THEIR REALITY. They could tell people 'it is sunny and 20 degrees Celsius', even in the bitterest of Estonian winters, and everyone would leave their homes dressed in the latest summer fashions! And of course all the deaths resulting from hypothermia would be attributed to, and officially recorded as INVISIBLE PINK ELEPHANT DEATHS. Thus reinforcing the AUTHORITY of the 'authorities', and TRUST in their DECLARATIONS! No matter WHAT happens, and how ENORMOUS the costs, any and every thing that happens can be BLAMED ON INVISIBLE PINK ELEPHANTS and it will merely INCREASE THE POWER OF THE CULT AND THE SUBMISSION OF THE PEOPLE TO ITS CONTROL. Anything and everything that happens can be FRAMED and SPUN to the advantage of THE CULT. To REINFORCE 'THE OFFICIAL NARRATIVE'. That 'blank check' upon which any amount can be drawn, at any time, and the people will willingly 'honour' it. So that the Cult of Judah are free to cash blank check after blank check until they manage to totally destroy society, and thus the basis of their own power, or some natural cataclysm saves us from this horror. Such as the next 'Younger-Dryas Impact' scale event!

But back to 'The Official Narrative' concerning electricity, and superconductors. The highest temperature superconductor they've found so far is mercury barium calcium copper oxide (MBCCO to its friends?) which superconducts with zero resistance all the way up to -138 degrees Celcius. So there is some ways to go before we see the 'holy grail' of superconductors operating at room temperature. But who can say what new character, or sub-plot, will be added to 'The Official Narrative' in the meantime, that could bring about the typical '2nd Act turnaround' we have come to expect thanks to Hollywood?

The speed of 'electricity'

Electricity travels at over 160,000 kms/second or 360 times that, 576,000,000 kms, an hour. What does this mean? When no 'medium' is specified! Is the reference a superconductor with zero resistance? In any case, consider what the 'wavelength' would be, for any of the typical frequencies found in 'audio' applications! A 60Hz frequency travelling in the air, as a sound pressure wave, can travel at a mere 340m/s. While that same frequency, in your electric guitar cable, travels 160,000 kms in the same second. And what they call 'wave-length', the distance between pressure maxima in air pressure pulses, and the distance between peak voltages, in Alternating Current, is how far the pulse has travelled in the time it takes for the peak voltages, or peak amplitudes, to develop. And the faster something is travelling, the further it will move, in the same amount of time. Namely one second. So what help is the concept of 'wave length' when dealing with electromagnetic fields? And what is the speed of electromagnetic pulses when they travel through the air? The question being how do we interpret the statements that microwaves have a certain 'wavelength'? Given that wave-length is a function of medium, and unlike air and electrons, electromagnetic fields / forces / pulses travel through any medium, even that supposed 'vacuum of space'. So that surely their 'wave-length', dependent upon their speed, would vary as they moved through different mediums? Or is the point that they do NOT use the medium to reproduce themselves over space and time? That , rather that pass through, as in via, the medium, as their means of transmission, they literally pass 'through' mediums, like a ghost is said to pass through a wall. I am just beginning this quest to 'grok' electricity in earnest, and can only guess at my ignorance, misunderstandings, and 'what I don't know'. And remember that, by definition, 'you can NOT know WHAT you don't know'. Because WHAT you don't know, is unknown to you. Meaning ALL THE POSSIBLE THINGS THAT YOU DON'T KNOW. Like which assumptions you've been making, that you are unaware of.

Which DECLARATIONS you have been accepting as 'truth', that are really LIES. Falsehoods. Deliberate deceptions. Not just misunderstandings on the part of the interlocutor, genuinely themselves convinced of the factuality of what they say and write and present and publish. Not that there won't also be enough of those to destroy any faith you should have in 'authority'. Because if people cannot maintain the same narrative, over different contexts, and in different situations, and describe things in ways that hold true in all the contexts where these things appear, but instead flounder about, changing definitions as they move about their 'narrative', and needing to invent new words to replace the ones they've been using, to describe things in other parts of the narrative, and needing to 'fluff' and 'weasel' and 'obfuscate mathematically', to get out of direct answers to direct questions, and then totally fail to maintain any internal coherency or consistency? Well, what possible confidence could a reasonable, rational, critical, lucid, person put in such people? And their 'narratives'?

The electrical generation

The six methods for producing electricity, in order of popularity, are Magnetism (moving electrons), Chemical action [the movement of ionized (charged) atoms .k.a 'ions'], Pressure (the ancient Greek word for which was 'Piezo'), Heat (Thermocouples using the Seebeck effect), Friction (Static), and Light (Photo-voltaic Solar). Reflexively, we can use energy to produce all of these.

Magnetism is the most common method of electrical generation. To be more precise, electromagnetic induction. That is the operating principle of all generators and alternators.

But I have to highlight this 'doozy'. Right up there with 'discovering theoretical particles' is the very idea of a 'massless particle'. Now what would Wittgenstein say about such a thing as a 'massless particle'. Surely this ranks up there with 'incorporeal soul'. How is something a 'particle' if it has no mass? Of course Wittgenstein would say, well NOTHING. Because it is absurd to speak of such things. Like asking how many angels can dance on the head of a pin. Or how many Covid microbes can dance on a pinhead! In theory, photons are massless particles of pure energy. Did someone win a Nobel prize for 'discovering' this 'theoretical' particle. The one with no mass. But somehow still a 'particle'. How could a predicate apply to something with no subject? Beggars belief. But that is 'The Official Narrative' for you. Electricity can be produced by photons when they strike a semiconductor material. The energy of a photon striking the electron of a semi-conductor 'bumps' it out of its orbit, just as applying a charge across a conductor does. This is the operating principle of photovoltaic devices called solar cells. Sure, they work. But what I'm interested in is WHY. And remember we are dealing with BEHAVIOURALISM here. Just as in the 'social' sciences. We generate NARRATIVES about WHY the patterns we observe, and employ to our advantage, and disadvantage when we are not 'vigilant' enough, occur. Just because we can reproduce some phenomena, does not mean the narrative we are using is correct. Or at any rate the BEST explanation. The BEST narrative available. It's just like with people. Our 'profiling' and 'modeling' of human behavior might appear to be 'predicting' their behavior. But people might be behaving as they do for completely different reasons to the ones we are ascribing as their 'motivations', in our 'models'. And we won't realise this until the situation changes, and our predictions prove wrong. Even then we might stubbornly attempt to 'salvage' our models and assumptions and narratives. But the smart money is on continually challenging any prejudice. And continually updating our 'definitions' and 'assumptions' and seeking SUPERIOR explanations for why people do what they do. Superior explanations that allow us to be more precise and accurate in our predictions under a wider range of situations.

Photo-emissive sensors are sensitive to light, while photo-conductive devices change resistance exposure to light. A common example, Cad cells, exhibit a resistance of 50 ohms (V) in direct sunlight and several hundred thousand ohms in darkness.

We can transfer atoms of copper or gold to the surface of a base metal. We connect a negative electrode to the object to be 'electroplated', and then connect a positive electrode to a piece of the metal, such as copper or gold, we want to plate the object with. In the case of copper, we place these in a solution of cuprous cyanide, through which the atoms of copper will travel before bonding with the object to be plated.

Electrolysis, popularly used in removal of unwanted body hair, is the process of separating elements electrically.

When electrons enter a valence orbit, heat is often produced. This is why conductors become warm as current flows through them. Electric ranges, electric irons, electric heaters, and the like, take advantage of this phenomenon.

Photons of energy which our brains render as 'light' are emitted any time an electron moves from an outer to an inner orbit, and thus changes its innate energy level. Electric current applied to certain conductors, results in them both heating up, and emitting photons (light). Even though 95% of the energy is converted into heat, the other 5% produces enough light to make incandescent lamps massively popular. Until new semi-conductor devices such as LED lights emerged which produced the light without the heat. Meaning massive energy savings.

Pressure (Piezo) applied to some crystals can produce electrical pulses. And in reverse, applying a voltage to some crystals results in them vibrating/resonating at the same frequencies as the applied voltage / current. The crystal size and shape can also be calibrated to vibrate at a fixed frequency. Crystal radios take advantage of this phenomenon, as do Rochelle salt crystal earphone, where the crystal resonates win sympathy with the electrical current applied across it, which in turn activates the earpiece diaphragm, which produces air pressure waves in the ear canal corresponding to the frequency and amplitude of the electrical current/voltage and crystal resonance.

When a conductor is moved through a magnetic field, so that it is exposed to a CHANGING magnetic field, a current is induced in the conductor. So if you stretch it out into a fine wire, and literally coil that around an iron rod, you effectively expose a lot of copper to the magnetic field. Now to achieve the CHANGES in the magnetic field required to induce a current in the coil, you can choose to rotate the magnet lengthwise around its center, or rotate the coil around the magnet. This is a great example of 'reflexivity'. It is about the constantly changing position of magnet poles to the coil that matters. Not how you achieve it. You can rotate either part of the whole, vis a vis the other part. The disturbances in the magnetic field that result when the pole pieces of the magnets 'swoop down and across, then up and back across', relative to the coils north and south poles, or when the magnets north and south poles 'swoop down towards, then across, then up and away from' the coils, produces the CHANGES a.k.a 'disturbances' that correspond to a sine function when you plot the movements over time.

Consider this. The poles describe a circle in ZEN vertically stacked time. But once you use conventional, forward running, horizontal time, time moves forward with the poles, so when you plot amplitude or voltage against time, you describe the sine wave we are all familiar with and associate, even identify with, 'electromagnetic pulses' and 'air pressure pulses' we speak of as 'sound waves' and AC current wave forms.

My own 'pumping a rope up and down' exercise can be done with children. As well as my 'pass the hot potato' exercise. But I have a little video I've borrowed that illustrates the same process. And I will one day make some animation corresponding to my narratives, if I can't find an appropriate one already made by someone else that I can adapt to my teaching and understanding purposes.

But for now, consider that the poles of a magnet revolving around their lengthwise center point, describe a circle, because the magnet rotates around its axis on an axel. Nature invented the wheel. Man invented the axel! But in relation to the north and south of the coils either side (sometimes above and below too) of the magnet, over time, a north approaches the north of a coil, comes closer as it swoops down towards the middle of the coil, then begins to pull away as it approaches the south pole of the coil. So we go from repulsion to attraction, in terms of electromagnetic forces. Plotting these produces the sine wave function we associate with, and even identify as, an AC waveform. As it pulls away from one coil, it is approaching another coil, repeating the same process, only in reverse, moving in an upward arc from the south pole of the next coil up to its north pole. So we get the reverse 'curves' when we plot 'positive' and 'negative' and 'forwards-backwards' electromotive forces. Thus as time advances, we plot out a sine wave function and curves. The typical AC 'snakey line' wave form.

And a guitar string describes a similar AC sine wave function, as it loops down across from one side of the pickup pole piece, across the pole piece, and then begins moving away from it as it crosses it towards it opposite side, before moving backwards to continue its LOOP back the other way. The string has a mostly iron core so this 'disturbs' the magnetic field, so that we get a CHANGING magnetic field sitting within a coil of copper wire. So while it is the STRING that produces the disturbance in the magnetic field this time, rather than a rotating magnet, or moving the coils around the magnet. And it is ALWAYS THE CHANGING MAGNETIC FIELD that induces the current. No matter which part of the system is actively moving vis a vis the other part. As long as we have a CHANGING electromagnetic field, a current is induced in the conductor.

Almost everyone alive today was born in the age of electricity. Most power stations burn something, or use nuclear power, to boil water, to produce high pressure steam, to drive bladed impellers which in turn spin turbines, so that the kinetic energy of the gas is converted into rotational energy (torque), which is used to spin magnets and generate electrical energy or 'electromagnetic force', if you like.

France is among the big 'Nuclear power' generators, generating 75% of their electricity in this way, and just 5% from 'fossil fuels'. The U.S generate about half their power from fossil fuels, mostly coal, and 20% from nuclear. Germans pay the most for electricity, as part of their genocide, and are generating increasing amounts from wind energy harvesting. Not only won't they burn their own reserves of coal, they coerce nations like Estonia, with probably the worlds' cheapest electricity relative to earning capacity, to abandon coal fired power plants, and join Germany, over the next 20 years, in suffering the highest electricity prices in the world.

It doesn't matter whether your rotate magnets around their north-south poles (lengthwise axis) inside a stationary coil, or rotate coils around stationary magnets , as long as magnetic fields are being systematically 'disturbed' you will generate an AC current corresponding to these disturbances.

A guitar string is a strand of metal with high iron content, with or without metal 'wound' around it. When it loops down towards, then across, then up and away from, the magnetic pole piece of a guitar pickup positioned around the middle of its 'loop', it produces a disturbance, a CHANGE, in the magnetic field of the magnet, which induces a current in the copper wire coiled around it. That is all it takes. For the magnetic field to be disturbed. How you achieve that is not important. And steam pushing 'impeller blades' connected to a rotating shaft, convert chemical energy from fossil fuels like coal or gas or oil, or kinetic energy from wind or water, or nuclear energy from nuclear fission, into heat energy, which converts water into steem, which pushes 'impellers' which convert that 'pushing' into rotational energy, and by spinning the magnets or coils Vis a Vis each other, finally electrical energy. Which can later we converted back into rotational energy, to drive motors, and do lots lots more!

If like me you live within visual distance of a power station, consider that most of the 'white stuff' you see arising from the power station is actually water vapour rising from the cooling towers, rather than 'pollution'. And that if for some reason you wanted a 'zero carbon emission' plant, all you need do is plant trees to absorb the carbon you released by burning living things that died ages ago, and whose carbon became coal, gas, and oil. But I've yet to hear any sound argument for worrying about carbon emissions. What does concern me re the other chemicals released, that pollute our air and water. If you do a Wikipedia (Cult of Judah propaganda) search for Kohtla-Jarve, where I live, you'd think it wasn't safe to breathe the air here. But after almost a decade here, I can't say I've ever noticed anything odd about the air, other than after they've fertilized the fields nearby!

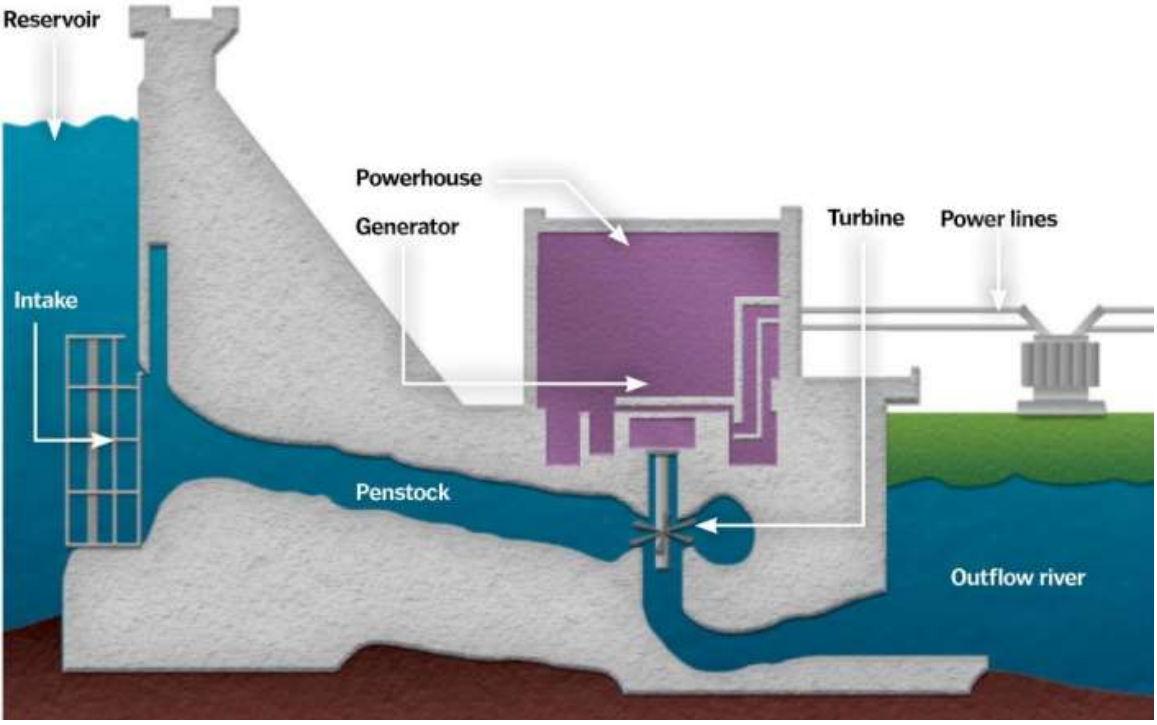
AC won out over DC because people preferred not to 'see how the sausage is made', any time someone else suffers, including entire nations, as a result of their own 'consumption choices'. People like to think of electricity as 'clean'. They don't want to live downstream or downwind of a power plant. So the further they could get from one, the happier they were. And DC power plants had to be built close to the users. While you would transmit high voltage AC power over long distances, using relatively thin copper cable, by reducing the amperage (Quantity of charge carriers) and increasing the speed they travel (Voltage). You can transfer X quantity of charge carriers over any given distance, by sending a large quantity in a few 'packets' travelling relatively slow. Or by sending a large number of packets, all moving relatively fast. At the 'receiving' end, the people 'unpacking' the parcels end up receiving the same number of 'charge carriers' per second, either way. The difference is that it is cheaper to send many parcels, each containing fewer charge carriers, than a few larger parcels, each containing more charge carriers.

In terms of water, think cheaper, narrower gauge pipes with high pressure / speed water currents flowing through them, compared to big, wide diameter, expensive, pipes you could drive a car through, carrying a huge 'volume of water per cm of pipe, but at a nice, easy pace, so the water flows relatively slowly. At the other end, the same amount of water arrives per second. But you've had to spend a lot more on pipes. Sure, maybe you had to put in some 'pumps' to speed up the water flow, but still, the cost savings made smaller gauge, narrower diameter, pipes, even with the extra costs of 'accelerating' the water, give them a clear advantage.

In terms of copper, that's real expensive. Thicker wires are required to send MORE, a greater QUANTITY of charge carrying electrons, oscillating back and forth through any particular point in the power grid over any duration of time. So thinner gauge wires saved a lot of money. That made it more economical to send power over long distances. Allowing power stations to be located 'out of sight, out of mind', polluting someone ELSE's backyard, and not that of the end user.

A closer look at hydro-electricity



My closer look at hydroelectric dams and schemes doesn't help me in my 'voltage as speed rather than pressure' concept at all. I expected water pipes would be placed quite near the top, to get the biggest 'drop'. But dams feed water from near the base (the part often as thick as the dam is wide), relying on the water pressure from above, and the 'venturi effect' to ensure the water moves really quickly (under high pressure) through the turbines which rotate the generators.

The turbine sits below the generator, its 'impellers' sitting in the water that is doing its best to flow to the river below, and sea level. It takes the path of least resistance, which humans have contrived, via the design of the dam and tunnels, takes it THROUGH the 'impellers'. They are the 'resistance' in the circuit. The 'load'. The way in which we get the water to perform WORK for us, in order to get what IT wants. The water reservoir is like the positive cell of a DC battery. The tunnel containing the turbine impellers is the circuit. The water flows in one direction, like electrons in the DC circuit. They perform WORK for us, with zero goodwill towards us, simply as the 'path of least resistance' we have contrived for them, means they naturally 'pass through' our circuit, and the components in it. In this case the turbine impellers. The 'work' performed is the generation of torque. Turning force. Even though the force applied is uni-directional, because the impellers are fixed to an axel, the forward pushing action of the water 'rotates' the impellers, and thus the Rotor attached to the same shaft. The outer ring of the rotor is made up of a copper coiled around iron cores that act as electromagnets. This spin around inside a stationary 'Stator'. As the electromagnets change their orientation to the Stator, as they are moved around the circumference of the inner ring, a regular change in the electromagnetic field is produced, which induces a current in the coils.

Does the wind push or suck? Does the positive cell push electrons to the negative cell, or does the negative cell 'draw' electrons from the positive cell? Well engineers will tell you that the reason a propeller spins is not because it is being 'pushed' by the force of the water flowing and hitting it (perhaps my mistake with voltage as speed?) but because of the pressure DIFFERENTIAL, and more precisely, the 'negative pressure' produced at the BACK of the propeller, which effectively 'sucks at' the propeller, resulting in it 'spinning'. Or to paraphrase that, it is the water rushing AWAY FROM the propeller rather than the water being pushed 'into' the propeller, that is creating a relative vacuum / low pressure area behind the propeller, which 'sucks' at it and results in it spinning. Water wheels, like those used in traditional grain or wood mills, in comparison, are less efficient and yield lower 'hydraulic head'.

Remember it is the 'sucking' of air ABOVE a wing aerofoil that produces the 'lift', and not the air rushing at the underside of the wing. The aerofoil shape means air must travel further, over the top of the wing, than it has to travel past the underside of the wing. This produces a relative vacuum of lower air pressure ABOVE the wing which literally provides the 'lift'. So much for our use of the term 'sucks' in the pejorative. And surely you can think of other very POSITIVE examples where 'sucking' could never be defined as a bad thing, from babies to those cunning linguists and sophists with their fellacious arguments! Remember, the propeller on a plane pulls the plane forwards. The 'backwards thrust' doesn't propel it, it merely generates a relative vacuum up front, which 'draws' the plane towards it. Just like the negatively charged DC battery cell 'draws' electrons towards it. And the negatively charged atom (ion) or 'hole' 'draws' electrons to it.

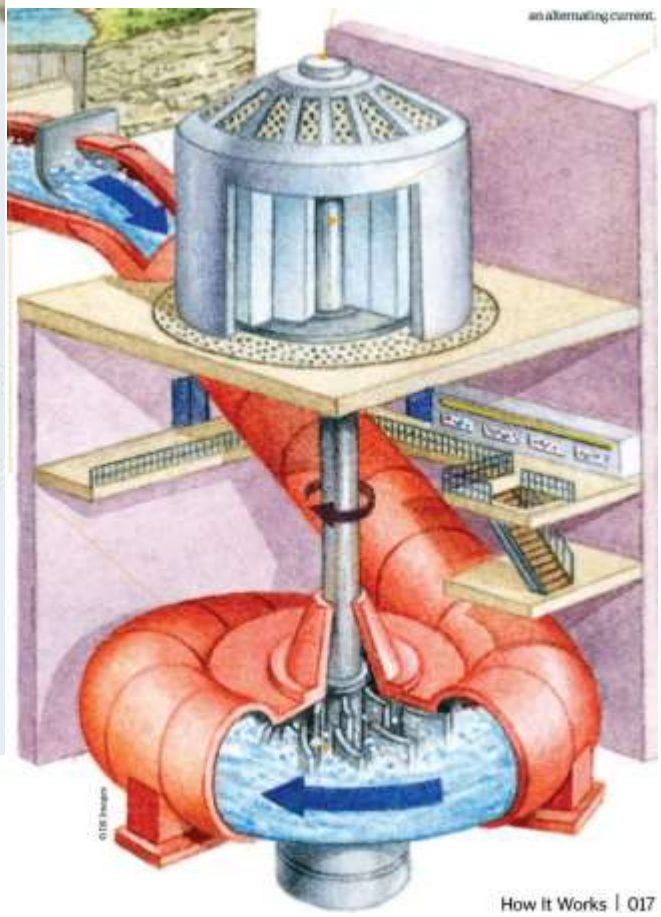
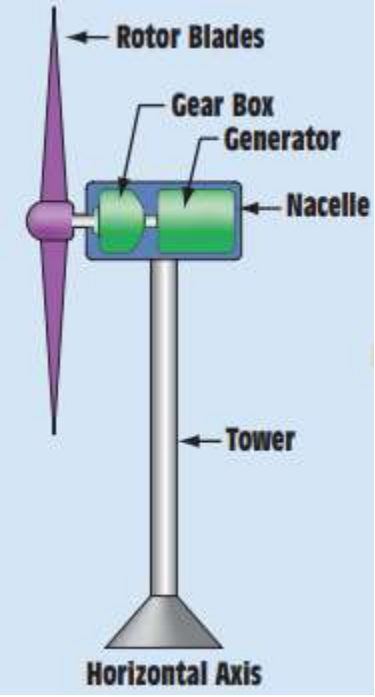
Types of turbine

There are two main types of turbine: impulse and reaction. Essentially these names describe the different blade mechanism used. In impulse turbines, where water jets onto the blades, the pressure drop – where the energy transfer occurs – takes place in the convergent guide vanes that direct the fluid onto the rotor blades. The opposite happens in a reaction turbine, where the rotor blades have convergent passages and the pressure drop happens here. Impulse turbines are usually unsuitable for low-head sites because they have low specific speeds, but they're easier to maintain. Reaction turbines, on the other hand, can rotate faster given the same head and flow conditions, but generally require a greater level of maintenance.



A closer look at wind turbines



Wind speed is related to its kinetic energy. Double the speed and you CUBE its kinetic energy. So for every doubling of wind speed, kinetic energy goes up EIGHT-fold. Reflexively, double the speed of a car, and the resistance and wind drag also increase 8-fold. And move your wind turbine somewhere fast, where the wind is twice as the and you can harvest 8 times wind amount of energy from it. As low passes the propeller (of a horizontal axis wind turbine) a pressure system builds up behind it, sucking the blades, which are only free to rotate around their horizontal axis, and thus directional wind is converted into torque / turning force which can then be turned into electrical energy. To work efficiently, they must be turned to face the wind.

Vertical axis turbines enjoy the advantage of omni-directionality. They can harvest the kinetic energy of wind no matter which direction it comes from, as the rotor blades spin around a vertical axis.

Both can have rotor spans of up to 90m, with matching 'pedestal' height.

However more typical residential and small commercial wind turbines have rotors up to 8m long, and pedestals up to 40m high.

Inverters used to convert DC to AC, and to couple a wind turbine or solar panel to a household power supply, or commercial power provider, need to ensure a steady power flow independent of wind speeds and the varying voltages corresponding to them, and be able to shape the waveform of the power generated to conform to that of a sine wave.

ZEB (and ZTB)

The latest trend in architecture is the design of 'Zero Energy Buildings'. Meanwhile the architects of our LIVES, of our WORLD, of our SOCIAL REALITY, are close to realising THEIR 'holy grail' of 'Zero Thought Brains'. Zombies who submit to any DECLARATION made to them by any AUTHORITY and immediately process it as TRUTH so that their 'logic circuits' always 'compute' the 'answer' that The Cult of Judah want or need them to.

In fact it is the Cult of Judah's latest subsidiary cult, 'The Covid Cult', that 'solved' the equation. You could make almost any building 'zero energy' just by DECLARING a 'virus pandemic' and defying all LAW and CUSTOM and TRADITION and FORCING people to 'work from home', or just 'endure house arrest, often in solitary confinement'. Now the buildings are empty. The lights are turned off. No energy wasteful air-conditioning or heating is required. Al the computers are shut down. Mission impossible achieved! Not by the Cult of Judah agent playing a role in a movie, but by a LOT of Cult of Judah Agents, called 'Authorities' and 'Political leaders' acting in tight coordination with Cult HQ, and all reading from the same script, playing THEIR ROLES, THE ONES THEY WERE RECRUITED, GROOMED, AND TRAINED FOR, AS THE LEAD PLAYERS, THE 'PROTAGONISTS' IN THE GREATEST HOLLYWOOD PRODUCTION AND DECEPTION SINCE '911' AND 'THE HOLOCAUST'.

Like permaculturalists, today's architects do 'solar and wind maps' of the terrain they intend placing their buildings in. To map the dominant 'prevailing' wind directions, and path of the sun across the sky. To orientate the building to take advantage of beneficial breezes and sunshine, and to minimise the impact of any 'harsh' wind or solar radiation. And where possible to HARVEST wind and solar energy. For farmers that could be solar and wind electricity generation, passive heating and cooling of buildings and water features, and maximum exposure to sunshine for the plants that need it, when they need it, along with shade for those plants that need it, when they need it. To allow crops to be grown 'out of season' in 'boxes' and 'greenhouses'. To allow 'off-grid' living without any loss of convenience or comfort that is not more than made up for by the other advantages it provides.

Units of measurement

A current is the movement of the carriers of electric charges such as electrons (by nature having a negative charge), and the atoms we call 'ions', which result when the number of protons and electrons in any atom is not equal, so that it becomes 'charged' with too many protons (positively charged) or too many electrons (negatively charged) relative to its 'balanced' state where their numbers are equal. The charge emerges reflexively, but as the number of protons in any atom is fixed, the only variable in the proton:electron ratio possible is a change in the number of electrons due to 'free' electrons attaching themselves to the atom and/or repelling existing electrons out of the atom's positive field of attraction. 'Holes'are also considered 'carriers' of charge, as they 'attract' electrons to 'fill' them.

Current flowing in a wire is measured in Amperes. This refers, enigmatically as always, to the quantity of charge carriers flowing past a point in the wire at any moment in time. So it is a 'cross-section' 'slice' of the wall of electrons or other charge carriers that is flowing or oscillating back and forth, in a wire, or other conductor in a circuit. So we have to specify a 'duration' such as 'per second'. So that it will be how many charge carriers pass a particular point in a circuit in one second. So we are dealing with a QUANTITY. It is literally a number. But we are 'measuring' rather than counting. And what we are measuring is force. So 'The Official Narrative' has me in a very ZEN state of 'confusion' as to whether it knows what it is talking about, really, and when I'm going to understand the narrative, deeply enough to no longer be confused. Or when I'm going to realise this is just one more 'narrative' that is doomed to fail under intense scrutiny and interrogation.

So what does the phrase 'Quantity of Charge' mean? To those who use it? A Quantity refers to something COUNTABLE. Discrete integers. Whereas 'measurement' usually refers to something more analog and flowing and infinitely, in theory, divisible. But give me some time, maybe the fault lies with me, and my lack of understanding, rather than with 'The Official Narrative'.

Which brings us, but not very calm and clear, to 'Amplitude' and Alternating Current. Amplitude, when dealing with voltage or current 'wave forms' resulting when you plot 'strength' against time, or 'Amperage' against time or 'Volts' against time (the more I try to pin down the meanings of these terms the 'slipperier' they seem, and the less confidence I have that anyone REALLY knows WHAT they are talking about, when using all these terms, represents the DIRECTION the current, the charge carriers, are moving in, at any given moment. For they move forwards and backwards. With forwards movement RENDERED graphically as an upward curve of a sine wave function, and backwards / reverse movement indicated by downwards curve. The 'peak voltage' represents the 'absolute' distance travelled, in one half of a cycle, before the cycle is completed by travelling the other half. So Peak voltage corresponds to the furthest distance the charge carriers travel in any ONE direction, before reversing direction.

The curve goes through '0' because direction is relative. Travelling from the trough to the peak, we move in one direction. Upwards is forward/right. Downwards is backwards/left.

DC current is produced by batteries, fuel cells, and rectifiers. Because the charge carriers flow in just one direction, there is no 'curve', but rather a horizontal line, as amplitude remains more or less constant over time. There being no changes in DIRECTION OF TRAVEL.

In AC, over time, the charge carriers are either moving forwards, from the lowest point to the highest point of the Sine Wave function / curve, or backwards, from the highest point, back down to the lowest point.

One complete 'cycle' is completed when we travel from any point on the sine wave, to the next point on it, of equal amplitude. Basically travelling from any point in the circuit, back to the same point.

The more you try to comprehend what electrical engineers WRITE about all this, to attempt to 'put into words' what they are assuming in all their practical calculations and circuit designs, the LESS clear the whole narrative becomes.

Just try pinning down a theologian, or 'scientific' CULT spokesperson, no matter WHAT CULT, be it Marxism, Christianity, Islam, Judaism, Man-made global climate crisis-ism, or 'Covid -ism', and be prepared for an equally confusing ride. At least an electrical engineer will 'hear you out' and 'admit' they don't REALLY themselves understand, and they won't punish you for questioning them, and challenging anything they say. Unless you are dealing with a 'true believer' in one of the many 'scientific cults' which require 'The Official Narrative' regarding electricity to be 'swallowed whole, like a camel', in which case say goodbye to any hopes of publication, or tenure. And expect to find the tenure you thought 'guaranteed for life' inexplicably revoked 'after they happened to, sadly, find you'd 'broken' some sort of administrative rule or other, and 'sadly', they 'had to let you go'.

And here's the thing. You can 'step up' amplitude (by stepping down voltage), using a transformer. They have an inversely proportional, REFLEXIVE, relationship. Something to consider when trying to navigate all the 'definitions' offered of electric phenomena, and WHAT they claim they are measuring. I have so far adopted the idea of 'speed' for voltage and 'quantity' for amperes. Because these ideas seem to 'hold true' at every crossroads where different 'definitions' cross paths.

You see THAT is my point. Ask an electrical engineer or scientist what something is in ONE context. To DEFINE it in ONE particular context. And be prepared to hear them give, for some reason, a DIFFERENT definition of what they claim is the SAME thing, in a different context. THAT is my point of 'crossroads'. Why I don't like to use words like sound, light, wave, even wavelength, or 'pressure'. Because while they SEEM to help make sense in SOME contexts, they fail to 'cross the divide' and if you try to apply them UNIVERSALLY across all contexts where they come up, they start NOT making sense. And so you'll confidently hear people talking about one of these units in one context, as if it was simple and clear. But then when the begin to refer to the same thing in a different context, they are suddenly silent, stumbling, grasping for words that don't come, and trying to quickly 'step over' gaps in their explanation and not draw attention to them. Often even saying things like' You know, well it is, but it ISN'T this or that'. WTF? Is it? No. Yes. Ahm. Jeez, the waters getting deeper and the same 'stroke' that kept me afloat in the shallow end is NOT helping me out here. I'm drowning. Switch to camera two please!

Volts measure the potential* force an electric current will exert, when given the chance. Until given that chance it is a mere potential for electromotive force in terms of kg/m/s that it might exert. But that is just a question of time. As time is change. And sooner or later all 'charges' that have built up anywhere in a system, 'naturally', or by the contrivance of human or other engineers, will be 'discharged' through some medium.

The definition seems to practically refer to the number of kilograms a built-up or in-real-time generated charge has the potential to move one meter in one second. Or the number of meters it could move one kilogram in one second. Or the number of seconds it could push one kilogram one meter (back and forth or round and round) for. (My own paraphrasing and attempt to 'shed light' on this definition and make it 'accessible' to our minds)

In terms of philosophy, and reform, HOLISTIC understanding, COMPLETE information, TOTAL freedom of expression and publication free of any 'cost' or 'risk' which might otherwise lead to self-censorship from the source, for censorship by the potential publisher / disseminator / gate-keepers of flow of information,

TRAINING in 'criteria for evaluating how COMPELLING we should consider an argument to be, and thus how much 'weight' to give it in our own CRITICAL REASONING, the ABSENCE OF ANY UNFLAGGED ASSUMPTIONS, the PROMOTION of the INTERROGATION of ALL 'arguments' and ACTIVE seeking out OF unflagged assumptions, and the freedom to CHALLENGE any and ALL assumptions, without risk or cost to the interrogator of any sort, are all measures of the POTENTIAL for understanding and wisdom and INFORMED decision making and judgement. But until we have TOTAL FREEDOM from any personal cost / burden / risk of ANY form, and the active REWARDING of such behaviour by society, that POTENTIAL will remain as unrealised as a battery with no 'conductor' to facilitate the FLOW of current and FLOW of 'wisdom' and 'understanding' and 'training in the art of rational, critical, reasoning'. So I remain a charged battery. A VOLTAGE. Until censorship and punishment of free thinkers and the expression of thoughts, ideas, information, evidence, proof, and compelling arguments which challenge 'The Official Narrative' we call 'Social Reality', which is made up a large number of 'Official Narratives', are all 'removed from the battlefield of ideas', leaving a 'level playing field' for ALL participants. And we move from defining the exchange and comparison of ideas and arguments as 'battle' and 'war' and 'combative' and 'adversarial', to defining it as 'the collaborative mutual quest for understanding and whatever 'truths' might be accessible to active enquiry.

One Watt = the equivalent of one Joule of 'work' being performed in one second. Remember electrons WANT to get to earth, by the path of least resistance. We contrive circuits to get 'work' out of electrons as they follow their own dreams and seek their own 'happiness', in their 'promised land' we call 'Earth' / 'Ground'.

We 'know' what electrons want. What motivates them to action. To move. To change their location. We can't know if 'getting what they want' will truly make them 'happy' or at least 'satisfied', back in 'The Bosom of their creator'. Possibly just 'extinguished' and 'neutralised' and 'inert' like the lucky Christian faithful who get to live in 'heaven', where nothing ever happens, but at least you don't suffer. And for most 'thralls', life is little more than suffering. And so such a place really is an improvement, as a 'relief' from life.

To get humans or any other animal, even plant, or mineral, or electron, to do what YOU want it to, you just find out what IT wants, and contrive a 'circuit' or 'means' for IT to (at least BELIEVE IT CAN) get what IT wants, by doing what YOU want or need it to do, to get what YOU want.

The water wants to flow to the sea. You build a dam to stop it. Then offer it a 'path of least resistance' through some tubes and hydro-electric power generator turbines, and say 'go, my lovelies, you are now free', and in their rush to fulfil their personal dreams, and realised their desires, and satisfy their urges, they will perform the WORK of pushing your turbines, and generating electricity for YOU.

People want 'X. You make them think that by doing what YOU want them to, and NOT doing what YOU do NOT want them to, because you believe, rightly or wrongly, that them doing A, and not doing B, will benefit YOU, that THEY will get the 'X' that THEY want or feel THEY need. If they don't want or need anything, you first make them FEEL and THINK that they NEED something. Or that getting it would make them 'happy' and bring them pleasure or relief. That's called 'advertising' and 'propaganda'. It could be a useless status good, or an equally meaningless 'forgiveness' for some 'sin'. The most powerful 'good' or 'service' is the PROTECTION RACKET that sells you protection from something that doesn't exist, outside of your mind, and which was implanted in your mind by the same people selling 'protection' from it.

Yes, the oldest scam is the 'Protection Racket'. You exchange 'protection from some 'invisible pink elephant' threat. Some 'bogey man' that does NOT exist. In return for money. In return for SUBMISSION TO THEIR WILL. They hand over their personal freedom and self-control to YOU. So now YOU control them. And decide what 'privileges' they should enjoy. Which freedoms and liberties to do what, and when. And what they will NOT get to do. Except when YOU decide to grant them the 'indulgence' to do it. All at a price of course. All as rewards for serving YOUR will. And satisfying YOUR desires. And meeting YOUR needs. And supply YOUR wants.

Electrons want to 'pair up with' protons. They don't feel 'complete' without them. They want their own proton to 'complete' them. They feel restless. They are certain that 'once I find my proton mate, I will be happy'. And this is the hope that drives them. Like the (false) hope Zeus placed at the bottom of the 'sealed jar of nasties' he gave to the femmebot Pandora he had Hephaestus build for him, to trick humans into opening said 'jar of horrors, miseries, suffering, and woe. Yes the role model for the 'Abrahamic religion's god YHWH, brought to you by the insane man who was willing to murder his own son when 'voices in his head' suggested that would bring him power, was another sadistic, cruel, tyrant, who was so 'jealous' of all his 'personal possessions' like 'fire' (secretly stolen from Hephaestus' laboratory, where he had 'created' humans and the femmebot Pandora, and later would build the 'mechanical raptor' that would eternally torment Prometheus) and 'reason', that when the kindly, good natured, conscientious, Prometheus, seeing that no 'powers' had been left over for humans, the last of Zeus's 'creation', for their survival, after they had all been distributed to Zeus's earlier 'creations', had secretly 'shared' some of Zeus's own, jealously guarded, abilities and wisdom, both punished the benefactor of humanity, and humanity itself, for eternity, with the cruellest of punishments. Merely out of spiteful, sadistic, jealousy. Now he could have just 'destroyed them'. Which he later did do. But being sadistic and cruel as he was, that would not have satisfied his lust for REVENGE upon them for DARING to share in something HE wanted to be SOLE possessor of. So he sent the Femmebot Pandora to 'punish' humanity, and had their generous benefactor, who had dared share HIS personal possessions, the things that made HIM so 'exceptional' and which he thus valued as granting HIM higher status and power and control, chained to a mountainside so that a mechanical raptor could come every evening to devour his liver. Neither humans nor benefactors must be allowed to escape his 'just' punishment. His wrath. His VENGEANCE. All based on his JEALOUSY. Yes, 'The Lord your GOD is a JEALOUS god'.

Reflexivity

Everything is relatively large or small, smooth or rough, sweet or bitter, spicy or bland, relatively. Though we do make 'absolutes' in our mind of some 'extreme' benchmark, such as 'abject poverty', the question is whether all poverty is relative, or if, like Plato wanted to convince himself/us, there was some 'absolute form of poverty, which all other 'poverties' 'share in'. Plato appears to have treated predicates as subjects. For some reason his 'narrative' required it of him. And he persisted in this behaviour. That of treating 'adjectives' as if they were nouns. Treating descriptive terms, as if they were things in themselves.

But before we smugly and complacently imagine we are superior to him, and immune from such defects, we have to consider David Hume's expose on our own, more common, delusions, and actual 'denial'.

An atheist does not 'deny' anything, they express a lack of agreement with the practise of believing hearsay because 'everyone else does' or 'it is tradition' or some 'authority' who is highly respected, privileged, and enjoys 'Alpha-Ape' status and benefits, DECLARES it to be so. True. Fact. Beyond doubt. Beyond question. And has the power to punish those who do dare to challenge their DECLARATIONS, and to reward those who publically express agreement with them. The 'authority' will of course DECLARE that 'atheists deny the existence of god'. They will also DECLARE that 'The Devil's greatest trick was to deceive us that he doesn't exist'. Both heavily LOADED declarations. In fact perfect examples of the Neuro Linguistic Programming trick of 'Sleight of MOUTH'.

Sleight of mouth is the equivalent of using a 'carrier signal' to transmit the actual signal that you want received, and processed, and 'heard'. We shall cover both Amplitude Modulation and Frequency Modulation versions of this. But the basic idea is that CONSCIOUSLY people 'tune into' the carrier signal. The words. But the REAL power of the message is the SUBLIMINAL ASSUMPTIONS that pass by the conscious, RATIONAL part of the mind, which is attending exclusively to 'the carrier signal', the declaration, and NOT attending to the ASSUMPTION IMPLICIT IN IT. And in order to 'make sense of' and 'decode' the message, the mind is COMPELLED to 'accept' these 'hidden' assumptions. For if it did not do this automatically, the declarations, the statements, the message being communicated and decoded, would make ABSOLUTELY NO SENSE. It would be MEANING-LESS. Literally.

What is the ASSUMPTION tacitly, implicitly, being SMUGGLED INTO THE CONSCIOUSNESS as 'noise' attending the 'carrier signal' of the utterance itself? And thus entering UNDER THE RADAR, BYPASSING our (deliberately stifled, stunted, stunned, petrified, numbed, de-activated) faculties of critical reasoning and conscious, critical, awareness?

Well to talk about something, we must assume it EXISTS. For a subject or object to have predicates, it must exist. Even in the form of a fantasy character in a myth we are all talking about, consciously aware that it IS A myth we are talking about, and the characters ARE imaginary. But in this example, while that IS the case, the people are NOT assuming this to be the case.

You want people sober and alert and lucid enough to realise we ARE talking about mythical characters and FICTIONS and STORIES, to feel INFERIOR rather than superior, to the cult thralls who talk about these myths and mythical, made-up, fictional, characters and 'histories' as if they were REAL people and FACTUAL accounts. So how to you FRAME and SPIN their 'lack of credulity'? Their lack of 'acceptance of fiction as fact'? You make it SOUND LIKE a FAULT.

What fault? Well, all the 'atheists' have been TRICKED into believing Satan is 'just a fictional character in a myth'. Because that is the IMPLICIT / encoded / embedded message in the 'carrier signal'. The utterance as a whole that the interlocutors tend to focus and attend to. While totally overlooking the ASSUMPTIONS IMPLICIT in the utterance, which are allowed to 'enter in under the level of conscious critical reason', 'by the back door' so to speak, as the 'Sleight of mouth' trick of the interlocutor.

If an Atheist responds to the utterance 'Do you deny God exists' as they might to some harmless, genuine, well-intended, curiosity motivated, enquiry, they are like the respondent in the survey questionnaire who is asked 'Do you steal stuff from work more or less often than you used to?' Or the naïve respondent in a 'psychological profile interview' who accepts at face value the psychologist's assertion that 'there is no right or wrong answer'. When clearly one answer will prove favourable to the respondent, and another will prove unfavourable. One will improve their odds of gaining employment, the other could easily 'exclude' them from any possibility of ever gaining employment. One could mean freedom. The other imprisonment in a psychiatric prison or 'quarantine facility'.

To agree that you 'deny' something is to IMPLICITLY and TACITLY agree that it must exist. 'Deny' is a very loaded term. The concept and term 'Holocaust Denial' IMPLICITLY ASSUMES THAT 'THE OFFICIAL HOLOCAUST NARRATIVE' HAS BEEN PROVEN BEYOND ANY DOUBT, AND IS NOW BEYOND QUESTION. THAT is what 'denial' refers to. Recalcitrance. Deliberate unwillingness to accept something that has been proven beyond any doubt, verified by science, scientific measurement, documents, records, peer-reviewed research, double-blind controlled studies, and compelling arguments that are internally coherent and consistent, and evolve logically from start to finish, with every assumption that has been made flagged and demonstrated in some way to be compelling. The 'narrative' a.k.a 'model' or 'theory' or 'belief' or 'account' has to be 'backed up' by concrete facts. It can NOT be based on ASSUMPTIONS. And it MUST make itself as ACCESSIBLE to being disproven, invalidated, contradicted, challenged, interrogated, questioned, peer-reviewed, and debunked, as humanly possible. It must WELCOME and ACTIVELY ENCOURAGE criticism. It must REWARD people for doing so. People must be ENCOURAGED to expose ASSUMPTIONS that have been made which people are NOT aware have been made. To FLAG assumptions that were, up till then, IMPLICIT and TACITLY embedded within the arguments. And up to that point NOT identified AS assumptions. But instead confused with 'proven facts', or simply overlooked, or 'taken for granted as being self-evident' out of FAMILIARITY and LONG USEAGE and TRADITION. When in fact they are ASSUMPTIONS. And no matter HOW 'authoritative' the ASSUMER appears. No matter WHAT their other achievements or status or prestige or power in society, or Alpha-Ape status. It MUST be acknowledged that AN ASSUMPTION IS AN ASSUMPTION AND MUST ALWAYS BE TRANSPARENTLY

IDENTIFIED AS SUCH AND MAKE ITSELF ACCESSIBLE TO INTERROGATION AND CAN NEVER ASSUME ANY SPECIAL 'STATUS' BASED ON THE STATUS OF THE PERSON MAKING IT.

NOTHING can EVER be given that status. Of being BEYOND question. Thus there are very few occasions in which the term 'denial' has any place at all.

And certainly when it is used in the context of HIGHLY CONTESTED and CONTESTABLE narratives such as 'The Official Holocaust Narrative' and 'The Official Manmade Global Climate Crisis Narrative' and 'The Official Covid-19 Pandemic Narrative', it FLAGS these 'narratives' as CULT narratives with CULT status and thus the products of a CULT. And thus it is correct to speak of 'The Co2Vid CULT' rather than to talk about the content of their narratives as if they were 'scientific' and 'beyond doubt' and 'rational' and 'reasonable' and 'compelling' and even 'factual'.

So when someone asks me 'Do you deny the existence of God'. Or some other mythical being such as 'Covid-19' or 'The Devil', I am very careful to consider my response. And be sure everyone notes what I actually respond. And what it means. For an 'atheist' is NOT 'someone who denies the existence of god'. It is someone who wonders why OTHER PEOPLE talk about something they call 'God', when there is no evidence it exists. When if it did exist, it has had every opportunity of presenting itself and making its existence known.

If someone dared asked me 'why do you DENY the existence of Covid-19', I would respond as follows. And ask them what this Covid-19 you are talking about is. To please direct me to some record of it. Something showing what it is. Anything indicating its existence. Any phenomenon attributable to it, that can't be explained more simply and coherently with reference to all the sorts of things I am familiar with, which I am quite confident possibly exist. Why do you keep talking about something and calling it 'Covid 19'. When you have ZERO evidence for the existence of the thing you refer to. You give something that you have no reason to even think exists, predicates, and properties, and qualities, and even define it as a threat, and use that imaginary threat to justify your criminal actions, and so I wonder how you can claim to be SANE and mentally competent. Let alone responsible.

The use of that term would be RARE in enlightened society. In LUCID society. In society that valued PRECISION IN LANGUAGE. In a society of people collectively seeking, in collaboration and cooperation, to discover whatever truths are accessible and available to human reason, and human consciousness, about The Reality Of Our Natures And The Natures Of Our Realities.

It would only be considered appropriate if and when we could be totally certain about something, and believed the person we are interacting with was also totally certain about something, but still DECLARED the opposite to us.

Cases like 'The Holocaust' and 'Manmade Global Climate Crisis' and 'Covid-19' would actually be perfect cases of where it WOULD be appropriate to use the term 'DENIAL'. Because, folks, the very best SCIENCE is in, and the conclusion it supports, and which would become 'The Official Narrative' in a SANE world operated in the INTERESTS OF us all (rather than the interests of a tiny elite), would be that all these things are MYTHS that were CREATED AND MAINTAINED via full spectrum propaganda and CENSORSHIP and punishment of whistle-blowers and ABUSE of the criminal legal system.

Of course in our world, everything has been turned upside down. Inverted. But the REAL question YOU should be DEMANDING an answer to, in COURTS OF LAW, under threat of charges of treason, and 'conspiracy to pervert the course of justice' and 'war crimes' and 'crimes against humanity', not to mention 'slander' and 'perjury', SHOULD be: 'Do you DENY THAT 'THE HOLOCAUST' AND 'MANMADE GLOBAL CLIMATE CRISIS' AND 'COVID 19' ARE MYTHS CREATED AND MAINTAINED BY A TINY ELITE WHO HAVE GAINED SUCH MONSTROUS CONTROL OF EVERY ASPECT OF OUR LIVES THAT THEY CAN LITERALLY DETERMINE WHAT MOST PEOPLE BELIEVE IS REAL, AND HAVE THEM DISMISS THINGS THAT ARE REAL, AS DELUSIONS OF 'TIN FOIL HAT CONSPIRACY THEORISTS' AND 'ANTI-SEMITIC RIGHT WING EXTREMISTS'.

And if they insist on 'denying' these well demonstrated FACTS, I would be very keen to hear WHY. And to unburden them of their misunderstanding. To free them from the LIES and DECEPTIONS, the mind-control and brainwashing, they were born into, and will die still a prisoner of, if people like me to NOT gain a VOICE and a chance to be HEARD.

Oh, and in this context, let's consider that the concept of 'charge' is reflexive. Does the water travel to Ophelia or does Ophelia travel to the water? Is it suicide? Or 'accidental death by drowning'?

Excess and deficiency of 'electrons' is always relative to the number of protons in the nucleus of the atom, when that is the reference or locus of our attention.

Within a DC battery, the excess and deficiency of electrons is relative to the two isolated cells. The 'charge' that exists is related to the DIFFERENCE between the two cells. We call one 'positively charged' in relation to it having disproportionately large number of electrons in it, compared to the number of atoms in it. We call the other cell, REFLEXIVELY, negative. In fact we CAN only call them 'positively and negatively charged' IN RELATION TO EACH OTHER. That is what 'reflexivity means' in its most useful, appropriate contexts.

Of course George Soros is only interested in IMPRESSIONS and PERCEPTIONS of share market values, when HE uses the term. For him the 'share market PRICE' will eventually MATCH the PERCEIVED value of that share for the participants, especially the 'market MAKERS', active in that market at any given time. So he either deliberately DRIVES UP or PUSHES DOWN people's BELIEFS about 'the real value of a share', either before buying it so he can sell it (at a higher price than it is trading) or to sell it at today's price, then buy it back later, at a lower price than what it is trading), after having HIMSELF manipulated PUBLIC OPINION and MARKET SENTIMENT about that share. Or simply 'recognised' a 'swing in market sentiment' before most other people have become aware of it. Using all sorts of INDICATORS, including those gained via DATA MINING used to PROFILE people, and READ their 'moods' and 'sentiments' and to both MANUFACTURE impressions and perceptions, and to READ current, and PREDICT FUTURE sentiments. And thus BEHAVIORS.

Attraction and Repulsion are reflexive forces. Unlike charges are attracted TO EACH OTHER. So if one is held stationary by some force, the other will move towards it.

Within the atom the 'stationary' force is that of the positively charged proton. So when it and a 'free', negatively charged, electron, feel that attraction, it is the electron that will move towards the atom. But the attraction is mutual and reflexive.

It is the same with people. One may need to be at home for some reason, so the other one will 'come over'. That does not make one or other more 'responsible' for what they do with each other after the other arrives! Or people looking for a fight. One person can provoke another to 'come over', and then claim 'I am the victim of their aggression.' One nation can provoke another to invade, then later claim it was 'an act of aggression we shall henceforth define as a 'war crime'. But of course only EVER charge GERMANS with. No matter how many times, for example, the U.S.A invades other nations WITH ZERO PROVOCATION. No matter how many times ISRAEL defies international law and INVADES PALESTINIAN TERRITORY, or even that of Egypt and Lebanon, and Syria and Jordan, with ZERO provocation.

An atom is reflexively 'charged' when it has 'too many' or 'too few' electrons relative to the number of protons in its nucleus. But the interesting thing for me is that an atom can have a 'positive' charge via a deficiency of electrons, because now the proton's positive charge dominates and gives the atom an OVERALL positive charge that is looking to be 'neutralised' and 'balanced out' by attracting a negatively charged electron. But it can ALSO take on a negative charge due to an EXCESS of electrons, in excess of its preferred 'balanced' complement of one electron for each proton in the nucleus), as electrons are negatively charged.

Whereas in a DC battery each 'cell' or 'terminal' is defined by its excess or deficiency of electrons. So that an EXCESS of electrons in one cell defines it, reflexively, relative to the other cell, as having a 'positive' charge.

But hey, if I've got that wrong, what does THAT say about 'The Official Narrative'? What if having fewer electrons than protons was supposed to define the atom as having a NEGATIVE charge? I'm new to this still, and will revise all this, in the best possible meaning of that term as it is used in the concept 'Historical revisionism', and not in the worst possible meaning of that term as in 'lying about history', which is what The Cult of Judah do, and have done since you were born, so that you are bound to confuse OUR CORRECTION OF THEIR MISINFORMATION AND EXPOSURE OF THEIR LIES AS DECEPTIONS, as if WE were the ones 'revising' history, in the way THEY use that term, in THEIR twisted and inverted concept of 'historical revisionism'.

As the Soviet comrades used to joke among themselves 'You can never know what will happen YESTERDAY'. (They revise everything as they go along. Re-writing history to suit their current propaganda, and other, purposes).

Levels of Abstraction

We live at a certain level we might call the 'macro' level. And most of our ideas and ways of thinking relate to this macro level. Which I will now call the 'macro' 'level of abstraction'.

Things like 'Objects', which do NOT exist at 'lower levels of abstraction', such as the NANO or QUANTUM level of abstraction, DO exist for us, at our level. We 'bundle' a group of properties which, from our perspective and with the sensory organs available to us, which are all 'calibrated' to the MACRO level of abstraction, appear to occupy the same space and time, such as color, sound, weight, pressure, resistance, texture, smell, taste, and so on, as OBJECTS with a continual 'surface' and bounded limits which end at those surfaces. And we imagine that two objects physically 'touch' along these 'surfaces'. These objects appear to ENDURE over the 'human' timeframes. They appear 'solid' and 'individual' and 'separate' from OTHER objects. And they appear to be separated by 'empty' 'space'.

When we observe a pattern of interaction, whereby one STATE appears BEFORE another, we ASSOCIATE the PRECEDENT state that came first, with the ANTECEDENT state that followed.

Further, our minds, desperate to 'find' order in the world, to calm its nervousness at facing 'chaos', and to find a way to MANIPULATE the world, to suit its own WILL, constantly ENTERTAIN notions of 'cause and effect'. Seeking to 'find' the 'causes' of things. To avoid things that bring pain, discomfort, and even death. And to actively seek out, and if possible REPRODUCE those things that bring pleasure, relief, comfort, and offer the feeling of SECURITY. And so our minds actively CONSTRUCT any POSSIBLE 'cause-effect' pattern from all the phenomena they observe and experience that they might employ to their own advantage. To emulate. To reproduce. Or PREVENT being reproduced.

They 'entertain' hypotheses, ever hopeful of stumbling upon true 'cause-effect relationships'. They test these against 'reality' by seeing if they can bring about, or prevent, the STATES OF THINGS they want and need and thus desire and love, and don't want, and fear, and hate.

They form theories which they test. This is inductive science. We observe something. We form ideas about WHY and HOW it is occurring.

The chicken in the lab sooner or later notices that every time (so far anyway, as far it can remember and judge), it lifts its left leg, food drops from the sky. It seems to have stumbled upon a secret of nature. A means to ensure access to food. It has deciphered the 'philosophers' stone'. It has discovered a 'magical' gesture. A law of nature. This is one very smug, self-satisfied, confident, 'discoverer' and 'Scientist'. We are dealing with an 'Alpha-Chicken' here. Sure to become famous. And if our chicken understands how to 'work this', it will be able to leverage this particular 'secret esoteric knowledge' into true power over all other chickens. It will found a CULT. And become 'High Priest'. And 'leverage' this insight it stumbled upon into absolute power to satisfy its every OTHER desire. The prettiest chicks will be lining up to share his roost. The other chickens will surely build it a palace worthy of such a 'Cult High Priest'. And so on.

O.K, so the chicken has gotten ahead of itself. It has jumped to a rational, logical, conclusion based on all the evidence of its own senses, and the information available to it at the time. What it doesn't know is that it is being 'played'. A 'scientist' is trying to see if it can 'trick' the chicken into MAKING the actual exact attribution its mind HAS made. The ATTRIBUTION of 'cause and effect' in which it willing its own left to lift, produces the effect of food appearing from above.

The chicken has every rational, logical, sound, reason to have entertained its hypothesis. To have formed its conclusion. It has behaved much much much much more intellectually rigorous than any 'Manmade global climate change crisis' or 'Covid 19 Pandemic' 'scientist' or 'expert' or 'authority'. It has based its conclusions on observation and TESTING of its hypothesis over relatively long time frames. At different times of the day. During different seasons. Maybe even in different locations. All depending on how the 'experiment the guy playing this trick on it' was arranged by the 'researcher'.

And as long as the 'researcher' decides to continue this 'experiment', the chicken's conclusions will appear to be verified. And the chicken has every reason to, when hungry, lift its left leg. And be confident that food will appear from above. BECAUSE OF ITS ACTION. It will be REASONABLE for the chicken to ASSUME a 'cause and effect relationship' between its actions, and food appearing, because the 'researcher' has set up this condition. This 'cause-effect relationship' WILL hold true any time the 'researcher' or their proxy, is present, and actively CONFIRMING the hypothesis by REPRODUCING the interaction-outcomes. The 'cause-effect' relationship.

Only WE and the 'researcher' know that a TRICK is being played on the chicken. To make it THINK there is a cause-effect relationship. That IT is causing food to appear by lifting its left leg.

And the thing is, the chicken has every reason to CONTINUE to raise and lower its left leg, in EXPECTATION of receiving food as a result, long after food has STOPPED appearing. The researcher tested their theory that the chicken would behave this way, and has become satisfied THEIR theory of 'cause and effect' regarding 'Chicken behavior' has been 'proven'. But let's focus on the chicken.

The chicken, having had the past experience of raising its left leg, and food appearing from above, does NOT need to have this 'cause-effect' relationship CONTINUALLY reinforced by actual food appearing. It is enough that it has formed the DISTINCT IMPRESSION that such a relationship exists. As long as SOMETIMES it gets the desired result, it will CONTINUE under the illusion that it HAS discovered 'a law of nature' and that it SHOULD, when hungry, raise and lower its left leg. And 'sooner or later' food will appear.

In the end the researcher gets a Nobel prize for proving how easy it is to 'CREATE AND MAINTAIN A PUBLIC MYTH'. Oh, didn't I mention? That chicken kindly shared its 'discovery' with other chickens in the same 'research experiment', so they ALL became 'true believers' and ALL assiduously practised 'left leg raising and lowering' . Thus was a 'public myth CREATED'. And maintained, by 'irregular reinforcement'. Some lab assistants would occasionally 'reinforce' the myth, waiting for the chickens to raise and lower their left legs, before dropping food down from above. In fact IRREGULAR REINFORCEMENT proves even MORE powerful than regular, predictable reinforcement. It is cheaper in terms of 'cost of rewarding the desired behavior'. And exerts a more powerful motivational force on the participants. They can never be sure that the NEXT 'observation of the RITUAL' will NOT be rewarded, and bring forth the desired, intended, results / consequences / outcomes / states. So they are MOTIVATED to continue to repeat the action they have been PROGRAMMED to ASSOCIATE with 'getting what THEY want' and even NEED, long after ANY such rewards are forthcoming.

In fact lots of chickens, days after the researchers went on to 'bigger and better things', and left the chickens to themselves, continued 'performing the sacred ritual'. It seemed easier than 'flying the coop' and seeking food the 'conventional way'. They stubbornly refused to believe they had been TRICKED. That was a conspiracy theory spread by tin-foil hat conspiracy theorist chickens with ulterior, malicious, motives. THEY were trying to trick the 'true believers' into leaving the lab. Adopting a different way of life. A different lifestyle. But our 'clever' true believers were NOT going to be tricked by THEM! No. They would remain 'true to the faith'. And persist. They would raise and lower their left legs, and sooner or later the food would appear. It was simply a LAW OF NATURE. A law of CAUSE AND EFFECT. Or possibly, some more 'traditional and less scientific' of the chickens would claim 'It was their GOD' who had ordained 'The LAW', and rewarded 'The faithful' with food, when they showed their love and devotion and submission to HIS law, and he would NOT forsake them. They just needed to 'keep repeating the same actions long after the 'law' the chickens had THOUGHT they had 'stumbled upon and proven beyond doubt, beyond QUESTION even, had clearly proven itself WRONG. An error of judgement. A false hypothesis. An incorrect conclusion. Not a 'law of nature' at all. Not even 'HIS' will. 'HIM' being the 'god' they had conjured up to EXPLAIN the phenomena they had experienced. And whom HIS high priests had offered to intercede on the Chicken's behalf, WITH, to ensure his 'good graces' and continual 'love and protection' and beneficence.

Many chickens died in that lab. Of hunger and exhaustion. But they 'kept the faith' till the very end. They are surely role models for chickens everywhere. Some of they were 'keeping faith' with the dogmas and articles of faith of their SCIENTIFIC cult. Others were 'keeping faith with' their RELIGIOUS beliefs. But they all died. They all remained 'true' to the end. They died BELIEVING. They are surely superior to the 'apostates' who left the faith, and left the lab, and pursued different lifestyles. And certainly superior to those 'heretics' and 'atheists' who never believed in the first place. Right?

And what about our 'researchers'? They surely proved it was possible to CREATE AND MAINTAIN A PUBLIC myth, no matter how absurd. For a long long time. Because one people 'BELIEVE' something and it becomes FAMILIAR to them they feel they KNOW it and they TRUST what they KNOW. They will die BELIEVING that myth.

Homo Fideo? Believing man? Well given the immense intellectual superiority of 'humans' over chickens, surely this story cannot possibly say anything about HUMAN behaviour, right? Or HUMAN society? Really?

O.K, so back to 'levels of abstraction'. To our human senses it really DOES seem that 'objects with particular qualities' exist. That the qualities INHERE in objects. Rather than existing as independent entities that just happen to exist in proximity to each other. And the idea of cause and effect seems real too. Because one situation or thing follows the other, in succession, in close proximity in terms of TIME. By association, the two things become inextricably linked IN OUR MINDS. In our minds a UNITY is formed. Constructed. It is a great way to save on CPU resources. Jumping to conclusions is efficient.

We hear what COULD be a 'tiger' growling. Quick, run for it. Not worth risking waiting for more information. Tigers are just too fast. The price of waiting for confirmation or otherwise is too high. So just run for it. Without hesitating to think or seek PROOF of the presence of tigers. I explain the literal significance of this example elsewhere in this guide. But for now, let's agree that 'jumping to conclusions' has some benefits. And it is probably one reason human's still exist on this plane-et. So let's not 'throw the baby out with the bath-water'. Let's show this aspect of human nature, this 'knee-jerk response', the respect it deserves. That it has earned.

But let's assume we've removed the threat of tigers. There are no tigers around. We have the LUXURY of 'taking our time' and 'thinking things through' and 'testing our theories' and 'seeking evidence for and against our theories', and considering all the possible explanations for 'that growling sound that was heard'. And the luxury and NECESSITY of asking the question 'HOW AND IN WHAT WAY MIGHT IT BE POSSIBLE FOR SOMEONE TO TAKE ADVANTAGE OF OUR HUMAN NATURE IN 'JUMPING TO CONCLUSIONS' AND 'RUNNING' WHEN WE HEAR WHAT MIGHT BE A TIGER GROWLING'.

O.K, so back to 'levels of abstraction', in the context of electricity. At the quantum level things 'look' entirely different than at our macro level. Shrink us down to quantum size, and all the 'individual objects' suddenly become a mere QUANTITY of electrons, protons, neutrons, and 'quarks' and 'gluons', and so on. They literally 'disappear' to be replaced by vast quantities of a very few things.

And we find that the 'edges' and 'boundaries' of 'planes' and 'shapes' and 'surfaces' that were once so distinct, and often so smooth, are suddenly really rough terrain full of BOULDERS. Actually more like an asteroid belt than anything else our minds are capable of imagining. There are no 'straight lines' or 'curves' or ‘smooth planes’ or ‘well-defined edges’ or ‘shapes’ any more. Just lots of lots of the same stuff. Huge quantities of the building blocks of what were ‘familiar’ to us, at the macro level, as ‘individual objects’. The irony is that we’d gain a lot of ‘individual objects’, but we’d lose ALL the ‘different objects’ we were familiar with. We’d observe huge quantities of just a few ‘different’ things. So we’d have lost most ‘diversity’.

Also when we looked for any ‘points of contact’ between ‘objects’ where they ‘touched’ or ‘rested on each other’, we’d find NONE. Nothing TOUCHES anything at this level. Electromagnetic forces of attraction attract things TOWARDS and CLOSE to one another, but even at this level of abstraction, at this level of composition, we are all ‘atomised’ individuals. All ‘alone’. Seeking to unite with those things we find attractive. But never able to actually form a ‘union’. We can come close. But never quite become ‘one’. Never quite ‘touch’ anything. So the guitar that seems to rest on the guitar stand, isn’t really ‘touching’ it. That said, the electromagnetic forces of a guitar falling on a hard surface can separate parts of it at the MACRO level, from other parts of it. And leave ‘dings’ and ‘dents’ and ‘scratches’. Ouch! But at the atomic and quantum levels, nothing ‘hit’ anything else.

And this brings us to the idea of ‘comets hitting earth’. They probably don’t. Couldn’t. But to do the destructive damage they do, they don’t need to. What causes the massive destruction / reformation of the earth’s crust is the electrical discharges between the comet and the earth, which are awesomely ‘explosive’, and often leave huge craters on the surface, where it is not covered by water. The comet will ‘explode’ before ‘hitting’ the earth, but the electrical discharge resulting in this will also suddenly release atomic-bomb amounts of energy, that do the damage.

GO VEGAN

If 5 minutes after you ‘enjoyed’ eating some roast chicken, you suffered everything the chicken had suffered to make it possible for that enjoyment to be had by you, how much chicken would you eat?

Table of elements, atomic numbers, valence electrons, and ions

ATOMIC NUMBER	NAME	VALENCE ELECTRONS	SYMBOL	ATOMIC NUMBER	NAME	VALENCE ELECTRONS	SYMBOL	ATOMIC NUMBER	NAME	VALENCE ELECTRONS	SYMBOL
1	Hydrogen	1	H	37	Rubidium	1	Rb	73	Tantalum	2	Ta
2	Helium	2	He	38	Strontium	2	Sr	74	Tungsten	2	W
3	Lithium	1	Li	39	Yttrium	2	Y	75	Rhenium	2	Re
4	Beryllum	2	Be	40	Zirconium	2	Zr	76	Osmium	2	Os
5	Boron	3	B	41	Niobium	1	Nb	77	Iridium	2	Ir
6	Carbon	4	C	42	Molybdenum	1	Mo	78	Platinum	1	Pt
7	Nitrogen	5	N	43	Technetium	2	Tc	79	Gold	1	Au
8	Oxygen	6	O	44	Ruthenium	1	Ru	80	Mercury	2	Hg
9	Fluorine	7	F	45	Rhodium	1	Rh	81	Thallium	3	Tl
10	Neon	8	Ne	46	Palladium	–	Pd	82	Lead	4	Pb
11	Sodium	1	Na	47	Silver	1	Ag	83	Bismuth	5	Bl
12	Magnesium	2	Ma	48	Cadmium	2	Cd	84	Polonium	6	Po
13	Aluminum	3	Al	49	Indium	3	In	85	Astatine	7	At
14	Silicon	4	Si	50	Tin	4	Sn	86	Radon	8	Rd
15	Phosphorus	5	P	51	Antimony	5	Sb	87	Francium	1	Fr
16	Sulfur	6	S	52	Tellurium	6	Te	88	Radium	2	Ra
17	Chlorine	7	Cl	53	Iodine	7	I	89	Actinium	2	Ac
18	Argon	8	A	54	Xenon	8	Xe	90	Thorium	2	Th
19	Potassium	1	K	55	Cesium	1	Cs	91	Protactinium	2	Pa
20	Calcium	2	Ca	56	Barium	2	Ba	92	Uranium	2	U
21	Scandium	2	Sc	57	Lanthanum	2	La
22	Titanium	2	Ti	58	Cerium	2	Ce		Artificial Elements
23	Vanadium	2	V	59	Praseodymium	2	Pr
24	Chromium	1	Cr	60	Neodymium	2	Nd	93	Neptunium	2	Np
25	Manganese	2	Mn	61	Promethium	2	Pm	94	Plutonium	2	Pu
26	Iron	2	Fe	62	Samarium	2	Sm	95	Americium	2	Am
27	Cobalt	2	Co	63	Europium	2	Eu	96	Curium	2	Cm
28	Nickel	2	Ni	64	Gadolinium	2	Gd	97	Berkelium	2	Bk
29	Copper	1	Cu	65	Terbium	2	Tb	98	Californium	2	Cf
30	Zinc	2	Zn	66	Dysprosium	2	Dy	99	Einsteinium	2	E
31	Gallium	3	Ga	67	Holmium	2	Ho	100	Fermium	2	Fm
32	Germanium	4	Ge	68	Erbium	2	Er	101	Mendelevium	2	Mv
33	Arsenic	5	As	69	Thulium	2	Tm	102	Nobelium	2	No
34	Selenium	6	Se	70	Ytterbium	2	Yb	103	Lawrencium	2	Lw
35	Bromine	7	Br	71	Lutetium	2	Lu
36	Krypton	8	Kr	72	Hafnium	2	Hf

Hydrogen contains one proton and one electron. Its nucleus has no neutron. Curious, right? BUT in all other ATOMS, in their balanced state, the number of electrons matches the number of protons, so the overall CHARGE is neutral, as the positively charged protons balance out the negatively charged electrons. And just to clarify , the ONLY way an atom becomes POSITIVELY charged is by having fewer electrons than Protons, and thus by LOSING electrons. Whereas it becomes NEGATIVELY charged when it has more electrons than protons. Elsewhere I've gotten confused. Have to track down that confusion and 'revise' a.k.a correct it.

We refer to positively and negatively charged atoms as IONS or IONIZED. Particles and IONIZED atoms (Ions) with the same charge repel each other. Though some 'strong force' has been DECLARED that prevents protons in the nucleus from repelling each other, how nice and convenient for 'The Official Narrative', which would otherwise have a LOT of questions to answer, if anyone was asking, of course, which they won't, cos it's not considered 'polite'. Even 'heresy' and 'apostasy'! And 'opposites' attract, as we all 'know'. So *un*like charges attract each other. So far we've only mentioned a few of the characters in 'The Official Narrative'. They are collectively referred to as 'the charge carriers'. They are the focus of our attention. But really they are just the LOCUS of the REAL PROTAGONIST in this narrative. Electromagnetic Force. EMF. E. This is what provides the electroMOTIVE force that IMPELLS and COMPELLS, that pushes and pulls, our other characters. This is the 'motivation' for all their actions. We refer to it as POTENTIAL or VOLTAGE. Really obfuscating. Not helpful. So I will try to refer to EMF from now on, and use the unit V (for Voltage) as its unit of measure, and to remind you of the popular language useage of Voltage instead of the actually logically descriptive and MEANINGFUL and thus HELPFUL epithet 'EMF'. Electromagnetic Force. E. Which provides the Electro MOTIVE Force that drives the whole operation of 'currents' and 'electricity'.

Electrons are the 'things' that produce friction, that produces heat and light, but it is the 'charge' of EMF that they are carrying, that is the source of all the ENERGY. They are mere 'couriers'. Like each human is a mere 'courier' for the specie's DNA, and for LIFE itself. The focus in on us. But the circuit exists to ensure the survival of LIFE and the species that, via maximum diversity, give it the highest chances of surviving in SOME form, no matter WHAT happens. As a 'space bear' (Tardigrade) or cockroach. It doesn't care. It can REBUILD from there.

The Official Narrative reflexively defines them as 'negatively charged'. Relative to the other characters. But what is important is that they are repelled by negative electromagnetic fields, and attracted to positive electromagnetic fields. And when not repelled or attracted, they just 'sit idly by', infuriating the slave masters who see their POTENTIAL as slaves. Imagining all the uses THEY could put them to to benefit THEMSELVES! So that sort of situation simply cannot be tolerated. Stumble into a community of permaculture farmers in the amazon who need nor want ANYTHING from YOU, as they have all they need, and want what they have. They don't need 'Amazon' as they have 'The Amazon'. They may welcome you, and feed and entertain you, and discuss things with you, like why you look so sad and depressed and dissatisfied with everything all the time, but why would they WORK for you to build YOU luxurious mansions and massive war machines? So you need to get them EXCITED about working for you. You need to ATTRACT them to your 'way of life' a.k.a 'slavery'. And make their current utopian idyllic existence SEEM dissatisfying, boring, unattractive. Destroy it if you have to, so they have no reason to stay, and every reason to follow you into slavery.

Yes, so electrons. (Reflexively) 'negatively' charged. But they only 'move' when they have a 'motivation'. A 'backstory'. Something to 'drive' their 'emotional development' and 'the development of the plot'. To drive the 'character and plot' arcs / lines forward. Or backwards (if we are dealing with flashbacks et al).

Oh, before I forget it, AC power cords and systems clearly DO have a separate line for the RETURN of the Jedi, I mean 'force', I mean 'charge carrying electrons'. Electrons don't flow 'to earth' as much as oscillate like waves on the shore, rushing up to the earth, then retreating backwards. The 'earth' is just there to allow them some room for their 'tidal surges' at the end of each 'trip' or 'oscillation'. The water doesn't continue up the beach, it just 'overruns' its course, and then flows backwards, returning to its source. So the whole SYSTEM can 'oscillate', it needs this 'room to expand'. A bit of 'Lebensraum'. Not to 'occupy', but as a temporary 'free movement zone'. The electrons may 'wash up on the earth/ ground' at the end of each cycle, but they then return back the way they came. They do not 'Flow to earth' in an AC circuit. They always return the way they came. In the same numbers(?) and with the same charges.

The electrons remain negatively charged. But the FORCE pushing and pulling at them, repelling and attracting them, varies in AMPLITUDE / STRENGTH and FREQUENCY.

So, to get to the point before I forget it. An electron sitting still in a CONSTANT electromagnetic field, will arrive at its 'comfort zone', like a wave washing up a piece of amber or stone or shell or other flotsam and jetsom upon the beach, before retreating. The wave was the ELECTROMAGNETIC FORCE EMF (Voltage) that pushed the object. But once that force stops CHANGING and MOVING, the flotsam remains stationary. Nothing is 'moving' it . This spot will do it fine. Nice location. Sea views. That'll do me. Dunroamin! Settle down to the quiet life.

It is only when it faces a CHANGING magnetic field and CHANGING electromagnetic force, such as a PULSE of Electromagnetic Force (Voltage) or a MOVING magnetic field, that it FEELS the forces of attraction and repulsion operating on it. And then it MOVES away from and towards the opposite, and same, charges, respectively

It is a typically 'ugly' person revolted by other 'ugly' people, but attracted to the 'beautiful' people. When an 'ugly' person sits down next to them, they will get up and move away. When they see someone 'beautiful' at another table, they will get up and move over to that table, to be near them. If that 'beautiful' person leaves the room and they are not free to follow, they will remain put. Until another 'ugly' 'repellant'

'repulsive' person like themselves sits down next to them. Or they see, across the room, another 'beautiful' and thus 'attractive' person, to whom they automatically feel attracted.

So you need those CHANGES to get the electron to MOVE. Some EXTERNAL force must impel or compel them to move, such an electron pushing them out of the way. Or some 'positive attraction' nearby being exerted in the form of a positively charged Atom (Ion) or a positive magnetic field.

The flotsam (electrons) will move up and down the beach, advancing and retreating with the tide and waves, encroaching on the 'land' then retreating back to their source, only when the tide or wave FORCES them. Pushes them up the beach. Then pulls them back to the source. This corresponds to how AC Electromagnetic Force (Voltage) when allowed to oscillate or flow freely as a 'current', pushes and pulls electrons.

A tide or wave is a constantly changing / moving field of force acting ON the electron (flotsam). When the sea is totally calm, and with no moon or wind, the flotsam don't move. It's the same with electrons. You need to Push or Pull them to move. And design circuits that ensure that AS they move, they perform WORK for you.

So the slave CULT leaders get their proxies and thralls to first destroy the utopian idyll of the villagers. Then lie to them about how good life is where the Cult rules, and comes from. They may give them a few gifts or show them stuff that excites the imaginations of the villagers. They WANT these new things. And the Cult representatives promise that if they come with them, back to the Cult controlled areas, they can have them. They will have the chance to WORK for them. To 'earn' them. Which sounds only reasonable and fair, really. And now the villagers have lost everything, they are motivated to try something different.

So now the cult has new slaves. New cult thralls. To exploit. Sure it might reward them now and then. Allow them to keep a little of the value they produce. And promise that 'in the life to come, as long as they serve their masters well this life, they will be free of all the burdens of this life, and rewarded for all the work they did for the CULT masters THIS life, in some 'heaven'. Some 'paradise' AFTER death. But if they do NOT slave away energetically for the masters, and SUBMIT to the masters every arbitrary whim, (they are merely doing what the 'GOD' told them would please HIM, after all) and thus make this 'GOD' (who has the keys and is the gate-keeper for that 'gated-community in the sky' they all want to relocate to) happy. So happy he will welcome them with open arms INTO that 'gated community in the sky' they call 'heaven' or 'paradise'.

The correspondence between flotsam carried on, pushed and pulled, by the tide and waves, and electrons being pushed and pulled by Electromagnetic Force (Voltage) seems quite helpful, so far. Because of the way energy is transferred through water over time and distance. With compression resulting in water molecules being pushed 'up', to literally form 'waves'. And expansion literally reducing water pressure, and producing 'troughs'. In succession. Like air pressure spheres moving outward. With the same 'pulse' a.k.a 'frequency' expressed as 'how often the peaks/troughs repeat per unit of time, and thus distance. As CHANGE requires change over time and/or location. And the 'height' of the wave directly corresponding to its AMPLITUDE or INTENSITY of water pressure and thus source FORCE that produced it. So that with 'water waves' we have direct RENDERING and REPRESENTATION of the INVISIBLE, outwardly radiating, SPHERES of air pressure pulses, our minds RENDER as 'sound' of varying 'pitch' (frequency) and 'relative loudness (Amplitude).

The AC Sine Wave explained with illustrations

The Sinusoidal function that 'describes' AC current is responsible for the way most people think of 'sound waves' and 'waveforms'. It is an artifact of plotting amplitude AND direction over time. A DC current has the same amplitude at all times. So it 'describes' a straight horizontal line, when you plot amplitude over time. But an AC current 'Alternates' directions repeatedly, let's say from left to right along a copper wire. And if you take the starting point as 'center' or 'middle', and right as positive, and left as negative, and plot the changes over periods of one second, you end up with a 'Sine wave' waveform. A complete 'cycle' is 360 degrees. And if we used vertically stacked ZEN time, rather than our conventional horizontal time, that moves in one direction, constantly, and consistently, the function would describe a circle. But as if we plot it over horizontal time that moves 'forward', we get a sine wave.

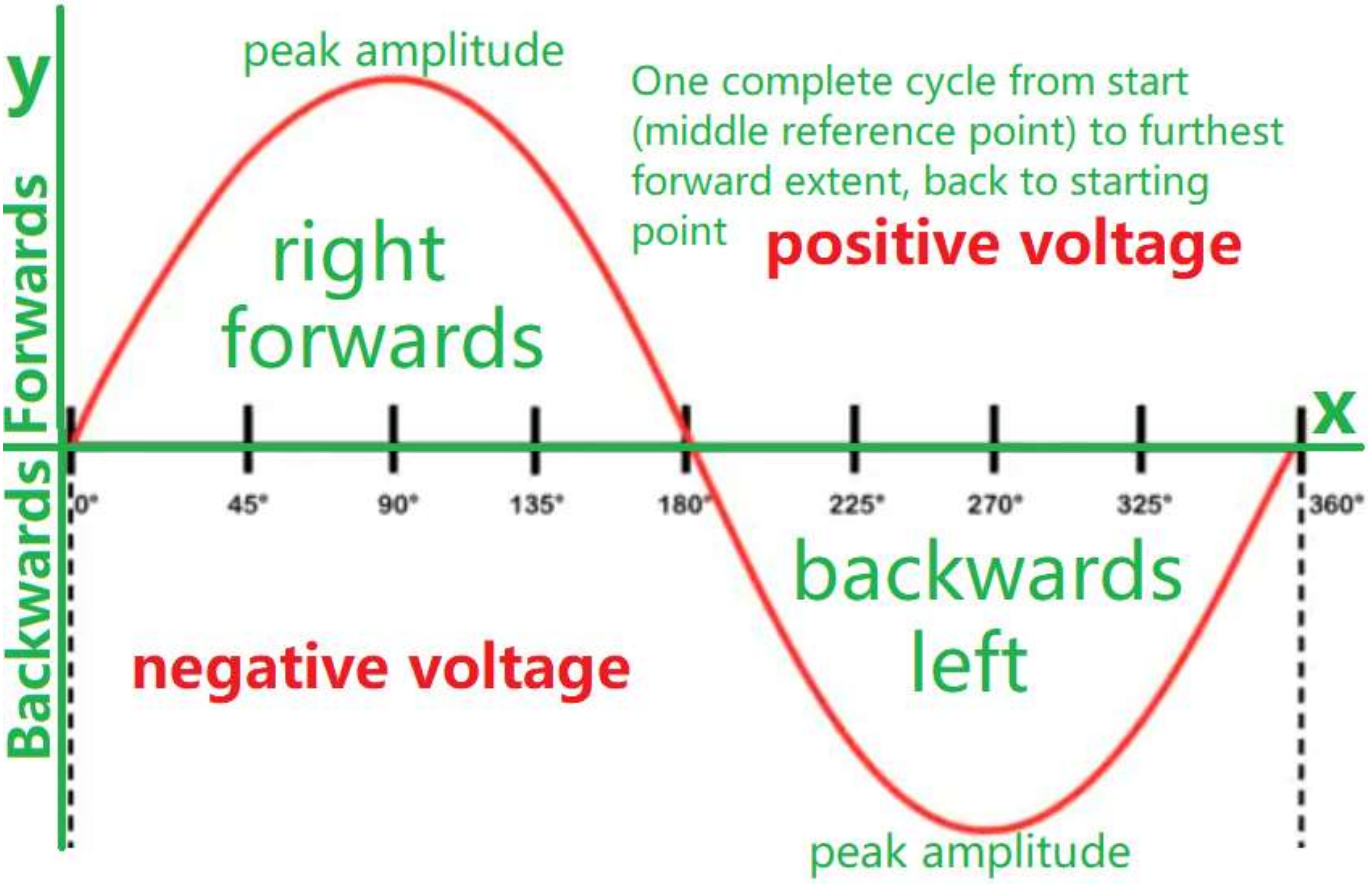
I go into this detail because the curves of the sine wave really do correspond with magnet poles describing an actual circle. But we'll go into that in detail in another part of this guide.

The waveform Alternates (oscillates) between positive-forwards and negative-backwards directions, every 180 degrees (halfway point of cycle). It takes the same amount of time to complete each half of the cycle, and the 'height' mirrors the 'depth' of the waveform on either side, during either 'alternation'. Because height here refers to right movement, and depth refers to left movement, of the current, back and forth.

As the direction of the current alternates at regular intervals, graphing its amplitude over time, and direction, the co-ordinates plotted describe a sinusoidal function or 'sine wave form'. Remember that the X axis divides the Y axis between forwards and backwards. And so, if your aim was to move forwards, the reversal represents a 'negative' value to you.



The peak values, both positive and negative, occur halfway between each half-cycle, and so at 90 degrees and 270 degrees. This is where the magnetic flux lines are greatest, producing the highest voltage the source can output, or the generator can generate. We speak of a 'positive' and 'negative' peak merely in relation to the direction of travel of the current. With the current 'reversing direction' and 'moving in retrograde' (insert stuff about planets and sun and why get impression of 'reversal' of direction) at the halfway point (in time and distance). The 360 degrees describes the continuous circumference of a circle. So that starting at 0 degrees, and drawing / describing a circle, when we get to 180 degrees the line, which was moving from left to right, like a guitar string looping from left, upwards, to the right, then back down, to the right, reaches the limit of its rightward travel, before moving left and down, towards the pole piece in the pickup, travelling left across its length, before beginning to 'climb' again, still moving leftwards, until it reaches the limit of its leftward travel, before 'reversing direction' (relative to the pole piece) and begins 'climbing' up away from the pole piece, while moving rightwards, and continuing this 'looping' 'cycle'. Each complete loop is one cycle. And if you graph left and right as positive and negative with the X axis representing the 'mid-point' of the loop, the 'rest/default position of the undisturbed string, ideally resting above the center of the magnetic pole piece' and thus also representing the center of the pole piece, you can visualise the correspondence between this form of electrical generator we call a 'guitar string moving through the magnetic field of a pick-ups pole pieces which induces a current in the copper wire 'coiled' around the pickup'. (insert great video graphics showing the correspondences in real time, as a string 'loops' back and forth above the pole piece, and thus 'describes' the same 'curving arcs' through the magnetic field of the pole piece, inducting the same / equivalent / corresponding electromagnetic force (voltages) in the pickup coil).

The 'flux lines' will be maximum where the string comes closest to the pole piece. Just as in a typical electrical generator where the magnets come closest to the 'coils' of copper (copper coiled around iron rods), because this is where the 'greatest disturbance' is occurring. This is the magnet or string getting 'right up in the face' of its 'interlocutor' in this 'dialog'. For it is a dialog. It requires BOTH parties participation. Though like most supposed 'dialogs', only one interlocutor need be active. In terms of MOVING in relation to the other.

You could move the magnetic pole piece through the same motions that the string goes through, relative to the pole piece, to produce the exact same outcome, just for demonstration purposes.

Just as you can rotate magnets around their center, between two or more coils, or you can rotate the coils around the magnets. The result is a disturbance in the magnetic fields of the magnets, which will induce a corresponding 'disturbance' in the coils.

When visualizing the magnets (insert graphics, video, etc here of simple power generator), visualise Venus or Mars in orbit around the sun, between earth and the sun. As you are standing on earth, you observe Venus moving towards the sun, from your right to your left. Yes you are very patient, as it takes a very long time. But finally Venus passes BEHIND the sun, disappearing from your view. Well that's the end of Venus, you think to yourself. But loh, The Dogs be praised, waiting patiently in your sad misery, bewailing the fate of lovely Venus, you see, no, could it possibly be? By the Dog yes its true, Venus has reappeared (having passed behind the sun as it continues its orbit) and now 'looping back around' the sun, and, from YOUR perspective, now travelling in the OPPOSITE DIRECTION across the FACE of the sun, in FRONT of the sun, so that you can now see it again. Now Venus is 'in retrograde', apparently moving back in the opposite direction to which we first observed it moving. So that now it is moving from OUR left to OUR right, BACK the way it came.

But it is really completing a 'loop'. And 'orbit'. It was always travelling FORWARDS as far as it is concerned. It is only RELATIVE TO US that it 'seems' to move back and forth. Left to right then right to left. If we wanted we could plot its movement from 0 (middle or where WE are standing, relative to Venus) to the 'furthest right' Venus travels relative to us, and then back through 0 to the 'furthest left', Venus moves, relative to us, then back towards us, namely 0, and so on.

The 'height' (Y axis) of the curve we plotted in this way would represent 'how far from middle' Venus was, namely how far left or right of US it was, at any point in time (Which the X axis would measure). I'd probably reverse the axis to correspond to the actual movement of Venus relative to us, so the peaks moved left and right of the Y axis, outwards, horizontally, rather than vertically (insert diagram here showing what mean).

Now consider standing closer and closer to your object of desire, the lovely Venus. How much more powerful her allure, her attraction, would be. And how much greater she would 'disturb' you. Excite you. But she is a tease, remember. She only SEEMS to ever come 'closer'. She sweeps in, appears to be coming straight into your open embrace, to satisfy your longing to be 'one' with her, but then just as your dreams seem to be about to come true, she sweeps PAST you, and up and AWAY from you, again. And again. But hope springs eternal, right. Maybe NEXT time she will stop and stay, and happiness will be yours. Yes, By the Dog, the Dogs wouldn't allow such a 'Tantalus-Pandora torture to continue! The NEXT time will be different. And that's ONLY one more 'cycle' away.

Peak Vs RMS (average) Vs instantaneous voltage or current

The key to understanding 'Peak' Vs 'Root Mean Square' or 'Average' Voltage (or current for current waveforms), is to consider that if you took as many 'samples' of values, then averaged them, across one complete Cycle, to find an 'average' voltage, the 'positive' values would cancel out the 'negative' values. So we have to use the magic of 'squaring' via which positive and negative values are treated as 'absolute' equals.

But we can calculate the average voltage (and current?) of either half of the cycle (which occurs around 40 degrees in from the start of a cycle), using the formula 0.637 x Peak.

Our auditory systems 'average out' incoming signals in a similar way, so RMS is a better indicator of perceived loudness, than 'peak'. Whereas RMS won't indicate sudden 'transients' that could easily be 'clipping' and adding 'nasty distortion' to an 'audio signal'.

Sinθ x peak gives us the 'instantaneous' voltage (current for current waveforms) at any particular point in the cycle. So you can calculate what the actual voltage or current is X degrees in from the start of the sine wave, by plugging in the known values. The example below shows how to calculate the voltage or current (depending on which the waveform is representing) for a current with a Peak Amplitude of 50 Amperes, 25 degrees in from the start of a cycle. It is 21.1 Amps. (It seems 'Theta' is a placeholder for the actual degrees, just as I used 'X' to represent the same variable)

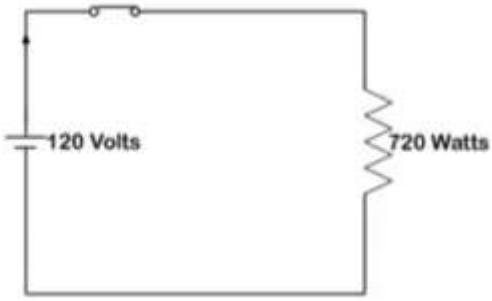
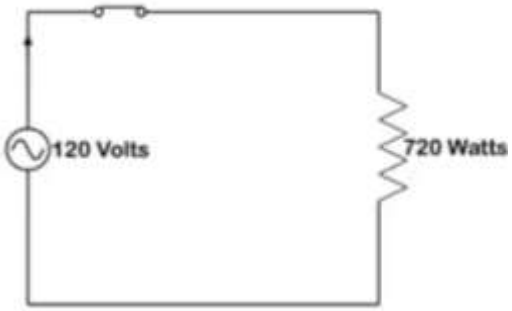
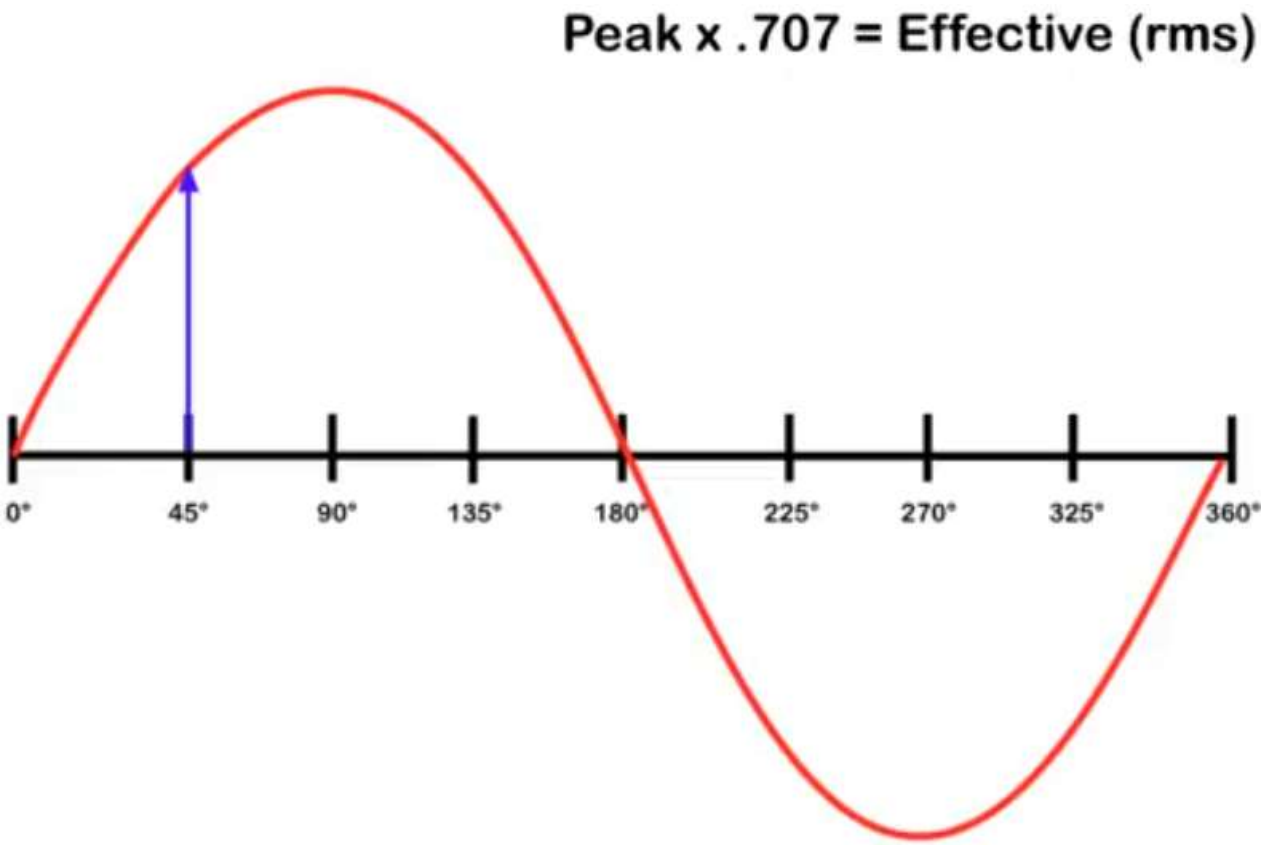
And we could change the subject of the formula, to find out at which 'degrees' (angles) the curve represents the same instantaneous voltage or current. Which I assume would correspond to actual angles between a magnet in an electricity generator, and the N-S axis of the coils of the generator?).

Now I'm confused. Was RMS Average or not? Now another value Effective (RMS) voltage appears on my radar. Not sure if it means 'Effective' a.k.a 'RMS' voltage, or Effective RMS voltage. Do you grok the difference? It's the AC value that will give the same heating effect as an equivalent DC voltage.

Which brings us to something VERY interesting. DC got their foot in the door first. Then Tesla's AC, the new kid on the block arrived. Left we have 120 Volts DC running through a resistor to produce 720 watts of HEAT. Right we have an AC power supply being used for the same purpose. Apparently there was no way of calculating Voltages in Alternating Current. So they simply decided to CALL 120 Volts AC that equivalent of AC power required to produce the same 720 Watts of HEAT using the same resistor, as in the first circuit. This was the EQUIVALENT 'amount' of AC, required to get the same 'work' done, using a particular DC voltage.







Effective RMS is the instantaneous voltage or current 45 degrees in from the start ? it is Peak x 0.707

Period vs Frequency

To repeat more times a second, something has to repeat more often. Thus with a higher RATE or FREQUENCY.

So we call the RATE AT WHICH SOMETHING DOES (OR WOULD IF FREE TO) REPEAT, PER SECOND, ITS FREQUENCY.

And the time BETWEEN each repetition, its PERIOD.

So if something repeats with a PERIODICITY of once every 0.25 seconds, then it repeats with a FREQUENCY of 4 TIMES a second.

There is a quarter second 'period' BETWEEN each repetition. And if allowed to repeat for a full second, it will repeat 4 times during this second.

$T=\frac{1}{f}$ Period (T) is the time and/or distance ('wave' 'length') it takes to complete one full cycle of an action. In the context of of air pressure pulses ('sound waves'), the action is the expansion from one pressure maxima to the next. In the context of electricity, it is the time/distance between peaks in voltage or current.

$f=\frac{1}{T}$ Frequency (f in the formula left) is how many such cycles are completed per second. Periodicity and frequency have an inverse relationship. The slower the RATE at which something repeats, the higher its periodicity, and the lower its frequency. The faster the RATE at which something repeats, the higher its frequency, the lower its periodicity (the amount of time and distance it manages to complete each cycle within).

By changing the subject of the formula T=1/f, we get f=1/T. So if we know the values for either frequency or period, we can calculate the other. Their relationship is inversely reflexive.

A flashing LED or drum beat that takes 2 seconds to repeat, is said to have a Period of two seconds. It takes two seconds for each new beat to sound. And as we measure frequency in beats PER SECOND, we express this as only half a beat per second, and say it has a frequency of 0.5 cycles per second, (0.5Hz). For it only manages to complete HALF a full cycle, in a second.

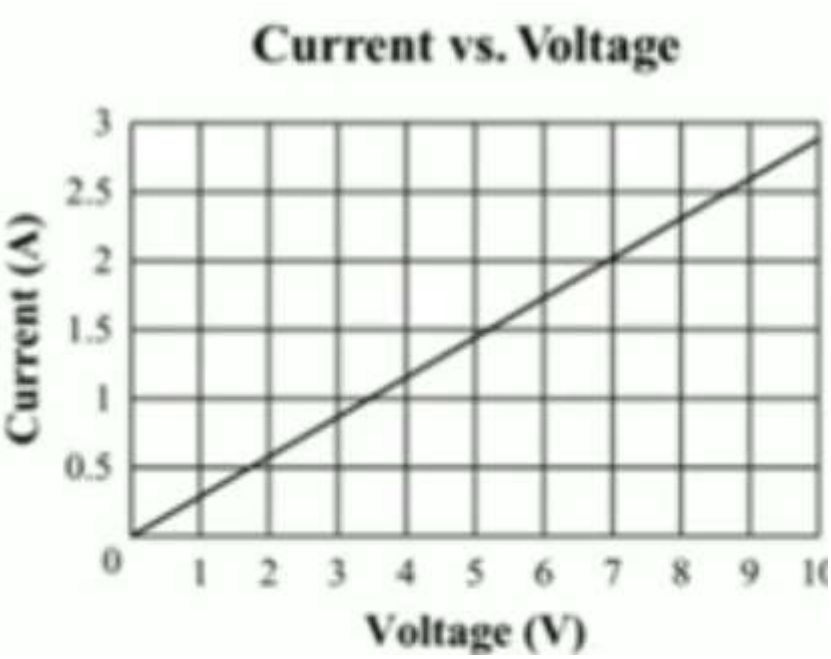
Consider an air pressure pulse that takes two seconds to repeat. As air pressure pulses travel at 'the speed of sound', at 340 meters per second, it will take the sound pressure pulse 2x340m to reproduce itself. It will move 680m during the process. And take 2 seconds. So each second it will only have completed one half of a full cycle.

Reflexively, a beat or flashing LED with a frequency of 2Hz, will have a period of 0.5 seconds, because it has to repeat twice in one second, so it must move through each cycle twice as fast, in order to repeat in half the time.

In terms of 'distance' consider that an air pressure pulse can move at a maximum speed of 340m/s. For it to complete TWO full cycles, over the same distance, in the same amount of time, it must repeat at a RATE or frequency of 2Hz. This means that within the time span of 1 second, and within the distance of 340m, it has to complete a full cycle TWICE. Which means it must do it in half the distance and time (compared to a 1Hz air pressure pulse). It must cover 170m in 0.5 seconds. So its period (wavelength) would be 170 in meters. Or 0.5 in seconds.

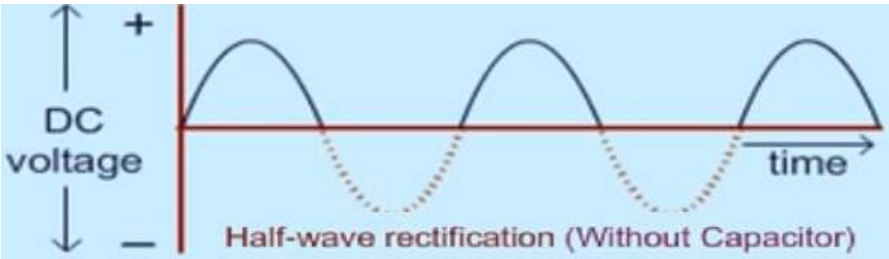
The reflexive relationship between current, voltage, and resistance

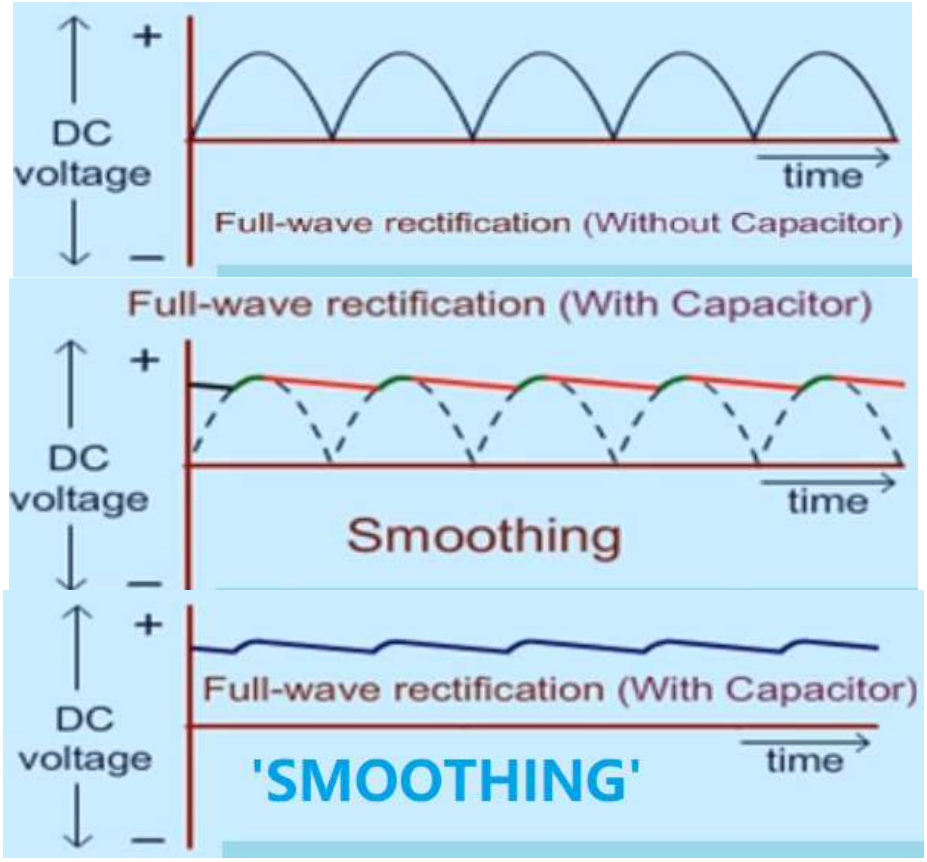


If we plot current vs voltage on a graph, we see the linear relationship. Remember that in some equations the letter I (for Intensity) is used rather than A. And that Voltage refers to Electromagnetic Force, and thus the letter E is often used rather than V, in equations. At any point along this line, V = I x R. Voltage = Amps x Resistance. So we can work out what the total resistance of the circuit this current, produced by this voltage, is flowing through. So roughly 7(V) = 2 (A) x R. So the resistance in this circuit must be 3.5 Ohms.

N.B the gradient is 1/resistance, suggesting resistance decreases with voltage and current. A 'steeper' curve (>45 degree angle) would represent lower resistance than a 'flatter' curve(<45 degree angle).

Pulsating DC voltage





Inductors

Inductors slow down changes to current flowing through a circuit. They prevent 'instantaneous' increases or decreases. So no 'saw waves' here folks!

Inductors can generate extremely high voltages for extremely brief periods of time, if connected to high value resistors, when a current is suddenly introduced / fed into the circuit, as it will react to the sudden INCREASE in voltage by producing an equal and opposite voltage to NEUTRALISE the voltage attempting to pass through it. This makes them extremely useful in designing power supplies.

BUT in the context of typical electrical circuits, we are thus WARNED to ensure there is a SAFE path for any instantaneous burst of voltage naturally induced in any inductor in the circuit, or anything that has the property of inductance, by any current suddenly added to a circuit, such as by switching on mains or DC power to it, to flow through, to avoid it passing through electrical components and damaging them, or 'shorting out' even through air, and to where they aren't welcome.

Velocity is a CHANGE in speed. Inductors are materials with particular qualities or properties which have the effect of resisting any CHANGE in current, either increase or decrease, by automatically generating an equal and opposite current / voltage of their own.

They are the 'contrarians' of the electrical world. Like people who will immediately 'oppose' anything suggested by someone else. They will immediately 'generate' a 'counter argument' AGAINST any argument anyone else proposes. Or perhaps they are the 'conservatives' who resist any change. But once the change has become the new 'orthodoxy' and 'status quo', they will defend it as virulently and actively as they once resisted it. They simply don't like change. Hand them a 'fait accompli' such as 'Britain has, since 8am this morning, (inexplicably) found itself in a state of war with Germany', and they will defend this 'policy' of 'prosecuting war against Germany' as vigorously as they would have, IF they have been given the chance (and something inexplicable hadn't happened that somehow changed Britain from NOT being in a state of war with Germany and BEING in a state of war with Germany, Dog knows what and how but now it is a FACT, it is accepted) of OPPOSING the very idea of entering into warlike relations with Germany!

Thus a current with a positive velocity will face resistance from the inductor. Whereas once it stabilizes and its velocity returns to zero, that resistance disappears. So when we supply a current to a circuit, anything that has the property of 'inductance' in that circuit, will initially 'slow down' the rate at which the current will pass into and through the circuit, until the voltage in the circuit matches that of the power supply, and the current achieves a steady, constant, value. Then if we 'shut off' the supply voltage, anything in the circuit that has 'inductance' will slow down the process of 'powering down' of the circuit, by actively resisting the decrease in current. Then when the current/voltage in the circuit has fallen back to zero, the inductor, facing a constant voltage/current again, ceases to resist the current.

The impact of inductance is greater on high frequency electromagnetic pulses than on lower frequency pulses.

resist any current that has positive or negative velocity But allow any 'constant' 'steady' current to pass without any resistance. So they will slow down the passage of an increasing current, UNTIL that currents VELOCITY is ZERO.

The first (man-made) capacitor

When white male Europeans aren't spending all their time oppressing women, and minorities, as it seems is their modus-operandi, if the mass media's 'narrative' is anything to go by, they often manage to make the world a much better place in so many ways. So maybe you might reconsider the official program of genocide even a lot of white European men seem committed to? No? Oh well, thought it was worth a try. I guess you won't miss us till we're gone. That's just human nature, right?

That big orange thingy that passes overhead then disappears every evening, to start back from where it began its journey the day before (and no you don't have to be stoned to experience this) is probably the FIRST capacitor in our solar system. But the first manmade capacitor we have in recorded earth history is now referred to as 'The Leyden Jar'.

It can be used to store static electricity for up to days. The shock you get when you discharge the static charge, by offering the charge a 'conductor' (your body) to complete the circuit between the outer foil covering and the top of the brass rod, can cause serious injury. But that didn't stop people marketing it as a 'cure' for what ails you. Sort of early shock treatment. People will try (to sell that is) anything. And it seems people will 'buy' almost anything. I mean, they 'bought' 'The Official 911 Narrative'. 'The Official Holocaust Narrative'. 'The Official Sandy Hook Narrative'. And too many other 'myths' to name here. And most recently they bought 'The Official Covid Narrative'. Which combined with that other popular myth, forms the basis of 'The Co2Vid Cult'. Yes expect your next Amazon or Google recommendation to be ' People who bought, 'The Official Covid Narrative', also bought…'. That's pretty much what the Cult of Judah strategy team says when it 'sells' its latest 'myth' and 'BLANK CHECK GENERATOR' to its Cult of Judah elite masters!

A glass jar acts as a dielectric insulator. We fill it half full with water. (If it is already full, then half empty it. You've just learned whether a glass if half full or half empty. It depends on whether you are filling it or emptying it!)

A glass bottle has its bottom half internally and externally either lined with metal foil or metal coating. The external foil or coating is grounded with a wire to earth. A 'stopper' of wood, rubber, or cork, block seals the top of the bottle like the cork on a bottle of wine. A brass rod is inserted through the center of it, down into the bottle. The stopper prevents the brass rod making contact with the glass, and holds it in place just above the level of the water. A metal chain is coupled to the end of the brass rod, long enough to reach the bottom of the bottle and make contact with the metal foil. The rod is connected to a hand cranked static electricity generator. The charges applied travel down the brass rod, down the metal chain, and into the metal foil. The glass insulates them from travelling further. We get a build-up of positive and negative charges on the inside surface of the metal foil, distributed on either side of the bottle. Once 'charged' this electricity supply is disconnected, leaving us with our 'charged' capacitor. The electromagnetic charge acts across the glass which insulates the actual electrons from each other. So electrons are 'attracted to' the outer metal layer. Where they remain concentrated, as in a typical capacitor, until the capacitor discharges. Which due to the design of the Leyden Jar, happens when someone makes themselves into a human conductor, and touches the top of the brass rod and the external metal foil / coating, offering the electrons a pathway to 'bridge the circuit. .

Just to clarify, a capacitor works by dividing a circuit into two physical parts, separated by a dielectric medium that offers electrons no way to continue along the circuit. It's like road building programs where state governments pay for the roads, and federal governments are supposed to pay for the bridges. But don't. So our circuit looks like many road systems did in Australia when I was studying at University. Lovely smooth fast highways. But roads to nowhere. Ending in the car equivalent of dielectrics.

So a capacitor doesn't allow electrons to pass between its two terminals. However this doesn't stop the electromotive forces DRIVING and PUSHING and PULLING at the electrons, from continuing. They can pass through anything. So what happens is that the voltage heading towards the capacitors 'entry' terminal, keeps pushing electrons with their negative charges, down a dead-end street, so that they pile up against the 'no through road' sign of the capacitors terminal. Meanwhile the electromotive force of that voltage (that is what voltage really is, electromagnetic FORCE that just happens to push-pull electrons as its 'charge carriers' like UPS delivery coordinators delegating routes and deliveries to drivers), continues to PUSH forwards ACROSS THE GAP where the bridge was supposed to be, or the huge pothole where the road should be, in terms of German local roads, and as the Electromotive Electromagnetic FORCE continues to PUSH as a NEGATIVE CHARGE across the great divide, it continues to REPEL electrons ON THE OTHER SIDE OF THE CAPACITOR TERMINAL / OTHER SIDE OF THE DIELECTRIC (INSULATING LAYER). So that on the OTHER terminal, all the POSITIVE charges are pushed further down the circuit, to continue as if there had been no pothole/bridge financing problems, leaving ONLY NEGATIVE charges on this terminal. And this continues as long as the source voltage is greater than the 'potential' i.e 'voltage' that is developing across the two terminals of the capacitor. But once the potential difference, the difference between positive and negative charges across the two terminals of the capacitor, matches that of the positive and negative charges across the circuit, between the supply voltage, and earth (0V), the electromotive force drops to 0, as it is always the product of the INBALANCE between charges in a system. So the voltage, which we ASSOCIATE with electrons, and come to IDENTIFY AS THE ACTUAL MOVEMENT OF ELECTRONS, as if voltage and electrons formed a unity, BUT WHICH IS REALLY THE ELECTROMOTIVE / ELECTROMAGNETIC FORCE THAT PUSHES AND PULLS ELECTRONS (David Hume explains all this and his wisdom informed my 'ideology of cause and effect' so see my TROONATNOOR vol I and II for details), falls to zero across the capacitor. It can't be 'charged' any further as there is no more 'potential' difference between its potential, and the circuits potential, and no 'driving force' for CHANGE within the capacitor. So it becomes a REAL 'OFF SWITCH' now, for the REAL DRIVING FORCE behind everything.

You see we keep TALKING ABOUT VOLTAGE without saying what we MEAN. What VOLTAGE means. So we attribute stuff to the electrons moving. But they are just the proxies of the electromotive force. They are the puppets. It is the Electromotive force, the VOLTAGE, that is 'pulling their strings'. Just as the Cult of Judah is the FORCE behind ALL local, state, national, and international politics and finance and entertainment industry and 'news' and other forms of propaganda.

But we focus on the 'controlled puppets' rather than their handlers. Like we think about electricity in terms of electrons, the mere PROXIES of the REAL force behind it all. Electromagnetic FORCE. VOLTAGE. EMF. E. The Cult of Judah is E.

Yes, so in our 'Leyden Jar', the glass acts as the dielectric. The Brass rod and chain form the first part of the circuit ending at the inner 'terminal' of the capacitor. The glass bottle and metal foil/coating form the capacitor. So the glass is the dielectric (insulating layer). Electromagnetic force EMF, E, VOLTAGE builds up POTENTIAL EITHER SIDE OF THE GLASS which it can NOT discharge. So it 'holds this charge'. For up to days. The positive charges pushed against the glass by the Source Voltages POSITIVE charge, applied to the brass rod, pile up against the glass, but can't move through it. So positive charges accumulate on the metal foil/coating on the INSIDE of the bottle. Whereas the ELECTROMOTIVE FORCE continues to push through the glass, pushing POSITIVE charges AWAY FROM the other side of the glass, and the metal foil/coating on it. So we get a buildup of NEGATIVE charges that are LEFT BEHIND when the positive charges all felt 'repelled' by the 'repulsive' POSITIVE charge of the electromagnetic force (EMF, E, VOLTAGE). So we have a temporary battery. A DC battery. With two 'cells' defined by the inner layer of metal foil and the outer layer of metal foil, separated by the glass. So they cannot 'flow' to balance each other other. But when a person is tricked into touching the outer foil, and maintaining contact while proceeding to touch the brass knob, they form a conductor, like wiring the two terminals of a DC battery together, and allow the potential current to flow, THROUGH THEM.

Now imagine you set up some sort of 'paranormal' experiment with participants / dupes sitting around in a circle. And we got two 'assistants' either side of the Leyden Jar forming the 'start' and 'end' of that circle. We build up the anticipation and excitement in the typical ways of the showman and 'director', then at the vital moment, our two assistants, hands unseen, or everyone distracted by some 'dramatic device' so they are all looking ELSEWHERE a.k.a 'misdirection', let go of each other's hands, and instead one grabs the brass ring, as the other presses their hand against the outer metal foil.

'Did you FEEL that'? Of course you did. What a shock. THAT was the spirits attempting to communicate with us. Is it a good or bad omen? Well that depends which SUITS whoever PAID to set this 'experiment' up!

Piezo-electric

Watch
1 The reverse-piezoelectric effect is used in quartz watches in order to oscillate a crystal thousands of times per second and accurately keep time.

Microphone
2 By sticking a vibrating microphone to a piezoelectric crystal, sound energy is converted into electric signals that can be understood by a computer.

Record player
3 The diamond-tipped needle of a record player bumps up and down, hitting a small piezoelectric crystal and producing signals that are converted into sound.

Ultrasound
4 A piezoelectric device converts electricity into mechanical vibrations very quickly, producing ultrasound vibrations that can be used for things such as scans.

Gas lighter
5 A basic form of piezoelectricity allows a gas lighter to be lit by hitting a small hammer against a piezoelectric crystal to produce a spark across a gap.

Piezoelectric materials, most commonly crystalline materials like quartz, generate electrical charges when subjected to mechanical stress a.k.a 'put under pressure'. If this 'mechanical pressure' repeats at a constant rate, the electrical impulses the material generates will correspond in frequency to the rate of 'mechanical stress'. Such as being 'hit' by the diamond tip of a record player stylus.

Piezoelectric materials will also oscillate/vibrate at the same frequency as any electrical charge applied to them. So they are 'sound' choices when designing 'transducers' of mechanical energy and vibration into electrical energy, and back again. Hence their use as 'pickups' for acoustic guitars, and even electric guitars.

How does this work? In piezoelectric crystals, the atoms are not uniformly arranged, contrary to the expectations we usually have for crystals of a uniform, symmetrical, Germanic, grid-like, structure and organisation. However their atoms are balanced.

This is KEY to why piezoelectric crystals like quartz behave as they do. Their arrangement is NOT neat and tidy and grid-like. So when you 'squeeze' a quartz crystal, you push SOME atoms closer together while the same action pushes other atoms further apart. This reminds me of how superconductors 'draw' electrons together and into 'swarms'.

As atoms are moved, some closer together, others further apart, we get a similar sort of CHANGE and MOVEMENT as we get when electrons move through the magnetic fields of atoms, and when guitar strings move through the magnetic fields of pickup pole pieces coiled in copper wire, and when coils of copper wire change their orientation to magnetic fields produced by either rotating magnets, or themselves moving around the magnets, so that reflexively, the magnetic fields are changing / moving, or when electromagnetism produces expanding-contracting magnetic fields.

So a current is generated by the mechanical stress, the 'pressure', the 'squeezing' and 'releasing of pressure'. And the crystal develops two distinct poles. A positive and a negative pole. Like magnets. Like coils. Like the earth itself. And the current passes through the crystal from one pole to the other. As if an Electromagnetic Force (potential / voltage) had been applied across it.

If you do apply a voltage across the crystal, it will react in the typical 'Newton's third law' manner with equal and opposite reactions, so that each time the electrical pulse pushes, it pushes back, in synch with the electrical pulse. So that the crystal begins to oscillate / vibrate / resonate at the same frequency of the electrical signal. Exhibiting that ubiquitous behavior we call 'sympathetic resonance'. The crystal's atoms are simply trying to 'get back to where they were before the applied voltage 'disturbed them'.

Philosophers seeking to enlighten people and raise their awareness, levels of lucidity, open mindedness, and ethical tone, first need to raise their own ethical tone. So they are 'vibrating' at the 'higher' frequencies (ethics and lucidity wise). Then they seek to generate 'empathetic' / 'sympathetic' resonance in their interlocutors.

The problem is that higher ethics and 'truth' do NOT resonate with most people. They don't want real justice and 'the truth' is so unfamiliar to them, and contradicts 'what everyone 'knows', what they've been brainwashed to believe from birth, that there is zero resonance. Just resistance. Which often produces 'heated' exchanges in which the philosopher ends up crucified, burning alive in a cult ritual murder to the applause of the cult thralls and 'concession holders', being forced to drink poison, having their heads cut off, again to the applause of cult thralls and concession holders, or being sent to rot in prison, or psychiatric 'quarantine' centers.

It seems a few of us, placed under the 'pressure' of reality, and the 'shocks' of being confronted with TRUTHS that are contradictory to what we've been taught and thus feel we can be confident we 'know' to be true, behave piezoelectrically. We resonate with the truth. We don't resist it. We abandon our 'knowledge' as 'hearsay', and trust in the impressions of our senses, and critical reason. And we begin resonating at the higher frequencies in terms of 'ethical tone', and critical reason. Then when placed under even further pressure from 'society' and 'the authorities' to return to their/our old errors, and to submit and conform, we resist doing so. Even when they apply the maximum pressure of torture and ex-communication and other 'fates worse than death'. Even when they threaten us with ETERNAL fates worse than death. I guess some materials are piezoelectric, and some aren't? Or is that pessimistic? Do we all share the same potential? Well, it appears some souls are piezoelectric, and some are not. Or at least the 'vehicles' (soul-traps) they are stuck in. Until they open their minds. And become open to resonating with the truth, and higher ethical tone. First you have to REALLY want it. And it seems most inhabitants of this plane-et tend towards sadomasochism, hence the attraction sadistic, jealous, gods like Zeus and YHWH seem to have for most people. Especially the psychopaths best adapted to human society, and bound to rise to the top of any pyramidal structure that requires ruthlessness, lack of empathy and compassion for other sentient beings, and a MONSTROUS sense of entitlement to EXCEPTIONAL benefits and privileges and powers.

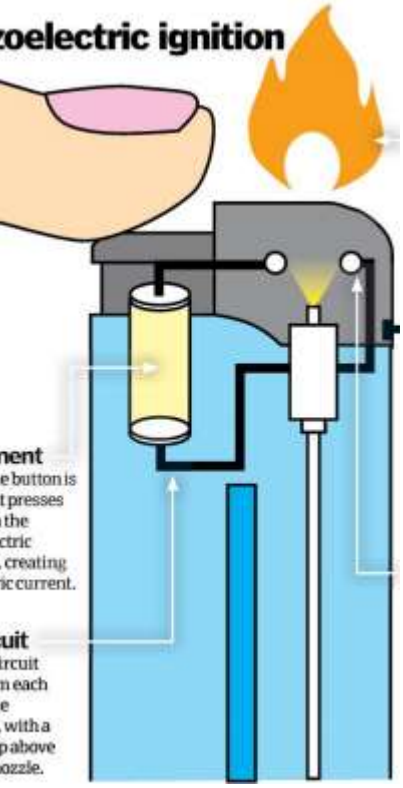
A piezoelectric crystal will resonate with a sound source, such as an oscillating microphone membrane, or vibrating guitar string, and convert its 'acoustic energy' a.k.a 'sound energy' into electrical energy, electrical pulses, that can encode any signal, and be decoded by a computer to be RENDERED back into 'sound'.

Record players have diamond tipped styluses pointing downwards, which are vibrated by the bumps in the grooves in the vinyl of the record. These correspond in frequency and amplitude to the audio signals they encode. At the base of the diamond tip a piezoelectric crystal thought it had found 'the quiet life'. Until the stylus is lowered onto the rotating vinyl album disc, falls into a 'groove', and suddenly finds itself taking quite the bumpy ride. As it bumps up and down, the diamond bumps up against the piezoelectric crystal with the same frequency and amplitude as the bumps in/on the vinyl. So we've converted the frequency and amplitude of the 'audio signal' first into 'peaks and troughs' a.k.a 'bumps' in the vinyl, laid out in 'grooves' around the disc so the needle will 'track' and not just 'jump out of the groove', and as the disc rotated, the diamond tip was forced to 'track' these, and 'feel every bump', and transmit them, mechanically, to the piezoelectric crystal, which naturally converted all the 'pressure variations' into electrical pulses, of a corresponding frequency and amplitude. Remember frequency is just how many bumps of the same height there are, per second of disc rotation, and their 'amplitude' is simply how 'tall' and 'deep' they are. Thus how often the diamond tip will 'bump up into' the piezoelectric crystal, and how hard the 'bumps' will be. Ultimately it is our brain/mind that seeks out the 'patterns' in 'repeating pulses of the same frequency' and constructs 'sound waves' from them, RENDERING different 'pitches' from them, and interprets the 'amplitude' and RENDERS it as 'relative loudness' of each 'pitch'.



Quartz watches (and 'Clocks' in computers) use a reverse-piezoelectric effect to oscillate a crystal at high frequencies with perfect precision to keep time, and to make most of what happens in our computers possible.

The same effect is employed in other piezoelectric devices convert electrical signals into mechanical vibrations, resonating at the same frequency as the applied voltage, and with the same amplitude as the applied current. Most people are familiar with 'ultrasounds' used to produce images of babies in their mother's womb. That is just one application.

But wait, there's more. Push down on a piezoelectric element, squeezing its top and bottom together slightly, and the pressure will produce an electrical pulse. If you add a short circuit from each end of this piezoelectric element, with a small gap for a 'spark' to jump, you have a spark plug, or a piezoelectric gas lighter. The spark will ignite gas, or petrol, or diesel. If you've worked with ye olde-school petrol engines using spark plugs to 'trigger combustion', you'll have spent time 'adjusting' this 'gap'. Piezoelectric cancerstick lighters operate on the same principle, to light the 'gas' fuel they burn, to 'light' the stick that will 'put out your lights, and the lights of anyone else you force to participate in your perverse ritual'!

I am of course now looking for correspondences between the behavior of atoms in piezoelectric materials, and the behavior of air molecules in outward radiating spherical air pressure pulses and the same in water molecules in the ocean. Because for me it seems ALL about 'pressure'. Higher and lower pressure. And we may like to think of it as 'electrical charge' in some contexts, but as we've seen in this context, in relation to piezoelectric materials, we are still dealing with PRESSURE. And people still want talk about Electromagnetic / Electromotive FORCE (Voltage) in terms of pressure. So I do find evidence (without any conscious selection bias and a conscious effort to continually scan for it, and flag it, and overcome it), for the idea of reality as being formed of pressure pulses. And my 'speaker cone' analogy / metaphor seems more and more compelling.

And so I expect someone 'in bed with' The Cult of Judah, or one of its proxies, will one day earn the Nobel prize for 'discovering' what I've been writing about for years. They will get the 'credit' for it. But of course this will only happen is 'The Official Narrative' 'can handle it'. As in 'You can't handle the truth'. Without exploding and taking entire 'CULT dogmas and 'articles of faith' down with it. And threatening to topple the entire 'status quo' and ultimately The Cult of Judah itself.

But what do I mean? Well a 'universal law' that applies to EVERYTHING. The COMMON factor in every phenomena.

Consider how we think of a 'crystal' as a 'solid object'. But the theory suggests we can 'deform' it and that it has 'elastic memory'. Even something we'd consider the very definition of 'rigid' and 'solid', like a quartz crystal, is actually flexible on some level. It 'bends' at the atomic level.

Our senses 'divide' the electromagnetic spectrum into narrow bandwidths which it RENDERS as light, sound, color, pitch, taste, texture, pressure, smell, and so on. But it is a continuum. The same 'law' that applies to one end of the continuum could be expected to apply at the other.

But what is it a continuum OF, when it comes down to it? Tesla, and Pythagoras before him were confident that it could all be reduce to quantity and frequency. That 'quantity changes quality'. It is clearly so when it comes to 'quantity of regular repeats per second', which we call 'frequency' and count. But we 'measure' pitch on a continuum. Though it is the same thing. The RENDERING of a quantity. A number.

The brain is always 'on the lookout' for potential patterns. It constructs them on the flimsiest of pretexts. On the most superficial of observations. With the most limited data. Over the most limited time spans. Even to the point of 'one step prejudices' being formed on the basis of a single, powerful, experience. This is how PHOBIAs are often formed. 'First impressions' are thus all powerful in human psychology. And it is very hard to change someone's first impression. For better or worse. Thus people invest so heavily in attempting to make a 'good first impression'. And why Jay Gatsby is such a 'people person'. In fact the epitome of 'How to win friends and influence people', when he 'gives you the impression that YOU made the best possible impression on HIM that you could possibly ever have hoped to'. He made YOU feel GOOD. He gave YOU the impression that YOU had made a good impression on HIM. Because we are so conscious of this at every level. That is why we are often so nervous about meeting new people for the first time. And given public speeches where most of the audience are bound to be getting their very first impression of us.

Imprinting is so powerful that a newly hatched chicken will adopt the first thing that it meets as its mother. Even it is a snake. Nature has programmed it to 'trust its mother'. And usually she will be the first thing it sees. And implicitly trusts. Consider how in our world it is a DOCTOR that is the first person WE see. And how much TRUST and FAITH we have in doctors in general. So much so that, when they turn out to be SNAKES (the snake is LITERALLY the symbol of the medical profession and World Health Organisation), we continue to trust them. Just like the chick. And so when they DECLARE a medical emergency in the form of a 'virus pandemic' MOST people implicitly trust them. And so it is so easy for them to deceive us. And ultimately construct a MEDICAL TYRANNY. A MEDICAL DICTATORSHIP. And while most people associate the 'snake on the post' symbol with a particular ancient Greek doctor, Asclepius, and his 'Above all do no harm' motto, most of the world should recognise it, if they've read their 'Old Testaments', as the NACASH that the voice in Moses head (same one that told him to 'dash their little ones heads against the stones, by the rivers of Babylon' and 'rip up pregnant women' and 'kill every man, woman, child, and unborn, and their animals', and 'take the virgins as your property to share among you') told him to erect in the desert. A post with a snake climbing it. The symbol for MONEY worldwide. The U.S 'dollar' sign. The 'dollar' sign for Australia and N.Z and Canada. Which must 'trigger' the recollection of another passage from that same 'Old Testament' that commands 'The Jews' to 'Lend unto the nations, and never borrow from them. And in this way you shall gain domination OVER them'. The same 'Jews' who went on to control international finance, set up central banks in every nation then assume control over them, and then set up 'The World Bank' and 'International Money Fund' and 'Bank of International Settlements'. The same 'Jews' who openly seized control of 'The Federal Reserve Bank' and have run it, into the ground, for the last few decades at least. And exercised control of it from the very beginning, ensuring the Bill to establish it was secretly passed on New Year's Eve, in 1913 after similar Bills, with names that clearly identified what it was for, were rejected, under a name no-one would have associated with the SAME old Bills, and thus didn't pay any attention to.

So, my specific point is that to me it seems clear that once we remove the 'human' 'divisions' of the electromagnetic spectrum, based on our limited senses and how our minds process the various narrow bandwidths we are 'tuned into' and have sensory apparatus to resonate with and 'attend to', we stop calling the same thing by different names, based on how our own senses interact with them, and RENDER them.

And instead see that we are dealing with a fluid continuum. Where the same principles apply at all times. Except that our senses RENDER them as 'discretely' different things.

That OUR idea of 'solid' is a HUMAN concept. That the quartz crystal and the water droplet and the air molecules all obey the same laws. Are all expressions of the same forces and interactions.

That the difference between things, the QUALITIES we attribute to things, and associate with them, all reduce down to difference in quantity and frequency.

And what we are dealing with are essentially energy pulses. Their quantity being what we refer to as Amperes in electricity. And their frequency, the rate at which they periodically repeat, is just that. In every context.

To be clearer. I am looking at the correspondences between what for us are different 'mediums'. Such as air pressure pulses travelling through the atmosphere. Compared to electrons travelling through conductors. What is really happening in both cases is that Electromagnetic / Electromotive FORCES are pushing and pulling at the units of the medium. Electrons and ions (charged atoms) and air molecules, as we go up in 'level of composition' and 'level of abstraction' and 'scale'. Air molecules don't touch. But they are the 'charge carriers'. They carry the 'pressure' and FORCE of some energy pulse that occurred in the atmosphere. Like electrons and holes and ions are 'charge carriers' in electrical circuits.

We talk of air pressure and electrical pressure (volts) but they are both produced by electro-magnetic pressure pulses. This EMF (electromagnetic force) is NOT constrained by the conductor. And new technologies for transmitting electricity will help open your mind to what I am just now groping in the dark to understand.

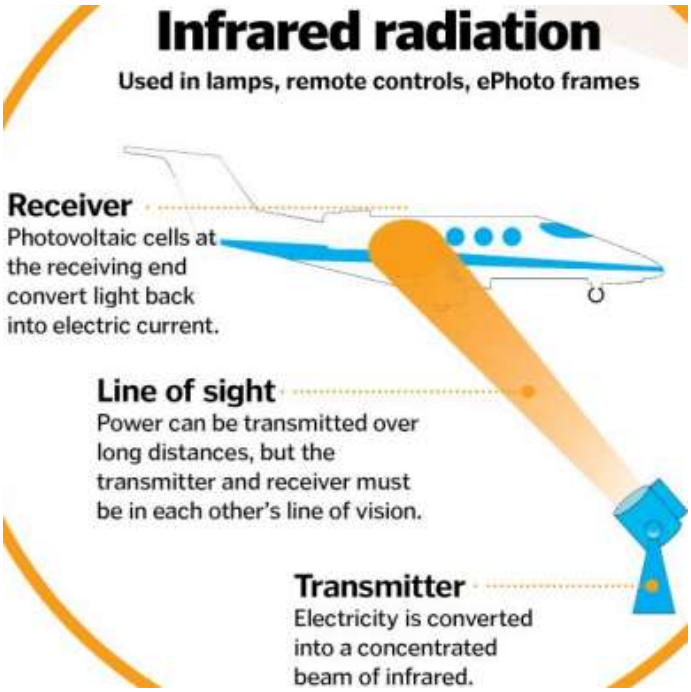
I am talking about transmission of electricity across capacitor terminals, as the very 'shortest' 'excursion' that Electromagnetic Force EMF a.k.a 'VOLTAGE' makes without a 'conductor'. Across 'empty space'. Even through an insulator.

Then we have the transmission of the same EMF voltage through the atmosphere using lasers. From the ground to airplanes even, to power them. And the more 'domestic' and 'relatively short distances' between a wireless electricity transmitter and telephones and speakers and televisions and computers. So let's take a look at these new technologies.

Wireless transmission of electricity

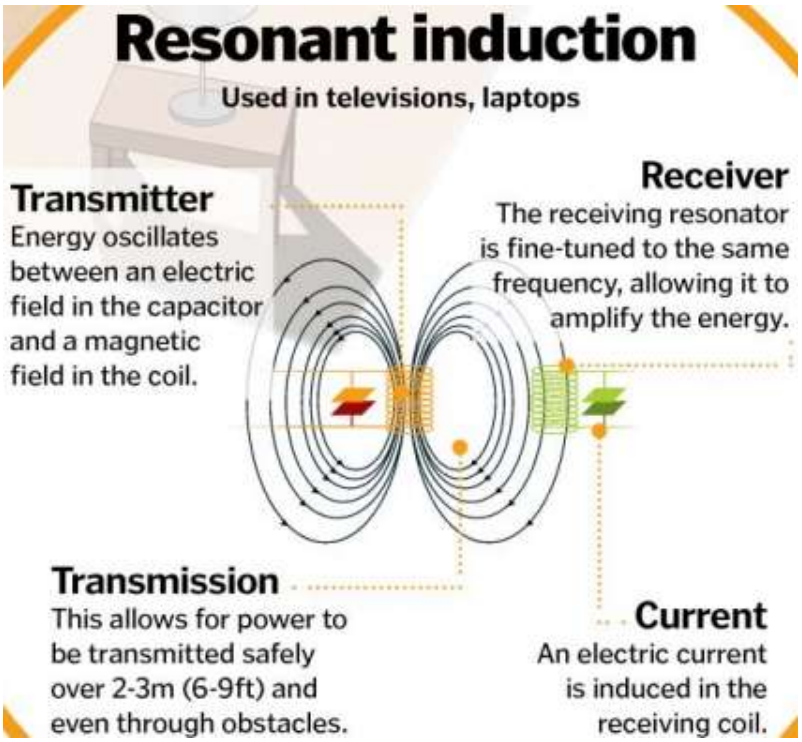
Tesla already demonstrated in 1893 that electricity could be transmitted through the air, without wires.

Hence 'wire-less' transmission. But even today the most common applications are little more than standard transformers where the receiver and transmitter must remain within millimeters of each other.



Concentrating 'light waves' (cringe) into a 'laser beam' of infra red light (why do they call it light ?) is really using 'solar' power rather than 'wireless electricity', right? Or?

Remember the ONLY difference between the various phenomena we call 'light' and 'sound' and 'electricity' is the RATE at which the energy pulses REPEAT a.k.a their 'FREQUENCY'. Literally. We have to avoid the trap of treating different bandwidths as arbitrarily discrete, when they form part of a continuum. And is it only our human senses that separate them out into discrete bandwidths, and our MINDS, which RENDER them as 'light', 'sound', 'texture', 'weight', 'mass', and even 'solid object' or 'gas' or, when it comes down to it 'matter' per se. What we are dealing with is matter-energy-consciousness (MEC) that got all 'MEST' up (borrowing the concept of Matter Energy Space Time from Elron the magic scientology elf King! Praise be to his OT goodness!



But then 'resonant induction' appeared on the scene, as a new character in 'The Official Narrative'. And if you found my way of looking at things a bit odd before, soon you will find it as intuitive as you once found it disorientating and discomforting. This takes the transformer idea and lets you move the 'coils' meters apart. A copper coil in the ceiling or floor or a wall would transmit energy through the air, and even through obstacles, up to 3 meters, to the receiver coils in devices like laptops, tell-lie-visions, and those Cult spy devices the trick you into paying for yourself, along with the supercomputer network needed to make their 24/7 surveillance 'Big Brother' system work. For them that is. For their benefit. Not yours! Of course they claim it is 'safe' for you and your animals. Based on, ah, well, which double blind controlled studies do they refer to? Well hey, its big brother, and big corporations, so you KNOW you can TRUST them, implicitly. When did they ever lie to you? Check Wikipedia. They will 'confirm' this. And even provide other 'references' to other similar 'opinion pieces' and 'editorials' and maybe even some Scientific journal (paid advertisement therein). And 'fact checkers' will quickly delete the account and social media credits of anyone who pretends to 'know' otherwise! So as far as YOU will ever 'know', this FACT is accepted by EVERYONE. Except of course those mentally ill 'tinfoil hat conspiracy theorists' with their delusions that 'not long ago, science required empirical evidence and double blind controlled studies, or at least compelling, peer reviewed, freely and publically debatable, arguments, and not just the DECLARATION of some AUTHORITY, before anyone was allowed to claim to 'know' ANYTHING! Seriously. Now how could such a system ever have WORKED? With all that 'debate' and 'investigation' and 'research'? I mean, how did governments ever get ANYTHING done AT ALL? How did they EVER get 'the people' to agree to their DICTATES? As if 'the people' had any say in anything! See how absurd the mere PROPOSITION is?

So, Resonant induction. I have to admit I don't see how it could work, according to 'The Official Narrative'. And yet it does, apparently, work. Now my own TROONATNOOR narrative accommodates the official narrative concerning 'Resonant Induction' naturally. Without any need to spin or frame or avoid answering key questions. And I suspect that the more technology advances, the more 'The Electric Universe' narrative, and my own TROONATNOOR narratives, will be vindicated as superior narratives.

But if it doesn't suit the selfish objectives of The Cult of Judah, then we'll just see more 'weaseling' on the part of the NARRATORS of 'The Official Narrative' to 'force square pegs into round holes', or at least make it LOOK and SEEM 'as if' they have managed this. I wonder what new characters they'll need to 'write into the official script' to accomplish this trick? And what 'intuitive' names they will give them. Like 'Gluons' that 'glue' protons together. Or will they give them obfuscative names in honor of some Cult of Judah puppet they wish to glorify as one of their new 'Saints' and 'heroes'?

Electric motors

Think of all the 'categories' of energy 'The Official Narrative' contains. These include kinetic, mechanical (including torque), and electromagnetism (Electromagnetic Force EMF or E or 'potential' a.k.a 'voltage'), and even 'acoustic' ('sound') energy.

Electromagnetism (Electromagnetic Force EMF E Potential a.k.a 'Voltage') is what pushes and pulls, repelling and attracting, electrons, and charged atoms (ions) even across empty space. And isn't EVERYTHING made up of atoms? Apart from that 'vacuum of space' the narrative manages to 'weasel in'. And even this is no barrier to EMF, as it even operates across such supposed vacuums, making operating across air a 'doddle'. Like crucifixion compared to decades of migraines, cluster headaches, toothaches, nausea, and other (even literal) 'pains in the arse'. Compared to that, what's a few hours tied to a cross, in the fresh air, with a nice sponge soaked in opiates to ease the pain, and make the transition to 'the next world' as comfortable, and dignified, and swift, as the Romans could manage!

We talk about 'converting one form of energy into another'. And even of 'converting matter into energy'. Consider these two sentences in context of each other. And then entertain the idea that there is really just ONE energy-matter-consciousness, that takes many forms, and takes on many qualities, simply as a function of QUANTITY. That 'quantity changes quality'. The the ONLY difference between all the things that SEEM different is number and frequency. As Tesla and geniuses long before him expressed it. To use the language of Platonists and grammarians, we might say there is only one SUBJECT, but depending on the QUANTITY of that subject, different PREDICATES apply to it. A countable noun. And depending on the number, it can display, reflexively, in relation to our HUMAN perceptions, and how our minds RENDER the different quantities, resonating at different FREQUENCIES (RATES of oscillation), a whole range of different qualities, so that a wide range of DIFFERENT adjectives applies to each QUANTITY. And as we are dealing with RATES / FREQUENCIES we also see differences in the adverbs that become applicable, at different QUANTITIES.

But now let's focus on the main use we put electricity to, after lighting and heating. Namely using it to power MOTORS, to turn WHEELS. And remember, nature invented the wheel. Man invented the axel. But he probably got the idea watching a woman rolling some pastry in the kitchen, right? A black slave, most likely!

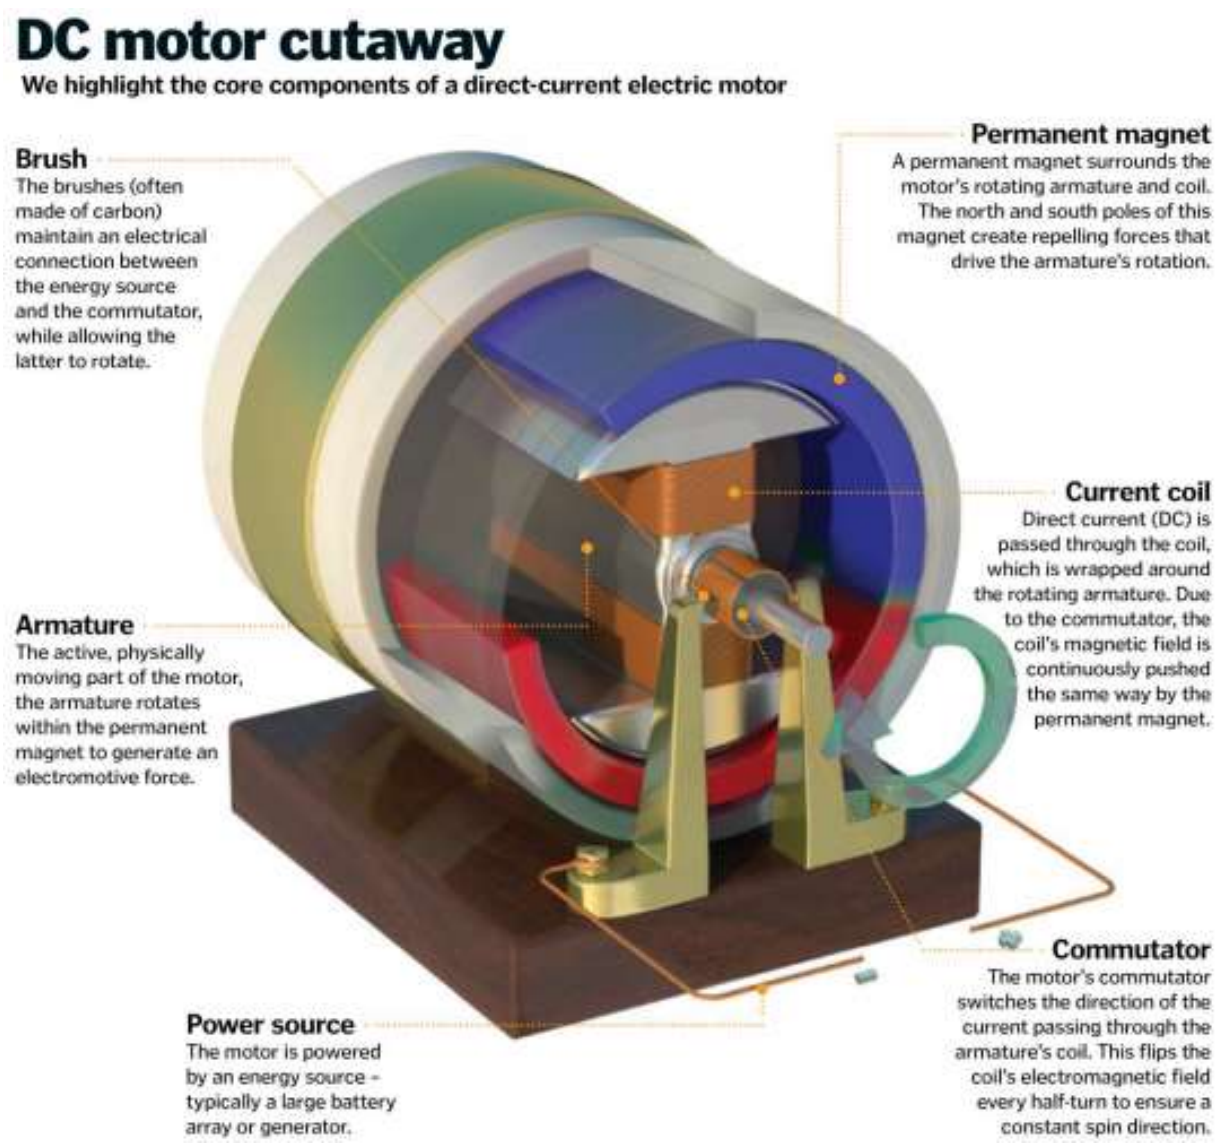
A typical electric motor is made up of 6 main parts. From the outside in, these are as follows. The entire operation is 'housed' within a protective, hollow, tube. The next 'tube within this tube' is a stationary tubular (hollow tube shaped) permanent magnet. Within this permanent magnet is an electromagnet. An armature with coils of thin copper wire coiled around it. The north and south poles of the stationary permanent* magnet interact with the electromagnetic north and south poles of the electromagnet resulting when Direct Current is applied to the armature and thus the coils, through brushes, from an external power source. A commutator, 'flips' the armature coils' electromagnetic field every half turn to ensure the armature rotates continually ONLY in ONE direction.

The electromotive (Electromagnetic) forces generated between the permanent magnet and the electromagnet within it, is converted into mechanical torque (turning force) by the fact that armature cannot 'go anywhere'. It can only rotate about the axel driven through the center of its lengthwise axis. So the only 'equal and opposite reaction' that it can complete is to rotate about this axel. So that the electromotive forces of the magnets are converted into mechanical, rotational, turning force a.k.a 'torque'. The axel can be coupled to a drive-shaft that can then drive / turn anything it is connected to, such as the wheel of an electric car.

The brushes are like the 'tail' of an electric tram or dodgem car. They allow power to be supplied to a fast spinning electrical component.

Maybe our own minds are similarly 'hooked into' an external consciousness supply, which is the source of the 'ghost in the machine', rather than some 'incorporeal spirit' (and if you believe in Covid-19 being able to kill you, without actually possessing a microbe, an actual physical body, to act through, then you'd be a hypocrite to criticise anyone for using such equally meaningless combinations of words.)



Faraday cages

In some countries it is already illegal to block electromagnetic radiation from entering even a private home or business. You'll have to ask yourself why. Surely if people choose not to avail themselves of microwave radiation, and instead choose to 'block' people from being able to access their computer, their smart devices, the cameras and microphones on all their gadgets, including those not specified in the users' manuals, then no harm done. Right? I mean, what's it to 'The Government' if no-one can spy on you via the 'permissions' you gave all the apps on your phone, and the ones Bill Gates and Microsoft decided you FORCE you to SUBMIT to (forced updates with no way to choose if and when you will allow Microsoft access to your hard disc, to do as THEY please).

When lightning strikes your car, or the plane you are travelling in, so long as you don't touch any conductor coupled with the frame and metal bodywork of the car, you will be fine. The frame of the car or plane will act as a Faraday cage.

Faraday cages can be constructed out of continuous sheet metal, or from grids of relatively closely 'woven' wire mesh. Any electromagnetic pulse, such as lightning, or microwave radiation such as that used for mobile phones, will act like electromagnetic forces across the insulating layer of a capacitor, pushing negative charges up against the 'face' of the 'electromagnetic front', and away from the far side of the front. So that you get an accumulation of negative charges along the 'Electromagnetic front' and an accumulation of positive charges on the other side of the cage. But the electrons within the cage are left unaffected. Why? So far I've not found that part of 'The Official Narrative' that can explain this. And I'm all ears for any 'alternative' narrative that CAN and WILL explain this to my satisfaction!

The ATOM

The Atomic number of an atom is the number of protons in its nucleus, which can be different from the number of neutrons e.g Copper has 29 protons and 35 neutrons, while Helium has 2 protons and 2 neutrons. Scientific measurement suggests that electrons are around 1000 times smaller than protons, and weigh around 1838 times less than protons and neutrons.

Neutrons have no charge, while protons have a positive charge, so the nucleus of any atom is positively charged. Electrons have a negative charge, so they the nucleus and electrons are mutually attracted to each other. This is what holds most of an atoms electrons in the atoms 'thrall'. Like earth stays in orbit of sun.

However consider that, despite the 'official' overwhelming superiority of the proton in terms of mass, which should, using 'The Official Narrative' of 'Gravity', allow it to keep a firm 'attraction' for a lot more electrons than protons, an atom can only really count on retaining as many electrons as it has protons. As if it was the a question of QUANTITY rather than 'quality'. As if 'gravity' had nothing to do with the matter? Or is it just me?

Let's revisit that. Two theories attempt to explain how positively charged protons, which should be expected to repel each other, remain 'glued' together. The first theory asserted that the force of gravity holds the nucleus together. Neutrons, like protons, are relatively massive particles. It was first theorized that the gravitational attraction between the neutrons and protons as a result of their mass overcame the repelling force of the positive charges. By the mid-1930s, however, it was known that the force of gravity could not hold the nucleus together. According to Coulomb's law, the electromagnetic force in helium is about 1.1 times ten to the power of 36 times greater than the gravitational force as determined by Newton's law. In 1947, the Japanese physicist Hideki Yukawa introduced us to his 'gluon'. The subatomic particle (quark) that 'binds' the nucleus together. The force of the gluon is about 100 times stronger than the electromagnetic force.

Various 'narratives' emerged to explain why protons didn't repel each other in the nucleus, including 'the gravity of the neutrons' which was first claimed to be stronger than the 'mutually repellent electromagnetic forces between the protons', but the latest character to be written into 'The Official Narrative' is 'Gluon'. You guessed it, this 'quark' is the 'glue' that holds the protons, and thus nucleus, together. 'The force' is certainly strong with this one. Strong enough, like the earlier 'gravity', to more than balance out the electromagnetic repulsion protons naturally feel for each other.

It's like Cult members can't really stand each other. So other 'psychological forces' must be added to the mix, to overcome the mutual internal repulsion, to 'bind' them together a.k.a 'religionare' meaning 'to bind'.

My mind boggles to consider they want to give credit for the idea that everything is made up of 'atoms' to John Dalton in 1808. Don't people READ ancient Greek philosophy AT ALL?

Nils Bohr, (now come on, Douglas Adams couldn't have made up a better name to suggest 'blandness') gifted us the idea of electrons orbiting a Nucleus, in 1913. Making him the second most famous Dane since Hamlet! At various distances from the nucleus, several electrons share an orbit around it. When electrons receive energy from some external source, they can move out to further orbits, but tend to return to lower orbits, and when they do this, they give off one photon of electromagnetic energy.

This brings us to Bump Theory. Electrical current is a flow (DC) or backwards-forwards oscillation (AC) of electrons. Different theories claim to explain such 'flow' or 'oscillation'. Bump theory conceptualizes current flow/oscillation as produced when a passing electron collides with an electron circling its atom's nucleus, imparting its kinetic energy to that electron. This is the 'external source' of energy that 'bumps' the electron out of its orbit. Having 'imparted' its kinetic energy to its collision partner, the 'external' electron becomes the replacement for the electron 'bumped' out of the orbit. Or the 'bumped' electron may just fall back down into its previous orbit, giving off the kinetic energy imparted to it by the collision as 'heat'. But if it was a 'valence' electron in the outer shell, this electron now becomes a 'free agent'. But as atoms are so closely packed together, it almost immediately collides with another electron, to repeat the process.

The theory appears to assume that electrons circle the nucleus of their atom so fast that they are virtually 'everywhere at the same time', so that a passing 'free electron' will collide with all the valence electrons simultaneously, imparting an equal proportion of its kinetic energy to each of them. So if there are two valence electrons, each will gain half the kinetic energy. Hmmm.

To clarify. The furthest orbit out contains the 'valence' electrons. Each shell has a limit to how many electrons it can hold, based on the formula 2Nsquared, where N is the number of the orbit. So the first orbit can contain 2x1squared = 2 electrons. The second 'orbit' can contain 2x2squared=8 electrons. The third contains the maximum number of 2x3squared=18 electrons. And the fourth 'orbit' contains the highest number any 'orbit' can contain, namely 2x4squared=32 electrons. But no matter how many 'orbits' an atom has, the final, outer orbit cannot contain more than 8 electrons. This is the 'valence' orbit and electrons occupying it are called 'valence' electrons.

But 'Bump theory' is just one competing 'narrative' on offer. Other theories assume that all electric power sources produce a NEGATIVE terminal with a relative excess of (negatively charged) electrons (thus a net NEGATIVE charge), and a negative terminal, with a relative deficiency of electrons (thus a net POSITIVE charge).

Benjamin Franklin's 'positive' and 'negative' language was adopted long before we understood much about electricity, and electrical charges

But if we consider the contexts in which the concept of 'pressure' appears, we note that while positive pressure refers to an excess of POSITIVE pressure, and negative pressure refers to a deficiency of pressure, it is in fact the 'negative air pressure' (the deficiency) that 'pulls' and 'sucks' and 'attracts' atmosphere to produce 'wind' and to both pull a plane forwards, and 'lift' its wings. And like the negatively charged electron, it is responsible for positive values of lift and acceleration. And which 'pulls' and 'sucks' colder water in, to form oceanic currents.

And it is the accumulation of an excess of NEGATIVE charges that results in a Potential ElectroMagnetic

Force. But it is the movement of negatively charged electrons TOWARDS positively charged atoms (to be more precise towards the protons in the atom's nucleus), that provides a CURRENT. A flow of electrons, from negative to positive. It is the mutual attraction the electrons have for the atoms that produces the movement. Along with the mutual repulsion that all 'like charged' negative electrons, have for each other. It is the fact that the excess electrons are all 'repelling' each other, and I assume the relatively large mass of the atoms, that determines which of the two 'mutually attracted parties' is enticed to 'travel' for the free electrons and the unpartnered protons in the positively ionized, 'Positive Ion' (formerly known as 'Atom') to 'meet up' and enjoy their 'union'.

What interests me most, though, is the 'hole' in the narrative. Apparently it is tacit / implicit / assumed, without requiring explanation, that some process leads to atoms on one terminal being deprived of their normal complement of electrons, and these accumulating on the other terminal. Sure we have ways of CONTRIVING such a situation, such as in DC batteries. And yes, clouds 'rubbing up against each other', and water vapor and ice crystals 'rubbing up against each other', are good examples of how STATIC charges build up and are discharged. But MOVING charges? Surely we should expect some detailed clarification of what we are talking about here?

[For me the 2-D representation of 'orbits' is as bad as the 2-D waveform used to describe 'spherical sound pressure pulses' a.k.a 'sound waves'. For electrons whiz around at such high speeds, constantly changing their angles, that most observers with a sample rate anything like a humans, would 'see' a 'solid sphere' or 'shell' rather than a single entity moving in varying orbits around the nucleus. The 'blurred' trajectories would completely 'color-in' a sphere around the nucleus. Consider how if you leave a camera shutter open all night, the stars 'draw' complete 'orbits' around the sky. It's the same effect, just that the 'sky' revolves so much faster than our visual cortex can process anything like a single frame of the 24 samples it takes per second, that by the time we've 'taken a single sample, the electrons have been through every point, and 'described' a sphere, around the nucleus. So that the 'image' processed by the visual cortex would be 'translucent sphere' or 'shell'. Assuming we could 'zoom in' or shrink ourselves down to the same scale as the electron, to be able to actually 'see' it at all.

Maybe the closest visual effect we could reproduce would be the thing people stand inside, then spin in all different directions around its axis, so as all the 'rings' move really fast, they blur, and it looks like the person is 'hanging' inside a translucent sphere. Time travel machines in science fiction fantasy films tend to use such machines.]

Atoms with the full complement of 8 valence electrons are stable a.k.a 'inert' or 'noble'. Krypton is one example. Stable molecules or compounds result when atoms without the full complement of 8 valence electrons bind to each other, so that they share what they have. An electron shared is an electron gained by the other atom in this coupling. So it is a mutually beneficial transaction which provides 'stability' and 'nobility' for both partners.

Atoms going around with less than 8 valence electrons risk losing one or more valence electrons to 'external forces', with the separated electrons that escaped the nucleus' attraction now 'roaming free'. This process, known as 'ionization', leaves the newly 'ionized' atom, now rechristened 'positive ion', with a net 'positive' charge.

If that free roaming electron is attracted to the orbit of a neutral atom, that atoms gains a net 'negative' charge, which we rechristen a 'negative ion'.

The fewer the valence electrons, the less stable the atom, and the less 'external force' required to displace a valence electron. Atoms with only 1,2, or 3 valence are the most easily deprived of valence electrons. This is what makes materials made of such atoms such good 'conductors'.

Noble elements and Insulators

The outer 'valence' shell of an atom can only hold 8 electrons. Atoms with this full complement are very stable. Elements enjoying this full complement include neon, argon, krypton, xeon, and They are so stable the epithets 'noble' and 'inert' are used to describe them.

Materials whose atoms have at least seven valence electrons are called insulators. They are the opposite of conductors, with their one to three valence electrons, as they resist the flow of electricity. Think rubber, plastic, glass, and wood.

Why? Well remember the theory (I assume) is that as electrons move so fast, always changing their angles, they present a virtual 'solid plane' to any electron approaching them. So that any free electron that hits the 'shell' the 7 or 8 electrons are 'describing' literally/virtually hits all 7 or 8 at once, so that the kinetic energy of the one free electron is shared equally by all 7 or 8, and so shared, is not enough to 'bump' any of them out of their existing 'orbit'. Maybe it makes more sense to think of the free electron passing through a point at a speed much slower than the orbiting valence electrons are moving, so that they each cover every possible point where that free electron could be at that point in time, at that distance from the nucleus, in almost zero time, and thus they all 'collide' with the one free electron from 7 or 8 different directions, close enough to exactly at the same time for the impact to be virtually instantaneous.

Other elements without the full complement of 8 valence atoms can still emulate their 'noble' cousins by sharing electrons between themselves, so that each effectively gains the electrons they lacked, 'in common' with their new partners. Thus while some individuals are born 'noble', others can 'marry' into nobility! They form molecules and compounds. Like German words! And my Germanic sentences!

The benefit of 'stability' is that a net neutral charge is maintained. Otherwise atoms risk 'IONIZATION', as passing 'free' electrons can 'knock' valence electrons out of their 'orbits', leaving the atom with a net positive charge (due to the relative excess of protons to electrons). Thus is a 'Positive Ion' born. An atom with a net POSITIVE charge.

Alternatively a wandering free electron that perhaps had recently collided with another electron, and 'imparted' its kinetic energy to that electron, might end up attracted (via 'gravity' I take it? Though this is not stated anywhere in 'The Official Narrative' as far as I can find so far) to an atom that already has a full complement of valence electrons, and end up as 'excess luggage' attached to that atom, giving the atom a net NEGATIVE charge. So that the epithet 'NEGATIVE ION' comes to apply to that atom. The extra electron having 'negatively ionized' it.

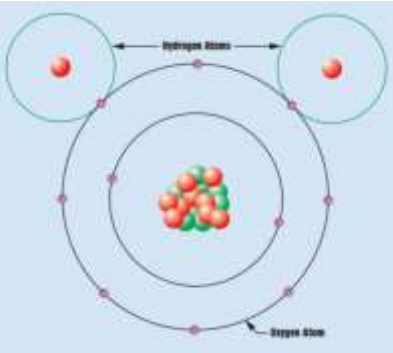
Conductors have no more than three valence electrons. And while Silver is the best natural conductor of electricity, it has the same number of valence electrons, ONE, as the next best, in order of conductivity, elements, copper, and gold. While aluminium (the wire of choice in Soviet human silos), has three valence atoms, and yet it is a better conductor than platinum, which has only one (like the earlier top 3 conductors!). So where does 'The Official Narrative' deign to explain this? Can we look forward to such an 'explanation'? Or should we add it to the 'mysteries'? The 'higher level initiation mysteries'? Just one more of the 'mysterious ways' we just need to 'gloss over' as if 'nothing to see here'!

Semiconductors

Semiconductors have four valence electrons. Whereas resistance in a conductor increases with increase in temperature, resistance in semi-conductors decreases with an increase in temperature.

All solid-state devices such as diodes, transistors, and integrated circuits are made from combinations of semiconductor materials, most commonly silicon and germanium. Silicon's ability to withstand heat makes it the most popular choice. But before it can be used, like any professional sportsperson, it has to be "doped" with an impurity to ionize the silicon.

Molecules (Hercules cousin a.k.a 'Mo')



That would be pronounced Mo-lec-cul-lees. Atoms are elements. Elements combine to form molecules. So the elements Hydrogen and Oxygen are made up of Hydrogen and Oxygen atoms. While a water (H20) 'molecule' is made up of two hydrogen (H2) and one oxygen (0) atoms. The two hydrogen atoms share their single valence electron with the six valence electrons in the oxygen atom to produce a shared, stable, valence shell of eight electrons. Thus, water is a stable molecule. As 'noble' as any noble element now, thanks to its ability to SHARE. Which might be the 'moral' to this 'narrative' after all.

Voltage

Voltage itself does not flow. It is the electromotive force, the electromagnetic force, the potential, the 'E' that draws charged particles like electrons, across a circuit.

Now with Direct Current, it would be simple to conceive of that action of Voltage as 'drawing' electrons towards the positive charge represented by the positive terminal, where atoms we have contrived to remove the valence atoms from, and which thus have a net positive charge, represent a mutual attraction for both the electrons and atoms, so that the electrons, with their negative charge, and much smaller size and mass, are more easily moved, and thus do the travelling, through the circuit, to reach this most attractive destination.

But that's a simplified situation we have contrived. And only STATIC electricity usually behaves like that, if I am not mistaken. Please correct me if I'm wrong. I'm new at this.

The complication in this simplistic model and conception comes when we consider the most common form of electrical current we use in our homes and businesses and industry. Alternating Current. DC flows in only one direction. Like money and power on our plane-et. DC is the delusionary model humans have of morality and ethics and karma. They WANT to imagine that violence and injustice and lies and cruelty and torture and slavery and exploitation are 'one way streets'. Humans like to TAKE what's good for them and theirs, and force others to pay for it. To pass on the costs to other sentient beings. To enslave other sentient beings as mere means to their own ends. Then skin them for clothing and furniture and car seats. And eat the ones that 'taste nice'. If the victim is lucky, they will first have been murdered. But what is it to the human beneficiary if this is not so? For they WANT to imagine they can 'do unto other sentient beings what they would never in their worst nightmares want done unto themselves, with NO repercussions. The current of horror and misery and pain and suffering and humiliation and indignity is, in their deluded hallucinations, ONE WAY. A direct current that flows TO OTHERS. With 'no returns'.

But life, and Alternating Current, is not like that at all. As Obadiah warned, 'For as you do unto other sentient beings, so shall be done unto you'. What goes around comes around. What you put out, you get back. Like spitting or pissing in the wind. Pretty dumb. But everyone is allowed the chance to learn this from experience. And none of us are naturally that much smarter, when it comes to such things, than anyone else. So we need to learn from experience. The one we are having right now. Called 'Earth'. This Plane-et earth is the manifestation of our own wills, and when we are ready, pain, the pain we gave out, returning back on us, will form a clearly identifiable pattern in our little brains, and we will realise 'Hey, did YOU notice that when I harm another sentient being, I end up being harmed by another sentient being? Or is it just me? Now THAT, my friends, is the REAL DENIAL that occurs a billion times a day at least. That there is NO connection between 'what I will for and do unto other sentient beings' and 'what other sentient beings will for and do unto me'.

THAT is the DEFINITION OF DENIAL. No weaseling here.

Denial is not about rejecting, as silly, unsubstantiated, debunked, disproven, utterly fatuous and absurd, 'OFFICIAL FICTIONS' a.k.a 'Official Narratives' a.k.a 'AUTHORITATIVE DOGMAS and ARTICLES OF FAITH'. Denial is about refusing to accept things that HAVE been clearly demonstrated, over and again, every moment of our lives, in our own experience. Without any 'framing' or 'misdirection' or 'misinformation' or 'brainwashing' or 'conditioning' or 'threats' or 'coercion' or 'seductions' or 'blackmail' or 'corruption' involved.

Wittgenstein nailed it in his response to a friend's utterance of 'I can't believe it is still raining after 4 days'. Of course Wittgenstein was taking his friend's meaning a little too literally. But that would be denial, if his friend had been serious. For that is what denial would be. Denying something that really is self-evident. Based on your own sensory impressions. Not the absurd definition offered us of' refusing to believe HEARSAY simply because it is repeatedly uttered / vomited / regurgitated by every AUTHORITY the cult of Judah could pre-select, groom, and install, or simply blackmail, corrupt, seduce, or trick into doing so'. That is not 'denial'. That is just sound reason. Reasonable judgment. Suspension of judgment. It is refusing to fall for the oldest trick in the book. Believing anyone who APPEARS authoritative and confident, just because 'they say so'. Without any REAL proof or evidence to back them up. But of course we are trained to do that from birth. And natural processes of 'imprinting' mean we gift trust to 'significant others' from birth onwards. And rarely 'take it back'. Because few people ever really GET a CHANCE to experience reality directly. Without the blinkers and filters and distorting lenses of 'education' and 'socialization' and 'brainwashing' and 'indoctrination' and 'dogma' and 'articles of faith'.

Yes, so like our 'wishful thinking', or is it simply IGNORANCE, in which we imagine ONE WAY FLOWS, most of the electricity we work with does NOT 'flow one way'. It 'oscillates' back and forth. Alternating between flowing towards the end of a circuit or earth, and flowing backwards.

Which gets my head in a spin. For it means that the generator hundreds of kilometers away manages to 'draw' electrons from my electronic appliance or wall socket, back towards it, as it completes each 'cycle'. Which I can conceive of, in theory. And can thus entertain. But it more confusingly means that the earth itself is not 'drawing' electrons from the other end of the circuit. Like a positive battery terminal in a DC circuit. Well at least no 'narrator of the official narrative' has so far claimed this. So where are we left? This is my dilemma. I can imagine the magnets turning, 'drawing' electrons towards them during one 'phase' of their 'cycle', but then they start PUSHING electrons back the other way. Repelling them. Towards the ZERO voltage / E / EMF earth-ground hundreds of kilometers away where I am turning on a light. And trying to 'switch on' and 'turn on the lights' for as many others as possible. Does this mean the neutral balanced earth, simply by being RELATIVELY positive, Vis a Vis the magnet hundreds of kilometers away, has the power to 'draw' electrons down through the electrical grid, towards itself? Like a 'relatively negative air/water pressure' resulting from air/water being warmed by the sun and rising, leaving a RELATIVELY lower air/water pressure beneath it, which then 'draws' (sucks-pulls) cooler air/water into it? So that a boat thousands of kilometers away is 'drawn' by the 'trade winds' and 'oceanic currents', towards it? Put that way, well, I guess, YES!

Seen that way, its simple. The 0 potential represents a relative 'low pressure system' for ANY positive potential. Like a group of idiots, where the one idiot with one more IQ point becomes, by default, that generations 'genius'. At least 'the smartest person in the room'. The one they all turn to for answers. It is that one extra IQ point of POTENTIAL that makes them 'the smartest' idiot. And THAT is what 'potential' a.k.a 'Voltage' is all about. THAT is why all the other idiots on the plane-et make pilgrimages to this 'wise sage'. Their extra 'one IQ point' makes them a 'draw'. It provides them with this massive 'drawing power' to 'suck' people into their 'orbit'. It gives them 'pulling power'. Authority. And all the privileges and power and wealth and benefits that go with it. Like the ability to 'make light' hundreds of kilometers away. To 'push' and 'pull' other people around. To DIRECT them. This way and that. Like little toy puppets. What a thrill. Such power! Get them marching in lockstep, going nowhere. Just a few steps forward, then a few steps back. For the joy of it. Keeps 'em 'on their toes' and 'fit' and 'switched on' and 'powered up' and completely fixated on 'getting the steps right' and 'keeping in step with the others' and 'keeping time' and 'making a good impression'. Never having time to ponder 'why am I doing this' when clearly 'I am not GETTING anywhere'!

Amperes

Here we are dealing with simple countables. QUANTITIES of electrons. If you could shrink down closer to atomic scale, you could stand on the 'earth-ground' side of a capacitor, and wait for voltage to jump across the gap/dielectric/insulating layer and push electrons out the 'earth-ground' end into a bucket, to collect the electrons that would 'flow' out your end. But you'd better be quick. REAL quick. And we're not talking 'Zero to a hundred baby real quick'. We're talking quick as in 'just watch how quickly you lose all your freedoms and legal rights the moment they DECLARE a new threat, in the form of an 'imminent and real WOMAD threat' or 'drug threat' or 'invasion threat' or 'terrorist threat' or 'virus pandemic threat'.

Yes, THAT quick. Because the 'god' that was so beneficent, doesn't just give. He also TAKES. In the case of a typical 60Hz household current, he 'flip-flops' between wanting to reward his devoted thralls for their slavish devotion and obedience and submission, and between wanting to cruelly torture the fu%$ers for not being slavish and submissive ENOUGH. Precisely 60 times a second.

So the hand that gave, almost immediately reaches out to take. Like the 'White man who speaks with forked tongue'. The 'Indian Giver'. You know, the one NASA chose as its OFFICIAL SYMBOL. The forked reptilian / snake tongue! To make it clear to all who have eyes to see, that they don't deny that, like MOSSAD, their role is to 'make war by deception'. A war on YOUR mind. A war for CONTROL OF YOUR MIND. And thus YOU. And thus EVERYTHING.

So one moment your 'bucket would be full to overflowing', and the next, the circuit would be 'hoovering up' all the goodies you just 'thanked the Lord for'.

This is, as far as I can see, the only way TONE CIRCUITS make any sense, given passive guitar electronics are Alternating Current circuits. It is enough that high frequency energy pulses are diverted from the guitar output jack, through the capacitor, across the 'gap', and into that length of wire BETWEEN the earth-ground of the guitar and the output jack. All we need do is stop them LEAVING via the guitar output jack. We don't need them to 'flow' anywhere, like pouring unwanted water out onto the ground-earth. They just need to be diverted from making it to the guitar output jack, and the rest of our signal chain. The TONE CIRCUIT simply diverts enough of the top end of the audio signal / the higher frequency energy pulses produced by the magnetized strings periodically disturbing the magnetic fields of the pick-up pole pieces, to make a perceivable 'cut' in 'high frequencies'. The cut-off point is determined by the capacitance value of the capacitor, and how far the typical user-variable potentiometer is turned, and what resistance rating (in Ohms) it has.

But here is another 'higher level mystery'. At 0, the ratings of capacitance and resistance have zero impact on the tone. Or do they? The 'wiper blade' of the resistor would need to be a perfect conductor, and make perfect and complete contact with the circuit before the pot, to ensure perfect transmission of the entire current, at every pulse rate / frequency. Maybe possible.

But if we are dealing with a linear pot, surely the resistance is relatively evenly spread out over the entire pot? So that surely it should only be a matter of turning a 500kOhm pot half the distance you'd turn a 350kOhm pot, to achieve the same 'diversion' of signal back to the earth output of the Capacitor? Very roughly speaking of course. And even with a logarithmic pot, it should be possible to find correspondences between particular positions of each pot, with relatively the same resistance, shouldn't it?

If 'The Official Narrative', the 'wisdom of the authorities/elders' as it has been 'given unto me', 'transmitted' so to speak, and 'received', so to speak, truly makes sense, surely someone would build a 500kOhm pot with a linear or otherwise logically calibrated pot, that let us get the 'best of both worlds'. Because surely the rating refers to the MAXIMUM resistance, and has no bearing on the minimum resistance? Or does it? Should they be rated with a minimum and maximum resistance? If not, surely it is not beyond modern science to produce a guitar pot that allows the user to vary resistance, smoothly and predictably, from zero right up to 1000kOhms, to get the most pleasing resulting tone from any combination of any guitar pickups?

What's Watt?

Like the holy water they have re-branded and re-marketed as 'vaccines', Watts are what your electricity provider charges you for. You pay for 'Watt hours'. Who was Watt? Don't worry, I won't try that 'Hugh's on base' routine with this now. Just woke up really. Still on my first cup of coffee.

Watts are the rate at which electrical energy has been, or is being, converted into some other form of energy. When some conscientious and considerate fu%$^r decides to turn on their stereo at 2a.m, they are unwittingly deciding to convert electrical energy into air pressure pulses a.k.a 'acoustic' energy. When they turn on the light, they are converting electrical energy into photon energy a.k.a 'light'. When they turn on the oven to heat up that pizza they are converting electrical energy into 'heat' energy. So the pizza can be turned into FAT. Another medium in which energy can be stored. And when that fuc%$r gets electrocuted by the faulty power cord they've left laying on the wet floor they were too lazy to dry, that fat, and their brain cells, will be converted into heat and light, in the form of 'fire'. So, you see, it's a 'circle of energy'. Surely someone will write an uplifting song about it one day! To make us feel good about it all. So it doesn't seem so tragic at all. Well certainly NOT for the people who will, in future, we free to sleep through the night, from now on!

The analogy between water being pumped through a pipe with a turbine in it is often used. The idea is that the water pressure (PSI) corresponds to the electrical pressure we call 'Volts' or Electro Motive Force (EMF). For me electromagnetism is a form of pressure. Like air pressure or water pressure or photon pressure, all of which can spin a rotor (paint the sun-facing side of a rotor black and the other side white, and watch the photons exert their pressure, if you don't believe me!). With water and wind it is the surface atoms that are 'repelled' by the wind and water. The 'charge' takes the form of high and low air and water pressure. With electricity, it is electrons in the 'current' that repel the electrons in the turbine, and the 'charge' is electrical in nature. But in every case, you can produce 'torque' (twisting-turning force-energy).

The turning force / torque of the spinning turbine is proportional to the quantity of water pulling it per second. How much water is flowing through the turbine, per second. Now this is where the 'pressure' analogy fails me personally. Because conventional teachers go on to talk about 'water pressure' as if it was an independent entity in its own right. But it isn't. Pressure is force x quantity/volume. In this case, how much water flows through a turbine per second depends on the diameter of the pipe (or the level of water in the pipe) and how fast the water is flowing. Just saying the speed is a result of the water pressure is glossing over the question of what is water pressure made of.

I will try to clarify this in my own mind now. We take a LOOP of pipe of fixed diameter and place a water turbine at one point, and across from it, on the other side of the loop, a water pump. So far it sounds like I'm repeating the conventional analogy. But here's my question. How is it at all possible to increase the pressure in the system without increasing the flow rate (the speed the water is travelling at)? The conventional analogy requires this. But what could it possibly mean? 'If* the pressure is increased and the flow rate remains constant, the water will strike the turbine blades with greater force and the torque will increase'. Then there's this doozy ' If the pressure remains constant and a greater volume of water is permitted to flow, the turbine blades will be struck by more pounds of water in the same amount of time and torque will again increase. So that the torque developed by the turbine is proportional to both the pressure and the flow rate of the water'.

If? Is anyone claiming this is possible? Can someone please explain how this state of affairs is to be contrived? Doesn't the second 'IF' violate the need for 'all other things being held constant and remaining equal'? If you are claiming to isolate a few variables, then the others must be held fixed/constant while you do this, if I am not mistaken. Or, like everything Co2Vid Cult related, have all the 'definitions' simply been 'revised' (in the pejorative sense of being conveniently re-defined to suit 'The Official Narrative').

How is flow rate NOT pressure? 'Permit' more water to flow? Excuse me? So you are saying water will flow faster if we merely ALLOW / PERMIT it to? What now? Did I miss something. Did we add the pump then add something else to deliberately impede the flow of water? But wouldn't that just mean less water at HIGHER pressure? Isn't that the POINT of 'pounds per square inch'? The same force exerted on a smaller volume of water propels it harder/faster/ under 'greater pressure'. Right? So why is the explanation seeming to imply 'everything is negotiable' a.k.a 'variable'? Aren't we meant to start with a fixed number of variables, and see what happens? Since when were we allowed to add more variables 'mid-narrative'? And then act like we haven't done this? Or change definitions 'mid-narrative'. And act like 'no, we used the same definition all throughout the narrative'. When clearly they did. And Didn't. Like manipulating statistics by changing definitions. Like it used to be, in the quaint ye olde times, that if someone had their head cut off, and happened to have been within 2 meters of someone who had recently been in a room with someone who 'had a cough', the 'official cause of death' would have been listed and recorded, in the epidemiological / morbitity statistics as 'death by decapitation'. Whereas today it would be listed as 'death by some supposed virus no-one has managed to isolate and purify and present for peer-review (just like any Cult of Judah bogey man from 'The Devil' to 'Djinns' and 'Evil Spirits' and 'Witches'). Why? Well because one supposed possible symptom of this supposed virus is a cough. Well certainly THAT is enough grounds for ANY sane person to immediately 'jump to conclusions' like all 'leaps of faith' in ANY CULT BELIEF SYSTEM.

Let's step outside our 'closed loop'. Something few humans ever do once in their entire lives. Step out of the closed loop. The internally reflexive 'social reality' bubble they are born into, and most die mistaking for 'reality'. And even 'the best of all possible worlds'. Rather than just one lame, artificially constructed, engineered, scripted, directed, choreographed, heavily redacted, heavily censored and filtered and distorted, means to the ends of a few 'beneficiaries' who have been writing that script, directing this 'reality tell-lie-vision program', writing the code for this virtual reality gaming platform, choreographing all the moves, engineering all the 'impressions' and managing all the 'perceptions'.

A water pump generates a relative high pressure region within the pump, compared to the ambient air or water pressure surrounding it. It pumps as much air out of the water as it can, so there is direct coupling between the pump blades, and the water.

Let's simplify this pump. It is a person standing on a foot pump. They first pump out the air by pushing down and opening a valve. Now there is no air in the pump. Just water. The 'pressure' is provided by the force of their foot pressing down on the pump, reducing the volume of space available to the volume of water that has already filled the pump body. We could jump up and down on the pump, and nothing would happen. Because the water in the pump has, like that 'Officer and a Gentleman', 'no-where to go'. Like a philosopher trying to escape the Co2Vid cult finding that every nation has been occupied, and the only way to 'escape' is to leave this plane-et. Major Tom 'Coming Home', style.

So we add a loop of pipe to the pump body, so now the water can flow around this circular pipe, when we 'press down' a.k.a apply 'pressure' to the water, by standing on the foot pump. 'Piezo' (pressure) now produces an equal and opposite reaction. The water flows away from the foot-pump as it descends on the water, squashing it, pushing down on it. The water immediately finds release by escaping via the valve, into the loop of pipe. This is one cycle of a 'heart beat', in case the correspondence didn't strike you already.

So how is it possible to 'increase the pressure' without speeding up the pumping action, all other things remaining unchanged? To me it seems the only way to increase pressure is to do this, and thus increase the SPEED at which the water is flowing in the pipe. And THIS would naturally increase the torque any water turbine placed in the pipe would develop, as the water pressure pulled at its blades/rotors as it passed through the turbine, to escape the relative HIGHER pressure BEHIND it, being produced by the pumping action of your foot.

As with the 2-D plotting of voltage/current over time, and amplitude over time, the action of our foot begins from zero, speeds up, hits its maximum velocity as the water compresses to its maximum possible compression (given the limited force we have at our disposal i.e body weight and muscle power), hitting this 'pressure maxima' corresponding to the peak amplitude / peak voltage/current of the graphs referred to earlier, and then slows down as we continue pushing down, then when we hit the 'floor' of the pump, we contrive/design the pump so that an air intake valve automatically opens and the water outlet valve automatically closes, so our pump can rise back to its default position, sucking air into the relative vacuum / low pressure region inside our pump. Once it is fully extended, a water intake valve opens, allowing water to flow into the relatively lower pressure of the empty pump. As the water enters, it pushes out the air. When the water reaches the top, like a toilet cistern, the air valve is automatically sealed/closed, along with the water intake valve. The water outflow valve opens, and we can repeat this 'cycle'. So we have an intermittent DC pulse a.k.a current of flowing.

The 'pump' in this analogy represents / corresponds to, an electrical generator that is 'pumping' electrons towards the circuit, by spinning a magnet within a coil, so the negative pole continually swings around and 'repels' electrons away from it, through the coil, and out the coil, towards the circuit. So each 'swing around' is like each 'pump' of our foot. The action of our foot pressing down provides the pressure that electromagnetic repulsion between negatively charged electrons provides in the electrical current. On a macro scale, that is. On the human scale of perception. But really the same thing is happening at the atomic scale. Water molecules might be balanced, and thus electrons are not exchanged, but they still repel each other. And now they are 'fixed' and 'coupled' to the nucleus of two atoms, when they repel each other, the complete atoms must go along for the ride.

To try to 'salvage' and 'resuscitate' the pressure analogy usually offered, I'd modify and reform the conventional narrative / metaphor. See if this rings your bell or not. I'd replace the pump with altitude. You can use the concept 'gravity' if you like. I'm not going to start in on that 'narrative' yet. Let's take a waterfall. With a water turbine placed at its base. The water pressure is the result of the stored kinetic energy of the water being transmitted to the turbine props/blades/rotors after falling from the top, to the bottom, of the water fall. If we increase the quantity of water falling, and hitting the turbine, per second, we increase the INTENSITY of the FORCE of the water. The Amplitude or Amperes if you like. The literal volume of atoms. Corresponding to the literal volume/ number of / quantity of electrons in an electrical current. The only way we can increase the pressure is by either raising the top of the waterfall, with an artificial dam that extends far back enough to produce a 'levy' effect, or by increasing the volume of water flowing, say by diverting other rivers into this waterfall, or increasing rainfall, or melting ice upstream that feeds this river.

If you put a pump up there, to 'increase pressure' as the conventional narrative would have it, it wouldn't do any good. The water would just shoot out further from the top, and end up hitting the ground with the same force it had before. Based on its volume and how far it has 'fallen', and thus how much time and distance it has had to 'accelerate' in. At 9.8 meters per second per second. It is its final speed / velocity and final volume / quantity that determine the FORCE with which it HITS the ground / turbine, and thus the PRESSURE it exerts. This applies to electrical current made up of electrons in a copper wire being 'hot potato'd' down the line from one atom to the next as it does to water molecules being 'sucked' and 'pulled' through a tube.

My point? The PRESSURE is a product of SPEED (Velocity) times QUANTITY (Volume). Pressure is NOT a thing in and of itself. Any time you refer to PRESSURE you are referring to a product of TWO variables. Cheating and trying to talk about it as an independent variable might provide a feeling of 'comfort' at having 'understood' something. But this comforting feeling is a false friend. You've avoided the discomfort of 'not really understanding' but paid a high price for it. Because now NOT ONLY DON'T YOU UNDERSTAND WHAT YOU ARE TALKING ABOUT, BUT YOU DON'T EVEN KNOW YOU DON'T UNDERSTAND. YOU IMAGINE YOU ACTUALLY UNDERSTAND. AND THAT CAN CARRY HUGE COSTS FOR YOU. IT USUALLY DOES.

Socrates and company define the philosopher's wisdom, and superiority, in being PRECISELY THAT THEY REALISE THEY DON'T, AND POSSIBLY CAN'T, KNOW ANYTHING (OTHER THAN THEIR OWN PAIN, PLEASURE, RELIEF, COMFORT, FEAR, AND DESIRE/HOPE/POSITIVE ANTICIPATION).

'Knowledge' is a form of prejudice. Pre-jugement. We use it to PREDICT 'what the shadows on the wall will do next'. We also use it to build technological gadgets and machines. But that's HEURISTICS. We should take advantage of heuristics, but avoid the pitfalls of assuming we KNOW why things operate how they do. That we 'understand' the principles underlying how these machines operate. And why they work.

It might seem a subtle distinction. But it is the basis of innovation and technological advance. Entertaining the existing explanations of 'how' and 'why'. But never assuming they are 'the best explanation' available. Always being open to questioning them, and seeking SUPERIOR explanations which allow us to come CLOSER to the truth about TROONATNOOR. So that we can constantly IMPROVE on our machines and technology.

Often 'knowing' something stops people ENTERTAINING different ways of interpreting the same sense impression data and measurements. They often BLIND us to even SEEING a lot of sensory impression data, and recognizing patterns in them, and in our measurements, which 'WHAT WE KNOW' suggests don't exist. Or aren't possible. Simply are NOT there. So we don't SEE them. Literally. We self-censor. And collectively censor. And the 'Authorities' censor. And so a lot of the BIG DATA SET that intelligence, machine or biological, requires to 'sift through' to 'discover PATTERNS in it', is simply destroyed and never considered. Imagine a machine intelligence (calling machine intelligence 'artificial' would be like calling water formed by joining Hydrogen and Oxygen molecules 'artificial water') that was NOT allowed access to ALL the data! No programmer or profiler or modeler would dream of such a thing. It would be like crippling your Olympic athletes before a race. Or limiting your CPU power. They wouldn't even THINK of doing this. But THAT is EXACTLY what your 'trusted authorities' do to YOUR intelligence. They CENSOR information and IDEAS. Data that your mind NEEDS in order to 'form a complete picture' and 'actively construct potential patterns from the data', and thus form sound judgments and make GOOD decisions and accurate and precise PREDICTIONS.

O.K, so let's forget about the water pressure analogy for now, and just look at the calculations as they concern electricity directly. 120 volts of potentially allowed to flow with 1 Ampere of Intensity, through a heating element, will produce 120 watts of heat. The amount of power converted to heat by the heating element is determined by the volume of electrons available to be 'pushed' and 'pulled' by the potential (Voltage) driving/forcing/repelling/attracting them. The EMF, Electromagnetic Force, acting on them. Increasing either this force, or the number of electrons it is acting on, has the same impact on how much 'work' can be done, and how much 'energy' is available to be converted into heat, light, sound, torque, and so on.

$$P = EI \qquad P = I^2R \qquad P = \frac{E^2}{R}$$

where

P = power or watts
I = current or amps
E = volts
R = resistance in ohms

The 'Wattage' = Voltage (EMF) x Amperes (Quantity of electrons available for that voltage to act on).

I'll offer a metaphor. A charismatic leader. A brilliant military strategist. A motivator of men and women. Given a small group of people to work with, no matter how brilliant and clever the leader, they probably won't go down in history. Give a much lesser leader an empire to order about, and they might conquer another empire. Give that first great leader an empire, and they will conquer the world. Voltage is like leadership, and Amperes like military personnel and resources.

Or let's think of 'the dog in the fight' and 'the fight in the dog'. A strong dog with no will to fight can be beaten by a small dog with a ferocious fighting nature. Or a small capacity two stroke engine with only 250cc at its disposal, can be pushed hard, and beat a 500cc 4 stroke engine that simply can't be 'redlined' for long, and won't 'rev' very high at all. A small dog can move its legs twice as fast and keep up with a large dog with long legs. If you have connections you can get away with little intelligence. If you are a genius you can make it without any connections at all. You can be average and work much harder, and achieve more than a 'superior' talent that is lazy. Watts = Volts X Amperes. You can decrease one as long as you increase the other, and get the same Watts. Increase either and you will increase the Watts.

Just remember that Watts refers to WORK DONE. And a current is not deemed to have done any 'work' until it has been converted into some OTHER form of energy, such as heat, light, sound, and torque.

So to be precise WATTS does NOT refer to an 'electrical' variable at all. It is what other electrical variables interact to produce. It is the WORK an electrical current is tricked into doing, as it seeks its 'promised land' we call 'ground-earth'. The Generator produced a 'diaspora' of electrons who, now homeless, head for 'mother earth' for relief from their slavery to the circuit. But in reality their salvation comes from being TRANSFORMED, UTTERLY TRANSFORMED, into light, heat, sound, torque, and so on.

Watt used the unit 'Horsepower' to express the power of his steam engines in a way that the average person could relate to. At that time horses were the main 'beast of burden' and form of locomotion. He gave his steam engines power ratings in Horsepower (hp). Where 1 hp was the equivalent of 746 W. Today's engines develop much more horsepower than Watts steam engines, so they tend to be rated at Kilo Watts (1000s of Watts). Roughly speaking, if a car has 80hp, it has about 120kW of power. That's more than enough to zip about the countryside, if you know how to use it! Power without control is nothing!

To clarify, Watt carried out some empirical studies (something today's scientists scoff at, because these days all you do is program computer models and make any assumptions you like, and totally dismiss 'reality' if it contradicts them) and determined that an average sized horse could raise 550 pounds one foot, in one second. And it was found that 746 Watts of electrical power were needed to achieve the same feat. (A rope was tied to a horse, then connected to a pulley, and the horse asked to kindly 'pull' for one second, at 'an average sort of level of effort'. It's not that horses could once fly! Well, not until 'The Official Narrative' is rewritten to say so. At which point it will become FACT. A fact that 'everyone knows'. Why? Because every 'authority' will DECLARE that it is so. Was always so. And anyone who claims to remember it was once otherwise will be rounded up as 'contagious' and placed in 'quarantine'. Like in the 'good old Soviet era'. Did you know the official purpose of 'Gulags' was 'quarantine'? Probably not. Hollywood, for some reason, has made about ZERO films about 'What the Jews did to all the nations they occupied, and called 'The U.S.S.R'. Even though even the authorities admit ten times MORE people were worked to death in slave labor camps under Jew.S.S.R rule, than even 'The Official Holocaust Narrative' attributes to the Nazis!

Other 'measures' of interest (no this time not 'Covid measures' or 'Anti-terrorism measures' or 'Anti-drug measures' or 'Anti-right wing extremism measures' or 'Anti-man-made global climate crisis measures', include the calorie, which is the amount of heat needed to raise the temperature of 1 gram of water 1 degree Celsius. The joule is the international unit that technically has replaced the watt. A joule is defined as 1 newton-meter. Which is one Watt work done in one second. So as always, we are talking about a RATE. Only this time instead of meters per second, or pulses per second, it is Watts of work done per second (in converting electricity into another form of energy e.g heat, light, sound, torque, chemical, kinetic.

Engineering units and abbreviations

ENGINEERING UNIT	SYMBOL	MULTIPLY BY
Tera	T	1,000,000,000,000	$\times 10^{12}$
Giga	G	1,000,000,000	$\times 10^{9}$
Mega	M	1,000,000	$\times 10^{6}$
Kilo	k	1,000	$\times 10^{3}$
Base Unit		1
Milli	m	0.001	$\times 10^{-3}$
Micro	μ	0.000,001	$\times 10^{-6}$
Nano	n	0.000,000,001	$\times 10^{-9}$
Pico	p	0.000,000,000,001	$\times 10^{-12}$

Hecto and Deka are rarely used but refer to 100 and 10. Deci is 1/10 or 0.1. Centi is 1/100 or 0.01. Milli is 1/1000 or 0.001. It is often necessary to convert the fractions into decimals, when using formulas and equations relating to electrical quantities and phenomena. The smaller and larger units are listed left, with their symbols.

(Georg) Ohms law

It takes One Volt of Electromagnetic Force (EMF) to push-pull one Ampere (a huge fixed quantity-number of very small electrons) through a resistance, or against a resistance, of 1 Ohm. Zee German Georg Ohm discovered the 'reflexive' nature of electrical quantities / values. Namely that EMF(Volts) = Amperes (Quantity of electrons and thus Intensity of flow) x Resistance (measured in that unit named later after him).

To clarify, that's Volts = Amperes x Ohms. But using the mish-mash of confusing letters that the people at S.I HQ in Paris, you'd think, would have replaced with logically descriptive names and letters.

I would propose EMF=Quantity of electrons x Resistance to their flow. E=QxR.

Seriously, if I were of a paranoid (lucid) mind, I might begin suspecting a conspiracy. I mean, why use an ancient Greek symbol for Ohms, and not just the letter O? What on earth does that ancient Greek symbol have with Zee German Georg Ohm? Sure, Oh-Mey-ga. Oh-m. Great, so you know a bit of ancient Greek. Show off.

$$E = I \times R$$

$$I = \frac{E}{R} \quad \text{where} \quad \begin{array}{l} E = \text{EMF, or voltage (in volts)} \\ I = \text{intensity of current, or amperage (in amps)} \\ R = \text{resistance (in ohms)} \end{array}$$

$$R = \frac{E}{I}$$

If you know any two of these values, you can work out the third. By changing the subject of the formula. By dividing both sides by R or I. Using the Ohms-law circle , cover the value you want to make the subject of the formula, and multiply values in the same vertical half of the circle, e.g I x R, and use the center line marker as a divisor line, so that I =E/R and R=E/1. Of course this formula is so simple it doesn't really require 'clever' tricks to remember. And teachers tend to focus on 'the easy stuff' and 'gloss over' the stuff that really is tricky.

Left is a circle showing the REFLEXIVE relationships between the main electrical values and units we deal with. P is power in WATTS. E is Electromagnetic Force (Voltage) in VOLTS. I is intensity of current in AMPERES (A). R is Resistance in OHMS. Note how P=EL. Power is LORD (EL). TROONATNOOR is completely reflexive. You just need to identify the 'relationships' that exist between the elements. They ultimately reduce down to powers of attraction (addition) and repulsion (subtraction), of PRIMERTIES. In math the primerty is symbolized by the number ONE and symbol 1. If you had a long enough chalk-board you could reduce the most complex of equations back to long series of addition and subtraction. Remembering that multiplication is a shorthand for addition. And 'powers' shorthand of multiplication, and thus a further shorthand of addition. Division is a reversal of multiplication, as are 'roots'. And subtraction is just the 'polar opposite' of addition. Though nothing can ever TRULY be 'added' to the whole. Just as nothing is every TRULY 'taken away from' the whole. It always remains whole. All that ever changes are the number of divisions it is temporarily divided up into. And these interact to form every phenomena we know as TROONATNOOR. To produce 'The Reality Of Our Natures And The Natures Of Our Realities'. And yes, like Bhagavad Gita (The SONG of TROONATNOOR) I have also put a lot of the TROONATNOOR to verse, and even music. Seek at Wordpress, Telegram, and Bitchute, and ye shall find. At not cost to YOU. I couldn't risks failing to enlighten people simply because they were unable, or unwilling, to reciprocate me for my time, effort, suffering, sacrifice, and risk. So I've uploaded EVERYTHING to Telegram et al, under the channel / page name 'TROONATNOOR' for anyone to download at any time, without paying a cent, or having to subscribe, or even letting 'Big Brother' know that they'd visited my site. I don't monetize my work. I don't earn anything from those pages or downloads. If you want to buy the books that have NOT been banned internationally, use AMAZON, but understand that the books that YOU would consider most important, are NOT there, as even Amazon has banned them. At least Amazon, like almost every OTHER self-publishing platform, did not ban ALL my books to SPITE me for having written 6 that the Cult of Judah have made 'STRENGST VERBOTEN'!

The turning force (torque) developed by a wind or water turbine is proportional to the amount of water or air PRESSURE pulling at the turbines shaped surfaces, which, fixed on an axel through their center, spin at a rate dependent on the Intensity of the water/air pressure, and the amount of resistance the blades/rotors/surfaces of the turbine offer to that flow.

For example you could design a turbine that took up almost all the space in a tube through which water was sent rushing through (due to gravity from the top of an elevation, or due to hundreds of meters of water piled up above it), and you'd have a large value for R. Replace it with one half the size, and it would only resist half of whatever water pressure there was, assuming both turbines rotated around the same point/axel/center/shaft.

Also if we reduced the flow of water to half of what it was, by closing a valve up-flow from the turbine, to restrict water access to the tube, we would halve how fast the turbine spun/rotated/turned. All other things being equal. Thus halving the turning FORCE (torque). In the analogy this corresponds to the Electromagnetic Force.

Anyone who has read many different teaching materials will hopefully have noted which obfuscative concepts I have omitted from my analogy and explanation of it. And after consideration, will want to congratulate me on the vast improvements I have made to the conventional way of 'teaching' and 'talking about' these things.

And to be as precise and clear as possible, please always keep in mind that while wind and air pressure, and the pressure transmitted by more solid objects, appearing to be the resultant / product of 'solid objects pressing against each other, and colliding with each other, and pushing and pulling at each other, at our human level, the 'macro' level, Electro Magnetic Forces, and thus electromagnetic pressure exists at an atomic level.

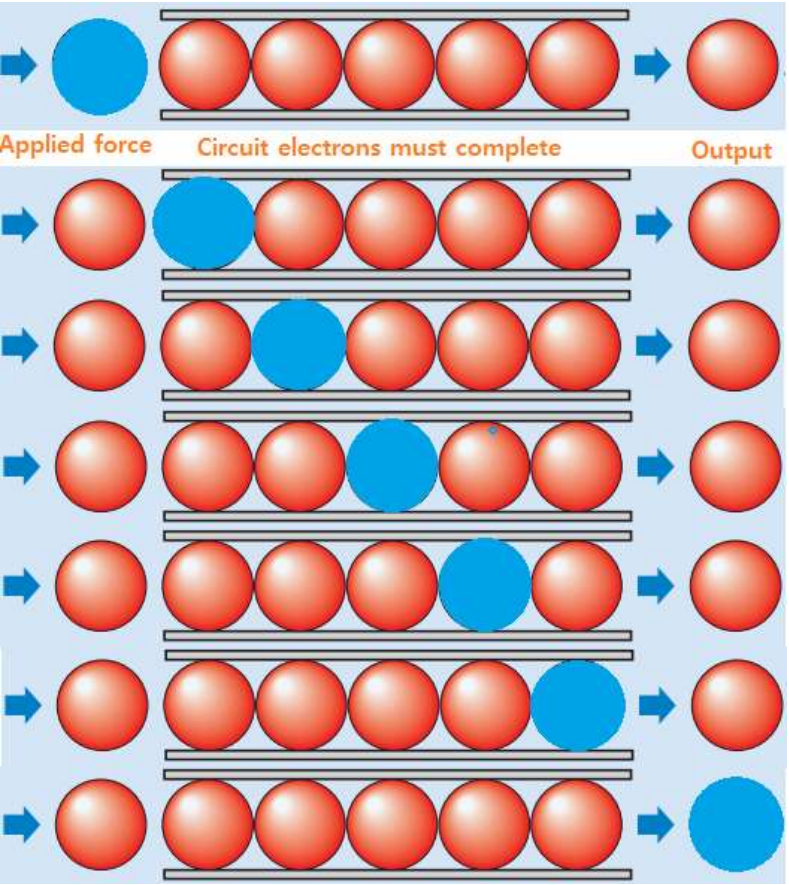
We can see billiard balls bouncing into each other, transmitting their kinetic energy, their force, into their collision partner, who is then propelled into the next ball in line, producing a chain-reaction down the line of balls. If I can, I'll make a simple animation showing a 'cross-section' or 'slice' of copper wire and the electrons contained within that slice. But for now, I will simply illustrate how electrons move through a conductor. Because it will probably surprise you at first. And for a few unsettling moments, ZEN Bardots of opportunity, you might find it seems a bit counter-intuitive. Sure, it is not quite as simple as how it is often described. But is is pretty simple really, once you get your head around it, and visualise the 'baby-steps' quite slow electrons make, then attempt to 'fast forward' the tape to a fraction of the speed at which these baby steps are COMPLETED.



Left is a blue billiard ball whose 'career' through a circuit we are going to follow. It is 'struck' by a billiard cue, hitting the last ball in the cue out of the circuit, so that the blue ball now takes up the position of 'furthest left ball in the queue'. Then another red ball is struck by a billiard cue, into our blue ball. Sorry no puns intended. So our blue ball advances one 'baby-step' down the circuit. Successive new red balls are struck by a billiard cue, until our blue ball completes its 'career' through the circuit.

Now imagine millions of these blue balls take up a single 'blue ball thick' slice of the copper wire at the start of the circuit.

And replace the billiard cue striking one ball, with an Electromagnetic Force 'pushing' the entire slice forwards into the circuit.

This is where the animation would come in handy. Each PULSE of the Electromotive Force repels / pushes a slice of 'blue balls' forwards into the circuit.

That is how electrons move through a conductor, in a theoretical copper wire one atom in diameter. The larger the diameter, the more 'blue balls' can fit in a cross-section of the wire.

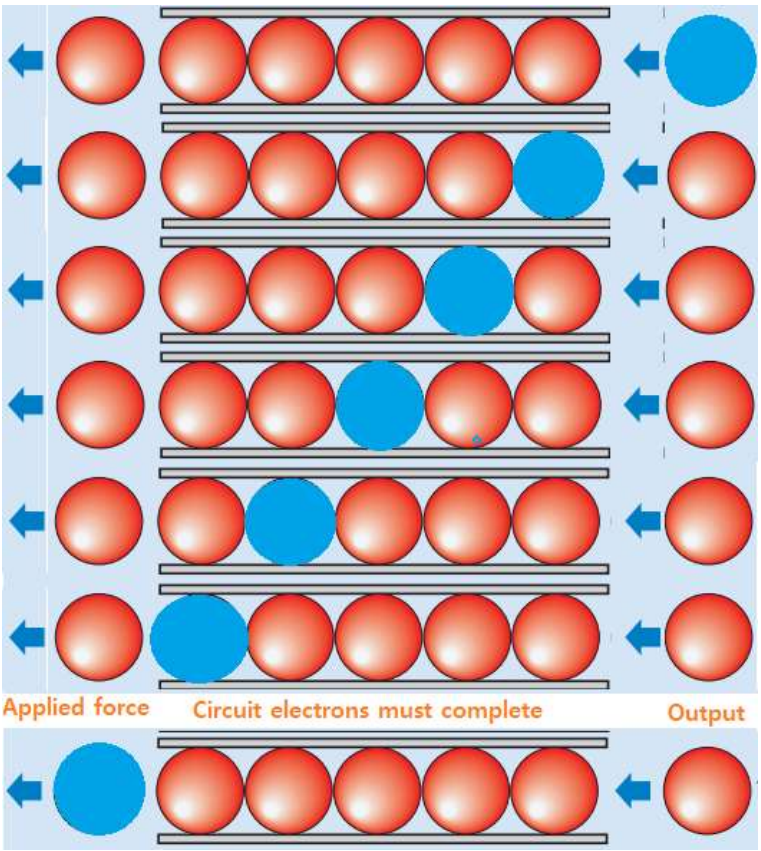
The larger the magnitude of the Electromagnetic Force (Voltage), the more 'cross-sections' / 'layers' of blue balls it will repel into the circuit, each PULSE of Electromotive Force.

The more often these pulses repeat, the higher the 'frequency' of this occurance, in the circuit. This is literally the 'frequency' of the current produced.

And when we are dealing with spinning magnets, we get an alternating push-repel and pull-attract Electromagnetic Force, so that this quantity of blue balls we've been describing will first be repelled out into the circuit, and then 'drawn' backwards through the circuit, as the magnet polls describe their arcs through the magnetic fields of copper coils, in which they induce the Electromagnetic / Electromotive forces we've been talking about. The ones analogous to the pool cue hitting our blue ball, imparting its kinetic energy to it, so that it is 'repelled' and 'collides' with the first red ball, imparting its kinetic energy to it, and beginning the chain reaction that pushes the last ball out of the circuit.

In terms of billiard balls, that would be a 'pocket' or 'ball return alley'. In terms of Electricity, that would be the Output of the circuit, and/or an 'Earth-Ground'.

The 'motive force' is electrical. Literally 'electro-motive force'. The first electron is not hit by a billiard cue, but 'shunted' forwards by the electromagnetic repulsion of another electron with the same negative charge, approaching it. They don't need to touch. If another electron approaches with enough kinetic energy, with enough force, enough velocity, it will repel it out of its orbit. Having transmitted its kinetic energy in this way, it is now likely to remain in the orbit where it collided with the previous electron. And so electrons make their way through conductors, one atom at a time. But each 'collision' and 'repelling' action occurs unimaginably quickly, in almost no time at all. Imagine a billiard player who could strike millions of billiard balls each second. You could line up those billiard balls around the earth, circling it ten times, and it would take only 1.3 seconds for the energy of the last billiard ball the cue struck, to transmit its kinetic energy to the end of the line of balls. Using this analogy. Because atoms are so closely packed, so each 'step' in this chain reaction happens virtually instantly, so that the entire chain reaction completes almost instantaneously. So that the whole process begins and ends almost instantaneously. And no matter how long the wire the electron is travelling down, or up, the electron added to the circuit flies down it almost at the speed of light. Having made an inconceivably vast number of 'baby steps' to get there.



Now imagine the reversal of the current, when it 'alternates'. Electrons are attracted by the arc of the magnet, away from the circuit, out of the tube/wire/conductor/circuit/earth. Imagine the whole process described moving in reverse. Don't think too much yet, just 'hit' reverse and playback the process in reverse, in your mind's eye.

An attractive force pulls the far left red electron out of the circuit, off the atom it was loosely bonded with, or from any of the electrons randomly swapping atoms (something that is always happening in conductors), with the first pulse. This pulls in a blue electron from the other side of the circuit, into the circuit, to replace the red one that was just pulled out the other end. With the next pulse another red electron is pulled out of the circuit, and so our blue ball advances one more baby step. To the next atom in line, so it is now 'two balls deep' in the circuit. The process repeats until the blue ball is pulled out the other end of the circuit.

Of course in reality we are dealing with volumes of electrons moving in 'slices' or 'cross-sections' with each pulse of attraction. And I've only shown the electrons. With more time the graphics would show the atoms each red and blue ball are loosely attached to as 'valence electrons'. So you'd see that he electrons were 'shuttling' forwards, then backwards, one atom at a time. Some pulses might be just strong enough to pull a single 'slice' of electrons away from, or push/force them onto, the next atom in line. But others could move electrons several 'balls deep' at a time. So we'd see 'chunks' of electrons being pulled left or pushed right, to the next atom in line, with each PULSE of electromagnetic FORCE.

Instead of the 'industry' producing another 100 lame textbooks next publication cycle, why not invest a tiny fraction of the energy that would have been wasted 're-doing the same old shit', by working with someone like me in actually CLARIFYING things so they are as CLEAR as possible. Using EVERY REPRESENTATION SYSTEM AVAILABLE. Such as animated graphics. Still graphics like mine. And actual sentences in actual simple English that actually talk us through a process, step by baby step, no matter how frustrating it is (and I promise you this task has been very frustrating, and only possible as I can take breaks any time I like, to work on something else. If you'd have given me a deadline for this guide, and said 'work ONLY on this till it is finished', I would have gone made with frustration and just 'pumped out the usual conventional rubbish with a bit of an updated spin and look and feel to it'. Like those people WITH the RESOURCES to made great animations, who use them merely to do the same old shit, just with better graphics and production values.

Like making 'one more' 'Holocaust' documentary, and simply repeating the same old lies. The same old CANARDS. And never advancing our understanding one iota. But surely likely to be at least nominated for a DAFTA or a TOSSAR or a DUMMEY. (BAFTA, OSCAR or GRAMMY).

Now Imagine if you had 3000 years to 'baby step' your way to world domination? Would it be inconceivable, that with so much time, you could afford to take baby steps? Steps so small, such as 'setting up a newspaper' or 'buying another newspaper publisher out', or 'buying a small local cable television station', then 'expanding a little by acquiring another one', then 'setting up a new fledgling cult', and then 'expanding' and building a few more churches here and there. Becoming involved in local politics. Then maybe state politics. Then maybe federal politics. Setting up something you call 'The United Nations' which no-one really pays any attention to, like some sort of 'utopian society'. Then sending in lots of medical professionals to a nation. And having them set up a voluntary 'medical association' which most other doctors ignore as some 'social club'. But then recruiting more medical professionals, who then 'lobby' with those local, state, and federal politicians no-one really paid any attention to, to institutionalise this 'social club' as 'The American Medical Association'. Then gradually lobbying for more influence. Then getting a bill passed making membership of this 'quaint social club' compulsory for all medical professionals. So now you had literal control of the entire American Medical Profession. And so on and so forth. 3000 years of baby steps. That way, like the string of billiard balls, you really could encircle the world ten times, and literally 'bind' it to your will. Shackle it. Enslave it.

And remember we are working with INVISIBLE FORCES. SUBTLE FORCES. SOMETIMES NOT SO SUBTLE. BUT FORCES THAT CAN WORK AT A DISTANCE, WITHOUT HAVING TO COME INTO PHYSICAL CONTACT WITH THE OBJECTS/SUBJECTS BEING PUSHED AND PULLED TO MOVE IN PARTICULAR DIRECTIONS. POLITICAL AND SOCIAL AND ECONOMIC DIRECTIONS. WAR OR PEACE. CENTRALISATION OR DECENTRALISATION OF CONTROL. FREEDOM OR RESTRICTION. TRUTHFULLNESS OR DECEPTION. LIBERTY OR CONTROL. LOCAL OR FEDERAL AND THEN WORLD GOVERNMENT. INDIVIDUAL SOVEREIGNTY OR TYRANNY BY A SINGLE SELF-ORDAINED 'SOVEREIGN'. NATIONAL SOVEREIGNTY WITH GOVERNMENT BY THE PEOPLE FOR THE PEOPLE, OR GLOBAL GOVERNANCE BY PROXY, IN SECRET, BEHIND THE SCENCES, ACTING THROUGH PROXIES PRETENDING TO BE 'FOR THE PEOPLE' AND PRETENDING TO BE ACTING ON WHATEVER 'MANDATE' THE PEOPLE ACTUALLY GAVE THEM'. PUSHING WITH COERCION. PULLING-SUCKING-SEDUCING WITH OFFERS OF PLEASURE, RELIEF, AND SECURITY. PUSHING WITH FALSE FLAG ATTACKS AND FAKED SHOOTINGS AND FAKE ALARMS OF REAL AND IMMINENT THREATS (BOGEY MEN) AND FAKED 'VIRUS PANDEMICS'. PULLING AND SEDUCING AND TEMPTING WITH REAL AND FAKE OFFERS OF POWER, PRIVILEGE, WEALTH, SEX, DRUGS, SUCCESS, FAME, FORTUNE, RESPECT, PRESTIGE, ACCEPTANCE, APPROVAL, HONOURS, AND IN GENERAL 'PROTECTION' AND 'SECURITY' FROM IMAGINARY THREATS IMPLANTED IN PEOPLE'S MINDS LIKE IRRATIONAL PHOBIAS, USING THE TIME HONORED TRICKS OF NEUROLINGUISTIC PROGRAMMING BY THE VARIOUS CULT PRIESTS AND THEIR AGENTS, LIKE DRUGS AND TERRORISM AND WOMADS AND PANDEMIC VIRUSES AND RIGHT-WING EXTREMISTS.

Once you describe things as they really are, whether talking about electricity, or political science, or individual and mass psychology, you can't avoid sounding like a conspiracy theorist. All these 'invisible forces' pushing and pulling at electrons, even across empty space. Apply 'pressure' to individual electrons, that move so slowly, and yet, as a MASS, and due to TROONATOOR, producing almost light-speed transmission of POWER from A SINGLE SMALL REGION (at some zoom levels barely a point) out in all directions, often SPHERICALLY, to LITERALLY engulf, and MOVE and CONTROL and DIRECT HUGE numbers of electrons.

At the far edge of spherical air pressure pulses, far from the source of the pulse, a huge volume of air is being pushed just a little, but still enough to reproduce 'the initial impulse' with some force. At some amplitude. Across an unimaginable volume of recipients. Air molecules. Individual humans caught in the Cults expanding lines of force. They can have no idea of the source of these forces. They seem to be acting on 'everyone they know' equally. They appear to be just AMBIENT AIR PRESSURE. Their directionality is omnidirectional, in all directions, and so it would be hard to 'trace them back to their source'. They just seem 'natural' and 'self-generating'. Just ambient air pressure almost. Barely discernable. And if someone told you they were planned and deliberated and directed and choreographed, from a CENTRAL POINT far away, where some DELIBERATE ACTION had been taken to PRODUCE these relatively subtle 'waves of pressure', you'd wonder at their sanity. Even their motivation. How could they say such a thing? Based on what? Why would they claim such a thing? What were their intentions?

Once you blackmail a few people into cooperating with you (a baby step or 'child's play' if you prefer), or occupy the leadership positions of some established 'social circle' or playful, local, 'secret society', you can easily convince people you have a lot more power than you do have. People respond to immediate threats and opportunities in ways they wouldn't normally admit to themselves, let alone others. Everyone likes to think of themselves as incorruptible. And thus maintain the same comforting over-exaggeration of the 'incorruptibility' of others around them. Their 'respected authority figures'. It makes them feel safer. Imagining the people in power would certainly 'blow the whistle' on any conspiracy long before it became as hegemonic as it would need to be to carry off such things as 'The Co2vid Conspiracy', or even something more localised like 'Nine Eleven' or 'The Oklahoma City Bombing' or 'Sandy Hook'.

In reality the reason most people aren't participating actively in some grand conspiracy is that they weren't offered a place at the table. Offer the majority of people some way to 'get ahead' that was 'not strictly correct or ethical' and the only thing that might stop them is fear. But if they are convinced 'everyone else is doing it', or 'the group we will be working with are untouchable', then the only thing stopping them from 'selling out' is 'being made an offer to do so'. While most people are corrupt by nature, they lack the OPPORTUNITY to ACT on their instincts, or the courage to risk getting caught. But anyone who imagines 'Large Scale Conspiracies are simply not POSSIBLE' probably is in denial about their OWN human nature. Their own motivations. Their own secret longings for opportunities to express their corrupt impulses. And denying all the little ways they themselves have 'taken advantage' of opportunities and situations to act unfairly towards others, even to harm others, and 'steal' and 'cheat' and so on. And almost EVERYONE is in denial of their horrifically opportunistic exploitation of their power over other sentient beings, including other humans with less power than themselves, but especially all the animals they 'lord it over' and enslave and exploit without compassion or a moments hesitation. So it is really a form of denial, to deny that conspiracies are even possible, let alone a defining characteristic of all human interactions. Almost everyone conspires to get what they want. Any time someone VOTES in an election for a candidate they feel will benefit themselves, they are conspiring to get what THEY want. Any time anyone tries to convince anyone of anything, to do anything THEY want them to do, they are CONSPIRING. Any time two or more people act together to convince someone to do anything, from buying a certain product, to taking a holiday at a certain place, or making any sort of decision intended to benefit the people attempting to persuade them, we are talking about the very defining qualities of CONSPIRACY. Most people will 'shut up' simply to keep their lousy job. So imagine what people will do for a promotion. For a GREAT career. For massive wealth and prestige and status. Most newly initiated conspirators won't be asked to do anything BIG at all. Just a lot of 'little' things, that all add up, in the end, to something HUGE they, as individuals, are completely unaware of. Some are even acting from ideological motives, having b been tricked into thinking they are serving some 'greater good', or 'the good of the many', or simply 'the good', and that 'the ends justify the means' they are being asked to employ. Nothing is MORE likely than that people will collaborate with any already established conspiracy that can offer them benefits, career advancement opportunities, wealth, prestige, status, power, and privileges. And the Cult of Judah has had over 3000 years to amass the sorts of connections and ability to 'provide benefits for' its existing, and new recruits. In fact most people are recruited by other members who are near the bottom of the pyramidal structure. The elites get a chance to select their most promising candidates from these, then groom them, then install them in positions of power and trust and authority and influence in every area of society. Meanwhile working towards ever increasing concentration of power in ever fewer hands, in ever fewer institutions and positions, making it that much easier to assume total control, simply by 'occupying' these relatively few positions of power. So that those puppets occupying those positions become a de facto, proxy, one world dictatorship, where the real decision makers can remain 'behind the scenes' and never need expose themselves. The slaves are allowed to believe they are free. Sham elections are held in which it doesn't matter which side gets a slight majority, because every political player of any significance is working for the Cult of Judah. Even the supposed 'anti-Semitic ones. The 'controlled opposition'.

Coulombs and Amperes

In the 1700s Charles Augustin de Coulomb developed his synonymous law of electrostatic charges. 'The force of electrostatic attraction or repulsion is directly proportional to the product of the two charges and inversely proportional to the square of the distance between them'. Today the 'Coulomb' (C) is the international unit of electric charge, defined as the charge transferred by a current of 1 ampere in one second.

More precisely, it is, again, a countable, QUANTIFYABLE unit. 1 C = 6.25 times 3 to the power of 18 electrons. That's 6,250,000,000,000,000,000 electrons. That's like comparing 200 billion years to one second. That's how many electrons would have to flow past a point in a circuit PER SECOND, to transfer a charge of 1 Coulomb through a circuit.

I felt rich getting paid MILLIONS of South Korean Won. If you want to feel really rich, count the atoms in the stuff you 'own'. But don't get used to it. Soon you will 'own' nothing at all, not even your own body, or thoughts. But don't worry, 'The Authorities' confidently DECLARE that, as a result, we will be HAPPIER! It's like my friend at the electronics store, who saw Windows FORCED updates as 'relieving him of having to decide for himself'. I suggested to him what a relief it would be to be relieved of having to decide OTHER stuff for himself. You know, what they used to call 'Democracy' and 'Freedom' and 'Liberty' and 'Self-determination' and 'Sovereignty'. Well soon you won't have to make many decisions at all, for yourself, or your family. The Cult of Judah occupation government, proxies for their One World Dictatorship, will read from the script given to them by their handlers, and carry out their instructions. All in the name of 'protecting you' from their 'imaginary bogey man this time they've given the epithet 'Covid-19'. Add this 'Djinn' and 'Devil' to the long list of their previous 'protection racket bogey men'. You know, 'terrorism' and 'drugs' and 'right-wing extremists a.k.a domestic terrorists'. Oh, and protecting you from a 'global climate crisis' they lead you to believe is 'man-made', rather than just a continuation of the long cycles of solar activity induced heating and cooling of the earth.

So get 6,250,000,000,000,000,000 electrons moving past any point in your circuit, PER SECOND, and you've got yourself a Coulomb of energy. And of course as most circuits are AC, you'll have to 'shift' the same number of electrons back the other way, each second, too! Lucky they are so small, and light! Sissyphus would feel genuinely fortunate with his one rock to roll. Albeit a heavier, larger, single object.

What we need to remember at all times is that Covid can strike you down at anytime, anywhere, without warning, and without the slightest symptoms appearing. One minute you're driving your car down the road, and a truck squashed you flat, your brains all over the road, and the next Covid will kill you! Make no mistake about it. The coincidences are just that. Mere coincidences. That truck and the brains and all played NO role at all in your death. It was Covid. Sure and simple.

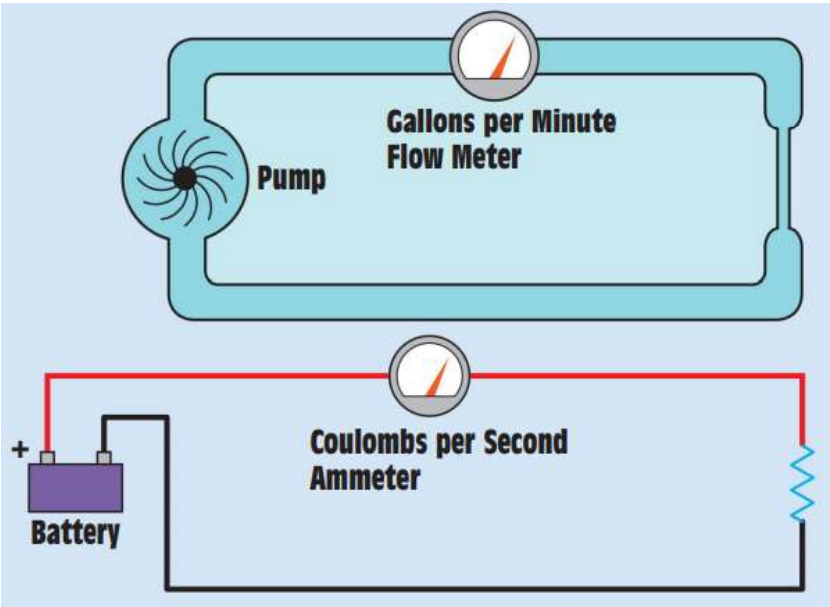
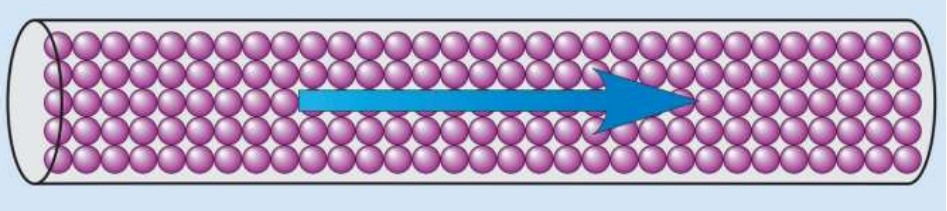
No, I meant to say, we need to keep in mind what we are talking about here. Electrons as CHARGE CARRIERS. The charges can even move across 'gaps' in the circuit that electrons themselves cannot cross. But what matters is that charges are moved around the circuit. And it is the electron that is generally the 'charge carrrier'. Though 'bump theory' would suggest it is really the electrons kinetic energy that is transferred as electrons 'collide', it is the initial 'impulse ' or electromagnetic energy pulse that starts the chain reaction OF collisions between electrons, like the pool cue striking that first pool ball, transferring its kinetic energy to that first ball, which then strikes other balls in succession, each time most of the original kinetic energy being transferred / passed onto / transmitted to, the next ball that is struck.

Reflexive of Coulomb's law, André Ampère's 'Ampere' (A) is equal to 6,250,000,000,000,000,000, or 1 coulomb of, electrons, flowing past any point in a circuit per second.



A power generator or DC battery repel and/or attract electrons, so that they 'collide with' other electrons, or simply 'repel' them in the same direction. So that while no electron 'travels' from A to B, like a row of billiard balls, the first one being hit travels as far as the next ball (atom and valence electron) which it transfers its energy to, by 'repelling' in the same direction, to set up a chain reaction, down the line of balls. Atoms are so tightly packed that the last ball is hit almost immediately that the first one is hit. So it would look more like a solid 'bar' of billiard ball material, rather than discrete individual balls, and as if you pushed the bar at one end, and the other end immediately moved.



The purple balls right could be water molecules we perceive as a flowing current of water, or electrons we measure as a 'current' of electricity. Water molecules always travel from one end of the tube to the other. Whereas with electrons, this is the case only in DC circuits. In AC circuits, such as household power supplies, electrons. EACH PULSE, only travel as far as the next closest atom/electron they 'strike'. The first row far left will 'hit' the row immediately to their right, which will set up a chain reaction, so that almost immediately that the first row strikes, the second last row strikes the last row, far right. The electrons barely 'travel' at all, PER PULSE. But like our blood being pumped by our heart, the pulses repeat. Like the air pressure pulses our minds render as 'sound'. And so each PULSE sends a QUANTITY of electrons moving right, downstream, away from the heart, or air pressure disturbance (which we refer to as 'sound source'). And so the first row, given enough 'pulses' will eventually make its way from far left to far right, passing through the next closest atom each pulse. Or perhaps the pulses provide enough energy for a volume (rather than just a cross-sectional area) of electrons to move between more than one atom during each PULSE. Like air travels a distance in the time between each pressure maxima. So that we might observe a 'compression' and 'expansion' of atoms and electrons corresponding to that which occurs in air pressure pulses.

I would love to take some high resolution camera, set up some 'colored fog', and see if we could translate the compression and expansion phases of spherical air pressure pulses into spheres of varying density of color. I suspect something like this must be possible. And I suspect the same sort of compression and expansion of air molecules occurs in the atoms of conductors.

The billiard/pool ball analogy would require that a constant 'stream' of new balls be added to the table, and hit, in quick succession, so that the original 'first ball in the line' soon is 'pushed' to the end of the line (the earlier balls having fallen into the 'pockets' of the billiard/pool table.

Earlier in this odyssey it seemed to me that electrons didn't actually 'flow' in AC circuits. Now I can conceive how they might. The contrived situation of the DC battery made it easy to see how and why electrons would end up 'travelling from the 'negative' terminal to the 'positive' terminal. And it should leave us all wondering why the earth and other planets are not 'sucked into the vacuum of space' as a group. Forget any notions of relative 'gravitational forces' preventing this. Because even the SUN should naturally be 'sucked into' any 'vacuum of space', pulling us along with it, gravity or no gravity. Like the electrons in the negative cell of the DC battery being 'pulled' and 'sucked' and 'draw' into the positive cell of the DC battery. Or cooler air and water being sucked into the 'relatively lower pressure system' a.k.a 'relative vacuum' left by sun heated (yes folks, it is the sun that heats our planet, not any 'greenhouse effect' which maybe contributes a single 'exhalation of C02' or a 'fart' of heat, to a large auditorium of cold people'), and thus RISING, column of air or water.

And to get back to my 'problems' with the explanations of TONE CIRCUITS I've come across so far during this odyssey, I can now conceive that all it takes is to divert the quantity of electrons that are pulsing at the highest rates (frequencies) into a 'side-street' each time the pick-up 'pulses out' new electrons. (I wonder how long it would take for the pickup to run out of electrons?) They only have to be prevented from reaching the guitar output jack during the POSITIVE phase of the cycle, as they are being REPELLED in that direction. For almost immediately they are ATTRACTED back down the circuit towards the pickup. So the TONE CIRCUIT with the capacitor doesn't need to be able to HOLD that many electrons. They don't need to 'travel to earth' the other side of the capacitor either. That 'other side' merely needs to be able to allow the quantity of electrons pulsing at the highest RATES (frequencies) and thus MOVING AT THE HIGHEST VELOCITIES, per pulse, and per positive cycle of the AC current generated by the pickups, to accumulate on the pickup side of the capacitor, by allowing a corresponding quantity of electrons on the earth side of the capacitor to 'shift' away from the capacitor, and thus 'draw' their corresponding quantities of equivalently fast moving/pulsing electrons on the other side. Perhaps I will find a way to express what I am learning more simply and succinctly as my odyssey progresses!

A few more 'cracks' in 'The Official Narrative', which you can choose to 'putty over' and ignore, as it seems 'everyone else' does Electron Flow Theory states that as electrons are negative particles, current flows from the most negative point in the circuit to the most positive.

In the same way FEAR is the MOST compelling of all motivations. People will run FROM something they have been trained/conditioned/told/informed/tricked into being TERRIFIED of (no matter how harmless it really is, or whether it even exists or not, outside the imagination) much faster than they will run TOWARDS anything they want/desire.

Let's call this 'Markus' Law'. The nobel prize will be awared to some Cult of Judah agent or affiliate, possibly even someone who self-identifies as 'Jewish'. But you and I will know who 'discovered' this law! Though of course the Cult of Judah itself discovered this law thousands of years ago. And every 'protection racket' scam artist in history 'discovered' it since, and before, to their great personal profit. At an immensely high cost to all their 'victims'.

So it is the force of REPULSION that 'repels' electrons AWAY FROM themselves, that is here, in this theory, seen as the 'motive force' or 'driving power' behind current flows / oscillations.

Though of course, reflexively, it is the atom's positive charge that can also be said to be 'attracting' the negatively charged electrons. And Cults thus usually employ both carrots and sticks. So they tell you you can't rape or steal from or kill other cult members. But all other non-cult members are 'fair game'. You must submit to the will of the priests. But your wife must submit to YOUR will. And your wife must submit to her husband, but her slaves (non-cult members) must submit to HER will. And so on.

But wait, as a true exception to the rule, at least one of the ALTERNATIVE narratives to 'The Official Narrative' just stated, has not been censored 'out of existence', so that Wikipedia can claim it 'never existed' and is merely a 'conspiracy theory'. Without even having to post a bunch of empty links and references that it can confidently claim 'prove the alternative narrative is wrong' beyond any doubt, because it can rest assured that no-one is going to FOLLOW those links and devote the time it would take to SEE that those references prove NOTHING AT ALL, let alone justify 'dismissing' the 'Alternative narrative' 'out of hand'.

The original, 'Conventional current flow theory' holds that current flows from the most positive point to the most negative.

Most electronic circuits, such as used in a cars electrical system, use the negative terminal as ground or 'common', so that the positive terminal is considered to be 'above' ground, or 'hot'.

The graphical representations of circuits called 'schematics' also suggest, via arrows on the semiconductor symbols, that current flows from the more positive to the more negative source.

So we have a situation where 'the known' (according to the updated, revised, correct 'Official Narrative') contradicts 'the familiar'. Usually what is 'familiar' is synonymous in definition, and in our consciousness, as 'the known'. We 'know' something often merely on the basis of it having been 'repeated' by every 'significant other' and 'authority figure' in our social circle, and on tell-lie-vision, and on 'the web (of lies and deceit)', so that it has become 'familiar' to us. It is one of the ways in which cult thralls become brainwashed. They FEEL certain they 'know' something, in the same way you FEEL certain you 'know' something you have grown up with. It is 'familiar'. And 'you'd know it anywhere'. Any time you came across it. Like you can immediately identify a 'familiar' song from its opening notes. Or the identity of someone walking towards you, even in the dark, by their 'familiar' way of walking. Or recognise a 'familiar smell' with just a whiff. And usually 'familiar' sights and sounds and smells are 'comforting'. So much so that many perfumed goods manufacturers include the same 'fragrance' they put in their baby powders, in their adult lines. Because of the 'comfort' these smells, familiar to adults from their infancy, bring them, without any conscious awareness of why the latest 'adult' scent is so 'comforting' and 'pleasing' to them.

It's like the QWERTY keyboard on your laptop. It actually was designed to SLOW DOWN your typing, to avoid jamming of the keys of the original mechanical typewriters. To encourage typists to adapt the new technology of computers, they laid out the computer keyboard keys in the familiar QWERTY pattern.

Everyone working in the electrical field had become familiar with the old schematics which reflected Benjamin Franklin's 'conventional' theory. And as I feared, people took the 'water flow and water pressure' analogy as a 'crutch' to FEEL they 'understood' electricity. And that model requires water to flow 'downhill' from 'positive pressure' to 'negative pressure'. And people were familiar and comfortable with following the flow of electricity from the top of a schematic, down to the bottom of it. With the 'earth' necessarily needing to be 'at the bottom' because water flows from above to below. And if the earth has a lower potential, it should also be graphically presented as 'lower' in the diagrams.

When you start learning things, such 'crutches' can help you gain confidence that you are gaining understanding. But the problem comes when the analogy doesn't really hold in some other context. And in fact seems to contradict the 'known' facts and observable outcomes. But once we 'learn' something and it becomes 'familiar' we feel we 'know' it, and it provides a source of comfort. But in fact it gets in the way of us TRULY understanding what we are talking about. And sets the scene for a lot of confusion if your understanding is really TESTED, and if some new observation doesn't conform with 'the familiar' and 'known'. This can limit innovation. And prevent us ever truly understanding the subject matter. And reality itself. TROONATNOOR.

So comparing electricity flow to water flow, while offering students a 'safety net' and 'crutch', may do more harm than good. The analogy / metaphor / simile has led to 'conventions' that everyone became 'comfortable' with and found it hard to dispense with. So we are stuck with ways of talking ABOUT electrical circuit flow, that contradict the reality. And ways of graphically REPRESENTING electrical circuit flow which do the same. And surely this can NOT be the OPTIMAL, most desirable, situation to encourage?

It should be as clear to you as it is to me, if I've been at all clear so far, that electrons, with their negative charge, are repelled by the negatively charged terminal, and attracted to the positively charged terminal, and so clearly they flow from negative to positive, and this is clear to see in the case of a DC power supply, where electrons only flow in one direction, from the negative terminal (which using a water analogy is the 'high pressure' terminal), to the positive terminal (which using a water analogy is the 'low pressure' terminal).

So in terms of 'pressure' due to relative abundance and relative scarcity, as we encounter in water and wind pressure contexts, the 'negative' terminal of a battery is the HIGH pressure region. And the 'positive' terminal of the battery is the LOW pressure region. And its is this POTENTIAL which generates the FLOW of electrons, as it would encourage the flow water and air. From HIGH pressure to LOW pressure. But only IF you use a PUMP analogy.

If you use an 'aerofoil' or 'propeller' analogy, it is always the LOW pressure front that 'draws' the propeller forwards, and 'lifts' the wing upwards. And to maintain the correspondence, we would thus say that the 'positive' terminal / cell 'draws' / sucks / pulls electrons towards it, out of the 'negative' cell. The 'relative scarcity' and 'relative vacuum' and 'relative low pressure region' the 'positive' batter cell and terminal represent, acts the same as any 'relative vacuum' or 'relatively low pressure' region has on the air or water surrounding it. It 'sucks' and 'pulls' and 'draws' water and air from below and around it, into itself. So the metaphor / analogy can be 'worked' to fit nicely.

However hopefully we see the limit of analogies and metaphors. And why we need to ensure students move BEYOND the 'crutches' these metaphors offer, towards a REAL and DEEP actual UNDERSTANDING of the phenomena we are dealing with.

But this raises the same question I have about Covid-19 and 'The 6 million' supposed victims in 'The Official Holocaust Narrative'. The 'authorities' and 'scientists' who are allowed to speak to the public never actually provide any EVIDENCE for the existence of the things they talk about. And the public have been trained not to demand any such evidence. To merely take 'authorities' 'at their word' and accept what is basically HEARSAY as 'gospel'. As self-evident fact. Self-evident because 'The authorities know everything, and they would never lie to us'. And thus 'beyond question'. Even though ZERO actual EVIDENCE to support their DECLARATIONS is ever forthcoming. Such as the typical images we have of OTHER 'viral microbes'. Or any evidence of sufficient gas chambers, or cremation ovens, to facilitate the 'carrying out of' the supposed 'official orders' given for genocide of 'The Jews'. Things are so absurd that investigation of the claims has become a criminal offense punishable by long prison sentences and massive fines, bankruptcy, and life-long unemployment and social ostracism and ex-communication. So that some 'authority' can claim 'there are hundreds of thousands of bodies buried here' and then deny anyone the right to carry out simple ultrasound tests that would not in any way physically 'disturb' the remains, and could not be expected to produce any 'emotional pain' in anyone, let alone be the equivalent of 'murdering them all over again'. Given the value a positive ultrasound report would offer 'The Official Holocaust Narrative', there is only one reasonable, rational, explanation for this 'hampering' of investigation. Simply that 'The Official Holocaust Narrative', like 'The Official Covid Narrative' and 'Official man-made global climate crisis Narrative', could NOT survive a free, open, public, peer-reviewed, discussion, let alone debate, interrogation, and scientific and criminal investigation. The sort we 'conventionally' expect to take place when such WILD claims are thrown around, and where the COSTS are IMMEASURABLE. To the point of millions of people dying, losing their jobs, and losing ALL their freedoms, liberties, and legal rights. Even those their constitutions supposedly GUARANTEE them as INVIOLABLE. To the point of total CENSORSHIP. To the point of those people who will not 'self-censor' rotting in prison cells. Simply to PROTECT 'The Official Narrative'. And so this situation begs the question. WHY? CUI BONO? WHO BENEFITS. And the answer 'follow the money'. Follow the POWER. And where do these lead? Directly and indirectly, and infallibly, to the Cult of Judah!

How 8cm an hour translates into 'almost the speed of light'

The hare and tortoise 'paradox' (an artefact of assuming we travel by crossing half-distances twice, rather than simply travelling one full distance) has nothing on electrons.

Consider the speed at which an electron travels. About 8*cm* an hour (at 1 ampere of current flow). Yes, centimeters. So here we have our 'tortoise'.

But then how does the 'charge' manage to travel at pretty much the speed of light? So that a charge, appearing at one end of a circuit, almost literally, instantaneously, appears at the other end of it? So that if you wound a copper wire around the earth 10 times, and placed a DC voltage supply source and switch at one end, and a light at the other, it would only take around 1.3 seconds for the 'electrical impulse' to travel around the world ten times before 'lighting' the lamp!

We are talking one 'Speedy Gonzalez' hare here. Do we have Xeno's wet dream of a paradox? An insoluble riddle? Do you feel you are about to be initiated into one of the 'higher mysteries'? Well like all 'magic tricks' and 'paradoxes', the answer is quite simple. Just as the answer to that question 'How could a MASS scale INTERNATIONAL conspiracy ever SUCCEED!

You just have to remember how tightly packed atoms are. So that the distances that need to be travelled before one electron 'collides with' another electron, in a neighboring atom, are infinitesimally short. The hare and tortoise almost immediately reach the finish line, the very moment they leave the starting line. Virtually the very instant they begin to move off.

Left is a simplified model of an electron entering a circuit, and almost immediately 'pushing out' the last electron in that circuit.

If Aether is the 'finest' matter, even finer than photon energy (coherent stabilised 'standing waves'), then transmission of any pulse through it could be almost instantaneous even across light-years of distance. And we'd finally know the REAL reason why Aether had to be 'written out of the history books' and 'The Official Narrative'. Einstein's limiting the speed of travel to that of 'photon pulses' a.k.a 'light' would simply not hold. They 'patched up' 'The Official Narrative' by 'discovering' new 'characters' to add to their script, any time one was needed. Such as all the 'quantum' stuff. Got a problem with your model? Well we'll simply add a new dimension. There is no limit to how many new 'dimensions' we can 'discover'. Kids call it 'fibbing'. 'Making stuff up'. Lying. Cheating. Judges call it fraud. Unless you are making up a 'Holocaust' or 'Covid-19 pandemic' or 'man-made global climate crisis', in which case, having been preselected, groomed, then installed in the 'Jew-diciary', they will take a more 'artistic' view of truth, in which a blatant lie will be employed to 'promote a HIGHER truth'. You know, Plato's 'noble lie'. So now 'The Ministry of Truth' can employ 'fact checkers' to ensure every public utterance is 'on script'. The script is 'the higher truth' we referred to. The ends justify the means, so they imagine.

The pulses of electromagnetic energy we like to refer to as 'Radio waves', move at about the speed of light, clocking in at roughly 300,000,000 meters per second. The velocity of AC through a conductor is a tad slower, as magnetic fields travel slower through material dielectrics than they do through the atmosphere.

A tad? That's a precise unit of measurement, T, named in honor of Tad Williams. A pioneer in the field of invisible pink elephant defense technologies. Thanks to him very few people are squashed to death by invisible pink elephants. There are 6 times ten to the power of 1200 'tads' in a 'touch'. Or? If I was some 'authority' and 'people you trusted' on tell-lie-vision repeated this, and you read it in 'Wikipedia', with a few references to other places I'd written the same rubbish, I'm sure you wouldn't bat an eye lid. And next time you came across that term, you'd 'know' what it meant. And be able to confidently explain it to someone who didn't!

Oh, and that 'old CANARD' about 'conspiracies being impossible' is even easier to debunk as being, ITSELF 'the greatest conspiracy theory of all time'. What do I mean? Well those in power have conspired to make it SEEM impossible to the average cult thrall. When in fact it is the easiest thing in the world, if you have 3000 years, and A MASTER PLAN. A very SIMPLE plan. A plan giving you literally the power to 'create' money from nothing. First you learn how to make money grow on trees. Well, to make money FROM trees. From PAPER. O.K, U.S currency is printed on a sort of fabric, not paper. But you get the point. NACASH. Free money. Literally. And the monetization of fear known as 'Professional Medical Authority'. So you can sell worthless 'holy water', branding it as 'vaccine' that is sure to protect the thralls from 'possession by evil spirits' and 'the evil eye'. And so on. Once you have 'Da Munnee', you can buy anyone and anything you need to. The number of people who will refuse to serve any Cult, when offered relief from their financial problems (inflicted on them by the Cult itself, but who's telling!), and the chance to climb up the greasy pole, and up to the higher levels of the pyramidal structure, where prestige, respect, authority, power, privilege, and all the other benefits await, ensuring you'll get 'paid and laid' and be the envy of all those people who thought they were 'better than you', smarter, harder working, more talented, and so on, is almost zero. Especially when the offer of all these goodies comes with threats of 'fates worse than death' awaiting you if you did, for some strange reason, refuse. We are dealing with 'an offer too good to refuse'. Followed by, where necessary, a threat you cannot ignore.

To paraphrase that old 'sleight of mouth' bit of specious sophistry, 'The Devil's biggest deception was convincing people he doesn't exist', the Conspirators biggest conspiracy was in deceiving the people into believing conspiracies COULD not exist. That is one up on 'The devil' for sure, right? It is one thing to convince people you do NOT exist. Just as The Cult of Judah 'does not exist' according to almost anyone I speak to. Not only do the conspiracies we continually expose not EXIST, they COULDN'T exist. They are not even POSSIBLE. So goodbye to the 'eternal vigilance' the greatest minds in history like Plato, Adam Smith, and the writers of the U.S Constitution demanded of us, as the price for maintenance of the liberties they had bestowed upon us. And hello to 'why bother wasting a single moment's thought on such a subject as 'conspiracies' when 'THEY ARE NOT EVEN POSSIBLE'. What crazy tinfoil hat nutter would waste their mental energies and time worrying about something that SIMPLY COULD NOT HAPPEN. And we are talking about highly educated people here. From 'hard' science backgrounds. Who are simply INCAPABLE OF EVEN ENTERTAINING THE IDEA OF A CONSPIRACY.

Even when there is one staring them in the face. Right under their noses. Developing before their very eyes.

Stripping away their EVERY legal protection. Their every 'basic human right'. Their every 'liberty' and 'freedom'. The last remaining vestiges of anything even approaching personal privacy. And personal SOVEREIGNTY. And even DEMOCRATIC PROCESS. Though that is a joke in itself. For the reason the Cult of Judah so actively promote 'democracy' is because it is the easiest way to DICTATE to the masses and ENSLAVE them. For none are more enslaved than those who have been deceived and tricked into BELIEVING they are in fact free.

THAT is the 'Devils greatest deception' paraphrased for the context of political science. Democracy as the greatest deception of the Dictator.

'Wave length'

One of my pet peeves is to hear people go on about 'sound waves' and 'light waves' and 'the wavelengths' of various electromagnetic frequencies. Because of the graphic representations that immediately spring to mind. Those 'snakey lines'. The 'sinusoidal wave form' it conjures up. As if energy pulses travel like flying snakes through the air.

Lets get something clear. The wavelength of a regularly repeating pulse of energy, no matter what its source, or at what rate it repeats (frequency), is the DISTANCE the energy pulse travels during ONE CYCLE in a particular medium. One Herz refers to a RATE or 'frequency' of one pulse per second.

One cycle is the distance that was or could have been travelled in the time it took for that energy pulse to develop from one 'pressure maxima' and the next. Or between one Peak Voltage and the next.

Because Alternating Current takes 'one step forward, one step back' we have to add the 'absolute' values, or they would self-cancel.

So the spherical energy pulses we refer to as 'sound waves', because our minds RENDER them as sound, and because when we RENDER them graphically by plotting Amplitude against time, the result is a sine wave form, travel through the atmosphere at around 340m/s. But the same energy pulses will travel at different speeds through water, or concrete. So 'sound waves' that repeat at a particular RATE, a.k.a 'frequency', don't have an innate 'wave length' because they travel at different speeds through different mediums, as different forms of 'vibration'. But if we specify the medium, we can easily calculate the distance between air pressure maxima, or concrete pressure maxima, or water pressure maxima.

For spherical pulses of energy travelling through the air, at a repeating rate (frequency) of 340 times per second (340Hz), the distance between air pressure maxima will be this rate (frequency) / 340m/s and as we measure frequency in Herz (Hz), or 'cycles per second', we get 340/s/340/s, so that we are left with a value of 1, and as our units are 'meters', we can proclaim a 'wave length' of 1m for a 340Hz 'frequency'.

But an observer able to RENDER air pressure differentials as different shades of black, would see ever expanding spheres, blackest at their point of maximum compression, and whitest at their points of minimum compression / maximum expansion. They wouldn't see 'snakey lines'. There are no 'sound waves' anywhere. Other than as graphical representations plotting Amplitude (compression) against time (and thus distance). THAT is where our 'snakey lines' exist. As 'shadows on the wall'. Almost literally.

$$L = \frac{984\ V}{f} \quad \text{where}$$

L = length in feet
V = velocity factor
f = frequency in megahertz (MHz)

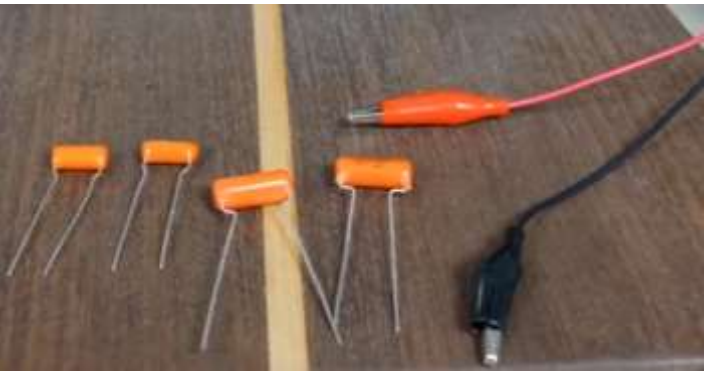
The velocity factor is determined by the impedance and capacitance values of a particular conductor, and it expressed as a decimal value. Air has a velocity factor of 0.975. Coaxial cable is 0.66. so a 5-MHz signal would move 129.888 feet through a coaxial cable during one full Alternating Cycle. Which should get you thinking about what 'wave length' could possibly MEAN in a context where most cables used in the home or music studio rarely extend beyond 50m. And usually are under a meter. It puts the supposed value of the concept itself in question. Whereas frequency is pulses per second, and amplitude is 'loudness' or 'brightness' or some other form of 'intensity' of the energy pulse, what is this thing referred to as 'wave length'? In what contexts does an energy pulse get 230,000 feet to 'develop' over?

The more often a pressure pulse REPEATS per second, the quicker it will have to develop complete cycles, and the shorter the distance there will be between peaks in its 'wave form' (when rendered as amplitude/voltage/current against time). And the faster the pulse travels, the greater the distance it will cover WHILE completing one full cycle.

Finally someone has used the phrase 'i*mpulse* of electricity' in the context of the speed of transmission of a charge from one end of a circuit to another. It is the pulse of energy that interests us. Electrons merely, because they repel each other, (they don't ever actually 'collide' as nothing ever 'touches' anything else, BECAUSE of the fact that like charges repel, and the outer 'shell' of any atom is made up OF valence electrons which all share the same 'charge', negative. So no electron ever 'touches' the nucleus. A 'collision' might result in an electron being 'pushed' into a lower orbit, a bit closer to the nucleus, but it will never 'touch' it.

It's like trying to 'get at' the 'elite' puppet masters at the head of The Cult of Judah. You might 'push around' some of their 'outer circle' of handlers, but any time you 'take one out' it will immediately be replaced by another willing puppet, just waiting in the wings. Already pre-selected and groomed, and just raring to serve its Cult of Judah masters. For a chance at climbing up the pyramidal structure to enjoy the greater privileges and benefits available at each level.

Every guitar should have one?



The idea of building a 'test wiring breadboard' into the back of a guitar with alligator clips or pre-soldered connections would let you test out a range of different cap and resistor values, and selector switch combinations, without soldering and de-soldering and soldering and… I've now seen Vloggers pull out entire pick-up sets and replace with another complete set, simply by pulling a single block out of the back of the guitar, and pushing another one in, even different pickup combinations i.e just H, HHH, SSS, SSH, HS, HSS, as the one unit filled in all the space, each time…another one for the controls would be great… and 'Obsidian wire' do really beautiful, OCD level pre-wired guitar wiring harnesses and controls…so a lot has happened since I had the luxury of surfing online for guitar related stuff… top left shows alligator clips you could connect to Pots used in Volume and Tone circuits, to be free to swap out different value caps and resistors…to pre-EQ and 'tone shape' the fundamentals of your guitar, before the signal even hits the output jack…you could experiment with everything from zero (straight through to output jack) to all sorts of different value resistances and capacitances, and even 'A/B' (always double blind so neither YOU nor any other participant in the A/B trial knows which Cap type or value is in at any particular point in time, so you can avoid 'bias' in expectations, which can change how you play, and your actual perceptions of what comes out, even with a robot playing with the exact same velocity etc as you pick etc…You could even then add 'circuits' from the back, simply by taking the alligator clips connected to the pickup output itself, and changing pup wiring from series to parallel, etc…basically place extra 'controls' and 'options' at the back of the guitar…one's you won't need to change 'on the fly'…then when you've worked out what you REALLY benefit from having 'on deck', you can place those controls there, and keep the 'other stuff' on tap, for when you need it…to change between songs etc… you could make different parts of the ciruit 'actively participate' at different times…

The trouble with the language used in Electronics is that it adds so many opportunities for misunderstanding, obfuscation, and confusion

'The Official Narrative' we are dealing with in electronics is as 'dodgy' as any Dickensian novel 'artful dogder'. A real 'slippery fish'. And few people are willing to admit it. What they do 'know' is 'how to work with' the formulas and calculations to 'get stuff done'. To 'get results'. That's as far as their 'need for understanding' goes. Their 'understanding' is of a purely practical, tradesman, heuristic, type. Which is fine. Unless like me you are trying to get at the heart of TROONATNOOR.

But when trying to learn and teach even the 'practical' side of things, the 'dodginess' of 'The Official Fiction' keeps adding obstacles and opportunities for confusion. Which the accumulated, multiple language, terms and concepts, don't help reduce.

We could 'rationalise' 'The language of electronics' and pay homage to those who gifted us our understandings by writing up histories, rather than naming things after people, or using the terms they 'coined'. And everyone would 'be a winner'. The inventors and discoverer's legacies would remain intact, or be revised where appropriate, to match 'the REAL history'. And we'd have a language and descriptors and terms to use that were LOGICALLY DESCRIPTIVE.

But that might make the HOLES in 'The Official Narrative' too obvious. And so the REAL reason the language hasn't been rationalized, might be ulterior. To protect that narrative from being challenged. Revised. Replaced by a superior one. So we have to ask 'Cui Bono'. Who benefits from the current narrative. And has a vested interested in maintaining it, in the face OF 'superior' narratives'. Or at least REVISION of some of its 'articles of faith' and 'dogmas' and 'l.a.w laws'.

Readers of my other TROONATNOOR guides will note how I 'cringe' at the use of terms like 'creation' and 'create'. And at all the 'sleights of mouth' involved in most 'Official Narratives'. And dealing with this 'Official Narrative' is no exception. For terms like 'sound waves' and 'light waves' and 'wave forms' are almost unbearable to my ear. Excruciatingly frustrating. Because I am NOT confident that MOST people understand they are describing ARTEFACTS and not the actual phenomena, when they use such terms. The ARTEFACT of RENDERING a 3-D phenomena 'out there', with a visual REPRESENTATION, by plotting various features OF the phenomena, as graphs. For example when plotting the strength (amplitude) of an air pressure pulse, over time. Or plotting the velocity of an electromagnetic pulse (Voltage) over time. To render 3-D SPHERICAL pulses of air pressure radiating out in all directions, and thus pushing exponentially larger VOLUMES of air, as 2-D 'wave forms'. Which are then referred to as 'sound waves'. Where NO sound exists 'out there' at all. 'Sound' is an artifact of how our MINDS RENDER those 3-D spherical pulses of air pressure. As 'sounds'. Of varying 'pitch'.

Frequency refers to the RATE at which something to repeats per second. The mind 'latches onto' and 'attends to' and 'seeks out' patterns in any signal inputted to it. So the 'pulsing' has to have a PATTERN to it. It has to repeat REGULARLY at a certain rate, over a long enough period to deserve the definition 'periodic' or 'rhythmic' or 'consistent' or 'regular'. Only THEN does the mind 'pay attention to it' and 'decode' it a.k.a RENDER it, as visual, audio, tactile, temperature, or olfactory IMPRESSIONS. As color, shape, sound, pitch, pressure, texture, heat-cold, smell, or taste.

For example we are BATHED in a SEA of electromagnetic 'soup'. And our computers and phones are 'tuned into' very narrow bandwidths of the electromagnetic SPECTRUM from very weak pulses of electromagnetism / electromotive force / electromotive 'pressure', that repeat at RATES (frequencies) we can't even begin to imagine, because they are so 'high', at speeds that the human experience cannot relate to (as no threat or opportunity in our MACRO world moves so fast, it would be a waste of CPU resources to 'tune' to them); right up to pulses that repeat so seldom, our mind would have to be incredibly 'interested' to even attend to, and thus 'notice' the pattern in. Like when people talk so slow you forget what they said earlier on, and it becomes a form of torture to TRY to attend to their meaning, and you are quickly distracted by other 'faster moving' thoughts and stimuli.

[Or like Germanics like me conveying 6 holistically connected concepts in one utterance, so that your short term RAM is overwhelmed, and as I add a new holistically related concept, earlier ones I introduces 'slip out' of the RAM, unless you REALLY pay attention and focus. Did that just happen then? Possibly. Which is why re-reading is often required. And ONE of the reasons written communication is superior to verbal communication, as a means to REFORMING our belief systems. In the PRIVACY of our own minds. So we can, in PRIVATE, accommodate the EMOTIONAL needs of 'time to process how wrong I've been about everything for so long' and time to work out 'how to deal with the new insights' and to 'face the world and admit I was wrong all this time'. Just ONE of the GENUINE reasons why we NEED 'privacy'. Not because we 'have something to hide'. But because we need TIME to process things EMOTIONALLY. Consider how much more painful it is to have someone 'break up with you' in front of all your friends and relations. Compared to letting you know in private, and giving you TIME to adjust to the new reality. EMOTIONALLY. And mentally. And even practically. Re-arranging your hopes, dreams, plans, and even living situation. Possibly even work and other social interactions.

Challenging someone's 'reality' and publically exposing them to the risk of 'losing face', is something no Socratic leader of any Elenchus (process of question and answer intended to allow mutual pursuit of truth, and exposure of errors in logic and assumptions) would dare risk, in person, in public, because it ensures the mind of the interlocutors would be CLOSED to ADMITTING any flaws in their current logic, assumptions, beliefs, or even thinking PROCESSES. Their critical reasoning skills and methodology, and so on. A mind is like a parachute. I doesn't work unless it is OPEN.

Then there's the PERSONAL RISK the interlocutor runs. They won't risk rejection, disapproval, ostracism, ex-communication, even fines, prison sentences, and ultimately DEATH itself, unless they already had a 'death wish', which Socrates clearly had, and which any true philosopher 'nurtures' so that it must grow in them, long before nature removes all the actual rewards, and the illusory 'false promises' it appeared to make at the start, have been found to be just that, lies. Tricks. The false hope of Pandora's box. Zeus's malevolent / sadistic 'present' to his 'creation'.]

Yes, so people make me cringe when they talk about 'sound waves of different frequencies' but don't give me the impression they truly understand what they are talking ABOUT. What those terms and 'figures of speech' actually refer to. Few people seem even to realise that they ARE 'figures of speech' at all. They talk about them as if 'they were things in themselves'. AS if 'sound' exists 'out there' and 'travels in waves' of snakey lines, through the air. So that if a tree fell in the forest, with no sentient being anywhere to be seen, it would still make a 'sound'. And that things like 'sound' and 'color' and 'smells' and 'tastes' and even 'objects' (only Humeans will immediately 'grok' what I mean) are 'things 'out there' in 'the real world'. Rather than constructions of our mind RENDERING energy pulses with particular amplitudes ,of particular rates of repletion (frequency), as IMPRESSIONS. The IMPRESSIONS of color, pitch, taste, smell, texture, pressure, mass, and so on. Which our minds combine, around some 'locus' we call 'an object' and ascribe TO. So that we end up with subjects/objects with predicates. Objects with 'qualities'. Distinct, discrete, 'things'. Rather than 'electromagnetic soup'.

Yes, so back to the 'problem' of language. Even the 'violence' of language. Where using particular words and phrases and phrasal syntax has the potential to HARM others in some way. Sometimes intentionally, as when we 'verbally abuse' and 'insult' and 'ridicule' and 'talk down to' someone, with the intention of 'hurting' them in some way. Or when we LIE to them or simply withhold key information, or deliberately 'frame' information in ways deliberately INTENED TO DECIEVE AND MISLEAD AND MISDIRECT them. Or simply add to their BURDEN of understanding via obfuscative and confusing and ambiguous and imprecise and unclear language.

Let's start with why I added these comments just now. I wanted to refer to 'making different parts of a circuit active'. 'Enabling' them. 'Instantiating' them. The opposite of 'disabling' or 'bypassing' them. Like you do in audio software like Reaper. To 'enable' a track, or an effect. To add it to the signal chain. Or remove it from the signal chain. For A/B comparisons. Or to record the effect or track.

But in electronics, especially in the context of electric guitars, the term 'active' refers to components like pick-ups that have a 9V battery DC power supply. Rather than relying on the conventional AC 'passive' circuitry, where the ONLY voltage in the system is that added by that electrical generator in the guitar we call 'The pickup'.

So how do I talk about making, for example, a TONE CIRCUIT active, without introducing the potential for confusion. 'What do you mean, like adding a 9V DC battery to it?' When all I mean is 'bypassing' it or not. So if you find me laboring NOT to use the words you were EXPECTING to find in the explanations I give, or in my descriptions, please bear with me. And please try NOT to 'put words in my mouth'. There are REASONS I avoid particular terms and words and language and even concepts. Because I find them obfuscating, ambiguous, 'loaded' with potential for misunderstanding, and often directly being the result OF someone's MIS-understanding. Which often comes back to 'The Official Narrative' and its internal inconsistences and incoherence'.

Which brings me to the Herculean labor of enduring all the 'conventional' analogies and metaphors and similes employed. Even factually erroneous statements people make, 'in order to make it sound like they 'know' something', or to 'make their analogy / metaphor / simile WORK'.

The problem is that a metaphor / simile / analogy often works UP TO A POINT, and then it fails miserably. It is tempting to try to FORCE the simile / metaphor / analogy because it SEEMED to make something so easy to understand and teach. Something otherwise very HARD to try to understand, let alone teach a beginner. The teacher willing to PANDER to the students and earn their gratitude and acceptance and approval and popularity, even 'love', will often PRETEND to have taught something, so that the students can PRETEND they have learned something. And everyone is 'happy'. Sure, they can go away and apply the formulas and equations and 'make stuff happen'. They can 'get results'. They can build stuff. Repair stuff. Even design some stuff. But they can NOT claim to UNDERSTAND why things work as they do. And this is what PHILOSOPHERS seek to do. They are sort of OCD when it comes to this. That's what makes us such UNBEARABLE interlocutors. Such frustrating students. And sometimes teachers too. Because we won't PRETEND we understand something. Or that we have EXPLAINED it. TO OUR SATISFACTION. We are too ambitious for ourselves. And for our students. And they get confused when WE show confusion. And lack of confidence. And are left with the IMPRESSION that 'We don't know what we're talking about'. And RIGHTLY SO. Only the problem for us is that there are lots of other 'teachers' who are either have DELUDED THEMSELVES that they 'know' and are thus truly confident, or are willing to FAKE it and FEIGN CONFIDENCE to give themselves AIRS OF AUTHORITY. As 'knowers'. As 'experts'. And their confidence is infectious. Unlike Covid19, or in fact MOST other so-called 'viruses'. Even ones that actually EXIST. Whereas the BELIEF in IMAGINARY 'knowledge' like the belief in 'Covid19', IS highly infectious. The point being that teachers who make it easy on students by confidently expounding dogmas no matter how absurd, and how internally inconsistent and incoherent, and who APPEAR to be 'authorities' and 'experts' and to KNOW things, are going to attract more students, more readers, and become more popular. THEY are the ones that become famous and 'successful'. While the HONEST teachers who really seek to GROK what they seek to learn and teach, end up like Socrates, or Pythagoras, or Jesus, or Orpheus, or all their 'role models' from pre-recorded, post-Younger Dryas impact, history.

Yes, so to repeat, the conventional language used to 'teach' electronics and to 'explain things' and even 'talk about things' can be very confusing, unhelpful, and obfuscating. With the result being that the conventional language of electronics can be a nightmare to attempt use for explication / explaining / describing purposes, when teaching and learning. And my use of alternative ways of expressing things should not be taken as a lack of understanding. But as a sign that I am truly SEEKING understanding. For myself. As all my TROONATNOR guides are first and foremost references I write for my own use. In this life and potential future lives. If I have the misfortune to end up back on this obscenely horrific and absurd prison plane-et.

And if I don't use the conventional metaphors / similes / analogies then I have good reasons to. Because they only work 'up to a point'. And I am uncomfortable, in true OCD style, with incomplete analogies /metaphors / similes that end up contradicting themselves, or fail to 'go the whole distance'. And leave 'gaps' which the teacher fills with 'well you know it doesn't actually do this but its as if it does and it you think of it this way it will seem to make enough sense to you that you will feel like you kinda understand it and will be comfortable sort of 'getting' what is happening' and in the end 'don't worry', as long as you can construct circuits that fulfill the functions required of them, repair circuits that are broken, and maybe design circuits to serve functions people even haven't thought of yet, and so haven't thought of designing yet.

But surely if it is possible at all TRULY understand something deeply, that will PROPEL advances in technology that otherwise might take a lot more 'hit and miss' 'try and see'. And even lead us to IMAGINING possibilities that we might not otherwise EVER have dared imagined. Had no reason TO ever imagine.

What did TESLA understand that has NOT been shared with us? Or did he just stumble upon something, without managing to 'work out exactly what was going on'?

That is what my TROONATNOOR enterprise is all about. Understanding what is going on. Not just finding narratives that 'sort of explain things' and give us the FEELING of 'control' and 'oversight' and 'order' and 'predictability'.

It's the difference between understanding the true motivations of the people in your life, and simply going on IMPRESSIONS they make on you. For impressions can be misleading. WHY people did something in the past, or are doing it now, might be very different to what you imagine. Or what they deliberately lead you to imagine or believe. Or even straight up lie to you about. If you know WHY people REALLY behave as they do, you can REALLY predict their actions. And work out how to best interact with them. Work out what you can expect from them. And what you need to do to motivate them to do what you want, and NOT do what you don't want them to do, TO you, or in relation to you. To protect yourself FROM them where necessary. And to find the people you SHOULD be investing trust in. The people who are WORTHY of your trust. Who are likely to reciprocate your goodwill and generosity. Not just in repaying formal debts, in business transactions. But in reciprocating all the everyday, little 'transactions' that go to make up our 'relationships' and 'social interactions'.

In a movie surprises are great. To have people act 'out of character'. Inconsistently. We get a thrill out of being 'surprised'. But the last minute 'reveals'. The 'surprise twists'.

But as engineers, of machines, or processes, or societies, we want to be able to predict outcomes. And that only comes from DEEP understanding of the 'motivations' of the characters in our 'narratives'. In this case 'The Official Narrative' of Electrical Engineering. Of electronics. Of electricity itself. This is what will EMPOWER us to dream up better alternatives. Even completely NEW things. To produce the same value at lower costs to all sentient beings. To conceive of even BETTER purposes and FUNCTIONS for technology. And better technologies to perform the same functions, in some SUPERIOR fashion. Such as more efficiently. With fewer negative externalities and more positive externalities. More benefits for more sentient beings. With lower costs for more sentient beings.

You can mass produce something and repair existing circuits and machines, even with a heuristic, rule of thumb, approach. That's China. But to INNOVATE and EVOLVE like Zee Germans, you need to work at a DEEPER understanding of things. Everyone can be taught how to generate electricity from flowing water. Zee Germans worked out how to cut through solid steel with water. The Cult of Judah worked out the motivations of humans, and how to manipulate them at levels other cults before them only dreamed of. The Cult of Judah are not just responsible for the overwhelming body of Hollywood film and television 'narratives'. They are the authors of almost EVERY important narrative you could mention. From 'The Official Covid 19 Narrative' to 'The Official Virus Narrative' to 'The Official Holocaust Narrative' to 'The Official History Narrative' to 'The Official pre-historic history Narrative' to 'The Official Man-made global climate crisis Narrative' to 'The Official 911 Narrative' to 'The Official Marxist Narrative' to 'The Official Narrative concerning Allah and Mohammed' to 'The Official Christian Narrative' to 'The Official CREATION narrative'. All MYTHS. Narratives. Some more or less 'based on a true story'. But all FICTIONS. NARRATIVES.

And no authentic philosopher, like David Hume, or Socrates, will ever claim to KNOW anything with certainty. What we do is entertain the most COMPELLING narratives. With an open mind. Open to all the alternative narratives. Some of which at first seem LESS compelling, but often turn out to be the SUPERIOR ones we have so far. So far. And we continue our QUEST for BETTER narratives. Even simply DIFFERENT narratives. Simply to ensure we have as many narratives as possible. As POSSIBLE orientation points. As points from which to view. As points OF view. So that we have as many different ways of LOOKING AT THINGS as possible.

It's like the difference between watching the 2-D 'shadows on the wall of the cave', and being able to produce 3-D renderings to the nano scale, of the actual 'objects' that 'cast those shadows'. And to be able to analyze the 'light source' that projected those shadows, to see what IT contributes to the IMPRESSIONS which are projected ON that wall, like the IMPRESSIONS that are CONSTRUCTED by our minds. And to be able to make 'heat maps' and other isomorphic maps of other 'qualities' / predicates of the supposed 'objects' we are observing, hoping to fully 'grok'. To come to a COMPLETE understanding of. Externally, on the surface. And internally. And where the 'subject' we are looking at has sentience, its INNERMOST MOTIVATIONS.

Ultimately the 'hard' sciences reduce down to the very same 'Behaviouralism' they feel so 'superior' to. With no justification. You can give every human action and motivation a number. And quantify it. Then treat actors as variables no different to electrons, in your models. And generate some very IMPRESSIVE quantitative figures and statistics and formulas and equations. And then puff yourself up, like the supposedly 'hard' scientists do, and present yourself as an 'authority' on something. Like Priests do. They have all the confidence in the world in their own power to DEMAND god come down from heaven and appear before the priests congregation, where god will use his power to turn wafers into his own flesh, and wine into his own blood, so that the congregation, as good little cannibal vampire thralls, eat their god, and drink his blood. Sure. You won't find a more confident con-artist, running a more lucrative 'protection racket', in all the world. But WHAT is that confidence based on? What is the SOURCE of that supposed AUTHORITY? Mere hearsay. Someone SAID it was so. And others repeated , yes, it is so. And each generation, further removed from 'the first guy who made this up' will be the more impressed due to that 'narratives' ANCIENT HERITAGE. The further back in time the better. Because it then take on the authority of TRADITION. And the sheer 'authority' of NUMBERS. Of QUANTITIES of 'believers'. What we call 'PUBLIC OPINION'. Which even Hume recognized as having a 'compelling' character all of its own, completely independent of any EVIDENCE, COHERENCE, CONSISTENCY, PROOF, OR COMPELLING ARGUMENT to back it up. So that the statement 'almost everyone KNOWS' takes on all the force and power of a magic spell, in convincing OTHERS that they too should 'believe' and join 'the ranks of the knowers'. Rather than risks being 'the odd one odd who is too stupid to understand what everyone else clearly seems to!' Thus collective ignorance, where everyone assumes everyone else really DOES 'understand' the nonsense the priests, of whatever cult, whether 'scientific' or 'Marxist' or 'medical' or 'religious' vomit over the masses, from generation to generation, repeating the same absurdities, motivates people to PRETEND that 'they too' understand and are NOT 'stupid' or 'ignorant', or worse, 'evil', and thus leave everyone ELSE with the distinct impression that 'everyone ELSE but me seems to understand, so I'd best PRETEND to too'. So everyone self-censors their own confusion or even disagreement with whatever ' Official Narrative' we are dealing with. That is the power of collective ignorance to produce the IMPRESSION of 'consensus' and to FALSIFY 'public opinion' on ANY CULT controlled narrative. Which means SOCIAL REALITY. And thus for all intents and purposes, the REALITY that people base all their decisions and judgments and actions on. When they are capable at all of anything approaching RATIONAL action. Even assuming that possible.

Yes, so I DID warn you, this is the TROONATNOOR HOLISTIC GUIDE TO ELECTRICITY AND ELECTRONICS.

The electricity generator in your guitar

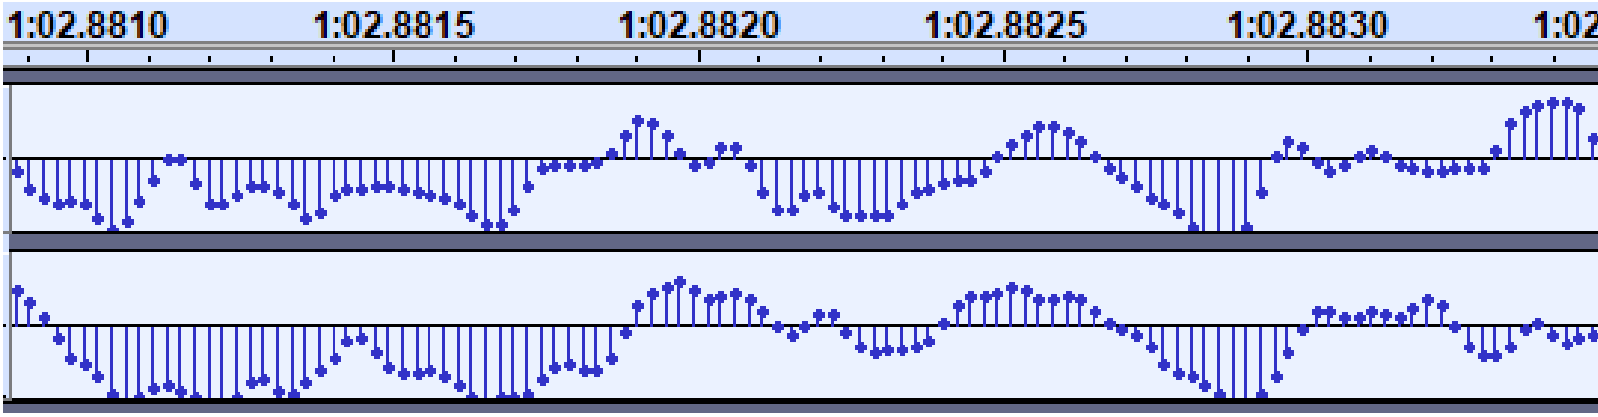
The pickup pole piece + string looping act as a simple ELECTRICITY GENERATOR

Because conventional guitar electronics are PASSIVE and all the voltage is generated by the strings disturbing the magnetic fields of the pole pieces (or magnetized rail) of the pickup, and this inducing current in the copper coil wound around the magnets, which then 'pumps' and 'sucks' on electrons, 'blowing' pulses of electromagnetic force, then 'tugging' at them with reverse pulses of electromagnetic force, like the tide 'pushing' and 'tugging' at swimmers on the edge of the sea a.k.a 'sea shore'. And remember it is this ELECTROMOTIVE FORCE, this electromagnetic attraction and repulsions, this 'push' and 'tug' of electromagnetism, that passes across the Capacitor's insulating dielectric layer, and which 'oscillates' back and forth at RATES (frequencies) corresponding to the forward and 'retrograde' looping of a guitar string down towards, across, up away from, and back across, the top of the pole pieces, and thus disturbing the magnetic field around the pole piece. When you plot the 'looping' of the string relative ot the top of the magnetic pole piece, over time, as distance and angle of string from pole piece tip, you plot out a sine wave. And the strength (amplitude) of the electromagnetic impulse produced by the repulsion-attraction of electrons in the guitar strings, and in the magnets, plot out as curves where height represents amplitude, and length / distance / horizontal axis represents time. A string loops smoothly, so the electromagnetic fields grow stronger, then weaker, over time, which plots as a sine wave.

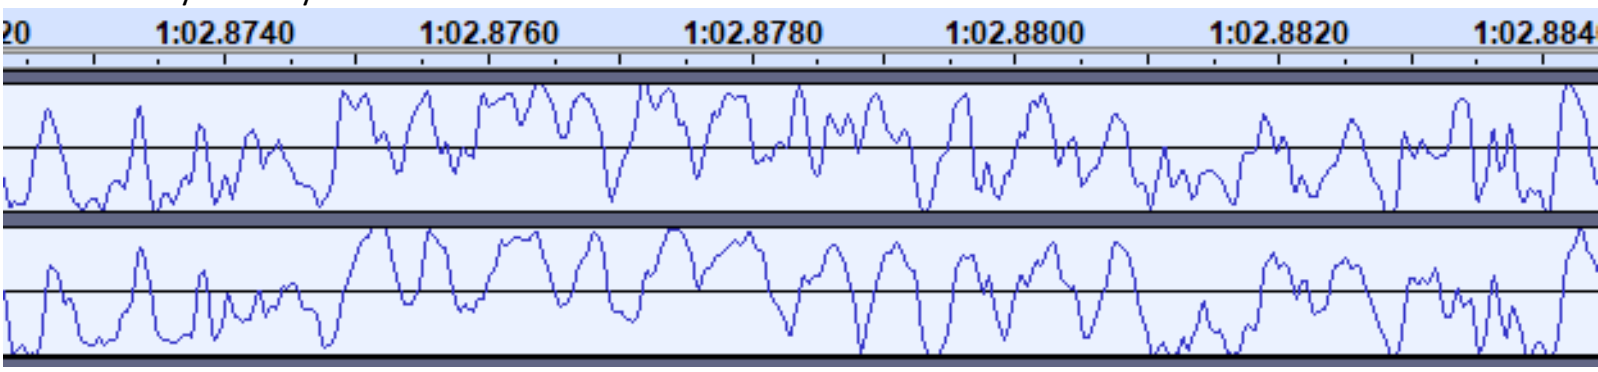
Try to remember the 'sine wave' is an artifact of us RENDERING or 'plotting amplitude over time' of the electromotive forces / electromagnetic disturbances the string produces in the magnetic fields of the pole pieces of the pickup.

Then remember that when we 'sum' sine waves, we get composite waves, similar to the AM modulated signal of its carrier wave. Below is the same signal, zoomed right in, then zoomed back out to show the full song. This is how sine waves combine. What we are looking at are the vocals, drums, bass, and guitar tracks all summed to form the 'master' track. When I get around to it I will take one of my own songs, and show each track, then the summed master track, to makes things clearer.

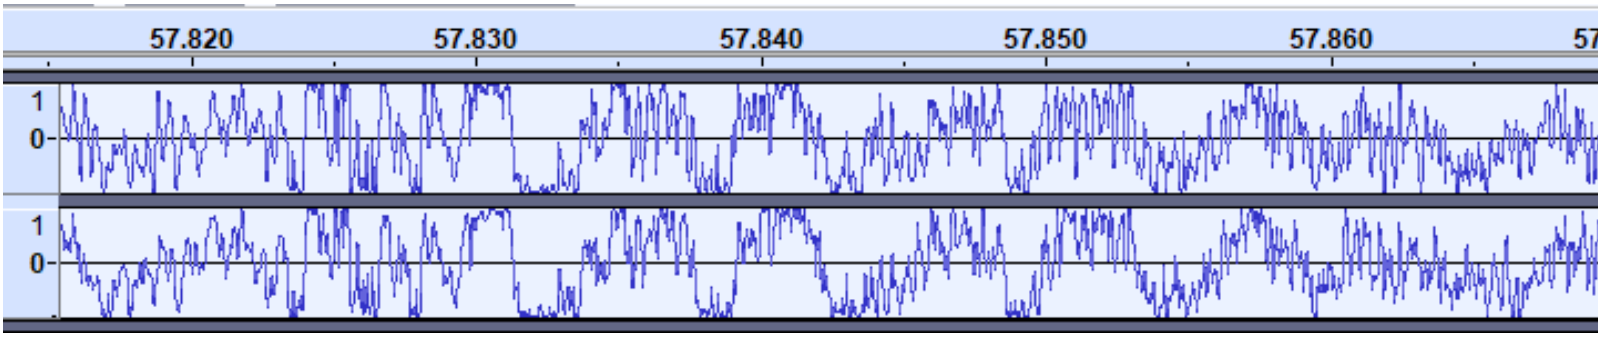
I assume the voltage sine waves that correspond to each note played on a guitar, sum in the same fashion. What the EAR attends to are the 'beats'. The peak voltages of the electrical signal correspond to the peak amplitudes of the recorded music tracks. Our 'audio signal' is a series of peak voltages.



I have to work out the scale, but we are dealing with microsecond units here. We have 'zoomed in' on the time scale, so that we can 'render' each individual peak voltage with a dot. Just remember that in 'real time' each dot is so close, that combined they form a continuous curve, shown in the next screenshot. A continuous line drawn by a 'shaky' hand.



But when you zoom right out, the 'shakiness' dissappears, and all you see are continous, smooth, lines.



Again I've found myself in that ZEN BARDOT of confusion. An opportunity for understanding to enter my mind has emerged. I have to trust in the not-conscious parts of my mind to deliver me from this confusion. While I consciously try to use the far less powerful conscious part of my mind to 'sort this out'.

I switch between different mediums, electrical voltages in the guitar circuit, electrical voltages digitized in the Digital Audio Workstation, and speaker cone movement, to identify correspondences between each, so I can use different representation systems, or ways of looking at, the same phenomena, which my mind might find some 'touchstones' for, and a way to 'grok' them.

So thinking in terms of speaker cone excursion, the lines could correspond to the moving outwards of the cone, as the curves climb from 0 to the higher voltages (towards 1), while simultaneously 'oscillating' in and out, like a nervous person (or with shaky hands for some other reason) raising a spoonful of soup to their mouth. The 1 being their mouth. The maximum altitude the spoon can reach. Before returning for more soup.

The individual oscillations occur at specific RATES a.k.a 'Frequencies', and thus reproduce the different PITCHES of the music being played through the speaker. Really 'hi-fidelity' speakers can reproduce the finest of oscillations in succession, accurately, without 'distortion'. So while a speaker cone is travelling outwards in one direction, it is making a whole lot of tiny 'excursions back and forth' too.

Though the metaphor or correspondences fail me right now at the zero voltage points. Speaker cone drivers push and pull at the cone, to reproduce the different RATES / frequencies of pulses of voltage and thus the pitches / frequencies of the music being reproduced.

Each note or beat played or sung has its own peak voltage.Or shares a peak voltage with another track of the same amplitude. ???

If we zoom out a little, we can how a speaker cone works. The AMPLITUDE of a signal determines how FAR the cone has to travel (it's excursion). The FREQUENCIES it produces AS it makes these excursions, are represented by the 'waves within the waves'. We have waves superimposed on waves. As if the main wave our eyes make out is the 'carrier' for a whole lot of smaller waves. A wave drawn with a 'shaky hand'.

The individual tracks that were summed to produce this all had nice 'sine' wave forms that moved through 0 more or less parallel (unless some bias was present that made the form top or bottom heavy).

Note in the last 'zoomed out' screenshot how the summed signal also demonstrates this 'parallel' mirroring, either side of the '0' voltage crossing point. This indicates the voltage 'reversing' direction, to going from being a 'pushing force' to being a 'pulling force', on the electrons in the copper wire. The electrons are pushed forwards for half the cycle, then pulled back, for the other half of the cycle. So a full cycle is from peak to peak (or any other two consequtive 'heights' of the wave form).

What we call wavelength, the 'distance' a pulse travels between peaks of voltage or pressure maxima, is MEDIUM DEPENDANT

Stop and consider that we call wavelength, It is not 'the distance between voltage/pressure peaks/maximas'.

What we call 'wavelength' is both TIME and MEDIUM dependent. So it VARIES between mediums.

It is NOT correct to say 'A 200Hz' voltage or 'audio wave' has a wavelength of Xm.

A referent, in terms of MEDIUM OF TRANSMISSION is required before this measurement 'wavelength' can be stated. It is NOT a quantity that can be counted. It is a measurement. So in theory it is infinitely divisible and variable.

When talking about 'wavelength' we must always state the referent, the medium of transmission we are referring to.

So we CAN say that 'a 200Hz 'sound wave' has a wavelength of 1.7M when travelling through air with a specific air pressure and humidity'.

If a sphere of air pressure encounters more 'solid' objects in its path, it will take 'the path of least resistance' AROUND them, if possible. Like a huge soap bubble would.

But if the diameter of the sphere of air pressure is smaller than the object, it will be absorbed by it, and the kinetic energy will be transferred to the particles / molecules of the object. And where this object has a different DENSITY than the air, the RATE of transmission will increase, as pressure maxima take less time to develop under these conditions. So they can develop over shorter distances. So that what we call 'wavelength' becomes smaller.

If the original energy pulse was strong enough, the pressure pulse reaches the other side of the 'solid object', say a wall, and on the other side, the oscillations of the boundary of the wall will be reproduced as air pressure pulses again. But now the transmission medium is air, the 'wavelength' will revert to that for air.

There is a big difference in wavelength between the kinetic energy pulses travelling in air we call 'sound waves' and the same travelling through 'solid objects'. Such as 'bone' or brick. Note that some headphone designs doe actually transmit 'audio signals' through bone to the inner ear. Oscillating the bone directly, rather than using a 'driver' to push a small speaker cone in the ear bud or headphone enclosure, to oscillate air in the ear canal.

So while any pulse does have a frequency, it doesn't have a fixed wavelength. Wavelength is an ARTEFACT of many things, in many different contexts. And the term 'wavelength' is one of my 'cringe' triggers for this, and other, reasons I will hope to make clear.

I cannot hear anyone say 'Covid 19 pandemic' without cringing. Or seeing someone wearing a face mask without cringing. Or hear them talk about 'The Devil' or 'God' without cringing. Just as my few friends probably 'cringe' any time I try to counter the propaganda they have accepted as 'Dog's truth'. As 'Gospel'. From their Cult authorities. Any time I call them 'Cult Thralls' and refer to their CULT membership, they are as triggered. Tempers flare. If people happen to have their fingers on actual triggers? Well. That's the history of our world, sadly.

So, to avoid later confusion, let us be precise with our language and define that irritating term 'wavelength' as 'the distance a pulse travels between peaks of voltage or pressure maxima, IN A PARTICULAR MEDIUM per second.

It is MEDIUM DEPENDANT. It is VARIABLE. It is dependent on the medium of transmission it is being transmitted through. A pressure pulse does NOT have an actual wavelength as a property. It has a potential to be plotted as voltage over time, or amplitude over time, after which process a 'wave length' can be measured between any two consecutive equal heights / amplitudes on the thus plotted 'wave form'.

If you wonder why I bother with such precision, here's why. The 'speed of sound' is roughly 340m/s. The speed of light? 186,282 miles per second. Let's call a mile 1.6km. so 298,051.20 km per second. X 1000 we get 298,051,200. Darn, I was hoping for some clearly 'significant' number. Something that pops up in megalithomania videos all the time. Oh well. Why I bring this up here is that lets say a speed of 300,051,200m/s is going to make the idea of 'wavelength' in what we call 'audio signals' 'flowing' in an 'audio circuit' a challenging proposition. What could it mean?

340m/s/200cycles/second cancels down to 340m/200cycles which reduces to 1.7m. If you plot the amplitude of an air pressure pulse over time, then the pressure pulse 'front' of high pressure will be moving at 340m/s, and thus cover 340m every second. And if the pressure maxima repeat 200 times over that same time period, and thus within that same distance, they have 340/200m room to complete each individual cycle, from pressure maxima to pressure maxima. 1.7m. Lots of room. Lucky there is a lot of 'space' available to allow this.

But what about 300,051,200 m/s / 200 cycles/second? 1,490,256m. Yes I'm skeptical of any math I calculate at the best of times. And have recently revised my Audio Engineering Guide to correct some whoozies I'm surprised the trolls didn't find. Well, what it proves is the people who write 1 star ratings of my guides actually never even READ the guides. They simply 'word search' for words like Zionism or 'Jew' or 'New World Order' and once found, dump on the guide without having read it.

1,490,256m. I'll surely realise at any moment some error in my thinking or calculations about this. Its just screaming 'markus, you've f&^%d up again with your math and stuff. But if this is true, what could it possibly mean? If 'wavelength' means anything in the real world. If it is no more than a concept that is helpful at some levels, but totally meaningless, even misleading, on others. What if 'The Official Narrative' requires the belief in it for some reason? For what reason, would be the logical question!

So clearly once we convert 'audio' signals into electrical voltages, wavelength can't play any role at all. I was expecting that wavelengths would get infinitesimally small, as surely copper atoms are packed more densely than air molecules? My ZEN Bardot of confusion is overwhelming my conscious mind. I can only hope for relief from my non-conscious mind. Which is WHAT we seek out the ZEN BARDOT for. To ACTIVATE our the not-conscious parts of our minds. Where the REAL genius and insights await us.

So an electrical pulse repeating 200 times a second. Pushing electrons forwards and then pulling them back, 200 times each second. The forces are like winds blowing across a field with no resistance. They impact nothing. They do no 'work'. They generate no 'power'. But electrons generate friction, and 'push stuff out of the way'. They 'melt' stuff'. They resonate stuff. Well the pulses do that too. So…oh my poor little brain with no 'experts' who have ever bothered thinking through their 'Official Narrative' to help me out.

If we use 'The Official Narrative' and treat electrons as 'the carriers of charges', we can talk about electrons moving backwards and forwards, representing a charge moving forwards and backwards, in the circuit.

The charge might 'push' at a speaker cone. So the excursion of the cone outwards. Or it might 'light up' an LED. Or heat up an 'incandescent' filament in a light bulb. Or excite electrons in fluorescent light fitting. Or amplify a signal in a transistor. Or trigger a 'virtual switch' in a 'logic circuit' to change 'state'.

The usual approach is to gloss over 'The Official Narrative' and focus on 'doing stuff with formulas, equations, and hardware'. To avoid actually facing 'The Official Narrative' and attempting to really 'grok' it. And so 'understand what we are REALLY talking about when we say all the stuff we say. Sure we 'get stuff done' and 'solve problems'. But for a philosopher like that is NEVER ENOUGH. Sure it will get you paid and laid. And you'll make friends, and learn how to destroy your enemies. But that's not why I came to this party.

I want to know if it is even POSSIBLE to 'understand' 'The Official Narrative'. If it truly is coherent and consistent and compelling, then the deeper understanding of it will surely help me generate NEW ways of working with it. To produce NEW technologies. Or simply improve on existing ones.

And it we find we've been using a FALSE narrative all along, we might construct a new, more compelling one, that provides us with totally unimaginable leaps forward, now that our imaginations themselves are freed from the bondage, the limitations, the violence, of 'The Official Narrative'.

And all my 'asides' are here because what is the point of teaching people to become cleverer at building their own prison cells, torture chambers, and MEANS of enslavement and enthrallment? If they don't understand that THE BIGGEST THREATS THEY FACE COME IN THE FORM OF MERE 'NARRATIVES' WHICH ARE USED TO MANIPULATE THEM INTO BECOMING THEIR OWN WORST ENEMY. INTO WELCOMING THEIR WORST ENEMIES AS NOT JUST FALSE FRIENDS, BUT ACTUAL DICTATORS. INTO ACCEPTING MEASURES DESIGNED TO DISEMPOWER AND EVEN KILL THEM, AS 'PROTECTIVE MEASURES'. INTO ACCEPTING INJECTIONS OF ACTUAL DISEASES AS 'CURES', FOR NON-EXISTENT DISEASES.

So as we consider 'The Official Narrative' concerning 'electricity' and its practical applications, I will be inserting MUCH MORE IMPORTANT INFORMATION CONCERNING ALL THE OTHER OFFICIAL NARRATIVES that we have taken for granted as mere 'truth' and 'fact' and even 'scientific'. And treated as if they were as 'objective' as the official descriptions' of 'how components in circuits work'. Of WHY and HOW stuff works in electronics.

At least in electronics there is some ACCOUNTABILITY for the 'authorities' and their 'narrative'. For we can measure stuff. But what if we are NOT actually measuring what we THINK we are measuring? You see the 'sleight of hand' they might have pulled on us? Via mere 'sleight of MOUTH' even. The bark wagging the dog? No. Well, grasshopper, we've a lot to talk about.

But for now, let's return to his particular narrative. And, dear B-REN-DON OCCO-NELL, that's pronounced NAR-RAR-TIVE. Not ' NA-RAY-TIVE'. I can't wait to 'Brendon-ize' the pronunciation of words in an interview with our friend Brendon O'Connell, to see if he recognizes what I am doing, and why! You see, the thing is, he got it right in ONE video, which seemed to appear just after my comments on one of his videos, regarding this 'quirk' of his. Well now he HAS gone down in history. Move over Ms Malaprop. Here comes 'B-ren-don-ization'.

O.K, so back to our electrons and electrical pulses. They can surely cover a HUGE amount of distance, in no time flat. So what meaning could wavelength have in the context of copper wire in circuits? O.K, when we talk about the wavelength of electromagnetic pulses of different frequencies travelling through 'the atmosphere', we have a referent, I assume? The speed of sound? Well surely NO. Electromagnetic pulses MOVE stuff at the speed of sound. Maybe here's where sense reenters the narrative. There appears no practical use for the concept 'pressure maxima' when it comes to electromagnetism and electromagnetic pulses? Or is there?

Sure electromagnetic pulses, Ultra Low Frequencies, do travel through the air. But most of the ones we find most useful are extremely high frequency. Not like the 'audio signals' in our guitar circuits that range from 200 or so up to maybe 6000 or so, cycles per second. 200Hz to 6000Hz. And which would have immensely long wave-lengths, if anyone was asking, or needed to know.

In the realm of GIGA Hz, millions of cycles per second, the speed of light isn't such a limit to our imagining an actual 'complete wave length'. I'll ask someone else to do the math. My brain doesn't do math so well. Sort of a form of dyslexia I think. Number based. Maybe I the lack of sense of direction and math means more CPU resources were made available in my brain for pure philosophy, ethics, logic, and reason?

A big number over a little number yields a big number. A big number over another big number yields a small number. But that doesn't help us in the context of guitar circuits. Only the context of frequencies that are HUGE. In the context of RATES OF CHANGE and PULSE RATES that are inconceivable except as numbers. No human senses can sample at a rate fast enough to distinguish one pulse, repeating at such high RATES, such high 'frequencies', from the previous or next. All we perceive is a 'continuity'. The way our visual cortex will 'blur' even our hand moving before our eyes. Sampling a massive quantity of information, but only every 24 seconds.

That was what disturbed my attempts to wake slowly, while stretching and so on to avoid the always latent migraines and nausea that my disturbed sleep produce in me almost every morning now.

Our visual cortex seems rudimentary, in terms of sample RATES. But the quantity of DATE sampled PER SAMPLE is huge. So we get 'sampling rate x sample size' as the limit of our visual processing power. The sample size for 'audio' is tiny in comparison. So we can afford to sample it almost continuously.

I wonder when non-biological machines will be able to process the same QUANTITY of data per sample. Given their sample RATES, it would mean they would be PROCESSING massively more information than our brains. And surely we can count on this power being used, as usual, to commit war crimes, and CONTROL people, as EVERY TECHNOLOGY EVER INVENTED HAS BEEN USED TO DO.

So THAT'S something to look forward to, right?

Oh, and if our 'measuring devices' can only measure down to certain rates, wouldn't THEY also mis-perceive and mis-render what is really a multitude of 'beats' as a continual 'note'? A multitude of discrete, separate, pulses, as one pulse? And thus 'perceive' fewer pulses than actually were present?

In my 'electromagnetic soup' model of TROONATNOOR, everything reduces down to pulses of different RATES (frequencies). Some maintaining coherence as 'reflexive standing waves' for periods of time, and thus, relative to the rest of the 'soup', acting for all the world like 'chunks' of matter. Particles and molecules and such. The 'alphabet letters' in our 'alphabet soup'. From which all the 'words' and 'magic spells' are written' As in 'IN the beginning was the word, which was god, and was with god'. The letters used to write 'THE NARRATIVE' we experience as TROONATNOOR.

Man I thought Schopenhauer, and Kant, and all that, were a challenge. Why did I ever start down THIS rabbit hole? Oh yeh, that's right, I want to build my 'optimal guitar wiring harness / loaded / loadable/unloadable/ reloadable scratch-plate! And thought I'd go about it in my typical TROONATNOOR holistic, fashion.

I do edit and re-edit this stuff. In case you think I consider YOUR time less valuable than mine. No, I respect it. I try to re-edit what is most important, and most likely to be read by anyone. But I am anticipating that very few people will read most of my guides, like this one. And they will approach things as curiously as myself. They are no just looking for 'another guide' to something. They find something worthy of their mental concentration and consideration in my TROONATNOOR approach. Something beyond just 'getting paid and laid' and 'learning how to do something as quickly as possible'. My Optimal Reaper Guide and Vocal Training Guide are intended to do that. Get you where your need to go, vocal training and recording and mixing –wise, as fast as possible. But everything else was written HOLISTICALLY. The motivation to write just a great guide, for the few people who would stumble on it, wasn't enough to justify the massive sacrifice of time, frustration, and effort. But actually ENLIGHTENING people is worth ALL the time and energy I have. THAT is something I can commit to. And sacrifice EVERYTHING to. As it is the ONLY TRUE INVESTMENT YOU CAN MAKE. IN THE IMPROVEMENT OF YOUR SOUL. THE IMPROVEMENT OF THIS ENTIRE PLANE-ET. MY TIME AND ENERGY ARE MY VENTURE CAPITAL. AND THE ONLY REAL RETURNS THAT MEAN ANYTHING, IN THE LONGER RUN, ARE SPIRITUAL AND ETHICAL.

Think of these terms like electromagnetic force. Electromotive force. Principles pass beyond matter. IDEAS move beyond even the strictest attempts to censor them. The internet is and formal education systems and mass media are CAPACITORS in our 'information' circuits. They are TRUTH-CUT and LIE BANDPASS filters.

So mixing metaphors here I guess. Because what I wanted to allude to was the POWER OF REAL INSIGHTS, REAL ETHICS, REAL TRUTH, VALUABLE KNOWLEDGE TO, LIKE ELECTROMAGNETIC FIELDS PASSING THROUGH INSULATORS, TO MOVE THROUGH THE EQUIVALENT DIELECTRIC OF CENSORSHIP.

Again maybe confusing the metaphor, one problem we have is the low frequency at which we transmit truth. It RARELY gets transmitted. Only occasionally. The RATE at which new people 'stumble' upon it is very low. It is a very SLOW process. 'Waking people up'. We've had thousands of years of this cycle of history, and still so few have been woken from their dogmatic slumbers.

That's the other idea that disturbed my anti-migraine maneuvers this morning, and got me out of bed too quickly. Remembering what I was thinking yesterday, about plants devoting so much of their resources to 'flowering', as their mode of reproduction. Like humans devoting so much effort to getting paid, so they CAN get laid, by partners whose main, even if not-conscious, drive is TO reproduce. And our organisms and minds RENDER any action that results in reproduction as the ultimate in pleasure. Even less pleasurable than those actions that result in our survival. So that people will often sacrifice food for sex. Etc. Yes, so the image I had was of each plant, each human, being merely one Cycle of a pulse of life, that is reproduced from cycle to cycle, from plant to plant, from human to human, from animal to animal. The cycle itself being just a part of a repeating pattern. A PULSE of life.

Resistors as voltage dividers

Voltage ( ) has a one track mind, to get to earth, and it has one rule, take the path of least possible resistance. Like a straw man capitalist, whose only objective is to make as much profit as possible, by doing whatever is most profitable. Even it is destructive rather than productive of real value. Even if their clients and consumers suffer, rather than benefit as a result. Even if it means war. Even if the actual means itself is war.

We set up circuits to offer the voltage ( ) different paths to earth. And we place 'resistors' at different points in the circuit, so WE can decide WHICH route will BE, at any point in time, 'the path of least resistance'.

But even voltage ( ) follows the motto 'In all things moderation'. It is not OCD about this 'least' business. In fact it will DIVIDE and follow MULTIPLE PATHS of LESSER resistance. ???

Heinrich Lenz and guitar pickups

Heinrich Lens, isn't the guitarist from Rammstein. Not even his guitar tech. But while his pithy saying 'An induced current is always in such a direction as to oppose the motion or change causing it', didn't lead to him going down in history as the German Oscar Wilde, it did get a law named after him. Lenz's law.

Lenz's law applies in a way to human psychology. When you offer information that 'contradicts' what 'the personal already knows', they resist it. Their minds produce a 'contrary' reaction. Automatically. So be prepared for this. It's one reason it is so hard to get people to 'open their minds' to information or ideas that challenge, contradict, let along expose as lies, what they are 'familiar with' and is thus 'known' to them. What they will call 'knowledge'. Even when it is nothing more than hearsay they have been told. With no evidence or proof offered, other than the fact that, due to collective ignorance, 'everyone ELSE (at least 'seems to') knows' it to be 'true' and 'fact'. Of course 'Everyone else' has no more reason to be confident in this 'hearsay' either. Until it is proven, demonstrated, and evidence offered in support of it. Or at least compelling arguments are offered up.

The lesson is that the 'direct' approach is often counter-productive, and produces a 'reactionary' COUNTER resistance to the idea itself. The last thing you intended. Thus we write books, and hope that people with open minds who are not 'sure they already know everything' and are thus still 'seeking', if not 'THE TRUTH', but at least 'superior' or even just 'alternative' narratives to 'The Official Narrative' to explain the things they observe in their own lives, and in history, which 'The Official Narrative' doesn't seem capable of explaining, to their own satisfaction. Such people are more inclined to place 'the burden of proof' on 'The Official Narrative', rather than assuming 'It is known, and beyond question and does not NEED to prove itself '. And such people will not place UNFAIR burdens of proof on alternative narratives that ensure 'The Official Narrative' a 'protected' and 'privileged' position when it comes to interrogations. "Oh, no need to bother interrogating that one. They can be trusted to be 'telling the truth'". Such people don't 'strain at gnats', demanding impossibly high standards and intellectual rigor and 'burden of proof' of the alternatives, while 'swallowing camels' when it comes to 'The Official Narrative', where entire 'models' made up of 'huge numbers of assumptions and highly problematic and questionable, if not clearly false and deceptive 'math' which no 'average punter' could EVER claim to really 'comprehend' and thus 'understand', are 'swallowed whole' without the slightest complaint or resistance.

So we are left to write books and post videos that almost no-one will ever even realise EXIST, let alone find any reason to 'read' or 'watch'. Let alone any reason to 'take them seriously' and devote the time and energy required to even attempt to 'grok' the arguments therein expressed, and demonstrated, or at least made compelling, and even, yes, PROVEN scientifically to be FACTUAL.

DC vs AC

It seems, so far, to ME, that AC voltage PUSHES / REPELS electrons from the socket to the electrical device, and so on. Whereas a DC battery sets up a POTENTIAL by contriving a deficiency of electrons on the thus 'negatively charged' cell of the battery, an AC circuit contrives a POTENTIAL by pushing an excess of electrons

AT your electrical outlet socket.

You may be aware that convention says electricity 'flows' positive to negative. But that recently, it has been 'declared' that electricity actually flows from negative to positive. Or vice versa. I'll have to check my own notes. It's hard to keep track of any 'Official Narrative' as it revises itself, quietly, to avoid drawing attention to the revisions. And their implications. And the potential 'loss of authority' associated with publically 'getting it all wrong'. Evolution has such a great authority as 'Intelligent designer' because it buries its COUNTLESS TRILLIONS of mistakes, and we only encounter the most successful of its 'hit and miss' generative approach.

And you may be aware that at the start there were 'electricity wars' between DC and AC. And AC won out for long distance transmission from 'dirty smelly yucky dangerous' power stations to 'pretty suburbs' and consumers for whom the pollution of the power plant was 'out of sight, out of mind', and clearly 'someone ELSE'S problems. Which means NOT A PROBLEM. NO problem at all! They've had to institute the 'noble lie' of 'man-made global climate change crisis', to get people to care about the environmental damage of burning fossil fuels. And if that was the ONLY motivation for that deception, I would accept the predicate / epithet 'noble'. But sadly it is only part of the wider C02vid CULT plan for economic wrecking, debt slavery, and a one world dictatorship run by the WORST criminals in history who not only 'legitimated' the IDEA of genocide, and slavery, but ensured all the GREAT religions were destroyed, and replaced by the WORST POSSIBLE RELIGIONS on offer.

Oh, and my point here is that AC is about PUSHING electromotive force down long stretches of power lines. In pulses. At quite slow rates. In the Bass Guitar output range. And most of us have it fed into our home electrical systems where it is keen to 'pulse' through any electrical socket we stick a conductor into, at around 60 pulses per second. Where each pulse is a 'forwards-backwards' movement of electrons between copper atoms in the wires in your walls.

It is the generators at the power plant that 'push' on one end of the 'electrical grid'.

Whereas DC voltage PULLS / ATTRACTS / SUCKS electrons TOWARDS the 'negative' charged cell of the battery. So the electromotive force for DC is this sucking action. The attraction of electrons BY the negatively charged atoms at the other end of the circuit in the negatively charged cell of the battery.

Electrons end up MOVING in the same direction, from positive to negative, in either case. But in one case they are being pushed by electromotive force, by electromagnetic fields, and then pulled back with the same force, for the same amount of time, to cover the same distance, like someone sticking their tongue in and out, so that the tongue 'oscillates' back and forwards, without actually 'going anywhere'. Like money among rich people under crony capitalism, the Cult of Judah 'straw man' we've had foisted on us, and dressed up as 'genuine free market capitalism'. Clearly based on the AC model. Whereas Socialism would correspond to the DC model, where electrons, money, is sucked from the rich to the literally poor (in electrons). Literally from each according to their ability (to give up electrons) to each according to his need (for electrons).

But in terms of POTENTIAL, in both cases the flow is from where there are relatively more copper electrons, to where there are relatively less copper electrons. Which by definition is a positive charge to a negative charge. As the atoms on the input side have had MORE electrons pushed onto them by the generators producing pulses of positive electro-magnetic force that sweep up electrons in their wake, like a tidal wave/surge collecting debris on a beach, pushing them up the beach and even onto dry 'Earth-Ground', then receding in the opposite direction, dragging most of the debris back with them.

The 'self-ordering' nature of 'like' objects on a beach is an interesting phenomena. Where you get like objects set out neatly in lines across the sand. Because if they have roughly the same mass and density the water will push and carry them up the beach the same distance, before depositing them on their retreat.

But why I bring all this up is to remind myself and others that AC power does not 'flow' anywhere. It does not 'dribble into the Earth to be absorbed like a dripping tap in the garden'. Or water flowing out of a garden hose. And definitely not like a river flowing into the sea. Only DC BATTERY power does this.

AND NOW MY MIND IS BOGGLING TRYING TO WORK OUT WHAT HAPPENS WHEN we convert AC household current into DC via power supplies and converters…???...do electrons really FLOW out in one direction? Do we get a stream of electrons? You see what happens when you interrogate ANY 'official narrative'? You get all the questions that 'the authorities' are rarely even aware of, let alone have answers for. But who's asking them FOR answers? When no-one is bothering to 'look more closely' at what they CLAIM is going on, and what they can see with their own eyes etc. If AC pushes and pulls electrons back and forth, so that the first in the circuit moves through a certain number of atoms, before, being 'pulled back', where do the electrons for the DC circuit come from? How are electrons in the DC circuit replenished? From what? From each 'push' of the AC? So that each time the AC 'reverses' it pulls back FEWER electrons than it pushed? ??? Hmmm…

Early morning reflections

If there is a 'speed of sound' and a 'speed of light' these imply all frequencies cover distance at same speed…so they can all arrive at same time after leaving at same time…like pushing a pole back and forwards quickly in little 'cycles' AS you move it back and forwards to complete larger 'cycles'… if waveforms were an appropriate way to 'render' this, you'd have the longest 'wave-length' low frequency pulse as the 'carrier' for the shorter-wavelength, higher frequency pulses… in fact if you zoomed out on a waveform you'd see JUST the lowest frequency as a smooth sine wave…then as you zoomed in, you'd see the 'smooth' lines become rendered as wavy lines themselves…and the further you zoomed in, you see that the apparently smooth lines of these wavy lines were themselves wavy lines, and so on, until you'd zoomed into the shortest-wavelength / highest frequency pulses in the signal THAT INTERESTED YOU…. The question is, what is the shortest wavelength and highest frequency POSSIBLE…and what is the lowest…as values that would be 1 and infinity…as measurements it would be infinite in either direction…unless there IS a limit…

I speak of Voltage as 'speed' so far… but let's consider…you can get somewhere in one long, slow, step, or many short, 'fast' steps… this will probably bring us to one of Xeno's paradoxes…might even solve it… for the duration of each 'step' the higher frequency (faster stepping) pulse has to ACCELERATE and DECELERATE to complete many cycles, many steps, … like a small child 'walking faster' taking smaller steps, trying to keep up with their father or mother… or a dog with short legs walking alongside a wolf with a long elegant 'stride'…the legs of the small dog 'blur' as they change position much faster than 24 times per second…whereas the wolf appears to casually 'amble', its legs casually, smoothly, slowly, covering the same ground in one step, that it takes the shorter legged dog dozens of discrete, individual, steps to cover… each step requires starting and stopping a cycle… one cycle is 'foot is on ground, muscles flex to roll foot/hoof and knee bends as hip pushes forwards in advance of knee and foot, leg straightens, leg flexes, pushes off, drags through air, slows down as approaches ground/hits ground and compresses joints and ground, reaches point of maximum compression of both and begins the cycle again (O,K I'll need to watch some slow motion '*foot*age', (yes I are funny, Retardo the clown, turn you frown (perceptions) upside down!)… but the point is each cycle has a 'narrative' it must complete…a set of actions…a set of changes it must go through, which all take 'time'… and to complete more actions in the same time you have to do them faster… so even though all the frequencies travel the same distance in the same time, they literally do, in a way, move like Xeno's hare and tortoise… but the daschund and wolf are better examples as tortoises don't care about 'keeping up' … so they don't compensate for the short gait by moving their legs faster… they just realise 'the hare and I are fellow travellers on the same path, and we'll both get where we are going (death) sooner or later, and really, what's the hurry?, when I've got this tasty lettuce to munch on, the sun on my back, and a mobile home that lets me take as many 'naps' as I like, any time I feel lazy!...

So we have snakey lines that are themselves snakey, in ever finer, smaller, curves… the very highest frequency waveforms, will look THICKER than the lowest frequency wave form carrying them…until you zoom right in, and see that THAT impression was due to the peaks of the waveforms appearing to touch, when zoomed out…so when zooming in, a single thick line (which will be waving as it is being carried on a lower frequency wavey line) will resolve into another wavey line… yes we are talking FRACTALS here, at least in a way…the same sort of concept… zooming in on one apparently smooth waveform reveals it is made up of a shorter wave-length waveforms…

Tie a rope somehow made of a single strand of something supremely flexible, and consistent in all its qualities, from end to end i.e continuous nano-tubing of a single consistency… so it was capable of flexing in ways that corresponded to 20,000 'pumps' per second…oh and a machine that could 'pump' precisely at that rate…I'm talking a high tech version of tying a rope to an upright post, at about hip height, then walking backwards across level ground until the rope was off the ground, then pumping your arm up and down at specific 'rates' a.k.a 'frequencies…and emulating a speaker cone by completing smaller 'up-down pumps' at a specific, faster, rater, at the same time as completing the 'up-down pumps' for the lowest 'frequency' pumping cycle… so as you completed one 'low frequency' pumping action, from hand/elbow at its highest point, down, and back up to this highest point off the ground, again, you were also 'oscillating' your arm, really quickly, up and down completing smaller 'cycles' where you arm / hand / elbow moved only slightly up and down, to complete each cycle…each 'higher frequency' oscillation…

Think of someone with a shaky, nervous, hand, moving their spoon down to their desert, filling it, then returning moving it up to their mouth, then returning the spoon to the desert, over and over. Hmm. Desert. But they are nervous or have a shaky arm for some reason, so as their arm completes one full action, it is moving up and down completing smaller actions…shaking up and down as it completes the move between bowl and mouth…

We might call the large movements 'carriers' for the smaller movements…they are using the same transmission medium…at the same time…to complete actions with slower and higher frequencies… like a speaker cone making the full excursion necessary to reproduce a low frequency, long wave-length, bass note, at the same time as it reproduces all the higher frequencies it is now, effectively, the 'carrier signal' for… and each discrete frequency in a signal becomes the 'carrier signal' for all the frequencies higher than it, in that signal…

Now consider how you can reproduce high frequency signals on the smallest of speakers…but try to reproduce a bass note, a low frequency signal on the same speakers… no go…

But wait, is it because of the limited speaker excursion? I.e does a speaker have to move the same distance as the wave-length of a frequency? Well a 60 Hz frequency, given a 343m/s 'speed of sound' through air, has a wavelength of … So let's say the speed of sound today, where we are, is 343m/s. 343m/s / 60cycles/sec=5.72 meters or 5.72M Remember you can just forget the 'seconds' as they cancel out. Hz is cycles per second. Speed is meters per second. So you just divide Cycles by meters to get your result, in meters. Consider how long this wavelength is. Clearly nothing in our head moves 5.72M, nor do the cones of your speakers. So it is a question of a speaker cone 'pulsing' at a particular frequency…the speaker excursion relates to the AMPLITUDE of a signal…in the waveform it is its HEIGHT… so maybe we should rotate our waveforms so they look like 'tits and bums on people standing up, rather than laying down, as is the convention in DAWs and oscilloscopes. And we get DISTORTION when the cone is forced to travel too far in too short a time…and just can't manage it… turn up the signal GOING TO your little desktop speakers as far as you can and hear how quickly they start distorting...its why windows media player doesn't LET you boost the audio in videos, (Whereas VLC DOES, and why VLC is so much better to use, as it lets you take advantage of improvements in laptop speakers since Microsoft bothered to 'update' anything…you see its focus is on merely updating its spyware…its ability to data mine you, the real reason Gate's was willing to break the law, and pay huge fines, by trying to force you to use his web browser, and why he IS currently FORCING you to allow him hack your computer, in what they call 'forced UPDATES'…what they care about updating is not your security or software, but THEIR data ABOUT YOU…by accessing all your files and software VIA 'forced updates'…updating their spyware, and keeping their data concerning YOU, 'up to date' i.e data mining and surveillance, of exactly what software you have, what files you have on your harddrive, what social media you use…I wonder if there are now 'hidden' sectors on your HDD / SSD that YOU cannot access ??? Microsoft / GATES may have MANY ulterior motives for keeping their 'source code' secret, than most people could entertain / imagine…)…because the little speakers in most devices can handle such AMPLITUDE…such 'loud' signals…

It's also why you can set your amp up so that merely rotating your volume pot a few mm's can take your tone from 'crystal clean' to 'slightly gritty' to 'extremely over-driven' and DISTORTING…the small changes in amplitude are amplified…to produce large changes in amplitude…and make the speaker cone, if you are not careful, literally 'fly out of the speaker enclosure'. Or at least destroy the speaker. And the ear-drums of anyone nearby.

Below is a table of octaves for each musical note, starting with the zero octave, A0, with a frequency of 27.5 Hz, and a wavelength (assuming a certain air temperature and humidity and thus speed of sound of 340.29 m/s), of 12.374m, and moving on to the G7 note at 13289,8 Hz with a wavelength of 0.109m. To give you a simpler reference, the lowest note on an standard guitar tuned to concert pitch (440Hz) is E2, at 82.407Hz, with a wavelength of 4.129m. And C4 (middle C) is 261.626Hz, with a wavelength of 1.301m. That's the C before A4 with a frequency of 440Hz, and a wavelength of 0.773m. Remembering that musical octaves go from C to B [the musical Celta-Delt goes from C to B. Versus our Alpha-Bet which goes from A to Z].

So if you plotted the speaker cones 'excursion' using the highest resolution to ensure you could discretely 'draw' / 'render' / 'plot' the highest frequencies with the shortest wave-lengths, and IF all the frequencies had the same amplitude (loudness, say heavily compressed signal) …. ????? WHERE IS THIS GOING??? … how could a 60Hz voltage represent a frequency below 60Hz? In a music recording / processing situation? Or 'Ultra low frequency' production situation? … the official narrative and/or my conception of it doesn't seem to add up…

Aside

IT IS THE MOVEMENT OF ELECTRONS THAT PRODUCES ELECTRO-MOTIVE FORCE / ELECTROMAGNETIC FIELDS which themselves require NO conductor. These electromagnetic fields/forces pass freely through any obstacle. They are like the SOUL of the atom. The SOUL of liberty. The Dictators can torture and murder the electron, and lock it up in a 'circuit' prison. But its soul is free to roam!

But in this analogy the electromagnetic force, the 'soul', is actually the PRODUCT of the movements of electrons. So as to say matter produces the soul. With the primerties potentially having no soul, but producing it. The whole being more than the sum of its parts. In fact the soul itself. Which as long as it can 'transmit' its energy onto electrons on the other side (of the capacitor or transformer), can live on, and travel freely.

Ah so did we enter the narrative a bit too late? If we enter the narrative AT the Dielectric, we see some 'soul' some 'electromagnetic force' devoid of any 'carrier' or 'medium' disturbing electrons, pushing and pulling at them. If we had no idea what was happening 'On the other side of the dielectric insulating barrier, we'd get the distinct impression that this 'force' was independent of 'matter'.

But then we need to follow the 'career' of the electromotive force / electromagnetic radiation pulse back to its real source. Again, at some arbitrary point in its career. But one at least CLOSER to its start. It's back-story. It's motivation. So let's do a 'flash-back' to our electron back at its last 'foster home'. A copper atom with 29 electrons but only 28 protons. One too many. An unwanted child. Tolerated 'on the fringes' of the family. But the 'nuclear family' wouldn't miss it if it were to wander off. In fact they'd feel somewhat relieved. That electron was a bit of a destabilizing influence on the others. Not much of a 'team player'. A bit of a loner. Keeping its distance. Always a bit stand-offish. Never really 'accepted' by the Nuclear family, or rest of the children. So that if another atom happened to 'steal it away', well, no harm done. Nothing really lost.

Now the question of how this CHRONIC situation arose doesn't form a part of OUR narrative. But it IS a great question. Of why nature would produce such a SYSTEMATIC and CHRONIC situation in out Atoms 'Nuclear' family. It's as if the 'intention' was to encourage a lot of exchange of electrons between atoms. Looser family ties to allow greater freedom. And to produce MOTIVATION per se. Motive force. Driving force. Make change attractive. GENERATE CHANGE. Generate CONSTANT change. And self-replicate this drive. The motive force producing the change (movement of electrons) in turn reproducing the motive force that would result in more change, in a cycle of 'perpetual motion'. In the beginning was the disturbance! The true 'god particle' is the one that FIRST 'disturbs' any balance. If there ever was one. Which I suspect there wasn't. And can never be. And THAT is the true MYSTERY. The 'higher level' mystery kept from the lower level initiates.

Oops, so I've wandered off the tight focus of this narrative a little myself.

So electromotive force compels / repels / attracts electrons across narrow gaps in circuits, at typical voltages. At extremely high voltages, such as are present in high voltage power transmission, the same phenomena occurs over larger distances than those between the primary and secondary coils of a transformer, or the between the two terminals of the capacitor separated by their insulating Dielectric layer.

And so a 'current' of ELECTROMOTIVE FORCE does flow through a capacitor or transformer. And YES it flows in BOTH directions. BUT ONLY A VERY SHORT DISTANCE. BEFORE IT 'FLIP-FLOPS' regarding its travel plans. Its desire. One moment it just HAS to move 'down' the circuit, and the next it just MUST move in the opposite direction. It feels COMPELLED. And when THE ELECTROMOTIVE FORCE decides to 'change direction', it is like the ocean, with a few people swimming in it, on its 'shore'. The 'tide' of the electromotive force, the ocean, 'turns' (oscillates) so that the swimmers are carried by its force closer to the shore, and then pulled away from the shore. Now no harm is done as each 'cycle' of this 'push-pull' 'ebb and flow' of the tide, is of really SHORT DURATION. And the more often it happens, per second, the shorter the actual DISTANCE the swimmers will be pulled and pushed in either direction. All things being equal. (aha this is what voltage is, change in this distance/time i.e speed!!!???)

A few swimmers remain right on the shore, so they will be repeatedly 'washed up' on the sand, and 'dragged back into the water'. But like electrons on the far end of the circuit (say the speaker cone or tape recording head, or the final EARTH-GROUND connection of the circuit) they merely get 'pushed and shoved back and forwards a little, up onto the 'sand' a.k.a 'earth', then back into the water.

The swimmers 'out to sea' probably won't even notice they've been dragged and pushed towards and away from the shoreline. They are like electrons deep in the circuit, in the copper wire, well away from any electrical components. Cos here's the thing. If a swimmer happens to be right next to a fixed object that is rigidly coupled with the sea floor, and doesn't move (resists the tide oscillations of the water) BUT THE SWIMMER DOES, that poor swimmer is going to be battered, continually, against that object. They'll have a hell of a time of it. While the 'deep sea' swimmers notice almost nothing at all, and those swimmers on or near the shore, enjoy the constant 'ebb and flow' and 'pulse' of the 'waves' and the 'tide'.

O.K mixed metaphors. Didn't see it coming. This is all extemporaneous until I edit it.

Let's stick with the visualisation of a 'tide' with a very short duration. Like gods with a totally different time frame than mere mortals, the 'daily' tide, in the face of immortality and eternity, passes in a moment.

So in a typical mains power supply the 'tide' 'changes' 60 times a second. The RATE OF CHANGE is 60 times a second. The FREQUENCY with which these CHANGES occur, is 60 times a second. 60 complete CYCLES of 'full tide to low tide back to full tide' are completed per second. We get 60 'cycles' of this per second. Which we write as 60 Herz. Or 60Hz.

But a typical guitar pickup coil will literally generate pulses of electromagnetic force (TIDAL IMPULSES that the electrons 'swimming' in the circuit will experience as 'tug' and 'tow' and 'pull' and 'push' of the ocean of electromagnetic fields they are 'swimming' in) that repeat, and complete, back and forth, CYCLES of 'full-tide-tide coming back in-low-tide-tide going back out-full tide, between around 200 and 6000 times a second.

Each string being struck and resonating at a particular frequency (oscillating-vibrating back and forth through the magnetic field of the magnetized pole piece sets up an impulse of energy, a disturbance in the electromagnetic field, that corresponds to the RATE or 'FREQUENCY' at which the string completes a full 'left-right-left' cycle of vibration-oscillation-looping.

Now the string actually 'loops' around and around above the pole piece, and thus through the magnetic field it produces. As it contains iron, ELECTRO-magnetic pulses are produced. We have electrons moving through a magnetic field, which produces *electro*magnetic forces/pulses/fields. The electrons of the iron in the string are 'sweeping' down and through and up and away from' the magnets, each time they complete the 'bottom' of their loop, and then 'up and away from then down and towards' the magnet as they complete the 'bottom' of their loop.

A viewer looking up from the magnetic pole piece, not understanding the string is actually fixed to two ends and 'looping' will see a forward and 'retrograde' motion of the string, as an observer of earth sees Mars and Venus first appear to travel in one direction, towards then sun, and then apparently back in the opposite direction, away from the sun, as these planets complete their orbits, their 'loops around' the sun.

And if you plotted the 'top' of the loop first, then continued, with the point at which the electrons / planets appeared to 'change direction' relative to the viewer being defined by the X axis (zero crossing point) , you'd plot a neat SINE WAVE. Open up AUDACITY and record a single note. Zoom in on it. What you are seeing corresponds to the 'looping' I just described. It is a visual representation of a 3-D loop in 2-D graph form. Plotting the distance, at any point in time, that the string moves left and right, and up and down, relative to the magnetic pole piece.

O.K, so the string experiences ZEN time. Vertically stacked time. But for our minds to RENDER change and experience anything at all, we have to plot time HORIZONTALLY. That is why we get a 'wave form' rather than a 'spiral'. If you represented the movements of the string in ZEN (vertically stacked) time, where only the NOW was 'experienced', then the cumulative nows, the 'points' 'stacked' in the one moment, would plot graphically as a spiral.

New to you? Well I am also experiencing THIS insight for the first time too. That I can remember anyway!

No matter how far you divide 'time', a moment has to have some duration. Hmm. Where is Xeno when you feel like chatting about such things? Probably right now laughing, along with a distinctly incredulous Wittgenstein, at all the new thralls who've been indoctrinated into the latest, newest, world-wild Co2vid CULT! Yes I bet even WITTGENSTEIN would find it 'hard to believe' that the same old same old protection racket can simply never seem to fail. As if people have absolutely NO memory at all. And live in 'the now'. So that each NEW 'threat' they are terrorized with seems 'NOVEL' and not 'just one more scam in a long line of terror scams used to get us to submit to tyranny!'

So let us first have clarified THAT. Exactly what 'frequency' refers to. And the TWO very DISTINCT but tightly coupled / related / reflexive characters in our narrative. The old man and the sea. Well, the swimmers in the sea. The 'sea' being played by 'Electromagnetic field'. And the 'swimmers' being played by 'Electrons'.

It IS a metaphor, so please, attempt to ENTERTAIN it and 'suspend disbelief' for the duration of the film. Yes overlook that 'hey, that swimmer is wearing incorrect period costume according to the history degree I spent 100,000 dollars and 5 years of my life getting' and try to 'enjoy' the film. Immerse yourself in it. It may not be 'true' but it IS 'based on a true story'. It is ART. Which attempts to convey as much TRUTH as possible, even as it might stray from some 'known details'.

I am NOT deliberately abusing the 'suspension of disbelief' employed by the Cult of Judah in its Hollywood propaganda films that admit 'Hey, O.K, so no Nazi's threw any old men in wheelchairs out of third story windows' (Well at least we couldn't' find anyone to claim this happened, despite trying, they seem a bit wary after previous such 'tall tale tellers' were exposed when they claimed Germans used mobile gassing vans, and fed Jews alive to Bears and Tigers in cages, then used their fat to make soap, and skin to make lampshades. Lampshades were apparently key to the war effort. And having bears and tigers rip people to shreds first apparently didn't prevent their skin making great lampshades. And I guess the bears and tigers ate just the flesh, and left the fat?) BUT what we are doing is ARTISTIC. We are manipulating people's emotions and prejudices in the way they SHOULD be manipulated. Yes WE decided they SHOULD be so manipulated. Yes of course NONE of our 'based on a true story' films come CLOSE to the REALITY of the TRUE STORY. But people wouldn't watch them if they did. The TRUTH is simply not as SATISFYING as the fiction WE build AROUND it. The MYTH we build AROUND it. Like 'The Official Holocaust Narrative' and 'Hollywood' versions of the National Socialist occupation of Western Europe. We claim we are serving a HIGHER truth. The GREATER truth. That transcends mere FACTS and EVIDENCE and actual DOCUMENTED HISTORY. We don't present 'history' to inform people about what ACTUALLY HAPPENED. We want to MANIPULATE THEM to adopt a particular EMOTIONAL ATTITUDE and AFFECTS regarding what (o.k well it didn't happen) WE want people to believe 'HAPPENED IN GENERAL'. People don't really get MOVED EMOTIONALLY by a million people being put in prison and deprived of liberty, and forced to work, for a few years. Even though that IS a TERRIBLE and as Hitler himself admitted MONSTROUS thing to do to people. It simply does NOT interest the punters much. Not enough to base a movie on, to paraphrase Jim Morrison. What makes a GOOD story is mass genocide, and torture, and medical experimentation, and pushing old men in wheelchairs out of third story windows to their death, and stuff like that. Stuff that did NOT happen, sure. But it is the ONLY way to get people to PAY ATTENTION and SHOW INTEREST at all, in what really DID happen. Which WAS monstrous enough. But simply NOT compelling enough for the average person whose lives are, in many cases, hardly better than the average inmate of a German Concentration camp. At least during the times the ALLIES ALLOWED the Germans to feed and care for the inmates humanely. You know, BEFORE the ALLIES destroyed all the supply lines TO the camps. And started MACHINE GUNNING the camps from FIGHTER PLANES. And made it IMPOSSIBLE for the Germans to treat the inmates as humanely as they INTENDED and HAD up until that point.

Now you might ask yourself. Why did the JEWS who ran the Soviet Union at that time, make it a crime for Soviet citizens to send food parcels to their friends and family in German prisoner of war camps? And why would ALLIES machine gun concentration camp hospitals. (Documented FACTS). And why would the ALLIES bomb train lines that serviced the concentration camps, making it impossible for the German authorities to provide the camp inmates with the level of nutrition and medical supplies they WANTED to, and HAD provided, for most of the war? The INTERNATIONAL RED CROSS documented the incredibly humane living conditions of Jews and others in German concentration camps. They fared much better than 'people of Japanese descent' held in AMERICAN CONCENTRATION CAMPS in America. Sure it WAS 'monstrous', as Hitler himself admitted, to lock ANYONE up in a concentration camp, whether a 'Japanese looking' American in America, or a 'Jew' in Poland. But there is a HUGE difference between 'The Official Holocaust Narrative' and what REALLY happened during World War Two. It should NOT have happened. It was MONSTROUS enough what DID happen. The tragedy, especially, later in the war, when medical supplies and nutrition could NOT be provided to camp inmates any more than it could be provided to the rest of the civilian populations of National Socialist occupied Europe, during World War Two. But that does NOT give 'Hollywood Jews' the right to take such 'Artistic License' in presenting films like 'Schindler's list' whose AUTHOR stated CLEARLY THAT THE NOVEL WAS A WORKD OF FICTION, as 'HISTORICAL DRAMA'. As 'based on a true story'. Even as 'A TRUE STORY'. When it is FICTIONAL. MADE UP. A LIE. It couldn't possibly have ANYTHING to do with the OFFICIAL MOTTO OF ISRAEL'S MOSSAD, COULD IT NOW? 'MAKE WAR BY DECEPTION'. And given that motto, isn't it time to ask WHO they are 'MAKING WAR' ON? Not just the Palestinians and Arabs in and around the territory 'Jews' in Israel have ILLEGALLY OCCUPIED. But on HUMANITY itself. Hence the AUDIENCE of Hollywood 'Holocaust' films, and other PROPAGANDA films, is the ENEMY which the HOLLYWOOD 'JEWS' are making war ON. Using their films as WEAPONS.

So now back to our particular narrative.

Let me clarify something. Protons, according to 'The Official Narrative' are inherently POSITIVE. They are the optimists of our story. They are 'positively charged'. Whereas, within the 'nuclear family' at the core of the atom, we have neutrons, which are very Curt Cobain, 80s, apathetic. They simply can't get excited about anything at all. Very NEUTRAL. They don't have strong opinions or feelings or interests in anything at all. They have zero MOTIVATION. They are lazy. Why bother getting all excited about anything and doing anything, when in the end, we all just die anyway. Right? These guys are super cool. Hard asses. But they are, for some reason not explained in the 'back-story', but which we just accept as 'given', by 'The Official Narrative', 'married', literally' 'wedded', indeed COUPLED to protons. They are 'tight' as it comes. Never to be parted. We aren't told how this situation came about. Or how this situation somehow endures. Now THERE is a real 'higher level mystery' for our mystery school initiates to look forward to having explained. But ONLY when they reach the 'higher levels' of our CULT! Our 'mystery school'. For now, they just 'KNOW' it to be TRUE. Why? Because some 'authority', OUR CULT authorities, DECLARED IT SO. And when you simply 'go along with it', things SEEM at least, to make more sense. Or give you a SENSE of comfort and security. Even though, to be honest, if you spend a bit too MUCH time 'obsessing', it really does NOT make ANY sense. Lucky we have all these distractions to prevent that. So we can return to the 'comforting' and 'secure' FEELING that we 'KNOW' how it all works. Mmm. Nice. Comforting. I feel so SECURE in my KNOWLEDGE. No chaos for me. All neatly ordered. Thanks to our CULT authorities. And the 'prophets' of our CULT. Those 'Electrical Scientists'!

So, in the 'tightly knit nuclear family' at the heart of our atom, we have protons and neutrons. One for each. So maybe we should speak of a 'tightly knit community' or 'tribe'. Even 'Cult'?

But the Atom is really an extended family. It is at the core of a wider 'integrated community' around it. It provides the 'center' that 'holds' the community together. How? Well here's the 'narrative'. The POSITIVELY charged PROTONS have something special. As we've seen, Neutrons just 'love them'. They can't bear to be parted from them. There is just something ABOUT those darn PROTONS that makes them irresistible to Neutrons. Apathetic as they generally are. Even THEY can't help but feel COMPELLED to keep company with PROTONS.

So should it come as any surprise that the ELECTRONS circling out in the wider 'shells' of the atom ALSO find them irresistibly attractive? Now they respect the Neutrons, and the 'special relationship' the Neutrons have with them, too much, to 'get too close'. So they just circle around. Enjoying the proximity to their hearts desire. Very romantic. Very spiritual love. Ideal love. Nothing 'physical' is EVER going to happen. Despite the literally 'charged' atmosphere between them. They will continue to 'love from afar'. The object of their desires will remain forever out of their reach. But that's how they like it, those romantic types. A love that is never physically 'gratified' and 'satisfied' is the only love that can remain ETERNAL. A desire never to be satiated is a desire that can last! You know, like the 'higher' mysteries being offered by your cult. There is always another 'level' of 'initiation' awaiting you. A higher 'brass ring' to reach for. Something to motivate you to 'come back' and 'enroll in the higher rites', and keep spending your money and time at 'the Org'. The Cult center. Clear already? Well you'll be interested in our 'O-T' levels right? O-T already? But are you OPERATING at your FULL potential yet? I thought not. Surely O-T 2 is the thing for YOU!

So, back to our electrons, loving from afar. Their attraction to the Protons keeps them circling the nucleus of the atom. But in SOME atoms, there are MORE electrons than there are ELECTRONS circling them.

'Why do you love X'. 'Because X is MINE'. Yes I'm paraphrasing the Vet asking the child why they love their mongrel dog. And why people love their 'own' children. Even their partners. Because they OWN them. And this is key to understanding our CHARACTERS motives and BEHAVIORS in our narrative. In some atoms, like copper, there are 'one too many' electrons, even at the best of times, to go around. So one of the electrons 'misses out'. How this situation came about, well 'The Official Narrative' doesn't explain. But we are to 'take it as given' that this state of affairs exists. As a 'fait accompli'. Like when the propagandists announce 'Britain has, since 8a.m this morning, found itself in a state of war with Germany'. Hmm. What now? Found itself in a state of war? Now how did THAT happen? Well, we are not told. NO explanation. We are just expected to ACCEPT this and 'go along with it'. The 'DECLARATION' that is simply is so. With NO explanation. You are just expected to 'suspend judgement' and go along with the FACT as it exists at this moment. That NOW we 'find ourselves in a state of war with Germany'. Before 8a.m this morning things were different. But we are NOT encouraged to examine what could possibly have CHANGED between 7.59 am and 8 am. That might raise some UGLY questions as to WHAT happened and WHO DECIDED these things and ON WHAT BASIS and in consultation with WHOM? Certainly NOT us. But now it has been DECLARED ours is not to reason why, ours is to murder and die. To commit war crimes and crimes against humanity, until one side 'wins' and gets to define its war criminals as 'heroes', and the to define the other sides true war heroes as 'war criminals'. That's just the way it is. Some things will NEVER change. Ironic really. Seeing as how CHANGE is at the root of ALL things!

Yes, so the situation is, as we first encounter the narrative, is that there just happens to be one electron, in the typical copper atom, which does NOT find itself a partner Proton to 'worship from afar'. To devote its life to. Compelled to remain 'in the BANN of'. Enthralled. A slave to love. To the love of one particular PROTON.

So this 'lone wanderer' in the outer shell of the community doesn't have very strong motives for 'hanging around'. So the moment the possibility of CHANGE, and thus perhaps 'something better', comes along, it jumps at the chance. Like an unwanted passenger on one ship, passing by other ships in the night, it will 'jump ship' just to see IF maybe it can find a better life for itself somewhere ELSE. Hope springs eternal. It motivates HUMANS to get out of bed every morning, and enduring the most MONSTROUSLY ABSURD of experiences, over and over again. Always hoping that 'this time things will be worth all that effort, sacrifice, blood, sweat, frustration, disappointment, exploitation, lies, deceptions, betrayals…O.K, I'll leave that speech to HAMLET! Remember Zeus had the femmebot 'Pandora' place HOPE at the very bottom of her 'sealed jar' of nasties, as without it, people would just 'throw in the towel 'and stop playing this stupid game, and appearing as bit players in this 'theatre of the absurd' called life, and Zeus wouldn't get the sadistic pleasure of watching them suffer all the OTHER nasties he'd placed in that 'sealed jar'.

So electrons are like the wandering refugees, the lost souls, the Nibiru's, the Marduk's the Habiru's (the wandering who's?). The drifters. They didn't inherit a proton of their own. They have no real commitment to any atom. They are always hoping to find greener pastures. They were told 'there is a proton for every electron' out there. And they are true believers. What is the alternative? To live with*out* hope? So they are always on the lookout for a CHANGE of atoms. A passing ship in the night to 'jump ship' to. Where things might be better for them. At least DIFFERENT. But of course, this is a FALSE hope. It motivates them to continual ACTION and movement. But it is a false friend. A trick. Because it leads them into 'WORKING HARD'. For the benefit of OTHERS. It itself will NEVER benefit from all the 'striving' it is motivated into by false hope.

But it is WE who are the beneficiaries of these little slaves to false hope. We are like Zeus in this narrative. For the WORK electrons do is for US. And OUR masters. Who employ the same slaves to enslave us. But back to the electrons for now.

Entertain all narratives offered, then see which BEST fit the observable facts, and are most accurate at predicting

By all means ENTERTAIN ‘The Official Narrative’ about ANYTHING, that your 'authorities' offer. See how far it can take us. But never WORSHIP it as an IDOL. Never ‘idolize’ it as ‘The Law’, as Jesus would say. For the law brings death. (This proved, and may have been intended as, prophetic, for Jesus was sentenced to death under the same LAW he was attempting to reform, and abolish). Only the living word brings life. As in a NARRATIVE that is OPEN TO FREE AND FAIR PUBLIC DEBATE, remains ALIVE. While a DOGMATIC LAW BUILT OF ARTICLES OF FAITH AND ASSUMPTIONS THAT MAY NOT BE QUESTIONED-CHALLENGED-INTERROGATED-TESTED AGAINST EVIDENCE is D.O.A. Dead on arrival. The moment it is ENSHRINED as ‘The Law’. Never to be challenged for ever more. CARVED IN STONE. An IDOL. To be ‘bowed down before’ humbly and SLAVISHLY. Something to be a SLAVE to. Fearful of ‘offending’ its ‘high priests’. It’s AUTHORITIES. Where even the most innocent of questions is defined as TABOO. HERESY. APOSTASY. CRIMINAL. So that we witness ‘The Birth of a New CULT’. One with supposedly ‘Scientific’ dogmas and articles of faith. But no different than any Cult that refers to ‘supernatural’ or ‘other worldly’ beings, like ‘Gods’ and such.

Cults hang a sign 'Do Not Disturb' on all their doors. But 'disturbances', in everything from permaculture gardens to electro-magnetism, the very basis of TROONATNOOR itself, are GENERATIVE. They are responsible for ABUNDANCE. Constant CHANGE is the basis of ALL EXPERIENCE. All sensations and impressions are the result of CHANGE FROM AN AMBIENT-BENCHMARK-DEFAULT CONDITION. In fact all you need do is 'disturb' the endings of the nerves that end in the various brain centers, at the appropriate 'rate' (frequency and amplitude of regular, repeating, 'disturbances') and you will EXPERIENCE any and all of the 'impressions' and 'sensations' we call light, color, sound, pitch, texture, pressure, smell, and taste. The 'meta-feelings' of hope and fear, desire and loathing, attraction and repulsion, are all derivative of the way these 'disturbances' are RENDERED by our minds as pleasure, pain, and relief. We are programmed to find some 'disturbances' pleasurable or painful. And those forces that reduce or remove disturbances we render as 'pain' are welcome as offering 'relief'.

It is time to DISTURB every CULT belief system. It will be a 'disturbing' time for Cult Thralls. Their very ideas of 'what is real' will be challenged. Put on trial. Put in the witness box for interrogation. And their 'evidence' will have to be rejected as the 'hearsay' it always turns out to be. Speculation. The only 'evidence' they have to offer also found to be 'circumstantial'. The dogmas and articles of faith they had been conditioned to accept as 'knowledge' and 'beyond question' and 'self-evident' will produce a lot more than mere 'reasonable doubt'. So long as all evidence is 'allowed' and 'admissible', and no censorship or interference from the various Cults or their agents is allowed, we shall soon expose conspiracies of every kind. Conspiracies to deny the people access to information. Conspiracies to deter, censor, and viciously punish, whistle-blowers. Conspiracies to deride the very idea that such conspiracies could even be possible. Conspiracies involving the mass media, education systems, and world finance systems.

The 'familiar', a.k.a 'the KNOWN’, is comforting. And most people's minds will immediately seek to return to the 'comfort of the familiar’ any time we 'disturb' them, by challenging 'what they know'. This has always worked to the advantage of Cults. Homo Fideo is an 'easy mark'. They fear public ridicule, and thus self-censor, and act according to their perceptions of what it APPEARS that 'everyone else' believes. Not realising that everyone else is looking to THEM for THEIR 'benchmark', and taking the APPEARANCE that THEY appear to 'believe' as a cue to 'me too'. So that EVERYONE is PRETENDING to believe something almost NO-ONE ACTUALLY BELIEVES. Or at least pretending to UNDERSTAND things they do NOT. And could NOT. Because they are NON-SENSICAL. Whoever controls the mass media gets to CREATE and MAINTAIN any MYTHS they choose. Because they can give EVERYONE ELSE the IMPRESSION that EVERYONE ELSE also believes these myths to be FACTS. TRUE. REAL. And thus, as Solzhenitsyn noted, Collective Ignorance is 'the cause underlying all other causes' for CULT hegemony. For the 'success' of the Cult of Judah Occupation of the Jew.S.S.R known as 'The Soviet Union' and its REIGN OF TERROR. For the success of 'The Spanish Inquisition' and its REIGN OF TERROR. And rushing through a long list of historical examples, we arrive at the 'success' of 'The COVID CULT' and it's REIGN OF TERROR.

Once a person 'commits' to ANY belief, their own mind will find ways to 'rationalize' that belief. It will be very selective in what it attends to, and how it 'frames' its experiences. It will practice 'confirmation bias' in filtering out any information that contradicts what it has committed itself to. It can go so far as to produce positive and negative hallucinations, in the form of 'self-hypnotism' and 'trance states', which are all merely 'role playing' on the part of the mind. Once you gain the 'commitment' of a young child, before it is capable or 'rational' thought, and critical reason, to any belief, that belief is almost guaranteed to be retained as 'fact'. As 'truth'. As 'reality'. No matter what a philosopher like myself offers as alternatives. No matter what the person actually experiences. For their mind will RE-INTERPRET and REVISE and DISTORT and FILTER and otherwise FRAME any experience so that it CONFORMS to the believe already committed to. Slavishly. Their mind will always find convenient 'pseudo-arguments' to support what it already is committed to believing. It will totally overlook data, information, compelling arguments, and direct sensory impressions (negative hallucinations) that contradict the committed-to belief. It will selectively and actively seek out information and data and arguments that SUPPORT the belief committed to. It will go along with NARRATIVES offered to it, that conform to the committed-to belief. And reject, OUT OF HAND, any narrative that challenges it. It will 'swallow camels' when it comes to the NARRATIVE committed to. While 'straining at gnats' when it comes to any narrative that challenges it. It is capable of being PERSUADED by propaganda that conforms to the committed-to belief, to the extent of POSTIVELY HALLUCINATING things that do not exist. Supposed historical events that never happened. And THREATS THAT ARE NOT REAL. THAT DON'T EXIST. OUTSIDE THOSE NARRATIVES. Like characters in a story or film script. The 'committed-to' belief actually forms a part of their own LIFE-SCRIPT. It becomes a fixed part of their 'Back-Story' and thus MOTIVATES all their future actions and decisions. It sets them on a trajectory that is rarely responsive to being 'corrected' by later FACTS and COMPELLING ARGUMENTS and actual personal EXPERIENCES. 'Evidence' has no power in their internal 'court of law'. Facts are 'inadmissible' as far as they contradict the 'committed-to NARRATIVES'. Witnesses are inadmissible, so far as they speak for the 'prosecution', and not for 'the defendant'. The defendant being the committed to belief.

The bar for 'reasonable doubt' when it comes to the prosecution of the ALTERNATIVE belief / narrative is is set so low, that an idiot could 'stumble across it' and claim to have 'proven beyond a reasonable doubt that the ALTERNATIVE belief/narrative is 'guilty'. Wrong.

While the bar for reasonable doubt when the defendant of the hegemonic, dominant, CULT, belief / narrative is set so high, that it is impossible for any prosecutor to come close. So that in any 'public trial', there is about zero chance of any ALTERNATIVE narrative ever 'winning'. No matter how strong their case.

In fact the BURDEN OF PROOF is, through 'sleight of mouth', placed upon the ALTERNATIVE to prove their case. The hegemonic, dominant, CULT NARRATIVE, 'The Official Narrative', is never called upon even to defend itself. It is never asked to. Never expected to. It is simply 'taken for granted' as 'self-evidently true'. As 'a state of nature'. As 'Dog-given'. As BEYOND question. As BEYOND challenge. The 'authority' need simply DECLARE something to be so, and it is accepted as a given. A fact. REALITY.

So the ALTERNATIVE narrative is 'put on the stand' and expected to 'prove that invisible pink elephants do NOT exist'. 'The Official Invisible Pink Elephant Narrative', and its corporations and institutions will NEVER be 'called to the stand' as defendants or even witnesses, in ANY trial. And any lawyer who DEFENDS the alternative in any 'show trial' that is allowed to take place, will face prosecution for the CRIME of 'spreading misleading and potentially dangerous misinformation', any time they attempt to actually do the job a defending attorney is usually expected to perform. For the Cult has no qualms when a clever attorney gets a guilty mass murdering rapist 'off' on some technicality, or through powerful eristics and rhetoric, and a knowledge of 'The LAW'. But lawyers are no more immune to charges of 'heresy' and 'apostasy' and 'sacrilege' as anyone else, under 'The LAW'. The CULT law. Whose priority is to defend the cult against all and any adversary or competition, at all costs. To utterly destroy even potential adversaries and competition. To 'kill men, women, children, unborn children, and their animals'. To 'dash their little one's heads against the stones'. To 'rip apart pregnant women'. To take as sex slaves, the virgins. To occupy homes others built. To eat harvests others planted and harvested. To have 2600 slaves for each CULT elite. To lend to, and never borrow from, the nations, and in this way gain control over them.

RADIO, 'The Official Fiction' loves you!

'Radio' is an electrical phenomenon employing electromagnetic radiation (EMR). 'The Official Narrative' REQUIRES us to believe that this is a type of energy that requires no MEDIUM for its transmission. It is its own medium? Is that like fact-checkers who we can trust to check their OWN facts? Because they are 'trusted authorities who would never think of lying to us'? As if in DEBATES (which in them quaint and innocent ye-olden times USED TO BE TWO sided, and BOTH sides got to put forward their best arguments.) [No wait, you must be kidding me, right? I mean how could that possibly WORK? Letting your COMPETITION and OPPONENT actually get a word in edgewise to CHALLENGE what you say and force you to provide EVIDENCE or at least compelling arguments to SUPPORT your CONTENTIONS?]

Well, back to the official narrative. Electromagnetic radiation is ENERGY that requires no medium for its transmission. It just IS. In and of itself. Independent. God-like! This new character HAD to be introduced into 'The Official Narrative' because BOTH Aether AND 'The earth hurtling through space' could apparently NOT share the same narrative. The narrative just couldn't SUPPORT both of them. So one of them had to go. It was Aether's contract that was was pulled. 'The earth hurtling through space' was considered much more valueable to the narrative. For some reason NECESSARY for it to 'work'. To 'make sense'. To be at least superficially BELIEVABLE. So Aether was written out of the show. Call security to escort them off the set. Take Aether's I.D and make sure they are never allowed back on studio property! And don't forget to notify the lawyers to place 'GAG ORDERS' on Aether, so they can't ever 'talk to the public' about any of this! Aether was then 'written out of the narrative' for all time. Only historians of 'The show' would ever remember Aether. Back in the 'glory days when Aether was one of 'the big stars' of the show.

Which left a real 'hole' in that narrative. In fact a VACUUM. Enter the new member of the cast. 'THE VACUUM OF SPACE'. Lucky our re-write gave our protagonist 'Electromagnetic Radiation' the super-power of being able to move through 'the vacuum of space' or our 'narrative' might quickly have fallen apart, and lost all credulity, other than with the most credulous and unthinking of audiences. The 'critics' would have had a field day. Yep, lucky our super-hero has that super-power. Somehow to be able to 'travel through the vacuum of space' without a medium of transmission. True 'Operational-Thetan' style. Must have studied at the Scientology ORG I guess! Or was it the intercession of some god/s that granted them this super-power?

To travel through 'The vacuum of space'. Sorry, just can't get enough of that phrase. It's like 'The 6 million' or 'Iraqi WOMADS' or 'Kuwaiti babies thrown out of incubators' or 'Man-made global climate crisis' or 'Covid 19 pandemic' or 'Building 7 just self-controlled-demolitioned itself because something in it caught fire after the Twin towers across the road inexplicably went into 'controlled-demolition' and fell into their own footprint, exactly as the company officially hired to 'clean up the site' would have managed, had THEY had the contract, and not, wait for it, some Islamic terrorists managed to do the EXACT SAME JOB WITH THE EXACT SAME RESULTS that it would have taken 'Controlled Demolition' (yep that is the name of the company who did 911) months of careful planning, and use of advanced 'shaped' nano-thermite charges, to achieve, simply by exploding some aero fuel. Some jet fuel, on ONE of the upper levels of each of the buildings. Well in fact only ONE 'flying object' actually hit ONE of the towers. The other just 'exploded'. No-one could see any reason for the SECOND detonations. Oh, UNTIL of course, MUCH LATER, on the tell-lie-vision. When suddenly EVERYONE could see a 'second plane'. Must have been the poor lighting or weather conditions or angles, that prevented EVERYONE ON THE ACTUAL SCENE from seeing a 'second plane'. I think 'Controlled Demolition' should rethink its operational model. I mean, wouldn't it be cheaper to simply pour aero-fuel over one of the upper stories of a skyscraper, light it, then wait for the entire building to pancake into its own footprint, just like happened to THREE skyscrapers during 911? Surely that is a more cost-effective way to 'bring down' skyscrapers? I mean, what have they been doing all these years, to be so IGNORANT of such things? That all it takes is a bit of aero fuel, a bit of Av Gas, and a bit of an explosion, to bring down skyscrapers! And once you've got ONE on fire, you just have to wait for that fire to spread to any OTHER building nearby, and THAT building will also 'pancake into its own footprint'. I mean just too easy. Think of the cost savings. In time, and expensive nano-thermite shaped charges. And I mean you can do it without even bothering to tell the locals about it. Just pour some Aero fuel around one level, explode something to make a window blast outwards, and claim 'Someone flew an aeroplane into the window'. And everyone will be like 'Oh, yeh, right, I can see how that could EASILY happen'. Show them a few photo-shopped After-Affect-ed videos where you've added a plane flying into the window just before your little explosives went off and, as they say, the rest is 'History'. The OFFICIAL history. 'The Official Narrative'.

So, our 'Electromagnetic Radiation' has the super-power of 'Particle-wave duality'. It is its OWN medium. Gone FULL O-T. Full 'Operational-Thetan'. It has become CAUSE. Its OWN cause. And Effect. Able to leap the widest 'vacuum of space' in a single bound. LITERALLY 'at the speed of light'. Taking us along with it in our own 'LEAP OF FAITH.'

The great thing about IMAGINARY things is they can thus oscillate at any IMAGINABLE frequency. With any IMAGINABLE 'wave-length'. That's the great thing about 'discovering' (making up 'novel' stuff a.k.a fictional stuff a.ka LYING) theoretical (made up) stuff. It can IN THEORY, be anything to all people and do anything anyone requires of it, TO MAKE THE NARRATIVE APPEAR COMPELLING. To allow the story to 'work'. To be at least vaguely convincing. Or at least tolerably credible. Possible. If you are willing to be REALLY generous with your credulity. Which most THEATRE GOERS are. Which most Tell-lie-vision viewers ARE. They WANT to believe. They are co-conspirators. Willing collaborators. They want to ENJOY the narrative. Lose themselves in it. Immerse themselves in it. EXPERIENCE it. Whether we are talking about the escapism of 'watching a great film' or consuming 'The Official Narrative'.

IMAGINE if John Lennon had used his massive fortune to help other sentient beings, rather than simply live in luxury and privilege? I wonder if you can? He certainly couldn't. Phoney that he was. With George Harrison as he 'sings, about love, but his for-tune, He's keep-in, en-tir-er-ly, just for him' (while his conscience and sense of hypocrisy gently sleeps'!).

Now we do know who invented 'Yahweh' and 'Jesus' and 'The Official 911 Narrative' and 'The Official Holocaust Narrative' and 'The Official man-made climate crisis Narrative' and 'The Official Oklahoma City Bombing Narrative' and 'The Official Covid Pandemic Narrative'. Those good old boys at Cult of Judah H.Q in Jerusalem, with new branches now open in the Vatican, Washington D.C, The London Financial District, The United Nations, The World Bank, The World Health Organisation, and your own local 'People's Democratic Republic of (insert name of your own Cult of Judah occupied nation here)'.

And we know who invented the various 'theoretical particles' and 'invisible forces' responsible for maintaining the veneer of superficial 'authority' for 'The Official Narrative' of Science. And who 'genocided' any 'characters' (like Aether) in earlier 'narratives' who didn't fit 'The new improved Official Narrative'.

But who invented 'Radio'? Or to be more precise, who discovered radio. And who invented the clever gadgets that took advantage of 'radio'? It's like asking 'who discovered America'. Lots of people could rightfully claim credit. But 'The Official Narrative' usually only gives ONE person credit. In the case of 'radio', an Italian fellow CLAIMED (it was never independently verified) that an 'S' he broadcast / transmitted by 'radio' from England to Canada, was in fact 'received' in Canada. Whether he was lying or not, the 'story' attracted investors to his business operation, and the rest is 'History'. You know, 'The Official Narrative' of history. Often it is the person who MONETIZES some new discovery most effectively that gets not just the filthy lucre, but the fame. Like the explorer who discovers some USE for a continent, goes down in the official history as the 'discoverer' of that continent.

However, in 1943 the U.S. Supreme Court ruled that many of Marconi's radio patents were invalid because Nikola Tesla had already described the devices covered by them. In fact Tesla had publicly demonstrated wireless communication devices in 1893. He was working on the use of radio not just for communication, but for power distribution. But the problem was that his biggest investor, Westinghouse, who didn't see how you could 'meter' such electricity and thus charge for it!

Around the same time In England, Sir Oliver Lodge, and in Russia Alexander Stepanovich Popov, and in India, Sir Jagadish Chandra Bose (that famous name in high-end audio equipment!) were demonstrating wireless telegraph transmissions. And their work all built upon the work of earlier inventors like Heinrich Hertz, Edouard Branly, Roberto de Moura, Ernest Rutherford, Ferdinand Braun, Julio Baviera, and Reginald Fessenden.

'Channeling' radio

'You've recently lost someone dear to you. Yes? (based on your age and our previous 'chats' and basic statistical probability you either lost a parent, or were divorced or broke-up with someone!) Yes, Yes, I can see them clearly. They seem to be saying. No wait, I'm losing them. I have another appointment so we'll have to come back to this at a later date. Please make an appointment with my secretary. Yes we accept credit cards.

Channelling is all about 'channelling' some chance observation into ready hard cash. MONETIZING something. 'Discovering' ways to PROFIT from something. Something YOU observed yourself. Or someone else brought to your attention. Often the people who are best at observing and noting things, are worst at MONETIZING what they learned. That's where the BUSINESSPERSON comes in. They find a way to SELL something they got for FREE. And which everyone ELSE could have for 'next to nothing'. For a HUGE PROFIT. That's called 'business'. Profiting from something. So that YOU profit much more than OTHERS from something.

I'm terrible at 'business'. I give away my insights. In the true spirit of science and medicine. Those 'natural philosophies'. It's my 'moral philosophy'. My personal ETHIC. Darn principles! No better way to keep a soul poor! Even Brendon O'Connell deleted his own Youtube Channel because people wouldn't pay to view it. I can't blame him for that momentary lapse of good will. That moment of malice. The same thought crossed my mind once. To delete my entire TROONATNOOR imprint because no-one was giving me ANY credit WHATSOEVER for my achievements, let alone reciprocating for my effort, sacrifice, and risk, monetarily. Brendon O'Connel was getting THOUSANDS OF DOLLARS A MONTH for years. His 'hissy fit' came when the cash slowed down to 70 dollars a week (or was it month?). Now I could only DREAM of being rewarded so lavishly. Not only do I not earn any money for my effort, sacrifice, risk, and actual physical suffering, but I get PUNISHED. O.K, he spent years in prison, so he's got me on that. But what was he risking? I had MY ENTIRE TROONATNOOR IMPRINT, MY ENTIRE LIFE'S WORK, MY ENTIRE INTELLECTUAL CAPITAL, BANNED AND CENSORED AND BLACKLISTED FROM ALMOST EVERY PUBLISHING PLATFORM. And cannot return from exile to Australia or Germany until I 'renounce' and RECANT all my most important insights and observations and 'discoveries'. And even then I would face jail time for 'past intellectual crimes', just as Brendon O'Connell did.

Only because I do NOT pander to any narrow vested interest group, and am NOT a member of any Cult of Judah subsidiary Cult (He is an avowed Zombie Jesus Cannibal Vampire Cult thrall, worshipping that old Cult of Judah 'God' YWH'), and am NOT racist and am NOT a Nazi and am NOT otherwise compromised in ANY way, and thus NOT 'Controlled' in any way, or controll*able* BY The Cult of Judah, or any of its agents, agencies, or subsidiary cults, I don't get support from ANYONE.

Other than one person, who I would like to thank here, who made several contributions of a financial nature, but more importantly, gave me MORAL support, even calling me from Israel on my 50th birthday to play 'happy birthday to you' on a guitar. Now monetarily it was less than Brendon O'Connell got in ONE month. But for the purposes of transparency, and reciprocity, I had to document it. And THANK my benefactor. And make it clear that he is an Israeli 'Jew'. And that I am working to save us all, and 'The Jews' FROM our common enemy, The Cult of Judah. So yes, friends, I am NOT in any way 'Anti-Semitic' in the way most people would use that term. However LEGALLY, the term 'Anti-Semitic' means anyone who opposes or even exposes 'The Ideology of Semiti*sm' with its ZIONIST consequences. Most 'Jews' are at least as much victims of The Cult of Judah as the rest of us. In fact it was King Herod The Great who was the first leader, long before Adolf Hitler, who actively attempted to save 'The Jews' from The Cult of Judah. For this he goes down in 'The Official History' as MAD. Like Jesus. Like Adolf Hitler. And if they get their hands on me, I will suffer the same fate. Be DECLARED mad.

And remember, all the Cult of Judah have to do these days is DECLARE something, and everyone acts as if it is so. They simply DECLARE a 'pandemic' and then DECLARE that you have NO human rights, and it seems almost everyone 'goes along with it'. Like most people accept the DECLARATIONS embodied in EVERY 'Official Narrative' from 911 to 'The Holocaust'. Like they accept the DECLARATION that 'There is one god, and Mohammed is his profit'. Or the DECLARATION of 'The trinity'. Or that a priest can call god down from heaven, and magically convert wafers into the flesh of Jesus, and wine into 'the blood of Jesus', so the cult thralls can eat Jesus and drink his blood. I do DECLARE!

So back to 'channelling' the phenomena scientists observed into cash. In the form of 'radio'. Our visual representation systems represent a.k.a RENDER the frequency 680THz as the 'color' Purple. The nerve endings in our visual representation systems (eyes and so on) resonate at such frequencies. They are 'tuned to' a specific narrow bandwidths of the electromagnetic spectrum. Just like a radio is built to 'tune into' a specific bandwidth, and actual frequencies. So that you can 'sell a license' to a radio station to 'broadcast' on a specific frequency. They then 'own' that frequency. No-one else may use it, in the area their license covers. So now when you 'turn the dial to 107.9' all you hear is that radio station. That is just one way to 'channel' phenomena into PROFITS. The government sells the bandwidth to radio stations. The radio stations sell 'air time' to advertisers, government propagandists who spend YOUR taxes on deceiving you and tricking you into agreeing to things you never otherwise would have, and to record companies who will pay them to play their latest releases.

Transmitting and Receiving Radio

Audio, Video, and other data can be encoded, transmitted, then decoded, wirelessly. At the transmitter end of a the signal chain an oscillator generates a 'carrier wave'. A sine-wave of alternating current at a specific frequency. In the case of radio stations, that will be the station's Identifier. So Radio FM 107.3 would be broadcasting at a frequency of 107.3Mhz.

Modulation of amplitude or frequency used to encode information is called Amplitude Modulation (AM) and Frequency Modulation (FM) respectively.

The modulated carrier signal is amplified to increase the range of transmission, and an antenna array is used to convert these amplified signals to radio pulses. Ye olde movie shows showed radio pulses spreading out in all directions, as circles, from the antenna, with each circle representing one pulse. In fact they radiate in spherical pulses, but that's harder to render graphically, though today there should be no excuse. I might work out how to do it myself in After Effects later, if my 'Audio Engineering Reference Guide' finds resonance with enough people to justify turning it, and my 'Optimal Reaper DAW guide' into instructional videos.

At the other end of the signal chain, the radio pulses induce a small A/C current, a 'Radio Frequency' (RF) in any exposed conductor, such as an antenna designed to work with a radio receiver. The entire RF signal is amplified and sent to a Radio Tuner, a circuit that can filter out specific target frequencies from all the 'background noise', to isolate the Carrier Signal we transmitted.

This is like looking for a fragment of a supposed Covid-19 microbe, in a sample containing countless bits of DNA and RNA of countless millions of other organisms present in the sample. A PCR test 'amplifies' a bit of the entire sample, including all the 'background noise'. At the levels of 'amplification' recommended by the World Health Organisation, the NOISE itself is what triggers any 'positive' test results. NOW HERE'S THE RUB, A KEY NEW LOGICAL CONCLUSION: THIS MEANS THAT IN REALITY EVERY PCR TEST WOULD FIND SOMETHING TO 'TRIGGER' A FALSE POSITIVE. AND THUS A COMPELLING, BASED ON THE AVAILABLE EVIDENCE AND LOGIC, IS THAT ALL 'CASE-SURGES' ARE PRE-DETERMINED BY BATCHES OF PCR TESTS DESIGNED TO BE TRIGGERED AND GIVE FALSE POSITIVES. They can 'produce' as many 'case surges' and 'hotspots' as they like. At any moment they could claim EVERYONE was infected. Or 'shut down' particular areas by shipping 'POSITIVE' PCR tests. The MASSIVE expense of the operation is borne by the TAXPAYER and a few 'insiders' make obscene profits. While healthcare resources are TOTALLY WASTED on absolutely BOGUS 'show processes'. Because the outcome of EVERY single PCR test was determined BEFORE it was shipped out. That is of course 'informed and reasonable/rational speculation. And that aside, the man who 'invented' the PCR test, Kary Mullins, warned that it should NEVER be used to diagnose ANY infectious virus, as it was NOT 'fit for this purpose'. And since then many experts have publically stated that the supposed 'positive PCR test results' were the result of NOISE and in NO WAY any indication of the presence of any viable, infectious, virus at any time in the tested person's past, or present. But THAT is the whole POINT of PCR testing. To generate as many 'false positive' 'cases' as possible. To TERRIFY people. Like finding as many 'terrorists' and 'drug dealers' and 'hostile enemies' as possible, and even provoking wars, in order to 'justify' massive expansion of Federal government powers, and the EXTINCTION of all human rights among the 'citizens'. That is how 'protection rackets' work. The more 'witches' and 'possessed people' and 'devil worshippers' and 'Djinns' and such we can claim to have found, the more TERROR we can strike into the hearts of the punters, who, scared out of their wits, unable to reason coherently, and acting based on emotional instincts rather than rationally, will submit to the 'protective measures' offered, and pay the taxes demanded 'for their protection'.

The PCR test was never designed to be a 'tuner'. It has other valuable contributions to make to science. And a very limited role to play in clinical diagnostics. But it was never intended, nor fit for, the task it has been assigned. And any 'results' are as meaningless as the RF signal received by an antenna. Unless you can demonstrate the ability to 'isolate' a Covid Microbe, you can't claim to be able to 'identify' a person as 'infected' with it. It's like claiming you have a radio broadcast from aliens, that you have 'identified' within the NOISE being picked up by an antenna. Until you have a tuner, you have no way of proving your claim, and isolating the 'alien broadcast' you CLAIM is 'being masked by all that noise', but which you confidently assure us YOU can hear. Now just imagine if that person stood to earn BILLIONS of dollars if they could convince you of what they were saying. What lengths they'd go to to CONVINCE you.

The simplest tuner circuit combines a coil inductor and capacitor with inductance and capacitance values that ensure the circuit resonates at a particular (resonant) frequency. The frequency that the radio signal you want to receive is being transmitted on. We use the formulas described in this guide to calculate the necessary values. This circuit acts as a 'bandpass EQ', filtering OUT frequencies above and below the target band*width of the target carrier signal. We can 'tune' a circuit by varying the amount of inductance in the coil, by varying the number of turns of wire in the coil, or by varying the capacitance of the capacitor, by using a variable capacitor (a.k.a tuning capacitor). Either will change the resonant frequency of the circuit. This is what we do when we 'move the dial' on an analog radio. Finally a detector circuit separates the audio signal from the carrier wave. For AM this is a diode that rectifies the Alternating current leaving a Direct Current signal that can be sent to the amplifier then speaker. For FM it is bit more complicated.

Visual representation system sampling rates and 'blur'

In today's digital world we deal with 'sampling rates'. Our visual representation systems have a surprisingly low sample rate. Which is ironic, or maybe revealing, and logical, given that what we are sampling is arguably the most complex target. You only need 24 or so 'frames per second' to trick a human into thinking they are watching continuous, 'moving image'. In fact it is only at the rate of 12 or 13 frames per second that the visual cortex will RENDER discrete, individual, images. So you see 'photos' rather than 'video'.

The relatively low sampling rate of our visual representation system is why things 'blur' if they move fast, past our field of vision. Hold your hand up in front of your face and wave it back and forth. The image of it 'blurs'. Also consider that we must be 'buffering' short term memories of our hands 'previous' locations 1/24th of a second ago, for each 'sample' or 'snapshot' our visual cortex processes, in order to 'see a blur'. Because a BLUR contains THE PAST. Yes we are dealing in ZEN time. Vertically stacked time. Anyway, if you ever wondered why 'hi-definition digital video' looks so '*sur*real' and unnatural, it is because people often choose NOT to add 'blur' in 'post production'. So we see what we would normally NOT see. Namely the 'intervals' BETWEEN each 1/24th of a second sample. Our visual cortex has to 'save' several 'snapshots' then 'edit them together' into an apparent 'stream' of light and color and shape. And there is NO data 'between each snapshot'. So it RENDERS a 'blur'. Like someone saying 'Um' or 'Ah' in between words. To fill the gap. To take DISCRETE individual snapshots, and give the IMPRESSION of continually flowing movement.

You can use an old-school 'flip book' animation to demonstrate how cartoon 'animation' works. You draw a character performing some action, but break it down into 24 separate images, so that when you 'flip' the book, each has a 1/24th second duration. Or anything roughly like that. If you open a video in some video processing software like After Effects, or even Windows Movie Maker, you can 'zoom out' and see the individual 'frames' that make up the video. The individual 'still shots' that, when run in succession 'past your eyes' at 24 individual images per second, give the IMPRESSION of continuous, fluid, movement.

Hmm. Xeno around? We've taken 'discrete NUMBERS of things' and our visual cortex has RENDERED them as 'continual, ANALOG, fluid, WHOLES'. Which we then feel we could, if we wanted to, MEASURE. With INFINITE divisibility. But the moment we TRY to do this with video, we realise we only HAVE 24 frames per second. THAT is the limit we could divide what APPEARS to be an infinitely divisible measurement, by.

It is all a matter of PERCEPTION. The apparent 'continuous' line on your computer monitor or page is really QUANTITY OF discrete, individual, pixels, with DISTANCE BETWEEN THEM. And in the 'REAL WORLD' we can't know if any 'continuous lines' really exist.

If we zoomed in on 'objects' like rocks or metal bars, or 'shrunk' ourselves, [like American retailers are doing with product portions, to hide MASSIVE inflation behind '*shrink*flation', so consumers don't notice they are paying a LOT more, per gram, for each, now-smaller packet of their favorite products. So they don't notice the MASSIVE inflation occurring in the U.S] down to the size of electrons, we'd find we are dealing with QUANTITIES any time our mind-brains render, QUALITIES. And that the objects that appear unified, and continuous, at the MACRO level, and which our minds RENDER as such, are really made up of widely spaced 'particles' which are held together by 'electro-magnetic forces' operating across the VAST distances BETWEEN particles that make up 'solid objects'. So that objects, like lines, are NOT 'infinitely divisible'. At some point the 'QUALITY' called 'line' disappears and you have a new QUALITY called 'a row of dots separated by space but held in a 'straight line' by electro-magnetic fields'.

And when you 'push' a 'solid object' it is like hitting the first in a line of billiard balls, and having the first hit the second, and so on, until the second last hits the last, so that the last ball APPEARS to move when you hit the first ball in line. But there was actually a long series of 'collisions' and compressions and expansions, between the initial 'push' and the final one.

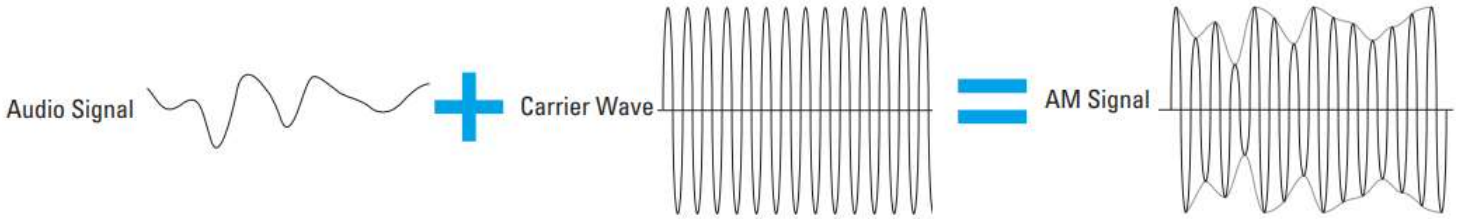
So maybe its time to consider ENTERTAINING my very own TROONATNOOR 'electro-magnetic SOUP' narrative?

Digital sampling rates Vis a Vis analog 'frequency' of energy pulses

Ironically it is only after considering what I understand about DIGITAL SAMPLING RATES that Amplitude Modulation makes sense to me. A 1 Mega Hz frequency gives us 1 MILLION amplitude peaks to work with. To sample the analog voltage corresponding to the audio input 1 MILLION times a second. That lets us take 1 MILLION 'snapshots' of an audio 'wave-form' per second. If you zoom in on audio in AUDACITY or some other DAW (Digital Audio Workstation) you will see that not much changes, audio-wise, in One MILLIONTH of a second. Human hearing extends to around 20,000 Hz. So to 'sample' every frequency you are likely to want to record and transmit, you only need 20,000 of those '1 MILLION' peaks. You have peaks to spare. And don't imagine your auditory brain centers would RENDER CHANGES in amplitude that occurred in in under one MILLIONTH of a second. So what you get is a 'wave-form' made up of lots of amplitude peaks in the carrier signal, rather than a continuous voltage / line / curve. But if you 'join the peaks' to form a continuous line, it would be as smooth as any listener could desire. This is how it is possible to use the 1000kHz as a 'carrier' signal to transmit an almost perfect replica of our audio signal. As a series of 'bursts' of energy of amplitudes that correspond to the audio signals amplitude at any moment in time, at rates that correspond to the audio input's frequencies.



So to clarify, this is why ALL WE NEED TO DO IS SAMPLE THE AMPLITUDE OF OUR AUDIO INPUT OVER TIME. When we 'line up' all those amplitudes, in real time, their peaks automatically REPRODUCE THE FREQUENCY OF OUR AUDIO INPUT SIGNAL. I think I've got that right. You can't imagine the frustration I've had the last few days trying to work all this out. Ironic it took my understanding of DIGITAL sampling rates to solve an ANALOG problem. Or is it? Does it in fact REVEAL something MUCH MORE SIGNIFICANT. And worthy of us taking time to understand? That in fact no 'continuous' reality exists at all. It is all 'discrete'. NOT Infinitely divisible. Made up of QUANTITIES of 1s (mathematically speaking). Whole INTEGERS. We can, in our MINDS, divide integers like 1 into an infinite number of IRRATIONAL numbers. But they do NOT exist 'in reality'. Everything reduces to the primerty. Which in mathematics is the number ONE. And it is the change in QUANTITY of these primerties, that producers the PERCEIVED CHANGES IN QUALITIES. David Hume and I would be on genuine speaking terms I'm sure. And Xeno would NOT be an unwelcome 'third man' in OUR 'drinking party' and 'think shop'.

Remember Amps, Amperes, refer to a QUANTITY OF ELECTRONS. Amplitude refers to the INTENSITY of the force of impact of a quantity of objects hitting something. Like INTENSE monsoon rain vs a light summer sprinkling.

We've zoomed right in, so you can see the 'gaps' between each amplitude peak. But when we zoom back out to 'real world scale' those peaks would LOOK as if they were touching. The very 'peak' amplitude of each cycle would APPEAR to form a continuous line. Like standing in a monsoon downpour feels like you have a RIVER flowing down onto you. When it is really a series of very closely spaced rain 'drops'. And remember that if you could zoom in, and shrink right down to electron size, ALL apparently 'solid objects' would suddenly cease even being made of 'elements'. There would not even be any 'copper' in the 'solid strand of copper wire'. There would be huge distances in which, so 'The Official Narrative' would have us believe, individual electrons would be spinning at distances around their temporary 'Nuclear family' of protons and neutrons!

What's so clever in all this AM radio stuff, is that now we have a very specific frequency to tune into. If you do orienteering, you will be familiar with the idea of deliberately setting out a few degrees right of your target. So when you have covered the appropriate distance, you can be reasonably confident that the target will be to your left. It simplifies things. Otherwise when you've covered the appropriate distance, the target could be EITHER side. And you might travel back and forth a lot until you finally find it! So using a 'carrier signal' we just need to 'tune into' this specific frequency, to 'find our needle in a haystack' of frequencies our antenna will 'pick up'.

A radio receiver can easily 'tune into' the 1MHz carrier signal. A bandpass filter filters out the 'background' noise either side of the 1MHz. A 'detector circuit' (using a diode) converts the alternating current from the antenna and tuning circuit into a direct current that can be amplified and enjoyed.

.

Frequency	Abbreviation	Description
3–30 Hz	ELF	Extremely low frequency, used for communications with submarines.
30–300 Hz	SLF	Super low frequency, also used for communications with submarines.
300 Hz–3 kHz	ULF	Ultra low frequency, used for underground communications within mines.
3–30 kHz	VLF	Very low frequency, also for submarine communications and a few other unusual applications.
30–300 kHz	LF	Low frequency, used for navigation, RFID, and a few other applications.
300–3,000 kHz	MF	Medium frequency, used for AM radio.
3–30 MHz	HF	High frequency, used for shortwave and CB radio.
30–300 MHz	VHF	Very high frequency, used for FM radio and television.
300–3,000 MHz	UHF	Ultra high frequency, used for television, mobile phones, wireless networking, Bluetooth, and so on.
3–30 GHz	SHF	Super high frequency, used for high-speed wireless networking, radar, and communication satellites.
30–300 GHz	EHF	Extreme high frequency, used for microwave communications.
300–3,000 THz	THF	Tremendously high frequency (no I didn't make that up), used for exotic applications that border on science fiction.
Above 3,000 GHz		You're off the edge of the spectrum map, mate. Here there be dragons.

If you think this story is bad, consider all the ailments Tesla suffered for his 'art'

Edwin H. Armstrong, born in 1890, made his first major contribution to radio technology while still a junior at Columbia University in 1912. His invention was a circuit that amplified incoming radio signals by feeding them back though the amplifier tube in a regenerative circuit. It allowed radio to be heard, for the first time, through a speaker rather than with headphones. During World War I he invented the super heterodyne circuit. A radio signal broadcasting at a high frequency like 1,500 kHz, can be combined with a frequency from an oscillator relatively close, say 1,560 kHz, in such a way that the original signal could also be detected at the difference between the original signal's frequency (1,560 kHz) and the oscillator's frequency (1,500 kHz). Namely 60 kHz The super heterodyne circuit is one of the most important electronic circuits ever invented. It's still used in nearly all radio receivers to this day. His third great invention came in 1933, when he created a method for transmitting radio signals that wasn't subject to interference from atmospheric disturbances like lightning. His new system was called frequency modulation a.k.a FM radio. Armstrong patented his inventions, but his patents were challenged or ignored by the titans of radio. Can you remember who owns almost every major mass media outlet? You know who. Yes you do. No need to wander, I mean 'wonder'. Armstrong was a Goy. The Justices of the supreme court played dumb with him, pretending they couldn't understand how his regenerative circuit worked, and rejecting his lawsuit in 1934. He had the patent, but who is a 'Goy' to claim to own anything? Intellectual property? That's only for big Jewish Hollywood types and music industry types prosecuting people for downloading their movies and music for free. So 'the industry' just ignored Armstrong's patents and intellectual property rights, using his technology without paying him a cent for having invented it, and making THEIR entire BUSINESS MODEL possible in the first place! In 1954, ill and broke from his legal battles, Armstrong committed suicide by jumping from his high-rise apartment window. Eventually his widow, Marion, won a series of patent lawsuits and was awarded damages of $10 million. A pittance. Some stockbroker gets blown up by his own people in a controlled demolition in New York because he 'didn't take the SMS seriously that all the other 'Jews' got and didn't ignore, and turned up for work anyway, and he gets more than that. And what did HE invent? What did he EVER contribute to society?

Asides from 'Electrickery'

To 'audit' anyone, or any narrative, you first need a few verified facts to 'test' them on. If they lie about these, you know you are dealing with a liar from the get-go. But what if YOU are mistaken and THEY are really telling the TRUTH? A truth YOU are simply NOT in possession of. That YOU have been misled about. That YOUR 'trusted authorities' have lied to YOU about? Prejudices are great to tricking people into 'jumping to conclusions'. And if you control a full spectrum propaganda machine, you can construct prejudices in people from birth. 24/7. Across every platform. So all the sources of 'information' you have (propaganda) are 'on message' and always 'stick to the official narrative'. It can be very convincing. It SEEMS as if EVERYONE KNOWS something. It SEEMS beyond question. It SEEMS impossible 'the authorities COULD be lying at all'. WHY WOULD THEY LIE? I recently learned that there is ZERO scientific evidence to back up the DECLARATION in medical journals, textbooks, and the CONFIDENT PUBLIC OPINION that 'the flu is spread from person to person by coughing, sneezing, breathing, touching your nose and eyes, and handling things other 'infected' people have handled. It is just 'The Official Narrative' concerning 'The Flu'. And of course there are not even any CLINICAL DIAGNOSTIC TESTS for the supposed 'Covid-19' Virus. And ZERO evidence it exists. NO images of a Covid-19 microbe have ever been published. No complete DNA sequence has been published. NO EVIDENCE OF ITS EXISTENCE CAN BE FOUND. And yet 'Everyone KNOWS' it is real, and a 'Sword of Damocles' hanging over our heads. And while NO-ONE has EVER managed to 'infect' another human, or even monkey, WITH Covid-19, even via direct injection into the respiratory system, still, EVERYONE BELIEVES THAT THE EXISTENCE OF A SUPPOSED COVID-19 VIRUS MICROBE IS BEYOND QUESTION. Why? Because everyone has been TOLD this. And very few people bother to QUESTION AUTHORITY. To seek out the SCIENTIFIC EVIDENCE for the propaganda being issued BY 'the authorities'. 'The Official Narrative' becomes the new 'Social Reality'. Beyond question. Never doubted. Accepted as 'self-evident'. With everyone ASSUMING IT MUST HAVE BEEN PROVEN BEYOND DOUBT FOR THE AUTHORITIES TO DECLARE IT TO BE SO. Because, THE AUTHORITIES NEVER LIE. Right? Oh, so my point here is that it is easy to TRICK THE OPERATOR OF THE POLYGRAPH into interpreting a totally honest response as a lie. So that they can at best declare an 'inconclusive' test result, and have a honest applicant for some Cult of Judah Agency like the CIA or FBI or Federal Police, or military, or some 'position of power', REJECTED FOR LIFE. Why? Because the Cult of Judah does NOT want 'honest' employees. It wants people it can CONTROL through blackmail. It wants 'team players' who will be CORRUPT. Whether for selfish gain, or out of idealistic motivations, imagining they are 'serving some greater good' by 'bending the rules'. And that THE ENDS JUSTIFIES THE MEANS. And all that typical human stuff that will totally cripple any attempt at genuine REFORM of human society. Unless it is openly acknowledged, and MICRO-MANAGED!

If you want to work out a poker player's 'tells', you need to know what cards they have; to calibrate their facial gestures and any other 'body language', vocal pitch and rhythm, eye positions, and all the other 'non-verbal communications' people sub-consciously make when they are lying, and telling (what they think at least is) the truth, WITH 'good' and 'bad' 'hands'. You look for correlations. Great hand, they look over your left shoulder and smile ever so slightly. Terrible hand, they look you directly in the eyes then rub their left ear, and rest their left hand flat on the table. They talk more when they have 'hands' they aren't sure of. When bluffing they say almost nothing, or try to make jokes. If you have laser sensors you can directly measure their pulse, body temperature, and so on. An electro-galvanometer would detect more or less active sweat glands. But you have to first work out the 'base line' for them, and how they tend to respond to different stimuli. The same 'physiological indicators' will suggest 'excitement' in one person and 'fear' in another. You have to CALIBRATE everything to the individual. That takes a lot of OBSERVATION and MEASUREMENT. The sort A.I are doing right now using your 'smart' devices. Recording micro-gestures you make in response to carefully scripted and presented propaganda and other 'stimulus', to determine YOUR base lines and YOUR personal physiological responses to YOUR feelings of fear, confidence, excitement, positive expectation, desire, loathing, boredom, interest, and so on. Oh, and why this apparent digression here? Well the Ohmmeter has to know the EXACT Voltage potential between two ends of the circuit being measured. So it 'INJECTS' its OWN Voltage. Like the AUDITOR 'injecting' a KNOWABLE FACT into the equation. Asking a question to which they CAN confidently feel they 'know' the answer already. As a CONTROL. A test question. In polygraphs this is done to establish 'base lines' for all the indicators such as heart rate, sweating, body temperature, pupil dilation, posture, and so on. Ask questions you ASSUME are 'harmless' and will not TRIGGER any fearful or anxious responses. But remember you ARE 'assuming' the questions are harmless. And that the 'victim' is unaware of what you are doing. They can trick the system by deliberately thinking of terrifying things to 'skew' their 'base readings'. Remembering something shocking, so the polygraph operator cannot get a good 'baseline reading' for future benchmark comparisons. So when the victim is REALLY asked a THREATENING question, they appear to react 'just as for the harmless question', and nothing is 'indicated' by the very same 'indicators' that could otherwise have 'betrayed' their REAL state of mind. Their fear. Their anxiety. At being asked that question, and having to 'make up a lie to cover themselves to avoid answering it honestly'. Yes, so the point here is to ENSURE THERE IS NO OTHER VOLTAGE IN THE CIRCUIT. So disconnect batteries. Turn the Supply Voltage OFF. Discharge capacitors. So that the ONLY Voltage present will be the Voltage the Ohmmeter itself INJECTS into the circuit.

Right now 'free apps' offer 'free stuff' in return to access to your personal data, and your phone messages, text messages, microphone, and camera, and to your live streaming and edited posts, to CALIBRATE your personal 'baselines' and 'indicators'. This BIG DATA will allow A.I to READ YOU LIKE A BOOK in future. To even predict your likely next reaction, and ACTIONS. As in 'pre-crime'. So the authorities can decide who is at 'risk' of challenging their 'Official Narratives' and thus their ABSOLUTE CONTROL OF 'THE NARRATIVE' AND THUS OF THE WORLD. And just as importantly, if they can merely CONVINCE you that this A.I 'predictive programming' actually WORKS, by predicting YOUR reactions, that will be enough for them to speciously and disingenuously round up any 'dissidents' THEY want to, on the supposed justification that the A.I pre-crime systems YOU now 'believe in' have flagged them as 'future domestic terrorists' and so on. Or 'anti-vaxxers likely to avoid vaccination, and thus put you and your loved ones (somehow?) in danger of horrible death'. Yes, expect future 'fake pandemics' to ramp up the terror with faked 'horrific symptoms'. Lots of screaming and makeup that would make the faked beheadings and 'caged burning alive' by actors pretending to be ISIS and their victims, seem tame and boring by comparison!

Oh, and the other correspondence. CALIBRATION. With analog meters you first have to set the '0' baseline. The 'neutral' ZERO resistance reading. Like the polygraph respondents answers to questions assumed to be 'harmless' and 'non-threatening' that thus place ZERO load or pressure or stress on the victim. (Victim because it is a CON TRICK, that only works if the victim BELIEVES it works, that it CAN 'tell if you are lying'). To calibrate an analog meter, touch the two meter leads together so the only resistance is that within the meter itself, then adjust the meter's calibration knob so the meter indicates 0 resistance. That has 'compensated' for any resistance in the meter's circuits. Now any resistance measured will be that of the circuit you are using it to measure.

Some multi-meters can even measure the capacitance of capacitors, and even test diodes and transistors.

Which leads to some points. You can reverse the leads of the multi-meter when the circuit contains only standard resistors. But diodes pass current better in one direction than the other. Their 'job' in circuits is to stop 'backflow' of current. So you'll need to get the leads right when there are diodes between the two points you are testing in the circuit.

Just remember that we can easily be unjustifiably impressed by 'measurements'. Graphs, figures. Computer models and simulations. They seem HARD and the HARD sciences are HARD for them. The 'soft' sciences who were always jealous of how HARD the other sciences LOOK, have done their best to emulate them. It makes them HARD just thinking about 'statistics' and 'models'. They are REALLY IMPRESSIVE. A picture says a thousands words, and the punters won't sit and read your 1000 words will they? Nope. They need a few graphic images. That's the ONLY way you'll ever get a chance with them, to make your point. A graph. An impressive LOOKING and SOUNDING statistic. A super-cool computer model animated graphics presentation. Keep the point / conclusion really simple. But make sure the 'math' behind it is too complicated for anyone to feel like 'going a bit deeper'. Whatever you do, do NOT let anyone UNDERSTAND exactly what you have a RIGHT to say, as compared to what you are trying to SUGGEST. In other words, do NOT reveal what ASSUMPTIONS it was NECESSARY to make, in order to get the RESULT you are 'selling'. Sell it as if it was just the natural product of disinterested scientific measurement. As if you took ALL the data under consideration, and 'Lo' and behold', the model 'spat out' EXACTLY the conclusion you NEEDED. WANTED. That your SPONSORS who had FUNDED your 'research grants' needed and wanted. And EXPECTED you to deliver. After all, if they wanted THE TRUTH they could have gone to ANYBODY to collect the data and analyze it. But they come to 'the few well known modelers they know they can rely on to get the results THEY want and need. For THEIR own purposes. To suit THEIR own ulterior motives. Which have NOTHING to do with a thirst for scientific knowledge, but everything to do with a LUST for POWER and CONTROL and PROFIT.

You CAN 'torture the statistics till they confess'. Till they SEEM to say what you WANT them to. Like at The Nuremburg show trials, presided over by 'Jews' who had rushed into uniform at the end of the war so they could participate. And a Jewish chief prosecutor who as U.S Attorney General told people 'Take the Fifth', and who had the typical career profile of an American 'Jew', starting in Law, moving to Treasury, and then into a Hollywood movie deal.

'The Official Holocaust Narrative' is just that. A story. The 'Jews' worked out a rough 'model'. It did not matter that NONE of the figures 'added up'. That there was NO evidence AT ALL of ANY deliberate mass murder of Jews by ANY means, let alone mass gas chambers. Or cages with lions and bears to feed living Jews to, so you could make lampshades from their skin, and soap from their body fat. With or without electrified floors. Or mobile gas vans. They couldn't even find any evidence of the coal supply that would have been necessary to cremate the number of victims they accused Germans of murdering. Or even, wait for it, EXACTLY AS FOR THE LAST TWO YEARS, absolutely NO evidence of 'excess deaths' for 'Jews' over the period. In excess of the 'Official Red Cross Reports' to be precise. In excess of 'typical' deaths of civilians in war-time German occupation zones.

Unlike the WEALTH of hard data, facts, statistics, and eyewitness accounts of the SIXTY million victims of the Cult of Judah Occupied 'Soviet' Zones, in the REAL death camps of World War Two. In SOVIET occupied territories. Including Russia itself. The OFFICIAL policy of 'working dissidents to death' has been DOCUMENTED. It was 'in writing'. Beyond doubt or question. Written ORDERS. Documented meetings all neatly typed up in OFFICIAL PARTY RECORDS. But can you remember a single HOLLYWOOD movie about THAT ACTUAL GENOCIDE OF INTELLECTUALS, DIVERGENT THINKERS, CREATIVE MINDS, FREE THINKERS, PHILOSPHERS, BUSINESS OWNERS, FARMERS, BRAVE DECORATED SOLDIERS, AND REFUGEES AND SOLDIERS SENT BY EISENHOWER AND CHURCHILL BACK TO RUSSIA, KNOWING FULL WELL THEY WOULD BE TORTURED AND WORKED TO DEATH IN THE GULAGS?

Getting us all on the same wavelength

We are all radios, but few of us are 'switched on', as the Army instructor might say! But more to the point, we've had our 'tuners' FIXED to a very few 'spots on the dial'. To a very LIMITED number of specific FREQUENCIES. Within a very NARROW BANDWIDTH. There are so many SIGNALS competing for our attention that we NEVER ATTEND TO. Broadcasters that go 'off script' (the one written for all mass media presenters by The Cult of Judah and their agents) immediately lose their broadcasting permit-license-privileges. But there are some '*un*official' 'pirate' broadcasters operating still, and if you ignore the radio station presenters directive of 'Don't touch that dial', and instead turn it, you will stumble upon more than a few ALTERNATIVE ways to interpret the same information, and truly UNDERSTAND it, and what's more, a whole lot of *UN*CENSORED information. *UN*REDAKTED. The FULL story. The COMPLETE data set. THE WHOLE TRUTH, AND NOTHING BUT THE TRUTH. Or at least an ALTERANTIVE NARRATIVE. One that, on the whole, is often much more COMPELLING. And EMPOWERING.

Any Cult's power comes from keeping all their Cult Thralls 'On the reservation'. On the same FREQUENCY. Hearing and becoming familiar with, and thus 'knowing', NOTHING EXCEPT 'THE OFFICIAL NARRATIVE'. 'THE SCRIPT'. 'THE CULT HEGEMONIC DOMINANT SOCIAL REALITY'. 'THE OFFICIAL FICTION'. THE HEAVILY FRAME, CENSORED, REDAKTED, EDITORIALISED, HEARSAY. A.K.A 'THE GOSPEL. 'DOG'S OWN TRUTH'. THE RECEIVED WISDOM OF THE CULT 'AUTHORITIES'.

We just know referred to 'wavelength' and 'frequency'. They are reflexive ideas. The higher the frequency, the longer the wavelength. Necessarily. Reflexively. Because 'frequency' refers to 'how often something repeats, per second'. The RATE at which it repeats, per second. How OFTEN something repeats, per second. How often an energy pulse repeats.

I will often agonize over things in my guides, as you should expect from a serious philosopher. And this term 'wave-length' is a real 'trigger' for me. Because I find it so obfuscative. And I feel very few people using the term, and hearing the term, understand what they are really talking about. For WAVEFORMS are ARTEFACTS. Not 'THINGS IN THEMSELVES'. Artefacts produced when you PLOT, IN 2-D GRAPHICAL FORM, AMPLITUDE OVER TIME. [TO BE MORE PRECISE, THE AMPLITUDE (QUANTITY X VELOCITY) OF MOVING OBJECTS, OVER TIME]. There are no 'waves' of 'light' or 'sound' 'out there in the world'. Light and sound are ARTEFACTS our MINDS RENDER specific rates of disturbance of specific nerve endings in specific sense organs, AS.

Energy does NOT travel in waves. It travels in spherical 3-D PRESSURE pulses in Aether, air, water and other more solid masses. Pushing VOLUMES of air molecules, and/ or water molecules, and/or other molecules, and/or Aether, so that they compress. The energy of the pressure pulse and the nature of the medium it is pushing against (moving through / propagating itself through / being transmitted through / being conducted by) determine how far the medium can and is compressed, before reaching that mediums 'pressure maxima' for that given level of pressure pulse energy. At this point the medium ceases compressing, and begins expanding back towards its default , ambient, 'pressure'. Such as 'ambient air pressure'. The energy that has not been 'lost' to heat, during this process, is still present, IN this now outward pushing pressure pulse. It has the same energy as the 'disturbance' that produced the original pressure pulse, minus that lost to heat, or light, or some other form of energy.

This is how a PRESSURE PULSE, a pulse of ENERGY, propagates itself. Reproduces itself. Is propagated. Is reproduced. Over space and time. And the development of each 'pressure maxima' over time, when plotted as a graph of amplitude over time, 'describes' a 'snakey or wavy line' we tend to visualise the moment we hear 'wavelength'.

How often pressure maximas repeat per second, how FREQUENTLY they repeat, per second, defines their 'frequency'. If you keep the same scale to your graph regarding time, then a pressure pulse with a 'frequency' of 2Hz will have two 'peaks' each second and a pressure pulse that repeats more frequently, such as 100 times a second, will need to be rendered as 100 peaks. On the same drawing. In the same space on that drawing. That image. And to squeeze 100 peaks onto the one page, you'll have to draw their peaks much closer together. And thus the 'distance' between peaks will be much smaller. The 'length' between peaks will be much smaller. The 'wave-length' will be much smaller, for the 100Hz pressure pulse than for the 2Hz pressure pulse. One could be compared to the 'humps on a camel'. The other to the 'wrinkles' on one of those cute dog's faces.

But in 'reality' it is the distance between pressure maximas in ever expanding spheres of 'disturbed' air, that corresponds to the concept of 'wave-length'. There is no 'wave' in the 2-D sense. But if you shot out a laser beam from the 'source', denser air might appear 'darker', and so you could 'mark out' with that laser beam, the distance between air pressure maximas. And these would correspond to our idea of 'wave-length'.

Or drop some object into a still body of water. And as air pressure is lower than water pressure, and pressure will always 'relieve' itself of this 'excess pressure', 'by the path of least resistance' , seeking 'balance' among contiguous pressure 'zones', the pressure pulse produced by the kinetic energy in the falling object will expand in all directions, but PREFERRING the 'upward' and 'outward' one offered by the path of least resistance, the air pressure, the atmosphere, so that actual WAVES will form from the point of impact, travelling outward.

If you had your ZEN on, and placed microphones and pressure sensors in the water and air, you'd record pressure pulses within the water as well as in the air. Your mind would render a 'splash' which is its way of representing the spherical spheres of outward air pressure pulses the kinetic energy made when transferred TO THE AIR molecules. But you EYES would be rendering those 'waves' on the surface of the water, as the remainder of the kinetic energy was propagated through the water, pushing in all directions again, but finding 'the path of least resistance' to be upwards and forwards-outwards, in physical 'waves' radiating out from the point of impact. So perhaps this example offers the best and closest 'correspondence' between the LANGUAGE we use to describe the phenomena, and how it actually behaves in reality. And please attend to the bold italics of 'behaves'. Because we MUST keep clear in our minds that we are ALWAYS and ONLY EVER describing BEHAVIOURS. As they APPEAR to our senses. And measuring devices. When it comes to describing physical phenomena, we are always dealing in BEHAVIOURALISM. And no measure of QUANTIFICATION can change that. Any more than the most complex and obfuscating of MATH equations and MATHEMATICAL /

STATISTICAL MODELLING changes the fact that any model, any quantification, is ultimately only as valuable, as compelling, as TRUTHFUL, as REPRESENTATIVE OF REALITY, as the ASSUMPTIONS and OBSERVATIONS underlying them. And the moment you hand out Noble Prizes for 'discovering theoretical particles', what primary school children call 'making stuff up', you just HAVE to start asking a LOT of questions. INTERROGATING 'The Official Narratives' that REQUIRE people to 'make stuff up', simply to SURVIVE. Such 'greenhouse flowers' that cannot survive 'in the REAL world', can be entertained, safely, as interesting PROPOSITIONS. As THEORIES. But to ACT 'as if' they describe REALITY is INSANITY. Especially when there are SUPERIOR ALTERNATIVE NARRATIVES that do NOT require that we 'make stuff up'. And which ACTUALLY DESCRIBE THINGS WE HAVE AND CAN OBSERVE AND VERIFY AND VALIDATE AND EVEN MEASURE. With very simple maths. NOT requiring 'leaps of faith' or 'submission to dogmas and articles of faith' or 'obedience to some 'Official Script' and 'The Official Narrative'.

And here's the thing. As TESLA observed, 'Everything reduces to number and frequency'. The universe as we experience it, as we decode and RENDER it, reduces to an electromagnetic spectrum. 'Quantity (and Frequency) Change Quality'. Life is CHANGE in quantity and frequency. Which gives rise to our CONCEPT of 'time' itself. For MEMORY requires that if something WAS different to how it is NOW, TIME must have passed in which the CHANGE could take place. Without memory we'd have no need for TIME. We'd be presented with 'The timeless NOW'. But things would have no meaning. We could not even have 'sensations'. For they are all based upon DISTURBANCES of the nerve endings in the various brain centers that CONSTRUCT, for us, the very IMPRESSION of 'light', 'color' , 'sound', 'pitch', 'texture', 'pressure', 'taste', 'smell'. Disturb the nerve endings in the brain centers for 'sight' at a certain RATE per second, of say 500THz, and the owner of that brain will 'see' 'red'. Disturb the nerve endings of brain centers that render 'pressure', at a much faster RATE, and the owner will 'feel pressure' coming from the sense organ at the other end of that nerve. Where 'nerve' here refers to not just the nerves themselves, but any other part of the signal-chain for the transmission of that nerve's signal, to its ultimate brain center where it will be RENDERED as 'pressure'. And sometimes the one 'disturbance' finds 'resonance' in multiple sensory organs which are 'tuned' to overlapping 'frequencies', and a 'Bass Speaker Output' will be both 'felt' as pressure on the skin, 'heard' as a low pitched thumping 'sound', and 'seen' in the movement of clothing as the air pressure pulse pushes it out of the way.

To clarify 'wavelength' Vs 'frequency', consider that the distance between 'pressure maximas' in the real world, determines the RATE at which they will 'strike' something, per second. The closer they are together in space, assuming a constant 'speed of sound', and thus maximum speed of travel of the pressure 'front', the more often, each second, they will 'strike' something. Or pass through it. Or push it out of the way. Or be DEFLECTED by it, or even ABSORBED by it, in terms of having the kinetic energy of the pressure pulse converted into 'heat' energy.

So for any given distance, X, the more frequent the pressure maximas are, the more pressure maximas will occur, within that distance. If you took a 'snapshot', there would be more pressure maxima's in the frame, at any given moment, the higher the 'frequency' with which they repeat.

Nerve endings in our sense organs, such as skin, ear drums, and eyes, are 'tuned' to, and capable of 'vibrating / resonating / oscillating AT', particular, relatively narrow, frequency BANDWIDTHS. Each sensory organ is 'tuned' to its own narrow bandwidth. And will not 'resonate' with disturbances of higher or lower RATES of repetition. Higher or lower FREQUENCIES.

The example of the Bass Guitar or Kick Drum must be clarified. We can only 'see' the pressure waves INDIRECTLY, as ARTEFACTS of their interactions with, for example, loose clothing that they 'push out of the way'. We don't directly 'render' such low frequency pressure pulses with our VISUAL REPRESENTATION SYSTEMS. If we could, we'd SEE the pressure pulses leaving the speaker cone or sub-woofer port, travelling through the air. But air molecules are too small for us to 'see'. We might 'see' the air pressure pulses if we add 'smoke' or 'mist' to the air in front of the speaker cone. Or let water run down from above.

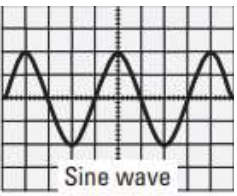
Except in the case of synathaesia. (Which I need to spell check!). Some people's minds RENDER the frequencies the rest of us 'hear' as 'sound' and 'pitch', as 'light' and 'color'. So that they will 'see' colored shapes and patterns as result of exposure to air pressure pulses the rest of us will 'hear' as 'sound' and 'pitch'. For some music producers it is like having a built-in 'Graphical EQ'.

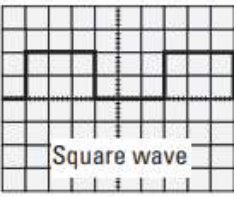
Infrared 'light' refers to pressure pulses that repeat with a frequency just below the bandwidth our 'sense of sight' is tuned to, and which our minds render as 'light' and 'color'. These pressure pulses repeat just a little less often than what our minds render as 'Red Light'. Hence the term 'infra' (below) red.

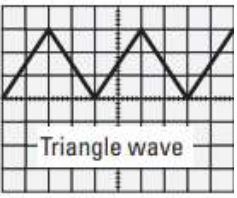
Now I'm not sure if it is correct to refer to it as 'light' at all. At very least we should call it 'invisible light' to distinguish it from 'visible light'. About half the 'light' we receive from the sun is infra-red. And it is literally a 'warm' light, beyond the 'warmest' of reds. But 'The narrative' says it is NOT 'heat' energy as such. It is 'light'. Hmm. So, we can't see infrared 'light', but we can feel it in the form of heat. I wonder why they MUST define it as 'light' then? And insist it is NOT 'heat'. When that is how our minds RENDER it. Not as 'light'. But as 'heat'. I guess they NEED it to be 'light' for some reason. To make their 'Official Narrative' SEEM more compelling. To hide some fault in it I guess. Sweep something 'under the rug'. HIDE something. Misdirect our attention AWAY FROM something. 'Gloss over' something. Something they CAN'T afford us to 'see'. Because it might make us lose CONFIDENCE in their 'Model'. Their 'Narrative'. And isn't confidence, after all, the very foundation of 'Confidence TRICKS?'

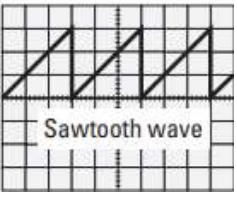
Representing current and voltage as 2-D graphs of amplitude over time

Now we come to one of my 'pet peeves'. Talk of 'sound waves'. Representing 3-D spherical pressure pulses as 2-D 'snakey lines'.









Oscilloscopes render changes in voltage over time as 'wave forms' so you have a 'visual' representation to work from, rather than just a number. It gives us a great quick overview of what is happening. 'A picture says a thousand words'. While some people with 'mathematical minds' can intuitively 'grasp' the 'meaning' of a bunch of numbers, at a glance, many of us operate better in our 'visual representation systems', when it comes to complex phenomena with 'a whole lot of data that needs to be taken in and processed at one time'.

Some people's brains/minds seem adapted to different 'representation systems'. For example a person might be able to immediately recognise a 'pattern' in a group of numbers or shapes that appear random to most other people. But then be totally unable to 'read' the simplest of 'emotions' in the faces of other people. They have a massive IQ for pattern recognition. But terribly low 'E.Q'. Emotional Intelligence. Asperger's is a good example. What most people 'know' of as 'autism'.

Some people have 'perfect pitch' and can detect very slight changes in pitch, and thus find slightly 'out of tune' notes 'disturbing'. Whereas most people would be 'blind' to these 'out of tune' notes.

Remember all life is about CHANGE. All 'impressions' that the mind RENDERS work on CHANGE in frequency, duration, and amplitude, of some 'disturbance' of nerve cells within the various 'organs of sense perception'.

It is the DIFFERENCE that is 'sensed'. That 'triggers' a SENSATION. Modulation is a big word for CHANGE. Without CHANGE there is no life. No SENSATION. Other than NAUSEA. As in 'Ad NAUSEUM'. Habituation to the strongest stimulus can destroy its ability to provoke ANY sort of reaction AT ALL in the 'habituated drug user'. Whether that drug be sex, heroine, power, fame, wealth, privilege, beauty, status, popularity, excitement, sweetness, or public recognition of personal achievement.

If you cannot 'ramp it up a notch' you are doomed. To become 'prey' to the 'ultimate bird of prey' called 'boredom'. DEATH is the ultimate in STABILITY and SECURITY. 'Heaven is a place, where nothing really happens'. In fact Plato even assumes 'The Gods' don't even FEEL pleasure'. Thus they exist in a state of ZERO CHANGE. Constancy. Boredom. So that to an inhabitant of a Platonic 'heaven', even this sick, horrific, plane of misery we call 'Earth' might appear attractive, by comparison. Simply to escape the toxic boredom. The ultimate 'fate WORSE than death'. At least in the minds of the bored victim. While of course the person suffering actual 'positive' pain will feel NOTHING as a RELIEF, in comparison with the pain, and WELCOME 'oblivion' AS a relief. But soon the new NEUTRAL state will become a burden in itself. Heaven is a GATED COMMUNITY. And like the 'Iron Curtain' and 'Berlin Wall', the 'Pearly Gates' are there to KEEP PEOPLE IN. At least as much as to keep people out. The only people who would WANT to get in are those suffering pain they wish to escape from. But once 'in', they soon crave CHANGE and EXPERIENCE and LIFE.

So 'experience engines' must offer CHANGE. Conflicts to overcome. RESISTANCE to our wills. Yes, surprised myself that I didn't make this 'digression' earlier in the chapters ON 'resistance'. See my '(Re) Writing the Script of your Life' for details. Our WILL itself recognises this. When designing its own 'experience engines'. When WILLING them. Thus 'death' as the 'drinking of the water of forgetfulness'. So we can 're-set' our baselines for sensation. FORGET past experiences, so they SEEM new each successive life we experience them. Yes I couldn't help but CRINGE at the use of that term. 'Re-set'. In the current context the Cult of Judah One World Dictatorship are using it at this moment. The entire 'Official Covid-19' and 'Co2vid Cult' Narrative is a self-printed book of 'blank checks' which the people have been tricked into 'endorsing' as 'necessary in order to protect them from the new invisible pink, blue, orange, invisible elephant threat'.

Yes, and our VISUAL REPRESENTATION SYSTEM seems the most adapted to immediately registering A WHOLE BUNCH OF CHANGES IN DIFFERENT VARIABLES AT THE SAME TIME. It is most people's 'preferred' representation system. They'd rather WATCH VIDEOS than read text or listen to audio. 'A picture says a thousand words'. And it can 'represent' BILLIONS of data-points. A MASS of complicated 'figures'. In fact the often extremely COMPLEX mathematical equations and algorithms that RENDER the 'visuals'. So that what looks like chaotic, random, complex, confusion, when represented in mathematical equations, can be 'grasped' immediately with a casual glance, if REPRESENTED in GRAPHICAL form. Targeting our VISUAL REPRESENTATION SYSTEM.

But therein lies the rub! 'Seems, Madam? Nay, 'Tis So. I know not SEEMS'. But, dear Hamlet, that is in fact ALL anyone can EVER claim to 'know'. And the simple looking visual representations of 'models' of reality can be very MISLEADING. As much as they can HELP us understand things 'at a glance', they can be used to totally DECIEVE US, 'at a glance'. And THAT 'glance' is about all most 'models' and 'Official Narratives' need FEAR from the Shleeple. A quick glance. Satisfied by the 'impressive graphics', oh, and look, a 'reference' to some 'scientific sounding journal or article somewhere' which they will NEVER bother to follow, to discover it is just another piece of propaganda with NO scientific EVIDENCE to back it up AT ALL.

Speaking about 3-D spherical, VOLUMATIC, pressure pulses as if they were 'snakey lines' travelling through the air, and water, and walls, can be very obfuscating if you don't first truly GROK the ACTUAL nature of things. Which few people are ever encouraged TO do. Let alone would any 'authorities' ever DREAM of assisting them IN gaining that 'true understanding of the nature of things'.

It's like speaking about face masks as if they could protect anyone from ANY sort of virus AT ALL. As if 'social distancing' could protect anyone even from 'The common seasonal FLU'. AT ALL. There being ZERO evidence of human to human transmission of FLU, let alone a supposed 'novel' corona virus.

But back to our oscilloscopes. Download 'Audacity'. You'll see you can generate any frequency within the 20Hz to 20,000kHz bandwidth you like. Download a free VSTi. Use my 'Optimal Reaper' files. And select a 'saw wave' or 'square wave' or 'sine wave' tone. To hear and 'see' a REPRESENTATION a.k.a RENDERING of these electrical phenomena in our visual and audio representation systems.

Voltage is the POTENTIAL for CHANGE. Literally the potential for a movement of electrons between areas of relative excess and deficiency. That POTENTIAL is a potential CHANGE OF LOCATION OF ELECTRONS. And when it is facilitated, it results in the FLOW or OSCILLATION of electrons between the areas of excess and deficiency, like water flowing between two containers resting on level ground. That potential is realised when you connect two points of different Voltage to each other with a conductor that allows the electrons at the two points to CHANGE their location, and move between the two points, to BALANCE OUT the existing differences in electron distribution. To gain 'equity'. To move from abundance to scarcity. From flood to drought. From excess to deficiency. This is natures model of LEVELLING which Social Democrats like myself would like to emulate, within moderation, in society. By RAISING the lowest up, and challenging the 'excessively bloated sense of entitlement' of the 'one percenters' et al.

Excess is POWER. Just like excess wealth. The people suffering lack of wealth will be 'drawn' to the money. And on their way towards it, will be tricked into performing 'work' for the current possessors of that money. Just as we trick electrons into doing 'work' for us, as they flow from excess to deficiency. From high to low 'pressure'. From abundance to deprivation and scarcity.

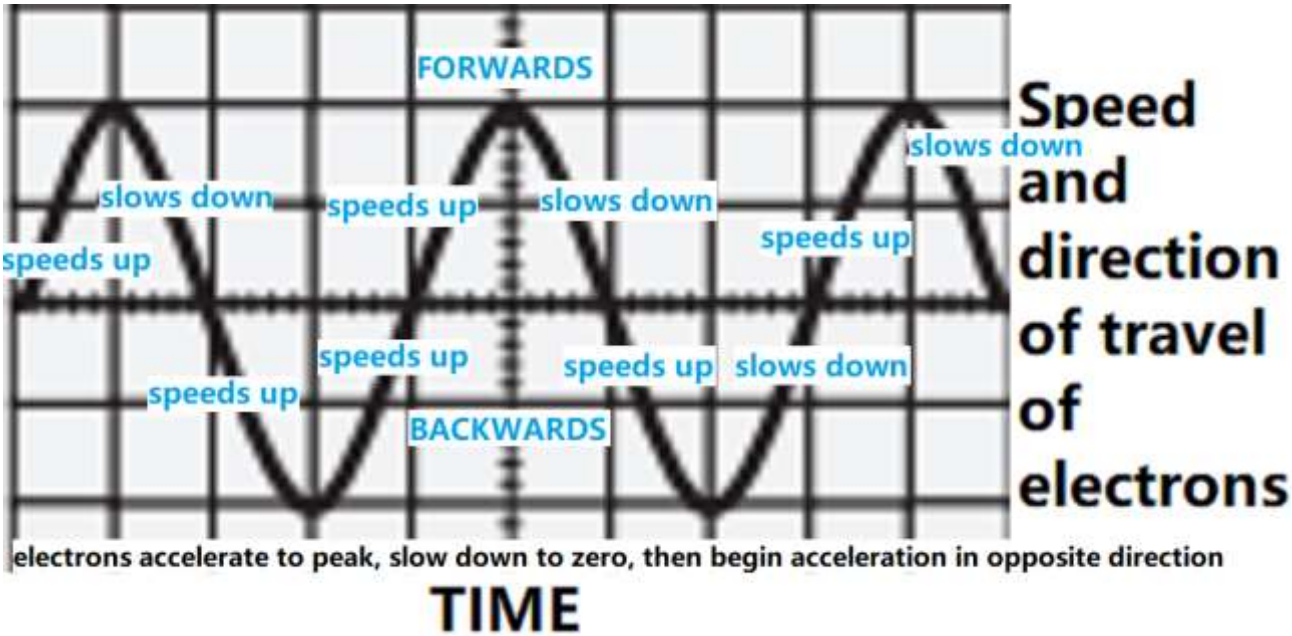
An oscilloscope's screen displays a 'trace'. A graph (graphical representation) of change in Voltage over time. So the 'height' is the voltage at any given moment in time. With a '0V' X-axis indicating NO change and 0 potential (Volts), and thus positive height indicating positive Voltage, and 'depth' below the X-axis indicating negative voltages. With time 'flowing' from left to right ,along the horizontal axis.

So the faster the voltage CHANGES, the steeper the 'curves' of the 'wave form'. For example the 'Sine Wave' (left). [The 'snakey line' most people think of when thinking (do people really think, or is that too strong a word to use for what most people CALL what they do?) about 'sound waves' and 'light waves'.]

You can adjust the scale for time (s seconds to ms milliseconds, right down to to micro-seconds µs) and voltage (mV millivolts to V volts), to 'zoom in' and 'zoom out', to get precise readings when needed, or to get a general, holistic, overview. Sometimes you need to 'get close and personal' and other times 'keep your distance'. You learn different things at different levels of zoom. 'At a glance'. Some things make more sense when you can see their CONTEXT. Meaning is the relationship BETWEEN things. And having ALL those 'things' in view at one time is often the ONLY way to 'get a good idea' about 'what we are looking AT'. You can trick people by zooming in too closely, so 'you can't see the forest for the trees', or zooming too far out so that 'from a distance, there is harmony', and all the details are lost in a false 'impression'.

To represent the voltage over time in graphic, 'wave' form, the oscilloscope drags a single dot across the screen from left to right, in a 'sweep', moving up and down at the same time, to render 'Voltage' at any given moment. The 'sweep time' changes how fast the dot completes one 'sweep'. You adjust this so you can see at least one complete 'wave form' in the viewer. Think of it as 'zooming in and out'. You zoom out to see more complete 'cycles' of an oscillation. You zoom in to note the precise voltage at any point in time. And the precise CHANGE IN VOLTAGE OVER ANY PERIOD OF TIME.

In an oscilloscope or similar graphic rendering / representation of the change in voltage over time, the 'height' of 'peaks' and 'depth' of 'troughs' corresponds to the DIRECTION OF TRAVEL of electrons through a conductor. Such as a length of copper wire. So the X-axis could be labeled 'middle', and as you move UP from it, you can think of electrons moving RIGHT from positive to negative, and as you move down, and through the X-axis, the electrons are moving from negative to positive, and thus LEFT.



Alternating Current 'oscillates' back and forth, sending electrons first in one direction, then the other. In terms of a conductive wire, from left (positive) to right (negative), then back from right to left. So the 'charges' travel first from positive to negative. Then back from negative to positive. 'Alternating' back and forth. At a constant rate. How frequent*ly* the charges CHANGE DIRECTION OF TRAVEL is its 'frequen*cy'. 'Mains' power from household power supplies is 60Hz. Which means the current changes direction of travel 60 times each second. 60 times per second. Written as 60 Herz. Or 60Hz. Voltage above the X-axis is referred to as POSITIVE because it is the SPEED of electrons with a DIRECTION of positive to negative. The 'slope' of the curve indicates acceleration or deceleration, and thus reflects CHANGE IN SPEED of the electrons. The curve begins at 0, with no current flowing in any direction. Well actually in EVERY direction, randomly, with no overall direction. Connecting a power supply to the conductor is like connecting a pressurized container of water, with a tube, to a larger container with the same volume of water, but lots of air above the water, so it is under much less pressure. The water 'under pressure' will want to flow to the container with less pressure, to 'equalise' their pressures. So immediately we turn the 'tap' (hit the switch) and ALLOW the POTENTIAL flow to occur, it will flow.

Alternating current is produced by moving magnets through the electromagnetic field of coils. It is the CHANGE in orientation between the magnets and coils, over time, that produces first pulse of electrons from positive to negative, and then a reversal of that pulse, drawing electrons back. So they 'oscillate' back and forth within the conductor. Like sawing a log of wood. Like a 'tug of war' between atoms either end of the conductor. The rope is pulled in either direction as the magnets rotate, and change their orientation relative to the coils. So it is the magnets that form BOTH teams in this 'tug of war'. It is the magnets that are alternately 'pushing' either end of the saw. And resulting in either end being relatively 'pulled'.

The graph shows electrons first being 'push-pulled' from the positive 'input' end of the conductor towards the 'output' end of the conductor. Because the input is 'flush with electrons' thanks to power generators pushing lots of them from the power station up to the power socket in the wall, it is 'under pressure' to 'relieve' itself of its abundance. And RELATIVE TO this abundance, this over-supply of electrons, the other end of the conductor is under LOWER pressure, and experiencing a relative 'scarcity' of electrons.

To paraphrase that in more conventional language, Alternating current as supplied to homes follows a sine wave pattern. Voltage increases steadily, reaches a peak voltage, then slows down again, all the way back to zero (Voltage speed of electron transfer), and then at the '0' crossover point, the current reverses direction, to repeat the same cycle, in reverse.

That describes ONE cycle. We have 60 of these repeating, per second. Corresponding to the excess of electrons pushed into the wall socket by the mains power supply, relieving themselves of the excess pressure by moving through the conductor plugged into the wall socket, to Earth, through whatever circuit in between them. Which could be an electronic device like a vacuum cleaner or light. But then the cycle reverses, and the mains 'draws' electrons back the other way, into the wall socket. And this happens 60 times a second, like a saw blade being push-pulled back and forth over a log of wood.

This is all a result of the magnets in the power generator changing their orientation Vis a Vis the coils in the power generator, so for one part of the cycle we have 'pushing' of electrons and for the other we have 'pulling' of electrons. Like a washing machine.

A Square wave form (left) represents a voltage that abruptly hits full power, stays there for a moment, then returns to zero, and stays off for a moment, before repeating the cycle. In reality the wave is not perfectly 'squared' as voltage cannot be instantaneously started and stopped. Computer circuits use square waves to represent ones and zeros. On-Off. Yes-No. True-False. High-Low. Voltage with a linear increase to a peak value, and linear decrease, will produce a 'triangle wave form' (right) with straight lines, rather than 'curves'. If we plot voltage against time, a voltage with a linear increasing to peak voltage, then suddenly shutting off, will have a Sawtooth wave form (left). Saw tooth waves have many applications including in old-school Cathode – Ray – Tube (CRT) displays. A

Infra-red 'light' applications

Heuristically speaking, 'The Official Narrative' as it applies to the 'character' that narrative calls 'Infrared light', has many practical applications. Zee Germans invented a way to amplify all the available light, in ways other animals like cat's vision does. And then they invented 'infra-red' 'vision', which RENDERS the infra-red bandwidth of the electro-magnetic spectrum that all objects warmer than absolute zero 'radiate', visible. You can even 'shine' infra-red 'light' on objects so when this is 'reflected' like normal visible light, your view is even clearer. So it works like 'invisible 'dark' illumination'. You can't 'see' the 'spotlight' being shone, until you view it through the infra-red vision scope. One difference is that if your target lights a cigarette or some other source of light appears, your 'scope' suddenly 'blazes' and 'flares' with green light, blinding you temporarily. While with infra-red vision the match would merely appear 'brighter red' than the body of the 'meat puppet' holding it, killing themselves and other passive smokers slowly, while, as 'tax payer funded mass murderers', they wait for some other 'government paid mass murderer to kill them, BEFORE they can commit 'war crimes' and 'crimes against humanity' for which, if THEIR side WINS the war, they will earn medals and honors for, while the other side who loses faces 'war crimes show trial tribunals' and the like, and goes down in history, defamed, as 'war criminals', just as the other 'meat puppets' can proudly show their offspring what 'war heroes' they were'! So war HERO or war CRIMINAL? Depends on whether YOUR side wins or loses. Oh, but of course you BOTH lose. Only the Cult of Judah wins. Directly of course it is their Banksters and other war profiteers. But in the end wars lead to ever greater centralization of power, so that the Cult of Judah need only 'occupy' ever fewer positions of power, to gain DE-FACTO CONTROL of any nation, then 'The Nations' as a whole. The WORLD.

A few bandwidths of the electromagnetic spectrum

1THz is a frequency of one TRILLION repeats per second. That is the measure that the U.S.S.A 'national debt clock' will soon be reporting. I kid you not! When hyperinflation hits, just in time for the long planned introduction of a totally new financial system, with some digital form of I.M.F drawing rights becoming the new WORLD currency. All digital. So don't even THINK of NOT going along with the Cult of Judah's, probably still PROXY, One World Government. Or they will simply 'freeze' any assets you imagined YOU owned, and BLOCK you from buying or selling ANYTHING they don't think 'essential' 'for the likes of you'. Heretic. Apostate. Criminal. Revisionist. Terrorist. Mentally ill non-person.

I can't find which book or post I published my favorite 'Electro-Magnetic Spectrum' diagram. But for now, consider three bandwidths of it. We will enter the spectrum from left of center, at the 'infra-red' bandwidth. Between 1THz and 400 THz. The spectrum appears 'calibrated' to give such 'neat' bandwidths? Or?

The wave*length* of infrared light is thus between 0.75 to 300 micrometers (300 millionths of a meter), or (in millimeters) one thousandth of a millimeter to one third of a millimeter long.

Remember, the more often something repeats, in a second, the closer together the 'pressure peaks' of the repeats must be to each other. Thus the higher the 'rate' of pressure maximas. The higher the 'frequency' at which pressure maximas are produced. The higher the 'frequency'.

If I 'harp' on and on, repeatedly, with such 'precision' and search for synonyms, it is because it usually takes a LOT of 'disturbance' of your 'FIXED IDOLIZED CONCEPTS and DEFINITIONS and language usage, before it really 'clicks' as to WHY I do this. As to WHAT you HABITUALLY will otherwise do. You won't READ and HEAR what I am writing and saying. You will hear what you EXPECTED to hear and read what you expected to read. So I have to try and try again to break those habits. To produce a ZEN BARDOT, an opportunity, for your conscious mind to RECOGNISE that you are NOT really reading what I'm writing. I may call this guide 'ZEN and the art of electronics'? In which case I'll add a few more paragraphs on what ZEN actually is. What a ZEN 'BARDOT' is.

Our eyes only 'resonate' with a relatively narrow bandwidth of vibration / oscillation / periodic change. And 400THz is to SLOW for our eyes. The pressure pulses come too seldom. They don't excite our visual sensory organs. They don't 'disturb' the nerve endings at a rate that 'triggers' them being sent to our visual cortex to be decoded and RENDERED as 'light' and 'color' and 'images' and 'moving images'.

The nerve endings of our visual sensory organs are not 'tuned' to resonate at such low rates. But speed up the RATE just a little, above 400THz), and now we're in the bandwidth eyes ARE attuned to. The pressure pulses repeat just a bit more often. So that the wave lengths, the distance, and thus time, between each pressure 'front' hitting the nerves of the eye, and disturbing them, vibrating them, oscillating them, is 'just right', to trigger a 'transmission' to the brain centers that will RENDER such 'regular-periodically repeating disturbances as 'light', of a very RED 'color'.

It is the CHANGE induced in the nerve endings that does the trick. CHANGE is at the heart of ALL 'experience', and thus life itself. Hearts are pump-ING. All is flux. It is the PRESSURE DIFFERENTIAL FROM THE DEFAULT 'REST' PRESSURE, that is key to us 'experiencing' anything. Once a 'default rest' level of pressure is calibrated, it is the CHANGE from this that is PERCEIVED. And so if your hearing has been damaged, your brain might 'boost' the signal, LOWERING the 'default – rest' sensitivity, so that now the 'ears' and 'mind' become more sensitive to SMALLER VARIATIONS / CHANGES in pressure. And even begin to 'hear' the 'self-noise' generated by our 'hearing apparatus', in the same way microphones generate 'self-noise'. Thus 'ringing in our ears' even when our blood pressure is NOT raised, and no other 'stimulus' is present. Other than the internal mechanisms of our ears themselves being 'active'.

Our minds RENDER different frequencies, different RATES of impact of pressure pulses, on our visual sensory organs, as different 'colors'. From 401THz RED right up to VIOLET, at the far right of the VISUAL bandwidth of the electromagnetic spectrum.

Moving right of Violet 'light', we enter the MICROWAVE bandwidth of the electromagnetic spectrum. Our visual sensor organs 'ignore' pressure pulses that repeat at such high rates, such high 'frequencies', and THEY don't send ANY data to the visual cortex for decoding and RENDERING as light and color.

But the same microwaves, within a narrow bandwidth, DO stimulate the nerves of sweat glands in your skin, such that these nerve endings relay messages to the brain that 'my skin is on fire'. In the same way Red Hot Chilli Peppers convince your brain your TONGUE is on fire. Even though no actual heat is present. But pain is, after all, THE only thing, other than pleasure and relief, that can said to be REAL at all. And it is THE prime motivator. And whether or not you are on fire, that PAIN will motivate you to seek RELIEF. In the case of U.S.S.A 'microwave crowd control weapons' it means you will 'leave the area' where you were holding your perfectly legal, peaceful, protest. Or simply to ensure you 'stay off the lawns', which Cult of Judah elites often find irritating.

Now think about THIS for a moment. Yes I've tricked you into thinking, right? What a dirty trick! I'm not trying to sell you anything. I'm not trying to trick you into falling for some deception or buying something you don't really need or want. But to actually THINK INDEPENDENTLY. CRITICALLY.

Here goes. This is what was thunked by me. And might resonate with you. And it might even be TRUE. I'm sure even 'The Official Narrative' is consistent with it. Though it doesn't like to explicitly direct your attention to it as it might be just a bit too 'illuminating' for Shleeple, who might be 'turned on' intellectually by it, and continue THINKING for itself!

Take a vibrating device. I found an old Soviet massage device. You can adjust the speed of vibration. And here's the thing. At low 'frequencies', at low RATES of oscillation, of vibration, up and down, in and out, you feel every 'pulse' discretely as a 'pressure pulse'. But turn it right up, and the individual pressure pulses you 'know' theoretically are occurring, cannot be FELT as such. In the same way a sex toy can end up producing numbness rather than 'good vibrations' of a pleasurable, desired, kind.

The nerve endings can only 'sample' at a limited rate. So once the 'frequency' of pressure pulses exceeds this limit, by occurring at too high a rate, too often, they cease to be able to distinguish between each discrete, individual, pulse.

Now compare that to the 'pressure' you 'feel' when you 'touch' something 'solid'. An 'object'. A 'continuous object'. You feel continual resistance. Not 'pulses' of pressure. But a continuous, analog, pressure. And THIS is what gives the IMPRESSION of 'solidity'.

The other 'indicator' we use is that if the object is mobile, and rigid, and we are capable of pushing it, the moment we push one end of it, the other end of it moves immediately, the same distance, at the same speed / velocity.

I don't like to talk of 'particles' but I haven't worked out how to be more precise, so I will use these 'Characters' from 'The Official Narrative' as they appear in their 'official roles' in that narrative, and entertain the idea that something LIKE 'particles' might exist. And give these CHARACTERS from 'The Official Narrative' roles in my sequel. My 'special Directors cut'.

Visualise 'particles' as billiard balls so tightly packed, so close together, in a single row, that, while not 'touching', according to our hi-tech measuring devices from 'Zee Germans', they look like they ARE touching. And while 'Zee Germans' will measure 'latency' with their clever gadgets, for any mere mortal observing, at the sample rates our eyes and ears and minds operate, will SWEAR on 'The 6 million Jews fed alive to lions and bears in Nazi Occupied Germany so there skin could be made into lampshades, and their fat made into soap for Nazi Hausfrau's' that the moment we pushed the first ball, the last ball began moving.

Does that maybe make sense of some of the 'Official Narratives' relating to 'The Quantum' level. With its own 'cast of characters'. And 'theoretical forces'. And 'theoretical characters'. The equivalent, in children's stories, of 'mystical creatures with magical powers'? The supposed 'observation' that energy appears to be able to travel faster than the speed of light, so that one impulse travel almost instantaneously across vast distances. Or even relatively short distances. I mean, 'instantaneous'. Where is XENO? Get him. Oh, and Wittgenstein, so he can question anyone who utters 'I simply can't believe it'!

Yes, that reminds me what my point was going to be. Shorter distances. Instantaneous ultra-speed of light propagation of pressure pulses.

I refer to reality as 'electromagnetic soup'. And have my own 'Speaker cone analogy' to describe how you can produce plurality of apparent 'things' with absolute unity of all things. Very 'monistic'. Or is its 'Monadic'?

But the soup has 'chunks' in it, like any good soup. Things our minds RENDER as 'solid objects'. And as 'individual SUBJECTS' even. THINGS. Objects. Solids.

Stand in the rain. Now stand under a waterfall. One of my favourite pastimes. Like walking on water (across frozen rivers). O.K, so not a 'pastime as such' but occasional 'momentary lapses of reason' and 'thrill seeking', I guess. Or just visit Bali or somewhere with 'torrential downpours'. I've experienced these even in Queenlsand. Driving along, until suddenly you are driving THROUGH what seems like a solid mass of water. In Bali we were on a boat, and watched as a downpour approached, like a wall of water, and while we were under it, the water pounded down almost as continuously as the waterfall in Bali, or North Korea, or Australia, did, when I 'just had to' get under it! Yes folks, this philosopher occasionally got off 'The stoa' and went 'Peripatetic'. Wandering. Nibiru. Marduk-style. Habiru! Like a real 'Hebrew'. Or 'electron'.

Where was I? that's right, standing under a waterfall, being pounded, and hoping nothing even more 'solid' that that 'wall of water' would be the next thing to 'hit' me on the head.

Yes. That's the point, see? Individual drops of rain are 'rendered' as discrete, independent, separate, pressure pulses. But a 'wall of water' is 'rendered' as a constant pressure. O.K, it was a 'pounding' with discretely felt variations. But what if the time between pressure pulses, the distance between pressure maxima of the pressure pulse, of water hitting my skin, and 'disturbing' the nerve endings there, was so short, that the brain centers responsible for 'decoding' them and RENDERING them, didn't have time to process them AS discrete pulses of pressure. And instead RENDERED them as CONTINUOUS PRESSURE. Voila! Aren't we describing SOLID OBJECTS now? Isn't that what our MIND would RENDER the pressure pulses that, REALLY, are discrete, AS? A constant, continual, pressure. Which would SUGGEST 'a solid object'. And if, as far as our visual processing system could tell, pushing one end of the 'object' moved the other end, by the same distance, at the same velocity, instantaneously, wouldn't that FURTHER suggest we were dealing with 'a solid, continuous, object?

So isn't the difference between what we RENDER as 'light' and 'sound' and 'solid objects' merely the rate at which they 'oscillate'. Resonate. Vibrate. Pulse? And so we have our 'chunks' in our 'electro-magnetic soup'. Which is really just a spectrum of pressure pulses of different RATES (frequencies) and thus distance – time between pressure maximas, which when we plot amplitude over time in a graph looks like a 'wave' with the 'wave-length' being the distance between any two 'peaks' a.k.a 'pressure maximas.

Now grab your vibrator, I mean 'personal massage device' and turn it up to full speed. And reflect on what I've tried to communicate. In its most HOLISTIC sense. Because THAT is what TESLA was talking about, when he said that 'REALITY REDUCES TO NUMBER AND FREQUENCY'.

Quantity changes Quality. The most complex looking of mathematical equations is really a shorthand expression of a very long series of additions and/or subtractions. And reduces to a series of 1s.

Binary code uses 0s as placeholders. And so in electronics we use 'voltage' and 'no voltage' to represent 0s and 1s. But we are really dealing with numbers, that all reduce to 1s. Addition and subtraction of 1s is expressed, for convenience, with the 'shorthand' of 'multiplication' and 'division'. And further 'shorthand' 'expressions' then evolve, for convenience, so that a very long series of additions and /or subtractions can be expressed with a few numbers and symbols. But it all reduces to a series of 1s. With ZERO itself just a convenient way to calculate ONES. The primerty. ONE. The ONE. All is one and one is all. Literally.

Different QUANTITIES of ONES, are RENDERED as different IMPRESSIONS by our minds, which we then define as QUALITIES. And I will direct you to TROONATNOOR Vol I and II and to David Hume to continue that journey. But for now, back to 'The Official Narrative' as it concerns 'Electricity'.

The 'charges' are as follows

When we 'charge' something to our credit card, we 'draw' on an account with more money in it than is in our own account. When we 'charge our glasses' we fill them from a bottle or barrel or 'keg' that contains more than is in our glasses. When you place two same-shaped and same capacity tanks of water on a level surface and join them via a pipe at their bases so water can freely move between the two, if one tank finds itself at any point with more water in it than the other water will flow from the greater to the lesser, until the difference is equalized, and the two tanks have the same quantity / volume of water. If you connect a pressurized balloon or car tire, with the ambient air pressure outside it, by opening a valve, you will get a steady release of air from the tire or balloon, until the amount of air in the tire/balloon, per cubic cm, is the same 'inside' the tire/balloon as outside of it. If the release is not 'controlled', you can get an 'explosive' redistribution of air, such as the 'popping' of a balloon or 'bursting' of a car tire.

When we talk of 'negative' and 'positive' we are dealing with reflexivity. Like father and son, mother and daughter, borrower and lender, dependent and carer, 'You can't have one without the other'. The meaning of the terms is reflexive. Relational. It describes a RELATIONSHIP between two or more things. How they relate to each other.

A 'positively charged atom' is one with more electrons in its 'shells' than it has protons in its nucleus. A 'negatively charged atom' is an atom with fewer electrons than it has protons. That makes sense so far in terms of the other examples of 'charge' we've considered. Where a relationship of RELATIVE 'excess' and 'deficiency' balances itself out, automatically, as long as there is a means for it to occur. A pipe between two barrels. A valve for air to escape out through. A 'line of credit' for the banks 'excess' liquidity to 'flow' to your card.

If the analogies hold true, and there is some general 'law' of 'redistribution and balance' between excess and deficiency, then it seems logical to expect that electrons that find themselves in an atom with a relative 'abundance' / 'excess' of electrons, will be 'under pressure' to move to the closest neighbouring atom with a relative deficit of electrons, as long as they are contiguous, or as with the pipes, valves, and lines of credit, there is something to 'conduct' them from one atom to the other.

In the case of atoms, this must be other atoms. Atoms that readily give up and take up electrons. We call materials made of such atoms 'conductors'. Note the italic emphasis on 'readily'. Because all matter gives up and takes up electrons. The terms 'insulator' and 'conductor' are themselves reflexive. One is RELATIVELY more 'promiscuous' with its electrons than the other. Some are real 'sluts'. Some are real 'frigid'. But all will 'give up' their electrons and 'take' electrons, just not as readily. And so we use those that are the most promiscuous with their electrons for the purpose of 'conducting' electrons from excess to deficiency.

We are dealing with 'pressure'. The more of something you compress into a fixed space, the greater the 'pressure' it will experience. If that pressure is greater 'inside' the space than 'outside-around' it, it is the nature of things for it to seek to 'relieve' itself of that excess pressure, by expanding outwards, if the 'space' will expand, or seeking 'the path of least resistance' out of that space, and out into the surrounding space.

You can 'pressurize' water or air using 'pumps'. A 'pump' is anything that reduces the VOLUME of space which the same amount of water or air is contained within. Such as a piston closing down the 'ceiling' of a metal tube, reducing the volume of space available to the same amount of air or water. Or a fist squeezing a rubber ball, compressing the ball and the air inside. Or a foot 'pushing down on a pump'. Or a person pushing the piston of a bicycle pump in, compressing the air sealed inside the piston of the pump.

The more the air is compressed, the more force required to compress it further. If enough force is available, the air can be compressed to the point of the molecules rubbing together, and the friction of that action producing heat. As in a diesel piston. That heat then 'ignites' the mixture of air and diesel cunningly injected into the piston, producing an explosion called 'internal combustion', which forces the piston down, under the force of the contained explosion, and expansion of air, and thus massive sudden burst of excess air pressure, within the sealed piston.

I'm not yet sure how 'The Official Narrative' can claim an electron or proton as a positive or negative charge, in the context we've been considering things so far. But apparently they originally thought it had a charge and now they treat it as having the opposite charge.

Some 'strong force', according to 'The Official Narrative', holds supposedly positively charged protons together in the nucleus, when positive charges are, according to that same narrative, supposed to repel each other. And electrons are retained by, and attracted to, the atom, by the positive charge of said protons. So I sense we have a real mystery on our hands. One at the heart of TROONATNOOR. Which means you'll have to bear with me as I entertain alternative narratives, at the same time as entertaining, and trying to fully 'grok', 'The Official Narrative of Electricity'.

Now so far I would predict that electrons should flow from excess to deficit. As long as some 'condu*it'* was available to flow through. To 'conduct' it on its way. To facilitate the 'transaction'. Neither atom is happy, with too many, or too few electrons, relative to protons. Both parties are 'relieved' of their 'discomfort'. One was feeling bloated, the other hungry. One was feeling positive pressure, and the other negative pressure. One had too much, the other too little.

But in human terms, consider the contexts in which we too are keen to 'relieve' ourselves of some excess. Such as a full bladder. That might be how atoms feels about excess electrons. Or such as excess 'spermatazoa', in our sexual organs relative to outside of them. Which has a closer correspondence than the first analogy. For sperm have a specific 'target destination'. It is not just a matter of relieving excess pressure. They are positively attracted to specific targets. Literally inside the sexual organs of 'opposites' of a different kind. So we have a 'sexually charged situation'. Which can only be 'neutralised' by the abundant / excess of 'positively' charged sperm being conducted to the 'negatively' charged ovum. Flowers use 'bees' and other insects, and even the wind, as their 'conductors'. Humans and other animals use the sex act. Sexual 'conduct'. To 'equalise' the 'imbalance'.

And just like in human sexual relations, a sort of 'sexism' may be said to exist in 'The Official Electricity Narrative'. For we assume that one side 'attracts' the other. That one side is more active in the transaction. That one party more actively participates. Even instigates, the transaction.

Does the water move to Ophelia or does Ophelia move to the water? Do atoms with deficits 'DRAW' electrons from other atoms or do atoms with excess actively seek to be relieved of them, by offering them to the next nearest neighbour who will have them. Promiscuously. Generously. Indiscriminately. Without prejudice.

Do electrons move TOWARDS deficiency or FROM excess? Reflexively seen, it makes no difference which way you express it. Whether the deficient atoms 'draw' electrons, or the excess atoms 'solicit' passing atoms to 'please, relieve me of this burden', we have the same transaction. But for some reason it 'matters' to humans whether the water comes to Ophelia, or she comes to the water. And whether the woman seduced the man or the man seduced the woman. Which was the 'active' protagonist'. And which the passive partner. In the 'exchange'. The 'transaction'.

Of course in the 'charge card' (credit card) example, the 'lender' insists on taking 'credit' for the exchange, and for 'facilitating the transaction', in order to CLAIM AN ENTITLEMENT TO COMPENSATION in the form of 'interest' above and beyond any potential 'opportunity cost' in terms of inflation of prices between lending the excess money, and receiving it back'.

And there is of course the 'compensation' for 'risk'. Atoms always reciprocate. They represent the IDEAL of 'corporatism'. Corporate responsibility. Almost instantaneously that one atom 'draws' an electron from a neighbour, that neighbour, if it now finds itself deficient of electrons, and in need of any, is free to 'draw' on their next nearest neighbour or atom that wanders by, to make up that deficiency. Which is how the ideal 'finance' system really would work. Guaranteed reciprocity, that someone would repay the loan / make up any deficit / supply any need that arose. And complete 'liquidity', there being always enough electrons to go around, because they DO just that. Circulate. Go around. NO GREEDY atoms accumulate increasing excesses of electrons, thus depriving the other atoms of electrons.

That is the thing about atoms. They willingly give and take. So that there is little risk of 'inflation' eating away the value of any electron in the time it takes them to replace it. And it had no value to the atom with an excess. In fact excess 'cash' has no value to its owner either. It is in fact a liability DUE TO the nasty reality of inflation, and the many thieves lurking just waiting to 'relieve' them of this 'burden'.

You see 'risk' and 'inflation' are the two 'excuses' given in 'The Official Finance Narrative'. There is no 'cost' to atoms in giving up electrons as excess electrons have no value to them. And the moment a passing atom 'draws' an electron from them, leaving them 'in deficit', another will be passing from which they can 'make good on the lost electron', by 'drawing' an electron from it. Electrons are easiest 'drawn' from atoms with an excess. (Though I'm not yet sure how the 'narrative' explains atoms coming into 'excess', any more than 'The Official Wealth Narrative' can explain how, honestly, and justly, individual humans could possibly come to possess the OBSCENE EXCESSES OF MONEY' that some do).

In 'nature' excess has no positive value. The predator cannot 'patrol' excess territory. The lake doesn't gain more 'acclaim' by holding more water. The water at the top of the waterfall doesn't gain any benefit from 'being so high and mighty. A predator that grows too fat can't hunt so well. Excess electrons don't bring any benefit to atoms. And 'ceteris paribus', (all things being equal), a person with more money than they want to spend at any given moment, gains no ACTUAL REAL OBJECTIVE benefit from 'holding' it.

We will argue that it provides 'scrooge' with a FEELING of security. Until 'scrooge' realises what a positive THREAT it poses, having all that money laying around, and it produces such feelings of INSECURITY that 'scrooge' actually is willing to spend some of that excess money on 'additional security'. On security systems and services. And as is the case today, even being willing to PAY banks to 'keep' that money 'safe'.

But then there is the problem of 'inflation'. Money that is not spent LOSES VALUE over time. The longer you do NOT spend it, the less it becomes 'worth'. So 'scrooge' faces a dilemma. Hold onto money they don't want to spend, and watch it be eaten away by inflation, like moths eating expensive cottons, linens, and silks, spend it (ouch, scrooge isn't a 'big spender' by nature!), or find someone who is wants to spend it now, and will repay it, original loan plus (minus?) inflation, so that Scrooge doesn't LOSE the money, the purchasing power, they otherwise WOULD HAVE LOST TO INFLATION. So both borrower and lender win. They are both better off. Because the borrower can buy at TODAY'S PRICES. And Scrooge gets to BEAT INFLATION.

Sure, some 'service fees' might be involved. Drawing up contracts and agreements. Enforcing agreements. And some 'risk' factored in, or 'insurance premium' paid to cover the lender for (what should be) the extremely unusual case of 'default' on the loan, because the borrower dies. And here's the thing. Silver Niitots is one of the people who take advantage of the debt laws in Estonia to commit 'theft by deception'. He borrows money even from 'friends' like myself, with zero intention of paying back a single cent, then hides all his income and assets in the names of family members, so that the people he STOLE from, cannot legally compel him to repay them. That's something that shouldn't be possible.

And we are NOT talking about 'venture capital' where the risks are HIGH. Credit card debt is incurred by working people who usually have decades of active working life in which to repay their debts. If they intended to from the start. Unlike CRIMINALS like Silver Niitots. Con-artists. Thieves. It would always be possible to ENSURE that MOST debtors repaid their debts. Eventually. And so for most consumer debt, the RISK is not that high. And if it that risk was 'managed' efficiently, a small premium on every loan could cover it more than adequately.

Where we are talking INVESTMENT, then the lender is taking a genuine risk. And that risk must be rewarded. The higher the REAL risk. The greater the ENTITLEMENT to just compensation FOR that risk. Because, like record companies investing millions in recording artists, the HITS have to more than cover the LOSSES incurred by bands that don't succeed. So they ARE ENTITLED TO EARN LARGE PROFITS from the few bands that DO 'make it to the big time'. For every 'Simply Red' that brings the record company 'in the black', there are at least dozens of recording artists who, after costing record companies a LOT of money, don't sell any music. Don't generate any liver performance or 'merch' revenue for the record company. So for a recording artist to complain that 'the record company made 200 million from my music, and I ONLY made 20 million', is doing the record company a huge injustice. And raises the question of 'who is ENTITLED to WHAT'. The record company invests a lot of money, and takes huge risks. The recording artist invests their time and energy. They only pay 'opportunity costs' in the form of the income they might have generated by investing that time and energy in something else. But few other things promise returns of 20 million dollars. And fame and glory and fun and a pop-star lifestyle of glamour and acceptance and approval and status and privilege.

If the would-be pop-star fails, they haven't accumulated millions in debts like the record company has. Debts they must recover, from 'the next big thing' they have hopefully already signed.

But of course today's record companies learned they could get their recording artists THEMSELVES to pay up front. To not just invest their time, energy, and talent. But actually get into debt making demos and even paying for the production costs for their own singles and albums. The record company can then invest NOTHING in new artists, wait for the ones they signed to have some success, and THEN invest in 'a sure thing', with very little risk. Then, using shelf companies and so on, OVERBILL their new stars, for everything from overpriced studio time (in studios they own themselves), to production costs (they often are the producers) to music video costs, and marketing (through their own companies and those willing to pay 'kick-backs' as in the Real Estate industry), that are BILLED TO THE ARTIST. So that the recording artist may sell millions of albums, but 'earn' nothing, for years. Because all the costs BILLED TO THE ARTIST come out of the royalties. ANY royalties from ANY source. Even live performance earnings. And Merch (Merchandise like posters, hats, t-shirts etc).

Oops, now really DID digress. But hopefully now you appreciate the value OF such digressions. Because it is often 'as above, so below'. We live in a quite 'hologrammic' (holographic?) universe. Every interaction at every level is repeated on other levels. Out of a very few 'ingredients', an apparently complex 'cake' can be baked. The same relationships and principles can be 'wheeled out' to serve a lot of different functions. In a lot of different contexts.

Yes, so we were talking finance. There is really no NATURAL and NECESSARY reason why the LENDER should benefit so much more than the borrower. Because BOTH parties benefit from the exchange. And NEITHER party can claim 'they are doing the other a favor'. Any more than an atom with an excess of electrons is 'doing an atom with a deficit of electrons a favor' by letting them have one of their excess electrons.

Some people have a 'future preference' and want to save, rather than 'buy now'. If they didn't have a way to 'hedge' against inflation, they'd LOSE money by saving. If the 'rich' didn't have people WILLING to relieve them of their excess cash, the rich would get POORER each year, due to inflation.

And it's the same with women and sex. They act as if they are 'doing the man a favour'. When in reality they desire sex as much as any man. Only, like the creditor, they have learned that by WITHOLDING, and 'framing' the transaction as 'I'm doing YOU a favour' they can derive BENEFITS from the transaction, IN EXCESS of what they would, without such manipulations and framing and deception and deliberate obfuscation of the situation, have gained. And which would have been their NATURAL and FAIR 'entitlement'.

Sure, in the case of 'sex work' they ARE selling a service and a good. And that is business. But BOTH parties have given their informed consent in this case. Sure, perhaps the woman MIGHT have slept with some of her 'clients' 'for free', had they not offered to pay. But generally speaking there was no deception. No 'framing'. No 'spin'. A client paid for a service and/or good. And got what they paid for. The transaction was transparent and honest. A 'market' emerges. 'The invisible hand' will regulate supply and demand. No foul, no harm done.

But when the women all 'conspire' to artificially limit the supply of sex, to 'drive up prices', they are acting no differently than Banksters conspiring to LIMIT the supply of CREDIT, in order to ARTIFICIALLY drive up the 'price' of credit, known as 'interest rates'. In the women's case, it forces men to lie and tell women what they DEMAND to hear, and even to enter into 'long term contractual agreements' called 'marriage', in return for sex that the woman would have, if they hadn't had co-conspirators in other women who would 'withhold sex too', given away for free. As a free exchange of like for like. BARTER.

Banksters CONSPIRE to make it SEEM like the lender is doing the borrower 'a favour'. As if the transaction was 'one-way'. And that favour should thus be repaid, in terms of INTEREST well above the REAL risk, and inflation, and cost of service provision. Simply to ensure the lender PROFITS from the transaction EXCESSIVELY. Even OBSCENELY. So that a relative few individuals keep amassing EXCESS, while spreading DEFICIENCY among all the others. Like a few atoms amassing all the electrons, leaving all the other atoms HUNGRY for electrons.

Which brings us to the typical DC 'battery'. Because THAT is exactly the ARTIFICIAL state of affairs that is DELIBERATELY CONTRIVED. In batteries as in finance, and POWER in general.

By contriving to produce an artificial excess in one cell of a battery, then artificially ISOLATING another cell from it, where an artificial DEFICIT of electrons has been CONTRIVED, we can use the POTENTIAL 'flow' of electrons to WORK FOR US. As the same situation is contrived by The Cult of Judah Banksters to give THEM 'control' of US. To get us to WORK FOR THEM. Just as we get electrons to work for us. The Banksters DEPRIVE the general population of 'workers' of money. Just as we contrive to deprive the atoms in one cell of our battery of electrons. By artificially concentrating it in another cell. Where the 'deprived' atoms can't get at it.

Now the ONLY way for the workers to get at that much need money is to WORK FOR the Banksters. Debt slavery! In the case of the Banksters, people have to take JOBS THAT PAY MONEY. And who has the money to pay? So who are 'the workers' REALLY working FOR, in the end? The Banksters. And thus on TERMS THE BANKSTERS SET. TERMS FAVORABE TO THE BANKSTERS. Only THEN will the Banksters, 'open a line of credit for them'. Basically add a CONDUCTOR between the 'negatively charged' poor worker, who NEEDS money, to the 'positively charged' rich Banksters with the EXCESS of cash that is desperately in need of a borrower (but don't let them in on THAT secret, no, make them think the desperation is all one-sided, an on the side of the borrower!)

So back to 'The Official Electricity Narrative'. If you've CONTRIVED a situation where there are 2 cells isolated from each other, where the atoms in one suffer from a deficit of electrons, and the other an excess, is it really 'natural' to ascribe a motive to JUST ONE group of atoms? To either the atoms in the 'deficit' (negatively charged) cell, or the atoms in the 'excess' (positively charged) cell? Don't they share a MUTUAL inventive and motivation to enter into a transaction? Is it really fair to ascribe a COST to the cell with the excess? Surely the cell with the deficit does BENEFIT. But at a COST to the cell with the excess? Surely there is no 'victim' here. No real COST at all.

But we might rightly ascribe greater MOTIVATION to the atoms in the cell with the deficit. Thus consider they are going to be the more 'active' partner in the transaction. To 'seek' such a transaction more actively. To DESIRE it more. And as such, to actively 'DRAW' electrons from the cell with the excess, the moment a 'conductor' offers a 'bridge' or 'conduit' between the two cells, to FACILITATE this.

And so it might seem right to speak of the transaction as 'the negatively charged cell' DRAWS electrons from 'the positively charged cell'. And so there is a 'flow' of electrons from 'the positive charge' TO 'the negative charge'.

A flow from positive to negative.

Those of you who already understood a lot about 'The Official Electricity Narrative' might now be satisfied that I was heading *some*where with all of this, apparent, digression! And I am satisfied I didn't drag myself out of bed due to the inconvenient insights that often occur to me, and others, at the worst times, such as just when drifting off to sleep, or just upon 'waking', for nothing. And so now to tidy up my bed things, and make a cup of coffee, and put on something warm. As usually, sat down, and over an hour has passed, and I barely noticed how cold I had gotten, and how thirsty! Let's hope upon editing this that it really WAS worth it!

For as I will repeat in a moment, electrons in electronic circuits ACCORDING TO THE OFFICIAL NARATIVE, do NOT behave as just described. But instead flow from negative to positive.

BUT the CONVENTION is to treat 'currents' of electrons in electrical current in circuits as flowing from the positive side of a circuit to the to the negative side of that circuit.

Even though, in Alternating Current, electrons really oscillate back and forth within a circuit. Without 'flowing' anywhere at all. It is only in the very artificially contrived Direct Current circuits, with their 'batteries' and 'Power Adaptors', that electrons really 'flow' as such, *any*where .

Yes, did I mention we have some real mysteries on our hands here? A 'narrative' full of contradictions and holes. Which, if it was a movie script, might have a hard trouble being 'approved' by a film studio. Because of the 'holes' in it. Holes only superficially 'covered up' by adding 'characters' to the plot. Almost 'non-sequitur' characters. That don't really 'fit'. That don't seem to 'belong' at all. In the narrative. That seem totally CONTRIVED and ARTIFICIAL. Forcing audiences to 'take leaps of faith'. To simply 'accept' their random entry and exits from the action. With no real' backstory' or 'motivation'. Mere 'shadows on the wall'. Rather than 'real' characters. And thus very unconvincing and unsatisfying to watch.

But in terms of 'enlightening digressions', consider this. IN THE REAL WORLD MONEY DOES FLOW FROM NEGATIVE (DEFICIT) TO POSITIVE (EXCESS / SURPLUS). Think about it. Wealth has ALWAYS 'flowed' from the poor to the rich. From the borrower to the lender. From the debtor to the creditor. From the worker to the Bankster. From the people who actually CREATE real wealth, producing real products and services, to those who can, in theory at least, at best CLAIM to 'facilitate' the creation of real wealth, via venture capitalism, but in reality create NOTHING but DEBT. And SLAVERY.

So now consider WHO controls 'The Official Narratives' regarding EVERYTHING on this plane-et. From 'The Official Narrative taught as 'history'. To 'The Official 911 narrative'. To 'The Official global climate crisis narrative'. To 'The official 'Holocaust' narrative'. To 'The Official Covid Narrative'. They also control 'The Official Electricity Narrative'. They are the ones who claim the sun burns Hydrogen. And that global climate change is determined by how much humans and cows fart or burn carbon based fossil fuels. And that we are threatened by an Invisible Pink Elephant Plague that requires us to sacrifice EVERYTHING THAT MAKES US HUMAN AND MAKES LIFE WORTH LIVING in order for our 'authorities' to 'protect' us from it. Oh, they chose to call it 'Covid-19' rather than 'Invisible Pink Elephant'. I guess they thought that SOUNDED more 'scientific'.

I doubt many of you will EVER 'grok' how important it is that ALL 'The Official Narratives' 'line up' and correspond to the 'same script'. That they all march 'in LOCK-STEP'. That they SEEM to 'be on the same page'. Negative to Positive must be made to SEEM natural. A universal law. To NATURALISE it. To NORMALISE it. As normal. As self-evident. As taken for granted. Beyond question. Beyond challenge. That, yes, DOG ordained that wealth flow from the poor to the rich. From negative to positive. Just like DOG ordained that electricity flow from negative to positive. It's scientific now. And who can argue with SCIENCE! Even if you somehow built up the guts and lucidity to argue with DOG! Dog has ordered things so. It is a LAW of nature. A SCIENTIFIC law. How much more AUTHORITATIVE could it get? Both DOG and SCIENCE agreeing on something! The Priests of the Cult of Judah subsidiaries agreeing with the Priests of the Secular Cult subsidiaries of the Cult of Judah. Imagine that. They agree! Who'd a thunk it possible? Dog and Science on the same page. Reading from the same script. Dancing to the same tune. Marching in LOCK-STEP. Towards a glorious Soviet future. I mean, NEW WORLD ORDER! Thank Dog for Big Brother! And the ministry of JOY! Oh happy happy joy joy! Good plus plus! I hear they are even increasing the chocolate rations! And the war with Eurasia is going so much better these days? Or is it we were never at war with Eurasia, and the peace is continuing as blissfully as before? Whichever, what does it matter. We can TRUST IN AUTHORITY. We can TRUST Big Brother to know and do what is best for us. And if not for us, per se, 'for the greater good'. Yes we are called upon to make sacrifices. Austerity. And 2+2 MUST sometimes equal 5. That's just NECESSARY. We're in this together. Unless we are ALL willing to be 'flexible' and 'good team players', those invisible pink elephants, or is it those Eurasian enemies (or is it allies?), that Big Brother needs all our help to protect US from? I guess we just have to TRUST and have FAITH that HE knows best. But while I've got your attention, you don't happen to have any spare razor blades do you? No? Oh well, can't hurt to ask, can it! Covid 19 (84) has made it terribly hard for the shaving industry, apparently! Seems EVERYTHING bad that EVER happens can be traced back to those pesky invisible pink elephants, I mean, Covid-19 (That's what they're calling it right? So hard to keep up? You can never know what will happen *yester*day! And what they are 'protecting us from' today, given we're always at war with SOMETHING NEW!)

Electrickery

Ancient Greeks were intrigued as to why sticks of elektron (amber [fossilised tree resin]), when rubbed against something soft, would make your hair stand on end. Or even attract and hold other light materials like feathers. When William Gilbert wrote his book in the 1700s, in LATIN, he used the Latin equivalent of elektron which was electrikus. Which was later translated into 'modern' English as 'electricity'.

Electrons in electronic circuits flow from negative to positive. However the CONVENTION is to treat 'positive charges' as flowing towards 'negative charges'. (Negatively charged) electrons flowing TOWARDS (negatively charged) atoms with fewer electrons than protons? What now? Well, glossing over all that, the convention is to treat electricity in electrical current in circuits as flowing from the positive side of that circuit to the to the negative side of that circuit. Which baffles me. As most naturally occurring electronic 'currents' don't actually 'flow' anywhere. They oscillate back and forth. Only in your typical 9V battery powered circuits for personal consumer electronics does power flow from source back to source, from one cell to another, in the battery itself. And protons in atoms with more protons than electrons 'draw' electrons to their 'deficiency', which is surely the best definition of a flow of electrons TOWARDS deficiency and thus towards the NEGATIVELY 'charged' atom. An atom is 'negatively' 'charged' by virtue of being deficient of electrons by virtue of having fewer electrons than protons, and thus requiring more electrons to return to 'balance'. At which point it has NO overall 'charge'. And an atom with an excess or merely MORE electrons than its neighbour, is viewed enviously by that neighbour as enjoying a 'positive charge', RELATIVE TO its own deficiency. So it begs the question 'What is it about 'The Official Narrative' that REQUIRES our 'electron' character, from 'The Official Narrative', acting socially as a 'current', to 'flow' from POSTIVE TO NEGATIVE? What changed over the first 150 years that made it necessary to REVISE THE OFFICIAL NARRATIVE? To invert the direction of flow of 'charges'?

Well the official 'narrative' (story) is that they didn't discover that electrons themselves have a 'negative' charge until later in the writing of that official narrative. So 'current' had to be defined as the movement of negatively charged electrons.

[Perhaps you can you now see why philosopher that I are was attracted to study electricity and electronics, well beyond that needed to design the optimal wiring harness for my electrical guitar and the ultimate 'loaded scratch-plate' concept. Yes it started with TROONATNOOR Vol I. And the TROONATNOOR enterprise has come full circle, 'Oroborus' style, like so many other things in my life. See my 'Some much needed historical revisionism' for some eye-opening insights. But consider that a 0 is a 1 biting its own tail. That all circuits must COMPLETE a CLOSED LOOP. Hence the 'EARTH-GROUND' or closed DC power system that returns the (contrivance of) excess electrons in one cell, BACK to the cell with the contrived deficiency in the cell opposite. CLOSED LOOPS. That's the definition of our Orobouros. The snake-serpent-dragon biting its own tale. Obadiah's warning in corporate logo form. Everything coming back to its source. All thoughts, words, and deeds, the very WILL itself, being revisited upon the willer, the thinker, the actor. KARMA. As Obadiah warned 'For as you do unto others so shall be done unto you'. And as our world is the REPRESENTATION OF OUR WILL, as Schopenhauer so neatly put it, the world itself is no more or less than the manifestation of our collective wills. Our WILL TO ABUSE POWER. OUR WILL TO TREAT OTHER SENTIENT BEINGS AS MERE MEANS TO OUR OWN ENDS. OUR WILL TO ENSLAVE OTHER SENTIENT BEINGS, INCLUDING HUMANS. OUR WILL TO ENJOY BENEFITS THAT OTHERS PAY FOR. OUR WILL TO ENJOY PLEASURES PAID FOR BY OTHER'S SUFFERING AND MISERY. OUR WILL TO ENJOY FREEDOMS PAID FOR BY OTHERS SLAVERY. OUR WILL TO SEEK MORE AT THE EXPENSE OF OTHERS. OUR WILL TO HARM OTHERS. OUR WILL TO ACCUMULATE AS MUCH WEALTH AND POWER AND STATUS FOR OURSELVES AS WE CAN, NO MATTER WHAT COST THAT ENTAILS FOR OTHER SENTIENT BEINGS. OUR WILL TO SEEK ILLUSORY SECURITY AT THE COST OF TORTURING OTHER SENTIENT BEINGS.

OUR WILL TO SEEK OUR OWN PERCEIVED SELF INTERESTS AT THE COST OF DECEPTION. TO 'WAGE WAR BY DECEPTION'. TO WAGE WAR ON EACH OTHER. IN SECRET. TO CONTROL OTHERS BY DECEIVING THEM. TO MAKE THEM WANT THINGS THAT THEY WOULD NEVER WANT, IF THEY WERE IN POSSESSION OF THE FULL TRUTH WE ARE WITHOLDING FROM THEM VIA CENSORSHIP. TO WANT THINGS THEY WOULD NOT WANT IF THEY WERE IN POSSESSION OF ALL THE FACTS. TO WANT THINGS THEY WOULD NEVER IN THEIR RIGHT MINDS GIVE THEIR TRULY INFORMED CONSENT TO. TO WANT, OR AT MINIMUM PASSIVELY ACQUIESCE TO, AND COMPLY WITH, AND OBEY, THINGS, AND LAWS, AND PROSCRIPTIONS AND PRESCRIPTIONS AND 'MEASURES' , THEY WOULD, IF IN FULL POSSESSION OF THE FULL FACTS, AWARE OF ALL THE ALTERNATIVES AVAILABLE TO THEM, EVER AGREE TO, SUBMIT TO, OR COMPLY WITH, WILLINGLY.

DECEPTION IS THE MOST POWERFUL WEAPON. AND MANY SUBCONSCIOUSLY AGREE TO BELIEVE SIMPLY BECAUSE THEY FEAR THAT THOSE IN CONTROL WOULD NOT HESITATE TO USE THE MOST BRUTAL, CRUEL, VICIOUS, NASTY, HORRIFIC, VIOLENCE AND BRUTE FORCE, TO GET WHAT THEY WANT, IF THEIR LIES FAILED TO DELIVER IT. THIS LAST INSIGHT JUST CAME TO ME.]

Oh, but just something I stumbled on while researching 'The Leyden Jar'. Did you know Leiden, in Pomerania, (now probably part of Poland or who knows what nation that was given bits of Germany after WWI and WWII) had a university. Maybe still has. You've heard of 'the university of life'? Well remember I describe this plane-et as a reform school? If you speak a little German you'll see why I had a little laugh. 'Leiden University' in German would mean 'Suffering University'. See what I mean now? 'The University of Karma' is how we learn the consequences of willing certain things. The sorts most people on this plane-et habitually will. Only for OTHERS. Somehow believing themselves EXCEPTIONS to Obadiah's law. The Law of Karma. The first law of equal and opposite effect. That they who would enslave and exploit others, will become slaves of, and exploited by, said OTHERS. Now that is what I call 'Leiden University'.

So, for the first 150 years, 'The Official Narrative' had electricity as being the flow of positive charges from the positive side of a circuit to the negative side of a circuit, and this 'convention' is still used when describing the flow of electricity in circuits. Which surely must tell you a lot of how 'Official Narratives' operate. Whether we are dealing with 'scientific' narratives, or myths created thousands of years ago, and maintained for thousands of years, and still managing to 'persuade' people, as mere 'hearsay', that they are 'beyond question' and 'infallible received wisdom' and thus to 'take a leap of faith', and simply believe. Why? Well everyone ELSE seems to believe it. And the priests seem very confident, and speak with such 'authority'. And like the chick whose first contact with an 'other' is a snake, it has been hard-wired to 'trust' the first 'significant others' it encounters. And this TRUST is IMPRINTED upon them. Indelibly. Unto death. And if that snake had any other uses for a chick other than food, imagine the possibilities! Why, that snake could enslave that chick, and take advantage of any potential it had, as it grew to chicken-hood!

Was anyone ever named EPONYMOUS? Did they become *SYN*ONYMOUS with anything? What confusions might that have produced? Well that is what happened with many of the early pioneers of research into electricity and electronics. And it has led to a lot of confusing abbreviations and formulas.

But then there's the case of people being merely honoured, by having things named after them, that they had no connection with. Intellectuals of all kinds in the 'natural philosophies' admired the ancient Greek philosophers and poets, and held them in such high esteem that much of our 'modern' language has been borrowed from the ancient Greeks, as an homage [an homage, as that word is one of over 15,000 FRENCH words William the butcher (literally butcher's son and mass murdering war criminal) brought with him from Normandy, and the French don't pronounce 'H's at the start of words!] So early post cataclysm re-discoverers and re-inventors often coined new terms for things new to them, and our post-cataclysm slave society that is passed off as 'civilisation', using re-combinations and forms of ancient Greek words.

Electrical Current is measured in 'Amperes' or 'Amps' (A), in honor of André-Marie Ampère, a French physicist who was one of the pioneers of early electrical science. And just as Iranians aggressively built their nation so close to so many American foreign military bases, this arrogant French dude stubbornly insisted on speaking FRENCH. And using the term Intensité to describe the intensity or strength of an electric current. Hence the abbreviation for Current (I) in all equations is I.

Voltage was named to honor the Italian scientist Count Alessandro Giuseppe Antonio Anastasio Volta, who invented the electric battery in 1800. So Volts (V) is the unit and abbreviation for Potential (Electro Magnetic Force) in those equations where E (for Electro Magnetic Force is not used), such as in Ohms Law. But generally E is used as being more descriptive.

I've put a wide range of 'Official narratives' on the stand. I've interrogated them. I've exposed them. But few people are interested in my attempts to liberate them from the mind prisons they have been tricked into accepting as 'reality' and 'truth' and 'knowledge' and 'fact' and 'natural', held in chains of DECEPTION and FEAR. So I am now free to pursue a purer ontological exercise. To return to the very lowest levels of abstraction. The very 'nature' of reality. Not just the horrific, absurd reality my fellow liabilities (humans) have manufactured and forced me to endure. But the reality that will remain after the next (sooner the better) cataclysm reminds humanity it is NOT 'master' of anything, by wiping out all the prisons set up around this plane-et, which we call 'society' and 'civilisation' and 'nations' and that pompous group of asses who think of themselves as a 'New World Order', the 'Cult of Judah' and its conscious and unwitting collaborators.

I've always felt intimidated by electronics. And my usual response is to confront my fears. To challenge myself to 'learn' new things. New skills. From juggling to guitar electronics. My aims here are both purely philosophical, and also heuristic. I want to 'grok' the basis of reality. The 'electrical universe'. And to become able to work on my guitar design ideas.

Many thanks to people Doug Lowe who, like me, made his excellent guide 'Electronics All-In-One For Dummies', available at no cost to the reader, and all those people who seeded torrents that gave me access to technical books I never would have been able to access otherwise. But consider the 'Dummies' guide series for one moment. Who'd a thunk insulting people would become such a big marketing concept? Explaining something for people with zero background in something, in terms anyone can understand, is the 'foil' to elitism and 'professionalism', and prevents people being deceived by elites with a monopoly on understanding. For that monopoly prevents 'outsiders' from 'calling' them on their lies.

Quantity changes quality. This is the basis of all apparent 'complexity' and 'variety'. The 'elements' our world is made up differ in terms of the quantity of protons in their nucleus. Remember the whole concept of 'atoms' and 'nuclei' are narratives. Entertain them. Heuristically employ them. Avoid 'idolizing' them as 'dogmas' and 'laws'. Narratives are just stories we make up to explain things. Some stories explain things better than others. And allow us to predict, with greater reliability, and precision, and accuracy, 'the next shadow that is going to appear, on the wall, in the current series'. They are useful if they let us 'predict' things. And harness the apparent 'forces of nature' to our ends. But we should never allow 'hubris' to delude us into thinking we can possibly 'know' anything. With certainty. If what our 'understanding', or 'narrative', predicts, happens to occur, then we find it useful. That is all. There may be a much better narrative available to explain the same phenomena, more precisely and reliably. The 'story' we have made up, characters such as 'atoms' and 'electrons' and 'protons' and 'nuclei' inclusive, may just accidentally correspond to the phenomena that occur. We might have it all wrong. We tell ourselves stories to relieve our sense of vulnerability to chaos. We want to FEEL that we KNOW things. Feel SECURE in 'knowing' things. That makes life more predictable. And lets us develop 'technologies' and 'techniques' to secure our survival, and even pursue our 'happiness'.

So, that said, let's return to 'The Official Narrative' and its 'authorised' cast of characters. Quantity changes quality. The most complex of mathematical equations reduces to a long series of additions and / or subtractions. And thus to the number 1. All math is built upon this 'primerty'. Changing the quantity of '1's gives us all the apparent complexity of the most complex equations. It is THAT simple.

In terms of our 'physical' reality, that is built from ELEMENTS. And the DECISIVE quantity that distinguishes one element from another is the NUMBER, the QUANTITY, of 'Protons' in its 'Nucleus'. I will sometimes use these 'air quotes' to remind you these are just 'characters in our story'. And not to become FIXATED on them as if they were THINGS. But rather use them as 'tools'. To ENTERTAIN the possibility that these characters in this story are real, and that the story itself corresponds with some actual TRUTH.

So Hydrogen is the first element. The most basic. It has ONE proton. And in its balanced form, it thus has ONE electron. For every element, the number of protons will match the number of electrons it has. This gives it its 'ATOMIC NUMBER'. Helium has 2 protons. Lithium 3. Copper has 29.

The Nucleus of all the elements EXCEPT Hydrogen also contains neutrons. They usually have more neutrons than protons. Electrons are considered 200,000 times smaller than protons. The move around the nucleus in 'electron clouds', so the 'narrative' claims. That is vague enough. But the next 'camel' we are expected to 'swallow' is that some unspecified, and strong, force, eponymously referred to as, literally, 'the strong force' exists which stops the protons from repelling each other, and somehow 'binds' them together. As in 'religion'. 'To bind'. Some 'strong religion'. Some 'force'. So I expect a much BETTER narrative, a more COMPELLING story can be written about 'The Atom' and 'Electricity', and someone will either will write it one day, or has, and they've been brutally tortured to death and silenced at worst, and at best simply censored.

All very interesting. But what interests us most, in relation to the phenomena of 'electricity', is the potential for an atom to 'draw' atoms FROM another atom, any time it finds itself with fewer electrons than it has protons. It is temporarily 'balanced' only when the number of protons matches the number of electrons. Any time it has, for any reason, fewer electrons than protons, it will seek to relive this deficit of electrons by DRAWING electrons from the next closest atom. Which is VERY close. So that almost immediately that one atom 'draws' an electron from a neighbour, that neighbour 'draws' an electron from its then closest neighbour. So that within a conductor like Copper, atoms are constantly 'drawing' atoms from one another, almost instantaneously 'swapping' electrons, continuously, and randomly. Balanced copper atoms will be having their electrons 'drawn' away by unbalanced atoms continuously. So none remain either balanced or unbalanced for long, in the natural world. Copper atoms are 'promiscuous' in this sense. Always 'swapping' electrons, in a sense. For no sooner have you 'satisfied' your desire for 'balance', than some other atom is 'drawing' an electron away from you, leaving you hungry again, and doing the same to the next available 'victim'. With no malice intended. Atoms might feel 'relief' and 'desire'. But what matters is that the process will be automatic. A 'balancing of equations'. And 'auto-correcting' mechanism. A process that is intrinsically self-replicating. Reproducing.

An electron that is 'in transit' generates an electro-magnetic charge around it. So we have a whole lot of simultaneously moving electromagnetic fields interacting. Constantly changing their location Vis a Vis each other. And thus inducing magnetic fields, and electrical currents. Reflexively. Apparently atoms can even collect an EXCESS of electrons But the narrative claims that it is the 'attraction' of reflexive 'opposites', the 'positive' PROTONS and the 'negative' ELECTRONS' to each other, that holds atoms together. So it is odd that excess negative electrons, (relative to the number of positive protons in the nucleus of the atom) which the narrative claims are 'repellent' and 'repulsive' to each other, would 'hang around where they are not wanted'. Some feel 'greed is good' I guess. Or some 'wanderers' get tired of wandering, and hang around, even where they are not 'needed'. Not really 'wanted'. Until they are 'drawn' by the next atom with a deficit. A friend in need of an extra electron is a friend indeed! Ask an HONEST authority not terrified of losing 'tenure' and being 'blacklisted from publication' or generally self-sabotaging their career prospects, professional relations, and losing the support of their fellow 'Cult' members, and probably everything worth living for as a result, and they will admit 'well, the narrative sort of works, well enough, but to be honest, we don't REALLY 'know' what we are talking about'. So by all means ENTERTAIN 'The Official Narrative'. See how far it can take us. But never WORSHIP it as an IDOL. Never 'idolize' it as 'The Law', as Jesus would say. For the law brings death. (This proved, and may have been intended as, prophetic, for Jesus was sentenced to death under the same LAW he was attempting to reform, and abolish). Only the living word brings life. As in a NARRATIVE that is OPEN TO FREE AND FAIR PUBLIC DEBATE, remains ALIVE. While a DOGMATIC LAW BUILT OF ARTICLES OF FAITH AND ASSUMPTIONS THAT MAY NOT BE QUESTIONED-CHALLENGED-INTERROGATED-TESTED AGAINST EVIDENCE is D.O.A. Dead on arrival. The moment it is ENSHRINED as 'The Law'. Never to be challenged for ever more. CARVED IN STONE. An IDOL. To be 'bowed down before' humbly and SLAVISHLY. Something to be a SLAVE to. Fearful of 'offending' its 'high priests'. It's AUTHORITIES. Where even the most innocent of questions is defined as TABOO. HERESY. APOSTASY. CRIMINAL. So that we witness 'The Birth of a New CULT'. One with supposedly 'Scientific' dogmas and articles of faith. But no different than any Cult that refers to 'supernatural' or 'other worldly' beings, like 'Gods' and such.

So while I can't claim to 'grok' how an atoms could, according to 'The Official Narrative', accumulate EXCESS electrons, in 'the best of all possible worlds' the exchange of electrons would be, 'from each according to what he has too much of and doesn't need, to each according to what they really need, because they have a real deficit of it'. And so the constant flow of electric currents all around us, through us, and within us, would ideally be a redistribution from excess to deficit. A 'balancing'. And any 'deficit' will almost instantaneously be 'relieved' by the 'gift of electrons' by atoms with excesses. Or at worst, the moment any atom finds itself in deficit, it can 'draw' it like an 'International Drawing Right from the IMF', thus 'balancing its 'budget'. With no need to despair at such a tragic loss on the part of the atom it 'drew' that electron from. As THAT is the 'rub'. Things happen almost instantaneously in our 'ELECTRIC UNIVERSE', that no sooner does the atom that 'sacrificed' an electron NOTICE the loss, another atom has passed nearby and 'offered up' a replacement. So NO atom really ever finds itself 'lacking' anything, in the sort of human time frame we perceive things. If an atom had human sensory perceptions and rendering processes, it wouldn't even notice it HAD lost and gained an electron. It would feel as if it had 'dipped a toe' in a 'flowing river of electrons'.

Remember that what we call an ELECTRIC CURRENT is really the 'flow' of the electric charges carried by electrons as they jump from atom to atom, and the electromagnetic DISTURBANCES these produce. As moving electromagnetic fields. As constantly CHANGING magnetic fields. Hopefully will both soon be 'grokking' this easily. Not like Cult thralls obediently submitting to some dogma, and PRETENDING that 'sure, that all makes perfect sense', simply because 'everyone else seems to understand and if I'm the only one who has a problem with it, then surely I am the problem, so best self-censor and avoid ridicule, exposure, and excommunication' But like real NATURAL PHILOSOPHERS. Who genuinely DO understand, clearly and vividly, what they are talking about. So that they can actually EXPLAIN IT IN WORDS. Without the need for Nobel Prize winning 'making stuff up' a.k.a 'Discovering theoretical particles' and 'extra dimensions' and such. So our structures are monolithic, basalt. Not sandstone with lots of holes filled in with rubble, smoothed over, and covered with pitch!

In the beginning was 'the disturbance'? Or are the atoms intrinsically 'disturbed'? Are some or even all Atoms, by nature, fundamentally greedy, and thus seek to accumulate EXCESS electrons at the expense of neighbouring atoms? MORE than they strictly NEED? Or does some 'disturbance' lead to some atoms losing electrons, to some OTHER process, and thus become dependent on OTHER atoms to 'make up the difference'? And thus set in motion this 'eternal war of all against all'? Is it a war? Or the 'conflict' that all 'narratives' require to generate a 'plot'? To give the 'characters' some 'motivation' to actually ACT per se? And thus a POSITIVE thing. A 'disturbance' in the balance.

In the beginning was some disturbance. In the Aether? In our atmosphere it would be an air pressure pulse, which the mind would RENDER as 'sound'. Perhaps 'the first WORD' uttered? In the beginning was the word. A low frequency pulse.

[Stepping outside that well-known NARRATIVE, I'd say that 'disturbance' itself IS the basis of life. That DISTURBANCE is a primerty. The 'creator' of that NARRATIVE must have found the 'chaos' disturbing, and so responded to it, like an obsessive compulsive might respond to the mess in someone else's home, when they visited!]

Later, probably almost instantaneously, higher frequency pulses, such as those our minds RENDER as light and 'mass' were to come. So a low pressure pulse was 'The creator'. The 'God', if you like. The original disturbance. And the rest is literally 'history'. And unless we LEARN from history, also our FUTURE! For the 'God' we've had installed in our belief systems is clearly 'disturbed' in the very worst sense. A psychotic sado-masochist, with Priests appropriate to such a 'disturbed' mentality. With a 'founding father' who heard voices in his head telling him to kill his own son, as the 'most revered and holy of all 'authorities'. It couldn't help but go downhill from there, with such a 'heritage' and 'origin story' full of genocide and 'ripping up pregnant women' and 'dashing their little one's heads against the stones, by the rivers of Babylon'.

Oh, but let's get back to our 'charges'. Unless you want to 'charge' me with some 'offense'? What is most interesting to us, in terms of practical usefulness, is the property of atoms called 'charge' which provides us with the 'potential' to produce, at will, 'currents' of 'electrons'. And to place some component in their path, to trick them into doing 'work' for us. The same way our CULT slave masters do. They set ups something as 'desirable', which, if we are to attain, we must 'work' for. So that we feel we are acting of our own free will in the matter. Usually the desired objective turns out to be dissatisfying. But we have already been tricked into 'doing the work'. And by keeping that 'desirable outcome' always just out of our reach, we can be tricked into 'working ourselves to death' in the ATTEMPT to attain it. Those few who attain it realise how VAIN the effort was. How WORTHLESS the object REALLY is. But too few ever manage to reach the goal. It is a carrot on the end of a string, on the end of a stick, attached to the donkeys own head. So no matter how fast, and for how long, the donkey walks towards it, the carrot will always remain, tantalisingly, out of reach!

Low air pressure zones naturally 'suck in' air from relatively higher pressure zones. The atmosphere can thus be said to 'hold a charge' and to 'discharge' air pressure between low and high pressure zones. The air molecules always moving TOWARDS areas of LOWER air pressure. We might refer to a 'low pressure' area as having a 'negative charge'. And a high pressure area as having a 'positive charge'. But it is merely a reflexive comment on their relative air pressure differences. The REFERENCE for one is always the other. Or some 'default' 'neutral' 'ambient' air pressure. Even copper atoms have a 'default' 'ambient' level of 'electron swapping' that occurs randomly, even with no 'voltage' applied from external sources. Just as air molecules, in an area of 'stable' air pressure, are still jostling about, randomly. But there is no 'wind' as such. No 'air pressure pulse in a specific direction'. Just as in a copper wire NOT connected to two isolated areas of DIFFERENTIAL electron:proton ratios. But once you have an air pressure pulse pushing air, it becomes compressed, and the air pressure exceeds the default, beginning a chain reaction of compression-expansion pulses, in the opposite direction to where the source of that pressure pulse is. And once you connect a wire to two regions of differential proton:electron ratios, a current of excess electrons will flow from the region of RELATIVE excess, towards the region of RELATIVELY LOWER electrons:protons. That will be the direction of 'flow', as electrons are passed from atom to atom. The atoms don't move much. Just like air pulses don't move that far, before the air is compressed so far it begins REPRODUCING the original pressure pulse again. The air pressure communicates – transfers the ENERGY of the original pulse. The copper ATOMS pass on electrons to their neighbours, in the direction of the area of RELATIVELY lower density of electrons. So the 'flow' is of energy, in the case of the air pressure pulses, rather than AIR itself. And in the case of electricity, it is the excess ELECTRONS that are moved, from one atom to the nearest atom, and ONLY that far. Until another 29 electrons DISPLACE all the original electrons that atom had at its default-rest BEFORE the voltage was applied. BEFORE the copper wire joined two regions of DIFFERENTIAL electron density. And as atoms are so closely packed together, they barely need to move at all before they are losing, and 'drawing' electrons. So almost instantaneously that any voltage is applied, they will begin replacing their 'original' electrons with new ones coming from the region of relatively HIGHER density of electrons. From the power station. From the 'positive' cell of a battery. From the wall socket.

A 'Voltmeter' has two wires you touch to two things that are isolated from each other, in terms of there being no way for electrons to flow between them. It measures the 'potential' for a current. By measuring the DIFFERENCE in electron:proton ratios present in two isolated groups of atoms. When you 'clamp' the voltmeter you form a connection between the two isolated groups. And can measure this differential in 'electron density' between the two. This is the potential current that WOULD flow IF the two isolated regions were linked by a conductor, such as copper wire.

Now I guess the 'earth' completes the 'circuit'. The original 'electrons' that the power supply 'pushed' into the circuit, came from 'the earth'. And so they must return to the earth. Having passed through countless 'atoms' on their journey. And in terms of ALTERNATING CURRENT, each time the current 'reverses direction', it must 'grab' electrons from that 'earth' to send back down the line. Like two people operating a saw push and pull it back and forth, maybe not as often as 60 times a second, but still doing the same 'work' electrons do as they 'pass through' any resistance, like the saw passing through the resistance offered by the wood. Which requires 'force' to overcome. And which is 'consumed' in the act of performing that 'work'. In the case of the people pushing and pulling the saw, it is energy produced by internal combustion in their cells, converted by their will and bones into kinetic energy pushing and pulling the saw, which is converted into mechanical energy and heat as the saw moves back and forth through the wood. So that the original energy in the calories consumed, and burned by the cells in the bodies of the workers, ends up being converted into mechanical force and heat, and the 'objective' of 'sawn' timber is achieved. Whereas in electrical circuits the objective might be heat, or light, or the repelling of a speaker cone to produce air pressure pulses our minds will RENDER as 'music'.

Aside (Oh, so THIS is an aside, and what was all that previous stuff then?)

Let's consider something interesting about nature. As compared to the human nature we are familiar with. Electrons move TOWARDS atoms that are deficient in electrons, relative to their number of protons. It is a self-sacrificing universe! Odin sacrifices his eye to learn the secret of the runes. Tyr sacrifices his hand-arm to hold the wolf. Jesus sacrifices his life, like other reformers before him, from Orpheus, to Pythagoras, to Socrates, in defiance of the hegemonic lies of their contemporary elites. Atoms willingly sacrifice their electrons. To 'ease the suffering' and 'offer relief' to their fellow atoms who are suffering from a deficiency. But fear not. The sacrifice will be reciprocated, almost immediately. Now THAT is the ultimate in low level of abstraction, heuristic, ETHICAL models. WOW. Did NOT see THAT coming! That is the categorical role model for morality! For the atoms are share the highest ethical TONE. And the 'deficiency' turns out thus to be a 'good'. It gives each atom purposeful action. It ensures a constant supply of purposeful actions that can be successfully carried out, and thus produce 'happiness'.

Could the same principle be in operation even at the level of organisms? The moment we 'sacrifice' our bodies to another being, to ensure its survival, we are reborn in a new organism? Almost simultaneously? With the only cost 'suffering'. And any suffering we had 'invested' during our lives in the hope of 'future benefits' which we are thus deprived of, by death, of ever coming to enjoy?

But if we are lucky, we are born to parents who really love us, and want to, and can, ensure our happiness. So losing treasures amassed for future consumption might be a low price to pay. And if we all acted as if amassing was stupid, we wouldn't amass. And we would abandon our 'future preference'. And stop hoarding. And live more in the moment. And stop trying to become 'rich'. Especially at other's expense. Hmm. As I suspected, there is a LOT to learn FROM 'electricity'.

That is the ideal situation. A human nature, and a natural world, where man was not wolf to man. Where even wolf was not predator to *any*thing. Imagine a world where we immediately acted to alleviate the suffering of other sentient beings, even at our own expense. Where all sentient beings did this. Automatically. Like Atoms 'sacrificing' their electrons, to relieve other electrons of their imbalance.

But we could look at this 'transaction' in a different light. That of deficient atoms 'stealing' electrons from neighbouring atoms with the full complement. DRAWING them off. Which is interesting in the context of the International Monetary Fund's 'Special Drawing Rights' which will evolve and morph into the coming 'One World Currency'. And in relation to how we 'draw' funds from a bank account, using 'checks'. Such as the 'blank-checks' we have handed over to the Cult of Judah occupation governments in the form of submission to 'The Official Covid Narrative', and all the restrictions and proscriptions, economic wrecking, and denial of services, that narrative is used to speciously, disingenuously, 'justify' and 'explain away'.

'Framed' this way, this 'disorganised crime' is just a bunch of thieves stealing each from other. Chaos. Random acts of violence. But what if we could 'organise' and 'direct' this chaos to some constructive ends? Somehow make these spontaneous acts 'work' for us?

First consider how we place a water wheel in the current of a river, so that the water molecules must 'push' the wheel in order to get past, and continue on their way, to their 'promised land'. We do the same with wind-mills. Or hydro-electric turbines. We could force people to 'push through' turnstiles to get to their fridge, or to enter a supermarket, and they would generate turning motion which, like wind turbines, or hydro-electric turbines, would spin an axel, to 'generate' electricity. Or simply 'drive' a flour mill grind-stone around in circles. Or 'pump' a bellows in a metal foundry. We get 'work' out of a flow of anything, by placing something in its path which resists its flow. Something it can 'push through'. This 'pushing' can then be translated, via axels, hubs, and gears, into rotation or 'pumping' actions. The kinetic energy thus being converted into mechanical movements.

Alternating currents are the 'naturally occurring' form of electrical discharge. Electrons are 'drawn' in 'alternating' directions, by the deficient atoms. We might say the protons are the 'thieves'. Protons don't 'do alone very well'. They each feel 'entitled' to their own electron. So when deprived of one, they 'attract' an electron from the next best source they can. The closest atom with a full complement of electrons. Or framed alternatively, the generous protons with a mate feel so sorry for the protons in neighbouring atoms that they 'give' them their 'partners'.

In a moment we'll get to how it is possible to determine the 'direction' of electrons in a series of atoms, so they behave like billiard balls in a single row. But for now consider how this direction, according to 'The Official Narrative', reverses at a fixed rate, each second. Commonly 60 times a second in household electrical supply.

In other words it OSCILLATES, back and forth. Like a string looping left and then right, across and through the magnetic field of a guitar pickup slug magnet. So it provides a continuous movement, without 'going anywhere'. Without 'flowing'.

Think of the 'work' that a 'saw' does. The saw doesn't 'go anywhere'. It is pulled back and forth across the wood. Cutting the wood into pieces. The saw remains in position when you stop 'sawing'. At rest. In its default position.

Rub your hands together and the friction produces heat. Your hands don't 'go anywhere'. Just back and forth. They end up where they started. At a 'default' position. At rest. The 'friction' of the atoms of each hand produced heat. The 'work' of 'rubbing them together' produced heat.

If you get electrons to move back and forth through something that is NOT a good conductor, they will also produce heat. Via friction. Even a heat so high that the material 'glows' and 'gives off photons', which our minds render as 'light'. These are two of the original ways electricity was 'put to work'. Made to do 'work'. The electrons need no 'go anywhere'. They don't 'flow' like a river does. The 'work' is done by them simply 'oscillating back and forth' through the medium.

A typical 'water wheel' or 'hydro-electric generator' is a good analogy for DC (Direct Current) where electrons do actually 'flow' 'somewhere'. Whereas typical, naturally occurring, AC (Alternating Current) is more like the 'tide' rising and falling, and lowering and raising something. Or like waves 'lapping' at the sure, going nowhere, rushing up the beach but then retreating back to the ocean, and each time 'pushing' a 'wave power turbine'. So the water doesn't 'flow' anywhere. It advances and retreats. With each 'wave' advancing up the beach, then retreating, representing one full 'cycle'. One 'alternation' of that 'current'. Thus a beach is a good example of a naturally occurring 'Alternating Current'. Whereas a river or waterfall is a great example of Direct Current. Which we get to in a moment.

Whereas a lot of the 'narrative' of electricity is almost as dodgy as 'The Official Covid narrative' or 'The official Holocaust narrative', when it comes to TALKING ABOUT electricity, it only APPEARS that a conspiracy exists to 'obfuscate' as much as possible. But it is really just a conspiracy to 'give credit where credit is due', by naming different units of measurement after their supposed 'discoverers', or others the 'discoverer' wanted to honor. (Such as Mount Kosciusko being named after the Polish General who was so key, along with German mercenaries who had joined the revolution after having been sent by their Furst to fight as mercenaries for King George, to the victory of the 'Rebels' in the American War of Independence. That 'independence' may have been illusory, and at best short lived, but it is at least an inspiration to what is still possible, when people decide 'death to tyrants' and choose liberty and justice for all).

Units of measurement

Before we start, just be wary of 'Narratives' that claim to be 'objective' by 'quoting statistics' or 'mathematical models'. They can really impress the average punter. All those 'objective looking' figures, equations, stats, and numbers. But any model is only as good as its assumptions. And until they are demonstrated to be valid, the most impressive looking model is nothing other than an OPINION. A theory. Something someone BELIEVES might be true. And every DOG has an OPINION about a LOT of things. And probably a lot of much BETTER justifications FOR holding those beliefs, than the average statistical modeller like the infamous Neil Fergusson who has BOTCHED IT over and again with everything from 'Mad Cow Disease' to 'Covid-19'. The trick is to misdirect you away from the ASSUMPTIONS a model is based on. To bedazzle you with 'numbers' that seem so 'objective'. And so impossible to really understand that few people will ever even try to. So ultimately you allow yourself to be impressed by the 'glamour' of the 'authority' of the modeller. And as 'everyone else seems to understand and agree with them', you don't want to be 'the odd one out', and so, without the confidence to challenge the modeller, and fearing the repercussions of being the only, isolated, individual who 'is too stupid to understand', you PRETEND you understand too. When in reality EVERYONE ELSE IS DOING EXACTLY THE SAME THING FOR THE SAME REASONS. They don't understand it. But they think YOU do. And THEY don't want to seem the only stupid person in the room. So they are ALL pretending to understand, just like you. This is called COLLECTIVE IGNORANCE and Solzhenitsyn argued that it was 'THE CAUSE UNDERLING ALL THE OTHER CAUSES OF THE 'SUCCESS' OF THE GULAG SYSTEM AND THE SOVIET REIGN OF TERROR'. If you are part of a conspiracy that controls the mass media, and publishing, and academia, then you can publish anything, bypass the usual 'peer-review' process, and the mass media will present it as 'SCIENTIFIC FACT'. As L.A.W law. And if the people who SHOULD have challenged the model, because it was their job 'to know' such things, then what chance does the average punter, the half-asleep zombified Cult THRALLS called 'the general public' have of 'seeing through the charade'. Of comprehending that what they are seeing and experiencing is THE BIRTH OF A NEW CULT. A cult whose dogmas are 'medical' and 'scientific' rather than 'religious' per se. But a cult none the less. With all the POWER that comes with being the high priests of a CULT. A WORLD-WIDE CULT. A cult which is simply the latest subsidiary of the oldest continual cult on post-Cataclysmic earth. THE CULT OF JUDAH. With its Judaism, Christianity, Islam, Marxism, Man-made global climate crisis, and now Covid Cult, with the last two destined to be merged into 'The Co2vid Cult'. Which is already the DE-FACTO NEW WORLD ORDER ONE WORLD DICTATORSHIP OF THE CULT OF JUDAH BY PROXY. With its PROXIES being 'The World Bank', 'The World Health Organisation', 'The International Monetary Fund', 'The United Nations', and the CENTRAL BANKS such as 'The Federal Reserve Banking System', along with every CULT OF JUDAH OCCUPATION GOVERNMENT of every PEOPLE'S DEMOCRATIC REPUBLIC OF … (insert name of your nation here).

But now, after that word from our sponsors, back to show you came to see.

Here are some of the units of measurement, and their abbreviations, used in electronics. Some are confusing, relative to the 'phenomenon' we are measuring and making the 'subject' of the formulas these units are used to calculate the variables of interest with. So pay attention. And try to remember 'The Official Narrative' a.k.a 'History' of electronics, which we will cover later on, to help remember WHY certain units and shorthand abbreviations are used, to help remember WHAT they refer TO.

We talk about 'Power' (P) in terms of Watts (W).
We talk about 'Current' (I) in terms of Amperes (A).
We talk of Electro-Magnetic Force (EMF or E) in terms of Volts (V).

To understand the reflexive relationship between all these variables, we need to 'grok' what 'Voltage' (Electro-Magnetic Force) is. If one terminal of a battery has a +1V charge, then the other has, by definition, a -1V charge. Because the very IDEA of 'positive' and 'negative' 'charges' is relative. Reflexive. We talk about Voltage as a POTENTIAL for a current to be 'drawn' from the 'negative' terminal to the 'positive' terminal. That Potential is only REALISED if and when we place a conductor between the two terminals, so that the DEFICIENT terminal can DRAW electrons FROM the terminal with the EXCESS.

The excess and deficiency is in terms of the number of electrons available to each atom, relative to the number of protons in each atom's nucleus. A deficiency exists where there are too few electrons relative to protons, in the atoms. An excess exists where there are more electrons available, than are needed to create that balance or ratio of 'electrons to protons' in each atom.

So a 'CHARGE' exists any time the number of electrons does NOT equal the number of protons. It is called 'negative' when there is a deficiency of electrons. It is called 'positive' where there are more electrons than needed. So it is best to think in terms of 'balancing the books'. And 'profit and loss'. There are no actual 'positive' and 'negative' 'charges'. We 'charge' a battery like we 'charge our glasses' at a party. By filling them up. And in the case of 'batteries', we are really 'pushing electrons out of one cell' of the battery, into another cell, and thus creating an artificial relationship of EXCESS and DEFICIENCY. An unnatural 'inequality'. So that when we later 'connect' the two 'cells', the deficient atoms naturally DRAW electrons from the cell where there is an EXCESS of electrons. So that a POTENTIAL flow of electrons exists. Which we REALISE when we 'connect' the two cells with a conductor, such as a copper wire. Allowing those electrons that are 'in excess' in the one battery cell, to be DRAWN to the deficient atoms in the other cell. 'Come to me my lovelies!' They will be NATURALLY ATTRACTED to the deficient atoms, like generous, good-willed people are naturally motivated to give to those with less than themselves. So that the CURRENT of electrons flows TOWARDS the 'negative' charge. The cell DEFICIENT in electrons. And so I honestly do NOT 'grok' at all, why they now say electricity flows 'from NEGATIVE to POSITIVE. Other than the actual actions being 'positive'. And the unnatural situation of inequality being 'negative'? But since when did scientists speak in terms of 'fairness' and 'ethics'? But I will continue to try to 'grok' WHY they claim this. And for now I will be happy to deal with electronic signal flow charts that TREAT electricity as flowing from positive, EXCESS, to negative, DEFICIENCY, of electrons.

But the KEY thing to take from this discussion of VOLTAGE is that any time there is a difference in the ratio of electrons:protons in isolated 'cells' of atoms, there is the POTENTIAL for a current of electrons to flow from the excess (reflexively named 'positively charged') to the deficient (reflexively named 'negatively charged'), the moment you connect the two ISOLATED CELLS by any conductor capable of ALLOWING the electrons to freely flow BETWEEN the two cells, which are now no longer isolated. No longer 'social distanced' and dehumanized and atomized and socially isolated. They can now 'share' and 'communicate' and form a CIRCUIT. And for a CURRENT to FLOW through that circuit. And ELECTRICAL CURRENT. Measured in units of Amperes. Amps. Denoted with the shorthand symbol A.

U.S household electrical power is suppled at 120 volts. A car battery might be 12 volts. Typical AA batteries might be 1.5 volts. U.S household power supply is usually 15A (amps). Typical consumer electronics like tracking-spying devices known as 'smart phones' and laptops usually work with Currents of mere milli-Amps (Thousandths of an Amp), written mA.

In a DC power supply, you have two cells artificially created to isolate excess electrons from a neighbouring cell deficient in electrons. So that when you connect the two cells via a copper wire, the excess electrons automatically flow to the other cell deficient in electrons.

In Alternating current the 'DIFFERENTIAL' and thus 'Potential' for a current, is produced by supply a wall socket with, for example, 120 Volts MORE electrons than exist in the default atoms of the copper wire 'plugged into' that socket. The EXCESS electrons are motivated by their Electro-Magnetic Force (EMF or E) to move AWAY FROM the area of excess, towards an area of RELATIVELY lower ratio of electrons:protons.

So we can think of any EXCESS of electrons: protons as a PRESSURE that the atoms, and electrons, will naturally seek RELIEF from, by MIGRATING out of the overpopulated (in terms of electrons) region, to a region with a lower density of electrons. Even if that area is relatively 'populated' already. It still represents a LOWER POPULATION DENSITY. And so it is still attractive. As the inner city of Sydney might be to a resident of Hong Kong or Calcutta. Desirability is all about relativity. More or less. Better or worse. And we all want more of the better, and less of the worse, by nature. That is how we define 'progress' and 'happiness'. Being better off than before, or than someone else.

So if you push lots of electrons from the power station, through the cable, they will all happily exit the overcrowded power station, and migrate along whatever route is offered to them, seeking a less densely crowded place. So they crowd at your power outlet, waiting for you to 'plug something in', so they can push their way into this relatively less populated region called 'your electrical device'.

But remember to think of the electrons as children(electrons) being passed from adult (atoms) to adult (atoms) as 'unaccompanied minors', until millions of them are sitting, waiting, at your power outlet, to be 'let in'. The atoms barely move. They move just enough to 'pass on' any 'excess' electrons forced into their arms by a neighbour in the 'long chain' from the power station to the power outlet. Like a row of 'human traffickers' all passing 'unaccompanied minors' from one trafficker to the next, simply to 'get them off their own hands'. So it is ONLY ELECTRONS that are 'passed' from atom to atom. The atoms themselves merely 'oscillate' back and forth, in the 'crush' and 'random jostling'. But each time they do this, they 'unburden' themselves of excess electrons. Of the 'unaccompanied minors'. Sometimes they might keep the child handed to them and pass on one of their own. To keep the analogy or metaphor more precise. It doesn't matter WHICH electron they pass on. What matters to atoms is the BALANCE of protons to electrons. That the QUANTITY of electrons they have MATCHES the number of protons in their nucleus. Which in the case of COPPER is 29. As long as they have '29 kids' they don't really care WHOSE kids they were. In fact Copper atoms continually 'swap' children even in their default 'rest' state where ZERO EXTERNAL voltage is applied to them. So any time they have too many kids, they pass one on. Any atom that finds itself with fewer than 29 'kids' will 'grab the next closest kid from the next closest atom'. This is how they roll. That's their nature. And so if suddenly a stream of 'kids' is 'pushed' into their neighbourhood, and the proportion or ratio of kids to protons is LOWER 'somewhere else', this 'somewhere else' will be attractive to the 'kids', who will all move in that DIRECTION.

Remember to 'ENTERTAIN' analogies and metaphors and don't pretend we can KNOW anything at all. People who speak with total confidence about anything are usually ignorant. The things people are MOST certain of usually turn out to be based on NOTHING at all. Mere 'articles of faith'. Dogmatic ASSUMPTIONS. HEARSAY some 'authority' has spread. So take the feeling of 'discomfort' at 'not being given a simple answer, as a ZEN OPPORTUNITY. To open your mind. To FREE your mind of the NEED for the ILLUSION of 'certainty'. Learn to get along with uncertainty. By ENTERTAINING competing narratives. Then acting according to which you find MOST compelling. Based on the EVIDENCE OF YOUR SENSES. And the rules of 'Compelling arguments' I have laid out in TROONATNOOR volume I.

Multiplying the Voltage by the Amperage, we get the Wattage. Sounds like some sort of joke. The What Now? Did you realise that the Current of your P is V? Didn't your mother ever tell you? Or maybe your doctor? That Cult of Judah agent spoiled and given a grand sense of entitlement, as the new Priests of the latest Cult of Judah subsidiary 'Co2vid Cult'. They've become a CLOSED CULT that you need special permission to be granted entry to. By a CULT elite called 'The American Medical Association'. They artificially limit the number of medical licenses, and massively exaggerate the price of 'medications', and ensure their priests 'prescribe' as many 'medications' as possible, to maximise profits for their Cult of Judah Big-Pharma, and the doctors themselves. So that the U.S has the most expensive, and least accessible, medical services provision in the world. So that it costs you 50 dollars even AFTER paying thousands of dollars in that EXTORTED TAX they call 'medical insurance' each year.

Watts refers to the actual 'power consumption' of any device. Remember it as the question 'Watt is the power consumption?' How much CURRENT it can DRAW from any power supply. And thus the minimum POWER the power supply you plug it into MUST have to 'power' it. That CURRENT is a product of Voltage times Amperes. So the device will state how much power / current it 'draws', and at what Voltage and Amperage.

A 100 Watt light globe, drawing power from a 120 Volt domestic wall socket power supply, is thus 'drawing' a CURRENT of Amperes.

Watts = Volts x Amps. Power = EMF x Current. So if a device 'draws' (like we 'draw' water from a well) 100w of POWER, at a fixed Voltage of 120v, it must be 'drawing a current of' 10/12ths of an Ampere. 10/12A. Which we'd write in milliAmps (mA), as .

100W = 120V x A (Amps)
But we are interested in the value of A. So we change the subject of the formula from W to A, by dividing both sides of the equation by V. Which is 120.
So 100/120 = 120/120 A
120/120 is 1
So we are left with 100/120=A
Or A=100/120

And now to test that my calculations are not erroneous like the math of the infamous 'Neil Ferguson'
100 = 120 x 100/120.
Which is 100.
(12000/120 reduces to 100 as 12/12 is 1, and 120/120 is 1. And so 12000/120 is 100.

Sorry if I'm so pedantic about math. But I had to teach myself how to 'change the subject of an equation' because from K-12 to second year of Uni, not a single 'teacher' ever bothered to actually 'explain' what they were doing, in WORDS. You know, the units we normal folk use to COMMUNICATE stuff. And EXPLAIN things to OTHER 'normal folk'! Of course the math is there to make hocus pocus nonsensical economic and epidemiological MODELS appear 'authoritative' and 'objective'. People do NOT understand the math. And you can hide the most ABSURD of lies, deceptions (assumptions) in the math. It is the new 'transferred authority'. They used to say 'Well GOD told some guy, ages ago, that, so it MUST be true'. Now they add a reference to some paper citing some massively obfuscative, deliberately burdensome, MATHEMATIC model that 'proved' their supposed 'argument'. When really all they did was A SSUME something. In fact A LOT OF THINGS. Simply to 'support their case' and 'win the argument' they were always pushing. To SELL their argument. To DECEIVE the people into thinking they HAD ALREADY PROVEN IT. 'Elsewhere'. In this case that 'elsewhere' being 'In that mathematical model' which maybe a few hundred people could ever actually claim to UNDERSTAND. And these people would NEVER risk tenure, or the prospect of future 'grants', by 'blowing the whistle' on the FRAUD. The DECEPTION. The deliberate PROPAGANDA and LIES. Neil Ferguson, and everyone associated with him, has committed such FRAUDS repeatedly, from 'Mad Cow Disease' to the original 'fake pandemic scares' involving 'SARS 1' and 'Bird Flu'. While the CDC arbitrarily, against U.S Federal Government Law, simply changed THE DEFINTIONS of everything from 'diagnoses' to 'case' to actual 'CAUSE OF DEATH'. Without blinking an eye. And the public just carry on as normal. As if nothing had happened. And as if something that IS NOT HAPPENING IS HAPPENING. Namely that supposed pandemic. Which exists ONLY in the IMAGINATIONS of the people. And ONLY as an ARTEFACT of the propaganda and 'modelling' and DEFINITIONS used to MISLEAD the DECEIVE the people into giving up all their basic human rights, and allowing their economies to be WRECKED, in the name of 'security' from this new Cult of Judah 'bogey man'. The one that replaced The Devil, then 'foreign enemies, then Drugs, and then Terrorism, and which has now joined 'The official man-made global climate crisis narrative' to form the latest Cult of Judah subsidiary, 'The Co2vid Cult'. With its 'Official Covid Narrative'. With the new 'enemy' and 'war' being on 'Covid'. And 'The official covid narrative' becoming the latest 'blank-check' handed over to the 'authorities' by the Shleeple, upon which those 'authorities', all proxies for the Cult of Judah One World Dictatorship, can write ANY figure they wish. Destroy ANY social or economic activity they desire. Impose ANY totally arbitrary restrictions, proscriptions, or prescriptions, they CHOOSE. In true CULT style. With ABSOLUTE power. All in the name of 'security' and 'protection' from some NON-EXISTENT THREAT. If this sounds 'crazy', I can promise you that a careful reading of all my TROONATNOOR books, and viewing of my TROONATNOOR videos, will PROVE beyond any reasonable doubt that 911 was a false flag, that 'the government' itself has always been the real 'drug pusher'. That there is NO pandemic of ANYTHING other than LIES and PROPAGANDA. That there is ZERO evidence that a new, infectious, viable, virus referred to as 'Covid-19' even EXISTS at all, outside of a test-tube in some lab somewhere. And even that is unlikely.

Ah, the nightmare of living in a Cult of Judah occupied world. But back to our current focus. Understanding Watts, Power, Current, Amperes, and Volts (Electro-magnetic force) can make it a nightmare finding the right power supply, or battery, for a particular device. And why we can't yet simply buy one universal power supply. Though some gadgets come close. And why you have to pay VERY close attention when buying replacement batteries for different electronic devices. Or when buying power supplies or external batteries.

Household power supply is AC, and will thus specify the rate at which it 'alternates' per second, such as 60Hz. Which means the pulse of electrons are 'drawn' first in one direction, then the opposite direction, in terms of a conductor like a length of copper wire or aluminium or silver or gold. This is the 'frequency' of alternation. Like the rate of repetition of pulses of air pressure RENDERED by our minds as 'sound' of 'different pitches' if it falls within the bandwidth 20 repeats per second to 20,000 repeats per second, or 20Hz to 20,000 Hz respectively, using the conventional unit and shorthand notation.

I will use the conventional narrative here, and its metaphors, for ease of expression. But please only ENTERTAIN these articles of faith, these dominant hegemonic dogmas, and do not set them up as idols to be religiously 'believed in' as beyond question, beyond challenge, and then forget you've actually ASSUMED this. Rather than 'proven' it.

'Static' electricity is the stuff that makes cloth stick to you, and lets you give someone a 'shock' by dragging your feet across the carpet, then lightly, almost, touching them. Or gives you an unexpected shock as you lightly almost-touch something metal, after doing the same thing. Perhaps hoisted by your own petard? For as you will unto other sentient beings, so shall be done unto you! Now THAT is the MOST important LAW of physics you MUST 'take to heart'. That 'static' electricity is probably what Tesla found a way to 'step down' into useable frequencies, and 'boost the Amperage of, to make it a viable source of household POWER. But hey, the Cult of Judah wants ALL THE POWER FOR ITSELF. So little chance of THAT development being ALLOWED!

And remember that terms like 'positive' and negative' are merely reflexive. Polar opposites. We call something 'charged'. And refer to 'positive and negative charges'. But we are simply talking about how they relate to each other. Reflexively. Which is how all meanings emerge in this world. Such as mother-child. Slave-master. We are describing relationships. And 'you can't have one without the other'. They derive their meaning from how they stand in relationship to each other. And what interests us about 'charges' is that they represent potentials for change. For movement of electrons. For the DRAWING of electrons from one atom, to another. In a lightning fast series of changes. TOWARDS the 'negative' charge. The 'region of relative deficiency of electrons'. They are the motive, driving force, of action. Action which is first 'chaotic' until it receives some 'direction'.

'Like' charges find each other repulsive. 'Opposite' charges find each other attractive. According to 'the official narrative'. But the animal kingdom is full of homosexuality. And we tend to 'LIKE' people the MORE 'like' us they are. So. Why should it be different at the 'atomic' level? Maybe it isn't really. But for now let's work with 'the official narrative'. Until we can claim to 'grok' it as far as it allows itself to be understood. For narratives are usually put in place to PREVENT us REALLY 'grokking' anything, in its TRUE being and nature.

All movement is THROUGH a theoretical point of 'balance'. Balance is never attained. It is always OVER-SHOT. The goes for all attempts at 'moderation'. In economics. In our private, emotional, lives.

This overshooting of 'the mean' or 'the ideal balance' is due to MOMENTUM. The action of SEEKING balance produces a momentum which ensures balance will always be overshot. So that we always end up with a continual movement between excess and deficiency in everything. Where this 'moving balance' has a clear 'locus', we define that 'system' as 'stable'. And thus we talk about an 'ambient air pressure'. Or ambient temperature. Or a piece of copper wire with zero Voltage. Even though, if we were using very precise instruments, we would note that the air pressure and temperature and Voltage were constantly fluctuating in the mediums of air, and copper, respectively. But if the changes are small, and centralised around a stable locus, we treat them as 'stable' systems.

Atom meant 'indivisible' in ancient Greek. The Atomists like by best intellectual buddy Democritus used the term Atom to describe the lowest unit you can divide something down into, while remaining 'itself'. Take a length of copper wire, and keep dividing it up into smaller units. Smaller bits of copper. At some point we divide too far, and what we have is no longer copper. The thing that made it copper, and gave it all the qualities our minds RENDER as 'copper', are no longer present. All we have are electrons and protons and neutrons and quarks and so on. Like all the ingredients for a cake. But no 'cake' is present anywhere. Just a bunch of 'ingredients'.

In the hegemonic conventional narrative or model, 'matter' is made up of 'atoms'. Every element has a unique atomic number. This refers to the number of protons each atom of that element has in its 'nucleus'. Copper has an atomic number of 29, because it is said to have 29 protons in its nucleus. A 'balanced' atom has the same number of electrons as it has protons. So a balanced copper atom has 29 electrons. But these atoms are constantly giving up and taking up electrons, as they 'jostle' about. Even at ambient room temperature they are constantly, randomly, giving up and taking up electrons. They are constantly becoming imbalanced as other copper atoms 'draw' off electrons from them, and constantly seek relief from this imbalance by 'drawing off' electrons from nearby atoms. So if we could watch a piece of copper closely, we'd see electrons being constantly 'exchanged' by the copper atoms. Randomly. Chaotically. Continuously. All is flux! There is no 'being' in the world of natural phenomena. There is only 'doing'. Action. There is no 'static' point, except a theoretical 'center' around which a wheel turns, or a pendulum swings (Focault's pendulum). All is flux. Change is the only constant. Oh wasn't THAT iron-i-cal?

Some materials are more active, and we call these 'conductors'. But the same constant, random, 'drawing' of electrons from neighbours, goes on even in materials we call 'insulators'. It is all 'relative'. With the relatively active 'conductors', their atoms are constantly, randomly, chaotically, 'fighting' over electrons. There simply don't seem enough to go around. Or some atoms get greedy and grab more than they need, leaving their victims 'unbalanced', and desperate to 'draw' the next electron from the closest atom, they can 'lay their hands on'. Or is it that they are just too generous with their electrons? 'No, you have it, I have lots, take it, please, I insist'. Or is it all 'for the sake of the action'.

Here we have 'purposeful action' at its lowest form of abstraction. The 'purpose' of 'drawing' electrons is to 'balance out' the number of electrons and protons in each atom. Think of atoms as obsessive compulsive. They can't rest until they have 29, and only 29, electrons. But somewhere in this crazy world, at some point in time, a single copper atom, somewhere, happened to have too few electrons. And it 'drew' an electron from the first atom it came into contact with. And that atom then, to find relief from this unbearable condition, 'drew' an electron from the next nearest atom. And as they are so closely packed to each other, the speed of this 'exchange' was almost instantaneous. So that, unless your mind could RENDER changes at the speed of light, and NOTICE each individual 'transaction' as each unbalanced atom 'drew' an electron from its closest neighbour, all you'd see is a 'chaotic, unending, random, constant, movement of electrons in ALL DIRECTIONS.

Then all it takes to GIVE this random chaos some 'direction' is a 'push'. Or to be more precise, a relative PULL. As atoms DEFICIENT in electrons PULL (DRAW) electrons away from atoms with an EXCESS of electrons. Once a region of atoms with a relative DEFICIENCY of electrons builds up anywhere in a conductor, these DRAW off the EXCESS electrons from other REGIONS in the conductor.

So if you can deliberately orchestrate such a situation, you can determine a DIRECTION (in spatial terms) for the electrons to move in. They will always be DRAWN (pulled) BY atoms DEFICIENT in electrons, FROM atoms with an EXCESS of atoms, or at least a FULL COMPLEMENT of electrons. Or at least MORE electrons than the

'especially hungry' atoms. So if you set things up so that there is a 'hunger' for electrons at one end of your electrical circuit, the electrons from the other end will move in that direction. You will get a 'flow' in a Direct Current, in the direction of 'deficiency'. TOWARDS deficiency. Which we reflexively label a 'negative charge' in relation to the excess, which we reflexively, in relation to the 'negative charge' label given the deficiency, a 'positive' charge. If the difference is 1.5 Volts, as in a 9V battery, then we have a potential of 1.5 Volts, between the atoms in one 'cell' of the battery, and the other. The atoms 'deficient' in electrons will naturally DRAW the excess electrons from the other battery cell, where the excess has been artificially orchestrated. So we get an actual 'flow' of electrons in the direction of the deficiency.

I'm not sure yet if Direct Current exists in nature, or is an artefact of human ingenuity manufacturing the conditions for it to occur.

Alternating current does NOT 'flow' anywhere. It just oscillates back and forth. It appears almost irrelevant whether the series of atoms in the conductor is light years long, or a few millimetres. Because atoms are so close to each other, they barely need to move to 'transfer' to the next nearest atom. So they transfer electrons at a speed approximating the speed of light. Almost simultaneously as you add an electron from the right, an electron is added to the very last atom in the series, whether it is light years away, separated by a mind boggling large number of atoms, or just a few nano-meters away. So that the entire series can 'oscillate' back and forth easily, many times a second, in either case. Time is almost irrelevant to the calculations, because electrons transfer from one atom to another so quickly.

Remember that the flow is really 'sucking' from Left to Right. It is the atom AT THE END OF THE SERIES that is 'DRAWING' on the atom to its LEFT, so that this atom 'draws' an electron from its next left neighbour, and so on, in series, until an electron is 'drawn' from the very first atom in the series. And this happens almost simultaneously. And in the case of typical household electrical supply, once the atom to the far Left loses an electron to its right neighbour 'drawing' it, the atom on the far left itself 'draws' an electron from the atom to its right, which does the same thing, so that finally an electron is 'drawn' from the far right atom. And this 'cycle' of 'oscillation' repeats 60 times a second. Each time a 'pulse' at the far right end of the series 'draws' an electron, the process repeats.

Line up a row of billiard balls in a straight line, so the last one almost touches the side of the table, and they are all almost touching each other. Now the moment you 'strike' the first ball in this row, it strikes the next in line, and so on, until the last ball hits the side of the table and bounces back, repeating the process in reverse. This is our 'Alternating Current'. First one direction, then the other. With the balls so close together they act almost as a single, solid, continuous, object. So that the movement of the last ball in line occurs almost the moment you hit the first ball. That is how we get the IMPRESSION of 'solid matter'. That is what our minds RENDER as 'solid'. This phenomena. A bunch of atoms seeming to move in the same way, at the same time. Simply because our minds 'SAMPLE' reality so seldom. The 'sample rate' of our senses is very low. If we increased the sample rate, we'd have a totally new 'experience' of everything. We'd RENDER the discrete movements of each atom in an 'object', rather than treat each object as 'a whole'. And thus we'd be interacting with a huge number of Atoms, rather than a relatively small number of 'objects'.

You might have seen A 'Newton's Cradle' (left) on someone's office desk. A sort of 'perpetual motion machine'. But don't worry, the atoms are so closely packed in the copper wire, that all the 'exchanges' happen almost instantaneously. The instant one atom DRAWS an electron from another, that atom itself 'balances itself out' by DRAWING in the next closest electron from the next closest Copper atom. So no-one stays hungry for long. We have constant 'satiation' and 'hunger'. Maybe THIS is 'heaven'? To desire something, and have it, almost immediately. And NEVER be satiated. Never 'bored'. Always 'full of purposeful action'. The very definition of NIRVANA. Bliss. Heaven. Joy.

Happiness. Eudamonia!

Left to its own devices, the atoms in a piece of copper wire are continuously 'drawing' electrons from each other. Atom is wolf to atom, in terms of 'electron theft'. No atom has any preference. They just 'draw' the next closest electron from the next closest atom. And as the atoms are, as a result, moving around, bumping into each other, 'jostling', the next closest atom is always changing in terms of relative location. One moment the next closest is above you, the next below, the next behind, the next to the left, and so on. So electrons are being 'drawn' from all directions. And the moment 'you have your cake' you find some other atom 'eating it' already. So your 'purposeful action' is guaranteed. The 'conflict' in this narrative is endemic, and will ensure a constant 'desire' for atoms, no matter how quickly each atom 'satiates' this desire, because another 'hungry' atom is certain to 'draw' the newly won prize, or another electron, from you, you are always going to be hungry too. Always happily engaged in the purposeful action of 'electron theft'. 'Drawing' electrons. Or is it constantly, VAINLY, seeking that elusive 'balance' which you imagine must be so blissful. But only ever get to experience for the moment between 'stealing' electrons, and having them 'stolen' from you?

Voltage refers to the potential for a current to be 'drawn' TO a region with a deficit of electrons (negative charge) relative to protons, in the atoms of the material, FROM a region of ATOMS with a full complement, or excess (positive charge) of electrons relative to protons.

This is why we say, today, that electricity 'flows' from negative to positive. Even though it was originally treated as 'flowing' from positive to negative. As if generous atoms with 'more than they needed' wanted to share their good fortune with the less fortunate. When today we see it more as the 'hungry' atoms 'stealing' electrons from the 'rich' and 'bloated' atoms. And this makes more sense in our experience of a world where GREED IS GOOD. Where people 'just can't get enough' no matter how unhappy their excesses make them, and every sentient being in their proximity, or even on the plane-et.

But NOTE that most wiring diagrams continue the earlier convention of assuming that electricity 'flows' from positive to negative.

Remember a 'CHARGE' is like compressed air or water. A positive charge is compression. A negative charge is like a relative vacuum. Low air pressure will 'draw' air from areas of relatively high air pressure.

Cold air will 'draw' hot air from areas of relative greater heat.

The high-compression front of a spherical pressure pulse in the air is 'charged' in the sense of having an EXCESS OF AIR MOLECULES, relative to its default, ambient, air pressure. In Ye Olden times you would 'charge your glasses'. Meaning 'fill' them. For a toast.

When you 'charge' a battery, you are removing electrons from atoms, Sort of creating a relative 'electron vacuum'. A 'battery' of negative charge. The POTENTIAL to 'suck up' electrons from any source made available to them.

If you place that 'source' in another 'cell' of the battery, then connect the two cells (poles) via a copper wire, that POTENTIAL will be realised. The 'vacuum' will DRAW electrons from the wire, which will draw electrons from the other cell, into the 'negatively charged cell'. Thus you have a 'flow' of electrons. A DIRECT CURRENT. A typical 9V battery works in this way.

You are artificially producing a volume of atoms DEFICIENT in electrons. Very hungry atoms all confined to a cell. These atoms will 'relieve' their hunger the moment you connect a copper wire full of yummy electrons to the 'terminal' of this 'cell'. They will first DRAW electrons from that copper wire. But the atoms are so tightly packed that almost the moment they begin drawing electrons from the wire, the last atom in the wire itself is DRAWING electrons from the 'cell next door' that has been artificially 'positively' charged with an excess of electrons. Nature hates a relative vacuum. The hungry atoms will keep DRAWING electrons from the copper wire, which will almost simultaneously draw electrons from the 'positive' terminal of the 'positively charged cell' of the 9V battery.

The difference between the two cells is what matters. What is different is the quantity of electrons in each, relative to each other. THAT is all 'positive' and 'negative' refer to. A relative 'excess' and 'deficit' of electrons. The battery goes 'flat' when there is equality in the quantity of electrons within each cell. So that there is no longer a POTENTIAL for 'flow' of electrons from either to the other. Their 'thieving' becomes 'local' once more. They steal from each other. There is little or no 'motive' to bother stealing from the copper wire, because it is easier to steal from the closest, next best, neighbour. But when the ENTIRE CELL was hungry for electrons, it made sense to steal from OTHERS who had a LOT MORE TO STEAL. When all the thieves are poor, they steal from the rich. But when all the thieves become 'well to do' and 'prosperous', its easiest to steal from each other.

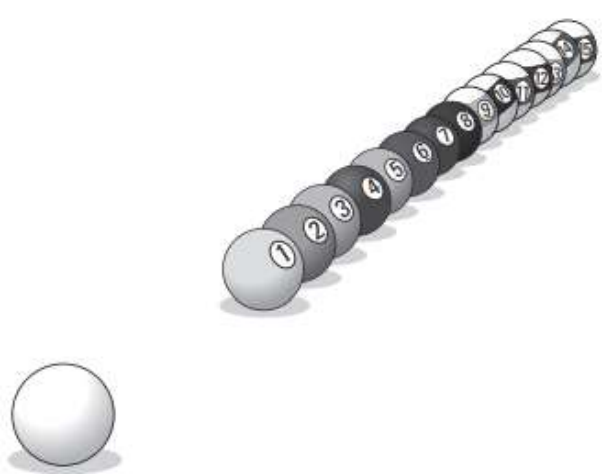
A battery cell contrived to have an excess of electrons will 'relieve' itself willingly, like air escaping through a hole in a pressurized bag, water escaping through a hole in a full container out into the 'lower pressure' of the atmosphere. Migrants escaping the 'pressures' of their overcrowded home cities to come and start your city on the same path to overpopulation! High Voltage current will even 'travel' through air. But electricity's favourite 'ride' is a nice shiny conductor like copper or silver. Remembering that 'electricity' is in everything. And that all that 'moves' are electrons. From atom to atom. From excess/abundance towards deficit, of electrons:protons in each individual atom, and the 'cell' of atoms as a whole. And in Alternating current, electrons don't actually move far, before retracing their steps. They 'oscillate' back and forth through a circuit, rather than 'flowing through it'. Which is what electrons do actually do in Direct Current circuits. So it is only DC circuits that correspond to most people's IDEA of 'electricity flowing like water through pipes of copper wire'.

One terminal of an individual DC battery (9 volt batteries have 6 such cells to yield 6x1.5V=9V) has 1.5Volts 'pressure' of excess electrons relative to the other terminal. REFLEXIVELY,the other has a 1.5V deficit of electrons relative to the other terminal. So when you 'bridge' the two terminals with a conductive wire, the deficient terminal will 'draw' the 1.5V of excess CHARGE from the other terminal. To get this process to 'do work' for you, you place some electronic component such as a light filament, heating filament, or speaker cone driver, between the two terminals. So that the pressure pulse that travels through the conductor has to pass THROUGH this component. Creating the friction that produces light and heat, and the 'disturbance' that pushes a speaker cone out from its default. You can calculate how much POWER any current and voltage place at your disposal as follows:

Watts(W)[Power 'P'] = Amperes (A)(Current 'I') x Volts (V)('E' or EMF Electro-Magnetic Force)
Power (P)=Voltage (E)xCurrent (I)

Electric current is what happens when the random exchange of electrons that occurs constantly in a conductor becomes organized and begins to move in the same direction. When current flows through a conductor such as a copper wire, all of those electrons that were previously moving about randomly start moving in the same direction. And because they are so close, the electrons transfer their electromagnetic force through the wire, as far as any human sense organ could tell, virtually instantaneously.



Consider you are an electron that can move only a few millimeters a second. But your nearest atomic neighbor is 'right there'. So you don't need to move hardly at all. So the 'pulse' of one electron transferring to the nearest atom, will be replicated, almost instantaneously, at the other end of the circuit. The first atom gives up an electron to the next in line, and so on, until the last atom is giving up an electron to EARTH. But they act almost like a solid rod of electrons, so that the last electron appears to be 'pushed' by the FIRST electron. Like pulling on a rope. Or pushing on a solid bar of metal. Or hitting a single line of billiard balls.

So a light far away, appears to light up immediately after you 'turn it on'. Even though the light and switch could be very far apart.

The unit 'Amps' (Amperes) is a QUANTITY. One ampere is a QUANTITY of about 6,240,000,000,000,000,000. So 6,240 quadrillion electrons per second would, according to 'The Official Narrative', be flowing in a circuit with 1 Amp of power present in it. That's the number of electrons 'rubbing up against' the filament of an old-school' incandescent light bulb, producing the heat, and thus light, they are designed to produce. But most devices operate on milli-Amps. One thousandth's of an Amp. I, short for 'Intensity' is used in equations and formulas to refer to Amperage.

Electromotive force, (EMF or E) is measured in units called Volts, and thus the term 'Voltage' is commonly used rather than Electromotive Force. And the letter V is usually used in equations, though in some equations the letter E is used. But the term that is most 'descriptive' is 'Potential'. Because voltage is merely 'potential' until it is realised.

It's like the old debate about 'nature vs nurture'. 'Superior' people like to believe they 'earned' ALL their good fortune through hard work, self-sacrifice, dedication, self-discipline, and the willingness to take calculated risks. But the OUTCOMES of all that were LEVERAGED by the good fortune of having inherited the POTENTIAL for these things. For that potential to be realised, something must FACILITATE that realization.

Let's just simplify reality and assume that something is MONEY. Some people have easy access to money. In fact they are BORN with it. Or with 'connections' to people WITH it who are happy to 'give it' to them. Or at least 'lend' it. On REASONABLE terms. While others are born without money. And with no way to get it. So if both had the same potential for success in this world, and only one had that potential FACILITATED by access to money, only one of them would actually succeed.

No matter how much electrons WANT to leave their current cramped, confined, high pressure, situation, they are like Spartacus's self-liberated slaves waiting for the pirates to 'convey' them across the ocean separating them from true freedom. They are like Roman Soldiers waiting for their engineers to build them a bridge across the river, so they can take MORE prisoners for Rome. They require a BRIDGE. They need someone to CONDUCT them across to 'the promised land'. O.K, Moses got lucky and an earthquake miles away produced a tidal wave situation, sucking out the water from the sea before him, just long enough for his 'mixed multitude' of thieves (that doesn't sound so good so we'll make them 'freed slaves' in 'the official narrative') to cross, while ensuring a crushing wave would appear just as the Egyptians come to arrest the thieves and get back all their stolen property, sought to follow them.

In nature, excess and deficiency, abundance and scarcity, high and low pressure, and so on, tend to automatically equalize, and balance each other out, as they appear. Though it's true that 'regions' of scarcity and abundance do develop, and endure, in human time scales, in geographical time-scales, we see the Sahara repeatedly transitioning through dry desert to abundant lakes and greenery, with a particular 'pulse' of its own, measured in thousands of years.

Consider an 'emotionally charged situation'. That's one where tempers could 'flare' at any moment. Or where other emotions are expected to be 'expressed', in response to some 'trigger'. Consider a dammed up river or stream. Any time we build up a 'positive charge' in some electrical component, it is like that dam. There is a POTENTIAL for water to suddenly flow downstream. But the walls of the dam are holding it back.

In electronic circuits, a 'switch' acts as the dam. Turning the switch to 'On' is like releasing a 'flood gate' in the side of the dam, allowing the water to 'flow'. In the case of electrons, the ONLY route by which it CAN flow, is through the conductors of the circuit between it and EARTH/GROUND.

To say a Voltage is 'Positive' or 'Negative' is purely reflexive. Or if you like 'relative'. Rather than absolute. There is no 'absolute' 'thing in itself' called a 'Positive Voltage'. It takes TWO voltages to 'tango'. The one that is ‘high*er*’ is referred to as the ‘Positive’ voltage. The one that is low*er*, is referred to as a ‘Negative’ voltage.

The ‘EARTH’ or ‘GROUND’ is neutral territory. O Volts. So any time you place a HIGHER voltage at the other end of a circuit, no matter how small, such as 1V, you introduce the POTENTIAL for current to flow from that end, *TO*WARDS the other end that leads TO earth/ground. To ‘balance out the difference’ between those two ends of the circuit. In terms of Voltage, the Earth/Ground has a ‘negative voltage of -1V RELATIVE TO the positive 1V potential at the other end of the circuit.

That 1V of DIFFERENCE is enough to give the usually random, non-directional, omni-directional, exchange of electrons between atoms a clear, single, direction. The Earth/Ground ‘draws’ the oversupply of electrons from the source of that oversupply, at the other end of the circuit. And so the previously random electron exchange now takes on a distinct direction. With electrons now being passed from left to right, from the oversupply end of the circuit, to the Earth/Ground which is, by comparison, unfairly supplied with electrons. It’s a matter of redistribution. Marx and ‘nature’ appear to agree, at least when it comes to atoms and electrons. From each atom according to their surplus of electrons, to each atom according to its deficit of electrons.

It’s like a village where people are constantly exchanging buckets of water with each other. Then a fire erupts at one end of the village. And so everyone starts passing buckets of water down the streets in the direction of the fire, to put it out. The fire put out, they go back to exchanging buckets of water amongst themselves. Why? Well they each suspect the neighbor has a purer or tastier water supply. The grass is always greener, and the water better, on the other side. So to avoid malicious envy rearing its ugly head, the ‘wise elders’ decreed that neighbors should freely share their water with any neighbor who asked. Make up your own narrative. THAT is the WHOLE point of my TROONATNOOR enterprise. To EMPOWER you to do just that. To be able to generate narratives that *EM*POWER YOU. Rather than dis-empower you. As ‘The Official Narratives’ tend to do! By DESIGN. By INTENTION. To enslave you, no less. And what’s worse, to leave you IMAGINING that you are in fact FREE. For no-one is more enslaved, than they who believe themselves free.

Voltage is the force that ‘pulls’ electric charges (their quantity measured in Amperes) through a conductor. How ‘hard / fast’ you hit a piano key determines how loud the note will be, its ‘Amplitude’? But in terms of ‘Voltage’, your finger is the ‘force’ that ‘pushes’ the key down, and thus the hammer, onto the string. A higher ‘Voltage’ translates into a higher VELOCITY of strike, meaning you move your finger faster, and as a result, STRIKE the key ‘harder’ (assuming follow-through).

Amps is the quantity of ‘charges’ moving through a point per second. Voltage is the difference in charge between two points that has the POTENTIAL to transfer if a conductor is present to facilitate the transfer. Such as a copper wire between the positive and negative poles of a 9V (DC) battery where the CHARGES literally move in one direction (no oscillation as in ‘natural’ ‘Alternating’ Current). In theory it is atoms with too many electrons relative to protons, relieving themselves of this ‘excess pressure’ by passing them onto the next closest atom, which is itself relieving itself of its own ‘excess burden’ of electrons. The atoms will continue ‘relieving’ themselves of these excess electrons until the number of electrons in each atom matches the number of protons in its nucleus. That’s the ‘model’. The ‘narrative’. And for DC batteries, this is the only way so far I can ‘visualise’ how a ‘battery’ works. The battery usually operates at 1.5 amperes, so the quantity of electrons that will be ‘shifted’ from one atom to another, is 1.5 amperes of them, per second. So batteries are harmless. But if you put some electronic component between the positive and negative terminals, you can get them to do ‘work’ for you. A maximum of 1.5x9 Watts of work. With the 13.5 Watts of Power available.

Alternating current fits my model, of 'stuff' oscillating back and forth, changing 'direction' 60 times a second, thus with a 'frequency' of 60Hz. Direct current supposedly does NOT oscillate.

Oscillating something faster means its rate of change of direction is faster, and it has a 'higher frequency of change of direction'. So that would be frequency.

VOLTAGE is SPEED, 'Ceteris Paribus' (all other things, e.g amperes-quantity and their rate of oscillation-frequency being constant. OSCILLATING faster means they travel a SHORTER distance, hence the concept of 'wave LENGTH'. To achieve a higher frequency, the direction must change more often in the same period of TIME, and thus either speed up, or if the speed is constant, under AMBIENT pressure, travel a shorter distance for each 'direction'. Then VOLTAGE can still be seen as the ABSOLUTE speed at which the 'pressure pulse' travels. It does NOT refer to the speed the 'stuff' is travelling, but how quickly the PRESSURE PULSE is transferred each time the oscillation occurs. ???

Voltage is a potential for a re-distribution of electrons between unbalanced atoms. Such as atoms of Copper. The concept of 'charge' e.g positive or negative, is purely reflexive. They are simply the opposite of each other. They attract each other. Whereas like 'charges' repel each other. It is a question of more and less. The 'positive charge' reflects excess. The 'negative' charge reflects deficiency. Vis a Vis the number of protons in the atoms nucleus. The more flows to the less? Nope. For some reason 'charges' flow from deficiency to excess? Huh? Until they are equal. Conductors like copper, with 29 protons and electrons (always the same number when an electron has no charge i.e no excess or deficit of electrons relative to protons), randomly take up and lose electrons, with no directionality, like a random bunch of billiard balls fairly tightly packed together, jostling each other, bumping each other, like bumper cars, constantly jostling about, in every direction. Moving just a tiny distance, but as they are so closely packed, they almost immediately transfer their momentum to another ball. And if they are 'lined up like a row of billiard balls' (left), each the same distance from each other, and the last half that distance from the table side, when you strike the first one, the last one moves off almost simultaneously, and hits the side of the table, bouncing back, and reversing the 'cycle', almost instantaneously, no matter how many balls separate them. So while individual electrons move quite slowly, because they are so close to each other, the momentum from the first ball hitting the second, is transferred almost at the speed of light to the last electron 'in line'. Almost like pushing a solid mass, as the 'distance' between electrons is so small. The same narrative can easily explain 'simultaneity' across vast distances of space. If the Aether is so closely packed, pushing one at one end of the universe will move the 'last one in line' almost simultaneously, like moving a single solid object. Remembering that there is more 'space' between 'electrons' than they take up. So we are just dealing with different degrees of 'separation' when we speak of 'gas' or 'solid'.

The 'convention' is to draw electrical circuits 'as if' electricity 'flows' from positive to negative, because that WAS the hegemonic belief during electricity's 'youth', whereas today we think of it as flowing from negative to positive. How now? The excess SUCKS in the deficient as a reverse vacuum?

Electro-Magnetism ('The Force')

Wave a magnet over a copper wire and an electrical current will be induced in the wire. To increase the volume of copper atoms exposed to the magnet you can stretch it as thin as it will go, then wind it as tightly as you can, with the windings as close together as you can get them. That will maximise the electrical current produced when you wave a magnet over it, or wave it, around the magnet, all other things being equal.

This is why many guitar pickups are 'overwound' with particularly fine gauge copper wire. To increase their 'output'. The copper is wound around a series of magnetic slugs (or slugs magnetised by a single magnet at the base they all rest on). So far there are no moving parts. Nothing to 'disturb' the equilibrium, and give any electron exchanges that are continually going on in the copper wire, any particular, well-defined, direction.

But when we oscillate a length of iron across that magnetic field, at a regular rate, this disturbance induces a voltage that corresponds to the oscillation of that iron back and forth across the magnetic field. That length of iron is formed into a 'guitar string'. Now we have a definite voltage, with a definite, repeating, oscillation. Pushing and pulling electrons 'forwards and backwards' in the circuit defined by the pick-up wiring. This can be amplified, and used to drive a speaker, to reproduce the same oscillations first in the speaker cone, and then in the air, in the form of air pressure pulses that repeat at the same rate as the Voltage oscillations and thus the same rate as the string oscillations. All of which our minds render as pitches, and 'musical notes'. Rate being frequency. In every context.

Very weak, random, 'atomised' electrical charges are continually forming in any conductor. Actually in any matter at all except the purely theoretical, 100% resistor/insulator. While they are too weak to measure without specialist equipment, if you add more current, you can 'organise' the previously random and non-directional (omnidirectional) flow-oscillation of electrons so that they flow in one direction, or oscillate back and forth along the same axis.

Remember that electrons are about the size of a full stop on this page, compared to the size of the State of Texas. Trillions fit in the one full-stop. Period. Basta.

This is the same principle as tying sticks that are, on their only, weak, tightly into a bundle, so that 'together, united, they are strong'. Or weaving strands of material together to form a rope. Or 'wrangling' a group of cats to move in the same directions, so their COMBINED energy can be directed in a 'productive' way. Rather than having cats fighting amongst themselves in a closed room, you have them all pushing against the closed door of that room, opening it, and escaping to freedom. Once you've got all the electrons flowing-oscillating in the same direction/s, you can easily measure the electromagnetic field any current ENHANCES by DIRECTING and ORGANISING, when it oscillates or flows in a conductor.

Anywhere and everywhere atoms are 'drawing' atoms from, and thus, reflexively, 'giving up' electrons. Because this would otherwise not be possible unless there was a pool of 'unwanted, unattached' electrons to draw on, without another atom having to 'give up' electrons. And because there would be no reason for any atom to 'draw' electrons from other atoms, unless another atom had first 'drawn' an electron from it.

What would Xeno make of this? 'In the beginning there must have been one atom that was 'created' deficient of one electron. Or some atoms 'were always' deficient. Or somehow electrons get 'lost'. Or do some atoms get 'greedy', and try to accumulate more electrons than they have protons? Are we dealing with isotopes of the same atom? Because at some point at least one atom had to 'develop' a deficiency of at least one electron. To start this, now ubiquitous and continuous, almost instantaneous 'debit and credit' of electrons. So that it is really a 'swapping' of electrons occurring, instantaneously, among all the atoms of an element that are contiguous. Like mobile phones coming within 2m of each other automatically 'exchanging' information. So that atoms never really 'own' their electrons. They only 'curate' them. They have them 'on loan', possibly for no longer than an instant, before another atom 'borrows' them from them, and they have to 'borrow' an electron from the next closest atom. It is not until some definite 'potential' develops at some point in the volume of atoms, which attracts more electrons than the usual omnidirectional exchanges do, that a 'direction' forms.

I have often said that, to be the smartest person alive, you just have to be a tiny bit smarter than the next smartest person. Like bragging about being the least stupid person alive, really. What an achievement. Sample rates between 24 frames per second, up to 20,000 times per second. With a RAM that can only hold 7 or so pieces of information at a time. And a CPU slower than the cheapest pocket calculator. Wow. Alpha Ape. Well done. Now go back to your bananas and territorial displays and chest thumping.

But the point was supposed to be that to give the usually omnidirectional, therefore NON directional exchange of electrons, and production of 'charges', a definite direction, you just need to ensure a discrete potential exists that is strong enough to draw enough electrons towards itself, that a general trend is formed, in that general direction. It will naturally strengthen until you have a 'current' oscillating back and forth for Alternating Current, or literally 'flowing' for Direct Current, towards the region of the copper wire with the largest DEFICIT of electrons. Which then 'draws' electrons from the 'left hand side'. Like putting a hole in one wall, will suddenly create a 'draft' of air from across the other side of the room. A distinct 'current' of air. IF the air pressure on the other side of that hole is lower than that in the room, and on the other side. If the other side of the room has a hole in it, and the air pressure is lower on that side, than on the side just referred to, then a current will flow from the new hole, towards the original hole, DRAWN by the negative air pressure.

Let's develop this correspondence / analogy / metaphor, as it could be enlightening. Imagine a studio apartment. The air pressure is lower on one side than on the other. A 'Potential' now exists. If we make it possible for the air to move from the higher pressure to the lower pressure, we can realise that potential in the form of a 'breeze'. A draft. The air on the higher pressure side will be 'sucked in' to balance out the air pressure differentials. That 'breeze' is a 'current of air'. Replace the relative 'excess' and 'deficiency' of air pressure, with an excess of electrons relative to protons, in the atoms either side of that apartment, and place some 'conductor' between the walls facing those relative imbalances, and the electrons will be 'drawn' across the apartment, through that conductor, to the other side. That is an 'electrical current'.

Or place a full container of water next to an empty one, of the exact same size, shape, volume, and altitude. You have just contrive / orchestrated / engineered / produced a 'potential'. The two containers are like the isolated cells of a DC battery. There is an imbalance of water molecules between them. In nature, if they formed one body of water, the relative excess from one would 'flow' into the other, so that they then shared the same level. So place a 'conductor' in the form of a pipe, between the two, at a level below half the height of the water level, and watch how quickly 'nature takes its course' and relieves the previously full container of its relative 'excess', Vis a Vis the final outcome. The water will continue to flow as long as a POTENTIAL exists in the form of a relative excess in the first container, Vis a Vis the 'equal' levels that are 'natural' for water, and everything in nature, to move towards.

If you wanted to extend the correspondence and show exactly how appropriate the metaphor/analogy is, you could put a water turbine in the tube between the two containers. So that the water had no choice but to 'push' that turbine wheel around, to move to the empty container. You'd have yourself a little hydro-electric scheme. Now convince people that the first container is a shrine to the God of happiness and success. You make it 'known' that 'everyone knows' that by making 'votive offerings' of water to that god, they can ensure their own, or their loved ones, success in any matter. From love, to seduction, to farming, to business enterprises, to peace negotiations, or even to invasions. Or better still, that the god will harm your enemies, or people you simply don't like, or those who didn't reciprocate your love or lust for them, or who dared be 'better' than you at anything, or maybe you feel they didn't show you the full respect you feel entitled to, or you feel they represent competition for something you want for you. Oh, and of course if people want to go to heaven, or be reincarnated into a higher caste or class, they'd better visit the shrine at least once in their life. And soon you'll have people lining up to keep 'filling up' that first container. And thus YOU will have discovered a more or less FREE source of energy. As far as YOU are concerned, that is. For surely YOU are the ONLY referent of ANY cost-benefit analysis, right?

But, in nature, it is very rare that large ELECTRICAL 'charges' can build up, because any 'potential' that develops is almost immediately dis-charged. But with water and air pressure, such 'charges' can and DO often build up. And water, in the form of ice, can build up over millions of years. And then be suddenly 'discharged' by a meteor strike that melts the ice, sending sea levels climbing, and water rushing over land, ripping it up into canyons, and even destroying 'land bridges' and 'natural dams' like the one that once separated, was it the Black sea from the Mediterranean? Or the Mediterranean from the Pacific. Hey, I was forced to teach Geography, after being hired to teach Economics, and clearly I never even studied Geography at high school, let alone university, let alone as a teaching subject, nor would I ever have dreamed of applying for a job as Geography teacher anywhere. I mean, we are talking 'theatre of the absurd' here. Kafka's protagonists would have felt quite at home in my shoes! Why? Well because I got blacklisted worldwide because I was incompetent at teaching Geography. Not that I ever had a chance. They wouldn't even let me keep my own copy of the class textbook, to study at home. Did I digress? Me? Really? No?

Oh, of course there IS the little matter of LIGHTNING. But, unless you live in that part of Patagonia where lightning is almost continuous, you won't come across it that often. Water flows to the ocean. Rain falls. Wind blows. Water pressures equalise. Air pressures equalise. So that GERNERALLY, with the exception of lightning, the absolute voltages and amperes involved in the 'electro-magnetic soup' we form a part of, are imperceptible to us. But if we had very precise measuring instruments, and A.I that could process massively more data than the very limited, slow, CPU we call our 'brains', and thus 'sample' CHANGE (flux) much more often than the lame 24 frames per second of our visual cortex, or mere 20 to 20,000 times a second of our 'audio' representation system, we'd suddenly become aware of the CONSTANT flow of current around and through us. And the corresponding electro-magnetic fields those currents are positively correlated with. These two things are reflexive. One can produce the other. When one is present, the other will be. Increase one, and the other increases, often exponentially.

Even within an 'insulator', atoms are constantly drawing and giving up electrons amongst themselves. Atoms are very promiscuous when it comes to 'sharing electrons'. Electrons are freely 'swapped' between them. Usually completely randomly. They are polyamorous in the extreme. Always taking and giving. Constantly 'exchanging' electrons. Any time a 'negative' charge emerges, as a result of an atom 'losing' an electron to another atoms, or for some reason an electron finds itself with more electrons than protons, thus becoming 'positively' charged, relative to atoms with either a balanced complement of electrons: protons, or a deficiency of electrons, the atom will automatically, instantaneously, 'draw' an electron from the next closest atom. Which, if it then finds itself deficient, will do the same. So that we have a totally random, chaotic, constant, re-distribution of electrons among atoms.

All that it takes to harness all this 'energetic' activity, to some 'productive', purposeful, end, is to artificially ensure that there is a STABLE, consistent, managed, orchestrated, CONTROLLED, slightly greater 'potential' difference between two particular points in space, either side of this random chaos.

Imagine a closed room full of balls that are randomly bouncing around, from wall to wall, ricocheting off each other. If you then placed a hole not quite big enough for two balls to pass through, or get stuck in, and then placed a funnel on the other side of this hole, with length of tubing, just a bit bigger than a ball, then sooner or later you'd have a 'flow' of balls all shooting out of the room, in a clear direction. And you could angle that tube to change this direction. And point all the balls at some target. So that they all continually, one after the other, hit that target. If room was closely packed with such balls, you'd end up with an almost continual flow or 'current' of balls. To the human observer it would look like a continual object, like a straight line, rather than the series of balls, it is. Xeno would be proud of me!

I'm using metaphor and analogies here. I am not asserting anything. I'm not making any claims to 'know' anything. So I will never need to resort to vague forces like 'strong attraction' and 'weak attraction'. I won't require you to take any 'leaps of faith'. I will never insist you 'believe' some assumption, simply because my 'narrative requires that you MUST, in order for it to 'make sense'. I would never demand you dogmatically accept any 'articles of faith'. I simply ask you to 'entertain' ideas. And see how far they get us. How compelling they end up proving. Vis a Vis actual EVIDENCE and inductive science.

So back to 'directing' that chaos. Making all those energetic interactions 'work for us'. Achieve something positive for us. Help us attain our desired ends. The atoms may not 'desire' anything at all. So for them it may make no difference if they swap an electron with the neighbour to their right, left, top, or bottom. But if we can get them to swap electrons in just ONE direction, we can direct them just like those balls shooting out of that room. We can direct them to flow through, or oscillate back and forwards across, two particular points in space. And set up a 'circuit'. Then place cleverly designed things within that circuit, between those two points in space. Things that that flow or oscillation will 'power' for us. So that the energy that is usually dispersed randomly throughout any particular volume of space, up, down, left, right, (back, forwards), will instead be dispersed exclusively through our circuit. Those balls weren't doing us any good, randomly bouncing around in that room. But when we directed them onto some target, such as the blade of a water wheel, or the blade of a water turbine, or the blade of an air turbine, or the cone of a speaker, we can have them PUSH that blade. And rotate that turbine. And allow us to 'harness' all that power and then direct it ourselves, to some purposeful end that WE have. We take the purposeless, automatic, actions of atoms and electrons, and focus it, and direct it, to some deliberate, purposeful, action of our own. The electrons and atoms are intrinsically motivated to draw and give up electrons, by any imbalance of electrons to protons they experience. They may feel 'relief' when an excess atom is drawn from them, and satisfaction of some 'hunger' or 'desire' when they can relieve their 'lack ' of an electron, by drawing one from another atom. But this hunger, desire, and relief, and satisfaction, will be just as rewarding and motivating to them, when 'directed' by us, to a purpose that brings US relief and satisfaction, as well. So it is a win win.

If someone loves cutting down trees, then find them a job as a logger. If someone loves digging, find them a job as a hole digger. Otherwise their desire will only be relieved in a destructive manner, by cutting down trees we'd rather stayed up, and digging holes where we'd rather there weren't any. Do you dig? If someone loves making lame jokes, get them a job at a comedy nightclub!

We could compare our 'employment' of atoms and electrons to getting a nymphomaniac who has zero preferences, and desires nothing more than random sex with the next closest person, and enjoys sex with all partners equally, as a sex worker. A true win-win. Especially considering all the potential harm that nympho could produce if we didn't. Simply having sex with random people whose partners might not appreciate it. Or harassing people with no interest in having sex with them, just because they happen 'to be there' when a 'sexual charge' built up. In the wrong place at the wrong time. They just happened to be their 'neighbour'. Or just happened to be 'passing'. You can see what sort of problems such promiscuity could produce. So turning their hobby into their profession would prevent a lot of harm, and do a lot of good. The ultimate win-win!

THAT is probably the best metaphor for 'directing' the randomly occurring, chaotic, building up of temporary 'charges' and 'potentials' for electrons to flow or oscillate between atoms, and discharges OF those potentials, IN the form of actual currents.

If the nympho was NOT rational, and could NOT be persuaded of the 'merits' of your suggestion, and wouldn't 'take directions' from you, like a difficult actor in the film you wanted to direct, you could 'do a PLATO' and trick that nympho into just 'happening' to WANT to be in a particular place. Maybe they just LOVE coffee as much as they love sex. So you open a COFFEE SHOP near where they live. Offer THE most delicious coffee. At THE best prices in town. So that they will naturally CHOOSE to visit that shop. (Think of that Pokemon mobile phone game that got the general public to become FREE spies for Big Brother, and to go around taking photos of anything, and anyone, the game directors WANTED them to!) So, now you've unobtrusively DIRECTED the nympho to a particular LOCATION. THEY think they are in a COFFEE SHOP. Nope. They are in YOUR brothel. And now you simply send in YOUR clients. They are told to order coffee and sit down and drink it. In no time your nympho, having satiated their desire for café soy latte, will be 'hitting on' that 'other patron'. And leaving with them. Or maybe just going to the bathroom, for hot sex.

Now be honest. Have you EVER heard such a SEXY explanation of how 'electricity' works? I mean we constantly refer to the 'sexual charge' and 'erotic charge' that can build up. We talk of 'sexual attraction'. And unfortunately 'repulsion' too. So it was always 'in the air', I guess. Just like electricity. All around us.

Those two will be 'swapping body fluids', just like atoms swap electrons. Actually they'll LITERALLY BE SWAPPING ATOMS. Rather than just electrons. Which is what electricity is all about. Electron swapping. That is directed. Hence the nympho sex-worker analogy. We 'directed' them, unobtrusively, to 'channel' their natural proclivity towards a deliberate end WE had in mind. To achieve an outcome WE desired. Neither nympho or client came to any harm. We didn't even deceive anyone. O.K, maybe a little 'Noble Lie'. We avoided the harm that nympho might have done if they had picked up some RANDOM partner, while drinking coffee at their USUAL café. Or even at home in the kitchen, when some random person knocked on their door. Like that married neighbour, innocently come to tell them that there had been a string of burglaries in the neighbourhood recently! We got what WE wanted. The nympho got what they just can't get enough of. Our client got the relief, satisfaction, or pleasure they were desperate for. Plato would surely approve. Nah, he was an uptight, scheming, obsessive compulsive control freak, who wouldn't be happy until he'd deceived everyone into SUBMITTING to his tyrannical will, just so his 'Republic' could survive! He found slavery quite natural. And had no qualms about using deception to get people to do things NOT in their OWN interest. But which HE found 'convenient' and 'comfortable'.

Yes, so to move from the metaphor/analogy back to the 'narrative' we use do explain the observable phenomena associated with 'electricity' and 'magnetism'. We take something that is happening all the time, everywhere, in everything, and 'direct' it. A DC battery is the most artificial of contrivances we have developed, and though the situation contrived may not correspond to anything found in nature, it still describes the 'ideal' sort of 'extreme' case, in which the 'narrative' can best be explained. Like an example exaggerated (such as in art) to make the principles clear and easy to recognise and speak about.

In a DC battery we contrive to have two cells isolated from each other. We contrive to have a relative excess of electrons to protons in the atoms of one, relative to the other. So that, reflexively, one ends up with the excess, and the other the deficiency. One is thus 'charged' with a POSITIVE oversupply. And so, reflexively, relative to this cell, the other is said to have a NEGATIVE charge. That is all that 'positive' and 'negative' CHARGES means in the context of electro-magnetism. This situation is unnatural. It is unbearable. Untenable. It defies the laws of nature. Dog's will, if you like. It can't last. Atoms want to be balanced. Electrons want to be paired up with protons. Each electron desires a proton, to share its life with. Electrons and protons 'don't do alone well', to paraphrase the gentleman who still, after 15 years, has the only luxury I ever allowed myself. That Fender U.S.A deluxe Stratocaster.

So, when you set up such a situation, the 'lonely' protons in the atoms with a deficit of electrons to protons 'DRAW' in electrons from all around. They put ads in the lonely hearts section of the newspapers. They register on online dating sites. They desperately seek a mate. But for the moment there is no way for them to 'get at' the electrons in the other cell, because it is isolated from them. Like a women's prison. Separated from all the men in the world by a wall. In our analogy the women are the protons stuck in the atoms. They aren't free to move. The men can't get in, to 'mate' with them, as they would. They feel the deficiency of women to be a real burden. They desperately seek relief. There is a huge potential INFLOW of men, just waiting to be realised. The moment someone 'opens a door' and makes it possible. In terms of the battery, there is a huge POTENTIAL for the atoms in the cell with the excess, to flow towards the 'lonely' 'unpaired' protons in the atoms in the cells with the deficiency of electrons, relative to protons. A potential that will be realised, the moment you 'bridge' the two cells with a conductor that ALLOWS the electrons to 'flow'. Immediately the protons begin to 'draw' in free electrons from the other cell. And we have a CURRENT of electrons that will flow until the two cells attain a balance of electrons to protons in their atoms. And there is no longer any POTENTIAL. The 'charge' is completely dis-charged. The battery is 'flat'. Every proton has its electron now. No proton is lonely. Everyone is happy, and in stable relationships. O.K, well, just like humans, atoms are NOT monogamous by nature. But the 'desperation' is now gone. And all that occurs now is 'partner swapping' among the atoms in each cell. There is no longer the 'motivation' for electrons to travel all that distance from cell to cell, when, any time they get bored with their current partner, they can 'partner swap' with their neighbours, in the same cell.

Remember, in all matter, atoms are continuously swapping electrons, and the more 'conductive' the material, the more 'volatile' and more frequent such exchanges. The only difference between a flowing / oscillating CURRENT and these random, omnidirectional, and thus non-directional exchanges is that lack of direction. We're talking cat wrangling Vs directing Cult thralls to comply with / submit to / obey, the latest Cult 'directives', such as 'Covid Burkhas' and 'Atomisation a.k.a 'Social Distancing' and 'Economic Wrecking' a.k.a 'non-essential business closures' and 'Dehumanisation' a.k.a 'It's a criminal act to visit relatives dying in hospital, or be present at child-births'.

Perhaps a good analogy is anarchy vs government. Under anarchy you will have a lot of bickering, chaos, and 'little tribal wars'. All the self-loathing, jealousy, envy, malice, and greedy opportunism will be small scale, PERSONAL, and limited. Though feuds can go on for generations. But still, a lot more words than blows can be exchanged. And for shorter durations. Whereas government which claims its main role and purpose is to 'keep the peace' and 'ensure justice for all', and 'serve and PROTECT' the people from bullies, and opportunists, and 'enemies', is by far the greatest source of VIOLENCE and DEATH and DESTRUCTION ever seen on this plane-et. Death by Government is the leading cause of unnatural, violent, death. And while conflicts under anarchy always remain limited, under Government, they can drag on for years and years. And like feuds, never end. So we had 'The Hundred Years War', and 'Cold War', and our GOVERNMENTS are always DECLARING 'wars'. And making up NARRATIVE to nominally justify them. Even the Rwanda genocides were ACTS OF GOVERNMENT. A new government taking revenge on the former members of the old one, for 'perceived grievances' and 'past injustices committed'. No death camps like those operated by the BRITISH in South Africa to genocide the Dutch settler rebels would have been possible without GOVERNMENT. The Nazi Work Camps and Concentration Camps wouldn't have been possible without GOVERNMENT. The irony is that the government we look to to protect us from our own human nature, is full of HUMANS. And all we end up doing is giving the WORST people POWER they could never have dreamed of, under anarchy. To DO THEIR WORST. So while Anarchy is going to end up displaying a lot of noisy cat fights, Government ramps up that potential to genocide, and world wars that last 5 years, and butcher MILLIONS of people. And war crimes. And crimes against humanity. All defined as 'Legal' by 'the VICTORS. If you win the war your war crimes are defined as acts of heroism. If you lose, your heroism in defending your people is defined as CRIMINAL. But the point here is the difference between constant cat fighting and cat calling, and formalised, organised, directed, orchestrated, MASS MURDER. Government are the 'Voltage' applied to either end of a circuit to ensure there is a CLEAR AND DEFINED DIRECTION to the otherwise chaotic, random, acts of violence humans devise for each other, called 'war'. It is DECLARED. And formally pursued. Until the Government that declared and pursued it either wins it, or is forced out of power. The depletion of a 9V battery is a good example of modern Government. Sooner or later it 'runs out of power to direct the people'. And the two cells of the battery go back to their random, chaotic, omnidirectional, non-directional, interactions. Until some new VOLTAGE emerges to set a new, clear, well-defined, DIRECTION. Often uniting the bickering tribes in the face of some common perceived (often invented, always AMPLIFIED) external threat.

Yes I think that clarifies it. At least for me. According to 'The Official Narrative'.

In nature electrons don't flow from one isolate cell to another. Because there are no isolated cells. Electrons ultimately 'oscillate' back and forth between atoms, in AC circuits. And to do this they have to 'draw' electrons from just before the circuit, from the power source. And electrons will be 'drawn' at the other end by the 'earth'. That is why you NEED both a 'live' wire carrying the current, and an 'earth' wire. So that the circuit has electrons to 'draw' on when it reverses direction. The oscillation can take a step forward and back, only if it has a 'draft' of electrons. Like opening windows on both sides of a flat. Without windows on both sides, there can be no draft. Only pressure from one side pushing or sucking. But the air pressure inside the rooms resists this. Open a window or door on the other side, and now the air pressure sucking from one side can 'pull' the entire air of the room out, and pull a bit of air from the other side in. Rather than try to 'suck the wall out'. That's why car doors will 'bang' when the window is open, but make that satisfying 'dumpf' sound when the windows are closed. And why the same door that hardly makes a noise when you shut it with the windows closed, will 'slam shut loudly' with the windows open.

So we need an earth, to 'complete' any AC circuit. So that when excess pressure builds on one side of the ciruit, it is relieved. So electrons can move 'past' the end of the circuit, when the entire circuit of electrons 'takes one step forward'. The last electron thus steps out of the circuit. If there is no earth, the last electron can't go anywhere, and so it can't 'draw', essentially, the first electron in the series, at the start of the circuit. It's like a room full of people. One person leaving allows another to enter. If the door is locked, they can't exit, and the new person can't enter. In this analogy, for some reason, the people decide to 'step out for a breath of fresh air', allowing a new person to enter the party. Then that person doesn't see the person they came to see (because they happen to have just that moment taken a step out of the room to grab some fresh air), and just as that person begins their return to the room, the other starts leaving the way they came. Isn't it ironic? Star crossed lovers indeed.

Ever run out of petrol, and had to 'siphon' petrol from another car? You have to suck the petrol LITERALLY out the other end. If you stop before it reaches the end, the petrol just flows back into the tank. You have to act fast, to avoid sucking petrol into your mouth. It's the same with electrons. You need electrons in the 'current' already outside the circuit to 'draw' electrons through from the start of the circuit. Even though all the components in the circuit you add to take advantage of the movement of electrons will be before the end of the circuit, if the last electron cannot move BEYOND the actual copper wire, then the entire current can NOT 'oscillate' back and forth. In fact in won't even DRAW in an electron, which sets off the lightning, in fact almost speed of light, chain reaction of atoms 'drawing' electrons from THEIR left, which results finally in the first atom in the circuit, DRAWING an electron from OUTSIDE of the circuit. From IT'S LEFT. Which, because it is the first atom IN the circuit, MUST be FROM an atom OUTSIDE of the circuit proper. O.K I'll probably end up editing all this later. But for now it is my understanding of how things work.

So now back to electro-magnetism in general.

I've been waiting for ages to get a 9V power supply for the wah pedal I found in the local music shop discount bin. I've tried tons of power supplies from the local thrift shops, and all had the wrong voltage and amperes. I mention this as I feel entitled to your sympathy for my disappointment. Surely this is among the great tragedies of our times? And mine is among the greatest of disappointments? Yes. But to add to that, when they find me, shot several times through the head, hanged, gassed, that head laying meters from my body, the REAL tragedy will be that my death will be recorded as one more 'Covid Death' for their phony 'Official Covid Narrative' 'pandemic'. That 'blank check' they use to 'justify' everything from taking away every basic human right, to economic wrecking, to 'quarantine' (which is what the Soviet Gulags OFFICIAL function LITERALLY was!).

But what is a 9V power supply? It is a 'step-down' transformer, that functions via electro-magnetism. The transfer of energy across distance without contact. One coil with a power supply, inducing an electrical current in another coil with*out* one. And simply by varying the relative number of coils between the two precisely, we can 'step down' the voltage coming out of the 'mains' power supply, from the 'wall socket', to 9V. Which my Wah pedal 'can handle'. And the rest will be music history. Well it will be, the moment I actually GET that 9V power supply!

Every 'electric motor' since the very first, right up to the one in your scooter, or automatic bum-wiper (I predict they will be available by time of publication, but due to 'The Covid Narrative' writing them a 'blank check' of excuses for terrible service, and the 'orchestrated' lack of shipping containers to artificially produce a massive trade imbalance and jack up delivery costs, most of us will be left 'wiping our own bums' for some time. Ah, the automatic bum-wiper will remain 'tantalisingly within, but always just out of, our reach'.

Yes, this was really the second 'warning' label for this guide. The price of admission to 'free' or dirt cheap TROONATNOOR guides on any subject is often the same as 'free to air' television. 'Commercials'. Or in my case little digressive metaphors and analogies of a deeply philosophical and intensely timely, political, nature. You get the best guides. I get your 'attention' for a few moments now and then, to try to explain to you something REALLY important I would otherwise NEVER get you to consider. Even for a few moments. Everyone is so 'busy'. TOO busy to inform themselves about what is REALLY going on right under their very noses. You know, the ones they are forced to cover with the new Covid Burkha. For the same reasons the Taliban force women under their control to wear THEIR Burkhas. For purposes of social conditioning. LOCKSTEP mental programming. SUBMISSION. To comply with CULT dogmas and articles of faith some 'authority' devised, all to gain ABSOLUTE CONTROL OVER EVERY ASPECT OF EVERY CULT THRALL'S LIFE. Don't worry, the commercial break is over, back to the main program, brought to you by TROONATNOOR, and 'The Sovereign Ecclesia, The Free Church (The Vegan Church).

Something that produces a magnetic field is called a magnet. If something is merely affected by a magnetic field, it is called magnet*ic*. Permanent magnets create their own magnetic field. Loadstone is a naturally occurring magnet. But most magnets were not originally magnets. They became magnetised by a powerful electromagnetic field. This factoid forms the basis of a specialist field in modern archaeology. Comparing the alignments of mineral deposits in stone, to discover that many ancient sites had been exposed, at some point in the past, to extremely powerful electro-magnetic radiation. From things like 'solar flares'. Or possibly 'nuclear bomb explosions'. Once so magnetised, it is permanent. Like being 'awoken from your dogmatic slumbers' by a real philosopher. Like David Hume. Or humble little me.

Asides from 'Electrickery'

If you take a random assortment of people, there will be good and bad people. Malicious people and people of goodwill. Generous people and selfish people. Kind people and mean people. There will be no clear 'moral tone' for the group as a whole. It won't be like 'all the good people moved south' leaving all the bad people in the north. THAT is what 'polarity' refers to. Relative relations. Reflexive relations. Comparing the DIFFERENCES between two groups of things.

Public opinion and politics are said to be 'polarised' in the same way. Society can divide along the lines of 'pro X' and 'contra X'. So much that you get a clear polarisation. A 'two party system' is actually the most common in nominally democratic systems. But remember that even in East Germany, and all Soviet Bloc nations, just like in 'The People's Democratic Republic of China' today, you got to choose between two pre-selected candidates. The only difference was that they didn't pretend to BE different parties. Whereas in 'The West', we imagine that the leaders of the two dominant political parties are independent. Sovereign. That they actually make their own decisions. And actually lead. Actually determine their own policies. Few most people realise the main political players ALL serve the SAME masters. If they didn't start out that way, they soon learn that unless they are willing to do this, they have almost zero chance of being elected. And if they manage that almost impossible feat, they are doomed to be 'assassinated' or 'impeached'. Or have all the Cult of Judah occupied nations declare war on them. As was the case with Germany in both World Wars. All Western leaders other than those who were assassinated like JFK and Robert Kennedy, served The Cult of Judah. The same the Communist leaders in the Soviet Union 'People's Democratic Republics' served. As the CCP elites today serve.

So in most materials, there is no 'polarisation'. No 'organisation'. No 'ossification' of polarities. It is only in materials like loadstone, that an organisation HAS been established, and it endures. So that a piece of loadstone will have a fixed north and south polarity. Unless some very strong magnetic field rearranges them, they will be permanent.

We can also use electricity to permanently magnetise an object, so that all its atoms align north to south, in the direction of the flow of current that was pumped through them.

The North Pole of any magnet is negative, as a reflex of the South Pole being positive. And vice versa. All relationships are reflexive. The definition of one thing is its relationship to something else. And all other things. Grok this, and you'll be on the 'Bridge to Total Freedom' (Trademarked property of Elron the magical wizard of Scientology) in no time. And understanding why compass points north, comes when we learn that 'opposites attract'. Slave-master, for example. Cult of Judah / Co2vid Cult thralls are 'attracted to' Cult of Judah style Cults which offer THEM the promise of 'exclusive entitlements'. Of course the slave is attracted by the proposition of becoming a slave master, rather than slave, in that reflexive relationship. So it is only right, surely, that they are 'hoisted by their own petard' and enslaved by their own will to enslave other sentient beings, isn't it?

Yes, so it is the reflexively 'negative' south pole of a compass pointer that is attracted to the magnetic north pole of the Earth itself. So the compass pointer, when 'marked' appropriately, will always 'point north'. True Magnetic North. But no, TROONATNOOR is not some clever phoneme for 'Troo Noor'. It is an acronym for The Realities Of Our Natures And The Nature Of Our Realities. My version of 'De Rera Naturum', from another great philosopher who attempted to wake his contemporaries from their 'dogmatic slumbers', thousands of years ago. Dear old Lucretius. And, like me, he even used song lyrics (poems to be precise), to do that. Like cats I guess. Have you ever tried to sleep through a 'cat symphony', late at night? The 'Bhagavad Gitar' was itself written as a 'song' of sorts. And epic poem. And after reading this guide, and reading that, you will find it was really NOT a digression at all, to refer to it, in the context of 'atoms' 'sharing' electrons so freely. Because that my friends, is the entire basis of the phenomenon we call 'electricity'. And the basis for all the cool gadgets that make our lives so convenient and comfortable. Like Covid drones. No, not the Covid Taliban that is flesh and bone. But the super-helpful flying drones that track you, and make sure you don't leave your 'house arrest', I mean 'home quarantine'. The Soviets found their 'quarantine' facilities, which they called 'Gulags', very expensive. Much cheaper to have people take out a mortgage on their own private gulag (home), and pay for the costs of their imprisonment themselves. Oh, and can you imagine how Solzhenitsyn's contemporaries would have responded if their Cult authorities had asked them to pay thousands of dollars per week for their 'gulag accommodations', marketed as 'quarantine 'hotels'? Oh, and don't forget those ever so helpful smart phone apps tracking our every movement and action. Recording anything we say. Videoing us and our loved ones at home, and at play. Recording everything, even our moods. Our reactions to the Cult propaganda. And to their false flag attacks. And faked shootings. Every transaction we make buying or selling any good or service. Even every person we come within a few meters of. So when we pass out driving from lack of oxygen due to wearing our Covid Burkha like the good Shleeple Covid Cult thrall that we is, and our head is severed from our body in the car accident that follows, they can claim one more COVID death. Yes. We had been within 2m of someone who got a positive PCR test result weeks AFTER we happened to walk past them on the street. So CLEARLY the 'Cause of Death' was that paparazzi shy 'Covid-19 virus' that no-one can seem to get a single shred of evidence to even demonstrate it EXISTS AT ALL, let alone that it is 'infectious', let alone that it can be spread from ANY animal to any other animal, let alone from 'human to human'. Yes 'Official Cause of Death' was NOT by the fact that the head was severed from the body, after the heart had stopped beating due to cardiac arrest due to the shock of 'coming to' just in time to watch your own car front tire crush the head of a child whose parent was too busy reading the latest 'Covid alert' on their mobile phone to pay attention to the REAL threats existing and appearing 'in reality' all around them. No. Cause of death was clearly 'having been within 2 meters of someone who later got a positive PCR test result'. It's no longer even 'Death by positive PCR test result' that they are 'diagnosing'. Having been within 2 meters of a 'positive PCR test result' is enough to KILL you DEAD, apparently! We live in dangerous times indeed! Those PCR test results are infectious as all hell. The most virulent pandemic of all time. If I were you, I wouldn't go near one. Or anyone who is stupid enough to take one. Or allow their Cult masters to FORCE them to SUBMIT to one.

In non-magnets, the magnetic fields produced around electrons as they are drawn from atom to atom, as they MOVE, are randomly oriented. So they cancel each other out. Any potential that emerges is immediately cancelled out and neutralised. In a magnet, the atoms all align in the same direction. Along a north-south axis. Like schoolkids in a playground, messing around in blissful chaos. The the bell rings, and they all suddenly line up and in rows, based on class groups, in single lines, with each child facing the front. That 'conditioned reflex response' is the same atoms have when you set up a clear, definitive, 'current' . A voltage. A clear 'potential'. A clear difference in 'charges'. Which in the case of a DC battery is easiest to talk about. With its two, isolated cells of 'deficiency of electrons' and 'excess of electrons'. This is the potential we call a 'voltage', which can be realised simply by placing a conductor between the two cells, allowing the deficient atoms' protons to 'draw' the excess electrons from the other cell to themselves. Like beautiful young ladies attracting male mates. I'd be more politically correct but it would make the metaphor / analogy less compelling! And so the 'negative charges' would flow from one cell to the other. And the direction would reflexively define magnetic south (negative charge) and magnetic north (positive charge). As 'charge' is defined REFLEXIVELY. A deficit exists relative to a balance. And relative to the deficit, the balanced atom has a relative greater number of electrons, and thus a POSITIVE charge.

Consider altitude. No matter how gentle the incline, balls will roll 'downhill'. Even if the difference in elevation is only small. It is the MARGINAL DIFFERENCE in altitude that, REFLEXIVELY, defines a 'slope'. And thus the POTENTIAL for something to 'roll'.

The greater the difference in altitude between two points on a flat surface, the greater the speed we would expect a ball to roll, 'downhill'. That is perhaps the best analogy or metaphor or correspondence for the concept of 'Potential' a.k.a 'Voltage'. The greater the DIFFERENCE in altitude, the steeper the incline, the FASTER any ball will roll downhill along it. And this brings me to MY own way of talking about VOLTAGE as 'speed' or 'velocity'. The term 'pressure' for me refers to BOTH speed and quantity. Stand under a waterfall and the water POUNDS you. If there is enough, and it is falling fast enough (from high enough). The same amount of water, falling faster, from higher up, will pound you harder than if it falls from closer to you, and thus slower. And that is the metaphor / analogy / correspondence that works for me. Amperes are the quantity of water. Voltage is how FAST they are falling or accelerating. And this is, most fitting for 'The Official Narrative', the POTENTIAL that exists DUE TO the difference in elevation between the bottom of the water fall, and the top of the water fall. Increase that POTENTIAL, that difference in elevation, and you clearly increase the SPEED at which the water will fall, and thus its IMPACT when it finally POUNDS me at the bottom. Enjoying the massage, and hoping for dear life that nothing other THAN water hits me. Like, say, bits of wood or rocks dragged along by the CURRENT, over the waterfall!

If someone built a dam all along the top of the waterfall, you'd have the best analogy / metaphor / correspondence with/for a DC battery. An artificially orchestrated 'POTENTIAL'. The 'Charge' at the top of the water fall would be positive. It has an excess of water, relative to what it 'wants'. What it would have, if 'left to its own devices' and NOT dammed. Reflexively we'd define the 'charge' at the bottom of the water fall as 'negative'. There is an 'unnatural' or 'unsustainable' surplus / excess of water at the top, compared to an unnatural deficiency of water at the bottom. The moment we allow 'nature' to 'take its course again, it will automatically seek to 'balance out' this inequality, by 'flowing' down the water fall, to the bottom. And we'd see a CURRENT suddenly appear from nowhere. The water that was randomly milling about in the dam will now take on a definite direction. Taking the path of least resistance. Down over the edge of the waterfall. And just like in the actual electrical current, if we place obstacles in its path, we can get the flowing water to 'work' for us. Appropriately enough, to actually produce the thing we are talking about. Electricity. By rotating turbines. And when we have a flow or oscillation back and forth of electrons, in a circuit, we can ensure their 'movement' also does 'work' for us. This time instead of pushing turbines, creating friction and thus heat and light, or electromagnetism and thus 'driving' speaker cones outwards and creating 'sound'. And that's just the beginning, even before considering all the things we can do with electricity in the DIGITAL world. Where the primerty is replaced by the presence or absence of a voltage. And entire 'virtual' realities can be built from this 'digital primerty'.

In TROONATNOOR, only pleasure and pain are absolute. Everything else is relative. Reflexive. Its all about the CONTRAST. The DIFFERENCE. In a rich country I am considered poor. Millions of people in third world countries would consider me rich, poor as I am. If you want to feel fortunate, live amongst people less fortunate than yourself, and you will, as Hume explains, feel 'happy'. I remember sleeping on the ground when bushwalking for weeks on end. Then coming home to very basic living conditions. And my bed felt like HEAVEN. A simple bucket of hot shower felt like PARADISE. Actually I haven't had a real 'shower' since I left Germany. I use less than half a bucket of warm water to wash myself, my clothing, and then later for cleaning, and flushing the toilet. But I do sleep on a bed. Remember in the Paradise Mohammed offers all faithful thralls who will submit to his Cult of Judah subsidiary, that they will get to 'sit on raised sofas'. Wow! And drink ginger ale! O.K, a bit lame-o. But the wide eyes Houris, now THAT is something any Jihadi might really 'die for'! But as heaven, and Paradise, are Cult of Judah owned and operated, and ruled by the same YWH fellow, does that mean face masks, I mean Covid Burkhas, will also be mandatory? Even after being fleeced (after all you will own nothing, remember), chipped (injected with chips), dipped (in hand and shoe sanitiser I guess), and vaxxed (again injected with dog knows what), like good Shleeple?

The reason the Cult of Judah could so easily enslave us all is that we are like the electrons in conductor, BEFORE any voltage is created / applied. We are all 'atomised'. Competing with each other. Defining each other as OTHER and focussing on our DIFFERENCES rather than what we SHARE in common with each other. So that we are like the random, disorganised, chaotic, electrons. Any reform energy we have is cancelled out by some other little group with its own plans. We can't agree on a common direction. We can't agree to focus on our common adversaries. So all the 'potential' we have for reform and innovation and progress is cancelled out. As a teenager, sleeping on the floor of my best friend Konrad's bedroom, I expressed this as 'we are all in the same boat, but our oars are in different directions, so we just go round in circles, and cancel out each other's efforts'. That is what happens with the magnetic polarities of atoms. The movement of electrons between atoms as they constantly swap them amongst themselves , produces magnetic fields, but they are random, and cancel each other out, as a whole. Like our attempts at reform, and progress. The Cult of Judah make sure of that. Making sure we focus on what we do NOT share in common, even irrelevant things like skin color, so that we fail to realise that we ALL SHARE ONE COMMON ENEMY, THE CULT OF JUDAH ITSELF. It has even set up subsidiary cults that it then ensures continually fight against each other, like Judaism, Christianity, Islam, and Marxism. To divide and conquer. If some person or issue could produce a 'VOLTAGE' that we could all share in common, instead of our energies cancelling each other out, they would accumulate, and propel us in the one, shared, POSITIVE, direction. Yep, nailed THAT analogy / metaphor. At least I think so. I will keep working on all this of course. I am just learning.

Because that is what applying a voltage to a copper wire does. It takes all the random, chaotic, exchanges of electrons between atoms, and ensures that these exchanges occur in only ONE direction. Left to right, in terms of positive to negative. As electrons are drawn TOWARDS the left, by the relative deficit of electrons at that end of the circuit.

It also produces a steady orientation for the magnetic fields of all the atoms in the copper wire. So that they all end up aligned along their north-south axis. And form one collective electro-magnetic field, with two defined polarities, and thus a north and south 'pole'.

Alternating Current and generating it

A person taking one step forward, then back again, 60 times a second, would correspond to the transfer of electrons in an alternating current. The step forward would correspond to the first atom, at the far left of a series of atoms, giving up an electron to the closest atom on its right, so that this one then gave up one electron to the next atom to its right, until the second last in the series gave up one electron to the last atom in the series, at the far right end of the series. As they were so closely packed, this happened almost at the speed of light, so for any observer, the first and last transfer would appear to have taken place simultaneously, with zero delay. Then the step back would correspond to that far right electron reversing the process, by giving up an electron to the atom to its immediate left, and so on. One 'cycle' of this process would be complete when the step back was completed. And if this cycle occurred at a RATE (frequency) of 60 times a second, we would say that the current had a 'frequency' of 60Hz.

In an alternating current circuit, the voltage steadily increases from zero until it reaches a maximum 'peak' voltage, after which it decrease again back to zero. It continues into negative polarity, until it reaches it peak negative polarity, at which point it reverses direction to head back towards zero, and positive polarity, to continue the 'cycle'. All this corresponds to the 'step forwards-step back' analogy described earlier.

In the U.S household 'LINE' (elsewhere called 'MAINS') power supply is 120V RMS (120 VAC). Root Mean Square (RMS) Voltage is the most common way of measuring voltage in an AC circuit. RMS is calculated by sampling the actual voltage in over very short periods of time. These sample voltages are squared. These squares are added up. The average of all the squared values is calculated. Then the square root of this average is calculated. This is the Root Mean Square that gives RMS its name! For a true sine wave, that complicated math results in RMS being 0.707 of the Peak Voltage. But if the AC voltage in question is NOT a true sine wave, the result can be quite different. And while most AC voltmeters report the RMS voltage, only the more expensive AC voltmeters actually do the above described actual calculations. The others simply assume a true sine wave, and multiply the Peak that is ACTUALLY measured, by 0.707. So if you REALLY need to know the actual RMS, get a voltmeter that actually DOES the calculations, in real time.

The Peak voltage, which is the positive 'height' of the waveform from 0 to its maximum positive voltage. Reflexively, Peak voltage is about 1.4 times the RMS voltage. So 120 RMS equates to around 168V peak. Usually this is half the 'peak to peak voltage', which measures from the lowest (negative) voltage to the highest positive voltage. From the bottom of the trough, to the top of the peak.

High Voltage (rock and roll!)

The first commercial power plants and systems used Thomas Edison's Direct Current (D.C). D.C power plants had to be located within a few km's of their customers.

Telsa's Alternating Current (A.C), on the other hand, could be transmitted (oscillated back and forth) by Westinghouse over hundreds of kms. So Westinghouse, with Tesla's AC alternative, ultimately won out, world-wide. It's much more efficient and cheaper in terms of copper wire, and infrastructure, to send the power in the form of high voltage (as high as 400,000 VAC in the U.S) and low current (Amps).

These high voltages allow the electrical power to be transmitted using much smaller wires than would be required if the same amount of power were transmitted at 120 VAC. At the 'user end' you simply add a 'step down' transformer that lowers the Voltage (speed), and creates a 'bottle neck', like you get as you approach a typical 'freeway exit ramp'. Only in this case imagine moving off a freeway with just one lane, slowing for the exit ramp, and then finding yourself on a slower, multi-lane highway. This pretty much describes the motorists experience driving into Moscow from Oosovo Twopick! Once off the single lane, fast moving freeway, and on the multi-lane main city roads, the cars slow (lower Voltage), but you get a higher density of electrons (higher Amperes) to compensate for that, providing the optimal mass of electrons oscillating past and through, back and forth, at any point in the household power supply and domestic appliances' circuits, at any point in time, for their efficient operation.

That nasty man Edison

Edison behaved badly, and set out to discredit his competitor's product, by inventing an AC powered 'electric chair', and propagandizing AC as 'deadly', by association. Edison further proved his lack of character and ethics by holding public spectacles in which live animals, even an elephant, were brutally murdered using electrocution. All in the name of trying to get the public to associate AC power, at an EMOTIONAL, NON-RATIONAL, even SUB-LIMINAL level, with DEATH. To use Neuro-Linguistic Programming techniques to 'anchor' that association, via emotional shock and terror and TRAUMA. So that his potential customers would automatically be TRIGGERED by FEAR and HORROR by the mere MENTION of his competitors product, 'Alternating Current'. His intention was to have this IRRATIONAL FEAR IMPLANTED in the minds of the public. To manufacture this 'public opinion' concerning 'THE HEALTH THREAT POSED BY AC POWER'. In exactly the same way our Covid Cult propagandists condition the mass of Shleeple to FEAR an IMAGINARY threat they refer to as 'Covid 19'. It is either no more dangerous than AC power. Or doesn't even EXIST. And so far all the INDUCTIVE, EVIDENCE-BASED SCIENCE POINTS TO THE LATER. Covid-19 is as 'real ' a threat as 'The Devil' or 'The Evil Eye'. Or Carbon emissions (Vis a Vis their incredibly NEGLIBLE contribution to global climate change, which is driven by SOLAR activity we have ZERO control over.

Aside from 'Electrickery'

We providie the impulse to RE-FORM ATOM'S random, chaotic, 'promiscuous' exchanges of electrons into an almost 'monogamous' DIRECTIONAL exchange which then produces an almost simultaneous 'flow' of electrons in a series of ATOMS, like balls 'lined up and positioned so they almost touch'.

*R*evolution just leaves you where you started

One complete 'revolution' involves us returning back to where we started. A warning to all 'revolutionaries' that until we reform OURSELVES and TRANSFORM society and EVOLVE, any attempt at 'revolution' will achieve nothing. We'll just be back where we started, after a lot of pointless suffering and destruction.

Circuits

Like all Cult belief systems, such as our current Cult of Judah subsidiary, 'The Co2vid Cult', circuits must form a closed loop that starts and ends at the same point. Some dogma that may never be questioned. Some assumption that is 'beyond question'. So 'The Official Narrative' is never challenged. So the 'current' can oscillate (AC) or flow (DC) around the loop.

A DC battery has two terminals. If you connect them with a copper wire, you have a loop. The current can flow from one cell of the battery to the other. But you achieve nothing. That current won't do any 'work' for you. To 'employ' that current profitably and productively, you need to insert a component in the loop, so the current, to get from one battery cell to the other, is forced to pass through that component. And in the process apply its force to some 'work'. Such as lighting up an LED.

Voltage is the MOTIVATION for electrons to oscillate or flow. Atoms DESIRE 'balance' between the number of protons in their nucleus, and the number of electrons moving around it. A deficiency in one atom will 'draw' an atom from the next closest atom. But if you artificially 'pack' electrons densely in one battery cell, and artificially produce a deficit of electrons in the other cell, you ensure a DIFFERENTIAL and POTENTIAL for a current to begin the moment you connect the two cells with a conductor. The electrons in a DC circuit will be 'drawn' to the deficit cell by the deficit, as a sort of 'electron vacuum'. Or 'electron low pressure cell'. Or a group of single people attracting a mate. This is why we talk of 'drawing' current. First a 'potential' exists for a current to move between a point of greater and lesser density of electrons to protons. Then the deficiency 'draws' that current across from the excess. And your current has a DIRECTION in life. From excess to deficiency. Like any Cult of Judah occupied government balance sheet. Like any 'quality of life' and 'standard of life' and 'prosperity index' once the Cult of Judah occupation begins their 'economic wrecking. Starting with the establishment of a 'Central Bank'. Ending in the establishment of 'medical dictatorship' and 'debt slavery'.

The simplest 'potential' would be altitude. Water held back by a dam. High above the bottom of the valley floor where the water WANTS to flow to. Attracted by the relative deficiency of water down in the valley below, compared to up in the dam. The FORCE of the water falling downwards represents a POTENTIAL source of power that could be 'harnessed' by placing water turbines near the bottom. Then 'conducting' the water in the dam downwards, via pipes, to 'turn' those turbines, to produce electricity.

Voltage, the Potential, The Voltage flowing or oscillating represents the POTENTIAL for work to be done. But to REALISE that potential, to CONSUME the 'power' that WANTS to complete a circuit, from excess to deficiency, by oscillating back and forth (AC) or flowing (DC) we need to 'put it to work'. We need to offer RESISTANCE. Some LOAD that it must 'push through' before it can reach its desired destination, on the valley floor. The bigger the turbines, the more resistance offered to the flow of the water, and the more force we will be harnessing to do 'work'.

You want someone to do something, you offer them some task they must complete in order to enjoy something THEY want. The universal 'currency' is money. You 'pay' people. Or trick them. Deceive them. Make them THINK that their safety and security DEPENDS on doing something or NOT doing something. So that they do it, or don't. Out of FEAR of the negative consequences if they FAIL to 'do what they're told'.

You want electrons to 'work' for you, you have to either set up artificial 'batteries' of excess and deficiency of electrons. Or 'disturb' magnetic fields to produce alternating pulses of electrons moving one step forward, one step back, and doing 'work' as they 'move back and forwards' across and through the 'load', the 'resistance' you put 'in the way of' the current. Blocking it. So it MUST move THROUGH your component, in order to complete its 'cycle', or get from cell A to cell B. Like a good Shleeple making their 'career' in a Cult occupied society. Some 'cells' are more desirable. Some 'slaves' have better benefits and more privileges.

In a typical circuit, the 'load' will be a series of components, such as resistors, capacitors, and transistors. By pushing through these, the designer of the circuit ensures some 'work' is done by the current as it flows or oscillates. Which is the whole point of electronic circuits. To artificially reproduce / replicate / produce a natural phenomenon and employ it as the means to some end. To take advantage of it. To exploit it. To take free range electrons and enslave them to the will of the circuit masters!

Where something goes horribly wrong, and the electrons find a 'path of less resistance' from where they are and where they want to go, we have a 'short circuit'. The clever slave electrons have found a way to get what they want, without passing through our components, without 'doing any work'. The slaves simply desire to get from where they are to where they want to be. They had no intention of doing any 'work' along the way. So if a wire comes loose, or a strand of wire comes loose, and connects with something capable of 'conducting' the serf electrons to their desired destination, they will 'skive' off work entirely, and take the 'short cut' and 'path of less resistance', and leave the main 'circuit' with its 'work', and take this alternate path.

Imagine if I told you that you could have the 'happiness' you desire, without working for it? What if the 'main circuit' is a trick to get you to work to achieve OTHER people's ends and desires? What if you could achieve what YOU wanted WITHOUT 'working' for 'the circuit designers'? Well anyone who tells you that is possible is a tin-foil hat conspiracy theory nutter, right? So who'd listen to them anyway? Nope, the 'short circuit' is just a trick. Best to 'go with the flow' and 'get back to work'. And stop dreaming. ARBEIT MACHT FREI! (Work will set you free, and get you what you want, and where you want to be). Work. For the slave master. The beneficiaries of the circuit. The one's who got other slaves to design and build it, to their CULT specifications.

'Conventional current' refers to thinking about current 'as if' it flows from positive to negative. From the positive pole of a 9V battery, for example, to its positive pole. In reality, the electric charge, and the electrons 'drawn' by it, move from the negative side of the voltage source through the circuit to the positive side of the voltage source.

Batteries: Anodes (- excess of electrons) and Cathodes (+ deficit of electrons)

To quote James Hetfield (Metallica) 'Cannot stop the battery'. Ask the various partners of the 'Energizer bunny' for confirmation! The dynastic Egyptians depicted a large battery powered light globe on the walls at Dendara. (paste image of Dendara light here). And operational batteries producing a weak current have been excavated in Bagdad, and dated back to pre-(written) historical times. And the ancient Parthians were familiar with batteries over 2000 years ago.

However 'The Official Narrative' of post-cataclysm, written, history ascribes the invention of the first electric batteries to Alessandro Volta in 1800. The eponymous unit of electromagnetic potential, the 'Volt', was named after him.

Voltage is the electromotive force (EMF) responsible for the movement of electrons from the negative terminal (with its excess of electrons which gives this terminal its net 'negative' charge, to the positive terminal (where a deficit of electrons gives this terminal its net 'positive' charge'). Any time two regions develop a relative / reflexive positive and negative charge, a potential exists for electrons to move between them. We call this movement of electrons a 'current'. The potential is generally only realised when we provide a conductor for the electrons to flow through. Except in the case of a capacitor, in which case the Electro Motive Force 'jumps a gap' in the circuit, to continue exerting 'pressure' on electrons on the earth side of the capacitor as the charge (EMF) carrying electrons accumulate on what becomes the negative terminal, and the charge (EMF) they were carrying exerts pressure on the electrons on the earth side, which becomes positively charged as a result. The capacitor itself thus becomes a temporary battery.

Batteries convert chemical energy into electrical energy, a.k.a voltage. This represents a potential or MOTIVATION for electrons to move from excess to deficiency. Join the excess to the deficiency via a conductor, and electrons will start moving immediately. In a DC circuit you will get a flow of electrons. In an AC circuit a 'back and forwards pulse' of electron oscillation.

Immerse two plates made of the right (different) metals into an electrolyte solution and negative charges will accumulate on one, which we will then call the 'anode' or 'negative' plate. The deficit of electrons available to the other plate, the 'cathode', leaves it with a net 'positive' charge (positive plate).

Like single male immigrants, coming to a land of polygamy attracting females from already (polygamous) married men. This is a 'cell'. The basis of AAA, AA, C, and D batteries. However it is NOT until you come to the 9V battery, made up of 6 cells, each offering 1.5V of potential, (with 6x1.5V providing the promised 9V), that you officially have a 'battery'. AAA, AA,C, and D all offer only 1.5V, so it is rare that a device will required only one to work. Even with the same voltage, a larger battery can offer more Amperes (a greater quantity of electrons), so their power output, in Watts, Voltage x Amperes, is greater.

The flat metal end of the cylindrical AAA, AA, C, and D 'batteries' is the anode (negative terminal) with a -1.5V potential. The other end with the male connector is the cathode (positive terminal), with a +1.5V potential. Connect them with a conductor, and the excess electrons in the anode will repel each other towards the cathode, which will itself 'draw' them on, due to its net positive charge. Like a horse 'draws' a carriage. Or you might feel 'drawn' to some idea, or person, or place. Once the anode has 'repelled' all its 'excess' electrons, and the cathode has 'drawn' all these excess electrons from the anode, a relative balance of protons and electrons is present in both cells, and no 'potential' exists any longer, so there is no Electro Motive Force (EMF) to produce any further flow of current. Unless it is a re-chargeable (secondary cell) battery that lets you use mains power via an adaptor, to 'push' 1.5V worth of electrons back from the anode to the cathode, it will be time to find the most environmentally friendly way to dispose of your 'flat' (primary cell) 'battery'. It is 'dead'. Like liberty. Like critical thinking. Like freedom. Like human rights. Under the Cult of Judah occupation government's 'Co2vid Cult'. And 'toxic'. Like critical reasoning, and truth, and freedom of speech, are to The Cult of Judah.

Completing a circuit

For a potential (Voltage) to be realised, a conductor must provide a route for electrons to be drawn across and through. The potential takes the form of a relative deficiency of electrons (to protons) in one place, compared to a relative abundance or excess of electrons (to protons) in another.

In nature you rarely get a build-up of excess or deficiency because the moment any such arises, the excess electrons will be DRAWN along the path of least resistance, using whatever conductive materials 'connect' the two places, from the place of excess to the place of deficiency. No matter how small the DIFFERENTIAL. So that only TINY 'CHARGES' ever get built up. And these are almost immediately 'DISCHARGED'. Perhaps lightning is the exception. Where massive charges build up then suddenly discharge, with massive force.

But we can artificially produce 'cells' of RELATIVE excess and deficiency which ARE isolated, as in a DC battery. Once we've done this, each cell, RELATIVE to the other, has a RELATIVE CHARGE Vis a Vis the other. Positive where there is an excess of electrons to protons in the atoms, RELATIVE TO the negative of the OTHER cell with the deficiency of electrons to protons, in the atoms.

This allows us to control WHERE the excess electrons in our circuits will be 'DRAWN' TO, the moment WE facilitate this POTENTIAL movement of electrons, by 'bridging' the excess and deficiency with a conductor, such as a piece of copper wire. Or 'close' a switch, and thus reestablish the integrity of the circuit, allowing electrons to move, either back and forth across the switch, as in AC power, or through the switch, when the power source is DC. In which case the 'excess' or electrons we forced into the 'positive' cell of the battery, will now be drawn to the cell we produced an artificial 'deficiency' of electrons in, relative to the number of protons in the atoms in that cell.

If we put some other electronic component in the circuit, forcing the electrons to move through it, to get where THEY want to go, we can trick the electrons into doing 'work' for us. Like little slaves pushing something. In AC they will move back and forth, the distance of the closest atoms. In a DC circuit, they will flow, one electron, the distance of one atom at a time. But as atoms are so close, this makes for an almost instantaneous flow of electrons. If we limited the amperes to a single 'lane' of atoms, each atom closest to the deficient cell would 'draw' a single electron from the atom BEHIND it in the same lane. And THAT atom would do the same. And because the atoms are so closely packed in the lane, even though the electrons move relatively slow from atom to atom, for any observer it will APPEAR as if the moment one atom was 'drawn' at the deficient end of the circuit, the atom at the start of the circuit, at the place of excess, was 'given up'. So it would look as if the electrons formed a solid object. And pulling this object at one end immediately moved the other end, as if they were directly coupled.

Which is basically how we get the IDEA of 'solid objects'. We pull on a bunch of atoms, and they pull the other atoms along with them. If there is any delay, our minds extremely LOW SAMPLE RATE means it would not be detected. We'd RENDER the immediate movement of all atoms AS IF they had all moved simultaneously. And the same can happen at the lowest scales, in terms of 'quantum coherency' and APPARENT 'faster than speed of light transmission'. Quantum simultaneity. And so on.

I expect Tesla was working on, and maybe had even found, a way to arrange things so that the tiny fluctuating voltages (potentials / electron imbalances) that continually occur all around us were 'discharged' into an 'accumulator'. Or that he found a way to use what I didn't mention so far. The fact that at different altitudes of our atmosphere, different 'regions' ARE electro-magnetically ISOLATED, so that there already exists a POTENTIAL difference which, if we could BRIDGE it with a conductor, could FLOW between the two otherwise ISOLATED altitudes. Ideally between a zero altitude (ground station) and the place of RELATIVE excess or deficiency of electrons. If we ever build a 'space elevator', I expect the builders will soon 'learn' this. Hopefully without anyone being hurt in the process. Probably the moment they link any sort of conductive material between the ground and an orbiting 'anchor', we'd see a discharge of that potential, through that conductor. This might be the future source of electrical power for the world. And whoever controls space, will have a monopoly on this power source.

Electrical devices Vs Electronic devices

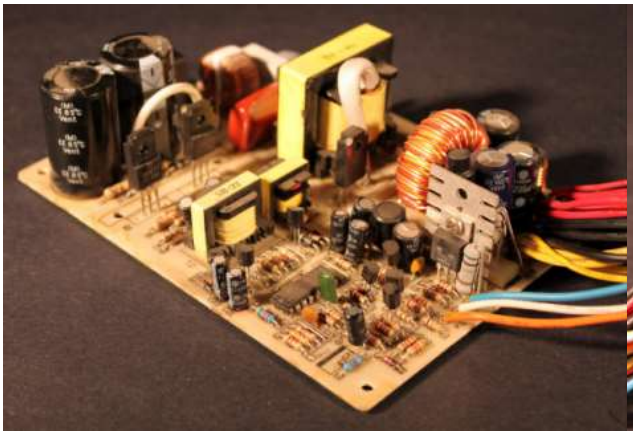
Electrical devices include washing machines, heaters, and lighting that turn electrical energy into heat, light, and rotational energy.

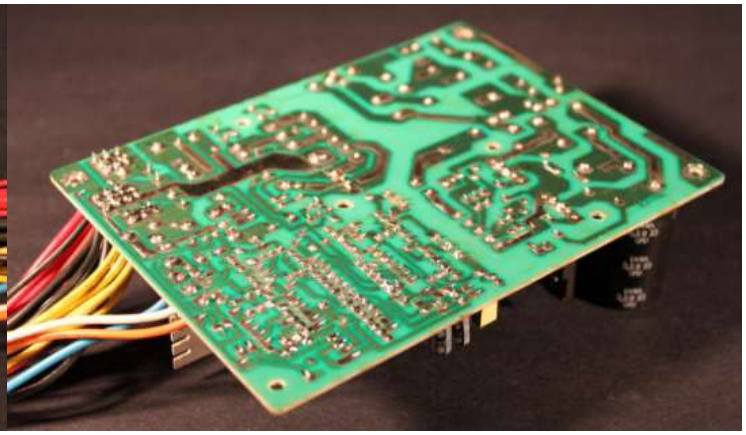
Electronic devices include thermostats, analog audio devices from AM and FM radios, other 'wireless' forms of transmission like tell-lie-vision and wireless analog headphones, to analog microphones, analog amplifiers, to analog EQs and other 'analog special effects', LED lighting, computer monitors (LED pointillist art), infra-red 'light', and on to everything digital, where analog audio-visual and even 'haptic' information is 'sampled' and converted into zeros and ones, and then later RENDERED by software and hardware to reproduce the original audio-visual, and even 'haptic', 'disturbances' our minds RENDER as audio, moving images, textures, and pressure.

Circuit Boards

Electronic devices usually rely on circuit boards. Flat, thin boards whose one side is loaded with the components that make up electronic circuits. Resistors, capacitors, diodes, transistors, and integrated circuits. Which trick the electrons, that merely want to find their 'proton mate' at the other end of the 'conductor', perform WORK for us. And whose other side is painted with lines of silver or copper that 'conduct' the electrons along specific paths (of least resistance), through specific series of components, so that what for the electrons is an inconvenient obstacle course between them and their 'proton mates', becomes, for us, a production line with outcomes intended to benefit us in some way. The moment a 'short-circuit' opens up, the electrons will immediately choose this 'path of least resistance' to 'mate' with the protons 'drawing' them across the distance that separates them.

CULT mind controls, and institutions, and laws, all form a sort of circuit board for humans. To harness human power. To get it to perform work for the Cult elites. So the analogy between electronics and CULT behavior is extremely apt here. But I also wanted to draw your attention to a superior narrative called 'The Electric Universe Narrative'.





See the 'Twin Towers' at the left corner of the top left circuit board? Well they are capacitors. Be very careful when handling old CPU's. For these are like powerful temporary batteries that can hold a LETHAL charge long after the CPU has been disconnected from any power supply. Like our Sun, Capacitors absorb power until they reach a certain threshold, and then discharge it. Our sun does this continuously, in the form of light and heat, and occasionally in the form of solar 'flares' of pure plasma. That's the 'other' state of matter your High School teacher probably never mentioned. And might even deny exists.

Logic and logic circuits

Please always keep in mind that a perfectly LOGICAL argument can be totally wrong, if the assumptions it is built on are wrong. Superior logic has been one of those 'paving stones' of our 'highway to Cult of Judah Hell'. Like 'good intentions'. So remember to actively SEEK OUT and CHALLENGE and INTERROGATE, every assumption in every part of an argument. Especially the very FIRST ONES people LOVE you to OVERLOOK. It's called '*mis*direction'. You think, 'Hang on a minute, what's that', and your interlocutor notices you've spotted something they can't AFFORD you to notice, and suddenly explosions with bright lights and sirens go off SOMEWHERE ELSE to demand your attention. And your 'guide' will suddenly 'move you on' to some OTHER, harmless, part of the argument. And you'll have forgotten all about that 'PROBLEM' assumption you'd noticed earlier. Like the 'Cold Reading' victim who forgets their earlier 'chat' with the 'Mind Reader' during which they VOLUNTEERED all the information the 'cold reader' is now, as if by magic, or mind reading as they claim, able to tell you about yourself!

If X is true, and Y follows from X, then Y is true. And so it is 'only logical' to 'submit' and 'obey' and 'be a good cult thrall. 'Take the jab'. 'Wear the Covid Burkha'. 'Do the hand sanitizer ritual'. And imprison anyone who does NOT believe and will NOT submit, to GULAG (The official function of the Soviet GULAG system was 'quarantine').

Binary is very efficient at handling logical operations which compare two binary bits and render a third binary bit as a result. Officially there are 16 possible logical operations, including AND, OR, and XOR.

An AND operation compares two binary values. If both values are 1, the result is 1. If either or both values are 0 the result is 0. For an OR operation, if either value is 1, the result is 1. If both values are 0, the result is 0. For an XOR operation If ONLY one of them is 1, the result is 1. If both values are 0 or both are 1, the result is 0.

For multi-digit numbers we perform these operations one bit at a time. So if the two numbers were 10010100 and 11011101, we'd perform the operation to find the result for each set of single digits. The example left is for an AND operation. The first digits of both numbers are 1s, so our result is 1. One of the two second digits is 0, so our result is zero. Both of the their 3rd digits are 0, so the result is zero. We continue this process to find our 'result' is 10010100.

$$\begin{array}{r} 10010100 \\ \text{AND } \underline{11011101} \\ 10010100 \end{array}$$

Analog Vs Digital

Analog quantities are 'measured'. Whereas Digital quantities are 'counted'. It may at first seem that counting is more precise, as you either have 2 or 3 of something. But what if you really have 2.7 of something? And the closest approximation you have to choose from is 3? Of course we can remedy that by adding more options to choose from. And then it gets interesting. With an analog clock, while you have a continuous spectrum of time, it is hard to tell exactly what time it is. A digital clock that counted down the tiniest units of time would give a digital readout that was easier to use. But limited by the units we have divided time down into. They are fixed. Once we decide on the number of decimal places are going to display. And allow programs to calculate to, or display as 'the closest available number' to the one they actually calculated.

A fretless bassist or violinist has perfect freedom of where to 'fret' a note, compared to a guitarist, whose instrument comes with fixed frets. The fixed frets make for more reliable, consistent, fretting of notes. They are more 'digital' than the very 'analog' violin, with one continuous interval that can be divided precisely how the player decides. If they are extremely technically competent, with a 'perfect ear', they will actually play much more precisely than the guitarist. But a beginner guitarist will be more precise than a beginner violinist, until that stage of technical ability is reached.

But while saying you have 'precisely 578 jelly beans' sounds very precise, what if the the jelly beans are of different weights? Then the actual weight might give you more detailed, precise, information, right? But what is clear, is that 'either 0 or 1 is very precise'. And if you can contrive things so that you can represent any value, any weight, any measurement, as a series of 0s and 1s you have a really precise, simple, say of encoding and decoding information.

But the following might make the distinction clearer, in practical, heuristic, terms. In analog circuits, quantities such as voltage, current, or resistance, change at a continuous rate. For example we can incrementally, (linearly or logarithmically) vary the resistance of a potentiometer between its maximum and maximum values, by rotating the pot. Like the violinist has one continuous interval they can divide as they see fit. From nut to bridge. Continously. Varying the effective vibrating length of the string by any increments they like. Smoothly. With no limits.

Whereas in the digital domain we are dealing with numbers. And usually merely 0s and 1s. As a series of binary situations. Either or. There is no, 'well sort of halfway between'. Like on-off switches. Binary. We could 'strain at gnats', but generally you are either fretting the 5th fret or the 4th or the 6th. Or hitting the C5 key or the B4 key or the D5 key, on a keyboard.

Oh, and in answer to my question 'Why do we put resistors on guitar Volume pots?', If you place a fixed resistor in series with the potentiometer as a 'voltage divider', the voltage increases or decreases smoothly as you turn the knob on the potentiometer.

We use analog to digital converters (A/D) and Digital to Analog converters (D/A), when working with binary and analog circuits. An input voltage (analog) can be converted to a sequence of pulses, one for each volt, and the pulses counted to determine the voltage.

We use a 'base 10' a.k.a 'decimal' number system in everyday life. Dec you will recognise as shorthand for the TENTH month of the year. December. Roman military units might be 'decimated' by having every tenth soldier executed, to punish the legion or squad for fleeing from a battle or disobeying orders. We have 5 digits on each hand, 4 fingers and 1 thumb. And thus a total of TEN *DIGIT*S. See my 'Holistic Guitar Guide' for details about the base 60 Hexa-Decimal (6x10) system we still use to keep time and measure degrees in geometry. And the reasons why the number 12 is so popular in so many contexts.

Binary number system

Ever read Arabic? From right to left. Well our way of writing numbers, is called 'Arabic Numerals' for a reason. The digits in a decimal number, the values go up by powers of ten, from right to left, and thus are multiples, from right to left, of 1, 10, 100, 1000, 10000, and so on.

10111binary to decimal
right to left we get 1x2 to the power of 0=01
1x2 1=02
1x2 2=04
0x2 3=00
1x2 4=16
which sums to 23

The bits in a binary number increase by powers of two, from right to left. 1, 2, 4, 8, 16, 32, and so on. Starting with 2 to the power of 0 which is 1. 2 to the power of 1 which is 2. 2 to the power of 2 which is 4. And so on. To get the final value we add up the value of each position. This example will demonstrate: the decimal value of the binary value 10111 is 23, as' decoded' left. Adding binary numbers works as follows: 11+111=3+7=10. Written as binary that is 0101 which is, from right to left [0x1]+[1x2]+[0x4] +[1x8].

11 binary to decimal
right to left we get
1x2 to the power of 0=1
1x2 1=2
which sums to 3

111 binary to decimal
right to left we get
1x2 to the power of 0=01
1x2 1=02
1x2 2=04
which sums to 07

1010 binary to decimal
right to left we get 0x2 to the power of 0=00
1x2 1=02
0x2 2=00
1x2 3=08
which sums to 10

Probably the only time most people would ever find themselves wanting to convert binary numbers to decimal numbers, is when working with IP addresses, at which time you will open the binary-digital conversion 'calculator' in Windows. To open this 'programmer' mode of 'Calculator', go to Start> All Programs>Accessories>Calculator. Then choose View>Programmer from the Calculator menu.

[ONE WAY Windows, that is. For Microsoft / Bill Gates won't let you look through at their OS, from your side of that one-way window, but simply DECLARED they had the right to look through that window INTO YOUR SIDE, in the form of FORCED HACKS, during which they have complete freedom to copy anything FROM your hard-disc, and change ANY settings on your computer, even ones you didn't know existed, (and were NOT in your laptop when you signed your 'user agreement'), and also to PUT anything they like ON same HDD / SSD. The same guy who wants to FORCE HACK YOUR DNA with 'vaccines']. Hex, Dec, Oct, and Bin radio buttons let you find the Binary, Hex, or Oct equivalent of any (conventional) decimal number. Enter that number, select the appropriate radio button, and the equivalent value for the number system you just selected will replace the binary value you entered, in the display. Other features that are useful for AND, XOR, NOT, and NOR operations.

If you have six digits to work with, the largest number possible decimal number you can work with is 999,999, as 0 is a number. That diabolically 'nought-y' number we 'borrowed' from the Arabs, who 'borrowed' it from the mathematicians of India. So a 6-digit decimal number has 1 million different potential values. But even if you have up to 8 bits, the largest binary number you can work with is 11111111, a mere 255 in decimal, and you have only 256 different possible values (including 0). Which means one byte (8 bits), can have only 256 different values.

Digital systems use numbers that are 'powers of two'. So 1kb is not really 1000 bytes. Rather it is 2 to the power of 10 which is 1024 bytes. And 1 Mb is not really 1000,000 bytes. It is 2 to the power of 20 which is 1,048,576 bytes. And 1Gb is 2 to the power of 30 bytes, which is 1,024MB.

As always, QUANTITY changes QUALITY

What appears 'complex' turns out to be very simple, when you 'grok' it. CPUs consists of millions of individual logic gates connected in a way that enables the processor to perform a VAST QUANTITY of simple operations at amazing speed. It is the QUANTITY of very simple operations that results in the perceived QUALITY of 'complexity'. Complexity well beyond most people's ability to imagine, let alone claim to 'grok'. For most people computers are 'black boxes'. You input something, *some*how it outputs something. So now we get to that 'some HOW'.

Boolean Logic and NOT gates

Sure so we know what they are not, but what are they? Parmides, where art thou!. Xeno, you've just got to see this. And Wittgenstein, will even YOU not find it hard to believe? Oh, and Ms Sphinx, get a load of this paradox! What is by NOT being? What is NOT? What both is and is not?

George Boole noted that we could 'render' or 'represent' two concepts, 'true' and 'false', as the binary digits 1 and 0, and the voltages +5V(High) and 0V(Low), respectively. His 1854, 'An Investigation of the Laws of Thought' laid the foundations for the 'Boolean' logic at the heart of today's digital world, so that he is considered the 'father' of computer science.

Resistor-Transistor Logic (RTL) circuits

We can build many different logic circuits (gates) from resistors and transistors, to automate Boolean logic processes.

AND gates

A two-input AND gate (left) has two inputs(left) and one output(right). The output is 1 only if both of the inputs are 1 (The output is 0 unless all the inputs are 1). If A is true AND B is true, then C is true. If A or B are false, C might not be true. Logically speaking. And in Binary situations there is no 'maybe' or 'gray area'. You are compelled to compute 'EITHER' 'OR'. So Boolean Logic will conclude, given the binary limits, that C is FALSE.

You can create AND gates with 2,3,4 etc inputs. For each additional input that you add to a gate, the number of possible input combinations doubles. It becomes harder to compute a 'true' output of 1. Because if ANY of the inputs are FALSE, its 'game over'. So the more inputs you add, the more likely you'll get a '0' FALSE output. EVERY input must be 'TRUE' / 1, or you're output Voltage is going to be (approximately) 0V.

A two-input gate has four different possible input combinations. A three-input gate has eight. A four-input gate 16. And so on. In true binary fashion, 2,4,8,16,32,64,128,256,512,1024 and so on. In every case, the output is zero UNLESS all the inputs are 1. (The output is 1 only if all inputs are 1).

Placing two two-input AND gates in series (left), functions as a 3 input AND gate (logic circuit). Inputs A and B are fed into the first gate, and its output is fed into the second gate, along with another input (C). The output will only be 1 if A, B, and C are all 1. (The output will be zero UNLESS A,B,and C are all 1). In other words X will only be true / 1 / 5V if A and B and C are ALL true! Now that's uncompromising Boolean Logic for you. Ruthlessly Binary. No 'gray areas'. No 'sort ofs' or 'maybes'. It's a great way to simply things at the extreme end of 'truth' seeking. In reality some of your assumptions may be wrong (false) but your conclusion still correct (true). But you could use such 'logic circuits' to first identify 'the best candidates for 'truth' you have. The ones in which every assumption is 'true'. Every data point is 'valid'. Every sub-calculation is 'correct'. A is true AND B is true AND C is true AND so on. That's an AND gate.

One way of thinking of this is in terms of multiplication of inputs. Binary digits can only be 1 or 0. And any time you put a 0 in any multiplication series, the product will be 0. No matter where in the series it occurs. Because 0 times anything is ZERO.

O.K, so what are the immediately useful applications for such 'logic circuits'? Well of course any of 'The Official Narrative's from 'The Official Holocaust Narrative' to 'The Official Covid Narrative' would compute FALSE, using AND gates.

But we can use them to set up an alarm system using an AND gate as an 'Enable Input'. We use the circuits with IR lamps and detectors described elsewhere in this guide, so we have 'sensors' around the office or home. Any time any sensor detects an object 'passing' near or through its path, it sends a 5V / High / True input to an AND gate. We might want to avoid 'false alarms' and decide that we want 'confirmation' from another sensor in the same office or home. So we will wait for another sensor to be triggered, before our alarm will be activated. When another sensor is triggered, it sends another 5V input to the same AND gate, which will ENABLE the first 5V / True / High input to be processed, so that 5V is now finally outputted from our AND GATE logic circuit, to trigger our alarm system. The output of our AND gate will remain '0' until TWO sensors are triggered.

If we used this in the context of 'Covid', no 'Pandemic' would ever have been declared. Because none of the criteria used, before this 'Covid hoax', to justify the declaration of a pandemic, have been met during the 2 years of this supposed Covid crisis. They just changed all the definitions of everything, and set off FALSE alarms even though any AND gate or Boolean logic circuit would have computed FALSE (News) based on the DATA.

NOR gates

Combine an OR gate with a NOT gate and you've built a NOR gate. Its symbol is an OR gate with a negation circle on the output indicating it has been inverted. It has two inputs left and one output right. But you can combine any number as with previous gates.

If any of its inputs are 1, then the output is 0. The output is 1 only if all the inputs are 0. Remembering it is a 'logic circuit', so we should always think in terms of real world logical deductions. For this gate, ONLY if all the inputs are FALSE (O or OV), will the output be true (1 or 5V). 'Only if X did NOT have a blood alcohol reading over 0.05, and was NOT driving the car, could the output 'X should be convicted of drink driving' be TRUE. Only if we can NOT disprove the hypotheses that make up the 'theory', can we claim it appears, at least so far, to be a candidate for TRUTH .

Only if all the 'allegations' the prosecution made turn out to be FALSE, can you claim your defendant is innocent.

Only by making FALSE assumptions in your Covid or Mad Cow Or Bird Flu or SARS-1 or Pig Flu MODELS, can you force it to generate the OUTPUTS, the CONCLUSIONS, the TERROR, the DECEPTION you designed it to produce. The MYTH you wrote the algorithms to CREATE and MAINTAIN.

The Covid Cult 'authorities' will TELL you that only when NO person in the last few months has gotten a positive PCR test result, can they AFFORD to RISK ending 'the measures' and give you back your human rights. But as all evidence suggests PCR tests are PRE-determined at time of production, (long before they've been used to 'rape' someone's nose), to yield a positive or negative result, whether you put DNA material in it from a mango, goat, or human born in a hermetically sealed bubble who has never been exposed to any virus ever.

With pre-determined PCR test results, you can 'create' a 'case surge' anywhere you like, at any time, simply by forcing people to take the meaningless test from the appropriate batch with the pre-determined number of 'positive' results. A PCR test is as scientific a diagnosis as any 'Witch Finder' ever resorted to. Watch the Monty Python 'We've found a witch, may we burn her?' comedy sketch and see what I mean.

As with NAND gates, you can replicate any logic network of NOT, AND, and OR gates using just NOR gates. So they too earn the epithet 'universal'.

Truth Table for Two-Input XOR Gate

Input A	Input B	Output
0	0	0
0	1	1
1	0	1
1	1	0

XOR (Exclusive) gates

Exclusive OR gates output a 1 only if only ONE of the inputs is 1. If both are 1, or 0, the output is 0. So Either input A or input B MUST be 1, for the output to be 1. But ONLY one of them can be 1.

You could use this logical circuit to quickly tell you if the inputs are the same or different. In many real world 'precision engineering' situations you might want all the inputs to be identical, for quality control purposes, where your 'specifications' have to be very precise. Or even where customers expect all their 'apples' to be of a particular size, or their oranges to be a particular hue of orange. Cult elites will want to detect 'divergence' of opinion a.k.a 'heresies' and thus locate 'heretics'. As long as all thralls think 'the same', either 0s or 1s, in LOCKSTEP, the output will be 0V. You have your conformity. Only where some recalcitrant arrogantly 'challenges authority' and 'breaks ranks' and 'walks to the beat of their own drum', will the logical circuit output a 1. Then you know your propaganda needs tweaking. You know you need to start looking for heretics, rounding them up, and re-educating them. And if they won't 'learn', then 'Quarantining' them. Isolating them from the good thrall Shleeple whom they might 'infect' with their 'crazy ideas'. Their 'heresies'. Their 'Apostasy'.

I'm thinking an example you would find less challenging to be that of a 9V battery circuit. A positive input and a negative input (bridged by a conductor) producing a positive output (current). If both terminals were negative / 0, or positive / 1, there will be no positive output (current). One has to be positive, and the other negative, for there to be a POSITIVE output. (Only in this real world example the inputs are +9V and -9V and the output is 9V). I hope that is as clear in your mind as it is in mine.

Remember Boole was working on formalising logical operations from real world situations so they could be expressed as 0s or 1s. Counted. So you could speed up and automate logical operations. With ON/OFF switches used as shorthand 'codes' for actual arguments. The result was the phenomenal digital information processing power we have today. For better or worse. Because either-or, binary options, can be stored, transmitted, and computed, lightning fast. With great accuracy and 'precision'. Machines can complete an inconceivable number of simple calculations almost instantaneously. And it is only possible because all they have to 'attend to' is whether a 'bit' is a zero or a one. Whether the switch is on or off. Whether there is a 0V or a 5V present.

Imagine if it were that easy in real life! If all we had to look for was the presence or absence of a 5V 'flag', to know who was lying, and who was being honest. Who was being disingenuous, and who really believed the rubbish they were vomiting over us. Who was playing at eristics, to try to 'win' an argument, at all costs. And who was genuinely seeking the truth.

Boolean logic circuits

Consider that 'switches' turn things on and off. And that transistors are automatically configured as switches, where it is the status 1 or 0 of the base current that allows current to flow through the transistor or not, respectively. And in this way a small current can control a big one. Transistors, when configured as amplifiers, let you modulate the low current base signals amplitude, to modulate the amplitude of a much more powerful current flowing in through the collector at unity gain, then, after having its amplitude modulated by the base signal, outputted well above unity gain, having had its ampli*tude* '*ampli*fied'. (??? I will revisit this when it is clearer to me ???)

When configured as a switch, we have the basis for 0, 1 Boolean logic circuits. Something is either on or off. Voltage is either present or not. Typically 0V and 5V are used to represent 0 and 1, false and true, Low and High, respectively. And by setting up a series of switches we can automate a logical deduction or induction. And as we are dealing with discrete (numbers) rather than continuous quantities (measurements) this process is binary. Either, Or. There is no 'middle ground'. So no 'gray area'. This simplifies everything for us. And makes it possible to 'automate' a series of logical operations. And forms the basis for almost everything we take for granted in our 'digital age', but which few of us could claim to even come close to 'understanding', in terms of 'how does it all actually work'.

But like all the most apparently complex things, once you reduce the longer processes down into their shortest, lowest level of abstraction, you are left with the addition of 0s and 1s. A series of 'on' and 'off' switches. A series of 'Yes' and 'No's. A series of True and False's. A series of 'Highs' and 'Lows'.

We can consider the process as a Socratic dialog. The switch is Socrates' interlocutor. Socrates will ask them 'do you agree, or do you disagree', with each point in a logical argument. And accordingly we will 'flick the switches' to 'on', 'High', 'True', '1' if his interlocutor concurs 'Why certainly, Socrates, how could it be otherwise'. And to '0', if his interlocutor objects, and finds fault with Socrates. Of course as Socratic dialogs are 'controlled narratives', Plato can ensure Socrates' interlocutors always respond in the positive, ultimately. So that a Socratic dialog would appear as a series of '1's. Of 'On' Switches. Of 'Truth' statements. Of 'High's. 111111. Reminds me of JFKs planned bill to abolish the Federal Reserve. This intention signed his own Cult of Judah death warrant, and he was murdered long before he could sign the bill into legislation.

As a philosopher I am interested in 'logic circuits' from a perspective a bit different to how they are used in computing, though

Thanks for the memory: Latches and flip-flops

Without memory nothing would have any meaning other than as absolute, immediate, pressure, brightness, loudness, bitterness, sweetness, and so on. We would live in an eternal 'now' with no fear or hope. No anticipation. No planning. No worrying. No regrets. There would be nothing other the immediate sensation at any given moment. And the absolute pleasure, pain, or relief it offered. Pleasure and pain and relief are RENDERED by our minds, and all reduce to their positive or negative impact on our likely survival and reproduction. We'd be fixated on eating if hungry. Sleeping if tired. And having sex when so inclined. Which would be always. As our mind wouldn't be able to 'remember' 'the last time I had sex' and would thus be driven to ensure the reproduction of the organism via sex, all the time.

Without memory there could be no 'relativity'. No 'relations'. We'd be activated by pure hardwired instinct. To ACT. Thought would be limited to 'what is right in front of me right now and do I want to eat it, have sex with it, or get away from it as fast as possible?

Apart from processing power and speed, the other 'big leap forward' over the last few years has been in terms of MEMORY. While human memory is totally unreliable, and SHORT (especially with regards to favors others did you which you ought to reciprocate, and debts you should repay), computer memory has become more reliable, and the sheer VOLUME of data we can now store in tiny devices, and on SSDs, is phenomenal.

But it all began with 'Latches'. Would be a great name for an Ancient Greek Philosopher. In fact I think I REMEMBER one by that name, in one of Plato's dialogues!

A latch is a logic circuit with two inputs, one that sets and holds the latch (SET), until the RESET triggers the latch to reset to its default configuration. F

The latch can be said to 'remember', like a dog told to 'sit', remembers the command, and does not move until its master gives it a new command. That new command is either a momentary HIGH, a burst of current to the active-high latch RESET input, or a momentary LOW, a momentary disruption in the current supply to the active-low latch RESET input. And hence this chapter heading. And the importance of latches to the development of computing power. And the sensational narrative that is 'Computer Science'.

Flip-flops

The biggest flip-flops in recorded history occurred these last few years. With Bill Gates going from 'joking' about 'death panels' being 'the debate no-one wants to have', in the context of a rationalization of health care expenditures he was ALL IN FAVOR OF, to the motto 'If we only save one life, all of the TRILLIONS in costs will have been worth it'. Funny how when BILLIONS of those TRILLIONS in costs represent BILLIONS in PROFITS for him and his mates, his 'opinion' can suddenly 'flip-flop' to violent extremes. And of course The World Health Organisation 'flip-flopped' continuously, going from publically stating 'There is ZERO evidence of human to human transmission of (the supposed) Covid 19 virus' and being AGAINST mask mandates and social distancing and lockdowns, to claiming, in a 180 degree 'about turn', that Covid-19 was highly infectious, spread by 'Covid droplets', and that everyone should be forced to wear masks, social distance, and endure 'house arrest', to protect them from the pandemic that is as real as any 'Invisible Pink Elephant' in recorded history. 'House arrest?' The definition of 'house arrest' is that you agree to remain at home, or you get imprisoned. And THAT is exactly what has happened and is happening, around the world. Either 'voluntarily' lock yourself DOWN, or your 'authorities' will lock you UP. So 'house arrest' is what it is.

In the context of electronics and computing, flip-flops have a different meaning. Designed for use in circuits that use steady clock pulses, a flip-flop is a type of gated latch circuit whose ENABLE input is briefly enabled by the transition of the enable a.k.a 'clock' input, from low to high. Once it stabilizes as High, the flip-flop is 'latched' until the next clock pulse. The next pulse of current.

Move and hold

Servos use a special three-conductor cable (right) to provide power and a control signal that tells the servo what position it should move to and hold. The red wire supplies the voltage required to operate the servo. The black is the ground connection. The white 'control' wire connects to an ICs I/O pins. It controls the position of the servo via a series of pulses a few ms apart. The duration of each pulse determines the position that the servo rotates to and holds, as long as that same pulse duration repeats regularly. Say once every 20ms. Pretty much like 'The Official Narratives' repeating constantly in every format, across the full spectrum of propaganda platforms. From your favorite 'trusted' television personalities, to 'famous authorities' to 'social media influencers', to 'controlled opposition' pretending to be 'alternative' and even 'whistle-blowers' and 'investigative journalists'. If there ever really were such beasts, they have been driven to extinction by 'embedded journalists' who are mere propaganda mouthpieces for their handlers. Sure, when The Cult of Judah WANTS something to be 'exposed', such as Watergate, because it suits THEM, they will make sure it is exposed. But with almost every person in any real position of power today a mere PUPPET totally controlled by The Cult of Judah, the only people who will ever be 'investigated' are the Millie Weavers and Historical Revisionists, and CRITICS of Cult of Judah policies and agencies.

The pulse durations and frequency (how often they repeat per ms)can be programmed with a PULSOUT command. Which can be triggered by pressing a key, or moving a joystick. So the user gets the corresponding movement of the remote controlled device they make with their 'controller'. The actions of the joystick operator are replicated in real time by the remote device, via the servo motors.

[Consider a well-trained dog told to 'sit', that will wait until master's next command. Master see's dog 'fidget' and repeats the 'siiiiit' boy command. Repeatedly, any time dog appears about to 'break and run for it'. Do is excitedly anticipating a 'Scooby snack'. But doing its best to contain the anticipation, so master will think he is acting purely out of devotion, and won't think he's just in it for the treats, but motivated by a genuine desire to PLEASE master. Every now and then master 'rewards' good behavior. You can never know when. That's the problem. So best be on you best behavior all the time. So you don't miss out on master's occasional 'good moods', or trigger a 'bad mood'. The promise of a treat is very motivating, the LESS predictable it is. Because that means 'maybe THIS time when I obey I'll be rewarded!' As long as I can't predict WHEN and for WHAT I'll get that reward, I will be motivated to 'Switch on' and respond to EVERY command AS IF this were the one that has the power to produce the 'treat'. If I could find a pattern, I could relax a lot more. Wait for the command that is associated with the treat. Be sure to promptly respond to THAT one, and ensure my reward. Like the worker who knows when the supervisor is actually WATCHING that video camera feed, so they can make a really good impression for those 5 minutes, after which they can 'slack off'. The supervisor will assume those 5 minutes were 'representative' of my whole day's performance, and be happy with my work! But woe to the 'boss' who 'demonstrates' to a worker 'this is how you do it', working really hard and fast for a few minutes, when that worker knows for a fact the boss would NEVER keep up such a pace outside of such 'demonstrations', and thus 'makes a fool of themselves'. Only problem is, Boss got some new software programs that record and analyze the video footage in real time, noting any 'slacking of pace' and even 'interpreting' the facial gestures and other 'body language' of the workers, and triggering 'notifications' to the Boss's smart device, any time it 'observes' such 'slacking' behaviors! Dog damn those cameras to hell!]

Aside

Imagine $100 shared among three people. For any one of them to get more money, at least one of the others must get less. This is a REFLEXIVE situation. The REFLEX of one getting more, is at least one of the others getting less.

But let's say there is a tradition, a law, among these people, that money always be distributed among them in a fixed PROPORTION. No matter what the absolute amount of money available is. Let's call it 'The Bosses Law'. The law states that the 'Boss' always gets a share of the total equivalent to B (Bosses share) = F (first workers' share) + S (Second workers' share).

If the Boss wants to increase their absolute income, they will have to find a way to increase at least one of their workers' incomes PROPORTIONATELY. Or risk 'breaking the law', and 'angering the ancestors', or worse, 'angering the gods' who originally laid down that law.

If one of the workers earns less, then the OTHER worker must earn more, to make up for the shortfall, or the Boss MUST end up earning less TOO. This is a REFLEX condition of 'The Bosses Law'.

If either worker wants to increase their share, without earning more themselves, it is possible, but only at the expense of reducing the other workers' share. For F MUST equal B-S. And S MUST equal B-F. BECAUSE B must ALWAYS equal F+S. For that is the LAW!

The Cult of Judah worked out a LAW to incentivize their slaves, their Cult thralls, to ensure the Cult elites would become ever richer, and enjoy ever greater luxuries. It was a 'protection racket' where the 'priests' promised to 'protect' the cult thralls from non-existent threats they called 'the devil' and 'hell' in return for 1/10 x total Cult thrall production. With that 1/10 always being 'the best of the best' of the total cult thrall production.

Today the Cult of Judah operate a new form of protection racket. They 'sell' protection from a non-existent virus in return to TOTAL CONTROL OF EVERY ASPECT OF THEIR CO2VID CULT THRALL'S LIVES. They trade 'constitutional rights' and 'basic human rights' and in return for 'protection' from a non-existent threat. The new 'devil'. The new 'bogey man'. They trade 'national sovereignty' in return for 'protection' from the same non-existent 'threat to national security'. It's a great deal for the Cult elites. They sell NOTHING in return for EVERYTHING. Their 'Official Covid Narrative', like their earlier 'Official RELIGIOUS Narratives' called 'Judaism' and 'Christianity' and 'Islam', and their 'Official Secular religious narrative' known as 'Marxism', grants them a 'mandate' to write as many 'blank checks' for themselves as they wish. To 'justify' any action they choose to take. To 'justify' the abolition of every human right and legal protection and form of privacy or liberty. To shut down any economic or social activity they choose. To force people to submit to the new burkhas (face masks) and the new 'ritual hand washing' (hand sanitizing) and the application of the new 'holy water' (a liquid injected into the body which has absolutely nothing to do with protecting anyone from anything, let alone a specific virus), and the new 'cross' (that face mask again which can protect a person from a virus as well as a cross can protect them from 'the devil' or 'the evil eye' or 'djinns' or 'possession by evil spirits', or 'demons').

Real POWER = control of perceptions x control of Central Banks. Those are the two key strengths the Cult of Judah have developed over 3000 years of building their full spectrum propaganda machine, and establishing their Central Banking systems. The just ADORE democracy, because it creates the perfect slaves. Slaves who believe there are FREE. But let's move from 'election-trickery' back to 'Electricity'.

Tolerance

The lower the 'tolerances' of any manufacturing or production process, the more precise the engineering and quality control is. A Porsche, high performance engine will be built to lower tolerances than a lawn mower engine, so the actual product will conform very closely to the ideals specified in the design specs. A resister rated at 22 kΩ with a 5% tolerance can be expected to have an ACTUAL resistance between 5% above and 5% below 22 kΩ, roughly anywhere from 20.9 to 23.1 kΩ. This is usually no problem. But if you can't afford such a 'margin of error', you'll have to pay more for the components built to the lowest tolerances. Just as that Porsche probably costs more than the lawnmower. Unless of course NASA, or DOD, or The Pentagon, or The Army, or any government 'authority', designed the lawnmower, in which case it probably won't cut well, and could easily cost a LOT more than 1000 porsches!

I have a low tolerance for lies and obfuscation. So my TROONATNOOR guides contain no deliberate or 'lazy' misinformation or disinformation. I have a ZERO tolerance for propaganda. So my TROONATNOOR guides will NEVER knowingly contain ANY propaganda. I also have a ZERO TOLERANCE for ASSUMPTIONS that are NOT clearly identified as such, and so if you manage to find any that I did NOT notice, please bring them to my attention so I can 'flag' them, and interrogate them. Meanwhile 'fact checkers' have zero tolerance for any fact or compelling argument or evidence that challenges 'The Official Narrative' concerning the subject of the post. As the 'Community Guidelines' have zero tolerance for any fact or compelling argument or evidence that challenges ANY 'Cult of Judah' 'Official Narrative', from 'The Official Holocaust Narrative' to 'The Official Covid Narrative'.

Copper, Aluminium, gold, and carbon, all readily draw and give up electrons, so they are great conductors. A 'charge' (deficit of electrons relative to protons in any atom) in one atom of these materials will reproduce this same 'charge' in the next closest atom, by 'drawing' an atom from it.

[Stop and 'grok' this. For this is what all that talk about the 'flowing' of electrical current really refers to. An exchange of 'charges' between neighbouring atoms. The atoms don't flow anywhere. In a DC current electrons do flow from one cell where an artificial surplus and excess of electrons, relative to protons, has been arranged, DRAWN by atoms in another cell where an artificial deficit of electrons, relative to protons, has been orchestrated. The atoms on the 'deficit' side DRAW the electrons they require to return to the natural state of balance, where the number of electrons matches the number of protons, more or less, in an isolated group of atoms. The atoms on the 'positive' side willingly 'give up' those 'excess' electrons that we had 'pushed' in with them, to relieve themselves of the 'pressure' of 'too many electrons Vis a Vis protons. These excess electrons are like single men and women seeking mates. They are 'drawn to' the pool of single men and women in the other cell. They are willing to overcome any resistance put in their way, to attaining their hearts desire. To satisfying their lusts. They will pass through any obstacle. While always seeking 'the path of LEAST resistance'. And any 'short-cuts' that open up to them (short-circuits). The 'Boss' of the circuit abuses this situation to trick them into performing 'work' for them, Herculean labors, during their journey. Placing obstacles in their path that they must 'push through' in order to continue their journey. Resistances they must OVERCOME. Many don't make it. They 'burn up' along the way. But those that fall by the wayside are immediately replaced by new heroes, ready and willing to 'push on and through'. So that, like a flour mill operator placing a water wheel in the current of a stream, the water if compelled to 'do work' for the mill owner by 'pushing' that wheel. And as each molecule of water in turn push through and past that wheel, to continue on their journey, to THEIR desired destination, the mill owner gets his water wheel 'pushed around'. And this does the 'work' of 'pushing the grinding stone around' and thus 'grinding' the flour. The stream might flow too strongly, and threaten to damage the water wheel. So the mill owner might place some obstacles upstream, or even build a damn or weir, to reduce the current to safer levels that the water wheel can handle. Otherwise the current might prove too strong, pushing the wheel around too fast, creating friction between the axel and wheel, and ultimately burning the axel, and destroying the water wheel's functionality.]

Conductors as the ideal role models for human society? Now back to the exchange of 'charges'. Copper atoms, for example, are such 'good' conductors, that they will readily sacrifice – give up – volunteer – donate an electron to, any neighbour 'in need' of one. In the secure confidence that THEIR closest neighbour, in turn, will do the same for THEM. Immediately. Without reservations or delays. So the sacrifice is not really much of a sacrifice at all. Just a virtually instantaneous 'swapping' of electrons among good neighbours. Easy come, easy (let) go. What one neighbour takes this moment, will be immediately replaced by another neighbour. In fact it will be an 'automatic' action. A conditioned reflex-response. Now if Jesus had only such 'generous' and 'good willed' and 'beneficent' atoms to deal with, his call to 'love they neighbour' (even if they are NOT fellow 'Jews') might have found some resonance in his audience! Really what we observe in 'good' conductors is the ideal that 'idealists' have dreamed of for human interaction. Those 'hippies' with their dreams of universal love. Which would result in true security for all. True freedom for all. If only it were compatible with the WORST in human nature. Greed. Envy. Jealousy. And the malice that spring from these. And laziness, when coupled with sense of equal entitlement to enjoy the same goods as the most hard working, self-sacrificing, risk-taking, ambitious, and motivated of workers, according to the motto 'from each according to how much they produce, to each according to how much they want to consume', which destroys any motivation for anyone to work hard, sacrifice anything, and risk anything. Because anything they produce as a result will be 'appropriated' by some Cazy Lunt who has been sitting around just waiting for 'someone ELSE' to produce the goods and services THEY want to CONSUME! So, nice dream. Works for Atoms of conductors. Can't work for humans. We are just too RESISTANT to such high ideals. Unless we found a way to recruit, or produce, ONLY people of good will, with the highest ethical tone, the greatest generosity of spirit, the least envy and greed and jealousy, and the greatest ambition to work hard, take considered risks, and make personal sacrifices, for their own benefit, and for the benefit of their community. A community where benefits were distributed FAIRLY according to ACTUAL work, sacrifice, and risk. And NOT simply according to some POWER STRUCTURE and PYRAMIDAL SYSTEM OF ENTITLEMENTS which are in no way MERITOCRATIC as they do NOT reward REAL effort, sacrifice, and risk, and are based on a DISTORTED AND BLOATED 'SENSE OF ENTITLEMENT'. Such as a pyramidal structure in which Priests of a Cult, who do NO productive work, make NO personal sacrifices, and take NO risks, unilaterally decide they DESERVE 'the best of the best', every freedom and privilege, and an abundance of goods and services, as EXCEPTIONS to the general rule in which 'all the Cult thralls should live in scarcity and want and according to strict proscriptions and prescriptions which deprive them of ANY freedom or liberties that the Cult Priests 'DECLARE' they must give up, and which they only ever return to them in the form of TEMPORARY PRIVILEGES, for 'being good thralls' and 'submitting' and 'obeying' like good serfs, and slaves, and Cult Shleeple.

Resistors the role model for the human nature? Plastic and glass and wood don't readily give up, or 'draw', electrons from neighbouring atoms, so they make for terrible conductors. They simply don't like sharing electrons. They are jealous and possessive. They have a tight grip on their electrons. You won't be able to transfer any 'charges' via that lot. And thus they make for great insulators! Place a copper wire inside a plastic sheath and there is no risk any copper electrons will 'migrate' via the plastic.

In the real world, it is always a mix of both.

The confusing decision to use the term 'Volts' arose from the desire to honor a French scientist. And resistance was measured in 'Ohms' to honor the German scientist who was credited with the discovery of the now eponymous 'Ohms' law. Only like almost everything they teach you in history, this is (according to recent 'revisionists') NOT true. A British scientist named Henry Cavendish, over 45 years earlier, discovered, but forgot to 'publish', the same findings. Or is this itself just 'historical revisionism' in the pejorative sense? As the Soviets used to say 'You can never know what will happen yesterday'. They revise history as they go along. Then call the correction a 'revision'. And the earlier lie 'the official history'. Maybe the Cult of Judah hate it when a German is given credit for anything, unless they happen also to self-identify as 'Jewish'. And even better, betray their German homeland. Like Einstein. Whatever the case, it is a sure that that Cult of Judah agents, traitors who betray their nations like Winston Churchill, will go down in 'The Official History' as 'Great men of History' and 'Saviors of their Nations', while truly great men of history like Adolf Hitler are demonised and defamed as 'criminals'. And the political movements like National Socialism which served Germans and occupied nation workers better than any other in history before or since, will be defamed and demonised and lied about, while Cult of Judah subsidiaries like the 'Soviets', can still be praised, by Putin, as 'Liberators', without his audiences jeering and shouting him down. At the same time as anyone who says ANYTHING positive and fair at all about National Socialism and Adolf Hitler is, in most Cult of Judah occupied nations, going to face heavy fines, professional and social ex-communication, and even long prison sentences.

Any time you add any electrical component to a circuit you increase the resistance of that circuit. That is in fact a measure that you are doing something productive. That your circuit is achieving some purpose. Attaining some ends. Like a life, or other 'story', with zero resistance, no challenges, and nothing but 'smooth sailing', a circuit that simply allows atoms to 'balance each other out' doesn't achieve anything else.

But think about that when it comes to designing experience engines and gaming platforms like 'plane-et earth'. We COULD design a gaming platform where every itch could immediately be scratched. Where every desire could immediately be satisfied. Horny? Here's the ideal sexual partner to quench that thirst. Hungry? Here's the tastiest snack you could imagine. Overweight? Just click your heels together and 'think of your ideal figure' and you have it. It is possible. Ask Bill Gates. Or George Soros. THEY have everything they could possible desire. At their fingertips. Requiring zero effort to enjoy it. Just pick up the phone, and the girls, the food, the cars, the luxuries, the sensations, the pleasures, the satisfactions, will come to you. And so these people must be fabulously HAPPY? Right? Hmm. So why do they spend all their time trying to CONTROL every other person on the plane-et? When they have no need to harm any sentient being, to get what THEY want. To scratch every itch. Satisfy every desire. What does THAT say about human nature? And the NEED for 'purposeful action' defined REFLEXIVELY in relation to RESISTANCE and challenges and obstacles to overcome? If everything comes to us EASILY, we tend not to value it. And we tend to look for CHALLENGES. Such as 'how to gain total CONTROL of every person on the plane-et? How to trick them into paying ME TRILLIONS of dollars for totally worthless, potentially DEADLY, amulets, holy waters, snake oils, and 'protection from the evil eye'? How to ENSLAVE the entire plane-et to MY will? How to start wars in which MILLIONS, potentially BILLIONS, of people, and other animals, will suffer and die unnecessarily? How to RIG ELECTIONS. How to make CULT THRALLS of the world's Shleeple. What is their motivation? Simply to have MORE. To have EVERYTHING. Is it that 'ONLY WHEN EVERYONE ELSE OWNS NOTHING, AND YOU OWN EVERYTHING, WILL YOU BE HAPPY? The ultimate in JEALOUSY? The desire that no-one else enjoy the pleasures, privileges, satisfactions, status, and security that YOU enjoy? The desire that no-one ELSE have ANY rights at all? Own ANYTHING at all?

Capacitors (Caps)

The 'Electric Universe' narrative, which I find much more compelling, as more consistent with observable and measurable phenomena, than 'The Official Narrative', treats our sun as a capacitor. Soaking up dark plasma energy from far away, then discharging it out into our solar system. This model does away with 'The Official Narrative' and replaces it with one that actually doesn't need to be constantly patched up, or require the 'discovery' of 'theoretical substances and forces', which in kid-speak means 'made up stuff'.

I've been 'charging' too, and now it's time to *dis*charge. God's biggest deception was convincing us that he exists. Now THAT is what I call 'sleight of mouth'. So typical of 'Cult of Judah' Neuro Linguistic Programming techniques. Of course the inspiration was 'The Devil's greatest deception was convincing us he doesn't exist'. THAT is the 'original' 'sleight of mouth'. It is LITERALLY the equivalent of claiming that people like me are spreading 'dangerous medical disinformation by claiming Covid does not exist'. LITERALLY. For there is NO empirical evidence that EITHER of these 'Cult of Judah constructed supposed THREATS' actually exist. All the EVIDENCE and sound science and compelling argument points to the fact that both these 'bogey men' are IMAGINARY MYTHS 'created and maintained' in order to facilitate the greatest PROTECTION RACKETS in history. All the Abrahamic Religions. And the new subsidiary of the Cult of Judah, 'The C02vid Cult'. What a relief to have discharged that frustrating insight.

Capacitors are as ubiquitous in circuits as lies are in whichever Cult of Judah 'Official Narrative' you choose to consider. From 'The Official Holocaust Narrative' to 'The Official Covid Narrative'.

Electric fields and capacitance

One of the stars of 'The Official Narrative' is a character called 'Electromagnetic Force'. If we were living in Plato's time, EMF would be anthropomorphized (or is it deified?) as a 'God'. Like 'Aphrodite', 'Goddess of Love', as EMF is responsible for ATTRACTION. But it is also as troublesome as Cupid, because it is responsible, too, for REPULSION. It is the force that makes protons and electrons 'attractive' to each other. It is why 'opposites attract'. And why positive 'charges' also REPEL other positive charges. And negative 'charges' repel other negative charges.

Attraction and repulsion is the result of electromagnetic force. All charged particles possess an electric field associated with this force. This field, this force, draws electrons (negative charges) toward protons (positive charges), and pushes electrons away from one another.

Atoms in a conductor like copper are constantly exchanging electrons with each other. And the movement of electrons from atom to atom produces a constant, omnidirectional (and therefor in a sense non-directional as having no OVERALL, COLLECTIVE, direction) bunch of random, chaotic, electric fields. So they tend to cancel each other out. But if you used a very sensitive measuring device, you would measure the tiny current, the Amperage, generated by this constant exchange of electrons.

But contrive a clear excess of electrons at one end of the conductor, and connect the other to EARTH, and a dominant direction of 'flow' or 'oscillation' of electrons will emerge.

Like DECLARING that 'we are being invaded' focuses the attention of men usually fighting amongst themselves, onto that 'declared threat'. Now they have a COMMON enemy. They all turn to 'face the enemy'. And move in ONE direction. Towards that threat. If that doesn't float your boat' don't worry, I have many different metaphors and one of them might 'hit the spot' and allow us to 'Grok' 'The Official Narrative' as far as it lends itself to 'being understood'. To pass the 'tests' and become an 'authority' you just need to be able to REPEAT 'The Official Narrative' verbatim, and apply it as far as it lends itself to being applied, heuristically.

When voltage is applied across a conductor, an electric field is generated which pushes and pulls electrons through the conductor in AC circuits. Or actually produces a flow of electrons, in DC circuits. So it can be like a river flowing to the sea, or like the tides of the ocean, oscillating back and forth, but not going anywhere. Or like a speaker cone, limited in its 'excursion', but constantly moving back and forth.

Electric fields do not require any conductor. At least 'The Official Narrative' doesn't offer any 'medium' for them to travel through / via. Like say an ETHER!

Electric fields also pass freely through insulators.

'Static electricity' is one example of electric fields in everyday life. 'Static' electric charges are generated, then discharged. Shocking us. And if we don't take precautions, destroying delicate electrical components we touch! Blow up a balloon. Rub it up and down your shirt. Then hold it above someone's head, and watch the electric field your actions generated in the balloon, attract the person's hair. Like an Ancient Greek rubbing bars of Amber on fur, then doing the same thing with it. And marveling at the phenomena!

A capacitor (right) consists of two flat plates made of a conductor like silver or aluminum, separated by a thin 'dielectric' insulating material such as Mylar or ceramic. These act like the two cells of a rechargeable DC battery. Like a DC battery, the two sides do NOT form a circuit. They are 'separated'. Isolated by the insulating layer between them. Terminals allow a voltage to be placed across the two plates. The 'Negative' voltage will push electrons (which are negatively charged) on the plate whose terminal it is connected to, towards the insulating layer. The 'Positive' voltage on the other terminal will 'draw' electrons towards itself, AWAY from the insulating layer. Now remember that the definition of a 'Voltage' is a a condition of relative excess of electrons on one side of a circuit (reflexively referred to as the 'Positive' side of the circuit), relative to a relative deficiency of electrons on the other side (reflexively defined as the 'Negative' side of the circuit). Nature is a LEVELLER. This excess and deficiency will NOT be tolerated by Mother Nature. She is all about 'equity' and 'equality'.

While individual actors experience 'abundance and scarcity' and 'wealth and poverty' and 'heat and cold' and 'wet and dry' and 'low pressure' and 'high pressure', it is 'the nature of things' for these to 'balance each other out'. For example via 'wind'. In both senses of that word. Literally when you experience greater air pressure in your body than the ambient air pressure around it, you 'relieve yourself of the excess air pressure'. And so 'wind' 'blows'. Well it sucks if it knocks down your house. But 'from a distance there is harmony'. Balance. Equity. Equality.

In fact LEVELLING is one side of the dialectic that generates all LIFE AS WE KNOW IT. We have the impulse to excess and deficiency, opposed by the impulse to leveling, to balancing, to equalizing.

Life as we KNOW it. As in 'Life as we are FAMILIAR with'. Hence 'It's life Jim, but not as we know it', means it's a form of life we are not 'familiar' with. And THAT gets to the heart of the dilemma. The dilemma of people being FAMILIAR with LIES and CONSTRUCTS and FAKES and DECEPTIONS and HOAXES, as being 'All they ever knew'. 'All they know'. All they are FAMILIAR WITH. While the actual REALITY is usually withheld from them from birth. So it is TOTALLY *UN*FAMILIAR. It's reality, Jim, but not as we 'know' it'. Get it? It IS real. But so UN-FAMILIAR to us that it is not, for us, real at all. The lies are familiar to us. We define them as 'truths'. 'The Official Narrative' is FAMILIAR to us. We 'know' it. The ALTERNATIVE narratives, many of them far SUPERIOR NARRATIVES, in terms of outcomes and predictive value and the lack of a requirement for any 'Leaps of FAITH' or ASSUMPTIONS, are NOT familiar to us at all. In fact they are ALIEN to us. They have been CENSORED so we never get to become familiar with them. And so we do not 'know' them. And for all intents and purposes they are therefore 'not REAL' for us. Whereas the FAMILIAR and thus 'known' is felt to be real and true. No matter how artificially constructed and choreographed and scripted and directed and manufactured and FAKE and DECEPTIVE it REALLY is.

Applying voltage to the capacitor's terminals produces a relative imbalance of electrons either side of the circuit.

The negative voltage on one side of the circuit pushes electrons (which have a negative charge) through what is now by definition the 'negative' terminal of the capacitor, towards the insulating layer, and the (reflexively) 'positive' side of the capacitor and circuit.

At the same time the reflexively positive voltage on the other side of the circuit 'draws' (pulls-sucks) electrons AWAY FROM the other side of the capacitor, through what is now, reflexively, the 'positive' terminal of the capacitor.

And so we get an increasing 'imbalance' either side of the capacitor, separated by the insulator. And this imbalance is the very definition of a Voltage. As the imbalance becomes more extreme, the Voltage increases.

The POTENTIAL for a current to flow increases. And it will keep increasing until the Voltage across the two terminals of the capacitor equals the Supply voltage, the voltage across the circuit. At which time the capacitor is said to be 'fully charged'.

We can now disconnect the power supply, and the voltage in the capacitor will remain there. This ability to 'store' a 'charge' is called 'capacitance'. Because of the insulating layer between the two 'terminals' of the 'temporary battery' that a capacitor is, the potential has no way of 'flowing' and 'equalizing' itself out. It is like a DC battery with no conductor to 'relieve' the inequality between its two cells via.

To be more precise, a capacitor stores is energy in the form of an electric field that creates a voltage across the two plates. When a capacitor isn't charged, the total negative and positive charges of the capacitor are divided evenly among the two plates. They are in balance. There's no excess-deficiency to instigate a current. There's no voltage across the plates. What we've done is push the same amount of electrons from one side, as we've pulled out of the other side, of the capacitor. Ceteris Paribus. All other things remain equal. So the total quantity of electrons within the capacitor AS A WHOLE never changes. Whereas the number of electrons on EITHER SIDE changes.

It's basically how 'society' works. The Cult elites (we are always ruled by a MONOPOLY Cult made up of many different 'brands', so it LOOKS LIKE we have 'freedom of choice'. Just like the few big corporations own all the others. So your 'favorite brand' is usually produced by the same people who make the other brands. So your favorite 'political party' is controlled by the same people who control the 'party you love to hate'. And all the apparent 'alternatives' are all really run by the same MONOPOLY CULT. Yes, and that Cult ensures that money is 'sucked' away from the poor via taxation, inflation, excessive interest on credit, and 'appropriation of the value they produce'. And 'pushed' onto one side of the 'capacitor'. So that 'The One Percenters' end up with all the electrons, and rest of us end up with the DEFICIT. This produces the phenomena of 'debt slavery' among the 'negatively charged' side of the fence of the capacitor we call 'society'. For with all their electrons being 'sucked' away from them, they have no choice but to 'borrow electrons' and 'work' for the one percenters. On whatever terms and conditions the one percenters, the Cult ELITES, choose.

But, you will say, they are separated by the insulator, so no current can flow. Now remember that electromagnetic fields operate across insulators. They don't require conductors. They don't require a 'bridge' or 'conduit' to travel through or across, to pass from one side of the capacitor to the other. An electric field quickly builds up between the two plates of the capacitor, across the insulator, powered by the Supply voltage. Once 'charged' you can turn the supply voltage off. And if you then connect the capacitor to a circuit, electromagnetic force will be applied across the conductor, for as long as it takes for the negatively charged side of the capacitor to 'draw' electrons from the side of the circuit its terminal is connected to, and for the other side of the circuit to draw the excess electrons on the 'positive' side of the capacitor towards itself. Until each side of the capacitor has an equal quantity / number of electrons. At which point there is no longer any relative deficiency/excess, and not potential for current to flow.

So no current actually flows THROUGH The conductor. But associated electromagnetic forces DO operate ACROSS the conductor, which lead to the imbalance being 'corrected'. The electrical force takes care of the LEVELLING.

And what interests us is that we get movement, either flow (DC) or oscillation back and forth (AC) of electrons through our circuit, either side of the capacitor, being POWERED BY that capacitor. For IT is what is providing the motive force. The electrical field. It generates an electrical field as long as there is a differential of electrons either side of the conductor, within the capacitor.

So we go from an external 'power supply' source of voltage. To an internal 'capacitor' source of voltage. In the form of a an electrical field. . The ability to store a charge in this way is called 'capacitance'.

Capacitors and other 'gate keepers' of wealth and true understanding

Electrons don't flow 'through' the insulator. But their 'build up' on one side and 'evacuation' on the other, produce the POTENTIAL FOR FLOW EITHER SIDE OF THE CAPACITOR. In the same way the poor are given the IMPRESSION that 'money is just on the other side of hard work, sacrifice, and risk', and that itself DRIVES them to work hard for the Cult elites. Even though no money ever CROSSES THE INSULATOR between rich and poor. The simple fact of if ACCUMULATING ON ONE SIDE, in clear view of the poor, motivates them work hard to get it. Even though they simply CAN'T ever get it. All those tasty electrons just sitting there, on the other side of the insulator. So motivating. 'It's in your face, but you can't grab it'!

It's almost like a Zen koan. Or one of Xeno's paradoxes. And I suspect has the potential to reveal a lot to us, once we open our minds up to 'revising' the narrative, and considering 'alternative' narratives. But I am as yet a newbie to this field. It will take time to be able to express and represent my 'olfactory impressions' (something smells 'wrong' in 'The Official Narrative') in symbols and words. And probably song too! Like Maria! 'The sound of TROONATNOOR'. Can't wait to take down some curtains and make some clothing, and go traipsing off over the hillsides!' 'How do you solve the problem of The Cult of Judah'? 'Nothing comes from nothing, nothing ever could'.

So you've placed a voltage across your capacitors. Disconnected the power supply. And now you want to place a load across it. In other words connect it to a circuit, where, in the process of relieving itself of its imbalance, its 'negative' side draws electrons from the positive side of the circuit to satiate its electron hungry atoms, while atoms on the other, 'positive' side of the capacitor are readily giving up excess electrons to 'negative' side of the circuit. So that while no current flows THROUGH the capacitor as such, it becomes the LOCUS of a flow either side of the insulator layer of the capacitor. The insulator becomes the actual 'theoretical static point' of 'Foucault's pendulum. Did anyone say 'Nobel Prize'? Of course first I'd have to promise to murder over a million people, I suppose, like Obama. No, that's for the Nobel PEACE prize. I'd have to 'discover some theoretical particle' a.k.a 'make up something' to get one for SCIENCE! Sure converting to Judaism would massively improve my odds. And then becoming a full on Zionist would further bump up my chances. And I'd have to get behind the whole Co2Vid Cult scam, and apologize to that little terrorist girl who 'sacrificed' months of exciting life as a school student to instead travel the world TERRIFYING us all and SHAMING us, for 'destroying her planet by farting and having driven a car a few times, and wanting to be warm in winter', and line up for my 'jab' and be sure to be seen in public wearing my 'Covid Burkha' and performing the 'ritual hand washing ceremony' before entering a supermarket or any other public building. Oh, and look suitably TERRIFIED any time a 'Case surge' is announced or they distributed some pre-positive PCR Tests to produce a 'PCR positive test result 'hot spot'. And to pretend that my luxury vacation suite with pool and full 'services' was 'self-isolation', you know, like the self-funded solitary confinement cells 'the prols' are tricked into enduring. Because 'We're in this together'. It's not my fault the only 'quarantine hotel' available was a full floor luxury suite with pool and spa package. And it just happened to be part of a beautiful tropical paradise club med resort.

To fully take advantage of the benefits of capacitors, we need to be able to work out how long we need to apply voltage across them, to fully charge them. And then how long we can rely on them to re-pay that voltage, later, when we disconnect the circuit from the supply voltage.

The Calculus involved is beyond the scope of this guide. Instead we will work with 'rough' calculations. But if you get real serious, and 'need to know', you can easily find technical guides that will provide the actual calculations.

Calculating Time Constants for Resistor/Capacitor Networks

Every circuit offers some level of resistance, even bare copper wire. Human minds are no different.

Resistance to CHANGE in their beliefs and resistance to 'challenging the official narratives' which provide a sense of order and 'knowledge', and which the 'knowers' have invested so much time and money in 'learning' (being brainwashed and indoctrinated into).

The significance of the RC time constant

In each interval of the RC time constant, the capacitor moves 63.2% closer to a full charge. With a 9 V DC battery, the capacitor rises to almost 6 V after the first interval. The capacitor picks up 63.2%, of the difference between the starting charge (just under 6 V) and the battery voltage (9 V), roughly two more volts, in the second interval, giving us about 8 V of charge in our cap. We continue the process, and Xeno would be pleased to hear that the capacitor will never be fully charged because with the passing of each RC time constant the capacitor picks up only a percentage of the remaining available charge. But within a few time constants, the caps are almost fully charged.

What we see is diminishing marginal returns. Like with writing and editing my TROONATNOOR publications. I put in the two 'intervals' of time, effort, frustration, and often migraine, nausea, cluster headaches, and other unmentionable pains, to get the 86% returns. Sure I would LOVE to continue working on them, but I have very limited resources, and the 'value' I could produce, for YOU, with the time it would take to 'make my babies more presentable and satisfy my own innate desire for perfection, and to make the most favorable impression I could make on you, and the world, to gain the appropriate levels of credit and acknowledgement I deserve, could produce another 86% of value through OTHER PUBLICATIONS that are waiting for me to complete them, and publish them. So I work on the '80-20' rule. I sacrifice my own pride in my own work, and accept the sometimes bad first impressions I might make on people NOT really interested in my TROONATNOOR enterprise anyway, in order to free up time and mental resources and emotional resources to offer ALL the insights that come to me.

Yes the electrons in my brain keep building up, demanding relief via their expression into words. Their RENDERING as various TROONATNOOR publications. And like atoms, I give them up freely. And can only hope that when I TRULY need some reciprocation, I will get it. And if I don't, well at least I can die feeling I have EARNED A GOOD DEATH. That, as the French writer who used the pen-name CELINE, put it, I will have EARNED A DEATH.

Oh, and I just learned that apparently the REAL reason SOCRATES was condemned to death was for his RIGHT-WING Political leanings! No, seriously. You couldn't make this stuff up. Well of course Cult of Judah types can make up anything. But I mean, serious people like myself. The more I continue with my TROONATNOOR enterprise, the greater the correspondences I see emerging between Plato's Socrates (For Plato himself was quite RIGHT-WING and personally related to several of the '30 Tyrants'), and myself. I too expect to be condemned by 'my peers' for trying to enlighten them of their dogmatic burdens, and free them of their 'CULT' dogmas. My 'daemon' is also a 'good guiding spirit' that tells me 'continue, Markus, even if it means unjust condemnation, imprisonment, and even death'. Did you know that Eudemonia derives from the orginal 'Good Demon' a.k.a 'Good guiding Spirit'. The 'Good life' coach!

Though of course the CHARGES made against Socrates were all 'trumped up' and had almost nothing to do with the REAL reasons he was condemned. People just didn't LIKE him. He wouldn't PANDER to them. And so, while I am clearly a Social Democrat, politics wise, I will surely be CALLED 'Right Wing'. Because I dare 'correct' 'The Official Narrative' regarding National Socialism and Nazi Germany. And Hitler. And the SS. And because today, anyone right of FAR-LEFT is demonised as a 'Far Right Wing Extremist'. The Cult of Judah Commie's are back in power. In fact they never LEFT. They knocked down that wall to EXPAND WESTWARD. Not to 'liberate' their own 'citizens'. And now they are busy 'liberating' the West, just as the Soviet Cult of Judah Jew.S.S.R 'liberated' Russia, Ukraine, Kazakhstan, Eastern Europe, Poland, Romania, Hungary, Czechoslovakia, East Germany, Estonia, Latvia, and Lithuania. And tried to 'liberate' Afghanistan. Which their Occupied Jew.S.A /

U.S.S.A comrades finally did.

Oh, and not to disappoint Xeno AGAIN (as Hume and I have done many times), it is only in THEORY, and in MATH that a capacitor will never become fully charged. In mathematics we can divide any integer into as many 'decimal points' as we choose. There is an infinite number of ever smaller NUMBERS we can play with. But, if you stick to 'The Official Narrative', at some point the very last electron required to 'balance' the two sides/terminals of the capacitor, will be 'drawn' and the cap will be 'fully charged'.

If we limit ourselves to INTEGERS there is a 'primerty'. The 1. The single electron. But what if electrons prove to be made up of even smaller 'things'? And what if we are dealing with something quite different from 'The Official Narrative'? Keep your mind OPEN. Don't let 'The Official Narrative' stop you looking ELSEWHERE for SUPERIOR models, narratives, explanations, and ideas. Entertain ALL the ideas on offer. And see which work BEST, given what we can measure, and demonstrate, and argue, without having to 'make stuff up' and FORCE people to BELIEVE, by threats of ex-communication from the benefits of society. The stronger argument does NOT need to censor the weaker argument. Only the WEAKER argument ever NEEDS to, or would ever WANT to, censor the stronger argument. To PUNISH those who offer the stronger argument. It is a sure sign that you are on the side of the WEAKER argument, if you feel you NEED to RESORT to violence, censorship, propaganda, and even STATE VIOLENCE, such as prison sentences, fines, and blacklisting, simply to 'protect' your WEAKER argument from being EXPOSED for the WEAKER argument that it IS. The INFERIOR option.

'Throwing' Switches

Note that a switch can be located anywhere within a circuit. A circuit must form a CLOSED LOOP. Any time 'break' a circuit, at any point in it, by 'flicking a switch', the current ceases to oscillate/flow.

Voltage is a potential for a current to flow/oscillate until you provide that current with a 'means' of transmission. Such as a copper cable. In the same way people have ALTERNATIVE narratives and ideas and information in their minds, and in their books, which contradicts and challenges and annihilates 'The Official Narrative', but these can't be exchanged with other people under conditions of censorship. Which is ABSOLUTE RESISTANCE to the free flow of ideas.

A 'switch' acts like a CENSOR (weasely called 'fact checker') from The Ministry of Truth (U.N-military-Facebook-Youtube) ensuring facts and compelling arguments expressed by 'alternative' 'independent' sources never reach the ears, eyes, and minds of the general public, and thus inform their decision making. Their decisions to 'comply' with Cult proscriptions and prescriptions, or to refuse to give their mandate to the tyrannical dictates of the Cult of Judah via its new proxies, the United Nations, World Bank, International Monetary Fund, World Health Organisation, CDC, and your local 'friendly looking', Cult of Judah Occupation Government 'authority'. You can 'censor' the independent voices by preventing them from posting, publishing, and speaking publically, by 'blocking' and 'banning' and 'blacklisting' them. Or you can let them publish and post, and even speak in public then 'take down' their posts. And replace them with videos and posts attacking them personally, or claiming their posts have been 'fact checked' and 'found to contain dangerously misleading misinformation'. Even 'hate speech'. You might even arrest them for such 'crimes'. Or you can 'shadow-ban' them, so they THINK their posts are 'live', but really you've 'taken them down' and 'blocked' them. Or you can let them post and publish and talk as freely as they like, then ensure a full spectrum propaganda 'smear campaign' ensures that no-one ever takes them seriously ever again, by totally discrediting them, and ridiculing them personally, along with their ideas. This often requires the services of the next best 'Jewish' 'comic' on the 'Jewish' lamestream media, the most popular of the full spectrum propaganda operations of the Cult of Judah, after 'The News'. You can wire the switch so it 'opens' (breaks) the circuit on both sides of the switch. Which is what most censors today do. They give 'critical reasoners' the full treatment. Both censoring them, preventing them gaining any voice on any platform, and also smearing and discrediting them, personally, or most often 'generally', as 'tin hat conspiracy theory nutters'. Or worse. 'Domestic Terrorists'. Dangerous 'enemies of the state'. Future inmates for all those FEMA camps and 'Covid ISOLATION-QUARANTINE facilities', all versions of the latest Chinese 're-education centers', the 21st century equivalent of the Soviet GULAGS.

Current affairs

Current 'wants' to flow from the 'positive' terminal of the battery with the excess electrons, feeling the pressure of overpopulation, into the tantalising 'green fields' of the (at least at first), virgin territory, the 'unpopulated' new colony on the other side of the conductor, called 'The Negative Terminal'. Oh the stories told of that fair land. A land of atoms that are keen to welcome new immigrant electrons to their loving bosoms. Into their nuclear families. A land of wide open spaces and freedom. Truly 'The promised land' for electrons without a proton to call their own. When you 'flip the switch' above, you would 'read' either +3V or -3V across the lamps terminals, with a Voltmeter, as the electrons between the voltmeter's leads would either be being pushed, or pulled, through the conductor, and lamp, between them. Either +3 Volts of potential is 'forcing' a quantity of electrons through the lamp, in one direction, or a potential of -3Volts is 'sucking out' electrons, in that same direction. The direction being determined by the which voltmeter lead you place left, and which right, of the lamp. Relative to the voltmeters, the same 'pressure' will be 'felt' as sucking or pushing. As compression or expansion. As relative vacuum or pressure pump. Voltage is like pressure. Where the pressure is 'electrical force' rather than kinetic or mechanical force. The potential is electrical, rather than kinetic or mechanical.

With a waterfall, the potential is the height of the cliff-face the water is to fall down, and the force of gravity is a kinetic energy. In the Electric Universe Model it is electro-magnetic force, the same 'familiar' protagonist whose progress we follow throughout the entire narrative. Whereas in 'The Official Narrative' we are introduced, to make that narrative 'work', or at least seem a bit more credible, to an EXTRA new character, one of an ever-growing 'cast of characters' required to 'try to make the narrative seem credible', called 'Gravity'. Gravities 'backstory' is somewhat vague. So that we can never really 'get' its supposed 'motivation'. And just have to 'suspend disbelief' and 'gloss over' things it is held responsible and accountable for, in the plot, and 'official' narrative.

With a 'spring' the 'stored' energy is mechanical. The elastic memory of the coiled metal acts like a 'battery' for the energy used in 'compressing' the spring. To be 'released' when that compressing energy is removed.

Chemical energy like carbon-based fuels give off their stored energy explosively. They are volatile. Always close to the point of 'combusting', so that when just a little 'heat energy' is added to them, they 'go for it', and 'relieve themselves' of their energetic burdens, to retire to a quiet, more dignified and 'noble' life. Becoming more sedentary and 'inert'. Relaxed. Calm. Chill. Like refugees escaping their 'high pressure' overpopulated homelands to 'relax' in the relatively underpopulated 'West', where the first thought that crosses their mind is 'how can we make this new place EXACTLY LIKE THE PLACE WE JUST WENT TO SUCH TROUBLE TO ESCAPE BECAUSE WE HATED IT SO MUCH! Of course those nice 'Jewish people' who care so much about inequality and justice promised us we'd be given homes, and money, by the rich locals there, who had nothing better to do with their money than spend it on us, and make sure we COULD continue our old habits of reproducing at a rate far beyond our ability to PROVIDE for our offspring, any sort of life a reasonable person would consider WORTH living. Other than via TEMPORARY band-aid solutions such as migrating to as yet NOT yet totally-fck'd up-places'. Surely in the time it will take for us to OVER populate these new 'green fields', and turn them 'brown', Allah or YWH or 'the Messiah' or Armageddon or Lord Shiva or Lord Vishnu or SOMEONE OTHER THAN US WHO WE BLAME FOR EVERYTHING AND LOOK TO FOR SOLUTIONS TO PROBLEMS WE MADE FOR OURSELVES will come and solve all our self-made problems FOR us? Right? Isn't that what we give 'the best of the best' to the Priests, to ENSURE? Isn't that WHY we pay such high PROTECTION MONEY to them? To intercede on our behalf WITH the god/s?

Semi-Conductors: Jesus' target demographic and Adam Smith's ideal constituency

Semi-conductors are most commonly made of silicon crystals. To understand how they work, we have to consider 'The Official Narrative' in which electrons are organized in layers called 'shells', like the layers of an onion. The outermost 'valence' shell holds the electrons that form the 'valence' bonds, that are always being 'drawn' by, and lost to, neighboring atoms, so that the loser atom must in turn 'draw' a 'valence' electron from the next atom to come by, and so on. But while valence electrons are 'wandering' (Nibiru-Habiru-Hebrew-Odysseus) between atoms, they are moving, and creating an electric field around themselves, which, as long as they continue moving, repels other electrons. So they are like self-powered projectiles. And in the case of conductors like Copper and silver, they are 'loners'. Copper and silver atoms have just one valence electron that likes to 'wander'. It's a natural born 'drifter'. 'Nothing is keeping you here', thinks the lone valence electron. It is so far from the proton it is 'paired' to, it doesn't really feel a part of the atom. The relationship it is in seems merely nominal. That proton is so distant. Our electron feels estranged from its proton partner, so far away in the nucleus. The proton has lots of friends in there. But for our lone valence electron, it is lonely, out there in the valence shell. And potential 'partners' keep passing by, tantalizingly close. Our lone wolf can't help but feel the attraction. The 'potential' for 'something better' possibly waiting for them. That desire for a change of location, to 'take a chance and see if maybe life could be better elsewhere, in a different 'family' or 'community', becomes overwhelming when another copper or silver atom whose own 'valence' atom has itself gone 'wandering', passes seductively close by. It is an impulse decision. The attraction is too great. And thus another 'Nuclear' (Atomic) family loses its most vulnerable member. But NIEMALS VERZWEIFELN, to quote one of the greatest men of history. Atoms are passing by all the time, and their valence atoms tend to feel the same way about their current situation, so, almost immediately that any 'position' left open by the last valence electron to 'jump ship', it will be filled by a new recruit. Maybe this one will 'fit in' better? Well, it's not likely. We are dealing with a structural, endemic, problem. Being a valence electron is just bad luck, or, depending on how you look at it, good luck. The valence electron gets to travel. To see new atoms. To live a 'charged' existence, as it hurtles through space, from atom to atom. Like a comet. Generating electric fields as it moves. It is change personified. Or is it, objectified? It is the embodiment of change. The product and generator of, change. An AGENT of change and the AGENCY of change. Moving around, 'making a disturbance' everywhere it goes. 'What are you rebelling against? What you got?'. The MARDUK of the atomic scale, hurtling in from 'elsewhere', re-forming atomic solar systems, before continuing on its way. Leaving a new order in its wake. 'A terrible beauty (is) born', perhaps?

The situation just described is exactly what makes copper and silver such good conductors A moving electron creates its own magnetic charge, as it IS moving. From atom to atom. Like Marlon Brando's 'Rebel without a cause', 'creating a disturbance'. Creating potential for CHANGE. For making stuff happen. For making current flow/oscillate in a circuit.

'What you rebelling against?' 'What you got?' It's about change for change's sake, for these 'wanderers'. 'Anything is better, than being alone'. Even though the next 'gig' is not likely to be any better, 'a change is as good as a holiday'. And 'hope springs eternal'. And finding things are NOT any better, anywhere, they are continually 'on the move'. They aren't going to give up. It's not in their nature. False hope draws them on. Hope rounding every corner. Tomorrow is ONLY a day away. The next ATOM will be the RIGHT atom. Things are SURE to work out better THERE. 'Somewhere over the rainbow'. 'Paradise city'. Where the shells are green and the protons are pretty'. Finally they will feel they have come 'home'. They will be able to 'exhale'. After their endless wanderings. Like Odysseus in HIS 'self-powered' and 'self-navigating' vessel. 'Drawn' home. To his everlasting rest. After his 'Herculean' labors.

Schopenhauer and Buddha could have warned our 'Wandering electron' that their hope is all an illusion. A sadistic, cruel, trick, played upon it by the malicious, jealous, vindictive 'god' of the atoms. Zeus. For the femme-bot Pandora's job was to bring a sealed container of misery, suffering, and woe to humans. And at the bottom of that container Zeus placed the cruelest torment of all. HOPE. For it was FALSE. And would ensure that humans were deceived into ENDURING all the OTHER torments contained in Pandora's 'box'. It would ensure our 'wandering' 'valence electron' would NEVER cease hoping and striving and enduring whatever came its way, in the VAIN quest to 'find a home'. To find 'stability'. 'Happiness'. A loving family. Somewhere it could 'BELONG'.

Oh, were you hoping for some equation or formula or 'rule' you could just memorise, so you could PRETEND that you 'know what electricity is'? So you could NAME 'the shadows on the wall' as they appear in succession, and predict their NEXT moves? Sorry, I am like the Ancient philosopher approaching all this for the first time, trying to REALLY make SENSE of it. To really GROK it. I'm not trying to 'pass some exam' to 'get some job'. To get some 'degree' so I can act AS IF 'I know what electricity is'. So I can pretend to be an AUTHORITY on 'electricity'. As if I have ALL the dogma. All the articles of faith. Having memorised 'The Official Narrative'. A wise 'electrician'.

Once inducted into that oc-cult society, the 'electrician' will feel entitled that you show some respect and stop asking stupid questions like 'yes, sure, that sounds fine, but what do you MEAN when you say…' SHUT UP will you. I just TOLD you the formula. I gave you all the NAMES of ALL THE CHARACTERS in my narrative. I've REPEATED the dogmas. The articles of faith. It is not MY fault you are an ignorant HEATHEN INFIDEL and have chosen to REJECT my 'Electricians CULT'. You MUST be CRAZY. I mean, it is SCIENTIFIC. Look, it's FULL OF NUMBERS EVEN. OBJECTIVE NUMBERS! And just look at this COMPUTER SIMULATION OF OUR MODEL! And haven't you noticed 'Almost everyone ELSE understands'. They ALL agree. There is CONSENSUS! Who are YOU to defy the WEIGHT of public opinion? Do you hear anyone ELSE 'questioning' the dogma? No. Collective ignorance? What are you going on about? Self-censorship? What now? Why would anyone censor THEMSELVES. To avoid what? Ex-communication? Ridicule? Loss of income? Even prison? No no no. You've got it all wrong. ONLY people spreading dangerous disinformation and lies EVER get censored. And only BAD people get sent to prison. You've thoroughly researched and written books on the subject? Really? Well why aren't you famous, and successful, and celebrated on television? Surely if your books and ideas were any good, I'd have heard about you and your books long ago? Look, I'm too busy to waste time reading your books. I've got to get back to 'paid work'. Stop interfering. I'm trying to get 'paid and laid'. I don't have time for your 'philosophy' and 'conspiracy theories'.

Yes, so it turns out that 'false hope' is what drives our wanderer to eternal motion. To eternal 'disturbance'. They will never find peace for long. Almost the moment they find their 'greener pasture', it turns out to have all been a mistake. An illusion. And no sooner have they 'arrived home', they are already seeking a new destination. And an attractive, simply by virtue OF being a 'new', proposition, always seems to turn up quicker than you'd think. A passing atom with an irresistible ATTRACTION. A 'draw'. Will be 'drawing' our valence electron any moment now.

Only this continually 'shifting' of valence atoms among silver and copper atoms doesn't do any 'work' for us. And we are, after all, the center of the universe, right? We are entitled to 'earn something' from everything that happens in this world. But what do WE get from all this 'moving about'? Hey? Pretty pointless, given WE are the referent of all cost-benefit analyses. Given that OUR pleasure, pain, and relief, are the ONLY things that a REAL. Or at least COUNT. Matter. If you are a cult leader, and all your cult thralls are 'all over the world' interacting with that world, you can't really USE them for YOUR own purposes. What you need is to get them all in one place. Where you can exploit their restlessness to your own advantage. Employ it as means to YOUR own ends. So you need to make it SEEM to THEM that they have a greater POTENTIAL for happiness, prosperity, and security, in ONE PARTICULAR PLACE. Make them all think of this as a 'promised land'. 'A land of milk and honey'. Or their equivalents for valence electrons. That they will be able to cease WANDERING.

And finally 'Come Home'.

When you do this, you automatically set up the The POTENTIAL for 'wandering' valence atoms to feel DRAWN to your location. Instead of just randomly wandering 'among the nations', they will take on a distinct DIRECTION that YOU have 'orchestrated'. You will have given them a specific motivation to move to a PARTICULAR place. At least in a particular DIRECTION. With the 'myths' you created and maintained, ABOUT this 'promised land'. This 'home for the wandering valence electrons'. The WHO? Yes THEM. The Wanderers – Nibiru-Hibiru-Hebrews. The VALENCE electrons. They've been wandering, full of hope, for so long they'd almost LOST hope. Their most respected leaders had begun teaching them that 'All is Vanity'. That all striving was in vain. That all hope was FALSE. A false friend. Tricking you into ENDURING suffering. They retold that foul tale of Zeus, ordering Hephaesteus to build the femme-bot PANDORA. To ultimately TRICK humans into suffering, so that the vindictive, Jealous 'god' Zeus, who had originally 'created' them, could enjoy watching them suffer. How DARE his creation seek equality with HIM. Zeus was jealous of his 'special' technologies and knowledge. Humans had had NO right it accepting a share in them. They were for HIM alone. Zeus. And now they would suffer, for eternity, every cruel torment and misery Zeus could imagine, and devise for them. With HOPE being the ultimate, malicious, trick. To deceive his tormented victims into ENDURING the worst he could inflict on them, for ETERNITY. Or until his 'terrible twos' infantile temper tantrum passed. And he once more felt some goodwill towards his 'creations'. His 'pets'. They'd surely be grateful, and worship him slavishly, from then on? Submit to his will without pausing to reflect, let alone question him. Or his RIGHT to enslave them all. Yes. They would WELCOME him back. As master. Back to his RIGHTFUL place. They as willing slaves. Lap dogs. Submissive pets. And he as master of all. With ALL the power. And them completely DEPENDENT on his arbitrary whims, and fancies. HIS will be done! After all the 'tribulations', they would surely WELCOME him BACK, and place him on the THRONE where he BELONGS!

Now if this was a Platonic dialog, the speaker's (my) interlocutors would all be in respectful agreement. 'Yes, by the Dog, that is EXACTLY how it is'. Yes, just so. And how could it be otherwise? But what is YOUR response?

Do you feel I am 'blowing smoke up your vagina'? Or other orifice? I don't claim to be an Oracle speaking for the Dog Apollo. Like the ancient philosophers before the Cult of Judah came to its hegemonic position, I build up compelling arguments from first principles. Based on the evidence of my senses. Based on logic. Based on observation. Based on INDUCTIVE SCIENTIFIC METHOD. I make no claims to KNOW anything at all. I merely offer compelling arguments which I encourage you to ENTERTAIN, as I myself do. Until we have considered ALL the possibilities, and then can decide which are the MOST compelling, based on actual PRINCIPLES, rather than 'Oh, that one suits ME fine, I'll take THAT ONE please' or taking a vote, and going with 'the majority opinion', even though barely any of the actual indivduals who make UP that majority have given the subject under discussion the slightest thought. Instead 'going along with' whatever they were told as children, and students, by their 'authorities'. Instead merely going along with HEARSAY that they have accepted as 'Dog's word'. As 'The Gospel'. As BEYOND question. As 'self-evident' truth. Why self-evident? Well it FEELS so FAMILIAR. I am COMFORTABLE with it. And how far isn't that, after all the DEFINITION of 'the KNOWN'? Something FAMILIAR?

But back to our 'Valence electrons'. The best conductors typically have just ONE valence atom in their outer 'valence' shell. Typical semi-conductors have FOUR electrons in their outer, 'valence' shell. Carbon, silicon, and germanium atoms RARELY find themselves 'short' an atom. They tend to retain the 'full complement' of protons and electrons required to remain 'balanced' and 'stable'. They are 'well-balanced' individuals that function very nicely in the mechanistic society's they form. The 'elements'. And what's MOST impressive of all, they are SHARERS. They willingly SHARE valence electrons with NEIGHBOURS. This is in fact the basis of their 'stability' as atoms. And the basis for their ability to build 'communities' called 'crystals. Yes folks, here are the ATOMS that JESUS should have adopted as his 'people'. These are Jesus's constituency'. His 'demographic'. His message WOULD resonate with this lot. Not those 'wandering' you know who's. But these kind and gentle folk. Not jealously hoarding valence electrons for themselves. But joyfully SHARING them with their neighbours. So there is no greed, jealousy or envy. So that the conflicts that are bound to emerge from such greed, envy, and jealousy, never have a chance to develop. YOU lose NOTHING by sharing. And you gain a close friend. An ally. Now THIS is what COMMUNITY BUILDING is all about! This is the TRUE POLITICAL SCIENCE. Forget that 'fascia' symbol of the sticks tied together. These atoms are BONDED together in four places, to each other. That's what I call 'tight'. That's the recipe for security and stability. That's the basis of mutual strength. An electron shared is literally an electron GAINED. By BOTH parties. That's the way to form, and grow, 'communities'. Crystals. And such beautiful communities. Which many humans ascribe beneficial, almost magical, powers to. They feel naturally 'attracted' to them.

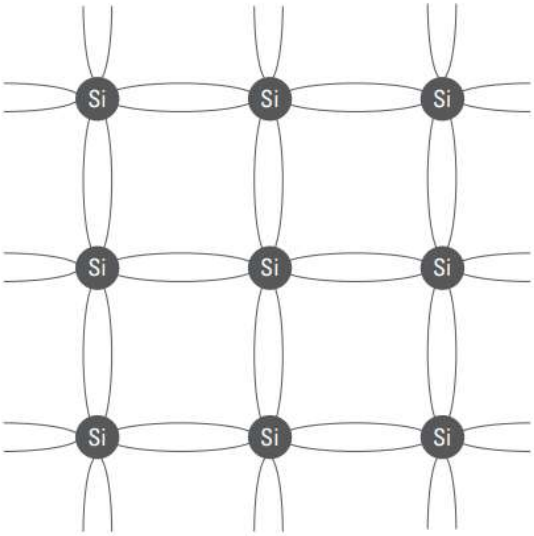
'Everybody loves good neighbors. That's when good neighbors, become, good, friends!' And semi-conductors make the BEST neighbors of all. Maybe why property prices are so high in 'Silicon Valley'!

So semi-conductors like Carbon, and silicon love to 'share'. They end up forming very intimate 'bonds' with neighboring atoms. Built upon the foundation of SHARING. Of reciprocity. Of mutual 'caring and sharing'. And if they are lucky enough to find themselves among OTHER semi-conductor atoms with the same 'sharing' nature, they are quick to 'bind' themselves to them, and form 'communities' of atoms. They are so warm and sharing by nature that they will share ALL their 4 valence atoms with neighboring atoms of the same 'kind'. O.K, sounds terribly racist, until you realise there are CARBON atoms from EVERY nation and self-defined 'race'.

If all the neighboring atoms are of the same type, say CARBON, or SILICON, it's possible for all the valence electrons to bind with valence electrons from other like atoms.

This is where the MAGIC happens. Self-arranging crystalline structures emerge as the atoms arrange themselves into neat and orderly 'crystalline' structures. Crystals. This is the ORIGINAL parthenogenesis (virgin birth). The original 'spontaneous organisation'.

These are the crystals semiconductors are made of. Crystals of silicon and sometimes germanium. Why not Carbon? Well the problem with carbon is that women find it as attractive as carbon atoms do. But unlike CARBON (though they are supposedly carbon BASED life-forms), WOMEN don't like to SHARE their 'DIAMONDS'. And the wandering 'who's' who control the distribution of these atoms, ensure the PRICES are extremely high. But hey, why not try EXPLAINING to your wife or girl-friend that 'look, they have the SAME number of valence electrons, so they are, essentially, THE SAME THING', as you counter her quizzical looks when you hand her a SILICON ring. Sure, she might accept silicon in breast implants. But she only got THEM in hope of getting those OTHER carbon crystals. Also known as 'DIAMONDS'. Nah, just kidding. Desperate for some relief from a migraine-tension headache-cluster-headache-sinus inflammation I am trying to manage. Anything to try to lighten my thoughts and take some stress and tension out of my shoulders, neck, tongue, MIND, and life in general!



Left is an illustration to help visualise Silicon atoms joined together to form 'silicon crystals' by sharing all 4 of their valency atoms, so that we can speak of 'co-valent bonds'. Si is the symbol for Silicon. The lines represent the co-valent bonds. So that each Silicon atom is 'bonded' to four other silicon atoms. Forming a Silicon CRYSTAL. And here's something else that MUST become crystal clear to you, if you are EVER to regain your freedom, liberty, and basic humanity. It is a great thing to 'bond' via the 'bonds of friendship'. The 'bonds of sharing and caring'. But 'religion' (from the Latin 'religiare' meaning 'to bind'), binds us in CHAINS forged of LIES. So that we live in a mind-prison called 'The Official Narrative'. The 'Social Reality' the CULT of Judah has engineered, scripted, orchestrated, and manages, via its full spectrum propaganda machine, and control of the world financial system, and through that, control of what are now its proxies, The World Bank, The International Monetary Fund, The United Nations, The World Health Organisation, and your local 'Democratic People's Republic of…' occupation government 'authorities'.

You've been told that 'The Devil's biggest trick was to deceive the world into thinking he did not exist'. Really? Ever heard of 'sleight of mouth' (a Neuro Linguistic Programing term)? Well that was perhaps THE 'original', and most LUCRATIVE 'sleight of mouth' of all time. You see the REAL 'Silly Con' was to trick people, via such 'sleight of mouth' into ASSUMING IN THE FIRST PLACE that any devil of any sort ever EXISTED at all. By 'framing' the question in a particular way, the ASSUMPTION that something called 'the devil', in fact some being called 'The devil', actual exists, is 'snuck in through the back door' (in the basement, to maintain the correspondence with the idea of 'sub-liminal' suggestion), while the inhabitants of the home had all their attention 'mis-directed' to the front door. The REAL and OLDEST trick in the CULT PROTECTION RACKET book is to get people to ASSUME that 'the devil', some 'threat', some 'bogey man', ACTUALLY EXISTS AT ALL. When it fact 'he' is just a character in 'The Official Cult Narrative'. And has no existence outside of that narrative. He is a mythical being. Created by the Cult. And BELIEF in him is maintained by that Cult. To provide an IMAGINARY threat that the Cult can then SELL 'protection' from. All the Cult thralls need to do to regain their SECURITY from this imaginary threat, is to SUBMIT to the Cult's otherwise ARBITRARY prescriptions and proscriptions. They are arbitrary in terms of benefitting the Cult thralls in NO way whatsoever. They in fact HARM the cult thralls, rather than protect them from something. But they are not arbitrary in the slightest, in relation to the perceived interests of the CULT ELITES. The CULT PRIESTHOOD and other CULT BENEFICIARIES. Because the Cult can now EXTORT PROTECTION MONEY from the Cult thralls. And the proscriptions and prescriptions all benefit the CULT elites. They give the CULT elites TOTAL CONTROL over every aspect of their Cult thrall's lives. They make willing, motivated, submissive, SLAVES of the Cult Thralls. And today all they have done is replace 'The devil' with new bogey men they have invented. New threats they can use to play out the same old con. The same old 'protection racket'. 'Man-made global climate crisis' and 'Covid 19'. So that the Cult now rules via 'The Official Co2vid Narrative'. This is the NEW 'blank check' it tricks its cult thrall's into writing for it. The Cult can now write ANY figure on that check. The thralls have already signed it over. In fact 'The Official Covid Narrative' is a limitless book of blank-checks. All pre-endorsed by the thralls. The tax payers. Who will become debt-slaves as the Cult 'cashes' check after check, in the form of 'lockdowns' and 'social distancing' and 'mandatory face masks' and 'mandatory injections' and 'travel restrictions' and economic wrecking of small and medium sized businesses, restricting all social and economic activity to 'the mere essentials', restricting all government services such as health and education services, all of which have nothing to do with any real health threat, but everything to do with depriving us of all our human rights, all our freedoms, all our liberties, any privacy, even of our basic humanity itself. We are not even allowed to visit sick and dying loved ones. They want to deprive us of our most basic humanity. I cannot overemphasize that. By conditioning us to behave and FEEL as if we are NOT human, they can relegate us to the 'cattle' class that their strategic play-book called 'The Torah' defines us as. As NOT human. Merely animals their god made in the SHAPE of humans, so as to be better slaves, for the ONLY humans on the plane-et. A small group AMONG 'The Jews' who have self-defined themselves as 'The Chosen People'. With a monstrous sense of entitlement to enslave every sentient being on the plane-et to their own will. As mere means to THEIR own selfish ends. THAT, dear reader, is the REAL trick that has been played on humanity by the REAL 'devils', The Cult of Judah elites.

So, from the 'Silly Con' that should demand your immediate 'sense of urgency' in remedying, back to Silicon in the context of electrical circuits.

Silicon crystals can be 'augmented' in ways that make them extremely useful for our purposes, in electrical circuits. This is called 'Doping'. It is the 'performance enhancing' of the electronics world.

Silicon is NOT a conductor. Copper is. In the middle of a conductor-insulator spectrum that these lay either side of we have 'semi-conductors'.

P and N type semiconductors

'Semi-conductors' ACT LIKE conductors. N-type semiconductors are produced by adding an element like phosphorous to Silicon. Phosphorous has 5 valence electrons, which readily bind to four of the Silicon atoms' 4 valence electrons. Leaving one free electron, in this case in the shell of the PHOSPHOROUS atom, to behave just like the single electron in the copper atom's outer shell. Two families have united in marriage, but one child is left uncoupled. So that passing atoms have the same 'attraction' for it, as for the 'wanderer' in our copper atom.

P-type semiconductors are produced by adding boron atoms to Silicon atoms. Boron atoms have 3 valence electrons in their outer shells that readily bond with 3 of the 4 valence electrons in the Silicon atoms' outer shell. So once more we have one free electron, only this time in the silicon atom that is not paired to a proton in the silicon atoms nucleus. But in this case the situation is referred to as 'an electron gap' or 'hole'.

[And just like in the best porn, holes will be filled. Its scientific. Nature hates a vacuum. You dig a hole, nature will fill it. With something. (But we are expected to simply swallow 'The official narrative' assumption that MOST of the entire UNIVERSE is literally that most loathesome of things to nature, a VACUUM? So that television announcers can say, with a straight face, and without any fear of public ridicule 'The Spaceship is now entering the vacuum of space'!)]

Yes, so this 'hole' is unbearably attractive to other electrons. They cannot resist it. Like a horny teenage boy living next door to that nympho we spoke of earlier. That hole is gonna be filled and tut suite (how to spell that?) So one hole is filled, and another one is produced, by that electron, that couldn't help itself. It left a loving home, and family, to satisfy that irresistible temptation offered by 'the electron gap'. The 'hole'. But don't worry, the wife won't be left alone too long. Because ANY hole that becomes available becomes an irresistible attraction for the next electron to come along. And her, I mean its, hole will almost immediately be 'filled' by another electron. And once you start something like this you can't stop the chain reaction. Almost immediately that one electron satisfies its lust to fill the next hole it sees, leaving a hole left unattended, that hole attracts a new inhabitant from an atom that then is left with a hole which will attract an electron from the next best atom that passes, and on and on. You get a 'Blitz Schnell' (that would have been my motorcycle racing nick-name, or B.S for short, and yes, Mrs Adams, I am being facetious!) and constant, random, exchange of electrons between the 'doped' silicon atoms. Now I wonder if sportspeople's sexual partners benefit from their doping in a similar fashion? JFK was apparently 'doped up' on sex hormones most of the time, to combat a chronic, debilitating, and expected-to-be-fatal medical condition, and that might account for his great interest in 'the ladies'. Or was that just because he was a ROCK-STAR? I mean, it takes real KAHOONAS to stand up to The Cult of Judah. Only Adolf Hitler before him had ever dared THAT. Two TITANS. Doomed to be destroyed by their ambitions to free us, and 'the Jews' from The Cult of Judah.

Opposites attract. Proving Antifa and Fascists are CLEARLY both Cult of Judah productions. Because they HATE each other. Well their leaders work for the same people, and ARE Cult of Judah agents, so I mean the idiots who allow themselves to be 'played' by the Cult of Judah by 'joining' some Antifa or Fascist organisation. Hey, genuine COMMUNISTS are welcome to set up their own VOLUNTARY communes, and I might even set one up myself, if I could find the right vegans to do so. And National Socialists have a right to their own nations, if they are capable of finding a Fuhrer who won't lead them astray. Hey, I'd even volunteer for the position. But I'd never serve under an INFERIOR master. Call them Fuhrer or Comrade Party Chief. I entertain BOTH alternatives as viable. I love the uniforms and real community of Nazism, but hate homophobia and racism. And I love the idea of communal living, but hate being exploited by lazy self-entitled people who will be sure to reproduce as many copies of themselves as they can manage to, while living off MY effort, risk, and sacrifice, doing the least amount of work they can get away with!

So, in the context of electronics, we can expect that electrons, with their NEGATIVE 'charge' will be attracted to POSITIVE 'charges'. Or to put it the other way around, Positive 'charges' will 'DRAW' electrons TOWARDS them. They will 'suck' electrons towards them.

Always keep in mind that the term 'positive charge' is a way of expressing a relative excess of electrons: neutrons in atoms on one side of a circuit, compared to a relative deficiency of electrons:protons in the atoms on the other side of the circuit.

It's all REFLEXIVE. Relative. Pain and Pleasure and relief are the ONLY absolutes. And the 'primerty' (1). Everything else is relative. A relatively different QUANTITY of primerties (1s). Which reflexively produce all 'qualities'. All 'differences' in the way our minds RENDER different quantities. Which we call 'objects' and 'subjects' and tastes, smells, sounds, colors, and all that 'phenomenal' stuff we experience as 'impressions' and ultimately 'reality'. Way to deep for you? O.K, let's take a deep breath, fill the oxygen takes, and 'come up' closer to the surface!

We are dealing with electro-magnetism. When one is present, suspect the other will soon appear in some form. With some impact. Some consequence. Often good. But potentially lethal. Especially over the longer term.

A 'Voltage' occurs when the normally random, omnidirectional exchange of electrons between atoms is given a definitive 'direction'. By orchestrating the situation in which marginally MORE atoms on one side of a circuit have a deficit of electrons relative to protons, compared to the other side. So there is a 'draft' of electrons as the deficient atoms 'draw' a lot more electrons from their left, than is occurring randomly and omnidirectional among the rest of the atoms in the circuit.

You might even wrangle cats in the same way. They'd be fighting and bickering amongst themselves, or mostly sleeping I guess, and you'd have to provide some INCENTIVE or MOTIVE for them all to CHOOSE to WANT to get up and walk right. Like with most humans, I wouldn't expect REASONABLE RATIONAL ARGUMENTS to do the trick. But place something THEY ALL LOVE at one end, and something they all HATE at the other, and soon they'll be 'marching in lockstep' in the direction YOU want them to. The one that serves some purpose for YOU. That is a means to some ends for YOU. Maybe you have a mouse problem. The cat's are too well fed to be interested. Or they all went vegan. Taking special supplements to ensure they got enough TAURINE and so on. You appeal to the cat's good nature. To their compassion for YOU. How good it would be for YOU if they would help you out, by scaring away the mice. But why should THEY care about YOUR problem? What's in it for them? Good luck with your mouse problem, but we've got our own little arguments and squabbles to settle over here. Lives to live. Too busy to consider all those compelling arguments you claim to have for why we SHOULD help you out.

So you arrange for it to 'rain' on one side of the room. Cats DETEST rain, right? And you place bowls of catnip in the room with your mouse problem. Irresistible for cats, apparently. And suddenly the cats catch a whiff of that marvelous stuff. And, your mouse troubles are history. Seeing a wave of cats suddenly rushing into the room, the mice will react according to the motto 'run to the hills, run for your lives'.

You want to populate your new-found island with people? Well you only have to describe the 'lovely virgins wimmin folk of the feminine persuasion' who live there. Once you've tricked the men into committing to the voyage, you can convince them they can 'recover their sunken costs' by building farms and so on, to attract mates to their island. And your 'noble lie' is soon a reality. Assuming the land is fertile, and all goes well, your lie will prove 'noble', and no-one will be bitter. But if you 'green' land turns out to really be an 'ice' land, you might have a revolt on your hands. The men might end up settling there, but at very least they will never trust YOU ever again. And if they decide not to fall for the 'sunken costs fallacy' and return home, you might not live long enough to write your best-selling book on 'How to become King of your own island'.

If you want people to stop doing something, lie to them that it is dangerous. If you want them to do something they would never freely choose to do, you tell them 'its necessary, for your PROTECTION'. From what? Make something up. 'Invisible elephants'. Oh, and they are 'pink'. Yep. Dangerous. Step on people. Squash 'em. They are attracted to, by sheer coincidence all the things YOU don't want the people doing or having. And they can be scared off by, guess? Yep, all the things you WANT them to do and to have. You want people to submit to forced injections, even to 'beg you' to be injected, and be willing to imprison people who won't submit? And to pay BILLIONS in taxes to YOU to pay for useless injections of 'holy water' you will call 'vaccinations'? Or worse, injections of things most people in their right minds would NEVER dream of letting anyone inject them with? Well you tell them 'It's for your protection'. You know, from those 'invisible pink elephants'. Oh. I see. Right then. Ah, where do I get 'the jab'? Governments would NEVER lie to me. Right? Politicians are honest, noble, creatures. Self-sacrificing. They only want to HELP. Right? Damn those invisible pink elephants. THEY are to blame for all the economic wrecking, loss of all my human rights, my freedoms, my liberties, by privacy. Dog dam them invisible pink elephants to hell. THANK DOG for our government, and those really nice 'vaccine' people and 'anti-invisible pink elephant charm' inventors. Well, if it weren't for THEM, imagine where we'd be. Everyone being squashed to death by pink elephants. I mean, I couldn't sleep, not knowing if an invisible pink elephant were about to sit on me, or squash my children. Thank DOG for those people who somehow SAW THIS COMING and prepared YEARS BEFORE the invisible pink elephant plague actually began. How DID they know so far in advance. Now THOSE are CLEVER people. People we should TRUST. And be grateful for. And honor. And reward. Surely they've EARNED the billions of dollars we pay them. For the 'protection' they provide. Thank Dog for them! We surely would never have survived this invisible pink elephant plague without them. In fact, thanks to THEM, not a single person has EVER died from being squashed by an invisible pink elephant that I personally know of. Sure some were reported in the media. Especially overseas, where they are having a hell of a time in places where the invisible pink elephant specialists have NOT been able to get their people to do the NECESSARY things to PROTECT THEMSELVES AND THEIR LOVED ONES from invisible pink elephants. But personally, I don't know ANYONE who suffered such a terrible fate. And it is CERTAINTLY ALL THANKS TO THOSE GRAND FOLK who warned us in time, and put all those 'measures' in place, and PROTECTED us from the invisible pink elephants. And lucky for us they are already preparing for the 'mutation' of those elephants into invisible BLUE elephants. And they are getting the NEW 'vaccine' ready to protect us from THAT NEW EMERGING threat. But lucky the lockdowns and other measures are STILL in place, and everything can be 'LOCKED DOWN' immediately, now they've 'educated' the people to immediately RESPOND to ANY DECLARED INVISIBLE PINK, OR BLUE, PINK ELEPHANT THREAT. Whew. Dodged a bullet on that one. AGAIN.

'Discovering' a.k.a 'making up' theoretical particles and forces (making stuff up)

'The Official Narrative' itself is full of holes, that only appear to have been filled by 'discovering' 'theoretical' particles and 'laws'. What kindergarten children call 'making stuff up'. What renters call 'painting over holes they've made in the walls'. Or shoddy cleaners call 'sweeping the dust under the rug'. So don't worry so much if either of us fail to really 'grok' all this. What interests us at this point is to 'entertain' 'The Official Narrative' and see where that gets us. What we can do with the cast of characters, and the 'shadows on the wall', and our ability to predict which shadow will follow which, in the usual succession of shadows. What we can build with the electronic components available to us, to build circuits to do things we will find useful. In my case to build the optimal 'universal power generator' for use by anyone, anywhere, to generate electricity from whatever sources they have available. And to build the optimal, universal, 'loaded guitar scratch-plate' a.k.a 'guitar wiring harness'. But don't worry, I will certainly be revisiting all the 'theory' as soon as I get some sort of holistic overview that might inform that iteration.

Diodes and 'government'

A diode is used to allow the current in the circuit (left) to flow in just one direction. Like our phony democracy. Where government is free to tell us what to do, but try to tell government what to do, and see how far you get.

The diode is like a turnstile that turns ONLY in this direction. Like the entry turnstile to a stadium. Or the exit turnstile of a train station. So the current is free to flow through it ONLY in one direction. When the current is moving from positive to negative (positive bias). But 'throw the switch' and now the 'polarity' of the circuit is reversed, and it is flowing in the opposite direction. But the turnstile won't turn. So no luck. No free ride on the train. And if you want to get in, you'd better have a token for the entry turnstile. The exit turnstile for that game also will only turn in the direction you don't need it to.

Sadly people in 'tech' industries often operate in different 'representation' systems than writers do. I need words. Sentences. Logical narratives. Some people just 'grasp' a bunch of images and icons and symbols almost intuitively. They find them immediately full of information and explanation. I need an actual step by step, verbal, explanation. Which means I am a good 'interpreter', the moment I manage TO actually 'grok' WTF is being 'represented' by those people with different 'dominant representation systems' to myself, and who, I can only hope, actually DO 'grok' what they are doing, and WHY, and 'what it all means'.

I get the feeling most people manage to WORK with stuff, and 'make things work', without every REALLY 'grokking' what they are doing, and WHY it works. When such a person DOES manage to 'learn the ropes', THEY are the ones who are likely to 'stumble up' 'the next big discovery', or work out a clever, innovative, NEW way to use the existing components, or to 'tweak' them to get them to do NEW stuff. And 'technological progress' is usually an incremental accumulation of very small 'innovations' and 'improvements' and 'insights', which, from our present position, it is often hard to identify. All the 'consumer' really notices are the 'sudden leaps forward' in technology. Not all the 'baby steps' involved. Often in totally 'unrelated' fields. Over long stretches of time. Like the performing artist who 'appears from nowhere', who actually spent years and years learning the craft, and writing hundreds of songs NO-ONE wanted to listen to, before finally 'stumbling' on the right 'alchemical' combinations. Sometimes this involved 'meeting' the 'right' people at the right time, and things just 'clicking'. Remember evolution is 'hit and miss'. Evolution gets to 'bury its failures'. So it can make a GREAT impression. As if it is some 'Brilliant designer'. Able to 'know' in advance 'what would work best', and thus 'create' living organisms. As if it could DELIBERATELY imagine some ideal 'function' some organism might benefit from, and then design the form that would allow that function. When in reality, it just experiments, with INFINITE time, patience, and recklessness (in the case of SENTIENT organisms) for the consequences of their actions, with ALL AND EVERY POSSIBILITY. It 'entertains' ideas. Designs. Possible functions. Possible forms. Playfully. And we might say 'heartlessly'. Like a small curious child who hasn't experienced suffering. Or perhaps has down syndrome, or is a cheerful psychopath, unable even to EMPATHISE AT ALL with the suffering of OTHERS. And thus oblivious to the suffering it inflicts on 'its experiments'. It is just curious at what could happen if it did X, or tried Y. it can take joy in the 'hits'. And totally forget about all the 'misses'. The 'misses' may have suffered terribly. But the 'playful experimenter' will focus on their 'hits'. 'Look what I've done!' 'Aren't I clever!' Like 'creationists' do today. They imagine some 'all knowing, wise, beneficent, generous, BRILLIANT designer-creator 'god', by focussing on 'what works' in our world, and totally overlooking everything that does NOT work. By focussing on the potential for pleasure and comfort and love, and totally overlooking the overwhelmingly larger potential, and actual experience, of pain, miserly ,discomfort, loneliness, rejection, violence, victimisation, exploitation, and slavery. And say, like the primary school alien from a technologically advanced plane-et with his science kit, who is responsible for OUR plane-et, 'It is good'. After 7 days 'mucking about' with the new birthday present, and then, becoming bored with it, went off to do something else. Forgetting to 'turn off' the experiment. And leaving it to 'its own devices'. Something it might, as an adult, develop a reflex 'excess compassion for others' as a result of. A syndrome that might compel them to become a really KIND and CARING adult. Like kids who torture flies as children, who grow up to become compassionate, caring, idealists.

Imagine aliens rock up to our third rock from our puny dark plasma capacitor we call 'the sun', thousands of years from now. The Cult of Judah's grand enterprise succeeded. The fulfilled Plato's wet dream of a 'Republic' where everyone was unobtrusively 'directed' to act in very particular ways, so that their every action and emotion was 'micro-managed'. They were lead to 'freely choose' to do only what the Cult of Judah elites felt they SHOULD do. What the elites WANTED them to. Most of these elites kidded themselves it was 'for the greater good'. And they felt entitled to 'the best of the best' for their own contribution to this 'Brave New World'. This 'Jew World Order'. Just as their 3000 year old game book, 'The Torah', had promised. They were 'The Chosen People'. Chosen to become hegemons over 'The Nations'. Chosen by whom? Of course only a few elites, after 3000 years, need to justify themselves with reference to 'The Official Narrative'. That was for the thralls. They had been a self-selecting elite. They'd always recruited those with the best 'fit', for the elite branches. The rest of 'The Cult' was made up of 'useful idiots' and 'thralls' and people being manipulated to do things they would never have chosen to do, because they had been misled by the elites' Neuro Linguistic Programs into thinking that by behaving in these ways, they WOULD get what they DID desperately DESIRE. And the elites always found a way of RE-DIRECTION the energies of people who would have done what they were doing, as a matter of personal choice, even IF the Cult didn't exist. The world was full of pyschopaths who lived for violence, war, cruelty, and all that. Sad-masochists who loved inflicting pain on others. On tricking others just for fun. On abusing and exploiting others, just for kicks. Who even loved SUFFERING themselves. They loved getting ANGRY and feeling 'justified' in 'lashing out'. Like the protagonists of most action movies. They like to imagine 'they didn't ask for trouble'. But now that 'someone else has started the fight', they can ENJOY the destruction and chaos, and feel they were 'just defending themselves'. They were 'the victim'. And all the OTHER victims of THEIR violence? Just collateral damage. Couldn't be avoided. They go out LOOKING for trouble, and if no-one MAKES trouble, they'll be sure to ORCHESTRATE something, just to 'get things rolling'.

Yes, so our Cult of Judah has succeeded. They have everyone ELSE under total control. Doing what they are told. Not doing what they are told NOT to do. Now the Cult elites can 'fine tune' and 'micro-manage society. They can initiate Eugenics programs unobtrusively, as Plato intended. The people who didn't get to reproduce would 'accept' that 'it was just bad luck'. It was those damned new viruses that kept mutating, and destroying the reproductive fertility of MOST people. Only a FEW were 'lucky'. They were immune to the virus. And they got to reproduce. There would be no way for the thralls to understand that there had not BEEN any 'new viruses' at all. That it was the supposed 'VACCINES' they were given (some forcibly) to supposedly protect them from the non-existent viruses, that were responsible for their infertility. And for the deaths of anyone the Cult eiltes 'marked for death'. For whatever selfish reasons. Because they weren't productive thralls. Or because they were TOO clever, and might pose a threat to the thralls hegemony. Often the Cult Elites would EXPERIMENT with new DNA manipulation technologies, using the 'Vaccine' as the 'vector' and controlled, isolated, groups of the THRALL populations as 'double blind controlled study participants'. Of course without their consent. For they would NEVER have given it, had they known THE TRUTH. And they only existed, according to 'The Official Narrative', to 'serve the Cult elites'. Their god had, after all, merely given them the SHAPE of 'humans', so they could be more USEFUL TO the cult elites. For example AS guinea pigs. In fact it seemed quite SELF-EVIDENT that their 'God' had made the GOYS so similar, in so many ways, to the actual CHOSEN PEOPLE themselves, FOR THE VERY PURPOSE OF USING THEM TO TEST NEW TECHNOLOGIES ON, WHICH WOULD BENEFIT THE CHOSEN PEOPLE THEMSELVES. And to make they useful as sex objects. And productive SLAVES. So the Cult of Judah could realise Plato's ambitions for his 'Republic'. Deciding who got to mate with who. The ultimate in Eugenics. Would they only ensure 'the best of the best' reproduced? Would they practise it amongst themselves? Or just amongst their thralls? Was even the 'worst' of the elites, genetically superior, to be defined as 'racially superior' to even the best of the thralls? Simply because their parent's WERE elites? Would the elites sacrifice their own selfish urges to reproduce themselves? Would they be able to overcome the natural human tendency to overrate their own offspring's potentials? The natural tendency to (the word is on the tip of my tongue!)?

Would the cult elites breed thralls as pets and sex slaves and entertainment, and thus practise POSITIVE eugenics, ensuring ONLY the most intelligent, talented, healthy, attractive, well-balanced, happy, resilient, ambitious, ethical, creative, and adapted of humans reproduced? Possibly even practising infanticide when 'the best laid plans of mice and eugenicists went astray'? So that their pets, sex slaves, entertainers, and workers, were the best that could be 'produced', in terms of the functions they were to serve FOR the Cult elites? So that form enabled function?

Or would the Cult elites only breed SERFS. Dull, slow-witted BEASTS OF BURDEN only capable of ENOUGH rational thought and reason to be good 'domesticated animals'. So there would be no risk of them ever REBELLING. Of collecting enough brain cells together for long enough to QUESTION or CHALLENGE or even RECOGNISE how completely artificial and constructed and micro-managed, FROM ABOVE, their world was?

Would the Elites, like the Brahmin Castes of India, recognise when a 'superior' child was born into a lower Caste, and form some 'narrative' to justify 'raising' that child into the higher caste ranks, where it clearly BELONGED? Perhaps this only happened rarely, even in India. And only after the Caste system had been established for many generations. So perhaps at first the Cult elites will fall for their own propaganda and reject all 'Goys' as even human, and thus ELIGIBLE for PARTICIPATION in society at all, let alone for membership in their elite CASTE. With its NARRATIVE of 'Chosen People' and 'RACIAL PURITY'. An absurdly impossible narrative. But that never stopped any narrative being BELIEVED. If it was convenient for the beneficiaries. And if the victims of it were too intellectually lazy, ignorant, and stupid, to ACCEPT it, even when it clearly DISADVANTAGED themselves!

Let's imagine that, over many generations, a cliché of Cult elites develops who are full of goodwill, compassion, empathy, and the highest ethical tone. They carry out a 'coup de etat'. They REFORM the system. They inherited complete control and micro-management tools. So whatever they DECIDED to orchestrate for the thralls, they could. They could REFORM the elite CASTE. Change things. Abandon 'The Official Narratives' as no longer necessary. Reject the 'noble lies' those narratives had been written to 'prop up'. Take a long HONEST look at things. See things as they WERE. AFTER having taken off all the 'filters' and 'distorting lenses' those narratives, and their general social conditioning represented. So that they could 'see things as they ARE'.

So now the elites are defined by the highest ethical tone. Compassion for all sentient beings. Empathy for the suffering of ALL OTHERS. A keen awareness of the CONSEQUENCES of each decision for ALL participants in it. For THESE elites define EVERY participant as a 'referent', in their cost-benefit analyses. No more B.S like 'The Greater Good' to justify cruelty, even torture, and slavery of the thralls, 'for their own good' and 'as an absolute necessity to maintaining the peace and security of 'The System'. They rejected OMELAS. They were not just 'Walking away from Omelas'. They intended FREEING the VICTIMS of the system they had inherited. To ensure there WERE no more victims of injustice. To make it IMPOSSIBLE for any individual or group to seek to benefit AT THE EXPENSE of another individual or group.

They had the power to do this. They had inherited it. Up to then that power had been abused for the benefit of a small elite. Sure it was arguable that NOW, most of the thralls WERE in fact more content, peaceful, and possibly even prosperous, and even 'happy', than at any time in history. But they WERE slaves. THRALLS. They were being TRICKED and MANIPULATED. And any time a thrall 'stepped out of line', they just happened to fall victim to the latest 'virus' the elites informed the thralls had 'mutated' into the new 'variant'. They dropped dead. No more problem. This was how 'divergence' was 'managed'. How 'dissidence' was 'managed'. How anyone who QUESTIONED things, let alone managed to SEE WHAT WAS REALLY GOING ON, was immediately silenced, if they could not be 're-educated' to be a 'good cult thrall'.

But now the very best sort of people, with the highest ethical tone, the greatest compassion and empathy, were in control of the most advanced control technologies, the most closely micro-managed, Platonic 'wet-dream' in recorded history. At least since the Younger Dryas impact. Whether or not any 'Golden Ages' had ever existed in previous 'cycles', or they had merely been 'narratives' for 'motivational and educational purposes', it had finally emerged this cycle. In this form.

We had the most enlightened group of individuals, with the most power, and the most advanced systems for micro-management, ever imaginable, in power. Working out what to do with all that power. That control. So that EVERY sentient being would benefit. But NEVER at the expense of another sentient being. All sentient beings were included in EVERY cost-benefit analysis. Their A.I systems were being pushed to their limits, making calculations. Writing and re-writing algorithms. Designing and running simulations. In which the interests, the pain, pleasure, relief, comfort, and security of EVERY sentient being was considered as a REFERENT.

The computing power available to our reformers couldn't be imagined by anyone even a few generations before them. The POSSIBILITY to do what they intended had, for the first time in recorded history, emerged, among the most ethically advanced group of people in recorded history. The historical dialectic had brought the means to the most positively intended ends imaginable.

These were not slave-owning Plato's. These were TRUE 'aristocrats' in the original sense of that word. THE BEST. In every way. They had been born to power and privilege. They had had access to every resource and opportunity required for them to optimise their potential as individuals. Their intellectual, creative, emotional, sensual, and health and fitness potentials were all fully realised. They lacked nothing. They wanted for nothing. They had even 'seen through' all the 'Official Narratives'. The myths written and maintained by their ancestors, had made all this possible. But they saw these myths and narratives for what they were. Means to ends. Not true stories. But stories used by the Cult elites to first enthral their own followers, and then to dominate all 'outsiders'. Who they had targeted for enslavement.

Our reformers had rejected what was unethical in those narratives. It had rejected the narratives as 'truth'. As 'history'. As 'laws. It treated those narratives as an adult does the fables told to children, to get them to 'behave' in particular ways. To encourage certain behaviours and attitudes and to discourage others.

Just as their ancestors had 'chosen' themselves to become the slave masters of the entire world. Our group of reformers had chosen themselves to become the true LIBERATORS of those slaves. But they were very careful to learn from the mistakes of the past. Giving humans freedom without wisdom was like giving children the power to impose their will on others. Even on adults. Our reformers were not naïve. They understood full well why many of their ancestors had resorted to 'the narratives' as 'noble lies'. Like Plato, often full of good intentions. But also like Plato, they had deceived THEMSELVES and had a sense of personal ENTITLEMENT that was EXCESSIVE. They acted in ways they were NOT entitled to, to amass privileges and advantages and benefits they had NOT earned by their OWN effort, sacrifice, and risk, and thus were NOT entitled to.

First they would stop all experimenting on any sentient being, without their full informed consent. Then they would evaluate the current distributions of costs and benefits in their system. To ensure these were more fairly distributed. More MERITOCRATIC. They would keep SOME of the 'noble lies' in place, at least for now. Like those 'constantly mutating viruses' which allowed the elites to inject everyone with anything they chose, including nanotech and biological agents that destroyed their fertility. Or temporarily suppressed it. Eugenics was key to any optimal society. They would be very careful about revealing this 'noble lie' to the general public. However they would stop murdering the sorts of people their parents had, and claiming them as 'virus deaths'. While that served to reinforce the 'virus narrative' and encourage people to willingly submit to injections of birth control and similar substances, it was unethical. Just to kill people because they asked questions? Werent' these the exact sort of people DESIRED by a flourishing, creative, innovative, society? The 'divergents'? Hadn't they propelled humanity forward to the position they were in today?

But what would they do with people who had 'discovered the truth' but didn't really understand why the 'noble lie' was in fact noble? There were real ethical dilemmas to be faced. And worked through. But one thing was for sure. There would be no more exploitation of the thralls. No more abusing them as 'lab rats'. In fact NO sentient being would be abused in such ways. Our reformers were all VEGANS. That had been what had brought them together in the first place. A very particular mindset. The highest of ethical tones. The pinnacle of ethical development. They immediately recognised one another. They resonated with each other. They understood they were different from the others. They could be 'themselves' with each other. Without fearing censorship. Rejection. They didn't have to 'pretend' they 'believed ' in the old 'narratives'. They could openly challenge and discuss, and even REJECT, them, based on their merits. Ignoring any 'authority'. Refusing to submit to 'articles of faith' and 'dogmas' that were NOT compelling. They could let their masks drop amongst each other. They learned from each other. They taught each other. They developed the tightest bonds with each other. They knew they were 'different'. They knew they had to do something. To REFORM things. They were freed from the 'collective ignorance' that lead most of their contemporaries, their supposed 'peers', to self-censor out of fear of rejection, ridicule, censure, and even abandonment and ex-communication. What they later learned is that their 'contemporaries' who had 'died of mutation blue of virus X' had really been euthanized. BY The very 'vaccine' they had been given, supposedly to PROTECT them from that IMAGINARY virus'. They soon discovered that so much of what they had BELIEVED was in fact pure 'narrative'. Lies. Deceptions. Which even their parents were NOT aware of. For there had been a tight CORE of elites who had the ultimate control. Most of the Cult elites were as ignorant of THE FACTS as the thralls were. The tight inner core of the elites trusted very few. They recruited only after decades of intense scrutiny, and testing, of potential candidates. You would never know if some odd experience you were having was a carefully contrived and orchestrated 'test', or just something that happened spontaneously. And either way, you were aware that you MIGHT be being scrutinised at any time. In fact ALL your actions were recorded and processed by A.I algorithms. These 'warned' you if you had been exercising too little, eating too much, working too hard, or if any medical condition might be emerging, or becoming more active. These 'suggested' changes to your lifestyle, and routine. All your 'transactions' went through the one universal account. The very possibility of 'stealing' anything had been eradicated generations ago, by this new 'universal digital bank account'. All products were tracked from source to current user. An 'unofficial' user was immediately flagged for notification and query. Maybe you might try to 'trade' some 'service' for another 'service'. Like a sexual gratification in return for a 'favourable treatment' at a job interview, or application for something or other. But this would also be 'flagged'. That you HAD in fact engaged in 'sexual act Z' with said party. Was it coincidental? The entire history of interactions and decisions made would be scrutinised. If it was found that any 'bias' had entered into any decision maker's calculations, in the award of a job, or accommodation, or holiday, or distribution of any benefit or cost, there would be complete transparency and public accountability. And there were so many ways to SATISFY any particular DESIRE, that no-one would find themselves compelled to either offer, or accept, such 'services rendered' as any form of 'bribe' or 'blackmail'. Blackmail would be impossible. Everything was known about you to the 'authorities'. And anything THEY chose to share with your peers they would. Publicly. And of course this was often abused 'for the greater good' by 'authorities', to manipulate people. Especially thralls. For the thralls seemed hungry for 'gossip' and to 'demonise someone' to 'feel superior to them'. So if it was 'publicised' that 'thrall X had done Y', the other thralls would accept this without reflection or question or hesitation, as 'FACT'. All an authority need do was 'DECLARE' something, and it would become part of 'The official narrative'. And they could RE-WRITE history, by, with one keystroke, REVISING every record of something, from every device. So that now the 'hero' of 'the battle of evermore', was 'the evil enemy of the people' who must be put to death, for the greater good. Only a few people had access to the ACTUAL historical records. So only a few people would ever know what had REALLY happened. If someone 'doubted' 'The Official Narrative' they would keep their doubts to themselves. That's how 'Collective Ignorance' became the most powerful tool of The Cult in the first place. As long as you lead 'almost everyone' to BELIEVE that 'almost everyone else clearly believes' something, they will ACT AS IF THEY TOO believe it. Thus reinforcing the IMPRESSION THAT IN FACT EVERYONE ELSE DOES BELIEVE IT. So clearly if YOU don't, there is something wrong with YOU. And NOT 'the official narrative'. For how could BILLIONS OF IGNORANT IDIOTS BE WRONG?

ANYWAY, the point I wanted to make was that we might end up with a perfectly functioning society. And unless you were aware of the MASSIVE costs involved to evolving up to this point, you could get the distinctly FALSE impression that some 'perfect creator being' had 'created' it that way. Some Genius. Some INFALLIBLE genius! Perfect and good and benevolent and kind and OMINPOTENT and OMNIPRESCIENT. When it fact it took millions of years of hit and miss, with countless VICTIMS, for this current 'functional form' finally evolved.]

Amplification

The principle of amplification is to vary the 'Intensity' (Amperes - Amplitude - Amps) of a small current flowing through one circuit, (the control grid) to induce an EXPONENTITALLY larger, CORRESPONDING amplitude modulation (increase [or decrease] in amplitude), in a circuit conducting a mains/line level current. Which means a little current can go a long, long, long way. All the way to '11' in 'Spinal Tap' mode. Transistors and tubes are the 'levers' of the electrical world. Just as 'cheap credit' freely available to all Cult of Judah Agents and Proxies gives them 'leverage' to massively amplify their profits, by using 'other people's money', and 'money printed-created out of thin air, by hitting a computer key, or issuing a totally worthless 'promissory note' a.k.a 'I.O.U' to a Central Bank or Treasury in return for 'cash money'. While the poor Goy slobs have to WORK and SAVE for DECADES to amass any 'capital'. The Cult 'insiders' simply ASK AND YE SHALL RECEIVE. Trump and co were given virtually zero interest loans, where the actual inflation 'induced' by the actual loan itself, literally more than paid that interest the moment the money was transferred to his accounts. And when he couldn't pay back? Well he was 'too big to fail', they just HAD to keep lending him more, right? What better way to gain TOTAL CONTROL over a man they had pre-selected, then groomed, to become their next puppet President of the U.S.S.A. The 'Jew'.S.A. He is still BILLIONS in debt. But YOU imagine he is a 'successful entrepreneur billionaire', rather than a BANKRUPT failure. Why? Because the same people who MADE him, for THEIR own purposes, also control the full spectrum propaganda machine which determines YOUR 'perceptions' about EVERYTHING. What YOU think and BELIEVE, is what THEY have orchestrated, scripted, choreographed, and carefully edited (censored) FOR you to think and believe.

Bi Polar people are the most usually intelligent, and thus sensitive, souls. They react more strongly to things than the general Shleeple herd. So good and bad experiences induce relatively AMPLIFIED emotional reactions in Bi Polar people. Compared to the average, comfortably numb, majority. Bi Polar transistors take advantage of the same principle.

Some asides (in original 'Electrickery')

Like in most 'Official Narrative's the Cult of Judah condition you to 'believe' to be 'reality', the output is UPSIDE DOWN. Truth is Lies. Fake News is Real News. The Ministry of Truth is the Department of Propaganda. The Defence Ministry are the War Ministry. Woe betide anyone who finds themselves in 'The Joy Division', where the more horrific torture awaits anyone who dares challenge any 'Official Narrative'. Any measure you are told is 'for your protection' is really just to 'protect' the power and control grid of The Cult of Judah. Censorship is not there to protect you from 'misleading and dangerous medical mis-information', but rather to ensure THEIR 'Official' dangerous, medical misinformation is not EXPOSED for what it is. 'Community

Standards Guidelines' define anything that challenges any Cult of Judah 'Official Narrative' as 'hate speech', 'misinformation', 'racial vilification', and 'anti-Semitism'. So that the SOCIAL REALITY carefully scripted, orchestrated, engineered, and managed, is really an INVERSION of reality. A REFLECTION of it. Purpose constructed to REFLECT the ambitions of The Cult of Judah, to enslave the entire plane-et under their One World Dictatorship. Which exists in a de-facto form already. With the Cult ruling through its proxies, The United Nations, The World Bank, The International Monetary Fund, The World Health Organisation, The Central Banking System, The International Financial System, The Mass media, Hollywood, and your own 'People's Democratic Republic of (insert name of YOUR nation here)' OCCUPATION GOVERNMENT.]

Capacitors act like the ISRAELI 'racial purity laws' of The Cult of Judah, whereby only those considered 'true Jews' are welcome. The other 'Jews' become 'useful idiots' and as much victims of the Cult of Judah's actions as any 'Goy'. Thus my motto 'Saving us, and 'The Jews' from the Cult of Judah'. Don't believe me? Ask any 'Jew' who has tried to marry a 'Cohen', how far their plans of wedded bliss got. I mean it is one thing to make it a crime for a non-'Jew' to fail to tell a 'Jew' that he is NOT 'Jewish' before engaging in sex with them a.k.a 'Rape by deception'. But when you are simply not 'Jewish' ENOUGH to marry a 'Cohen'? Remember that it was MOSES who introduced 'racial purity laws'. And it was MOSES who encouraged, as 'God's Will', GENOCIDE. It was MOSES who carried out the only DOCUMENTED (in the TORAH no less) MASSACRE of 'Jews'. It was MOSES who first used the term 'Chosen People' a.k.a 'Master Race'. The Jews like Stalin liked to pretend Hitler was just an inferior copy of Stalin. If he was a copy of ANYONE at all, it was certainly MOSES. Only unlike Moses, Hitler really delivered on his promises. And unlike Moses, his enemies were simply TOO strong to defeat. And NOTE one very key point. There is ZERO evidence that Hitler (Unlike MOSES in 'The Torah') ever even considered genocide of *any*one. Let alone ordered that supposed 'Holocaust'].

Using a transistor as a (virtual) switch

Note: The epithet 'switch' applies to anything that has the FUNCTION of a switch. I only call it a 'virtual' switch to differentiate it from an actual physical switch you open-close / flick / push.

A transistor conducts current across the collector-emitter path only when a voltage is applied to the base. So when no base voltage is present, (or when the bias voltage is less than 0.7V), the (virtual) switch is off. When base voltage is present, (and bias voltage is over 0.7V) the (virtual) switch is on. You'd want the options to be strictly binary. Either on or off. Further, the (virtual) switch is on when the base is saturated so that collector current can flow without restriction.

The tiny 'base' voltage' becomes the 'gate-keeper', controlling any voltage, no matter how large. This demonstrates the principle by which all successful 'conspiracies' operate. And why it is so hard for the mass of Shleeple to be capable of even entertaining, let alone 'taking seriously', the sheer possibility that a 'small' number of people, a small current, with a relatively small voltage (power), could 'tell a big powerful current what to do'. Could DETERMINE the actions of the BIGGER. Could literally ENSLAVE the bigger to its will. The Cult of Judah has always sought out the 'levers' of power. They target the most powerful people. They started in Babylon, after they were kicked out of Israel by the 'Jews'. By King Herod 'The Great' who earned that epithet by recognizing the threat The Cult of Judah posed to 'The Jews', and took decisive action. The Cult simply adapted. They made themselves useful to the most powerful people in the super power of their day, Babylon. They ingratiated themselves into the power structure. Unobtrusively. Bribing and blackmailing officials. Seducing. Deceiving. Manipulating. Until they had influence at the highest levels. They were a small voltage-current. But by 'steering' a large voltage-current to THEIR will, to do THEIR bidding, they had essentially 'occupied' their second nation after their failure to 'occupy' the nation of Israel. Once you have your hands on 'the levers of power' and can 'steer' a nation, it doesn't matter how low your numbers. How 'small' your conspiracy. For now you have used a weak, small current to CONTROL a large, strong one. The more you encourage CENTRALISATION OF POWER in the host nation / superstructure you have OCCUPIED, the fewer people, the less power-strength you actually need to STEER and CONTROL the power IT / THEY have. Which is the basis for the drive to nationalism, then trading-blocks, then the E.U and NAFTA et al. And the current drive to GLOBALISM. Thus the GLOBAL organisations, all Cult of Judah Proxies, with NO democratic mandate from any nation, have been granted DE-FACTO CONTROL over only NOMINALLY SOVEREIGN NATIONS. Those fully occupied by the Cult of Judah already. And those who had resisted, UP UNTIL THIS POINT. Now the World Health Organisation and United Nations and World Bank and IMF already form a DE-FACTO ONE WORLD DICTATORSHIP, acting as PROXIES FOR THE CULT OF JUDAH. So that via a very few organisations, and control of their leadership, a very few CULT OF JUDAH ELITES now have CONTROL of the much larger, stronger, more powerful, NATIONS. They have LEVERAGED and AMPLIFIED their STRENGTH (amplitude) without requiring any REAL strength, relative to 'The Nations'. This is EXACTLY HOW A CONSPIRACY OPERATES. AND WHY IT SUCCEEDED. Because people did NOT comprehend how such 'circuits' function. How it was even POSSIBLE for such a state of affairs to come about. Just like few people understand how Transistors can be used to AMPLIFY a signal. How a weak, relatively INSIGNIFICANT power could be used to CONTROL A MUCH GREATER power. Call it 'Jew-jitzu'. The weak are LITERALLY using the power of the stronger AGAINST ITSELF. To destroy ITSELF. And my now BANNED TROONATNOOR BOOKS EXPLAIN THE DETAILS.]

NOT Gates

Who should make the most important decisions affecting health and welfare of you and your family? Well certainly NOT (Bill) Gates. I wonder what his real family name is? Something ending in stein or blum I suspect. Something 'Germanic sounding', but from a lot further East. Try Khazaria. A name typical for an Ashkenazi, 'you know who'.

Most consumer electronics have two LEDs to indicate 'on' and 'off'. That's what the shown here does. NOT Gate circuits are built from transistor switches that are either ON or OFF. A BINARY situation. That's the basis of all digital technology. Voltage or no Voltage. 0s and 1s.

'Fact Checkers' work the same way as NOT Gates. If a post is 'ON-Script', and reading 'OFF' 'The Official Narrative', it 'passes inspection'. Your post will appear 'ON'-line. If it is 'OFF' script. Then the 'fact-checkers are activated, switched 'ON', and that post is 'redakted'. Censored. If you wander 'OFF' their tightly controlled reservation, you go 'ON' to their 'target list'.

Transducers, Rendering, and Perceptions

Output from the multivibrator circuit can be used to produce a 'strobe light', or an audible square wave. The same pulses of energy can be transduced into energy pulses that our minds render as a flashing strobe 'light' or as an audible square wave.

What we are doing is using different 'transducers' to 'render' the same signal in two different ways, one which our minds render as 'light' of varying 'colors' and 'brightness', and the other as 'sounds' of varying 'pitches' and 'loudness'.

In the same way a computer will 'render' a bunch of 0s and 1s as pictures, video, and sound. Or even 'haptics' such as 'vibrations' or 'pressure' (on the inside of your virtual reality feedback suit and gloves). Our minds render different 'oscillations' of different sense organ nerve endings as variously as 'smells', 'sounds', 'tastes', 'textures', 'pitches', 'pressures', 'heat', 'cold', 'vibration', and 'resistance'. Our minds in fact take bundles of these 'impressions' and via association, in our minds, construct 'physical objects with particular qualities and attributes'. We attribute the 'disturbances' of our nerve endings to 'objects' that exist external to us, 'out there'. When in fact all that is necessary to produce every impression and sensation we experience is to stimulate the input (end) of those nerves, in the same way, and our minds would render the exact same 'experiences'. And so, as Descartes put it, we could be 'brains in vats'. And, assuming this reality is actually 'out there' and 'real', and your consciousness was, while you slept, transferred to a sophisticated nerve ending oscillator, you really wouldn't notice any difference. In fact that's what happened last night. And we decided this was the best way to break that news to you!

Mind you, most of what people BELIEVE actually happened, didn't. 'The Official Narrative' about almost anything you could name is as 'phony' and 'fake' as an 80s video game, once you decide to stop 'believing' everything you have been, and are, told, just because the narrator is 'that nice and very impressive looking presenter on the tell-lie-vision box, or some 'highly respected alpha-ape type 'authority'. Most of what you think is happening is NOT happening. Sure, the shadows are moving across the cave wall, as they seem to. Only what it all MEANS is entirely DIFFERENT to what you are TOLD it means. Like watching a rape, but being told 'this is a loving couple engaging in the act of love making'. Or observing the torture of innocent creatures, and being told 'this research complies with the highest in scientific ethics'. Or watching and hearing families as they are burned alive, and being given the narrative 'Our legal team advise us that this is perfectly in line with our operational guidelines', so no need to feel squeamish. Is it legal though? What? What do you mean? 'It is completely within our normal operational procedures'. WE are 'the good guys'. THEY are 'the bad guys'. It's out job to 'kill the bad guys'. That's what we're doing. 'Nuremberg tribunal'? 'Geneva Convention'? 'International Law'? What's your problem? We just told you our guys said this was fine. This is nothing extraordinary. It is all within our usual operational procedures'. Legal? Sorry, I simply don't get your point. Please stop wasting our time! If it wasn't RIGHT, then we, as 'the good guys', surely would NOT be doing it. CLEARLY! BASTA!

We are born in a 'Social Reality Bubble'. What passes for 'reality' is mere 'The Official Narrative' as it applies to whatever subject we are dealing with. There are 'Official Narratives' for everything imaginable. From 'gravity' to 'the sun in a nuclear furnace' to 'it's not the sun that is responsible for global warming, but humans farting and driving cars'. Oh, to that most recent one, 'Yes the ZERO increase in excess mortality you have been experiencing is due to a pandemic virus that is killing everyone'. Hence the ZERO increase in total deaths. Yes, what a coincidence, that the usual deaths from EVERYTHING ELSE just happen to have DECREASED by the EXACT same number that WE CLAIM have died from a new pandemic virus. Amazing isn't it. But that is hardly the BIGGEST CAMEL YOU'VE CHEERFULLY SWALLOWED. All the while 'straining at gnats' any time some 'conspiracy theorist suggested something'. You demand THEY prove everything beyond any doubt whatsoever, with hard facts and signed confessions from the conspirators involved. While the 'authorities' can DECLARE anything whatsoever, with no proof whatsoever, zero evidence, and with all the FACTS appearing to CONTRADICT them, and you will just ACCEPT what they say as BEYOND question. As self-evident. BECAUSE THEY SAID SO.

Integrated Circuits (ICs a.k.a 'computer chips')

In the past building circuit boards was about mounting smaller and smaller parts on smaller and smaller circuit boards. Today, instead of two or three p-n junctions (as in a diode or a triode), an integrated circuit has thousands of individual p-n junctions. Modern IC's have up to billion*s* of them, all constructed out of a single thinly sliced wafer of silicon crystal. Though a simple 555 timer IC, has 20 transistors, 2 diodes, and 15 resistors.

Typically, a large cylindrical piece of silicon crystal is shaved into thin wafers about one-hundredth of an inch thick. Each wafer will have up to thousands of finished integrated circuits 'etched' onto it. A 'photoresist' solution is deposited on top of the wafer. An image of the actual circuit, with some areas transparent to allow light through and others opaque to block the light, called a 'mask', is applied over this 'photoresist'. The wafer is exposed to intense ultraviolet light, which etches the wafer under the transparent portions of the mask but leaves the areas under the opaque parts of the mask untouched. The mask is removed and any remaining photoresist is cleaned off. The wafer is exposed to a doping material, which creates n-type and p-type regions in the etched areas of the wafer. If the circuit design calls for multiple layers stacked on top of one another, the process is repeated for each layer until all of the layers have been created. The individual integrated circuits are then cut apart and mounted in their final packaging. Such a bulk manufacturing process means not a few chips will be faulty, and won't pass the strict quality controls. But the process is so abundant they have the luxury of such 'waste'. Like evolution. Discarding the 'misses'. Ruthlessly.

But what is a supposed 'fault' was really intentional. Like Intel putting 'back doors' in its server chips, then claiming 'oops, we made a boo boo'. And now you have to buy MORE of our FAULTY chips, to compensate for the security flaw we built into our product, by switching off 'Hyper-threading', and the massive loss of performance resulting. So that a MASSIVE MISTAKE is REWARDED with HIGHER profits for Intel, now a largely JEWISH owned operation, whose H.Q is moving to ISRAEL any day now. Oh, of course, when the 'fault' was first widely publicized in the Jewish controlled mass media, which 'framed' it as a massive debacle and THREAT not just to Intel's profits, but its very EXISTENCE, Intel share prices of course plummeted, so Israeli investors could snap up more controlling shares of Intel at a MASSIVE DISCOUNT, before the market realised Intel would now sell MORE, rather than LESS, Intel chips, thanks to, you guessed it, 'The Official Covid Narrative' based, 'Covid Blank Check' justified, Lockdowns, and associated MASSIVE INCREASE IN INTERNET SALES, WORKING FROM HOME, STUDYING FROM HOME, AND STAYING AT HOME, DOING WHAT? USING THE INTERNET, OF COURSE. Which made corporations and governments more than ever dependent on Intel server chips. And now that the security breach required users to 'turn off Multi-threading', they would need MORE Intel server chips than they would have, if those 'security back-doors' had NOT been deliberately built into the chips.

Integrated circuits contain entire electronic circuits, complete with semi-conductors, capacitors, switches, transistors, diodes, and other elements, and the conductive pathways that connect all these components, photographically etched onto a tiny piece of silicon crystal. And they are working on ways to 'etch' same using even smaller 'tools', onto even smaller 'chips' of 'stuff'. So that they are already injecting completely operational mini-computers into people. You'll probably get one in the next 'Covid Jab'. Today you will ridicule me, and exclaim 'no way'. 'Not possible'. A few years down the road when 'The Authorities' admit they injected you with nanotech, in one or more of your 'vaccines', you will stop, reflect just a moment, listen to their 'EXPLANATION' a.k.a 'Official Narrative' regarding that action, note all the POSITIVE ACCEPTANCE being expressed by 'nearly everyone else' on your favorite internet platforms, by your favorite internet personalities and 'authority figures', including the POPE of whichever cult of Judah subsidiary you affiliate with, and even Scientology if that's your jam, and you will decide, 'Oh well, It was all for 'the greater good' I suppose'. And go back to 'getting paid and laid'. And the latest 'trending' misinformation and misdirection being vomited out by the Cult of Judah full spectrum propaganda machine called 'the mass media' and 'Official Narratives'.

To the average Aussie or Brit, Chips go with fish. Fish and chips. So here is the 'fish*y*' part of the history of ICs. If you need to trick taxpayers into funding your research, tell them it is for their 'security'. From some THREAT. You don't need a real one. Like a real enemy about to invade. Just make up a phony 'Cold War'. And the terrified taxpayers will be begging YOU to spend THEIR money on whatever YOU really want it for.

That's playing on their fears. A sure winner. Safest bet. But what if you need still MORE taxpayer's money? In fact a way to HIDE TRILLIONS of dollars of spending on PROJECTS THE PUBLIC KNOW NOTHING ABOUT, AND PROBABLY WOULD NEVER DREAM OF PAYING FOR? You have that 'BLACK HOLE' in your accounting. Sooner or later some auditor is going to ask to 'see the books'. And THEN what are you gonna do? Well, what could ACCOUNT for MORE spending than A SPACE PROGRAM? And what punter wouldn't be POSITIVELY EXCITED about such a project as SENDING A MAN TO THE MOON! Let is cost what it will! The price be damned. We, the people, are going to send a man to the moon. And show them commies a thing or too about what WE are capable of. PRIDE is a great motivator. Especially as the 'Commies', up to this point, held a clear lead in that 'Space Race'. So it would become a matter of NATIONAL PRIDE. Which fits hand in glove with 'National Security'. And because everything would have to be so 'hush hush' and 'Top Secret', no mere mortal 'public auditor' is EVER going to lay eyes on your books. And ask pesky questions about 'hey, where did those TRILLIONS of dollars go? You know, the ones NOT 'accounted for' by your 'Official' Projects. 'Well, I could tell you, but then I'd have to kill you'? 'Oh, I see, Top Secret, National Security, Beating the Russkies, no need to say no more!' Yes, and so we got a FAKE MOON LANDING. And the 'shadow government agencies', all 'Cult of Judah Occupation Agents', got THEIR 'blank check' to work on whatever research projects THEY wanted. The cost of a fake moon landing were fairly low. Launch an empty rocket. Get a famous Hollywood film director to shoot the 'moon landing' scenes in a Hollywood studio. Distort the footage so it looked low res, and met the EXPECTATIONS OF WHAT THE SHLEEPLE WOULD EXPECT FOOTAGE TRANSMITTED FROM THE MOON BY AMATEURS SHOULD LOOK LIKE. Then you were free to spend the REST of that HUGE budget on whatever YOU originally wanted it for.

One of those REAL projects was the development of the Integrated Circuit. That 60s breakthrough of Robert Noyce. No, he wasn't Jewish, so you won't know his name. And he wasn't even a Cult of Judah Agent, so again, sorry mate, name won't go down in history like people who 'discovered' 'theoretical' (what kindergarten children call 'imaginary') stuff. But thanks all the same for making the technological 'world as we know it' possible. And in fact the 'social' and thus 'virtual' world, we are 'familiar with', and IMAGINE WE KNOW.

Yes, so it was NASA, with its serpent-dragon-tongue logo, (as in 'White man speak with forked tongue' a.k.a whitey lies!) that was the first big customer and developer of IC's with MIT. The same NASA who keep faking images for us. And deleting stuff from their official website then putting it back up, heavily redacted. Then denying they'd changed a thing. The real historical revisionists aren't the 'Holocaust deniers' folks. It's the people who wrote 'The Official Narrative' of 'History'. 'The Official History'. 'The Official Fiction'. The one the so-called 'Revisionists' are really CORRECTING. 'You can't know what will happen yesterday' was a common Soviet expression. They at least noticed that their 'authorities' from PRAVDA (Ministry of TRUTH) were constantly trying to deceive them, and re-writing history. But we in the 'free West' are the perfect slaves, to paraphrase Goethe, because we imagine we are free.

Since their 1961 introduction they have constantly decreased in size and price, and power. So that any smart phone has more 'computing power' than the entire NASA 'fake moon landing' 'Command Center' had at its disposal.

Gordon Moore, a co-founder of Intel [who recently 'made a boo boo' if you are credulous enough to believe that) by 'leaving a security backdoor open' in their server chips]) predicted in 1965 that the number of transistors that could be placed on a single integrated circuit would double every year. Then in the 70s he revised that to 'every two years'. See 'revision' means 'correction'. But in today's world to CORRECT A FALSIFIED ACCOUNT OF HISTORY IS A CRIME.

Moore's 'Law' proved correct. Unlike most other technologies which progress incrementally, electronics, and computer technology, has increased EXPONENTIALLY.

To put 'Moore's law' into perspective, Gordon Moore once explained that if the car industry experienced the same progress as the electronics industry, a Rolls Royce would get half a million miles per gallon, and it would be cheaper to buy a new one than pay to pay the parking fees to park the one you already own. Making cars 'disposable'. Like U.S soldiers, as far as the Cult of Judah is concerned. Or Iraqi and Palestinian women and children, as far as the 'U.S Authorities' are concerned. And it seems, sadly, the American Public as well.

Every time they hit a new 'wall', such as the wavelength of the light used to etch the circuits, some new technological breakthrough has 'saved the day'. Allowing progress to continue unhindered. Those 'walls' were just 'speed bumps' that new technologies 'leveled out' almost as soon as they appeared a nuisance.

So Moore's Law, of MORE and more, has held half a century already. And it appears to have become a self-fulfilling prophecy, giving engineers the confidence to set the same high goals for themselves, and boards of directors of corporations the same EXPECTATIONS that they will achieve them. Thus giving INVESTORS confidence that their investments will yield fast returns. Ensuring a flow of resources to what is generally referred to as the semi-conductor industry. A real win-win for everyone is NOT the victim of the new technologies. Oh, there tis the rub. Bad news, friend. For we are ALL the VICTIMS of the new technologies. 'Seems, Madam? No, 'Tis so. I know not seems!' See my TROONATNOOR books and videos for the nasty details!

ME on 'The Force' and 'The pulse/beat of life' and matching correspondences between various 'modes' of same phenomena

Stop using term Voltage … obfuscating…use Electromagnetic Force… meaningless to talk of 'voltage graph' as we are plotting the amplitude of ELECTROMAGNETIC FORCE over time… and as it is AC, it 'reverses' from compression to expansion (in the air) and 'attraction' to 'repulsion' in electrical circuits…note if no earth, WOULD be compression and expansion, but AC flows continually through system from before-A to after-Z i.e ends of circuit, via EARTH/ GROUND because ALREADY AS DENSE AS CAN GET (?) … BUT air compresses and expands as not as dense…and pressure maxima (and highest velocity?) is closest it gets to density of atoms…molecules pushed up against each other, rubbing, creating friction, and converting EMF to heat…EMF acts on electrons… air pressure pulse acts on air molecules, and whatever they 'hit' as move…electrons hit 'resistors' and 'capacitors' and 'logic circuits' and thus do 'work… like flowing water hits water wheels and hydro-electric turbines, and wind hits air turbines AND OUR EAR DRUMS, and photons hit photo-voltaic cells AND OUR EYES, …

So PULSE is correct term. 'Waves have nothing to do with it…just obfuscate' … until we graphically plot amplitude of EMF against time… THEN OUR MINDS AND MEASURING TOOLS RENDER AMPLITUDE OF EMF OVER TIME AS 'WAVE FORMS'. (use the correspondence of waves on ocean etc here and clarify relationship between real world spherical pulses of air pressure and …)

MHR is it ??? more precise to say we are measuring the VELOCITY of EMF / air pressure 'front' over time? A 'high pressure pulse' has a front… the heart beat is a great example of a 'wave'…. And ECG monitor 'plots' the speed of blood as it accelerates out of heart as heart fully compresses (compression maxima) [then valves open and close like capacitors in electrical systems to stop 'reversal' of 'current' when heart pump begins to expand again i.e expansion phase of cycle that WOULD, like in AC system, 'draw' / 'suck' / 'reverse' the flow of blood in our circulatory system' OTHERWISE)… and then begins slowing due to lack of 'thrust' from behind i.e Electromotive force / pressure / pushing from behind and falls to zero pressure / force / electromotive force / velocity… so the blood is still with zero velocity… it accelerates to its maximum speed as heart pump forces down…hits maximum speed (peak velocity / air pressure maxima / blood pressure maxima) … then begins slowing…[O.K like wave on shore breaking…as possible correspondence with 'wave' analogy/metaphor? Helpful or not?] … IF HEART DID NOT HAVE VALVES (AS IN TRANSISTOR OR TUBE VALVES AND CAPACITORS IN OLD SCHOOL ELECTRONIC CIRCUITS) BLOOD FLOW WOULD BE 'ALTERNATING CURRENT', BUT THE VALVES IN HEART DO WHAT CAPACITORS AND TRANSISTOR 'VALVES' DO IN ELECTRONIC CIRCUITS, THEY 'SHUT DOWN' ANY REVERSE FLOW…A VALVE CLOSING AS THE HEART FULLY COMPRESSES OFFERS TOTAL RESISTANCE TO ANY 'REVERSE FLOW' OF BLOOD…JUST AS THE PRESSURE MAXIMA OF AN AIR PRESSURE PULSE REPRESENTS A 'WALL' (HENCE SONIC BOOMS) THAT THE AIR MOLECULES CANNOT MOVE BEYOND (THE SUPER-SONIC PLANE HAS INDEPENDENT MOTIVE FORCE I.E FOSSIL FUEL POWERED JET ENGINES TO 'BREAK THROUGH' THE 'SPEED OF SOUND' WHICH IS THE PRESSURE MAXIMA OF AN AIR PRESSURE WAVE, I.E THE LIMIT TO THE SPEED OF AIR MOLECULES MOVING THROUGH SPACE) , YES SO THE AIR PRESSURE MAXIMA IS A 'WALL OF RESISTANCE',

THE AIR MOLECULES PACKED AS DENSELY AS YOU CAN PACK THEM…SO FOR OTHER AIR MOLECULES IT IS LIKE A PERSON TRYING TO BREAK THROUGH A LINE OF POLICE OR CULT THRALLS BLOCKING THEIR PATH…AND IF LIKE A BOA CONSTRICTOR THEY OPEN IN FRONT OF YOU, AND CLOSE BEHIND YOU, THE PERISTALTIC FORCE WOULD MEAN YOU COULD ONLY MOVE FORWARDS…PUSHED AS THEY CLOSED BEHIND YOU, AND OPENED BEHIND YOU…BUT THOUGH YOU WANT TO MOVE BACK, THEY'VE CLOSED IN….THE VALVE HAS CLOSED BEHIND YOU…THE CAPACITOR IS FULLY CHARGED, THE TRANSISTOR IS 'ACTIVELY BLOCKING CURRENT, NO BACKWARDS / REVERSE FLOW IS POSSIBLE…ONLY FORWARDS…THAT'S DC…THAT'S AIR PRESSURE WAVES AND WHY A SPHERICAL PULSE OF TRAVELLING THROUGH THE AIR DOESN'T 'PUMP' IN AND OUT ON THE SPOT RATHER THAN 'CONTINUE' IN THE ONLY DIRECTION AVAILABLE TO IT DOE TO THE 'PERISTALTIC' 'VALVE' ACTION OF AIR PRESSURE MAXIMAS, SO IT INSTEAD TAKES THE PATH OF LEAST RESISTANCE IN EVERY DIRECTION AND EXPANDS OUTWARDS…

Use the term Electromagnetic Force or EMF (not voltage as meaningless homage / epithet) … positive and negative is push and pull … pulse is really heart-beat… hence 'valve amp'… and Capacitors used to convert AC to DC are like HEART valve in middle of heart…so that it pumps (high pressure) as it COMPRESSES (like air pressure pulse) , with REAR valve closed, so all blood IN heart now compressed and forced out, in burst / pulse, out the OPEN valve in FRONT of 'circuit' a.k.a blood circulatory system…then FRONT valve CLOSES as hear 'EXPANDS' out creating NEGATIVE pressure within heart, as REAR valve OPENS and sucks in blood…. So FORCE is positive and negative…push-pull….so positive EMF and negative EMF is reversal of force, like heart pumping… and DC is LITERALLY using electronic VALVES like heart…because bloodstream does not flow back and forth, like AC, but flows in ONE direction like DC, because of capacitors…and exactly like caps heart CHARGES then DISCHARGES… rather than hook us up to continual forward flowing river of blood that comes in and exits, the same blood is pumped back and forward…like rechargeable DC battery….we recharge our blood each time it flows through the lungs, with oxygen…this is where ionization can enter equation, as with valence electrons…and also 'free radical' stuff…as blood picks up nutrients and glycogen molecules and transports to brain etc…

This is every actin of nature…pulse of TROONATNOOR… birth…expand…grow…peak…start dying, decay, decompose…a pulse…a beat… of LIFE… MAKE VIDEO OF ALL THESE PULSES AND SPEED UP AND USE STILLS TO TIME TO 'A LITT'L LOVIN' MAIN BEAT… THAT'S WHAT IS IT … BEAT OF LIFE…. COMPRESS-EXPAND…

Ciao for now

I doubt anyone will read through my entire TROONATNOOR imprint, and thus gain the benefits it has to offer. On a personal level, I have certainly made more effort, suffered more, paid a higher price in terms of time and migraines, and sacrificed and risked more, in attempting to make my insights available to you, than you did in glossing over them. I wish I could have had the resources required to re-write and edit what would have benefitted from such extra attention, and presented the materials in the most easily accessible and comprehensible formats possible, in ever representation system available. While BILLIONS are literally thrown away every second on pointless, and destructive, counter-productive human activities, no resources came my way other than those I could download on the internet from the public access points accessible to me. I taught myself the skills necessary to produce the videos I did make. I was hoping musicians would work with me on my music, and I could gain a 'voice' and resources to develop my TROONATNOOR enterprise, and to establish 'The Free Church (The Vegan Church)' outreach programs. But one person, unless they are born with extreme charisma, connections, or simply a trust fund, has little chance of having any impact in our world. Where everyone is out to 'get paid and laid', more or less, and merely seeking to identify the 'Alpha Apes' so they can literally 'Ape' them. Discover 'the secrets to their success in getting the best trees, the most bananas, and the cutest harem of she-apes! And the equivalent for she-apes, attracting the richest, most handsome man, to provide the basis for the perfect 'nest' and lifestyle for her and her offspring.

Contents

FOR THOSE MINDS 'OPEN' TO COMMUNICATION, ON ALL CHANNELS, ON ALL BANDWIDTHS Error! Bookmark not defined.

The uphill battle of the (censored, persecuted, criminalised, legally proscribed, demonised) alternative narrative with the, (privileged, legally protected, legally prescribed) 'Official' narrative (a.k.a the 'Holy Grail' of pre-endorsed 'unlimited book of blank-checks' you can (Na)cash in on at any time, in any situation, to 'justify' anything and everything you want to do to anyone, for any period of time, from 'conscripting' them to genociding them. 1021

The NACASH conspiracy (a.k.a Cult of Judah) 1025

Privileged narratives a.k.a 'The Official (dominant hegemonic) Narrative' 1034

WHY NOTHING SHORT OF A TOTAL 'INTERREGIO' ORCHESTRATED BY A 'WHITE HAT' HACKERS IN THE FORM OF A 'FIRE SALE' OR SOME NATURAL CATACLYSM, IS GOING TO 'SAVE' US FROM THE CULT OF JUDAH 103

Sorel's 'rule by myth' and the REAL 'deal with the devil' made in 'Dr Faustus' 1048

Thomas Mann's 'third strike' as 'TERROR-IST' 1052

ENERGY ..... Error! Bookmark not defined.

WORKING TO HERE 22/10/21 ..... Error! Bookmark not defined.

'The most important freedom is to be what you really are. You trade your reality for a role. Your trade your sense for an act. You give up your ability to feel, and in exchange, put on a mask.

There can't be any large-scale revolution until there is a personal revolution, on an individual level. It's got to happen inside first.' - Jim Morrison

The uphill battle of the (censored, persecuted, criminalised, legally proscribed, demonised) alternative narrative with the, (privileged, legally protected, legally prescribed) 'Official' narrative (a.k.a the 'Holy Grail' of pre-endorsed 'unlimited book of blank-checks' you can (Na)cash in on at any time, in any situation, to 'justify' anything and everything you want to do to anyone, for any period of time, from 'conscripting' them to genociding them.

Humans are story tellers. From the child's 'The dog ate my homework' to 'From 8a.m this morning, Britain finds itself in a state of war with Germany'.

I'd like to make a distinction between a 'model' or 'paradigm' and a 'narrative'. While they share many features, I'd like to set a particular difference up as a demarcation line between them. That difference being the spirit in which they are defended and promoted. I will call it a 'model' or 'paradigm' when no ulterior motives exist for such defence or promotion. No vested interests. No personal agendas. No private motives. The defenders and promoters simply find the arguments contained in the model or paradigm to be the most compelling 'on the market' that they are aware of, at the time. And they are completely open to re-considering their position, in light of new evidence and more compelling arguments, in terms of it being new to them, or a new 'discovery' or 'insight' as a result of the open-ended quest for a closer correspondence between what we think we know, and what is. They make every effort to INVITE and FACILITATE the de-throning of their current ideas from their current status as 'the best model we can come up with so far'. They WELCOME and ENCOURAGE and provide resources to, and for, any critical analysis and deconstruction and interrogation of their arguments. Their 'tentative theses. Their 'models' or 'paradigms'. Their world views. Their beliefs. Their assumptions. They carefully attend to every minute assumption they have made, and flag it for all the world to quickly identify and recognise that the assumption has been made. They encourage others to find fault with their theory. To identify problematic assumptions that have yet to be flagged and identified, and brought to everyone's attention. To bring to EVERYONE'S attention any NEW findings, measurements, experiments, ideas, or insights, that the developers of the current theory may not be aware of, and which might change their views regarding their current assumptions, and the models they built from them. Basically everyone involved enters into this enterprise in the spirit of true philosophy. They are seekers of truth. They seek the whole truth, and nothing but the truth. They have ZERO emotional investment in anything being true or not.

They have no MATERIAL vested interests in their models or paradigms or theories. They don't stand to benefit financially from their model being accepted. They don't stand to lose financially from their model being rejected. Their affection for their model is limited. Their loyalties to any model are FLUID. They are NOT loyal to any model, or assumption. Their loyalty is with THE PROCESS rather than any current stage in it. They see the quest for truth as an open-ended, on-going, PROCESS. THAT is their prize. Not financial profit.

Of course there is no harm in desiring fame and reputation. Status. But it cannot become the MAIN motive. Our 'Scientist' and 'Seeker' must be a lover of truth for truth's sake.

The inventor must have, as their prime motive, the best interest of all sentient beings at heart, when seeking technological advances. Not merely seeking a way to monetize some insight or accidental discovery. For it is possible to make a lot of money from products and services that do more harm than good. Even that do ONLY harm. And WIDESPREAD harm. And harm that is lasting. Even for generations. And many individuals will willingly and knowingly betray their fellow sentient beings 'if the price is right'. Betray them to generations of suffering and misery and slavery. Not just be willing to genocide entire nations, but to ensure future generations pay an extremely high price, just so our inventor can enjoy a few years of personal, selfish, luxury, wealth, and other benefits. Or go down in 'The Official Narrative' as 'A great man / woman of history'.

Yes, so I would restrict the term 'Narrative' to describing the opposite of this. A theory, model, or paradigm which attempts to PROTECT itself from any close scrutiny.

And here the question arises and BEGS to be asked. Why the need to censor any narrative? And why the need to punish their narrators? Why do some narratives require legal protection? What justifies them being given their 'privileged' status? Do we need to protect people from narratives that contradict, or challenge, or simply offer ALTERNATIVES to 'The Official Narrative'? Why? What is the danger? What harm could an ERRONEOUS and LESS COMPELLING narrative have if we are so confident and self-assured that our 'Official' narrative is so compelling? So self-evidently true. So beyond question. So beyond DOUBT even. Surely if the argument is so strong and compelling and clear, it can 'stand on its own two feet'. Surely it shouldn't require such 'intensive care' support merely to survive? And if it DOES require such 'intensive care', what is the point in 'keeping it alive'? At the expense of ACTIVELY MURDERING AND KILLING OFF all the other 'alternative' narratives.

We are clearly dealing here with a 'flowers and weeds' situation. A weed is simply a plant that is not welcome. So why are some narratives 'unwelcome'? Even FEARED! So much that we must CENSOR them and place anyone who dares repeat them in public, let alone promote them as 'viable alternatives' and even 'superior alternatives' to our 'Official' narratives, in the worst prison situations usually only used as the last resort for the most violent and dangerous, and unmanageable of CRIMINALS?

We spray herbicide over entire fields to exterminate the 'weeds'. Because they are inconvenient. They are a nuisance. We define them as 'harmful'. As 'enemies'. To be 'defeated' and 'exterminated'. But why do we do the same with 'alternative narratives' and their 'narrators'? What harm do they pose? What threat? Who are they hurting?

Weeds are often much sturdier and well-adapted to their environment than the plants we WANT to grow in our field. They THRIVE because they are so much better adapted. Our crops required 'protection' and 'intensive care' to merely grow. A model or paradigm or theory or 'narrative' that thrives on its own, without any 'external supports', let alone CHEMICAL WARFARE to destroy its competitors, raises questions about what we are doing, when protecting the 'fragile' and 'vulnerable' 'Officially privileged – protected Narrative'.

Is the truth so fragile and vulnerable that it requires legal protections? The exercise of the full violence of the state? That war be declared upon its 'adversaries' and 'competition' and 'alternatives'? What can it be about TRUTH if it can be seen to be so weak? Of course there ARE many truths that DO require protection. Legal protection. State protection. 'Intensive Care'. If we 'left them to their own devices' these truths would be annihilated. For they are NOT adapted to this world. A world of predator and prey. Where a war of all against all rages. A war waged by pure might. And DECEPTION. On every level. Prey attempts to camouflage itself. Predators hide in the tall grass, or under water, or in trees, or circle the skies, waiting the chance to pounce on their unsuspecting prey.

We like to imagine we are all full of goodwill towards even our neighbours, and live in a world defined by love. But our neighbour is also our potential rapist and murderer, to paraphrase Freud. Even children desire the 'disappearance' of that competition for their mother's affection, the 'father'. Along with those pesky 'siblings'. Even the foetus competes with the mother for resources. It is defined by the mother's body as a 'parasite' and so most conceptions are naturally 'aborted'. Only the strongest survive the attacks of the mother's own immune system, and go 'to term'. Then both child and mother struggle to survive the birth.

In a state of pure anarchy, where the 'weak' are afforded no 'protection' by some 'state', the tall poppies are often 'cut down to size' and become the victims of their inferiors. The rule of MIGHT IS RIGHT is natural. Not the rule of 'The Just' and 'The Fair' and 'The Honest'. How many Kings were granted such epithets? King John the Just? Well his reign was short lived. He was quickly replaced by 'King James the Conqueror'. Or 'Steven THE GREAT'. What was so GREAT about him? Well, usually this referred to his MILITARY victories and prowess.

I''d love to go into more details here, about the need to protect the SUPERIOR argument and SUPERIOR personality, but my point is that yes, some IDEAS do require protection. Because while they are TRUE, they are not POPULAR. And the POPULAR ideas are often the WORST. So that some coercive force is required to gain compliance with the SUPERIOR idea and behaviour among the masses. Some LEGAL PROTECTION and PRIVILEGE must be granted many SUPERIOR ideas and people. Otherwise they would be 'cut down' by their inferiors. Motivated, often, by nothing more than ENVY. Malicious envy is human nature. Something that requires our eternal vigilance in managing. In protecting each other from.

But let's jump now to 'The Official Narratives' that our governments have seen to give 'SPECIAL PRIVILEGES AND ENTITLEMENTS AND LEGAL PROTECTIONS'. Even so far as to ACTIVELY PERSECUTE narratives and narrators that contradict or challenge them. Or simply offer ALTERNATIVES to them. Here we go from 'grey areas' to areas of high contrast, black and white. When we are ALLOWED to. Which we are NOT. And which is why I am writing this. Risking fines, imprisonment, and fates worse than death.

Consider how much suffering was required simply to 'reform', very slightly, first Judaism, to produce the various forms of early 'Christianity', and then to reform the dominant hegemonic form Christianity took, 'Catholicism', to produce the various forms of Lutheran 'Protestantism'. Millions of lives were destroyed, and thousands of battles and wars fought, on every level and every scale, to merely slightly adjust a particular 'Official Narrative'. One protected by the full violence of State Power. With the state acting as the 'Pontius Pilate' so that 'The Church' could pretend to 'keep its hands clean'. Like today's Dali Lama, the meat eating hypocrite elected as a child to become a 'reincarnated Buddha by democratic vote' who imagines he can pass on his 'bad karma' to others, in typical Judaic 'Scapegoat' and Christian 'Sacrificial Lamb' style.

Think of the massive costs in human and animal suffering required to merely slightly 'modify' and 'reform' 'The Official Narrative' of The Old Testament, into The New Testament, and then into the more Liberal forms of 'Christianity'. Without really producing any 'paradigm shift' at all.

Philosophy of Science talks in terms of 'paradigm shifts'. The 'Reformation' (of Roman Catholicism) is one example. In that example people openly talk of 'religious' reform. While Scientists like to imagine their SECULAR forms of religion are something entirely free of the same 'dogmas' and 'articles of faith' and 'leaps of faith' and ultimately 'Official Narratives' and 'Myths' and 'Cults of Personality' and 'Apocryphal (left out) texts' and 'Heresies' and 'Pogroms against non-conformists' and 'Schisms' and 'Political infighting' and 'Privileged-Protected Narratives' and even straight up 'making stuff up' and 'framing' and 'spinning' to 'make the DATA fit the narrative'. With direct EXCLUSIONS and CENSORSHIP and PUNISHMENT of dissenters and whistle-blowers, of any DATA and any SCIENTIST or RESEARCHER or THEORETICIAN who challenges THE OFFICIAL NARRATIVE. The 'MODEL'.

Scientists in Catholic, Soviet, and Maoist, societies, often found themselves being burned alive for merely suggesting 'alternative' narratives. Today they aren't being 'burned alive' but they ARE being 'quarantined' in various forms of Gulag from the torture of solitary confinement, to the other extreme torture (for the non-conformist) of 're-education'. I'd be conflicted. The excruciating agony of solitary confinement, with no idea of when you might, if ever, be released, and to what fate, versus the equally unbearable and intolerable torture of having to listen to absolute idiots regurgitate their slogans and propaganda with a straight face, full of the conviction and certainty and sense of superiority and smug complacency only a totally brainwashed cult thrall is capable of. To be 'lectured to' by a zombie! Or to be kept totally isolated from everything 'human' and all 'society'. Yes 'Society' is indeed 'the hell of other people' for the 'divergent' and 'aware' philosopher. But equally, being deprived of all 'experience', while being nominally 'kept alive', is possibly just a slight bit less bearable. At least you can provoke your 'teacher' to murder you, and get it over with. Whereas you won't even have a piece of cloth to strangle yourself with in your solitary confinement.

So this 'battle royal' between the protect-privileged 'official' narrative, and its promoters, and the 'alternative' narratives, and their supporters, is a UNIVERSAL phenomenon NOT limited, as more 'modern' CULT members like to imagine, to 'Ye Olde Religious Wars'. It rages at every level of society, from the most obviously, acutely, self-proclaimed 'religious CULTS', to the famous scientific CULTS, to the everyday, mundane, localised, 'opinion-based' actions of everyday people in their private lives, and 'at work'.

And members of various CULTS tend to gang up, any time they spot a 'free thinker' that is relatively independent of any of their CULT systems. A 'Lone Wolf'. A 'loose gun'. Clearly 'Not a team player'. About the worst crime you can accuse a human of. For humans are PACK predators. Conformity is the price of entry into any 'society'. The non-conformist is anathema. How dare they think for themselves! This is intolerable to most humans. It is a direct insult. A 'slap in the face'. To not conform. To suppose oneself BETTER THAN one's fellows! To REJECT what one's fellows, what TRADITION and SCRIPTURE and HOLY WRIT have all defined as 'THE ONLY WAY TO BE'. As if 'they know better'. How DARE they display such arrogance! To hold themselves ABOVE the 'given' ways of being and seeing and acting! To live FREELY while the rest endure their bondage! To show UTTER CONTEMPT for the WISDOM of the ancestors, and the CULT PRIESTS and the CULT LAWS. The CULT prescriptions and proscriptions. EVEN THOUGH IT HAS BEEN WRITTEN IN A BOOK. A BOOK. CAN'T THEY READ? WILL THEY SO WILLFULLY IGNORE WHAT HAS BEEN WRITTEN IN A BOOK? WHAT IS WRONG WITH THIS MADMEN AND WITCHES? SURELY THEY HAVE BEEN POSSESSED?

And here we come to the 'Blank Check' that all CULT DOGMAS offer CULT leaders. For if a person has been possessed, surely NO PRICE CAN BE TOO HIGH to free them of their DEMONIC possession! For they shall surely suffer eternally in hell for their affliction. Nay, no level of human suffering, ending in a torturous death, compares to the fate that awaits them if we fail them, and don't 'torture the demon out of them'. Burn it out of them at the stake! Not only do we owe it to THEM, but it is 'FOR THE GREATER GOOD'. For the good of all. Absolutely unavoidable in terms of 'NATIONAL SECURITY'. For if we do NOT 'DRIVE THIS DEMON OUT' of its current unfortunate HOST, it will surely INFECT others. And this CONTAGION will spread. No. We must act NOW and without further reflection. With a SENSE OF URGENCY BEFITTING THE TERRIBLE FATE THAT WE FACE SHOULD WE FAIL TO ACT IMMEDIATELY, WITHOUT DELAY, WITHOUT TIME FOR 'TRIALS' AND 'STUDIES' AND 'FURTHER INVESTIGATIONS'. Time is of the essence. We face a peril that is beyond comprehension. We must act now, and if necessary, reflect later. And NO action can be considered 'out of bounds'. No, we must SUSPEND OUR USUAL HUMANITARIAN CONSIDERATIONS IN THIS TIME OF CRISIS, FOR THE PEOPLE'S OWN PROTECTION. No response can be ruled out as 'too extreme'. THE ENDS JUSTIFY ANY AND ALL MEANS. No means can be excluded as too 'inhumane'. For our HUMANITY ITSELF IS AT STAKE. Thus we must temporarily SUSPEND OUR HUMANITY in order to PROTECT it. To save it from fates worse than death. Employing fates worth than death, where NECESSARY. No price can be considered too high. These are perilous times that require EMERGENCY MEASURES. And so on and so forth. Throughout history. Throughout hundreds of millions of years of recurring cycles of such EMERGENCIES. Which conveniently arise every time a CULT rises to hegemonic dominance, and seeks to take the very last step to TOTAL DICTATORSHIP and ABSOLUTE CONTROL.

Now to define the battle lines of this totally unequal form of warfare, between the protected-privileged-prescribed 'Official' narratives, and their competition, the censored, proscribed, criminalised, excommunicated etc narratives

The NACASH conspiracy (a.k.a Cult of Judah)

Seek, in the popular media or internet, in vain, for references to the NACASH that Moses, in that famous narrative, is commands his people, in the name of his 'god' YHWH, to erect in the desert. The pole with the serpent coiling around it. Familiar to most people as the international symbol for money. And the 'medical' profession. And thus the World Health Organisation, the Pharmaceutical industry, the Medical 'industry, and the United Nations. It is also the symbol for DNA. And for the DNA manipulation they are calling 'Covid Vaccines'.

When you combine the organized crime syndicates we call 'The Financial Industry' with 'The Medical Industry', and back both with a full spectrum propaganda machine, which includes the various CULT subsidiaries referred to by that propaganda as 'religions' and 'ideologies' (including Judaism, Christianity, Islam, Marxism, and Co2vid-ism), you have the recipe for ultimate power. Ultimate because the slaves imagine they are free. And because the power is always unobtrusive. Subtle. Hard to 'pin down'. Difficult to 'identify'. Hidden. Occult. Secret. And wielded by a SINGLE organisation, through a host of proxies, which, to the uninformed, naïve, observer, would appear to have no links, and even seem to be 'enemies' of each other.

The ideal base for such power is 'democratic'. This is why our NACASH CULT has financed, supported, and promoted, this form of government. To remove any existing power structures, such as monarchy, and National Socialist Dictatorships, which could resist them. Remembering that King Herod the Great, King of Israel, and thus 'The Jews' was the first monarch in recorded history to actively oppose the NACASH CULT. He had entire cities of PHARISEE priests genocided. The same Pharisee priests Jesus of the famous narratives called 'The Synagogue of Satan'. The reason why they mockingly called him 'The KING of the Jews'. In reference King Herod the Great.

Let that sink in. The KING of Israel that 'Jews' granted the epithet 'The Great', was, by ADL standards, the most anti-Semitic person imaginable. Until of course the Nazi's, with King Herod the Great for a role model, decided to emulate King Herod the Great UP TO A POINT. For while the KING OF ISRAEL literally attempted to 'remove the biological basis for THE NACASH CONSPIRACY, (THE CULT OF JUDAH), by murdering all the Pharisees he could lay hands on, and utterly destroying their cities, Hitler and his patriots merely sought to 'quarantine them', and remove them from Europe, actively encouraging and facilitating their emigration to Palestine.

Occupation governments are most easily installed in democracies. People are easily tricked into voting for candidates pre-selected to act as proxies for the foreign occupation government. A high number of potential 'puppets' are recruited at the start of their potential careers. These puppets are usually motivated by pure personal, selfish, ends. Their 'business' is politics. Their 'scam' is politics. Their 'organized crime' is politics. They are often installed first in supporting positions, such as 'Intelligence Agencies' and 'Policing Agencies'. They are often recruited from the financial sector, as that is where FUNCTIONIAL psychopaths end up, when they don't directly move into OPENLY criminal activities. The finance industry is the 'technically legal' and most lucrative of all 'organized crime'. So functional psychopaths are attracted to this sphere of activity the moment they understand this. Here they can commit financial crimes with BILLIONS of victims, without fear of prosecution. The ENTIRE industry is corrupt, from the 'ratings agencies' which will rate a 'junk bond' as AAA, if you pay them, to the Politicos, and supposed 'policing authorities' who are either ex-finance industry employees or lobbyists, or have been promised 'honey pot' positions in return for 'services rendered' while in office, immediately after leaving office. Such as 'talking gigs' where a few minutes of blabber at a luxury convention is officially 'renumerated' higher than most rock stars could dream of for a 'live performance'. The 'policing' and 'regulating authorities', together with the controlled politicos, work together to ensure the crimes committed are not 'technically' crimes. There is a 'spinning door' between the finance industry, and their supposed 'governors' and 'regulators'. So that the worst offenders, who have done the most damage, and profited most personally, from financial crimes, often are installed as the heads of the supposed regulatory bodies. And in many cases rise to the top of the political ladder. Such as the President of France today.

Of course the less functional psychopaths seek careers in the military and police, where they are quickly identified and groomed by The Cult of Judah, the NACASH conspiracy, to be used as 'useful idiots'.

Of course there are also the genuine 'patriots' and 'idealists' who are TRICKED into serving the NACASH conspiracy. They imagine they are serving some 'Greater Good'. They are exploited as 'useful idealists' and 'patriots'. The best way to smash existing power is via massively destructive wars. The next way to cripple existing power is through financial manipulation. The simplest way to enslave entire nations is via debt slavery. Economic wrecking through war, and financial sabotage and manipulation, using Central Banks as the main weapons, ensures nations become indebted to chimerical 'non-government organizations' such as The World Bank and International Monetary Fund. These are the true 'Philosophers Stones' that turn, for their operators, worthless base metals, even paper, into gold. Then into POWER.

Individuals are coerced into paying 'taxes' to finance these debts. Or governments simply 'print' money, producing inflation, that 'invisible' and 'sneaky' form of government 'taxation'. The 'Claytons tax'. The tax you impose, without need for recourse to any political process, or 'checks and balances'. Because 'The Official Narrative' pushed by the full spectrum propaganda defines 'The Central Bank' as some sort of 'independent' and 'politics free' organisation. It is thus free of politic influence. And thus can operate free from the 'interference' or 'regulation' of 'the public'. When a Central Bank puts 'money' into circulation, 'creating' it from nothing, it is indirectly, with a slight time lag, TAXING the debt-slaves. The rich are first to get their hands on that new 'money'. They can spend it at today's valuation. By the time it 'trickles down' to the poorest, its 'purchasing power', along with any 'money' the poor already had, has fallen. And this entire process continues, silently, 'in the background', until 'currencies' become totally debased, and we have the sort of 'hyperinflation' seen in pre-Nazi Germany, in which the 'wealth' of the middle classes and working classes was 'wiped out', and the rich elites were free to buy up real assets, and power, at bargain basement prices, from people forced to sell at ANY price, merely to feed themselves and their families.

The principle of THE NACASH CONSPIRACY that Moses 'planted' in the desert, was to dominate 'The Nations' by lending to them, and never borrowing. Making them debt-slaves. Which most of 'The Nations' today are. With the proxy of the NACASH CONSPIRACY, The World Bank, now effectively determining the most important economic, social, and health policies of only nominally 'sovereign' nations. Nations that were once, like Brazil, the RICHEST nations in the world, with the highest standards of living.

Wars and revolutions and other forms of economic wrecking, such as orchestrated and scripted 'recessions' and 'depressions', and 'bubbles' and 'stock market crashes', which continually TRANSFERRED WEALTH from 'the people' to the NACASH CONSPIRACY (The Cult of Judah), so that over time EVERY nation amassed DEBTS to the NACASH CONSPIRACY's proxies. The Central Banks. The Bank of International Settlements. Then the newly established World Bank and International Monetary Fund. Making most individuals debt slaves to their own democratically elected occupation governments. And making most nations debt slaves the The Cult of Judah via their proxies, The World Bank and IMF.

Today's fake pandemic narrative based economic wrecking is the final stage. Economic wrecking such as 'lockdowns' and 'border closures' and 'refusal of shipping' and 'closing down entire city centers', has destroyed the ability of 'The Nations' to function without 'loans' from Cult of Judah, NACASH CONSPIRACY proxies. In return for World Bank 'loans', nominally sovereign nations are FORCED to continue the very 'measures' that have already wrecked their economies, such as 'lockdowns' and 'FORCED injections of the entire population with dog knows what'.

Actually, more and more researchers are DOCUMENTING exactly WHAT IS IN THESE INJECTIONS. And the contents more than justify the most speculative and sinister of the warnings I made in my now banned books, near the start of this faked pandemic hoax.

The Co2vid Cult is the last subsidiary Cult of The Cult of Judah, and thus the last in a long line of NACASH CONSPIRACY cults. Which the full spectrum propaganda define as 'religions'. It is the final act of ECONOMIC WRECKING that will ensure that 'The Nations' must 'borrow from' the proxies of the NACASH CONSPIRACY.

If you doubt me, ask yourself why THEY feel the need to BAN, BLOCK, and BLACKLIST someone like myself with a tiny readership, and almost zero influence? What could they possibly be scared of? So TERRIFIED of? That they have to censor even voices no-one is really listening to at all? Why do they feel so VULNERABLE? Like the elephant terrified of the mouse?

Of course the NACASH CONSPIRACY could only work because the average person is corrupt. Selfish. Greedy. The corrupt, deceptive, con-artist known as 'The financial advisor' or 'Salesperson' is selling to a customer whose sense of exclusive, EXCEPTIONAL entitlement to benefits others pay for ensures they are an equal match, ethically. They 'resonate' with each other. They find each other 'agreeable'. The one is selling the same lie the other wants to believe in. The lie being sold is the one they are already 'sold on'. They have 'bought into' the whole racket. So they 'speculate' and call it 'investment'. They facilitate the entire FRAUD called 'high finance' and 'the stock market'. The deceiving salesperson's lies are readily consumed by the self-deceiving consumer. As I say, it is 'Fuckers all the way down'. The system the NACASH CONSPIRACY built resonates with the average person. The slave who wants to be slave MASTER, to put it simply. The SEMITE. The individual who 'believes' in the IDEOLOGY OF SEMITISM. The notion of EXCLUSIVE, EXCEPTIONAL, rights, privileges, and benefits that OTHERS should pay for, support, sweat, labor, bleed, suffer, and die for. THAT is what 'anti-Semitism' opposes. This IDEOLOGY OF SEMITISM. The one the ADL, a criminal organisation under U.S law, promotes. Demonizing and criminalizing and defining as mentally ill, anyone who dares challenge this ideology.

But what would 'push-back' really look like? The police and military and other occupation government funded goons merely 'dance to the tune of the piper who pays them'. People will convince themselves they are 'in the right' simply to keep their snouts in 'the money trough' (Kurt Vonnegut's metaphor!) There is no 'arguing' with 'useful idiots with guns'. You don't get promoted in the military or police or similar unless you are 'pre-selected' as 'suitable'. Which means 'a good team player ' (corrupt), and 'flexible' (corrupt), and can 'take directions' (corrupt), and ideally are INCAPABLE of 'thinking for yourself, ensuring your 'reliability'.

So there is little use appealing to these people's sense of justice, truth, honor, reason, or rationality. They didn't get the jobs they hold, nor rise up the ranks, by being the sort of people such appeals might resonate with. And these people will serve whoever pays them. And right now, as the ABSURD FICTION of 'finance' rules the minds and hearts of people, that means The World Bank and International Monetary Fund, which has ASSERTED THE RIGHT to 'create money from nothing', so that it can INDEBT 'The Nations' to itself. In other words the NACASH CONSPIRACY now is the 'pay master' for most 'Government' workers. Because 'The Nations' cannot operate, under the completely FICTITIOUS narratives accepted as 'The Truth' and 'Reality', without 'loans' from The World Bank or IMF.

The entire system of finance is IRRATIONAL. IMAGINARY. It is a CULT. The NACASH CULT. The 'DEBT' is as unreal as the 'wealth'. They are FICTIONS. People only 'own' something by mutual agreement. But mutual consent. Money is just an agreement. A contract. That you are FORCED into operating under. You would NEVER have agreed to 'The Terms and Conditions' if you had been offered genuine INFORMED CONSENT. You were TRICKED. Any consent, where you have given it, was given based on MISINFORMATION. Deception. FRAUD. The contract is VOID. It was NEVER binding. And the moment you 'walk away from the deal' you will see what it is REALLY built of. VIOLENCE. STATE VIOLENCE. BRUTE FORCE. For your 'government' will employ every means of VIOLENCE against you to FORCE you to SUBMIT to their fraudulent contract. They will take away your 'real property' and 'real assets'. They will take away your means of earning a living. Your 'licenses'. Your 'jobs'. Your 'career'. Your 'professional qualifications'. Your 'government benefits'. They will 'freeze your assets'. They will 'fine' you. They will imprison you. They will, as THE 13TH AMENDMENT allows, ENSLAVE YOU, by defining you as a 'criminal'.

Which is what you ALWAYS WERE. Only now you are conscious of it. And now it is too late to do anything about it. Because they've got you exactly where they want you. Behind bars. Powerless. Isolated. Ex-communicated from society. Even deprived of the right to vote, what little good THAT did you. Outcast.

See how that '13th Amendment' weaseled you out of your freedom? How the act claimed to have 'ended slavery' merely changed the FORM of slavery? Made the slave BELIEVE that they were free? When all that stood between them and OFFICIAL LEGAL SLAVERY was a 'line in the sand' that the slave masters would, any time they pleased, re-draw, to make anyone a CRIMINAL and thus LEGAL SLAVE. Simply by defining any natural, normal, rational, victimless act, as 'criminal'. Remember I am a CRIMINAL for having written the now banned books I published. And for writing THIS right now.

I warned you that they would soon be COMING FOR YOU. Simply by adding new 'crimes' to the code. Like the Pharisees the Biblical Jesus rallies against. Warning, as he did 'The LAW brings DEATH'. Only the LIVING, uncensored, word, brings life.

Yesterday, when they kicked down the doors of 'Historical Revisionists' a.k.a 'Holocaust Deniers', and sentenced them to years of solitary confinement, pure torture, YOU had no interest. Now when they are kicking down the doors, and arresting, PEOPLE LIKE YOU, you are suddenly outraged. And yet you still manage to NOT 'join the dots'. Make the connections between the two things. As if they were totally unrelated. As if they were NOT expressions of the SAME conspiracy. The same CULT. The NACASH CONSPIRACY of The Cult of Judah.

Abraham Lincoln got off easy with a quick death at the hands of an avenging angel of justice. He had condemned over 600,000 SLAVES to death. Free men HE ENSLAVED by DECLARING them 'conscripts' as collaborators in his CRIMES AGAINST HUMANITY and then WAR CRIMES. Lincoln ENSLAVED men. He never set out to 'free' any slave. He made the entire U.S nation a DEBT SLAVE. And completely opposed the spirit of the U.S Constitution by DICTATING conscription. For the U.S had no need for a standing army. It had never had any real enemies that the MILITIA's could not handle. The Spanish and then Mexican and then Indian wars were all WAR CRIMES committed by the U.S in the name of 'TERRITORIAL EXPANSION', no different than any European war conducted by any greedy monarch.

Lincoln was NOT fighting against slavery at any point in his career. The South seceded for their own reasons. They declared their sovereignty. They wanted no part of what the 'U.S.A' was becoming. Like the regions of Spain now seeking independence. Their love of liberty being suppressed by STATE VIOLENCE. By sheer brute force. By THUGGERY. Just as President Lincoln did with 'The South'. Lincoln himself made it clear over and over again that he was not fighting that 'Civil war' to end slavery. But merely to DENY STATES THEIR SOVEREIGNTY. To defend HIS idea of what the U.S.A should be. In DIRECT CONTRADICTION TO THE U.S CONSTITUTION. It was Lincoln who introduced CONSCRIPTION. Which is the WORST form of slavery. FORCING MEN TO MURDER OTHER MEN, AND BE MAIMED AND KILLED. Enslaving people to do productive work is bad enough. Enslaving men to do DESTRUCTIVE work is a much WORSE and more evil and vile form of slavery. And of course to pay for his CRIMES AGAINST HUMANITY he had to, once more in direct violation of the spirit and word of the U.S Constitution, introduce COMPULSORY FEDERAL TAXATION. Lincoln was a war criminal. One of the worst in history. But of course he was working, consciously or unwittingly, for the NACASH conspiracy. For The Cult of Judah. So they erect huge monuments to him. While demonizing true friends of the people, like Adolf Hitler. Did I just lose most of my potential audience? If you cannot ENTERTAIN the most challenging of ideas, even for a moment, just to see where they take you, then you are DOOMED TO ETERNAL SLAVERY. Doomed to swallow the camels the full spectrum propaganda machine mass-produce for your consumption. Followed by the 'spoonful of sugar' known as 'entertainment', to make it more palatable. Usually mixed together with the sex and escapism you are addicted to, and swallowed as a whole. So the 'taste of camel' is well disguised. Your throat becomes so 'flexible' you hardly notice the hoofs. All the while the full spectrum propaganda machine trains and conditions you to 'strain at gnats' when it comes to any 'alternative / competing narratives' on offer. Training and conditioning you to exercise the most monstrous of double standards, when it comes to 'burden of proof'. So that any alternative narrative is placed under microscopic scrutiny, and the moment you can 'discover' some tiny flaw in it, you feel 'justified' in rejecting the entire narrative, and ignoring it and dismissing it. While the 'camels' in 'The Official Narrative' just trot along, unseen, unheard, unnoticed. Is that a camel there? Hey, look OVER THERE at that NAKED WOMAN. You hear camels? Hey, listen to OPRAH or the latest reality t.v show star, THEY have something REALLY interesting to tell you. Etcetera. Etcetera.

So, back to our 'push-back'. Consider every 'revolution' in history, and how it ended. Napoleon defeated by the Cult of Judah's ability to finance his enemies to recruit entire nations against him. Mexico forced to 'sell' California and Texas to the U.S government, after it marched into Mexico City and held its leaders at gunpoint. Oh, did you notice that Russia sold Alaska to America just before the Revolution broke out there? Just coincidence? Imagine how the 'cold war' narrative would have played out if Russia had kept Alaska! O.K, so revolutions. The popular revolution in Russia was overtaken, co-opted, by the Cult of Judah, to enslave the people under new management of 'Jews'. Napoleon had done the unspeakably anti-Semitic thing of insisting 'Jews' declare their FIRST loyalty to France, and not their Cult. He had to go. National Socialism did the same thing. Look how it all ended for Germany. Like France, occupied, a mere puppet, and sovereign only in name. Completely controlled by the Cult of Judah. Americans fought against their British masters, simply to have new masters thrust upon them, like Lincoln, along with his new illegal TAXES and WARS.

So far only Venezuela has managed to hold out. By virtue of its wealth of oil. And genuinely democratic, popular, socialist, governments. But look at what happened to Gadhafi and Libya! Look at what is happening in Australia, even as I write this. And Italy. And the rest of the world. Millions protest, but does the government listen? Does it give a damn what the public REALLY want? No. It will keep vomiting out its propaganda, pretending there is 'general consensus' and that 'we are in this together', and playing down the massive rebellion against its DICTATORIAL REIGN OF TERROR in the full spectrum propaganda machine and mass media generally. So that the MASS of dissent can be 'framed' as 'delusionary MINORITY right wing extremist terrorism' and the like.

Who would win a civil war in any given occupied nation? Well what happened to Germany? The NACASH CONSPIRACY, The Cult of Judah, simply activated its proxies in the nations it had occupied, like Britain, its colonies, and America, to destroy Germany. Today it would be a U.N military force headed by North Atlantic Terrorist Organization forces, and probably a whole lot of CHINESE soldiers. Any nation that sought to RECLAIM ITS SOVEREIGNTY, like the Catalonians recently discovered, will be CRUSHED by overwhelming force. Like Napoleon. Like National Socialism. Just as the U.S has repeatedly CRUSHED any genuinely popular, democratic, movements around the world.

What is my point in writing this? To offer myself as a suicide bomber? How satisfying it would be to make a few of the whores of the Cult of Judah pay for their crimes against humanity. I am referring to the propagandists at every level. For they are the ones who have poisoned the minds of the people. They are the ones misleading the people. They are the greatest evil that exists on this plane-et at this time. Even more evil than lawyers and politicians. For the mass media whores, the propagandists, are the ones who EMPOWER the political evil, the financial evil, the medical evil, the legal evil. They 'frame' and 'spin' and 'censor' and 'distort' until the people are TERRORIZED into submitting to these evils. But that would be PERSONAL. You see I HATE liars. They have been the bane of my life from day one on this dog-forsaken plane-et. WEASELS. Human WEASELS. People who would NEVER allow themselves to be interrogated. The moment you pin them down on a FACT, they WEASEL out of it, and yammer on about something else. So that you can NEVER HOLD THEM ACCOUNTABLE FOR THEIR SELF-DECEPTION, AND LIES. This is the most intolerable of evils to me. Because it is the very foundation of all other evils. The evil at the heart of evil. The core that sustains evil. The energy that maintains evil. The reason evil prevails. Because people are allowed to 'get away with' the most absurd and obvious of self-deceptions and lies. They can WEASEL their way out of any direct confrontation with TRUTH. And spin and frame the most monstrous of lies, and the cruelty and injustice these inflict on other sentient beings, into such a web of 'Social Reality', that the lies become 'The Official Narrative'. And truth is utterly silenced. Demonized. Ex-communicated.

I would go to heaven strapped in C4 simply to get a chance at 'taking down' any 'gods' up there who are ultimately responsible for this mess. To 'create' a human WEASEL nature that was doomed to allow EVIL to dominate. To DECIEVE itself. And others. To trick others. To enslave other sentient beings. Using the magic of mere WORDS. Hearsay. Blah blah blah. Abracadrabra!

But that is PERSONAL. And just a pipe-dream. I won't get the chance. None of us will. Perhaps there ARE people close to those people, who might have the opportunity. But they are too well rewarded for their complicity in their crimes against humanity, to risk losing such highly valued benefits. It would take the following recipe. An idealist who imagined they were serving some 'greater good' who suddenly realises they are serving The Cult of Judah, and uses their access, and connections, to 'take down' as many criminals in the mass media as they can. But people rarely 'wake from their dogmatic slumbers'. Who wants to admit they are serving EVIL? Especially when it pays so well! To admit they have been tricked. So easily. So obviously. So self-evidently. Who wants to admit they are THAT stupid? THAT gullible and naïve. That DELUSIONAL!

Nope, sorry folks, this is not a Hollywood script, with the satisfying 'second Act turnaround' (depending on how you define your 'acts', I'm using F.Scott.Fitzgerald's definition here). There will be no satisfying 'justice' served on the evil doers. This is European cinema. This is ANCIENT GREEK narrative. The Hero will die. Even if he manages to complete his 12 impossible labors. He will die in agony. Punished for his noble achievements. Tied to a rock to have a mechanical robot bird eat at his liver each day. That sort of thing.

And while a lot of us would love to walk up to our 'favorite' propagandist, the 'funny Jewish talk-show guy or gal', that 'respected television announcer' or 'prize winning journalist', or even Victorian Premier, and his 'Chief Medical Officer', and 'silence their lies once and for all', that's not going to happen. And if it does, there will be a thousand groomed and pre-selected candidates waiting to fill their shoes, as Cult of Judah proxies, to ensure the fulfillment of The NACASH CONSPIRACY's enterprise. That of a one world dictatorship. Perhaps with nominal 'nations' operating as mere proxies, to maintain the ILLUSION, the DELUSION, of 'government by the people for the people'. Remember no-one is more enslaved than they who falsely BELIEVE that they are FREE. That's Goethe. Unobtrusive power is the most powerful. Unseen power. Operating from 'behind the scenes'. Literally 'scenes' scripted and orchestrated and 'cast' by Cult of Judah producers, like any Hollywood production. Like the MGM hotel shooting. Like nine eleven. Like 'Sandy Hook'. Like that most enduring of 'public myths' known as 'The Holocaust'.

Nope, sorry folks. THIS world was never going to be satisfying for anyone hoping for truth and justice. It's a world 'red in tooth and claw'. Where 'man is wolf to man'. Where conspirators construct 'Leviathans' to dominate over their competitors. In a 'war of all against all'. A world of predator and prey. Where psychopaths are guaranteed to rise to the highest positions of power. Where 'good' people are doomed to suffer at the hands of the 'bad' majority'. Where slavery is always the norm. Where even slaves don't want to abolish slavery, they merely want to become slave MASTERS. Beneficiaries rather than victims. And where MOST of the slaves are committed to the ideology of SEMITISM. That of exclusive, exceptional, entitlement to abuse other sentient beings as mere means to their own ends. To appropriate the value other beings produce. To pass on costs to other sentient beings. To make others pay whatever price is required.

The majority of soldiers, police, and other 'goons' and 'government employees' and their contractors, will 'go along to get along' with WHATEVER 'the government' decides to do. They will swallow the camels offered to them by their mass media, by the full spectrum propaganda machine, because that is the most convenient thing to do. It allows them to 'justify' the very worst of crimes against humanity, simply to 'keep their job', or 'advance in their career', or 'climb up to the next layer of the pyramidal structure. The propaganda lets them justify, to themselves, any and all crimes. It allows them to face their own children, without breaking down in guilty tears at having 'sold them out'. Having sold out their futures. Having built the prison which they will be slaves of. Having supported the slave masters who will enslave them.

When you try to 'turn' them back to the truth, to get them to question 'authority', to question the propaganda, and attend to the CAMELS they have been swallowing, they will simply ignore the facts in what you are saying, and simply, while you are talking, actively and selectively seek out some GNAT in your argument they can focus ALL their attention on. They will find something it is impossible for anyone to prove, under the current conditions. Then make THAT the ENTIRE EXCLUSIVE FOCUS of their response. They will employ the most MOSTROUS of 'double standards'. They will place the onus probandi, the 'burden of proof' upon YOU. Like a typical Catholic Cult thrall might demand 'Prove that god does NOT exist'. Which is like me asking them to prove invisible pink elephants are NOT pink'. Let alone that they do NOT exist. It is IMPOSSIBLE to prove such things. It is INSANE to ask anyone to. ABSURD. And yet that is what is demanded of us. We are asked to prove something imaginary does not exist. Where to start? No, SCIENTIFIC METHOD has always made it clear that the burden of proof is upon the person CLAIMING or ASSERTING or DECLARING something. The person making the 'positive existentialist statement'. The person CLAIMING that something is true. They are expected to PROVE it via demonstration or at least compelling arguments deducible from something that HAS been proven. DEMONSTRATED. Not merely by 'committees ASSERTING something to be true'. But by SCIENTIFIC EXPERIMENT, OBSERVATION, and TESTING.

And any 'experiment' claimed to have been performed must be documented so clearly and specifically that ANY OTHER PERSON CAN REPLICATE IT, given the same resources. And these resources MUST be provided to independent scientists, free of any bias, prejudice, or 'vested interest' in the outcome. So that they may ATTEMPT TO REPLICATE THE EXPERIMENT AND THE RESULTS.

Consider that THE MOST IMPORTANT EXPERIMENT IN THE LAST MILLENIUM IS THAT CLAIMING TO HAVE TAKEN 'IMAGES' OF THE SUPPOSED COVID-19 VIRUS MICROBE.

Remember we were told that 'oops, we didn't realise you were asking for THAT' when recently 'images' were released CLAIMING to show 'Covid 19 microbes'. We were told such images had been around for a LONG time already. In MANY different nations. But that no-one had thought anyone would be interested in seeing them. And then when a Freedom of Information application was made requesting access to such 'documents' it was refused, because it was NOT 'specific enough'. Oops. A typo. Someone asked to see 'Covid 19', they forgot the dash. WELL WHY DIDN'T YOU SAY COVID – (DASH) 19. Not OUR fault. And so they pretend 'we had such images all along'. And this CAMEL is swallowed by people who WANT to believe it. Because it is easier for them. More convenient. To 'go along to get along' with whatever monstrous lies and CRIMES AGAINST HUMANITY 'their own government' commit, and openly plan to commit.

But even forgetting this nonsense, this 'theatre of the absurd', we can simply focus on the clear FACTS. The people who released the supposed 'images' do not specify the source of their original sample. Where it came from. From a PCR test kit? From a supposedly 'infected' person? From a bat? From a laboratory test-tube? Then what equipment was used to construct the supposed 'image'? Along with all the other details that are required for independent researchers to REPLICATE the images. The 'findings'. The 'discoveries'. The 'outcomes'.

THAT is the basis of SCIENTIFIC METHOD. REPLICATION OF THE EXPERIMENT. If you cannot replicate the findings, you have no EVIDENCE or PROOF. YOU HAVE DEMONSTRATED NOTHING. All sorts of 'experimental findings' have been published about dog knows what. But unless they can be replicated, they are 'put to the side' and treated as mere 'hypothesis' requiring proof. And the BURDEN OF PROOF is firmly placed upon the person who publishes. NOT on the people 'refusing to believe them'. It is up to the scientist to REPLICATE their studies. To replicate THE RESULTS. To provide OTHER scientists with all the information THEY would require to REPLICATE the same findings themselves. Independently. Only THEN can anyone claim the results deserve our attention. Let alone that BILLIONS of people SUFFER as a result of 'political actions' taken BASED ON our supposed 'findings'.

Sorry, but the mass of people are INSANE. MAD. RAVING MAD. DELUSIONAL. IRRESPONSIBLE. LACKING ALL CONSCIENTIOUSNESS. LAZY. AND SEMITIC, IN TERMS OF SUBSCRIBING TO THE IDEOLOGY OF SEMITISM.

And there is NO hope for change any time soon. Least of all soon enough to help those of us who ARE AWAKE and CONSCIOUS of what is going on. And won't simply 'go along to get along'. Follow the Judas Goat to slaughter at worst. At best follow our 'false prophets' into a NEW slavery.

We can try to set up our own nation. But who is willing to 'Walk away from Omelas'? To give up their comfortable lives, as collaborators with their Cult of Judah occupation governments? To risk losing their jobs. Then their homes and families. Then being imprisoned. Then sent off to the new Gulags that are awaiting. This is nothing new. History is full of such things happening. Do you have evidence that human nature has changed since the days of the Soviet Union, a mere half century ago? You imagine 'history never repeats'? Based on what? Are you DELUSIONAL? Seeing and hearing only what you WANT to see and hear? Are CHINESE people essentially DIFFERENT to 'your people'? Were Russians different to the rest of us? Do you pay ANY attention to what has been going on in the world over the last 100 years? Even TWENTY years?

So please, use this typical, normal, usual, natural, state of affairs, expression of the human condition, and repeating cycle of history, to ESCAPE history once and for all. We've had YUGAS (hundreds of millions of years at the very least) of the same old cycles. Slavery is the human condition. Because it is what WE ALL WILL FOR

OTHER SENTIENT BEINGS. Stop and think what THAT means. WE ALL WILL IT FOR EVERYONE ELSE. How is it possible we will NOT end up as slaves, under such conditions? With a 'rotation' of masters. 'Enjoying' perhaps one life in a hundred as beneficiary. And 99 as victim.

We must ABANDON the ideology of Semitism once and for all. The belief that we personally, and those we care about, enjoy inalienable rights to exploit other sentient beings as mere means to OUR own selfish ends. The belief that we are EXCEPTIONAL. That we have EXCLUSIVE rights and privileges others do NOT have. That some 'god' had decided this in our favor. And that everyone ELSE is MISTAKEN in THEIR beliefs concerning THEIR 'gods' and such.

We have to RISE ABOVE this ideology of Semitism. PURGE it from our selves. Become ANTI-SEMITIC in this sense. With our own WILL being the focus of our attention. We must FREE OURSELVES OF THIS TOXIC WILLING. We must REFORM OUR OWN WILL. This is the ULTIMATE IN FREE WILL AND SELF-DETERMINATION. We must subdue the beast within ourselves. We must become masters of our own will. We must cease being slaves to the wills of others. And we can only do this by ceasing to enslave other wills to our own. We must do both at the same time. They iteratively re-inforce each other. Which ever way we choose to go. Either we will become increasingly free from others slavery, as we increasingly abandon the idea of enslaving others to OUR will. Or we will become, increasingly, slaves to OTHERS, as we continue to strengthen our own will TO enslave others. Other sentient beings. Any being that can experience pleasure, pain, and relief. Not just humans. And not just 'humans that look like us that we thus sympathize with and identify with'.

We must raise our ethical tone. Often it takes the monstrosity of the 'other' to allow us to see the monstrosity that is within us. It is always easier to see a fault in 'the other', than in ourselves. And it is harder to ignore the will to enslave others, when we become the victim of it. When we become powerless to protect ourselves from the same will in ourselves, being expressed by others. As long as we are the beneficiary of slavery, we will have a motive to delude ourselves that it is 'just' and 'acceptable'. It is much easier to become critical of, and reject, slavery, when we become the slave. The victim of it. This applies to any system of exploitation and oppression. When OUR people are corrupt, we can overlook it. But when the corrupt of OTHERS begins COSTING us, we suddenly can 'see' the 'problem' with corruption.

So this latest cycle of history repeating can be seen as real 'eye opener' that might suddenly 'awaken' a lot of people who, before, never had the 'incentive' or 'motive' to 'take a critical look at' their own values and the behaviors these inform. A real BARDOT. The 'Whacking Stick' is a big enough one that we can't ignore it. We can choose to TRY to ignore it. To 'spin' and 'frame' and 'distort' our perception of it, to allow us to 'continue as normal'. Like the 'Good Soviets' and 'Party faithful' who went to their deaths in the Gulags believing, up to the very last moment, that 'some mistake has been made, and once comrade Stalin becomes aware of it, he will come and save me, and punish those who made the error , and compensate me'. Because they did not WANT to face facts. They WANTED to remain delusional. To believe what they wanted to believe. Most people are like that. So it takes MILLIONS of cycles of the same lesson, for them to finally learn it.

THAT is the ONLY optimistic note of HOPE I can offer you. As far as this world goes, this is 'business as usual'. The business of slavery. The business of 'the war of all against all'. With the official MOSSAD motto saying it all. 'Make war by DECEPTION'. By fakery. By hearsay. By lies. By trickery. By manipulation. Use PYSCHOLOGICAL WARFARE. And as 'man is wolf to man' in this 'war of all against all', it is never going to end. 'Jews' in Israel are, after all, the most repeatedly 'injected' nation on the plane-et, and suffering the most grievous physical reactions to whatever they are being injected with, of any group of people on the plane-et. If we are to believe 'The Official Narrative' offered us. Maybe this too is all lies. And the 'Jews' are to be spared the horrors awaiting the rest of us. Or, as King Herod the Great believed, perhaps the 'Jews' too will be victims of their own 'Ideology of Semitism' by the NACASH CONSPIRACY and their own Cult of Judah! Only time will tell. And for most people, they won't even SEE what is right in front of their eyes, when it actually happens. They will be given some 'Official Narrative' camel to swallow. And swallow they will. The survivors will believe whatever is easiest for them to believe. That their 'government' tried to save them. But some 'terrorist' or 'pandemic' wiped out BILLIONS of lives. And life will continue 'as usual'. Just without the RELATIVE freedoms and liberties SOME OF US had enjoyed, for a few brief generations.

And why? Because WE insisted on maintaining the same WILL that can not NOT produce a slave society. Because we refused to reform our own will. To take PERSONAL RESPONSIBILITY. We greedily accepted the offers of our CULT priests of 'scapegoats' and 'sacrificial lambs' and 'saviors' and 'intercessions' and 'raptures'. How convenient. Just 'pass the buck' onto someone ELSE. Have THEM suffer for OUR 'sins'.

It's up to YOU. We cannot 'change the world' but we can 'CHANGE WORLDS'. To paraphrase (Saint) Francis of Assisi. We can raise our ethical tone. Reform our wills. So that our NEXT worlds will REPRESENT and MANIFEST that new, higher, will. The will that refuses to exploit power over other sentient beings. A will that refuses to treat others as mere means to our own ends. A will that refuses to enjoy benefits paid for by others who did NOT intend this. A will that wills FREEDOM and LIBERTY and JUSTICE and TRUTH, FOR ALL SENTIENT BEINGS. And so GETS this.

If you can NOT see the LOGIC of this, I cannot help you. I have described something perfectly RATIONAL and REASONABLE and LOGICAL. Something truly self-evident, if anything can be described as such.

And to paraphrase my favorite French cartoon girl 'That's all there is, there is no more'.

But I extrapolate at length, in case it is not so 'self-evident' to you, YET. Don't worry, you'll have an INFINITY of lives, of horror, as slaves, to learn this lesson. So no hurry. It is YOUR responsibility to reform YOU. Not mine. I have to work on my own will.

The Buddhists have 'big boat' and a 'little boat' schools of thought about all this. The 'big boat' school is the idea that people can learn the lesson easier, among like-minded fellow seekers. That we can resonate off each other, like tuning forks, and iteratively raise our resonant frequency. The 'little boat' school believes the journey is a personal one. That it can only be travelled alone. I think both are true. WE should have both options. To join with others when it feels right. Then to go it alone, when that feels necessary.

The context of this is that maybe there is NO way to learn this lesson, other than by personal suffering of the consequences of our own willing. That no matter what someone like myself has to contribute to your own spiritual awakening, and personal reform of your WILL, in the end it will only resonate with people at a similar level already. So that MOST people around at any moment in time will simply TUNE OUT anything I have to say. They are 'tuned into' different bandwidths. They actively REJECT any signals outside of this narrow bandwidth. They simply do not 'receive' it. Thus they will not RENDER it.

So I guess this is for those people operating inside my current narrow bandwidth. Only these people will be 'tuned into' this channel. Receiving at these frequencies. And thus able to RENDER what I have to say, as reason, logic, and compelling argument.

Markus Rehbach

Privileged narratives a.k.a 'The Official (dominant hegemonic) Narrative'

The term 'narrative' comes from political science, public relations, propaganda, and psychological warfare. It means 'story'. Myths and legends are narratives. Often the 'narrative' that justifies the current political situation, such as the rule of a particular dynasty over a particular group of people. We have 'origin narratives' for that group of people itself, to give it a sense of identity and 'history' and 'meaning'. Given how atomized and fractured all social groups are in REALITY, such narratives construct a fake sense of 'unity' and 'shared history'. In the case of 'The Jews', the faked narrative is a supposed shared history as 'victim'. As if no other people in history were ever enslaved and exploited by other groups, other than 'The Jews'. 'Critical Race Theory' would like us to believe that Africans never enslaved Africans, in Africa. That Africans did not enslave and sell African slaves to European slave traders. That 'Jews' were not leading figures in the slave trade. That Arabic Muslims were not prominent as slave traders. The traders that SOLD African slaves AFRICANS and MUSLIMS had enslaved, TO the Europeans. That WHITES ENSLAVED WHITES for thousands of years. That the ONLY reason AFRICAN slaves became such a 'commodity' was due to their ability to work in extreme heat, and not succumb to MALARIA. Two things 'white' slaves were no good for. It was sugar and cotton plantations that needed AFRICAN workers and PACIFIC ISLANDERS, that drove the demand for African slaves, with AFRICAN and MUSLIM and 'JEWISH' slave traders supplied to the Europeans. Later 'white' European colonial masters took out those 'middle-men'. And President Lincoln's war was NOT about slavery at all. And more importantly, recall, please, that one of the reasons for the so-called 'Revolutionary War' or 'War for independence' of the American colonies, originally founded with BRITISH CONVICT LABOUR, just like Australia would be soon after, was that Britain had banned slavery. And this ban would apply to its colonies. Including America. The U.S declaration of independence and Constitution talked a good talk, but the fact is it ENSHRINED SLAVERY. Just like the U.N declaration of human rights ENSHRINES SLAVERY in the form of 'abolition of all human rights the moment some 'authority' DECLARES a pandemic'. Just as the famous 13th amendment of Lincoln enshrines slavery for anyone 'convicted of a crime'. And who gets to decide WHAT is a 'crime' and hence who is a 'criminal', and thus now a SLAVE again, LEGALLY? Remember Lincoln also introduced compulsory federal taxation and conscription, two things as UN-AMERICAN as it gets, in terms of the U.S constitution, and plans of the 'Founding Fathers'. Oh, but of course, 'The Official Narrative' is that the U.S was founded to FREE the colonials of 'The British Yoke'. And that 'The Civil War' was initiated and prosecuted by President Lincoln to 'Free the Slaves'. For African American slaves would have soon been FREED by BRITISH laws and BRITISH voters and BRITISH soldiers (acting as police). And Lincoln was merely fighting to ensure his puppet master's plan to expand the U.S.A and centralize power OVER it in Washington D.C (Like 'London City' and 'The Vatican', independent sovereign states that ruled OVER the nations they merely shared 'geography' with. 'William the Conqueror only got backing for his invasion and conquest from The Vatican after a clear understanding, formalized in law after 'landing', that 'The City of London' was NOT included in his 'territory').

When the school child responds to the question 'Where's your homework', with 'The dog ate it', we are dealing with a narrative. The official nine eleven 'report' is a narrative written by a 'Jew' who's Ph.D thesis was on 'The construction and maintenance of public myths'. In other words, the construction and maintenance of NARRATIVES. And more to the point, HOW TO ENSURE A PARTICULAR NARRATIVE GAINS A PRIVILEGED POSITION.

We hear about 'White privilege' all the time. The idea that it is easier for one group of people to 'succeed' in America, based on the color of their skin. To be 'privileged' means you get to enjoy DOUBLE STANDARDS. One rule for you, and another for others. To be privileged means YOUR interests and YOUR 'side of the story' are given priority. YOU get a voice. YOU get heard. While others are ignored, or worse, silenced, and censored. So that they do NOT form part of 'The Public Discourse'. So that OTHER PEOPLE'S PROBLEMS AND IDEAS AND THOUGHTS AND ARGUMENTS are 'swept under the carpet'. When history books are written, YOU are defined as both 'victim' and 'protagonist'. The historical narrative focuses on YOUR problems and YOUR challenges and spins and frames everything to YOUR benefit, in terms of appearing as 'heroic' and all YOUR actions as 'justified' and 'legitimate'. YOUR wars are all 'self-defense'. Even your 'PRE-EMPTIVE ATTACKS', which, when OTHER, NON-PRIVILEGED narrators / nations / actors, carry out, are defined as war CRIMES and CRIMES AGAINST HUMANITY. Even where objective facts would 'justify' them as 'legitimate'. Even where the PRIVILEGED actor / nation objectively had NO legitimate 'security concerns' to 'justify' their actions.

Everything I write and argue is from the position of NOT being privileged. All the 'narratives' I expose as fraudulent enjoy such PRIVILEGED STATUS. They are 'legally protected' by laws framed and spun and sold as a 'hate speech' and 'holocaust denial' laws, when they are merely laws designed and implemented and actively abused to protect particularly vulnerable narratives. Narratives which are of EXTREME VALUE to those who wrote and promote them. Narratives which provide MASSIVE benefits to the characters in them. The people the narrative is all about. Like the child who protects themselves from 'getting in trouble for not doing their homework', by 'blaming the dog'. If their narrative receives protection, and becomes privileged, the teacher dare not challenge it. The teacher will accept it, absurd as it might be, over and over. For example the parent of that child might be a powerful figure in that community, for whatever reason, and the School Principal or Board or teacher themselves wouldn't dare 'challenge' the narrative offered by their child.

THE TRUTH rarely ever enjoys the status of 'privileged narrative'. In fact and scientifically object, inductive, demonstrable, objective truth that challenges the power and privilege and benefits of any powerful vested interest group, is usually CENSORED and anyone repeating it publically is SEVERELY PUNISHED. Millions of people have been burned alive, tortured to death in other ways, or left to go insane in solitary confinement, in prisons, simply for expressing ideas that CHALLENGE any existing PRIVILEGED narrative, simply by offering an ALTERNATIVE NARRATIVE. Usual a SUPERIOR NARRATIVE. One that any person of sound mind, and capable of critical reasoning, would adopt, in place of 'The Official Narrative' that is currently in a PRIVELEGED position.

History is full of 'Official Narratives' which were granted PRIVILEGED status. Once you are 'privileged', part of the status is that this status itself is considered BEYOND QUESTION. As 'GOD-GIVEN', where the narratives of the time and place abuse the idea of 'gods'. Or as 'Scientific Socialism' in Marxist states. Or, as in today's world, as 'statistically demonstrated using the latest computer MODELS'. Any economist will have come up against this impediment to practicing REAL economics. And of course any REAL medical scientist will come up against it in relation to THE MOST PRIVILEGED NARRATIVE SINCE 'GOD' AND 'RELIGION', 'THE OFFICIAL COVID NARRATIVE'.

While your schoolbooks and mass media might talk about the persecution of religious reformists in Europe, by The Catholic Church, or about Galileo, and a few other scientists persecuted by that same Zombie Jesus Cannibal Vampire Cult, they won't explain to you how UBIQUITOUS the ABUSE OF NARRATIVES and the ABUSE OF PRIVILEGE BY NARRATIVES is, in the world at large.

'The Official nine eleven Narrative', like 'The Official Sandy Hook Narrative' and 'The Official Port Arthur Massacre Narrative' and 'The Official Holocaust Narrative' and 'The Official Iraq war Narrative' and 'The Official World War One Narrative' (enshrined in 'The Treaty of Versailles), and the list goes on and on of 'Dominant Hegemonic PRIVILEGED Narratives', ALL DISTORT OUR PERCEPTION OF REALITY. OUR 'IMPRESSIONS'. WHAT WE BASE ALL OUR RATIONAL AND EMOTIONAL DECISIONS ON. They become, for all intents and purposes, a SOCIAL REALITY REMOVED FROM OBJECTIVE REALITY. A Social Reality that is PRIVILEGED OVER THE ACTUAL OBJECTIVE REALITY.

That's the main problem faced by philosophers like myself. Truth seekers. The truth is UNDER-PRIVILEGED and ACTIVELY PERSECUTED. While the lies enjoy a PRIVILEGED status. As UNTOUCHABLE. BEYOND QUESTION. IT BECOMES TABOO TO EVEN CONSIDER QUESTIONING THEM, LET ALONE PUBLICALLY EXPOSING THEIR FLAWS, AND CRITICALLY EVALUATING THEM.

One of the privileges is that ALTERNATIVE narratives may be simply DISMISSED WITHOUT CONSIDERATION the moment they begin contradicting 'The Official (PRIVELEGED) Narrative'. For lazy Homo Fideo, this is very welcome. Phew! Almost had to make a slight mental effort to try to understand something 'new' and 'unfamiliar'! Dodged a bullet there!'

And of course under conditions of CENSORSHIP, the average person is rarely ever confronted WITH anything that might 'challenge the official, privileged, narrative'. The various 'MINISTRY OF TRUTH' agents, whose job it is to PROTECT VULNERABLE OFFICIAL PRIVILEGED NARRATIVES, will 'fact check' or simply BLOCK any 'content' that even begins to expose the official privileged narrative as a FRAUD. Or might simply 'raise questions' and 'introduce DOUBTS' into the minds of the CULT THRALLS.

Any PRIVILEGED OFFICIAL NARRATIVE that is particularly vulnerable to being EXPOSED as a the clear FRAUD it is, is usually given LEGAL PROTECTION. So that anyone who dares threaten TO expose it, is punished by the full violence at the disposal of the state. In olden times 'The Authorities' burned people alive, or otherwise tortured them to death. Often even torturing family members to death to, as an added 'deterrent' to heroic would-be whistle-blowers' willing to suffer fates worse than death, in order to EXPOSE the FRAUD. Today 'Historical Revisionists' or people EXPOSING the Cult of Judah are simply put in solitary confinement for 5 years. And if they refuse to 'repent' and 'recant' and 'self-censor' when they get out, back in they'll go. This time probably defined as 'mentally ill', so the 'Authorities' can justify much worse tortures than solitary confinement. And if solitary confinement doesn't drive them made, then they are made of super-natural stuff and all sorts of chemical and electric shock treatments will be applied to DESTROY THEIR WILL.

Anyone who has experienced work-place victimization / mobbing, especially in a GOVERNMENT employment, will know how HOPELESS it is to attempt to seek natural justice, using what APPEAR to be the official channels for SEEKING justice. They are just means of sapping your energy and hope, so that you will give up even trying. And the experience of 'HEALTHQUESTING' in Australia was just a foretaste of what Australians are experiencing in their POLICE STATE. The abuse of psychiatry. THE USE OF MEDICAL SCIENCE AS A WEAPON AGAINST THE POPULATION. HIGHLIGHTING THE CENTRAL ROLE THAT 'MEDICINE' AND 'MEDICAL PROFESSIONALS' HAVE IN THE CULT OF JUDAH'S OPENLY DECLARED WAR ON HUMANITY. AND ON OUR HUMANITY ITSELF.

Oh, and while anyone challenging 'The Official Privileged Narrative' is actively punished, to the furthest extremes the time and place allows, by THE GOVERNMENT and THE AUTHORITIES charged with the PROTECTION of our legal and human rights, if you want to 'get ahead', then simply ensure whatever you do PROMOTES the official privileged narratives. Like Solzhenitsyn and Thomas Mann. You don't even need to be 'Jewish'! Just make sure you 'prop up' any of the official privileged narratives The Cult of Judah rely on to maintain their HEGEMONIC POWER and you will find a place opens up at 'The Money Trough' (as Kurt Vonnegut put it), and the 'awards' and 'honors' come showering down upon you. You might even get on Oprah's 'reading list'! Imagine that. The 'Oscars' and 'Grammies' and 'BAFTAS' and 'Nobel Prizes' will line the mantle of your opulent palace. And you will be ensured to go down in 'The Official Narrative of HISTORY' as 'A great man/woman/writer/artists of history'! I guess only people who understand 'The Electric Universe' alternative narrative, and have seen through the childish nonsense of 'time dilation' et al, will understand the role that EINSTEIN plays in confounding people, and leading them away from a genuine understanding of TROONATOOR. And why he was so 'pimped out' by the full spectrum propaganda machine and loaded with laurels and prizes and acclaim!

People are offered ALPHA APES to emulate, in the form of actors conforming to, and promoting, and supporting, THE OFFICIAL PRIVILEGED NARRATIVES that The Cult of Judah are totally dependent upon for their power. People want the 'success' and 'happiness' they imagine their 'Alpha Ape' idols enjoy. The 'success stories'. The 'successful people'. All Cult of Judah stooges. Puppets. Useful idiots. Pimped up by The Cult of Judah. Pimped OUT to. But as far as the public are concerned, these are the STARS and SUCCESS STORIES. The people they WANT TO BE. To emulate. So they do TRY to emulate them. By behaving and dressing the same way. And BELIEVING THE SAME THINGS.

Political Lobbyists and Public Relations Experts and Advertising Executives all understand the NARROW applications of 'spinning' and 'framing' any situation or action of their CLIENTS. They can make the weaker argument appear the stronger, as in the traditional game of ERISTIC and SOPHISTRY. They can make a failure appear to be a success. A mistake to appear a brilliant idea. A defeat appear as a victory. They engage in DOUBLESPEAK and NEWSPEAK, so that war appears to be peace, attack appears defense, slavery appears to be freedom, freedom appears to be a threat, and even terrorism, submission appears to be defiance, defiance of submission appears to be criminal, conspiracies appear to be loose alliances, the lie appears to be the truth, the delusion real, and so on. They can SELL a person on ANY idea. They can SELL a person on completely CONTRADICTORY ideas. They are the SEEMS that Hamlet cannot stomach. 'Seems Madam? Nay, tis so. I know not SEEMS!' Indeed. Hamlet, like the protagonist in 'The Catcher in The Rye', would be violently ill, if he had to live in today's world of complete hypocrisy and distortion. A world of nothing more than SEEMS! Illusion. Delusion. Propaganda.

But a HOLISTIC philosopher like myself, who has struggled to FREE themselves of ALL the various OFFICIAL PRIVILEGED NARRATIVES from 'religion' to 'virus theory', sees how UBIQUITOUS PRIVILEGED OFFICIAL NARRATIVES are. They are essentially the official DEFINITION of everything. Of REALITY itself. The 'Social Reality' is constructed out of nothing more than unending official privileged narratives.

In the past I would refer to them as 'assumptions'. As 'unflagged' assumptions HIDDEN within arguments. Usually at the very BASE of the supposed argument. With the entire weight of the argument HIDING them. Always deflecting our attention AWAY FROM the assumptions. Off into 'harmless' territory'. What Jesus would call the 'GNATS' of the argument. Away from the big, fat, hairy, smelly CAMELS of the argument. The 'house of cards' upon which the entire argument rested. Vulnerable to the slightest breeze. So that walls have to be built around the base. And soldiers had to be placed around the walls to protect them. To prevent anyone approaching, even from a distance, and SEEING with their own eyes, the FLIMSY base the entire EDIFICE of THE LIE was built on. And LAWS had to be enacted to ensure no-one would even CONSIDER approaching, and taking out their field glasses, to 'try and get a look'. And anyone who DARED approach, was punished to the full extent of state VIOLENCE available to the 'authorities' at that time. Which today means ANY AND ALL IMAGINABLE FORMS OF TORTURE AND VIOLENCE. Often after 'extradition' to some 'black site'.

When people cry out 'QUESTION EVERYTHING' they are rallying against the PRIVILEGE of the PROTECTED OFFICIAL NARRATIVES. The privilege of 'being BEYOND question'. Of being 'Self-evident truths'. Of being 'God-given truths it is TABOO to doubt, let alone question, let alone EXPOSE as FRAUD'.

And it doesn't even take the threat of torture to silence most people. To dull their curiosity. You simply threaten them with loss of employment. This worked under the Soviet reign of terror. This is working today. You simply 'fine' people for non-compliance. You censor people so they cannot possibly earn a living from their activities. You try to break their will. For why write if you can't publish? And if you do publish, you will go to jail for your troubles. Be bankrupted and ex-communicated and a 'non-person' for the rest of your pitiful existence!

And what of the MEDICAL PROFESSIONALS the Cult of Judah has raised to such positions of utter PRIVILEGE and wealth and status? They are the LEAST of all likely to 'expose' the FRAUD of 'The Official Privileged Covid Narrative', as they have the MOST TO LOSE. The Cult of Judah 'bought off' the people it needed, long before it needed them. It WROTE the U.N charter of human rights, hiding the MOST important article where few people would ever see it. IN PLAIN SIGHT. I never noticed it. That little 'article' that states that 'THE MOMENT A PANDEMIC IS DECLARED, YOU HAVE ZERO HUMAN RIGHTS, AND MUST SUBMIT TO ABSOLUTE DICTATORSHIP AND GIVE UP ALL YOUR PRIVACY, LEGAL RIGHTS, HUMAN RIGHTS, AND EVEN CONTROL OVER WHAT IS INJECTED INTO YOUR OWN BODY'. Just in case you, like me, had any delusions that that United Nations is a force for good in this world, consider how far in advance of todays CO2VID CULT the U.N had prepared, legally.

And of course the IDEA that the U.N is 'for the greater good' is itself a PROTECTED PRIVILEGED NARRATIVE. Just try to publish something EXPOSING the U.N for what it is. Or even just criticizing it for its apparent 'mistake' and 'error' and 'oops, we just condemned humanity to eternal slavery, sorry, didn't see THAT coming, that someone might ABUSE this article to ABSOLUTELY VIOLATE EVERY IMAGINABLE HUMAN RIGHT, AND NULL AND VOID OUR HUMANITY ITSELF, AND POSSIBLY GENOCIDE BILLIONS OF PEOPLE'. Oops. Just like that British P.M, right? Silly, bumbling me. Didn't MEAN To rob you of EVERYTHING WORTH LIVING FOR.

WHY NOTHING SHORT OF A TOTAL 'INTERREGIO' ORCHESTRATED BY A 'WHITE HAT' HACKERS IN THE FORM OF A 'FIRE SALE' OR SOME NATURAL CATACLYSM, IS GOING TO

‘SAVE’ US FROM THE CULT OF JUDAH

I am cursed with the tendency to ‘anticipate’ and ‘play out’ interactions with people. To carry out likely , sadly predictable, dialogs, in advance of ever attempting them in real life, in my head. Simply formulating words has a similar impact on muscle tension in my tongue, jaw, and neck, as actually speaking. And ‘imagining’ the interactions produces a similar amount of stress and frustration. I am a writer, and that is what writing is about. Generating imaginary dialogs between different sorts of characters. But it costs me hell in terms of migraines. And I need to be eternally vigilant about tongue, jaw, and neck tension. I hope if you suffer migraines or TMJ you avail yourself of a download, at not cost to YOU, of my ‘Vocal Training Guide’ from my public telegram channel ‘Troonatnoor’ (case sensitive) or using other direct links (you need have nothing to do with me and I will never know who downloaded what) in my TROONATNOOR bitchute, or wordpress pages. Books such as this have yet to be banned and are also available on Amazon or Apple i-books, et al. So if you need a paperback, that’s where you’ll find one.

So I ‘gameplay’ all sorts of interactions with people. And between different sorts of people. Sometimes based on personal experience, and thus inductively. Other times based on historical documents. Other times deductively constructing new situations, like David Hume describes with the ‘Pegasus’, combining elements inductively arrived at, into new combinations. Other times deducing a likely interaction based on the previous. Without prejudice. Without wanting any interlocutor to be a cucking funt of a weasel. But always anticipating ways which they might try to ‘weasel out of’ admitting something. The sort of thing that almost never happens in a Socratic Dialog as presented by Plato. In Plato, Socrates’ interlocutors end up, if reluctantly, agreeing with Socrates. Only rarely, for Socrates, do they behave as almost every person I have ever interacted with. Namely, to simply DENY or ‘weasel out of’ a logical conclusion, induction, or deduction. To avoid the necessary outcome. To agree with something that is by that point beyond denial.

Like Marcus Aurelius, I do credit myself with having constructed air-tight arguments regarding many notoriously ‘specious’ and ‘slippery’ subjects. What I call ‘compelling’ arguments. Based on specific criteria I invite all interlocutors to evaluate my arguments by. As I invite them to apply to their own arguments. And to their own construction of arguments. And where I cannot come to any ‘compelling’ conclusion, I simply leave the question open. I have no emotional need to conclude anything. Thus I tend to ‘entertain’ most ideas and arguments, any and all NARRATIVES, that I can formulate myself, or ‘borrow’ from others, rather than ‘believe’ anything at all.

Until I need to act on a set of assumptions, beliefs, or narratives, I can afford to do this. And even when compelled to act on the BEST AVAILABLE AND MOST COMPELLING of conclusions, I never idolized these conclusions, and ‘set them in stone’, as ‘laws’. I act heuristically, on the best available information and most compelling conclusions derived from that information. Updating my definitions continually. Expanding my data set continually. Entertaining alternative and competing narratives as as when I come across them.

Once the ‘sense of urgency’ to make a decision at any moment in time has passed, I am happy to re-open my open-ended quest, my search, for truth, and thus my investigation. I never EMOTIONALLY commit to any particular belief or conclusion. Search is PROCESS. The quest for ‘truth’ has no ‘end’. There is no ‘destination’ that we can ‘arrive at’. I am not following some fixed route. Some path. Some map. I follow where the prospect of ‘truth’ appears most promising. I am always ready to consider any and all new narratives, information, perspectives, or arguments. To re-open ‘cold-cases’ and any ‘appeals’ to existing verdicts, in the light of new information and insights. Cases inform each other. Revising one belief often has implications for the entire noetic structure. The entire belief SYSTEM.

Any tentative conclusions are ‘operational’ truths and I only temporarily commit to these where there is a pressing need to choose ‘X’ OR ‘Y’, with any sort of sense of urgency.

Yes if I am in tiger territory and I hear what MIGHT be a tiger, I run for my life. But I don't just keep running. And later I ask a lot of questions, to find out if what I 'heard' really WAS, or at least MIGHT have been a tiger. And if I find that 'that talk of tigers is just for the tourists and children', then the NEXT time I hear the same sort of noise, I act with a little caution, but I don't run off like last time. Because THIS time I have BETTER information and definitions to work from. That said, if I clearly SEE a tiger, then NO MATTER WHAT ANYONE TOLD ME BACK AT CAMP ABOUT TIGERS BEING EXTINCT AROUND HERE I make a run for it.

I don't let any 'authority's 'declarations' distort my direct impressions and perceptions and thus experience of reality. If I SEE a tiger, I won't let all the 'authoritative journal articles proving that tigers went extinct around these parts' override my personal sensory impressions.

And all the 'official tiger warnings' in the world won't make me worry about tigers, if I can see for myself that there ARE no tigers. Especially if the 'authorities' issuing those 'warnings' have a long record of LYING and DECEIVING people, and have clear VESTED INTERESTS in keeping the MYTH of 'tigers are a real threat in this area' alive. Such as the sale of 'tiger attack insurance' and 'tiger defenses'. Possibly entire government departments devoted to 'tiger safety' full of well-paid public servants with nothing productive to do, but feeling entitled to high salaries and great 'working' conditions. If an entire CULT has been built around the supposed 'threat' of 'tigers', and thus dependent upon the maintenance of TERROR of tigers, and the maintenance thus of the public MYTH itself, I am especially skeptical. Add any 'privileged' status and 'legal protections' that this myth has been given, to censor alternative 'narratives' and suppress any investigation, free discourse, peer-reviewed science, and free and open public debate, or threats to participants career prospects, or even employment per se, and I'm going to be as cynical as hell about ANY declaration issuing from such clearly biased, prejudiced sources. Motivated as they clearly are by ULTERIOR motives that have nothing at all to do with PUBLIC SAFETY or NATIONAL SECURITY, let alone MY personal safety and security, and BEST interests.

So I am always ready to revise my last 'operational' conclusions. Open to having any and all of my beliefs and ideas challenged and overturned, by MORE compelling arguments. By fresh insights I had not been aware of.

Here I have been trying to do a bit of an NLP 'modeling' of my own behavior. What I consider a sort of 'ideal' approach. It's what Plato intended with his 'Socratic' dialogs. Only interlocutors don't behave like Socrate's interlocutors do, in real life. Sadly.

Edward De Bono modeled his BEST PRACTISE with his 'Thinking hats' approach. Which he of course found he could NOT get people to use. Not even in 'teaching' situations. Let alone in 'The Real World'. That last phrase leaves me speechless these days. For WHO, pray dog tell me, actually lives in 'The Real World'? The 'social reality' is moving further and further from 'objective reality' with every character I type. The average person has become so totally estranged from reality, that if they were to suddenly 'perceive' it, it would appear as foreign and alien and unfamiliar and sur-real their tiny little minds would be overwhelmed, and they'd go into cataleptic shock. I was going to write 'coma', but the fact is most people ARE in a permanent coma. So that shock might perhaps wake them out of it. Here's hoping. But there's very little chance of people coming into contact with 'objective reality'. The Cult of Judah's full spectrum propaganda machine, with its 'Official Narratives' on every conceivable subject, have completely distorted and 'shut down' minds that are now more or less 'closed for business'. The 'leave your brains at the door' requirement for most of what passes for 'education' and 'mass media' and 'information' worked. Once inside, people forget what it even means to 'use your head'. To 'reflect'. To 'think for themselves'. They forget they even had that capacity. They don't even WANT to go to the receptacle they placed their brains in, when they entered. They are happy to remain as they are. Cult thralls.

So we have very little to work with, when it comes to numbers of people, or quality of minds. We have to re-build the skill-set it takes decades to develop, from childhood on. A skill-set completely alien to most people. They imagine they've been 'educated' but what they've had done is a sort of lobotomy. They've been TRAINED and CONDITIONED to give reflex, automatic, re-actions to 'triggers'. They've been neuro-linguistically programmed. In the WORST possible way. Not FREED of irrational fears and ideas. But rather IMPRISONED BY irrational fears and ideas. They have been trained to positively hallucinate things that are NOT there, and to totally EDIT OUT OF THEIR PERCEPTIONS, to 'negatively hallucinate', things that ARE there. Even words you say won't 'get through'. They won't HEAR them. You can have great fun at a public display of 'hypnotism', watching people NOT SEE what is right before them, and SEEING things that are NOT there. But the fun ends when it comes to everyday life. When the same phenomena occurs. People being terrified of harmless things, or things that don't exist. And as a result being willing even to commit MASS MURDER out of TERROR of those things. And fearing and hating those who 'can't see what they see'. And as I cleverly put it with my 'In the land of the blind, the one-eyed person is accused of 'seeing things', people who try to point out things that are 'right in front of someone's nose', and looked at in horror and fear and terror as 'mad' and 'delusional'. What else can you expect from someone whose mind has been programmed to actively 'block' and 'self-censor' and 'not see' and 'not hear' and basically 'negatively hallucinate' when it comes to reality? They simply do NOT see or hear what really is there.

And yes, it is 'play acting'. And it DOES take a willing subject for a 'hypnotist' to achieve the result. But while 'play acting', the mind can NOT distinguish between what it is 'playing' and what is 'real'. A vividly IMAGINED experience is, for the mind, as real as an actual experience. Again, watch a stage hypnotist in action. ASK the people on stage and THEY will tell you. Ask them AFTER 'were you play-acting' and they will have 'wiped' the decision to 'play act' from their consciousness. They will say 'no, I can't remember anything'. The power of the mind to 'not see' things cannot be under estimated.

Therapeutically, people can be taught to 'block out' pain. To 'not feel it'. Many people can, after NLP sessions, have surgery done, even dental surgery, without pain killers. Without feeling any real discomfort at all. FACT.

In our daily relationships we actively 'avoid seeing' things that would be disturbing or might impact our relationships negatively. At least as long as the 'benefits' of the relationship justify this. As long as there is 'something to lose'. But over time, the 'benefits' seems less rewarding, and the 'cost' of 'seeing' things reduces, until we stop 'editing' our experience of our partner, and start 'owning up to' all the things about them that 'bug' us. All the things we 'overlooked' and 'didn't care to see', suddenly loom up in all their irritability, and we imagine 'they've changed'. Well they were always like that, we just didn't care to NOTICE. We didn't want to 'miss out' on the benefits. So we just chose NOT to notice. NOT to ATTEND to them. They always were like that. Only NOW that we are willing to see things as they are, we are willing to confront them. This can be the evolution of a romantic – erotic relationship into a real and lasting, mature, adult, life-long partnership. But most people are NOT after that. So for most people it is the END of the 'magic' and 'honeymoon', and they will seek greener fields, to repeat the whole episode with 'someone new'. Blame their 'ex'. And start afresh. Usually with the same results. Until they either die, or manage the 'evolution' to the 'higher' form of relationship based on honesty and acceptance of their partners.

So here we have the first 'roadblock to reform'. Most people have minds that are utterly CLOSED. Like 'write-protected' memory devices. Once 'imprinted' with one set of data, if you try to add more data, let alone re-write an entire data-set, and 'over-write' the existing 'imprinted' one the person 'inherited' as part of their holistic inheritance, their minds simply 'write-protect' themselves. No more data can be added. They are 'stuck'. Fixed. The 'familiar' data is 'all they will ever 'know'. Literally.

Imagine a 'write-protected' computer program. One which is full of BUGS, but which cannot be edited. Updated. De-bugged. Revised. CORRECTED. Full of operational definitions since been found to be WRONG.

Now imagine this program operates a war machine. It was written quickly with a real sense of urgency. The priority was to have it 'up and running' as quick as possible. To get it 'fight ready'. And now there it is. Some battle computer. Some fighter robot. And its program is write-protected! It was programmed to 'seek and destroy' what were, at the time of its coding, the programmers 'enemies'. But the war is over. Those 'enemies' are now 'friends'. But try to tell THAT to your killer-bot. What if it was a super computer in charge of your missiles? Or in charge of millions of killer-drones? It senses an aircraft approaching from 'enemy territory', and shoots it down. Murdering hundreds of people on a passenger airliner.

What if during the war, previous ALLIES changed sides? But your write-protected super-war-machine is stuck with its old definitions? This is just a simplified example of the problem of 'idolizing' ANY 'knowledge' or 'belief' as 'SACRED'. Making it TABOO to raise doubts about it, let alone question it. Making it 'self-evident 'and 'beyond question'. Making it 'proven science'. Any scientist worth anything treats ANY 'scientific knowledge' as tentative at best. A hypothesis no-one has SO FAR been able to debunk. But no REAL philosopher would talk of LAWS. As Jesus reminded us, 'The LAW brings death'. Only the LIVING word brings life. Meaning an OPEN process of investigation. INVITING further challenges. Making itself VULNERABLE to challenges. No setting up PRIVILEGES and PROTECTIONS for it to STOP ALL POSSIBLE CHALLENGES. Rewarding the skeptic, the seeker, rather than punishing them. Encouraging questions, rather than censoring and punishing them. THAT is what 'the LIVING word' refers to. Anything LIVING is in a constant process of CHANGE. Of formation and re-formation. Life is PROCESS. Once you 'fix it in stone' you make an 'idol' of it and you end up worshipping DEAD idols, while abandoning THE LIVING WORD. The PROCESS. Even crystals in minerals and electrons in atoms are constantly undergoing a process of change. Of transition. It is this PROCESS that produces what we call ELECTROMAGNETIC POTENTIAL and ENERGY in general. All forms of 'energy'. Which will be the subject of the next part of this presentation. But for now back to why we are doomed to fail.

What I've been outlining is the basic problem. The problem underlying all other problems. People are NOT open-minded. They have 'write-protected' minds. Programs written from their birth are more or less 'fixed'. They 'idolize' particular beliefs as 'knowledge'. As LAW. They are literally brain dead. And in an open society, they would lose all influence on political matters. They would entertain their delusions in private, and operate on their faulty, out-dated, buggy, definitions and programs, IN THEIR PRIVATE LIVES. But they would have zero impact on public life. On public policy. Such as we had with the supposed 'separation of church and state' after hundreds of years of 'religious' wars.

So when you try to 'sway' a CULT THRALL from their current position, what they KNOW to be true, and idolize as BEYOND question, you are talking to a brick wall. You are trying to reason with a human WEASEL. You are seeking the truth. They are seeking merely to have their existing beliefs 'validated'. If you won't validate them, they'll ignore you. And worse. Seek to have you removed from their 'reality'. Defined as mentally ill. Defined as 'a terrorist'. Defined as 'malicious'. As a 'heretic'. And so on. All so THEY don't need to consider what you had to say. Your reasonable and rational arguments. Your COMPELLING arguments that made them feel so UNCOMFORTABLE. Because you challenged their beliefs. You made a mockery of their 'knowledge'. Like Socrates did. And the 'revenge' of your 'interlocutors' will come sooner or later, as it did for Socrates. And just a delicious side-note. Socrates was accused of being a RIGHT WING EXTREMIST and 'corrupter of youth'. He would have been 'fact checked' and 'Community Guidelined' right off Farcebook and Jewtube quick as you could say 'Hate speech'. Amazon would have banned Plato's books, 'in order to ensure a more positive experience for Amazon shoppers'. You see people do NOT like having their 'knowledge' challenged and shown up as RUBBISH. It is very disconcerting to realise almost EVERYTHING you thought you KNEW is wrong. GARBAGE. RUBBISH. It is a very uncomfortable feeling. Not one you want your 'shoppers' to have. They might just up and leave. They are THAT sensitive to ANYTHING that even HINTS at challenging their world-views. Their prejudices. Their assumptions. Their 'BELIEFS'. Their CULT DOGMAS.

O.K, that was just at the INDIVIDUAL level, of attempting to inform and update and 'improve' your friends and relatives, and friendly acquaintances.

Now consider the PROFESSIONALS whose very lucrative job it is to ensure YOU never get to have ANY positive impact on public decision making processes.

The professionals paid to PROTECT the PRIVILEGED position of 'The Official Narrative'. To defend every single 'Official Narrative' that goes to make up, as a whole 'THE' Official Narrative I call 'The SOCIAL Reality'. The relatively consensual DELUSION most people mistake FOR objective reality. The 'reality' they are interacting with, in their heads, any time they do almost anything. The assumptions they base all their emotions and rational decisions on. All their ACTIONS on.

The individual is a weasel by nature. These guys and gals are PROFESSIONAL WEASELS. ARMED TO THE TEETH with every LEGAL POWER and TECHNOLOGICAL POWER human ingenuity has come up with, this side of the Younger Dryas Impact.

These WEASELS control the entire full spectrum propaganda machine. The mass media. The indoctrination (called Education) systems. The leading 'religious' CULTS. The GOVERNMENT. The POLICE. The MILITARY. And a bunch of 'dark' para-militaries we will probably never be able to identify. They control the 'Official Government' along with 'The Dark State'. They own and operate the largest corporations. They have access to every piece of information about you. Including stuff YOU don't even know, based on psychological profiling and DNA profiling. Stick this up your nose? Sure? What do they come away with? YOUR DNA. Did you sign up, like me, for a DNA research project? No. THAT required blood samples. Today they just need to shove a PCR test sampling device up your nose. Back at the lab your pre-configured test result is noted, but the REAL work only begins when the sample is sent to the DNA lab. Now they have your DNA profile. And if they choose, they can define you as 'Covid Positive'. Remember Hitler said 'WE get to define who is 'Jewish''. In other words who can 'legally' be round up and placed under quarantine in a 'concentration camp'. Only Hitler never had any intention of genocide. Unlike the Cult of Judah, whose very ORIGIN MYTH is ALL ABOUT THE GENOCIDE. And while no evidence EVER has been found of an official policy of extermination, of genocide, OF the 'Jews', right now a RABBI ON YOUTUBE IS COMMANDING ALL 'JEWS' TO GENOCIDE YOUR NATION. And yes, it MUST have been FACT CHECKED so it MUST be FACT and it complies with Jewtube's COMMUNITY GUIDELINES so it must be 'acceptable' to command all 'Jews' to GENOCIDE YOUR NATION along with you, your family, and your animals. And the government have NOT applied their 'Hate Speech' or 'Incitement' laws against this RABBI, with THOUSANDS of public followers, and likely MILLIONS of followers, given the turn out in Israel for the funeral one of their CHIEF religious authorities, who openly and publically incited all of Israel, and all 'Jews' to GENOCIDE and ENSLAVEMENT of all the remaining survivors.

But on that topic, remember that Germany was defeated by The Cult of Judah. Britain and Russia only managed to keep up resistance because Germany did NOT really attack Britain, and because in Russia, the people who would have ABANDONED resistance, and who even SIGNED UP BY THE MILLIONS FOR GERMAN MILITARY UNITS, LABOR UNITS, AND EVEN SS EUROPA DIVISION were FORCED by the Cult of Judah Occupation government to fight. Deserters were shot on sight. Even to make a strategic retreat, to save resources, was defined as desertion. Even being captured by the enemy was defined as desertion. Millions of Russians and citizens of the lands 'liberated' by the Cult of Judah Occupation government known as 'The Soviets' were either simply shot in the streets, or like in Poland, rounded up, and shot in the back of the head, in Katyn forest.

Mr Thomas Mann was keen to note that 'Germany occupied half of Poland'. Is it just me, or has he WEASELED out all mention of 'the OTHER half', that just happened to have been occupied, at the very SAME time, by his beloved Bolshevik 'liberators'. Yes folks, long before Putin's Cult of Judah SOVIETS 'liberated' Eastern Europe from the Nazis', whom MILLIONS of locals had welcomed as LIBERATORS FROM THE SOVIET OCCUPATION of their nations, the SOVIETS 'Liberated' half of Poland from its, ah, democratically elected POLISH, ah, occupation? NEWSPEAK and DOUBLESPEAK indeed. Like the thief will 'liberate' you from your possessions. And your current 'democratic government' will 'liberate' you from YOUR FREEDOMS and RIGHTS and LIBERTIES and PROPERTY. Like they 'liberated' you from your guns, 'DOWN UNDER' OCCUPATION. Yes folks, I come from a land down UNDER OCCUPATION.

Oh, and Mr Thomann Mann likes to spread rumours about Goering's alleged drug use. But what about Winston Churchill's well documented ALCHOLISM that left him incapable of making ANY contribution to ANY productive activity by around noon, by which time he was in a total alcoholic stupor. Not to mention all the other 'DRUGS' prescribed him, by the handful. So that professional voice over artists did most of his famous 'radio speeches'. Churchill completed all his formal duties by declaring war on Germany, against massive opposition within his own cabinet. Once he had managed the feat by which 'Britain finds itself at war with Germany', the rest could be left to be managed by his Cult of Judah puppet masters, and their other puppets.

How is it that the ALLIES of Britain, who claimed to have declared war on Germany because it invaded Poland, were allowed to INVADE POLAND themselves? Double standards much? Surely if POLAND was the reason that 'Britain found itself in a state of war against Germany', then by the exact same measure, it should have NECESSARILY, to maintain ANY sense of logic, declared war on Russia also? No? Unless, as it is clear today, the declaration of war against Germany had NOTHING AT ALL TO DO with 'liberating' Poland. Or protecting it. For it's no secret that Poland was NEVER LIBERATED BY BRITAIN. The supposed 'Cassus Belli' and 'Grounds for War' and 'Official WAR AIM' was to protect and liberate POLAND from invasion. But it NEVER WAS liberated. So clearly THAT 'official war aim' was a simple LIE. An excuse to declare war on Germany. Which WAS the sole motivation for British and American declarations of war against Germany. They had NO interest AT ALL in protecting Poland. Or France even. France had 'adapted' to its German occupation. Things would have returned to normal for the French, more or less, once Germany had defeated its arch enemy, the Bolshevik 'Jews'. The Soviets. LIBERATED Russia and all the occupied Soviet nations FROM Cult of Judah occupation. Americans never had ANY motive for war with Germany EVER.

And it WAS America that kept RUSSIA afloat during World War Two. America sent every imaginable war aid to Russia. Even giving war materiel exports to Russia priority over materiel to its own troops, later in the war. The MASSIVE industrial projects in the far East of Russia, producing over ONE MILLION TRUCKS, to give just one example, were AMERICAN factories shipped complete to Russia.

What were Americans doing 'making the world safe for Communism'? Did THEY have ANY idea AT ALL what their government was doing in their name? A government that abused the TYRANT Lincoln's ANTI-AMERICAN and UNCONSTITUTIONAL 'conscription' laws, to ENSLAVE Americans and FORCE THEM TO MURDER GERMANS all in the name of PROTECTING SOVIET POWER. Of 'making the world safe for Bolshevism'.

What I am pointing to, is how easy it would be for the Cult of Judah to ensure ANY nation, especially the MOST POWERFUL nations, would utterly ANNIHILATE us the moment we managed to set up any sort of genuinely SOVEREIGN Republic anywhere in the world. Even in the Arctic Circle, as the experience of the 'White sea' vegan colony during Soviet times, demonstrates. Yes they would probably turn our permaculture vegan Covid-cult free colony into a GULAG. Remember that the official definition of GULAG was 'QUARANTINE' facility.

No matter WHAT we did, the full spectrum propaganda machine would distort it, frame it, and spin it, then vomit it out all over their mass media, brain-dead, gullible, brainwashed, deluded mass audiences, as ACTS OF TERROR. They would, in short time, convince the mass public that we were EVIL. That we were beating our wives and children. Eating human flesh. Planning biological warfare attacks on THEIR cities. That we were MAD. Deluded. Crazy. That we posed an 'imminent and real threat' to THEIR 'national security'. Or simply that us not submitting to injections placed the entire world AT RISK. That we just HAD to be DESTROYED, utterly, genocided, 'FOR THE GREATER GOOD'.

We would NOT be able to counter their propaganda. Our voice would be silenced completely. Censored. Banned. Blocked. The masses would ONLY EVER HEAR THE 'OFFICIAL NARRATIVE'. That is what they would define as 'real' and 'reality'. You can tell them anything, over and over, and sooner or later they all 'believe' it. Or at least find no reason to challenge it. To question it. Publically. For why risk losing your job, and much worse, just to voice a few questions in public? Or even risk it among friends? Why risk social isolation, ostracism, ex-communication, fines, prison, loss of employment, and even loss of your family.

They have ALREADY began abusing Child Protection Orders to threaten to 'remove' children from the homes of people who would NOT submit to injections, and who were attempting to educate their children about THE FACTS. Who would NOT support children being removed from 'dangerous' homes 'for their own safety'? Surely YOU LOVE CHILDREN DON'T YOU? YOU SURELY WANT TO PROTECT THEM? Right? So see how easy it will be to 'shut up' parents? What parent would risk having their children taken away from them? As the QUEEN OF ENGLAND CLEARLY ALLUDED TO IN HER SPEECH. Oh, don't worry, we shall be reunited one day. Yep. AFTER you've been 'rehabilitated' at the 'quarantine' / 're-education' facility / 'mental hospital' / prison / gulag / concentration camp.

People are ALREADY losing their jobs. Even great CAREERS in medicine and aviation. Careers people invested HUGE amounts of money and time and effort in attaining. Along of course with the average workers who won't submit. They NEED their jobs AT LEAST as much as the doctors and pilots need theirs. The Doctors and pilots will have had time to put together nest-eggs. Many were already planning on early retirement. The average worker doesn't have THAT luxury. No work, no home. No food. And of course they will make Government 'benefits' dependent upon submission to vaccines and other CULT 'measures'. CULT PRESCRIPTIONS AND PROSCRIPTIONS. They will say you are VOLUNTARILY UNEMPLOYED and thus do NOT qualify for any 'benefits'. They will say this AFTER you have lost your home and spent you last cent trying to remain independent. And then what are you going to do? Starve? Become a criminal? End up in a 'quarantine' facility? A concentration camp! A GULAG! A WORK CAMP. Yes. THAT is your future, if you won't submit.

Do you really suppose human nature has changed in a mere 70 years that would make a repeat of THE GULAG work camp system impossible? Given that one of the biggest GROWTH INDUSTRIES in the United States has been PRIVATE PRISONS that farm out slave labor to some of the biggest corporations, including NIKE. You can thank ABRHAHAM LINCOLN for THAT. HE is the one who pushed through 'The 13th Amendment' after pushing through NEW LEGAL FORMS OF SLAVERY KNOWN AS CONSCRIPTION laws. The moment some 'authority' DECLARES you to be a 'criminal', you are no longer 'protected' from SLAVERY. You become a SLAVE TO THE STATE. THAT is the famous '13th Amendment' in action.

When your 'authorities' DECLARE war on some other nation, YOU will be conscripted. And thanks to feminism, women are just as likely to become this sort of SLAVE as men. Of course you will be fed a bunch of propaganda to 'justify' the war. Some of you might even SWALLOW THESE CAMELS and believe you are fighting for 'freedom' and 'democracy' against some 'evil' and all 'for the greater good'. But whether or not you 'agree' with the war, YOU will be murdering women, children, old people, men, and women, as a SLAVE ASSASSIN to YOUR OWN GOVERNMENT.

And if the military and people in YOUR nation don't fall for the same old routine as they usually do, then The Cult of Judah will simply hire MERCENARIES, like it did to put down the German Peasant Revolts in the 1800s, and Napoleon, and Hitler. Mercenaries take all shapes and forms. Like well-paid U.S conscripts. Remember Britain hired entire ARMIES of troops from the German states to fight against its colonial rebels. The Cult of Judah ensured Britain was amply financed to fight against Napoleon. Along with the rest of the gang. Napoleon was defeated by JEWISH FINANCE. Just as was National Socialism. Just as was Germany in World War One. Without AMERICAN intervention, Germany would have WON World War One. It would have paid a huge price. But it would have won. The 'Allies' were defeated. Without U.S materiel and A MILLION SOLDIERS LANDED IN EUROPE, Britain and France would have had to sue for peace. As Russia had. And without U.S support, the BOLSHEVIK SOVIETS would have been pushed back to Siberia, long before 'Stalingrad' and the siege on Moscow. The Soviets would have followed the example of their 'Great Leader'

Stalin, and deserted Moscow for Siberia, where HE had run to in fear. While leaving orders that anyone who attempted to follow his example be shot without trial, as a 'deserter'. Along with anyone merely captured after having fought bravely to the very end. Often such Soviet heroes were shot, or sent to be worked to death in the Gulags, YEARS AFTER the war. After the British and Americans BETRAYED them and SOLD THEM BACK TO THEIR OPPRESSORS. KNOWING THAT ANY SOVIET PRISONER WHO WAS RETURNED TO RUSSIA OR THE SOVIET UNION WAS BOUND TO BE DEFINED AS A WAR CRIMINAL, AND EITHER SHOT OR SENT TO BE WORKED TO DEATH IN THE GULAG.

Losing your enthusiasm for this plane-et yet? Maybe not such an 'optimist'? Maybe that 'false hope' that Zeus had Hephaestus place at the bottom of PANDORA's sealed jar is fading? What utter tragedy for Zeus. For if you lose that FALSE hope, then he is going to soon lose his VICTIMS to PLAY WITH. If all the VICTIMS give up hope, and stop struggling, and simply 'exit, stage left', then he is left to PLAY WITH HIMSELF. No-one to torture. To antagonize. To play with. To express his sadism on.

You can only keep people playing an absurd game for your own personal sadistic pleasure, if they imagine they can win somehow. One day. Once they realise the cards are all marked, the dice loaded, their ultimate destiny is 'pre-scripted' and 'set', they will lose all interest in playing. NOTHING IS BETTER THAN THIS. Even assuming there are no other games to play. Even assuming the worst (or best, depending on how you look at it) case scenario that we are born, and die, and nothing but oblivion awaits us, why PLAY such a stupid game? Unless you have that FALSE HOPE, the final and most DEVILISH of 'evils' at the very bottom of Pandora's sealed jar, to TRICK you into ENDURING what must be considered FATES WORSE THAN DEATH. Surely NOTHING is better than THIS? A life of slavery. A life where you are FORCED or TRICKED into waging war on your natural allies. Forced and tricked into murdering women and children in the most horrific of torturous ways. The cruelest imaginable deaths. Burning them alive. Boiling them alive. Yes folks, just a FEW of the war crimes that Robert McNamara admitted the U.S would have been charged with if Germany had won the war, and a REAL 'war crimes trials' had been held. Yes I am talking about Dresden. Read Kurt Vonnegut's account of it. He was there. Noting that, in true Biblical GENOCIDE style, even the zoo animals were hunted down with fighter planes, and along with rescue workers, and women and children and old folk who had sought refuge in the public parks, gunned down. FOLLOWING ORDERS. The clearest and most well-documented WAR CRIMES on record. 'The (TRUE) Holocaust that was DRESDEN'. GENOCIDE committed by the U.S.A government, even before Eisenhower's DEATH CAMPS ON THE RHINE. Also documented. Like the genocide the British carried out in Tasmania, Australia, and then later in South Africa, against the Boers.

Whatever the Cult of Judah Occupation government of YOUR nation decides to do, they will have a NARRATIVE ready to 'justify' it to their populations. And most people will simply CONSUME that 'Official Narrative' and FEEL that those actions, no matter WHAT, no matter how EXTREME, ARE justified, BY that 'official narrative'. The STORY given to 'explain' and 'justify' and 'validate' their actions. No matter how extreme. Like the fire bombing and machine gunning of Dresden. A city full of fleeing refugees and even Allied prisoners. With NO military value. With NO defenses. Merely to 'attempt to weaken the fighting spirit of the Germans'. But of course the German people were facing occupation by the Russians, and nothing the Americans could do could compete with THAT terror. And why genocide 'their animals'? Zoo animals no less? Other than to remind people WHO was behind the war crime. The Cult of Judah. With their motto of 'Kill the men, women, children, and their unborn, and their animals'.

The MOSSAD motto is 'Make war by deception'. The Cult of Judah control the full spectrum propaganda machine from the local newspaper to Facebook and Youtube, to the corporate media, to every 'official spokesperson' right up to the new DICTATORS 'The Chief Medical Officers'. Complete NOBODIES who had been planted while no-one was paying attention. Who would have dreamed that these NOBODIES would suddenly be granted TOTAL POWER and TOTAL DICTATORSHIP? Just like only a few people, like Jeremy

Corbett, attempted to direct our attention to the U.N Bill of Human Rights WEASEL document. With its articles referring to the mere DECLARATION OF A PANDEMIC being grounds to SUSPEND INDEFINITELY ALL HUMAN RIGHTS. Thus revealing its TRUE nature. The TRUE nature of this organisation. A proxy, along with The World Bank and I.M.F, for The Cult of Judah one world dictatorship.

When you attempt to 'wake up' people to the reality of what is going on, they will, thus, have a neatly prepared 'narrative' to regurgitate in your face. They will repeat the slogans and narrative with the confidence that only a the truly naïve, ignorant, and stupid person can ever have. That only the CULT THRALL can possess. A confidence that they 'know' something. That their 'knowledge' is SUPERIOR to anyone else's. So that they can feel SMUG and COMPLACENT in their 'superior knowledge'. And not feel the slightest need to even LISTEN to, let alone CONSIDER, what OTHER NARRATIVES have to say. How convenient to be handed 'the truth' by some 'authority'. Saves all that messy bother of THINKING and having to RESEARCH things and WEIGH UP ALL THE COMPETING NARRATIVES AND ARGUMENTS. And all those nice 'fact checkers' doing all the WORK for you! Ah, good cult thrall, you can just lay back and relax. Wait for the next 'public statement' to be told 'the facts'.

'Oh, we are rounding up children now, to protect them from parents who won't have them injected?' What is WRONG with those PARENTS? Thank god our government is PROTECTING those children from this DELUDED EXTREMISTS who simply DENY the self-evident FACTS that 'whatever the authorities say MUST be true'. I mean, what sort of CRAZY person would ever NOT TRUST THEIR GOVERNMENT? When did any government EVER lie to the people? No, we ELECTED these people. They represent OUR interests. They are doing what is BEST FOR US. And if the children NEED to be taken away from their parents, then by Dog, we have to ensure they ARE taken away from their parents.

Take ANY extreme action from suspension of Habeas Corpus to 'extradition' and 'advanced interrogation techniques (NEWSPEAK for TORTURE). Take random roadside 'inspections' with no warrants or 'due cause'. Take 'censorship'. Let's list all the 'rights' and 'liberties' and 'legal protections' and 'rights to privacy' and all the other 'inalienable rights' that have been taken away, based on nothing more than an 'Official Narrative'. Such as 'The Official Holocaust Narrative', for starters.

THE CULT OF JUDAH CONTROL THE NARRATIVE. THEY ARE THE MASTERS OF 'CREATING AND MAINTAINING PUBLIC MYTHS'. FROM 'THE BIBLE' NARRATIVES ONWARDS.

This is why my greatest HATRED is towards the media whores who spread, perpetuate, and often even create, these narratives. THEY have the most power on this plane-et. Whoever 'controls the narrative' has total control of this plane-et.

Consider how easy it will be to 'DECLARE' that some region is 'infected', to justify locking it down, and alternatively RELOCATING entire communities. Remember all those empty cities in China and Spain and Egypt? Remember how brutally Spain cracked down on the Catalan freedom movement? Remember Tiananmen square? You don't know the HALF of it. The streets had to be fire hosed down to remove the body parts, the mashed pulp that was once living breathing humans, that was clogging the drainage system. Anyway, those empty cities weren't just built to generate economic activity. They were built as relocation centers. For whom?

The BLANK CHECK has been 'endorsed' by the majority of people around the world. So now the Cult of Judah Occupation governments merely have to write whatever amount (in terms of freedoms, rights, protections, privileges etc) they choose, as and when they choose, and then 'cash it in', in the form of new ‘measures’ and ‘restrictions’ and ‘proscriptions’ and ‘prescriptions’. Like ‘The Bible’ gave a bunch of psychopaths a blank check in the middle ages. Like the ‘koran’ gave the Taliban a blank check. Like ‘Das Kapital’ gave the Bolshies a blank check. All ‘for the greater good’ and ‘to save man’s soul from eternal damnation’.

Given these ‘objectives’, these ‘ends’, what means could NOT be ‘justified’? In their name? Surely ‘the greater good’ and ‘saving man’s eternal soul from eternal damnation’ would justify ANYTHING AND EVERYTHING. From burning people alive, to enslaving nations, to genociding nations. It HAS been used to do just that. It IS being used to do just that right now. ‘The Official Covid Pandemic Narrative’ is the new narrative being used to ‘justify’ any and all despotic, criminal, actions, in the name of ‘national security’ and ‘the greater good’ and ‘protecting the children’ and ‘protecting the old people’. And it can be used to ‘justify’ anything, with a little tweaking and spinning and framing and propaganda. And it WILL be used by the cult of Judah to realize its ambitions of dominating, and enslaving, the entire plane-et.

Child’s play now. So simply. It can’t go wrong. The people have signed up for this Co2vid Cult. They are now cult thralls. The majority are cult thralls. And more importantly, ALL THE POWER is now in the hands of cult thralls.

We might attempt a revolt. An armed rebellion. But we are going to be betrayed by those closest to us. Cult thralls one and all. Even our children will ‘dob us in’. We would be rounded up like cattle and slaughtered. And our own children and best friends and partners and work colleagues would all stand in line to ‘cast the first stone’. History shows this to be how things go, once a new CULT in installed. A new ‘public myth’ is created and maintained. And the masses are enthralled to this new cult. Zombified. Closed to all reasoning.

We can get angry. A few of us might becoming suicide bombers. But anything we do will be used against us as a group. The moment one person assassinates an enemy of the people, they will use this as a ‘justification’ to crack down on everyone all the harder. And the cult thralls will all ‘agree’ with the measures. They will define the heroic freedom fighter as a ‘terrorist’. And readily agree to the very worst of ‘security measures’.

Nope, we are stuck with this cult. Want to escape? Well you have to escape YOUR OWN WILL. You must focus on reforming YOUR will. Now. Until we each have taken that INDIVIDUAL responsibility, the world that is once more returning, re-volving back to, the world of slavery and despotism, will always emerge, no matter what cataclysm temporarily disturbs the ‘status quo’ of slavery and tyranny. Of cruelty and exploitation. A war of all against all. Waged by DECEPTION.

Sorel's 'rule by myth' and the REAL 'deal with the devil' made in 'Dr Faustus'

Sorel's 'Reflexions sur la violence', seven years before World War One, predicted that in the future representative democracy would be replaced by what we have today...literally...rule by mythic fictions, which would be fed to the masses as the primitive battle cries necessary for unleashing and activating political energies. This was in fact the book's crude and intriguing prophecy: that henceforth popular myths, or better, myths trimmed for the masses, would be the vehicle of political action-fables, chimeras, phantasms that needed to have nothing whatever to do with truth, reason, or science in order to be productive nonetheless, to determine life and history, and thereby to prove themselves dynamic realities.

The book opened a sardonic rift between truth and power, truth and life, truth and community. Its implicit message was that community deserved far greater precedence,that truth's goal was community, and that whoever wished to be part of the community must be prepared to jettison major portions of truth and science, to make the sacrificium intellectus.

Sorel has us imagine a court of law in which one of those mass myths that functioned as a political impulse and undermined bourgeois social order was under debate and where its protagonists had to defend themselves against the charge of "lies" and "fraud," and where, then, the two parties, plaintiff and defendant,not only assailed one another, but also talked right past one another, each hilariously missing the other's point. The grotesque part was the vast machinery of scientific witnesses brought in to prove the humbug to be a humbug, a scandalous insult to truth-yet from that angle there was in fact no arguing with a dynamically and historically productive fiction, with a so-called fraud, with, that is, a community-building belief; and the look on its advocates' faces grew all the more sardonically arrogant the more diligently one attempted to refute them on a basis that for them was totally alien and irrelevant, on the basis of science, of respectable, objective truth.

Good God!-science, truth! That exclamation echoed the predominant tone and spirit of these small-talker's dramatic fantasies. They found no end of amusement in the desperate assault of critical reason against an invulnerable belief that reason could not even touch, and they joined forces to place science in the light of an impotence so comical that even the "handsome princes" could enjoy themselves splendidly, in their childish sort of way.

The delighted roundtable did not hesitate to ascribe the same self-abnegation that they themselves practiced to the court of justice, which had to speak the final word and' pronounce judgment. A jurisprudence that wished to base itself in popular sentiment and not isolate itself from the community, dared not allow itself to adopt as its own view that of theoretical, counter-communal, so-called truth; it had to prove itself to be both modern and patriotic-patriotic in the most modern senseby respecting the fertile falsehood, acquitting its apostles, and showing a defeated science the door.

Note that Thomas Mann illuminates himself as the world's greatest hypocrite, in his novel, by promoting the anti-German post-war propaganda that emerged only a while AFTER German defeat, which featured imaginary DEATH CAMPS, with Mann himself having left Germany long before the war, and never having returned, so that he is happy to repeat hearsay, and to claim it as 'authoritative', even after this discussion of Sorel's pre-1984 depiction of 'modern' society 'as we know it' today. Mann blindly repeats the most vicious slander against Germany and Germans in the most general terms. Accusing all Germans of complicity in imaginary crimes, for which Germany must pay the price of never again being allowed sovereignty. Germany must be occupied, and remain under occupation, because Germans have 'proven' (by way of 'The Official Holocaust Narrative') that they cannot possibly be trusted. Germany must become a 'colony'. Germans, he makes clear, have some specially intimate relationship with 'the devil' and 'evil'. The situation Sorel describes, and Mann's characters cheerfully support and joke about, as necessary to 'govern' the masses, has never been more clearly played out than during The Nuremberg show trials, and later 'Holocaust denial show trials'. Courts that allow their verdicts to be determined by 'The Official Narrative', with objective, inductive, scientific measurements and analyses simply dismissed as literally 'inadmissible'. While 'The Official Narrative' was based on 'false confessions gained by torture' and a totally 'rigged' show-trial run as a post war propaganda action, whose intention was to 'justify' denying Germany it's sovereignty, and its 'eternal occupation'. To demonise Germany and Germans forever. To utterly crush and destroy the very idea of 'German-ness', forever.

And note Mann imagines his 'Protestant' views are superior and FREE of the previous faults of 'The Catholic Church'. Remember 'The Matrix'? How Evo discovers that he has been playing a role. One played by a vast historical line of previous 'Neo's'? That of 'false messiah'. Of 'controlled opposition'. Of, 'False Hope'. Remember that Luther didn't 'free' people of religious enthrallment. He simply eased their chains a little. Freed them just a little bit. Enough to make them think they had 'escaped' Cult thralldom'. This is the position

Mann writes from. He imagines his new 'enlightened religion' is so superior'. More or less, as absurd as it sounds, 'scientific'. Yes, as 'Scientific' as 'Scientific Socialism'. So Mann is warning that the enemy of Bolshevism and the Catholic Church, National Socialism, represents a return to 'The bad old days' of his 'church', under the irrational rule of the Vatican, and Catholic Church. But what he and Sorel are really describing, and claiming to be again, is exactly what he himself, Mann, promoted (as was rewarded with a Nobel Prize for promoting) the Cult of Judah occupation via the NEWEST Cult of Judah myths. Starting with 'German sole responsibility for World War One', and continuing with 'The Official Holocaust Narrative', and continuing onto 'The Official Nine Eleven Narrative', and all the 'false flags' and 'faked shootings' since, and all climaxing with this current Co2vid Cult 'Official Covid Narrative' and 'Official Global Climate Crisis Narrative'.

Remember Thomas Mann is the REAL LIFE DOCTOR FAUSTUS. For he sold his soul to the Devil, and sold us all down the drain with him, in return for the ultimate 'success' as an author. As a writer. He sold his soul for a Nobel Prize for literature. The only REAL merit his writing had over his competitors for that prize was their value as PROPAGANDA materiel for the Cult of Judah's / Nacash Conspiracy's war against humanity. As the official MOSSAD motto puts it, 'waged by DECEPTION'.

Now back to Mann's 'Dr Faustus', with the author as narrator (and it is clear to me he is claiming Sorel's anti-truth dystopia is describing National Socialism, when it is in fact describing society since the Cult of Judah's subsidiaries have occupied the nations, from Judaism, onto Catholicism, onto Marxism, and onto todays C02vid Cult... I did indeed once suggest, "if we wanted to be serious for a moment," that we consider whether or not a thinker, to whom the needs of the community might matter a great deal, would not perhaps do better to set truth rather than community as his goal, since indirectly and over time community is better served by truth, even by bitter truth, than by a mode of thinking that claims to serve it at the expense of truth, but in reality, by the very denial of the basis of genuine community, works from within in a most sinister fashion for its destruction. But never in my life have I made a remark that fell so utterly flat, that evoked so little response as that one. I even admit that it was tactless, since it did not match the intellectual mood and was inspired by an idealism that was of course familiar, all too familiar-to the point of being banal-and that only disrupted their new ideas...Of course Mann is fixed in a Cult of Judah Cult, as a thrall, and imagines his inherited Cult dogma to be 'beyond doubt' and 'beyond question' and 'self-eviden't' 'truth', when he personally is in fact completely, blindly, guilty of exactly what Sorel was describing. I guess Sorel's 'benchmark' was an equally illusory 'Renaissance' idea that between the Catholic Church's reign of terror, and World War One, Science had appeared to be making headway, and objectivity in the social world, in the 'social reality', in the 'community' was appearing at least to be gaining a respected foothold among the masses. When in reality what passed for 'objective science' has always been 'One of many narratives' which, with the patronage and financial and social backing of a small elite, was promoted, in the mass mind, and even the minds of most scientists as 'The Official Narrative', with the competing, alternative narratives, simply swept aside, ignored, censored, ridiculed, declared 'heretical', with 'The Official Narrative' (which could always be re-written to suit the needs of its sponsors) held up as a IDOL to be dogmatically WORSHIPPED as 'The Objective Truth', and granted PROTECTED, PRIVILEGED STATUS.

Now Mann as narrator again...It was an old-new, revolutionarily atavistic world, in which values linked to the idea of the individual, such as truth, freedom,justice, reason, were sapped of every strength and cast aside, or, by having been wrenched free of pale theory, had at least taken on a very different meaning from that given them over the last centuries and, now relativized and red-blo?ded, were made applicable at the much higher level of violence, authority, the dictatorship of belief-not in some reactionary way that looked back to yesterday or the day before,but in a way that was tantamount to humanity's being transferred,along with all these new ideas, back into the theocratic situations and conditions of the Middle Ages...which is exactly the situation we face today, and which National Socialism was counter-propagandizing in order to prevent.

That was no more reactionary than the path around a sphere-which, of course, leads around or back around it-can be termed regressive. There you had it: regress and progress,the old and the new, past and present-all became one, and the political right coalesced more and more with the left.

Unbiased research and free thought, far from representing progress, belonged instead to the boring world of those being left behind. Freedom had been given to thought in order to justify force, just as seven hundred years ago reason had ONLY been free to discuss faith and prove dogma; that had been its purpose, and that was the purpose of thought today, or would be tomorrow. Research, to be sure, had its premises-indeed it did! And those were the force, the AUTHORITY of the community-premises so axiomatic that it never entered science's head that it might not be free.

They were thoroughly subjective-within an objective restraint so natural and ingrained that it was in no way felt to be a shackle. In order to see clearly what lay before us, to ban every foolish fear of it, one need only recall that the unconditionality of specific premises had never been an impediment to the imagination and to individual boldness of thought. On the contrary, precisely because the intellectual uniformity and closed world provided by the Church had seemed absolutely self-evident to medieval man, he had been far more a man of imagination than any citizen of the individualistic age, had been able to surrender himself individually to the powers of his own imagination with that much less worry, that much more security.

I have to clarify what Mann writes. He is saying what I have been arguing from the beginning of my TROONATNOOR enterprise. That people do not realise they are operating from faulty assumptions which they have simply taken for granted, because they appear 'self-evident', and 'beyond question' and 'beyond doubt'. The MOST treacherous assumptions are not those stated in the thesis, which Science is pretending to be attempting to disprove. No. The REAL assumptions that are doing the MAIN DAMAGE exist below the level of consciousness. They are EMBEDDED within the very language and ideas and concepts being used as TOOLS in the supposed 'interrogations' of reality. The assumptions that are NOT EVEN FLAGGED AS ASSUMPTIONS. They are NOT conscious assumptions. Thus they 'fly in under the radar of conscious, rational, deliberate, consideration'. The REALLY TREACHEROUS assumptions are accepted UNCONDITIONALLY. As 'absolutely self-evident'. And THIS is where the rot sets in. The CORRUPTION. For no system based upon such ROTTEN foundations can ever hope to become a SOUND foundation for scientific enquiry, or political science, or 'community building', or for a sane, rational, society, based on truth, freedom, and justice.

Note that in 'Doctor Faustus', Mann TALKS LIKE PUTIN AND STALIN ABOUT the 'LIBERATION' of even Germany, from National Socialism. Remember Mann demonises Germany for occupying Poland. But wait a moment. Doesn't he mean HALF OF POLAND? Ask yourself how many people, even today, are aware that RUSSIA INVADED AND OCCUPIED THE OTHER HALF OF POLAND AT THE SAME TIME GERMANY INVADED AND OCCUPIED THE OTHER HALF. I wasn't taught this in school. Were YOU? And if America had entered the war, on the side of the Bolsheviks, to free Poland, then why didn't it free Poland? Poland was 'liberated' by the Soviets who then occupied it for the next 50 years. Where was the 'American will to sacrifice for democracy' then? At the time of its greatest strength, Americans decided to 'leave democracy to be raped and murdered'. How ironic, seeing as how it declared war on Germany at a time it was at its weakest! Claiming to be 'fighting for democracy'. As the ally of the COMMUNIST DICTATORSHIP. Yes, so how typically hypocritical and 'weaselly' that Thomas Mann's character sells his soul to Satan, for a successful career, while Mann himself sold his soul to 'The Synagogue of Satan' for a Nobel Prize. Well, to be fair, he was clearly a Bolshevik and HATED Germans and Germany. I guess they had failed to 'recognise his genius'? Was that it? Please, read Mann, and explain to me what there is in his work, other than as propaganda for The Cult of Judah, that could possibly merit a Nobel Prize for LITERATURE?

If Mann had been 'serious', he would have come to Germany to investigate 'The Official Holocaust Narrative' for himself, before blindly vomitting the propaganda all over his readers. The Noble Prize was awarded for the benefit of ensuring as many people would be INFECTED by that propaganda, using Thomas Mann's books as the VECTOR, as possible. Just as Einstein was awarded a Nobel Prize to grant HIS 'fictions' 'authoritative status'. And to promote the lies and fictions and fables contained within THEM. Both these men were used by the Cult of Judah as tools towards the realisation of the Cult of Judah's / The Nacash Conspiracy's plans for world domination. By first dominating and gaining total control of the IMAGINATION and thus MINDS of the masses. So that THEY would be free to write 'The Official Fiction', 'The Official Narrative' that would pass, for most people, as 'The Objective, Consensus, Reality'. What I call 'The Social Reality'.

I only learned recently that many of my favorite authors were offered pre-paid publishing deals to write anti-German propaganda novels, in the lead-up to the British and American declarations of war on Germany. Many like Rudyard Kipling and Jack London refused. Many accepted. So that the public were tricked into reading war propaganda writen by their favorite authors, without realising they were reading professionally prepared war propaganda. Consider the film 'Casablanca'. It is the epitomy of 'mirror and lead'. Long before Michael Moore's similar effort. We are presented with a protagonist who represents the pre-war attidude of most American and British Men. The war in Europe has nothing to do with me! Let them sort it out themselves! But then, by the end of the film, that attitude, mirroring the general populations, has, in obscure ways I've yet to work out, 'lead' the protagonist into a new attitude. For some reason the protagonist becomes EMOTIONALLY INVESTED IN HATING GERMANS and has lead his audience, the audience of the film, into a totally new direction. The man who originally was 'left cold' and uninterested in 'the war in Europe', now suddenly finds, within 90 minutes, that he couldn't possibly NOT get involved. In fact, his own life is 'not worth a can of beans' in comparison with the NEED to sacrifice everything to defeat Germany! What a 'mirror and lead' Neuro Linguistic Program indeed! Perhaps the BEST example of such 'mirror and lead' / 'pace and lead' Neuro Linguistic Programming I could cite. Before of course Michael Moore's similar example. Where he begins apparently 'sympathising' with all the reasons people might support Trump, before 'leading' the viewer off in the totally opposite direction. Both are great examples of how powerful NLP can be abused, for propaganda purposes. To condition and imprint the masses with an EMOTIONAL COMMITTMENT TO AN ABSURD PROPOSITION. One they will then be willing to DIE and KILL for. And to sacrifice EVERYTHING for. All their human rights. All their legal rights. All personal privacy and bodily sovereignty.

Thomas Mann’s ‘third strike’ as ‘TERROR-IST’

Thomas Mann is an anti-German PROPAGANDIST. And he won't just come out and admit he is a Communist, coward and typical Bolshie Cult of Judah agent that he is. He uses 'sleight of mouth' to suggest that Germans have some special affinity with 'The Devil' and 'Evil'. Suggesting that the world just wanted peace, and only Hitler wanted war. That old canard that 'Germany wanted to take over the world' is also slipped in. Anyone vaguely aware of the actions of the Soviets and U.S.A since World War Two must LAUGH at the absurdity of such a proposition. That German's enemies wanted PEACE. What a FOOL Mann must take us for. Or is it that his Mann himself was the BIGGEST FOOL IN HISTORY to believe such nonsense himself? Well he, as Cannibal Jesus Vampire Cult thrall surely has the credentials for such naive willingness TO believe any and all nonsense. Yes, for his second strike, Mann a Catholic. And not even 'apologetic' about it. He seeks to spread his own poisonous, toxic beliefs under the guise of 'art'. As if the world needs to hear any more from that lot, after all the damage they have done. Which brings us to his ‘third strike’. THOMAS MANN IS A TERRORIST. IN FACT THE VERY PERFECT DEFINITION OF A TERRORIST. Which makes this discussion more timely than ever. We often refer to ‘The Catholic Church’s REIGN OF TERROR’. For they RULED BY TERROR. The threat of HELL. The ULTIMATE THREAT. ETERNAL SUFFERING, MISERY, PAIN, AND ANGUISH.

We hear a lot of Cult of Judah propagandists 'seeding' the idea of 'Home Grown Right Wing Extremist Terrorists'. But they are referring to people merely WARNING the public about what Youtube and Facebook and the U.N's 'Fact-Checkers' have already DECLARED TO BE TRUE. That YES, THE 'JEWS' ARE COMMANDED BY THEIR RELIGIOUS LEADERS, BY THE VERY DEFINITION OF WHAT IT MEANS TO BE 'JEWISH', THEIR SHARED RELIGIOUS AND CULTURAL BAGGAGE, TO GENOCIDE GERMANY, FRANCE, ITALY, AND ALL THE OTHER FORMER NATIONS OF THE ROMAN EMPIRE, ALONG WITH THE UNITED STATES OF AMERICA. Why do I ASSERT this? Well THAT video, which I have complained repeatedly to Youtube and The Southern Poverty Law Center about, has clearly been given YOUTUBE APPROVAL AS 'COMPLYING WITH YOUTUBE COMMUNITY GUIDELINES' and has been 'FACT-CHECKED' BY FACEBOOK'S MINISTRY OF TRUTH AND FOUND TO BE FACTUAL.

What more evidence do we require that this is NOT just the ravings of some 'outlier' that has been 'disowned by the Jewish community'. In fact I could not get a SINGLE 'Jew' (my single friend and benefactor excluded) to disown this JEWISH RABBI and his lecture. Certainly at bare minimum we are dealing with 'PRIVELEGED AND PROTECTED HATE SPEECH AND INCITEMENT TO GENOCIDE. But given the MASSIVE drive to censorship of anything remotely 'challenging' for the general public, the REFUSAL to treat this particular case of clear hate speech and incitement to genocide seriously MUST set of flashing lights and sirens in your mind. If you are capable at all of reacting to anything 'off-script' at all.

But remember that that Rabbi was more or less directly quoting THE OLD TESTAMENT / TORAH. Interpreting Amelek and Edom to refer to ANY adversary to the ambition of THE CULT OF JUDAH to rule this plane-et.

And yes, if The Cult of Judah find it impossible to deal with the U.S.A as a whole, after their agent ABRAHAM Lincoln enslaved Americans to murder and die horribly in defending the unity of that nation (merely temporarily to suit their purposes, TO USE AMERICA AS THEIR SHIELD AND WEAPON IN DESTROYING GERMANY (and please note the timing of the sale of Alaska to America, just before the Cult of Judah occupation of Russia), and pardon my Germanic sentence length, yes, if it NOW suits the Cult of Judah's interests, they WILL allow American states to secede, to REDUCE the strength and influence of America as a whole. Now that The Cult of Judah occupy, directly and indirectly, the rest of the world. They would not want to risk a REAL POPULAR UPRISING UNDER A REAL LEADER (TRUMP OF COURSE IS CONTROLLED AS ANY FUTURE REPUBLICAN LEADER IS LIKELY TO BE) uniting Americans under a call to FREEDOM and LIBERTY and SOVEREIGNTY WITH A RETURN TO SANITY, RATIONALITY, HUMAN RIGHTS, LEGAL RIGHTS, PERSONAL LIBERTIES, AND PERSONAL PRIVACY AND SOVEREIGNTY. If Texans united America around their flag of freedom, the U.S.A still has the potential to liberate the rest of the world. Not as it has done to date, like the Soviets, occupying nations and installing dictators and puppets under Cult of Judah control. But genuinely, as the RHETORIC of American propagandists in all its wars have CLAIMED it was operating.

Yes, but that Rabbi himself is NOT a terrorist. He is merely a deluded genocidal maniac. A TERORIST IS SOMEONE WHO EMPLOYS TERROR, AND THUS FEAR, TO GAIN THEIR POLITICAL ENDS. TO PERSUADE PEOPLE TO SUBMIT TO THEIR WILL, AND COMPLY WITH THEIR DEMANDS, OUT OF A FEAR OF DEATH, VIOLENCE, AND SUFFERING. NOT MERELY COERCING THEM WITH THREATS OF LOSS OF THEIR PROPERTY. BUT WITH THREATS TO THEIR LIVES. THREATS TO MAIM AND KILL THEM. TO TORTURE THEM. TO INFLICT PAIN UPON THEM.

What can present a greater threat than eternal torment, pain, misery, and anguish, in a Hell? Thus DANTE is a terrorist. Thomas Mann is a terrorist. Any priest who promotes the idea of hell is a terrorist. Any Sunday school teacher who does the same with children is the most abominable of terrorists. Any politico or mass media whore who terrorizes people with false fears of a pandemic is a terrorist.

The people trying to WARN you are not terrorists. They are the counter-terrorist. Attempting to PREVENT the terrorists from paralyzing the reason of their audience with TERROR. Reducing them back to their most primal, basic, REPTILIAN BRAIN FUNCTIONS.

TERRORISTS ARE THE REPTILIAN SHAPE SHIFTING TRIGGERS AND ACTIVATORS. They seek to place people in a state of CHRONIC fear and terror, so that they become incapable of cool, cold, rational, calculation of the REAL threats and REAL costs and benefits of any course of action. So that they SUBMIT, OUT OF FEAR, to something they truly would NOT otherwise have found acceptable, reasonable, or rational.

The term 'terrorist' first came into general Western circulation after the hijacking of passenger airliners. T he hijackers threatened to kill the passengers if their political demands were not met. For example that members of their organisations under arrest should be freed.

The Official nine eleven Narrative wants us to imagine that Muslim Jihadi's planned to use an attack on the WTC and Pentagon to some purpose, never explained. Never declared. How was blowing up the WTC and Pentagon going to benefit Islamic extremists? Were they planning to claim 'if you don't submit to Islam, to our demands (which were never forthcoming), we are going to keep blowing up your buildings? THAT would have made such acts 'Terrorist' acts.

But in fact nine eleven WAS committed by TERRORISTS. MOSSAD Israeli and CIA American terrorists. To TERRORISE the public into submitting to THEIR demands. Their demands as presented in 'The Patriot Act'. For submission to a total RAPE of the Americans basic human rights, legal rights, and personal sovereignty and privacy.

Just as the faked 'Sandy Hook' and real, false flag 'Port Arthur Massacre' were TERRORIST acts committed by REAL TERRORISTS CALLED THE AMERICAN AND AUSTRALIAN GOVERNMENTS. To TERRIFY people in SUBMISSION to unconstitutional new laws, restrictions, measures, prescriptions, and proscriptions. Namely GUN CONTROL. To ensure ONLY the terrorist government agents had access to guns.

Please download the entire TROONATNOOR imprint, at no cost to YOU, while you are still free to, as I've just had another book BLOCKED and thus BANNED, as the highest compliment the TERRORISTS could pay an author, that my tiny little voice is somehow a threat to their TOTAL POWER.

Ask yourself why they felt a need to block and ban me, when I have almost no readers? What possible threat could I pose to their HEGEMONIC POWER? Surely the fact that they DID ban a particular book should make you EXTREMELY CURIOUS as to what was IN that book? If not, then you are a hopeless case as far as I am concerned.

But you can still download my entire TROONATNOOR imprint, at no cost to YOU, using links in my public channel on telegram 'Troonatnoor' (case sensitive) or any other link on any other TROONATNOOR web presence still operating. Try Bitchute, Wordpress, and Telegram TROONATNOOR channels for such links. Remembering you need have ZERO contact with me at all. I won't know who downloaded what from where. I won't profit at all, so you can have THAT satisfaction too!

Oh, and I've mentioned it elsewhere, but Mann loves to spread rumours about Goering, while completely ignoring the DOCUMENTED AND WELL KNOWN FACT that Winston Churchill was a drug addict and almost completely dysfunctional alcoholic. It was well known and understood that no-one could expect ANYTHING of Churchill by mid afternoon, as he would have, by then, drunken himself into a total STUPOUR. Professional writers and voice-actors were responsible for MOST of his famous 'war time radio speeches'. He himself, while his voice-over actor impersonator was inspiring the Brits to courage in the face of the V2 rockets (which did a minute amount of damage compared to the Allied air raids of Germany, which BRITAIN was the first to use as TERROR-IST actions i.e deliberating targeting CIVILIANS, and finding its apogee in the fire-bombing of DRESDEN and then Tokyo and Hiroshima and Nagasaki), he himself would be well on the road out into the country, to a 'safe haven', where he could continue that days drinking binge, without the unsettling fear of 'getting hurt' himself.

Markus Rehbach

October 2021

For Benjamin Power (especially, but also thanks to Anton Veckor and Mike Hill)

Is the Law of Manu, like our current 'god', created in the image of man? Most likely. I can't say if there was ever a time when there were distinct 'races' of humans, with different qualities. Where each was most adapted a particular way of living and working. If so, then each would be happiest and thrive most living that way, and doing that work. Rather than trying to 'ape' another race, out of 'resentment' /envy/jealous). Or worse, enter into the current Marxist fad of 'leveling' not via positive eugenics and meritocracy, but by 'cutting down the tall timber/tall poppies', and a 'reducing to the lowest common denominator, so that none need feel 'inferior' to their naturally, genuinely, authentically, superior, from an intellectual, aesthetic, functional-physical, or even moral, superior.

More likely it seems to me the term 'race' referred to INDIVIDUAL superiority and was promoting a MERITOCRATIC ARISTOCRACY. One you rose up into not by birth, but by individual merit. Even more recent Brahmin's would 'adopt' a child into their caste that was clearly 'superior' a.k.a 'Aryan' in appearance and character. To nurture that innate superiority. But I doubt any Brahmin could ever bring themselves to 'demote' one of their own children to a lower caste. And unless 'Manu' ensured, genetically, that each 'race' / caste 'bred true', every 'higher' caste / race was doomed to 'dilution' over time, UNLESS an active program of positive eugenics was practised among, especially, the 'higher caste' the 'Aryan race', and carried through ruthlessly with active euthanasia programs for any individuals that threatened to 'dilute the race', and ultimately deprive it of its genuine / authentic / natural superiority over other 'races' / castes.

Today it does appear that the 'Germanic' types contain more 'superior' individuals than the other 'types'. But I have no need to assert this. And there would need to be a long period of active eugenics to 'distill' out these superior individuals, which would leave MOST 'Germanic types' dissappointed to say the least, with being deprived of their rights to reproduce themselves, and of 'equality under the law', by virtue of being 'Germanic'. And what would really irritate them would be my 'adoption' of any superior individuals from any other group (defined by ethnicity, culture, religion, race, caste, nationality etc), independent of their skin color, eye color, hair color and type, language, or current level of education and 'beliefs'. I would be called a 'race traitor' by every race for this.

But the fact is, there is no 'pure' race of 'superior' individuals. Hitler defined the 'superior race', today, as that which promoted, from within, and nurtured, those superior individuals within it, so that they could 'set the tone' for the entire 'race'. He made it clear 'We get to decide who is a Jew', and who isn't. Who is Aryan. Superior. And worthy of reproduction, in the interests of the nation, and 'race'. This is why even 'Germans' were sterilised, and euthanised, even though they belonged, in principle, to the 'Aryan' race. In order to distill the very best of the remaining 'Aryan' qualities as possible that remained after millions of years of failure to 'protect' such qualities (via what would have made sense if, at some point in time, actual discrete, differentiated, 'races' actually existed).

So my aim would be to, starting with the most obviously superior NATION, which I do find to be the 'Nordic-Germanic' nations, and her far-flung progeny, to begin such a 'distillation' process. Without promising inferior 'Germans' or 'Norwegians' that 'just because you are German or Norwegian you are automatically defined as superior to a clearly superior African, Australian Aborigine, Asian, Arab, Indian, Eskimo, or Slav. I would seek to encourage immigration of any 'higher types' from wherever they were born or currently find themselves. To quickly 'boost' the proportion of 'Superior individuals' in my new nation, whose core was currently 'Indo-European Aryan types', best defined today ethnically as 'Nordic-Germanic'.

This flies in the face of 'Political Science' which constrains us to 'pandering' to our own 'race', by telling it that 'each of you, by virture of being born 'Germanic' or 'Nordic', is automatically the superior of even the 'best' of the other 'races'. How hateful it would be to be told 'Yes, you are Germanic, but this African here is superior to you, though born in Nigeria and raised in China'. No, Political Science demands you tell your would-be supporters that 'You are the Chosen People'. 'With exceptional and exclusive rights to rule over, and dominate, and use as mere means to your own ends, all other peoples'.

So, like Plato, any would be 'Philosopher-King' would probably resort to 'Noble' lies. And even risk losing millions of 'superior' individuals from their 'Ambitiously Aryan Nation', for the sake of political expediency, and 'REALPOLITIK'. Bismarck defined politics as 'The art of the possible'.

But at the same time I would encourage all other nations to emulate us. So that they too 'distilled' the very best within each of them, appearing at this time in the multi-million year history of the plane-et, as the 'accidents' of millions of years of (if ever there were distinct 'races') interbreeding, voluntary and involuntary.

It is my belief that in time, with active Eugencis and euthansia programs in each 'race' (ethnic group-nation), each nation would raise its own intrinsic quality to the point where my speculation that 'Aryan race' really only ever referred to individuals, and never to 'nations', would be demonstrated. For each 'nation' would rise up and up, until it would become natural for them to 'merge', voluntarily. For the world would consist of such a 'higher' 'race' of individuals that most of the violence, injustice, envy, and jealousy, would have been 'distilled' out. Leaving only a pure 'spirit'.

Now to the idea of deterministic 'Yugas' where the 'spirit of the times' would either automatically elevate, or depress, the world's entire population. Starting with a perfect 'Golden Age', deterministically followed by a 'fall', through silver and bronze ages, through to a final, 'Dark Age', the 'Kali Age', defined by deceipt, violence, corruption, war, slavery, and basically 'recorded history as we know it, right up to the present times of crimes against humanity and war crimes, committed by 'nominally democratic governments' 'in the name of democracy and peace and freedom and liberty'. The time of the Co2vid Cult. The time of mass genocide by 'vaccine' and 'experimental gene therapy'. The time of enslavement of the entire planet-et to a single CULT. The Cult of Judah. After 3000 years of its 'Nacash Conspiracy'. With its 'blank-check' 'Covid Pandemic' and its 'Virology Theology' and 'Virus CULT', all distilled down to the 'Co2vid Cult'. So that the new 'F' word is Freedom, and the new 'C' word is 'Constitutional rights'.

I have myself debunked the notion of 'free will' as entertained by most people as 'self-evident'. Anyone whose will is determined is going to find it 'self-evident' that it is not. Because the 'determinisms' are so UNOBTRUSIVE and 'internalized' and 'owned' by the person as 'my own free will'. Unless you go to the very lowest level of abstraction and construction, and observe the most basic of all assumptions, you are going to 'own' 'as your own', a will that was 'implanted' in you, as part of your very 'nature'. See TROONATNOOR Vol I for details. So I don't expect many people to be able to even entertain the notion that we have no 'free' will. And in day to day life, like David Hume, even I act 'as if' we have free will. It is only human. I am only human. Ecco Homo. Just not 'Homo Fideo' (Believing Man). Rather Homo Skeptcis (Skeptical Man), in the orignal sense of 'Skeptic', meaning SEEKER of truth. Rather than 'beleiver of lies / dogmas / assertions / declarations / HEARSAY.

That hopefully qualifies how I can make the focus of my entire TROONATNOOR enterprise / program PERSONAL RESPONSIBILITY. The idea that you can NOT 'pin your sins to a scapegoat, and send it out into the desert to die for OUR sins'. That no 'saviour' or 'messiah' can 'sacrifice themselves' as proxy for the older animal sacrifices a.k.a 'sacrificial lambs', for our sins. No-one can 'take our sins upon themselves'. They can die for their OWN sins, yes. And each of us owes the world a life, our OWN, to quote Freud. No Pope or Priest can 'absolve' you of YOUR 'guilt'. The consequences of your own willing and action. You cannot pay for a Papal 'dispensation' or for the 'intercession' of some 'higher power on your behalf'. That is not how the universal law of 'karma' works. YOU are solely responsible for YOUR willing and actions.

To paraphrase Schopenhauer, 'The world is the representation of YOUR will'. Of our COLLECTIVE willing. And thus acting. The world as we know it is the manifestation of our collective wills. At least in terms of human society, there is no way to deny this. If we wanted real justice and honesty/truth/integrity in our politicians, leaders, institutions, systems, organisations, and in our daily lives, we could have it. But we do NOT want real justice and truth. We want what 'suits us best' at any given moment. We want to be free to cruelly enslave, breed, torture, and slaughter, then eat, and make stuff out of, or experiment on, other sentient beings. Often just to satisfy our 'curiosity', or to 'test' some product of absolutely zero value, and even likely to KILL and MAIM us (as in 'vaccines' and most other pharmaceuticals developed today). We want other humans to slave away in sweat shops so we can 'afford' completely excessive consumption of clothing, electronics, and so on. We feel entitled to enjoy our 'best lives' at the expense of the 'worst lives' for other humans, let alone other animals. So the world DOES reflect OUR PERSONAL WILL TO INJUSTICE, exceptional entitlements, and exploitation of any personal power we have over other humans, and over other animals.

Mea Culpa! Of course if this was all 'created' by some 'god' then it must be Dio Culpa! And my own musings on 'free will' head in that direction. But I am heuristic. The only person I can 'control' is myself, if at all. And so I must start here, at the lowest level of abstraction, at he lowest assumption underlying all other logic and reasoning, at the level of PERSONAL RESPONSIBILITY.

Sure, if you WANT to live in the world as it is, and want to pretend it is other than it is, even as they are marching you to the work camps, the guillotine, and harvesting your children's organs (of those who are set to receive placebos and so will still have organs WORTH harvesting), you are welcome to that SELF-DECEPTION.

And it is SELF deception that is at the heart of ALL our 'problems' and 'evils', meaning those WE have any control over. The SOCIAL ones. The HUMAN generated ones. Like war. Like slavery. Like injustice. Like propaganda, lies, misinformation, disinformation, and deception. I could speculate on the 'natural disasters' but before we worry about 'things we perhaps cannot control', let's focus on things we CAN control. Our OWN personal willing and actions. What WE bring to the mix. As humans. As actors. As agents.

I personally find the idea of 'Yugas defined by deterministic forces' to be a SELF-DECEPTION. A convenient fiction. A narrative. A myth. That 'gets us off the hook' for personal responsibility. And deters the real REFORMERS from attempting to reform this plane-et. For if the REFORMERS, like Akhenaton (Joy of the Sun) or Jesus, or Buddha, or Jain (Mahavira), or Adolf Hitler, or myself, managed to gain a foothold, the first thing we would do, as did Akhenaton and Hitler, is disposess the 'Priests' of all the various 'CULTS', whether secular (such as the Co2vid Cult and Marxism and the various 'pseudo-scientific CULTS) or religious, like the various Cult of Judah 'religions' of Judaism, Christianity, Islam, and their various factions, of all their wealth, power, status, and authority. And these are the actors who gain the most from our current 'Age of Kali' / 'Age of Darkness', violence, injustice, mendacity (deception/lies/dishonesty) and brutal, cruel, ruthless exploitation of power to abuse other sentient beings as mere means to THEIR own ends. As slaves. As 'cattle'.

It is poetically beautiful, pure poetic justice, that the same people who 'condoned' cruel, painful, destructive, deadly 'scientific experiments' on less powerful sentient beings (monkeys, guinea pigs, rats, cats, dogs and so on) in the name of 'scientific curiosity' and 'medical science', are today the VICTIMS of the same such 'experiments'. Hate me for holding a mirror up to you. I have lived with malice my entire life. From anyone who felt I seemed 'superior' to them in any way. (One reason I instinctively seek the company of 'superior' people). From those who instinctively felt I had 'seen through' and 'exposed', even when I didn't do this openly, as I am doing now. But they could simply 'see it in my eyes' (in the case of Military 'superiors' or teachers in a staffroom). So bring it on. Express all your SELF-LOATHING on me. Because you must have a hell of a lot of it! And you are NOT courageous enough to identify the REAL target, and begin the process of SELF-CRITICISM and thus SELF-REFORM required for us to reform this entire plane-et.

If we are purely beneficiaries or victims of deterministic historical cycles, then the worst behavior humans display is perfectly logical and rational. If you can't beat 'em (the historical cycles), join'em. In this context act 'in time'. In the spirit of the times. In line with the ZEITGEIST. Be corrupt. Be evil. Go for it. Take your chances. You might get to enjoy an orgy of sex, violence, power, and wealth, before it consumes you. 'Rather be a hammer than a nail' right? Those silly philosophers with their 'It's better to be a victim than to harm' notions! They were not made for THIS world, right? And they are soon to depart it. Often under horrific pain and inhumility, with a crowd cheering for 'more suffering to be inflicted upon you', and for your ultimate destruction (but only after providing an entertaining amusement for them with your agonized screaming and screeching and 'begging for mercy', oh they love that, 'mercy', yeh, sure!'

If Adolf Hitler and Akhenaton were 'doomed' to failure, then why bother? Akhenaton had less than a decade, and his entire 'City of the horizon of the sun' crushed to dust and rubble. Hitler had a bit longer, and he at least got to 'fight back' against 'the times', before he had to rush off to Argentina, his entire empire in ashes and rubble. Most peole aren't born Pharoahs or to the glorious destiny of Adolf Hitler, so they don't stand the slightest chance of either 'living out of time' like Akhenaton in his 'City of the horizon of the sun' (not Heliopolis, 'City of the Sun' as I had understood until recently), or actively 'taking up arms against' and acting AGAINST TIME (against the spirit of the times / Zeitgeist / Age of Kali / Dark ages), in the most heroic struggle in recorded history, perhaps since Krishna's struggle described in 'The Bhagavad Gita', with any sort of effectiveness.

Yes of course Akhenaton went down in 'The Official Narrative called History' of Egypt as 'That criminal' and all references to, and evidence of, his achievements, have been destroyed. And needless to say the reputation of Adolf Hitler, and National Socialism, has been slightly 'tarnished', shall we say, by the ONLY victors of WWII, 'The Cult of Judah', and their enthralled 'Jews' and 'Sayanim'. While the massive achievements of National Socialism have been 'erased' from 'The Official Narrative called History' of Europe. 'That Criminal' indeed. In the same way the Pharisees and 'Jews' had Jesus, in that narrative, crucified as a criminal!

I'd love to get access to whatever 'Jewish' records exist of the relationship between the 'Hibiru' who were one of the groups to take advantage of Akhenaton's pacifism by invading Palestine, and setting up the first state of Israel (nothing like the Biblical 'official narrative') during his reign, and even more actively during the 'interregio' after his murder, when Egypt was focussed on re-establishing its CULT priests in power, and returning to 'the old ways', rather than on 'external political and military matters'. Did the Nacash Conspiracy have anything to do with Akhenaton's pacifism and new 'Atenic' religion? Perhaps as a 'little voice in his ear'? Egypt had an older tradition, based in Heliopolis with its 'sun worship' and first monolithic 'Cleopatra's needles' (what are these called, sorry, too early, barely sipped my coffee yet, and very cold and dark still). Heliopolis is the Greek name 'Helio' meaning sun. Polis meaning 'city'. Hence my misunderstanding. Akhenaton's NEW city adopted some of the older ideas. And his new city was named after the 'horizon of the sun', oriented so it faced the point at which the sun rose between two distant mountains, and set again upon the same 'horizon'. The Egyptian phonetic name fails my memory. Trykeypotamon? Have to check.

So. Here I sit. Philosopher AGAINST TIME. As all true 'seekers of truth and justice' are, by definition. It's why anyone from a Socrates to a Jesus to a 'Historical Revisionist' is doomed to be cruelly persecuted, imprisoned, and murdered, as the best of his people, by those 'in power'. For only the WORST of people rise to positions of power in such a world. In 'The Kali Yuga', if you like. They are acting 'IN TIME', going along with the 'ZeitGeist' and 'spirit of the times' which is 'make war by deception' in a 'war of all against all'. Making temporary alliances, while planning how to 'stab each other in the back' when the time comes.

The 'Jews' only desired Israel as a 'safe haven' to 'escape back to' after looting the west, and leaving it in chaos. Their openly published plans call for the GENOCIDE of America, Western Europe, and the other places they are now in control of, and looting and sabotaging. But we shall see. The 'logic' of 'The Age of Kali' does not spare anyone. No matter how much 'power' they imagine they have. In the end 'Time, the Destroyer', catches up with any that manage to 'weasel' their way out of being 'hoisted by their own petard'.

So far the most compelling idea I entertain for this 'plane-et' is that it will always be 'The Kali Yuga' here. That all 'Golden Age Myths' are aspirational. Pure Neuro-Linguistic Programming for positive self-fulfilling propechies. For the best way to motivate people is to have them BELIEVE it was once a reality. And all we need is RE-CREATE that reality. For if it never was, then why imagine it even possible? That is my 'take' on 'Golden Age Myths'. They are motivational. Noble lies. A line from an A-HA lyric makes this clear 'If it happened once, it can happen again'. Even though it is a sad love song, about love lost, the point is, that even with a Paradise LOST, there is the 'sleight of mouth' implicit (therefore bypasses consciousness to directly seed itself in the non-conscious parts of our mind that are oh so much more powerfully generative and productive and 'creative') that WE ONCE LIVED IN PARADISE. If one girl could have loved me, if I could have had one great love, then it means love is possible, and it CAN happen AGAIN!

Always Kali Yuga? Well depends. When you send people to a 'correctional facility' a.k.a 'prison' for 'correction', do you ever expect to turn the actual prison itself into a paradise? Or do you expect to keep sending new people in, and merely hope that those 'processed' can someday LEAVE and go back 'home' to live among people who can now TRUST them to 'behave'?

We usually treat 'correction centers' as temporary 'reform schools', right? We don't expect to send 'criminals' to some place, and there reform everyone, and build from them, a new 'utopian community', do we?

The social organisation of this plane-et, which generates most of our 'social' problems, reflects the collective moral TONE of the human individuals on it. It REPRESENTS our individual will, collectively. Go masturbate in private if you like, and tell yourself you live for truth and justice, and will truth and justice, and are an 'innocent victim' of other people. It might relieve you of some frustration. It might be 'satisfying'. But it won't get you anywhere. It's not real. The reality is that you do NOT want freedom and justice and truth.

Of course you want freedom for YOU and maybe YOURS. And you don't want to be the VICTIM of in-justice, or see your loved ones suffer injustice. Sure YOU don't want to BE enslaved. YOU don't want to be tricked or coerced or forced into paying costs so others can enjoy benefits. YOU don't want anyone to be 'superior' to yourself. YOU don't feel anyone ELSE has any 'exceptional exclusive entitlements' that YOU can't share in. YOU don't want to be exploited. YOU don't want to be THE VICTIM. YOU don't want to be tortured. YOU don't want 'curious scientists' taking you or you loved ones to labs to be 'vivisected' and have 'products tested on you', or have your loved one's brains injected directly into your head, 'just to see what happens'. YOU don't want you, or your loved ones, to be taken to 'factory farms' to be force fed, in the dark, until fattened up for slaughter, so OTHERS can enjoy eating your tasty flesh!

But you see, you DO WILL ALL THAT FOR OTHER SENTIENT BEINGS. You at best 'tolerate' this wholesale, bureacratic, cold-hearted, RUTHLESS, SOCIOPATHIC, You FINANCE it and PAY OTHERS to 'do the dirty work' for you. At worst you encourage it and promote it and do your best to INCREASE it, for your own personal profit as a 'businessman' or 'investor' or 'Public Relations Specialist' or 'Advertising Executive' or 'Marketing professional' or simply 'Salesperson'.

Sorry, there is no 'exceptional exclusive entitlement' handed to 'people like you' by some 'god' who can then sacrifice himself for YOUR sins so you can get off scott free. Oh you wish. And of course you raise to the heights of 'authority' and power and wealth anyone who 'sells' you this line of lies as 'religion'.

But you MUST pay for your OWN willing and actions. THAT is the universal law. 'For as you will/do unto other sentient beings, so shall be done unto you'. That is LOGICAL. YOU operate from the position of relative power over other weaker humans, and over all other animals. You can IMPOSE your will upon them. And write whatever masturbatory 'Sacred / Holy Books' or 'Philosophic Treatises' or 'Scientific Papers' you want. As many as you want. Go for it. 'Rub one out'. But you can't 'rub out' your PERSONAL RESPONSIBILITY. OR THE KARMA YOU ACCUMULATE.

Here's why, without any need to refer to anything even slightly mystical. We'll remain at the lowest level of abstraction. Pure inductive science (old-school empirical - evidence-based, Science folks, you may have read about it in a history book?). HEURISTICS. As PRACTICAL as it gets. When 'might is right' and everything comes down to 'the ability to force or trick or terrorise someone into doing what YOU want', then you'd better remember this is a 'war of all against all'. That 'man is wolf to man'. And that everyone will be 'waging war by deception'. What is the logical outcome? What is the recorded history of humanity? Other than slavery, brutality, injustice, violence, and war?

Did all that 'bad' stuff happen by accident? Was some 'devil' behind it all? The same that could trick YOUR supposed 'God' into torturing his 'most devoted and loyal and godly servant' (JOB) and cruelly murdering his entire family', just to 'prove something to the devil'? God was after his 'satisfaction' and the devil tricked him into worse behavior than most credit the devil with!

'The Devil made me do it'? 'It was the alcohol'? 'The drugs'? 'I was tricked'? Really? Poor you. Well, I'm hoping right this moment you are sober. And I certainly have nothing to gain from 'tricking' you. I am quite happy to leave you to learn your lessons the hard way. The way I did. I'm just acting from the possibility that this world IS the only world, and that is CAN be reformed. For as long as I'm here I'll keeping pushing for that. But I'm quite happy to be rid of this world entirely. Forever. And if I hadn't been born here, I can't imagine any reason to 'visit'!

We cannot stop tidal waves. We cannot stop hurricanes. We cannot stop earthquakes. We cannot stop meteors. But these are NOT the daily problems that make our lives living hells. These things might instead make us stop and consider how fragile life is. How precious. How vulnerable we all are. How much we need each other. How much we need to be able to RELY ON each other and TRUST each other. And how precious life is. So that we might enjoy each moment more intensively. And NURTURE reliability and trust in each other, so that if and when some 'natural disaster strikes' we can, together, overcome it.

What we CAN immediately do is REFORM our own will. And then, collectively, reform our society. Starting with our family, then expanding outwards, until the reform is plane-etary.

The very first step MUST be to 'go vegan'. There is NO alternative. Anything else is masturbation. Go for it. Very satisfying. But ultimately 'nothing like the real thing'. Incomparable to what you REALLY want.

Well that's worth asking. DO you REALLY want truth and justice for yourself and yours? I'm telling you there is NO way to get that, without WILLING and GENERATING truth and justice FOR ALL SENTIENT BEINGS. Starting with other humans YOU are more powerful, fortunate, educated, intelligent, talented, richer, and more influential than. Then extending to ALL THE ANIMALS WE CURRENTLY HAVE ENSLAVED AS MERE MEANS TO OUR OWN ENDS. Yes my mother cannot imagine 'where will all the battery chickens go'? Well, dear mother, their lives are short. There are only 'so many battery chickens' because we ARTIFICIALLY mass produce them. Same with all 'factory farmed animals'. Within a few years, they will have lived out their natural lives, in FREEDOM, and we won't even have to kill a single one, unless by euthanasia, for THEIR benefit, and not ours.

We say things like 'He was born in the wrong time', to describe a true 'lover', the ones they write tragic poems and songs about, like Van Gogh, or other tragic figures, who love all of reality equality. Like 'Aton' the sun disc, spreading their rays of love, warmth, and light, equally over all. I certainly don't belong to the current 'ZeitGeist'. I am a man against time, in terms of the Sanskrit 'Yugas'. And I've been actively STRUGGLING AGAINST TIME. Like Hitler. Like Jesus. Like Buddha. Like Mahavira (Jain). Like Orpheus. Like Odin. I've sacrificed everything for this struggle. 'Mein Kampf'. If I am lucky I will get to die fighting. Making no concessions. Yielding no ground to 'the enemy'. Which is SELF-DECEIT. LIES. Most neatly expressed in 'The Ideology of Semitism'. The ideology of exceptional, exclusive, entitlements that come at the expense of other sentient beings freedom, health, self-realisation, and ultimately unnatural death.

I made a committment to not 'reproduce' this world. Which you do any time you reproduce yourself. Via a vasectomy. As a 'man against time' this was something I COULD do. My own child was unlikely to become 'The Last Man Against Time'. 'KULKI' in the Sanskrit 'Upanishads. (Literally meaning 'sit down and listen', which is what I canot get anyone to do!). The last man against time, taking the orthodox line, shouldn't require any assistance, as they are merely the agent OF time itself. The representation and manifestation of the CYCLIC FORCES which produced the AGE OF KALI, and will then destory it, to produce the next 'Golden Age'. If you read my novels, written long before this concept was familiar to me, you'll see my protagonist (me) finds a way to end the age of Kali, and reestablish the golden age (or if you will, generate the first one), with ZERO suffering or chaos. So, acting as 'executive' in the only way available to me, in a story written by me, I was KULKI. Both sun and lightning. But a lightning so 'sun-like' as to be, to those involved, sun. And I would carry through that plan immediately, if I had the 'technology' described in that novel. IF the universe allowed. And my lacking that 'technology' signifies to me that the universe does NOT 'will' this. And practically I simply cannot realise that ambition, so I must return to 'reality' and see what IS possible. At least in theory. At least worth ATTEMPTING.

So I will not reproduce this world. Nor encourage any other to. And when I die, I have no desire to return here. Unless I am 'The man who returns'. And if Hitler was right, that he was 'preparing the way for the man who returns, the final man against time'. KULKI. And that I am KULKI. As I am in my novel. Only a SUN-SUN Kulki. A shiva whose 'ultimate weapon' 'Bapu Pata' produces the most pleasurable 'extinction' imaginagable, from the perspective of the individual being extinguished, and those observing. Read 'Xob S'ardnap and The City of the Sun' for details! Download it at no cost to you. I've already paid a high cost, to 'give it to you'.

Which brings us to the idea of 'detachment' so emphasized in 'The Bhagavad Gita'. Even in violent destruction and war. There is a difference between employing violence for selfish gain, and employing destructive force in the service of all sentience life. Shiva takes no malicious pleasure in his role as 'destroyer'. Nor Vishnu, when playing the role of 'destroyer'. Nor did Hitler, or his National Socialist 'Avengers', the SS, and Wehrmacht, and Luftwaffe, and Bundesmarine. Nor can any true 'KULKI'. The 'man who returns' acts out of goodwill, in good faith, in the service of all sentient life. Not out of malice. Not out of a desire for 'booty' or wealth or power or prestige or status or immortality (ONLY until the next cataclsysm of course).

If you are compelled to defend yourself, to fight for UNIVERSAL freedom, truth, and justice, and act in SERVICE OF ALL SENTIENT BEINGS, then you are acting righteously. But if you are only fighting to remain the beneficiary of slavery, violence, injustice, and lies, in order to avoid becoming its victim, then you are merely self-righteous. A hypocrite. And your 'struggle' is NOT moral and just and true. It is just one criminal fighting off other theives intent on stealing their ill-gotten gains. It is just one slave master fighting to prevent being enslaved by another slave master. There is nothing 'glorious' in that struggle. It is a struggle IN TIME rather than AGAINST TIME. That is NOT 'Mein Kampf'. That was NOT Hitler's, nor National Socialisms.

Hitler's struggle was for universal timeless GOLDEN AGE VALUES of truth and justice for ALL sentient beings. He intended to introduce laws similar to those of the BUDDHIST KING ASOKA, that would extend his already revolutionary 'animal rights' and 'environmental protection' laws, to ban all killing of animals, and all forms of animal abuse. He was truly 'The man who returns'. He was a Mettraya' (Buddha a.k.a 'awakened one'). A genuine 'Messiah'. An authentic 'Mahdi'. But he stated in 1928 that this was not to be his last 'return'. He was not destined to be 'KULKI'. His National Socialism was to prepare the way for Kulki. For Vishnu / Shiva / Mahdi / Jeshua and 'the end of days'. RAGNAROK. Armageddon.

There are elements of Talmudism that follow the philosohy that the best way to 'speed up' the coming of their 'Messiah', at the 'end of days', was by fomenting, accelerating, and amplifying, EVIL. To bring the Age of Kali (using the Upanishad narrative) or Ragnarok (using the Nordic narrative) to its natural conclusion. To call in the Mahdi (Islamic narrative) and 'Messiah (Christian Narrative). 'Come Armageddon Come' (to quote Morrissey!). By acting 'OUTSIDE OF TIME' but employing all the worst elements of human nature, as expressed in 'The Ideology of Semitism', including all the 'Jewish' actors who have occupied all the centres of real power in our world today, as 'Sayanim' (helpers) who, though CONSCIOUSLY ACTING IN TIME, can be co-opted to 'do their worst' and thus speed up our current RUSH to 'the end of days'. Thus these Talmudists are CONSCIOUSLY employing IN TIME actors in their own 'battle AGAINST TIME'. Either that, or this is the masturbatory 'lie' they are telling themselves, to justify the EVIL they do, as 'for the greater good'. Which is what most EVIL people AT LEAST TELL THEIR FOLLOWERS. That yes, what we are doing IS evil, but 'it is for the greater good'. 'The ends justify the means'. Usually of course they do not. There is no 'greater good' they can point to. Look back through history and tell me what 'greater good' has been achieved! And who REALLY 'benefitted' from the 'crimes against humanity' and 'war crimes' all committed 'in the name of democracy and freedom and 'our way of life' and 'the greater good'. And yet, perhaps these Talmudists are genuine. Hitler himself admitted his 'means' would NEED to be 'monstrous'. And yet he was incapable of matching the monstrosity of his enemies. For he was 'TOO MUCH SUN'. He was 'sun and lightning'. But the coming KULKI would be utterly ruthless as Lightning, though motivated by completely selfless motives in the service of all sentient beings, and thus also SUN. As 'the last man against time'. My character doesn't need to be 'ruthless' in a sense. Having stumbled upon a solution that made 'violence' as such unnecessary. But the universe doesn't seem to be as 'creative' as my little markus brain. Go figure!

Yes, and this leads me to find the 'narrative' of Yugas less compelling than my own narrative / model / theory. For I see no need for VIOLENT, PAINFUL destruction, just as euthenasia does away with the need for violent, painful, death. The universe / godhead could simply 'euthanize' any beings NOT fit to live in A GOLDEN AGE. OR better still, simply REFORM THEIR NATURE by force of nature. CHANGE THEM. REFORM THEM biologically. ERASE the will to harm others. To abuse power. ERASE the very possibility of acting on any will other than GOLDEN AGE goodwill and respect for ALL sentient beings.

No, I feel it more compelling to see this world, as we are familiar with it, as we 'know' it, as the representation of OUR wills. And though I contradict myself (as I debunk the illusion of free will in my earlier works), it still seems more compelling. And if there is no way out of the dilemma that we have no free will, and that a deterministic universe or even 'designer' have chosen us to will evil, and suffer evil, then I can only say 'nothing IS better than this'. And either way, if I can find a way out, I am NOT going to play. For the amusement of some sadistic 'technologically advanced being'. Or as the mechanical product of some deterministic universe.

But if we have a 'free WON'T', then I am sending out the call to everyone, to activate it. To STOP what you are willing. To say NO to all forms of injustice, self-deception, other-deception, cruelty, abuse of power, violence, and slavery. ALL FORMS. To take Obadiah's warning to heart, that 'For as you do unto others, so shall be done unto you'. And to not just limit this to 'fellow jews', but to extend it to ALL SENTIENT BEINGS.

It appears compelling to me that no 'golden age' can come about of itself, thanks to some external forces acting upon us. 'The kingdom of heaven that is within you'? Really Jesus? Come on. The WILL of most people is 'A HELL within us'. That is expressed in our every willing and action. And in this cruel, horrific, unjust, violent, mendacious, world as we 'know' it. Those waiting for 'Jesus'(the return of the messiah) or 'QuetzlcoatI' or 'The Mahdi' or 'The Messiah' (for jews for whom Jesus was not he), or Kulki (the return of Hitler for National Socialist true believers) will be dissappointed with the 'controlled opposition' 'Neos' (The Matrix messiah) who simply establish the Cult of Judah as our new, UNIVERSAL, overlords, slave masters, abusers, exploiters, deceivers, and expose us to the CULT OF JUDAH's genocide, brutality, and horrific cruelty.

Which hopefully 'teaches us through suffering' what NOT to do. Making good on Obadiah's warning 'For as you do unto others, so shall be done unto you'. Perhaps only when YOU are on the dissection table, with some sociopathic 'scientist' coldly 'examining you' to 'testing some new product on you' or 'injecting you with some new genetic therapy or 'virus' 'just to see what happens', you might 'see things from the perspective of the victims of YOUR indifference, and cruelty. Perhaps as you lie, inert, defenceless, most of your limbs already removed, as they continue harvesting your Adrenochrome (you must suffer terribly to produce it, so your suffering is 'necessary' and 'unavoidable', as your masters simply MUST have their pleasure and relief!), you might learn some EMPATHY for all the horrific suffering inflicted for YOUR 'benefit', for your 'relief' and 'pleasure', real or imaginary. Perhaps when they 'come for YOUR children' you will learn to empathise with the Cow whose calf is being taken away for slaughter. When 'The Cult of Judah 'treat YOU and YOURS as 'cattle', you might make a committment to personal reform. To reforming YOUR will.

For without the reform of YOUR will you will never be fit to live among any 'Golden Age' beings. They would have to be insane to even consider inviting you to visit! You can NOT be trusted. Your WILL must first be reformed.

And here's the 'solution' to the 'absence of free will'. Nothing new to MY readers and viewers. 'Karma' does NOT require 'free will' to operate. In fact the opposite. It is purely deterministic. When what you express is impressed upon you. When what you will for others, is willed for you. When what you DO unto others, is done unto you. YOU have the intelligence, when you are ready to listen to it, to comprehend the basic equations at work. The 'laws' at work. 'Do the math'. Obadiah wasn't blowing smoke up your vagina. He was stating the universal law.

I didn't REFORM my will 'because I wanted to'. Because I 'chose' to, of some 'free will'. That would be self-aggrandizement. I am Ecco Homo. All too human. You can be grateful. I don't claim to be better than you. But bad as I am at math, even THIS math wasn't beyond me. Call it the second law of thermodynamics for ethics. No need to 'invent extra dimensions' or obfuscate, or even employ lies I will then claim are 'noble'. Nope.

A brain of Markus proportions managed the math. And hey, NEVER TRUST MY BASIC MATH. I keep making errors of the most basic kind, even when shopping. I can work out complex stuff, but when I go to adding etc, I make the simplest of errors. So do not take my 'calculations' at faith. Ever. Check the math yourself. And I guess that's why I also, like most people on this plane-et still, made a lot of 'errors'. Not just ones that were 'masturbatory' in nature or 'self-deceptive' (consciously or not-consciously). But well meaning errors in judgement. Like 'justifying' going back to eating dairy products, because they are so cheap, compared to their alternatives, and with me living in poverty, on a few dollars a day at most.

I have to thank those who gave me credit for what I was (so rare in my entire life) who made me feel ashamed I was 'letting someone down'. When no-one looks up to you at all, and all look down on you, which is usual for me, that couldn't happen. But when someone says nice things about me, it illuminates anything in myself I am NOT proud of. And pushes me to be the best me I can be. And to push past 'excuses' and 'justifications' to really be what I truly want to be. Purely vegan. As vegan as can be.

But back to the point. The math. Mathematicians, modellers, statisticians, what pass today for 'scientists' et al, all find ways to 'fudge' the figures and 'get the results that are convenient to their current purposes'. You can easily SEEK 'ways out' of the universal law of karma. Like people want to be freed of the burdens of PERSONAL RESPONSIBILITY for their own actions, such as their choice to take drugs which will destroy their immune systems and health, or eat food that will do the same, or fail to take adequate exercise, or get enough exposure to sunshine, or expose themselves to toxins, electro-magnetic radiation, and so on. All these actions are responsible for their ILLNESS, DISEASE, and DEATH. But they'd rather pay others to lie to them and say 'Oh now, it's not YOUR fault, you were 'attacked by a virus', and here's the 'cure'. No need to TAKE PERSONAL RESPONSIBILITY for your own health. No way. THAT would require YOU to take responsibility. To eat healthier. To discipline your drug abuse. To stop abusing food. To stop seeking 'immediate gratifications' you know you will have to pay for later. And force others to pay for too, in current systems of 'socialised medicine' or 'compulsory health insurance'.

Yes, so brought it back to the topic of my latest (I hope last) book too. But this post is about the very simplest math you must honestly 'stare in the face'. You have to look in the mirror. Take PERSONAL RESPONSIBILITY. The math is simple. What you will for others you are effectively willing for yourself. So it's not that hard to work out 'what NOT to do'. What TO do might be tricky. Maybe YOU enjoy things I would detest. We don't all want to be tied up and penetrated anally. So don't think in terms of 'Do unto others, as you would have them do unto you'. Think in terms of WHAT DO I SURELY NOT WANT OTHERS TO DO TO ME. That clarifies things much better.

DO WHAT THOU WILLST? THAT WAS NOT A 'SATANIC' CULT SAYING. THAT'S 'SAINT' AUGUSTINE, if my memory serves me.

But think about it. 'What THOU willst'. He's really saying 'Ask yourself, do I want OTHERS to do this to me'?

But back to my 'Do NOT do unto any sentient being what you do NOT want done to you'. It's simple. If we all willed and acted according to an HONEST response to the question 'What do I NOT want done to me', and didn't do it to others, or allow others to do, or have others do in our name, and so on, we would have almost immediate JUSTICE. And as justice requires HONESTY and TRUTH, we'd have truth and honesty. And these would all produce a more peaceful, just, and BEAUTIFUL world. A true GOLDEN AGE. As far as it is within our power to produce. At least within HUMAN Society. And my novels suggest ways we could then extend this to encompass the entire plane-et. As true 'gardeners' and 'gods of a Golden Age'. As benefactors unto all sentient beings. As 'a blessing unto all sentient beings'. Not just human!

So. Until you learn that simple lesson. Until you are willing to 'do the math', I suspect we are stuck here. On this 'reform school plane-et'. And if this is the only plane-et. Then until we learn the lesson, and REFORM our wills and then REFORM this plane-et, we are going to be stuck in this 'Kali Yuga'. This age of darkness, mendacity, violence, cruelty, slavery, war, and misery.

If there were a few powerful vegans, possibly embedded in the Nacash Conspiracy / Cult of Judah elite, also enlightened in every sense of that concept, committed to REFORMING this plane-et using the current manufactured 'crisis' as an opportunity, they could adapt the transparently FRAUDULENT 'COVID HOAX'to their ends. The vegans could simply adapt the 'blank check' of the Covid DELUSION has made available to any would-be 'noble' liar, by claiming 'all animal products are contagious / infectious' as they did with BSE, and forcibly removing these products, so that even those who didn't believe the propaganda, had no choice but to adapt to 'the new VEGAN normal'. That is in fact my hope. Even if most who 'impose' this 'noble lie' and vegan policy only impose it upon 'the masses' of 'cattle', it will be a step forward. An imperfect result adapted to an imperfect world. A starting point for further developments. Time shall tell.

Please read my latest book, and then the complete TROONATNOOR imprint, which I offer for your benefit, in the spirit of the Bhagavad Gita, of detachment, at no cost to YOU, using links posted in my Bitchute, Wordpress, and Telegram channels. I will also soon be 'self-sabotaging' the last of my tiny income by posting the same links in the descriptions of all of my books Amazon has NOT already 'blocked' and banned (making them internationally banned as Amazon was the last to 'host' my TROONATNOOR 'canon').

If you want to help me in my enterprise, while I am still here, my banking details are available on Bitchute

(scroll down till you find the video). Any resources offered to me will be used to continue my work (I live in poverty and probably need to to focus on that work) or for specific purposes if requested. They won't be spent on relieving my poverty or bringing pleasure to my life! Unless you specify that! And who would I be to deny YOU that satisfaction :D

Markus Rehbach
Sovereign of Me would-be 'last man against time', but way too much SUN (unless my novel is prophesy!)
Again, special thanks to Anton Veckor, Benjamin Power, and Mike Hill, in case no-one gets to read the dedications in my last two books or videos.

What does the NaCash represent, and why are the Jews so keen on genociding us?

So. Making videos means duplicating my work, and making much more work for myself than it is worth, because what I can offer can only be attained by reading my books. From cover to cover. All of them. And today 'reading' is considered 'hard work'. Growing up very working class I felt the same. I only read things I 'had' to for school etc. So I get it. Sad fact of life. Few of you will ever read my books.

Well I just made a 6a.m video, directly out of bed, while everyone around me was sleeping, and hopefully were not disturbed. I stood naked in the kitchen with the doors closed. Literally straight out of bed. Barely able to talk. And of course the battery on the phone failed, and I had to repeat the whole thing.

And when you make videos, you then have no automatic 'script' / transcript. So now if I want to be sure to be able to 'save' these insights, in a format that takes the smallest memory space, and is most easily shared and stored, I have to write it up. And it doesn't really fit in my latest book. Might scare too many people away as 'conspiratorial' and 'weird', when that book focusses on straight up medical research, based on 'Virus Mania', but attempting to take what appears 'controlled opposition' (focussing so narrowly as it does on the profit motive, totally ignoring the CONTROL and POWER motive) and using it to 'open people's ear, eyes, hearts, and minds up', so they might, after reading it 'have ears to hear, and eyes to see' 'the elephant in the room', the Nacash Conspiracy / Cult of Judah.

So, the unwelcome insights that dragged me out of bed. Yes they are bound to happen just before falling asleep and while just waking up, for reasons explained in my books. The most inconvenient time for a writer or blogger to have to try to make a video or write up these insights. The 'best' times of day for people like me. About the only times I am really 'relaxed', if I am lucky enough not to be 'migraine-y' i.e on the verge of a migraine, or just getting over a migraine, or worse luck, having been plagued by nightmares (scenarios usually involving being homeless and having to deal with idiots in stressful situations) that produce all the tension and stress for the perfect storm of a migraine, with nausea, cluster headaches, and deep muscle tension (rock hard, turning the muscles into torture devices, my brain to an ultra-sensitive brick of nerve endings).

Yes I've a write to ask for sympathy too. Not just understanding. I pay a high price to do this work I do. And yes I'm trying to save myself. And yes I feel I cannot do it unless I save everyone. If I want my salvation to be on this plane-et. Which is heuristic, as it might be the only plane-et where I can realise it. Though don't complain if I leave this plane-et any day now. This was always on the cards, since I was a child. My desire to leave this horror shit-show of people who have no energy or interest in seeking truth outside the 'hearsay' they were programmed and conditioned with from birth, outside their prejudices and 'cult dogmas', but have all the time in the world to totally, STUBBORNLY REFUSE to even consider anything 'off script'. Off the 'script' of their inherited 'Official Narratives'. The ones continually reinforced in their broad spectrum propaganda they think of as 'news' and 'education' and 'trusted sources' and their 'authorities'. As authoritative as any priest of any cult. It is beyond words frustrating, how capable humans are of simply DENYING that there is even the POSSIBILITY that 'what they've been told is wrong'. Let alone that their 'trusted authorities' are conspiring against them. Pig-headed? I doubt any pig was ever as 'pig-headed' as the average human. Pigs will surely 'sense danger' and won't just 'trust' anyone and everyone that 'looks authoritiative' and 'looks trustworthy'. Surely pigs don't believe EVERYTHING they are told from birth?

Anyway, here's the insight proper. Oh, yes, the problem now is administrative too. Where to include this in my books? Go back and add it to an older book, then track down all the files I've saved and linked and re-save them, using a cracked mobile phone, standing in the supermarket? Do most of you have ANY idea how hard this is for me to accomplish?

And since when does a channel have videos with fewer 'views' than there are 'subscribers'? Why subscribe and not watch the videos? I can't recall seeing any other channel apart from some new Alex Jones bitchuted vids, where the channel has more subscribers than the videos have views? Usually it is the other way around, right? So what's up?

O.K, so the insights. For the record. Does the Nacash represent the constellation CYGNUS (the swan, one of the ancient megalithomania constellations) superimposed over Draco (the dragon / serpent / snake) that 'Orion' is 'hunting' with his bow and arrow? Is there some time-place on earth where Draco would appear in such a 'constellation' with Cygnus? Or some time-place in our solar system? Or is this how the constellations appear from SIRIUS? Or some other planetary system in our galaxy?

Does the snake climbing the pole represent some evil or otherwise, gaining entrance to the stars, like Nasa, with its serpent' forked tongue' symbolism? Remember the serpent cult is the oldest documented cult on this plane-et, documented in stone and massive earth-works on every continent...snakes as symbols for wisdom...but also 'speaking in forked tongues' as in deceptive...like Nasa et al. Snakes on the symbol for the medical profession? Why? In every culture and now universally recognised? NaCash as the symbol for the international reserve currency and thus international finance and banking? Why? Is that symbol representing a python coiled around its victim, waiting for it to exhale, so it can tighten its grip, until its victim can no longer inhale? A slow death-grip? Just like the 'Covid lethal injections' perhaps? Or is the snake seeking to 'ascend' via the cross? Like the 'Jesus-as-Christ-Savior-Messiah narrative? Why would Jesus refer to the Nacash, and himself being raised up, and crucified, on a cross? Was he the snake? Thus the explanation for the Vatican's new visitor's center, in the clear form of a serpent's head?

And now the question, is this Co2vid cult going to be the python slowly but surely crushing us, and killing us? Is this the endgame? To be played out for the rest of time? With constant injections and muzzles and social distancing and absolute control and zero real liberty and freedoms for any but the elite (like the British MPs partying through christmas while arresting the 'serfs' who dare meet in private for any purpose?, while Australian MP's simply 'shut down democracy for 7 months at a time? meeting for just 10 days to 'rubber stamp' whatever new LAWS (the same Jesus rallied against) their Cult of Judah Nacash Conspiracy puppet masters have handed them?).

OR are they going to offer one more, perhaps the FINAL 'controlled opposition FALSE savior / messiah'? Watch THE MATRIX series, and focus on the last one. Pay attention. Neo learns he is just one in a countless series of 'Neo' saviors the program generates, to offer false hope, and to 'weed out' the rebels that might otherwise represent a threat to the program. That he is just being used as a tool. That he (Like Adolf Hitler and National Socialism) is unconsciously and unwittingly being used as pawns in the program's (The Cult of Judah's) strategy. I didn't grab the torrent again, but should watch the last in the series again, in case I missed something. Can't remember if Neo manages to somehow thwart them, and become a TRUE Savior / Messiah.

Yes, but my point, the insight. Be extremely wary of any new 'Trump' messiahs. Any new 'false hopes' being offered. Trump is clearly controlled opposition and if you can't see that yet, it is because you simply don't WANT to, or can't EMOTIONALLY process the information, or are simply too stupid. The last is not your fault.

The others you have to fight against, and I cannot absolve you of guilt for being emotionally too gutless or lazy to face your fears head on. Ask the monster in your nightmares 'how can I help you'? See my books for details.

So watch out. Trump might re-present again in his programmed role of 'great white hope' and 'savior' and 'messiah' and be allowed to DO something. Maybe this Co2vid cult is NOT the 'end-game' but just another 'protection racket'. Though its hard to imagine a bigger BLANK CHECK than their COVID CULT FANTASY THREAT. Its the 'perfect' protection racket. A SECULAR racket. That can mutate indefinitely. An enemy that can NEVER be defeated. Endless warfare. With an invisible enemy that can mutate into 'variants' every few months, requiring a fresh new round of CRIMES AGAINST HUMANITY. Until it becomes 'natural' for people to line up for injections every few months, to live in poverty paying for the economic wrecking and costs of the 'vaccines' and 'boosters' and 'tests', and to have ZERO freedoms and liberties, just the occasional 'privilege', now and then, of perhaps 'a relaxation in the measures'. Or if you manage to gain a higher position up the pyramid, freedom from the 'measures', just as the British MPs who got to enjoy a drunken christmas party while they were having people locked up, arrested, and fined, for simply meeting with friends. Or ex-Presidents who get the entire golf course to themselves, after 'mandating' that everyone else 'shelter at home' and 'muzzle-up'. Or the MPs who get to enjoy empty highways after 'locking down' everyone else.

So the point, be very very very ultra wary of any 'solutions' we are offered. Any 'Neos'. Remember Moses claimed to be leading the mixed multitude OUT of slavery, to freedom, but instead he ENSLAVED them to his OWN will. Then Jesus, another Jew, along with his JEWISH disciples, market themselves as REFORMERS of that system when the people are about to get fed up with it. The first Jewish 'controlled opposition' since Moses. Moses who presented himself as 'opposed to slavery'. Opposed to the alleged Egyptian slave masters. With Jesus now presenting as opposed to Mosaic LAW. And its corruption (though it was corrupt from day one). Then comes Mohamed, the illiterate business man who writes nothing, and whose 'religion' is not even 'written up' until DECADES AFTER HIS DEATH. Another supposed 'savior' completely scripted and choreographed by JEWS. Then of course comes MARX, represented as the SAVIOR FROM RELIGION and 'the system' it is corruptly supporting and 'enabling'. Another JEW. Along with almost the entire SOVIET ELITE of JEWS. Then we have all these JEWS at the CDC and WHO and 'Big Pharma' presenting themselves as 'saviors' from their IMAGINARY NEW THREAT they call 'viruses'. Again, FALSE MESSIAHS.

So unless this Co2vid Cult is the 'end of history' and the 'end-game' of the Cult of Judah, which it does qualify as, because it HAS already delivered on its promise of TOTAL AND ABSOLUTE CONTROL AND POWER, as written into the U.N charter on (YOU HAVE NO) human rights, we might expect a new FALSE MESSIAH to be offered up to us, to put our faith in. Some completely CONTROLLED and scripted and choreographed and pre-selected and groomed and trained and 'wired up' and 'coached' and 'line fed' ACTOR to play the role of NEO in the Cult of Judah / Nacash Conspiracy's program. To lure out any potential rebellious free spirits, so they can be extinguished, exterminated, driven mad in gulags and mental hospital prisons, so that the last hope of freedom for humanity is extinguished along with them. GENETICALLY.

Which brings me to the final point of this already too long post. The univeral, throughout all cultures and times, idea of 'Ragnarok' and 'The Age of Kali' and 'The End of Days' and 'Armageddon' with 'The Destoyer'. Vishnu is his tenth incarnation as Kulki. Shiva in his role as destroyer. The Islammic 'Mahdi'. The Christian 'Messiah' (returning). The Jewish messiah (coming for first time). The Buddhist Maitreya, who will offer absolute truth and justice, and if you refuse, utter annihilation!

And more precisely, the JEWISH concept of GENOCIDE. Ask yourself why any doctrine would command its followers, as Jewish Rabbis do today, on Youtube, to 'Kill every man, woman, and child, and their not-yet-born, and their animals'. To 'rip up pregnant women' and 'dash thy little one's heads on the stones' (by the Rivers of Babylon, the only part of that 'poem' that the Boney M song didn't use!).

Why genocide? What CULT other than JUDAISM openly incites genocide, in the name of their GOD? A god who COMMANDS them to commit genocide? Why?

This brings us to understand the 'racists'. A new 'Golden Age' requires that at least one man and one woman, as in 'Ragnarok', surive the coming 'end of days'. So that they can go on to be the new Adam and Eve of a new GOLDEN AGE at the start of the new YUGA cycles. But if EVERY MAN, WOMAN, CHILD, AND NOT-YET-BORN 'ARYAN' is genocided, this Golden Age cannot begin. The renewal cannot take place. We will be stuck in The Age of Kali. Or time will simply end.

Can you now see the connection between JUDAISM, THE ONLY CULT I KNOW OF THAT CALLS FOR GENOCIDE OF ALL THOSE WHO WILL NOT SUBMIT TO IT, and the longest running narratives in recorded history, known as the Sanksrit 'Upanishads', with their YUGAS (huge, vast time spans of 'cycles' of history)? And maybe understand why the IDEA of RACE might be so important to some people? Why that RABBI on YOUTUBE insists his 'Jewish' followers genocide YOUR nation, utterly, including 'ripping up pregnant women' and 'dashing their little ones' heads against the stones'? Killing every man, woman, child, and not-yet-born of the ARYANS (best and most easily seen in the continued utter destruction of the GERMANIC people, beginning with their nation, GERMANY itself!).

Thanks to Benjamin Power for leading me to this insight. That the idea of 'genocide', the 'philosopical' precedent for which is offered in the west by JUDAISM, and its BIBLE, is not just about 'ensuring there will never be any reprisal for your invasion / mass murder / war crimes in invading and conquering new territory'. Not just 'emptying' the fertile farmlands and cities of 'foreigners'. But in attempting to prevent the cycling of history BACK to a new GOLDEN AGE. For if you are EVIL, surely you want to KEEP THE WORLD AS IT IS. For your personal benefit. So you can continue dominating it. Exploiting evil to your own ends. For there is NO place in any 'golden age', even the ones I could produce, for EVIL. For exploitation. For LIES. For 'deception'. For FRAUD. For slavery. And thus no place for the EVIL people who won't 'do an honest days work for an honest day's pay', and offer everyone else the same 'fair deal'.

Think about it. The idea is as novel to me as it will be to you.

Markus Rehbach
December 18, 2021
Year Two of the Co2vid Cult ERA?
Or Year one of our LIBERATION? And our reconquest of our nobility? And our laying of the foundations for a real GOLDEN AGE?

Some more Freemasonry notes not in any other TROONATNOOR publication Freemasonry et al

Homer's Illiad and Odyssey...Ulyses/Odyseus encounters all gods/goddesses of ancient greece...Goat of Mendes/Baphomet based on writings of Herodotus...

Jesus was 33 when died and his was age of Pisces and said to be awaited in ‘house of the water bearer’ i.e Aquarius some 2600 years after start of age of Pisces ???

110th Congress 2007 when Nanci Pelosi became speaker of house, house resolution 33 recognised that most of the founding fathers and signers of constitution were freemasons...

Masonry: jesus was either a man like us, or the revival of an older legend'... Masons recognize the light,the divine illumination, not the bearer e.g christ, buddha, mohammed ... Grand/Great/Supreme Architect Of The Universe ... Universal ... Washington went to war for freedom of religion (Vs jealous god's first commandment 'have no other god but me')... If god is, he is reason...the absolute is reason...'Age of Reason'... Vs alleged 'divine revelation'... Jefferson put it simply 'We know nothing about (the alleged) God'... Masons recognise Deity and ask for its divine guidance, without specifying any particular deity...you can worship any god you choose and be a mason...Vs Judeo-Christian jealous god of first commandment 'worship no other god but me'...

Jesuits and freemasons/american colonists had common enemy, protestant England...had been fighting against since reformation 200 years earlier...Jesuits controlled East India company, offered company flag as U.S flag...grand union flag...stripes kept, stars replaced the typical 'Union Jack'...Superior General Lorenzo Ricci of Jesuit order provided flag so U.S would be fighting under the private flat of an international mercantile corporation controlled by Jesuits... evolved into 'stars and stripes'...religious liberty offered all religions equality ... but bible'You shall have no other gods' first commandment...King James II Catholic monarch, so 'religious liberty' really to remove constraints on Catholics / Rome / Vatican / Popery ... he was deposed by Protestants as result ... feared Rome / Jesuit intention to regain tyranny i.e advance Popery and all its schemes for reconquering england...but written into U.S constitution ... was it to gain support of Jesuits and Roman Catholic Church? ... darks ages under Catholicism tyranny / despotism...so why model white house with obelisk in front of it on Rome?...and why inside capital building are busts of two roman catholic busts innocent III and gregory IX responsible for great inquisition? ... 'the church makes itself all things to all men, to gain, if possible, the whole world'...Jesuit principle...Ecumenical movement in 86 'prayer for peace' conference...'purpose of peace between worlds religions to establish a new world order' Pope John Paul... Apostle Paul 'for when they shall say, peace and safety, then sudden destruction cometh upon them...and they shall not escape' 1 Thessalonians 5:2-3 (MHR I.E 'TERRORISM' I.E PRICE OF 'SAFTEY' IS TOTAL ENSLAVEMENT)...

Jesus in John 10:32: ...Many good works have I showed you from my Father; for which of those works do you stone me?'...

There is so much king craft, priest craft...and Devil's craft in that world that it seems a desperate and impractical project to undeceive it'.This is all artifice and cunning, yet they all believe it so sincerely that they would like down their lives unde the axe or the fierty fagots for it. Alas, the poor weak ignorant dupe human nature.John Adams

Thomas Paine coined the term 'The United States of America'...'without the pen of Paine, Washington would have wielded his sword in vain'... the fable of Jesus Christ...contends against the gospel...Deist i.e believes in 'god' just not that of any organised religion ..'The Age of Reason'...his book...the almighty committed debauchery with a woman engaged to be married...MHR did he ask her consent? so wasn't it RAPE? ... enlightenment thinkers...goddess of reason exalted on throne...geneva bible 1599 refers to pagans enthroning goddess of reason...reason should govern our understanding not hearsay...if not reasonable to human mind, reject e.g virgin birth of Jesus...unreasonable therefore reject...I do not believe in the creed of any church that I know of...the bible more likely 'the word of a demon, than the word of god...sold hundreds of thousands of copies...after Revolution...Thomas Paine so close to Washington, Jefferson, Franklin...he said he had written a true history of revolution, but destroyed it, to conceal the truth / not disabuse people of their myths...maintain the official narrative...church claim mary 17...virgin birth MIRACLE...beyond 'reason'...n.b CLAIM virgn therefore CLAIM 'miracle'...stubbornly push dogma... call 'word of god'...when clearly books written by mere humans...'We hold these truths to be self-evident' rejects biblical revelation/prophecy as authority of human government...reason should reign supreme...'things of god are foolishness unto him'...yes...but they said it first in bible...won't enter into discussion...Thomas Paine was only one of founding fathers to put his ideas into words, more vocal and radical PUBLICALLY...though reflected THEIR views...German proto-romanticism...aim to recreate a golden age...bavarian illuminati...enlightened one...inner circle spread out into freemasonry, to rise to top, then place own people in key positions of power in secular world...liberty, equality, fraternity, democracy... date at base of pyramid on dollar bill...july 4, 1776 declaration of independence ...year illuminati founded...coincidence? ... illuminati hence elites that co-opted freemasonry...MHR Hitler (was he ZOG?) stated Freemasonry et al all co-opted by Jews... did that come later? ... or was he really agent for Jews, to purge reall 'illuminati' from picture? Alt reason / or ground abused by Jews, for American WWII (WWI could be claimed to bring in democracy, but then why only in Germany?...then why support Bolshevism which clearly NOT democratic at ANY stage?...Paine brought to America by Franklin, within year had published 'Common Sense' which pushed for 'declaration for Independence'...later he wrote Washington's regular speeches (like the Jews who wrote Churchill's speeches, and coached the voice-actors who pretended to be Churchill, who was in alcoholic/drug induced stupor/catatonia most days by mid-day, and ran to safety at slightest hint of air-raid, though being photographed etc and giving false illusion was in London bravely facing occasional bombing raids)...Paine joined up with revolutionaries in France...helped forge new French Constitution...connected at highest levels U.S and France...look at that nose (Jewish?)...Paine made sure had 'witnesses' present at all times, to ensure no-one could claim he had made a 'last minute' conversion to Christianity...repeated attempts from random Christians to make 'death bed conversion'...threatening him with eternal damnation...so ensured 'never left alone' so some such stranger could make such claims...Feared such lies could be spread after his death...Paine claimed there were NO prophecies as claimed by Christians, referring to / prophecying Jesus as 'Christ'...very 'Jewish' also... MHR YOU CANNOT 'DENY' JESUS WAS CHRIST OR TRINITY ETC, CAN SIMPLY BE UNWILLING TO BE COERCED INTO ACCEPTING SOME SELF-APPOINTED AUTHORITIES HEARSAY AS 'GOSPEL'...CANNOT DENY SOMETHING FOR WHICH ZERO EVIDENCE EXISTS...PURE ABUSE OF ENGLISH LANGUAGE...NON-SENSICAL...NON-WORD IN THIS CONTEXT...DO YOU DENY I AM GOD AND YOUR LORD? NO, YOU REJECT THE IDEA AS SILLY. BUT IT IS SELF-EVIDENT I AM GOD AND YOUR LORD, BECAUSE I SAID SO. LOOK, ITS IN A BOOK TOO! GO AND TRY AND PROVE OTHERWISE, THAT I AM NOT GOD, AND YOUR LORD. GO ON! JUST TRY!

John defined 'anti-christ' as anyone who 'denieth that jesus is the christ'...why add 'Holy' to Bible? are there unholy bibles? Thomas Paine never recanted. No death-bed recantation/conversion from this 'anti-Christ'...in fact entire 'founding fathers' were anti-christs, by Johns definition...though most americans 'Christian' at some level... wouldn't have felt comfortable being led by 'anti-christs'...Jefferson drafted declaration of independence...his own letters stated he had no great love for christianity or the bible...so American ideal NOT result of 'christianity'...in fact anti-christs ... American never 'christian' nation...the 'in god we trust' god is NOT god of any contemporary religion...book of revelations 'ravings of a maniac'...'incoherent'...clearly he was not aware of astro-theological nature of all religion, especially THAT particular 'add-on' to the Gospels...Jesus as reformer of depraved religion of his own country...his words diamonds in dunghill of the rest of the official narrative...The Jefferson Bible...'Life and morals of jesus of nazarareth extracted textually from the gospels'...he tried to save the baby from the bath water of the new testament...extract the wisdom, things of value, from the dross/rubbish/dung...rest product of inferior minds...Jefferson denounces Old Testament' where get we the ten commandments...Moses destroyed the original tables..such tricks played with their texts...thus reason to doubt most not faithful...mostly fabric of very inferior minds...can separate easily as diamonds from dung hills... he omits all supernatural elements i.e claimed miracles, resurrection, virgin birth, anything 'unreasonable'...denounces insulting condescenting...so much absurdity, untruth, charlatanism, imosture...separate gold from dross...band of dupes and imposters, Paul first corrupter of doctrines of Jesus...therefore promoted best of bible, what is benevolent and beautiful and true, and rejected most of it...Jefferson encouraged nephew to dismiss 'miracles'... keep your reason firmly on the watch...was Jesus punished for challenging elites, or for proclaiming his own divinity?...

Thomas Jefferson letter to William Short, 1783, writing about French Revolution....'Rather than it should have failed, I would have seen half the world desolated...were there but an Adam and Eve left in every country, and left free, it would be better than as it is now' ... Thomas Jefferson said he hoped the gospel would be done away with in the new world...just spinoff of ancient mystery religions...'and the day will come when the mystical generation of Jesus, by the supreme being as his father in the womb of a virgin...will be classed with the fable of the generation of Minerva in the brain of Jupiter'...But we may hope that the dawn of reason and freedom of thought in these United States will do away with all this artificial scaffolding ... and restore to us the primitive and genuine doctrines'... letter to John Adams April 11, 1823...

54.45 Benjamin Franklin...mocked idea of 'original sin'... free mason... good works required to 'earn' ascendancy...vs 'sacrificial lamb'... apron of masons 'covering of own shame via / atone for sins' like Adam-Eve covering loins...rejects idea of saved by grace through faith, not works...rejects idea all you needed to do was 'believe Jesus was christ' and his 'righetousness' imputed into you... i.e personal resonsibility...declaration of independence written on white lambskin apron of free-masonry...shall be covering when stand at last judgement...i.e 'compensation for sins'... personal responsibility...also buried in same apron...Mormons also 'temple mormons' buried with apron on, their 'covering'... but just wear and believe... 'sewed fig-leaves together and made themselves aprons' THEN GOD COVERS THEM WITH ANIMAL SKINS...GENESIS...FIRST ACTS OF MAN ON EARTH IS SIN, THEN BLOOD, THEN COVERING... MHR THIS IS SUSPECT...WHY ANIMAL CRUELTY? THAT IS SIN ITSELF, IN OLDER ACCOUNTS, WHY WOULD MASONS BE IMPLICATED IN SIN I.E ORIGINAL SIN IS MAN TURNED ON ANIMALS AS PREDATOR IN ORIGINAL 'GOLDEN AGE' MYTHS...SO FOR ME, FREEMASONRY DELIBERATELY MAKES PEOPLE SINNERS...why couldn't it have been a woven apron? THAT would be like 'fig-leaf'...vegetable matter...so...very suspect...puts entire 'freemasonry' in question...especially given (if they are in fact in charge) their record of crimes against humanity and against other animals...Hitler planning to turn Germany vegan...no such references in Freemasonry...and willing to fight so many wars, and if in control, do 911, oklahoma city bombing, etc...

Hellfire club...said to be (? how lame-o)...French Priest Francois Rabellais 'Do what thou willt, that shall be the whole of the law'...later Crowley 'Do what thou willt'...MHR BUT THIS WAS FROM FAMOUS CHRISTIAN, AND MEAN'T DO TO OTHERS WHAT YOU WANT FOR YOURSELF...WHAT THOU WILLT...DO YOU WANT TO BE VICTIM / SLAVE / PREY ETC?....

105 MINS HEBREWS 1:1 defines virology today '...Faith is the ... evidence of things not seen.' which is fine if virology represented itself as a religion, rather than, misleadingingly, as medical science...

John Adams first V.C, second President, helped draft declaration of independence...unitarian...Rousseau and Voltaire anti-christian...Voltaire 'Christianity is the most ridiculous, the most absurd, and bloody religion that has ever infected the world'...unitarian rejects the fabricated doctrine of trinity...Jesus not son of god, or god manifest in the flesh...God is unknowable...the principle of the universe wouldn't come as man to be spit on and put to death by Jews... references to 5000 year old 'Shasta' book of Brahmin theology...vain and presumptuous to seek to perceive god with human reason... vs Matthew ...he that seeketh, findeth...Treaty of Tripoli clearest statement that U.S not founded as 'christian' nation...'The Government of the united states is not in any sense founded on the christian religion' June 7, 1797, Article 11, Treaty of Tripoli...

George Washington...he was a DEIST...he never publically expressed any belief in the christian religion, nor was he ever seen, even in church, kneeling...and left before 'communion' on days when was in church...Philadelphia clergy tried to get him to make public statement which he avoided doing...they wanted a 'confession of faith' to counter the infidelity of ALL the other 'founding fathers' e.g Thomas Paine and the other revolutionaries...he conformed to social expectations by going to church, but had no belief in judeo-christianity...man of few words...when spoke of christianity was from perspective of an 'outsider'...indulged professors of christianity while he himself was no 'bigot'...Deeds not words was path to personal salvation...i.e not Christian idea of 'sacrificial lamb' and 'scapegoat' and 'salvation through belief not deeds/actions'...??? He was baptised into roman catholic faith few hours before death, by Jesuit priest, according to his negro plantation slaves and members of catholic church...Society of Jesus (Jesuit) Father Leonarch Neale was called to Washington's death bed 4 hours before his death, he claimed...Washington's body servant Juba apparently claimed Washington made 'the sign of the cross' at meals... Pope's Day / Guy Fawkes knight...Guy Fawkes in conspiracy with Catholic Pope planned to blow up parliament...'Massa Washinton had been snared by the scarlet woman of Rome'...Pope recently claimed Washington baptism story true... Ceiling fresco uder dome of Washington capitol building shows Washington floating among clouds i.e his 'apotheosis' i.e 'ascent into godhood upon death of great men'...Ignatious Loyola founder of Jesuit depicted in same way in Roman Jesuit churches e.g famous 'Apotheosis of St. Ignatius'... Jesuit donated land on which White House built...

150 mins

Christians 'bogey man' is satan...so of course defined as 'evil', tho really adversary of their jealous slave master Yahweh...so christians call lucifer 'satan' a.k.a 'shaitan' a.k.a 'adversary' and 'devil'...just a perjorative epithet PROPAGANDA... One point up pentagram vs one point down according to Eliphas Levi most influential occultists of nineteenth century...Agrippa fifteenth century occultists ...the foundation book of western occultism...features inverted pentagram of pythagoras...symbol of 5 chambers of tartarus path to higher wisdom...we think of 'hell' as nasty, but means 'bright' in many languages...Hellas even...and Goddess Helle, then Helene, Helen etc so clearly 'hell' nothing like propaganda of our dominant hegemonic cult...for pythagoras, like Dante had to enter 'underworld' to gain wisdom...snakes live underground...most ancient symbol of wisdom... incomplete / broken pentagram well-known symbol in occult...manly p hall ... used extensively in black magic, star may be broken at one point, by not permitting the converging lines to touch...the sign of the cloven hoof, the footprint of the devil...Piere L'Enfant...Goethe's Faust mentions partial pentagram in dialog between Faust and his devil Mephistopheles...'Let me go up! I cannot go away! A little hindrance bids me stay'...'The Pentagram, that's in your way?''You son of hell, explain to me, if that stays you, how came you in today'...'Observe it closely, it is not well made. One angle on the outer side of it, is just a little open as you see'...explaining how he could enter Faust's room, but can't leave without the unfinished pentagram being removed...Goethe master mason / Bavarian illuminati, like Mozart... Year after publication Faust Washington D.C street plans being drawn up...Goethe's hermetic philosohy...unfinished pentagram of 'as above, so below'...because in fact Venus does NOT form COMPLETE pentagram during its travels around sun (from perspective of observer on earth)...when take furthest distances of venus as cycles / rotates around sun over 8 years, female aspect of celestial virgin...five petalled flowers all over D.C ... n.b venus often seen as star next to waxing moon...venus between us and sun so when moves left and right i.e backwards / retrograde motion of venus as returns back towards sun each time reaches furthest ... Golden Dawn see pentagram like DaVinci as 'perfected man'...national archives building D.C 72 columns...heart beats 72 times a minute? sun drops down behind zodiac every 72 years...pyramid on dollar bill has 72 stones...7+2=9 (number of finality) reverse 6 which is number of 'the perfect man'...hypotenuse of 'federal triangle' is pennsylvania avenue ... on which National Archives building features enthroned male with 6 stars above head, and male and female either side overlooking Pennsylvania ave.....national archives figure on throne overlooking pennsylvania avenue is named DESTINY...typical symbolism...THE CATHEDRAL CHURCH OF ST. JOHN THE DIVINE (EPSICOPAL) IN NEW YORK ...that figure with no crown of thorns or nails in hands...instead Zoroastrian figure with robe, belted waist, typical zoroastrian cap on head, arms outstretched...not crucified figure...

2600 years ago Guatama Buddha prophecied that at this time would come into the world another great teacher, a Buddha like himself, he named Maitreya, who by dint of his extraordinary spiritual stature would galvanise and inspire humanity to build a golden civilisation based on righteousness and truth...SOUNDS LIKE ME... Islam has ImmaMAHDI, Hindus Krishna (as avatar Kulki), Christians Jesus in age of Aquarius / house of water bearer /Ganymede cup-bearer of the ancient Greek Gods... silly arrogant ignorant christians call anyone who denies Jesus was christ is 'anti-christ'... 666 was anti-christ Nero which dissolved Roman politics allowing Christianity to emerge i.e 70 A.D was armageddon predicted by John of Samos.../ Revelations...doctrine of Prederism (from latin for 'past')...so prophecies already fulfilled (MHR WOULD LOVE TO USE SOFTWARE TO BACKDATE RECENT ASTROLOGICAL MOVEMENTS BACK TO 70 A.D TO SEE IF CYCLES OF THEM AROUND 2000 YEARLY)... BUT MAITREYA OFFERS CHOICE OF JUSTICE AND GOLDEN AGE OR PERISH UTTERLY... all or nothing...probably personal choice rather than collective...but we shall see...if any human like myself has the power to act on such an ultimatum i.e destroy world if they refuse justice...which they will, have always, so pre-programmed really...if true...1982 Benjamin Creme, English painter and founder 'Share International'...his narrative just described...'The Maitreya about to appear' 'standing by waiting to come into the world at any moment'...

Enoch-Hermes-Mercury...Hermes Tresmajistus...thrice majestic? perfected?... (as in 666?)...

Symbols reveal and conceal...reveal what they want you to 'see' and conceal what they want 'occluded'/'occult'/'hidden'/'secret'... levels of meaning for public, lower initiate, and higher initiate...

MHR your cult members will see the proof of YOUR power everywhere...feel part of that power...feel privileged...and superior...non-members will just see statues and rose-flowers, or interpret via their own cult/education...let he who has eyes to see, see...let he who has ears to hear, hear...esoteric and exoteric...esoteric is true / original secret, exoteric is invented or modified explanation intended for the many/masses/unitiated/lower levels of initiates...e.g 'the sun is god' for serfs/slaves/masses...'the spirit which flows through the physical sun is the supreme deity' for priests...highest level 'the star sirius / dog star is source of that energy... Dog star was everything to the Egyptians...Dog-Ma...Ma of DOG...considered brightest star in heaven...Sirius shone into Queens chamber to cast beam upon initiate during ritual...most evil star too as sirius in late july/august sirius in ascendancy time of drought/lowest level of Nile...July 1776 Sirius aligned with sun in Washington D.C 1848 Sun passed over Sirius as cornerstone being laid for obelisk/Washintong monument... seen on Eastern Horizon, rising over capital building to east of Washington monument ... earliest plan direct South of White house, much more ornate...but calculated weight too great for that location...required more bedrock to support weight of monument...so it was shifted to East...still in North-South alignment with Masonic house of the temple built later...aluminium capstone in end, on simpler design...more Egyptian...N.B Vatican dome has obelisc facing it too...as Scottish freemason castle ... true obelisk single block of stone...Washington monument 'out of many, one' i.e not mono-lithic...pyramidion on top has 13 levels like seal on dollar bill...12 foot obelisk beneath manhole near monument....miniature replica?...like pyramid of u.s dollar, missing capstone...real light shining in East for Egyptians was Sirius...Alistair Crowley was freemason...'Order of the silver star' 5 pointed star is Sirius...represents Sirius...some want to call 'satanic pentagram' associated with dog star sirius since ancient times...'Blazing Star' in Masonry...ancient gnostic term for Sirius...pentalpha of pythagoras build from 5 greek capital 'A's...different Masonic temples have star pointing down, others up...5 pointed stars on flag and statue of freedom on top of White house, Roslyn Chapel 500 years ago...rises in East hence 'Eastern star'...identified with dog god Anubis, guarded gates of death, protector of mysteries...romans 'janitor lathayus' a.k.a 'the keeper of hell'...so associations with 'hell' thus 'devil'... Isis association with Sirius... rising of sirius in east preceeded flooding of Nile...time Goddess Isis would appear and give birth to Horus, divine child of Egyptian trinity...all seeing eye eye of horus...heiroglyph for is obelisk, star, and half circle (ben ben a.k.a capstone of pyramid)...is great pyramid capstone missing? never there? ... light that illuminates eye comes not from sun but from dog-star sirius...hence often eye depicted within 5 pointed star...return of the capstone to signal return of 'the great initiate' a.k.a 'christ'...Mahdi, Kulki (Vishnu)... sun and moon male and female principles shed light on blazing star 'horus' their offspring...

2007 Congress honored freemasons for their contributions to U.S House Resolution 33...founding fathers / signers of constitution were mostly freemasons...Republic a-la Plato's Republic...'noble lies'... Plato's unfinished dialog referred to Atlantis narrative, our oldest known written reference...East Coast of U.S considered by some to be West Coast of Atlantis before flood/younger dryas impact...for Bacon America 'New Atlantis'...religion of Atlantis mystery school teachings of ancient philosophers?...Manly P Hall 'The secret destiny of america' and 'americas assignment with destiny'... 'destiny' is eptithet for male figure on Hall of Records ... founded philosophical research library...composed of books and artifacts collected by Hall during lifetime...Roosevelt was student of esoterics...1942 after Pearl Harbor attack sent people to preserve entire library on micro-fiche as national treasure...Hall sponsored by rich oil millionairess from ventura county...financed his purchases during depression...huge sums to find and buy manuscripts, books...research into founding of america...arcane socieities of ancient world...FDR 'rendevous with destinty'...Roerich rosicrucian and member of theosophical society, mentor to 32nd degree Mason Henry Wallace, Novus ordo seclorum...'new order of the ages' i.e FDR's 'the new deal'...(the new world order)...depression facilitated his 'new deal'...(managed/orchestrated/manufactured/amplified/exagerated economic collapse which led to political climate, wars etc all centralising power in ever fewer hands...Hitler banned freemasonry as 'occupied by Jews'...Hall 33rd degree Mason...Democracy was Masonic idea...adversary to 'divine right of kings'...treason to promote, hence 'secret' socieites...world democracy...'the great work'...world democracy...2005 Bush Jnr inauguration speech 'new order of the ages an ancient hope that was meant to be fulfilled'...skull and bones...idiot puppet president...'bringing democracy to the world'... but requires a 'society of perfected men' for true democracy to work...need philosopher king man of wisdom AND power ... occult promise of a fair world (how was Plato's Republic 'fair'?)...occult just means not visible to everyone, only visible to those with inner vision i.e with eyes to see...Washington's symbolism from ancient pre-Christian traditions, ancient mystery religions...only gave lip-service to 'christianity'... all monuments 'pagan' gods and goddesses...Freemasonry / secret societies couldn't afford to be open...persecution of any 'heretics' and 'apostates' i.e 'pagans'...intitiates bound to secrecy...blood oaths...rosicrucians played major role in development of freemasonry...rose symbol of secrecy...when used with cross hides truth behind public mask...Ephrata cloister first esoteric settlement in new world, connected to Franklin and Washington...rosicrucian...Jefferson...printing of translations of declaration of independence into several european languages done in Ephrata Cloister...translations made by Peter Miller...American philosophical society founded by Franklin 1743 with members founding fathers including thomas paine, alexander hamilton, george washington, peter miller, thomas Jefferson, Marquis de LaFayette, charles thompson, and later charles darwin, thomas edison...continuing tradition of Francis Bacon's concept of 'the invisible college'...Royal society of LONDON emerged decades after Bacon's death...to further Bacon's scientific and 'occult' work...roscicrucians call self 'the invisible brotherhood'...great seal state of louissiana in capital stork feeding young...golden rosy cross Knights templar...squares with red and golden roses...common motif...often with 5 petals in state capital Lousianna and old supreme court and library of congress...represent Sirius...'knowledge is power' in library of congress with statue of bacon ... with golden quote from Bacon 'The Inquiry, knowledge and belief of truth is the sovereign good of human nature'...

Pallas Athena helmet of invisibilty of bacon all over D.C and virginia state seal image of Pallas Athena with foot on tyrant whose crown cast aside 'SIC SEMPER TYRANNIS' 'thus always to tyrants'...Romans called Pallas Athena Minerva...has traditional helmet of pallas athena at her feet in great hall of library of congress, over 15 feet high...spear head merges into sun...'Salon de la rose croix' artist...Satyr in library of congress / pan playing flute...William Butler Yates 'Golden Dawn' rosicrucian secret society... Joseph of Arimethea original beaer of holy grain in some traditions...Dante rosicrucian grand master?...Albert Pike' claims Dante expounded symbol of 'Rose Croix' (Rose Cross)...saintly throng in form of a rose...'Divine Comedy' statue in D.C ... sacred 77th meridian passes through...reason D.C built here...Library of congress figures with serpents for legs and crucifixion 'under the shadow of thy wings, protect us' i.e double headed dragon/phoenix/eagle behind crucified christ...

As Above, So below...figure with one hand pointing up, other down...Hermeticism philosophy...origins ancient...lost empire of Atlantis...Reputation of Solon greek poet and law giver basis of 'authority' for Plato's Atlantis story...solon said got from priesthood of ancient egypt...featured prominently in capital hall of lawgivers...and pediment above East entrance of Supreme court building...showing moses(center holding two talblets of 10 commandments), confucious(to his right), and solon (to his left)...Solon one of seven wise men of greece... Dr John Dee adopted mysteries, taught to Bacon, ancient mysteries of Rome, Greece, Babylon, and Egypt...original source Enoch 'king of atlantis' ... in book of Genesis Enoch 'walked with god'...later transformed into synthesis of various pagan gods and wise men...Hermes to Greeks, Mercuries to Romans, to Egyptians THOTH, esoterica versions of Enoch ... Book of Enoch...system of magic..Enochian magic...Enoch as Hermes most prevalent in mysteries hence term 'Hermetic'...teacher of cult law...thrice greatest Hermes, Hermes tresmagistus...His book 'The divine pymander of Hermes Mercurius Trismegistus'...taught craft of building cities...source of 'Hermetic' maxim 'As Above, So Below'...earthly reflection of heavens / universe...micro and macro cosms...symbolised by triangle pointing upwards, and second pointing downwards...combine to form hexagram 'Star of david'...remvoing base of triangles get outline of square and compass of freemasonry...reflection in water same concept...'the ancient one' 'god of reflections', with arms and crown forming two triangles ...on chest maltest cross forming complete cross in reflection...water pools are 'reflecting pools' before washington monument, U.S capitol white house, lincoln memorial, and supreme court... as above so below led to alignments of human monuments like great pyramids with stars...

street plan washington D.C 4 main planners, then freemason architects of buildings...neo-classical style Ancient Greece and Roman domes...statues mythical figures ancient secret society's / religions...Revolutionary war officers of Washington, french, laid out first street-plan D.C...original plans very precise...very similar to final plan...original designer dismissed when he couldn't get his way..L'Enfant at odds with Jefferson, who with Franklin keen on astrology...Benjamin Banniker Free born African American who'd published famous almanac of astrology...either finisned L'Enfant's plans from memory, or from copies of original plans...then a surveyor took over final design...Washington called final product the 'L'Enfant plan'...

'Federal Triangle' reflection of triangle can form around constellation of 'virgo' ... hermetic principle 'as above, so below'...at time of planning ... symbolises pythagorean theorem too...a squared+b squared hypotenuse...47th problem of Euclid /theorem of pythagoras...hypotenuse equals sum of the squares of the sides othe two sides in right angle triangle...but upright symbolises Baal (male) bottom prostrate/passive female...hypotenuse divine child ...e.g Isis-Osiris-Horus, Asharte-Baal-Ura (?)... i.e ancient trinities before Christian recycling of...Washington placed at Y of Potomac and its Easterly Branch to reflect Pythagorean Y of flattened pythagorean triangle (when draw 'squares' of each side outwards)...10 square miles... (Saturnic number?)...L'Enfants plan may originally have called for alignment of Washington Monument, White House, and Capital building to reflect 3 stars around constellation virgo (like 3 great pyramids giza reflecting orion's belt..to draw on spiritual energies associated with virgo...isis brings forth horus, energies of virgin bring forth divine child...pennsylvania avenue direct line capito building and white house, forms hypotentuse of triangle and thus divine child of trinity...the new age messiah...coming togehter of cosmic feminine and masculine forces...synergy...key to all occult doctrine...positive and negative of yin and yang...apollo and athena of Bacon taken from Kaballah...man and woman complete vessel to hold holy light...esoteric concept of alchemy...al chemia...the chemistry...of masculine and feminine ... divine chemistry...transformation...of lower to higher self (octave!) lead to gold...chemical marriage/wedding...roscirucian 'chemical wedding of rosencreutz'...man divided within self, regains integral nature only when masculine and female reconciled in self...make 'whole' a.k.a 'holy'...Male and Female alchemic principle...God and Goddess and divine child... all over Washington...Male figure one side, Female other, and between is 'perfected man' ... number 6 represents perfected man...boy scout memorial ... founded by freemason ... American trinity...boyscout divine offspring of two god-like male and female figures...requires help from above as 'midwife'...thus align human creation with stars at that time, to receive help of heavenly powers...Pennsylvania avenue even general Mead (Union general won battle of Gettysburg) depicted as standing forward of mythical looking figures...is that worn held either side of medallion of pheonix like angel/jesus/god...pine cone on top a-la ... his walking stick has skull and crossbones and masonic square and compass... apotheosis of famous people depicted on domes among angels...Freedom stands on dome...virgin symbolising purity and perfection...alchemical companion to 'perfected man'...they bring forth the 'divine child'...Supreme court either side male and female, and above liberty enthroned...so this case female divine child i.e 'liberty' as principle...of perfection...Remember Hoover Dam has plaque showing constellations at time of construction to 'date' it for future generations speaking any lanugage...

Paris freemason 'lodge of the nine sisters' members included Franklin, John Paul Jones, LaFayette, and Jefferson and L'Enfant possibly belonged to this or other french lodge thus no records in America of their initiation, and records lost/destroyed during French Revolution...Reagan made honorary 33rd degree mason... HERMES TRISMEGISTUS (HERMES THRICE MAJESTIC? PERFECTED? ???) attributed as coining 'As above, so below' (seems so Marxist !!! i.e 'blame the (star) system!')...

Albert Pike declared true defintiion of freemasonry is an advance toward the light (very Zoroastrian i.e only way to avoid throwing shadow is to become one with light...Lucifer ...Is it is he who bears the light? Doubt it not... idiotic christians etc fail to see obvious 'luci-fer' means 'light bearer' and 'morning star'...and rebel against tyrannical 'god' who set himself up as 'above' all other angels (or is that just the poet talking in Paradise Lost?)... truncated pyramid 13 steps...13 courses of masonry...13 steps on roof of Masonic 'HOUSE OF THE TEMPLE' 13 blocks (cross streets) north of whitehouse... BUT if count two streets thta pass through Scott Circle and not just 'parallel' cross streets, you get 15... number 13 not on American elevators...why? Roosevelt avoided 13th day of month going out, or having 13 people at dinner table...13 leaves in olive branches, 13 bars and stripes in shield, feathers in tail of eagle, 13 arrows clutched in talons,13 letters in phrases E pluribus Unum and Annuit Coeptis, 13 levels in pyramid, 13 stars in Hexagram above phoenix(eagle?) head...Piere L'Enfant planned for 13 avenues in D.C...mystics interpret numbers...everything has a number...hieroglyphic meanings...all systems of religious mysticism based on numerals...last supper judas 13th to arrive then betray christ...Kaballah 13 represents ascenscion mans ability to go beyond the zodiac to ascend above the stars of heaven...Library of Congress 'Too low they build, who build beneath the stars'...for Kaballists number 13 represents Skekinah a.k.a 'manifestation of god's glory of god'...dedication of Solomon's temple ...IN LIBRARY OF CONGRESS D.C 'THE TRUE SHEKINAH IS MAN'...biblical scholars 13 ill omen / superstitious...they refer to the first occurence of the number 13 in Old Testament in Genesis 14:4 '12 years they served Chedorlaomer, and in the thirteenth year, they rebelled'...hence 13 associated with REBELLION...APOSTASY, REVOLUTION...America rebelled when made up of 13 colonies...Franklin master mason, head of many master lodges in U.S and Europe...Franklin coined phrase 'rebellion to tyrants is obedience to god' his proposed seal for U.S...Corner stone for whitehouse laid on 13th October...Hoban took his design from Irish Parliament which was the first masonic lodge in Ireland...Knights templar betrayed in 1307 by pope and king of france...fled to scotland for refuge, hiding selves in masonic lodges...some made way to Ireland, reorganised, and formed power base in Scotland...templars had banking operations in Ireland... 'Killwinning lodge 75 'the high knights templar of ireland'...irish freemason designed whitehouse...date for laying first stone 'the 13th day of october'...friday the 13th day purge of knights templar began across europe...original 'friday the 13th'...Columbus day 33 days sailing before reached new world?...Union Station D.C columbus monument ... 'gave to mankind a new world'...but others had reached new world much earlier...he only got as far as 1492 Caribean...even Vikings credited with 'discovery' of america in ceiling of State Capitol...Leif Erickson 500 years before Columbus...but recognition not of 'first' but of sails with knights templar cross even painted on interior ceiling of U.S capitol...i.e depiction of Columbus' ships...

British Templar 'interrogations' about initiation ceremony of templars etc talk of spitting on cross / trample on cross, worship god Baphomet described in form of 2 headed deity, skull, or goat headed being (goat of Mendez?)...

Two sphinxes 17 tonnes Masonic house of temple cut from single blocks of stone, representing 'wisdom' eyes half closed looking up, and 'power'with eyes wide open...Plato's ideal balance for perfected man...philosopher king requires both...man who has both wisdom and power...Albert Pike Luciferanism...Pike buried in the Temple after digging him up to re-bury in Masonic house of the temple...lived most of his life in D.C, promoting freemasonry...

Scull and bones (or Skull and bones)...transferred to America from Germany...Germany had been home of secret order many claimed behind all wars and conspiracies of next 200 years...American Freemasonry and Roscicrucianism had drifted from European origins and traditions...losing sight of purpose / mandate / protocols, so skull and bones to reconcile American and european movements...concept of revolution...overturning influence of organised religion and monarchies...occult romantic german movements...which Hitler took over...Pythagoras driven from Greece to Southern Italy where he founded brotherhood to transform society...geometric symbols of circle and triangle ... Adam Weishaupt Bavarian law professor and freemason 'inner circle' founded Illuminati ... politicized illuminism'...his book titled 'Pythagoras'... D.C federal triangle represents pythagorean theorem...Pentagon...Illuminati liberal in sense of giving rights and liberties to citizens...inner circle of masons...englightened ones...would spread out among masonic lodges, ensure put into key positions of power...spread enlightenment through world..separate church and state, controls/limits on power of state, emancipate women, (today though opposite UNLIMITED POWER of state and NEW cult absolute power, and women being injected/sterilized/forced abortions etc)... Illuminati founded in germany 1776 same year declaration of independence...date on bottom of truncated pyramid on dollar bill... in roman numerals... MDCCLXXVI... with a match, one does not lift up the world, one burns it...lasted 10 years officially...but rumours etc continued...illuminati trying to take over masonic lodges...to control world...1785 Bavarian government outlawed illuminati...but 12 years later Washington spoke of illuminati doctrines at work in America...plan to overturn all government and all religion...washington clear he was satisfied that it was fact that Illuminati and Jacobins active in masonry in America...Jacobins (JACO-BINS vs Scottish 'jaco-bites?) radical french group that launched french revolution...10,000 people protested in philadelphia trying to get Washington to declare in favor of french revolution...thomas jefferson 5 years american minister to france, ardent supporter of french revolution let his residence to be used as meeting place for rebels led by Marquis De LaFayette...'rather than see the revolution fail, I would have seen half the world desolated'...Were there but an adam and eve left in every country, left free, it would be better than it now is'...Thomas Jefferson...

French Jacobins, instigators of French Revolution, wore 'Phrygian cap' a.k.a 'Cap of Liberty' i.e cap worn from French Revolutionaries...ancient symbol of 'freed slaves'...in famous painting 'Goddess of liberty' 'Mary Anne' is wearing this cap, bare breasted leading charge...cap often depicted on top of staff, as in state 'great seals' of several U.S states...at apex of all circular window frames of Library of Congress, Phrygian cap carved...and symbol of freedom/liberty on official seal of the U.S army is red phrygian cap 'This we'll defend'...usually flopping forwards, sometimes to side...Phrygian cap said to be worn by slaves who had obtained their freedom thus became symbol of liberty...Mithras is depicted wearing this headpiece...a dying god who is later resurrected...occupied place of masonic christ...phrygian cap associated with mythical 'Ganymede' who was carried away by zeus in form of eagle to be cupbearer of gods as so beautiful...later honored by Zeus who turned him into constellation of Ganymede later renamed Aquarius...age of aquarius / new age...jesus look for me in the house of the water-bearer...i.e cup-bearer...3 magi wore phrygian caps in many depictions...zoroastrian wise men...'we have seen his star (while we were in) the East'...Star Sirius blazing star that brings light from the East...we three kings...Magi...or Persians influenced by prophet Daniel who lived in that region during time of Nbbuchannezzar the great...Daniel chief of Magi...magi following his prophecies...Freemasons beleive Zoroastrians following star Sirius...Zoroaster usually shown with eastern headgarment, 'radiant one'...'light of sirius'...though freemasons depict him wearing Phrygian hat...Pentagram 'blazing star' sirius... Pentagon...

The pentagram...lines of pentagram outlined by Washington D.C streets works if consider the 'ring roads' at each tip, but the streets are not perfectly continuous i.e bottom the lines need to be extended through parks to reach bottom 'round park' as tip of downward pointing pentagram, and left hand line from top to left doesn't extend past intersection, leaving long line missing...but many precedents for such 'incomplete pentagrams' in the literature, meaning it doesn't disqualify it from being a 'downward pointing pentagram...but no 'circle' enclosing it, which is 'symbol of good luck' and 'protection from demons'...230.40 mins

Secret Society's rife in U.S...many Presidents etc 322 Skull and Bones 'Bushes' etc...idea came from Germany, founded Yale University, along with Father of President TAFT (who was attorney general and secretary of war at time of founding)...

43 Presidents, 15 confirmed Masons, others suspected of being...laid cornerstones of most famous buildings including 'White House'...seems they were 'cornerstone' of American Republic from Virginia Colony or perhaps way earlier... corn plenty wine refreshment oil joy and gladness Masonic blessing when laying cornerstone...up to 7 levels of meaning in Masonic symbols...corn is dagan in Hebrew as in DAGAN and DAGON (fish god and god of corn) his son BAAL son of Dagan/Corn...corn being any grain or wheat...Hebrews children of Israel offer to Yahweh in Bible...Hosea god gets angry 'She (Israel) did not not that I (Yahweh) gave her the corn, and wine, and oil, which they prepared for Baal'...Phoenicians had own version...strong male with beard / long hair...all over D.C...even with ears of corn carved into hair i.e Baal...Baal once slain by god of death and taken down to underworld but later awakened / resurrected...Haines Point statue of bearded giant rising up out of the ground...'The awakening' (of Baal)...Masonic symbol for resurrectoin is Egyptian Obelisk a-la washington monument...'Obelisk meaning 'Baals shaft' / 'Shaft of Baal'... Real god to whom Masons perform their ceremony...

revealed only at higher levels...their secret name of god / lost word ... 'Jobulon'...Jehova Baal Osiris...not part of regular craft freemasonry...only in additional degree...composite of 3 ancient names for 'god'... Bell / Baal Caananite god in Bible...password for lodge entry Jebulon...doesn't promote specific attributes of god...just general belief in god 'faith' vs religion 'claims you can know particulars about that god'... ecumenical...great architect of the universe ... grand geometrician...great architect...attributes of god ... not 'name' ... Baal in new testament synonymous with 'the devil' a.k.a 'adversary'... for Masons corn wine oil ceremony dedicated to god ...rationalist / humanist / not superstitious...vague... not 'satan worship' as enemies want to claim... let corn, wine, and oil be in abundance among people of the world...

Francis Bacon began first 'secret society'...described America with 20th century technologies e.g planes, skyscrapers...he was proto-mason and proto-rosicrucian etc...huge influence...G is for 'Gnosticism'... 'Mother' of Masonry...Gnostics reject 'Gospels', have own 'Gnostic Gospels', consider self 'real christians'...Freemasonry is 'The Craft'...Tubel Cain 'The first craftsman'...Nimrod with his tower of Babel, founder of Babylon...builders of Solomon's temple...Jesus as human with Mary Magdalene as lover...Knights Templar...Edinburgh's Roslyn Chapel...Mason's trace craft back to Ancient Egypt...home of esoteric teachings...Symbols have multiple meanings, one for public, one for masons, one for highest initiates... Lay line passing through Washington, Baltimore, Philadelphia, New York City, and Boston, 5 key 'American Revolutionary' cities, continues on through Stonehenge ... Washington built on 77th Meridian West a.k.a 'God's Longitude'...rosicrucian's derive from Egyptian...first secret order to set up shop in 'New World' i.e Americas...'under the rose' means 'secretly'...white rose...16th century Francis Bacon top rosicrucian in England, promoted idea of American colonies to set up 'New Atlantis'...formalised mystery teachings into Freemasonry as worldwide fraternity where religion and race irrelevant i.e international society...pro-democracy...Freemason's lead American revolutionary war, designed and built Washington D.C as architects and builders and city planners...often 33rd degree Masons i.e top of hierarchy...'pagan' gods and imagery everywhere...America founded as Freemason nation, NOT 'christian' nation...though had to pay lip service to 'Christian' values...so symbols and statements that might appear 'christian' had deeper Freemason meanings...God mentioned but Jesus left out of e.g Constitution...but all imagery in architecture and 'great seal of the United states' in 1782, occult / egyptian / masonic...secret society's founded America...have guided it from start...Eye of Horus (Sirius)...Obelisk associated with Horus sun-god...Queen Semiramis Statue of Liberty...Deists not Christians...4th of July when Sirius aligned with sun over Washington...Sirius is source of 'Dog-ma'...the 'ma' of 'Dog'...the 'Dogstar' of Sirius (constellation in reality, though we focus on main star)...to bottom left of Orion / Osiris constellation...same as dark-green stone associated with 'holy grail' and 'green stone' and 'Mecca' and LUCIFER...'he who from the heavens fell' i.e meteorite that is green not black...Captain Morgan published book on first 3 degrees of blue lodge freemasonry...3 freemasons killed him and later confessed on deathbed...council of masons had condemned him to death...begged for mercy in name of wife and children...but this could be 'Christian' propaganda i.e hate masons, define 'light bringer' rebel 'lucifer' as 'devil' and 'satan' as 'adversary' of christians...seems clear to me christians work for real devil, and as Gnostics claim, lucifer, as his name suggests 'light bringer', is real 'god'...thus luciferianism of illuminati, whom others claim freemasonry developed out of...Christians claimed Masonic conspiracy against gaining justice for victim/s of masonry...anti-masonic party first 'third' party in U.S, head by former President John Quincy Adams...Government committees in 1830s claimed Masons '...a distinct independent government withinuor own government, and beyond the control of the laws of the land by means of its secrecy'...'It comprises men of rank...in almost every place where power is of any importance'... Remember King James (in Latin 'Jacob') was pro freedom of religion i.e equal footing all religions, including Jews, Catholics, Islam, but 'Protestants' were against this, saw as ploy of Papists...His 'Jacobite' rebellions later became American revolutionaries...number 13 all over 'dollar bill'...number for 'rebellion' e.g 'Lucifer' as most 'famous' rebel of all...rebelled against 'God' ... American Revolutionary War lead by Masons...e.g George Washinton and many of his Generals...Boston Tea Party raiders of English tea ship were Bostonian Masons...Paul Revere 'The British are Coming' prominent Mason...The most famous signatories to the Declaration of Independence Masons e.g Benjamin Franklin, Thomas Jeffersen... 33rd degree masons from France...Hellfire club first to use 'Do what thou willt' 100 years before Alistaire Crowley...1764 England 'Currency Act' outlawed creation of American's own money, made them pay taxes in gold/silver coins, plunged American into deep depression...American had been printing own, debt-free, money...led to unemployment and economic upheaval...real root cause of American revolution...King louis supported Americans...LaFayette was French freemason...Benjamin Franklin initiated Voltaire into Freemasonry...Voltaire inpsired French revolutionaries...many French who fought in American war of indepdendence fought in French Revolution...Thomas Paine another Freemason fomenting 'virtuous revolution' against monarchs e.g against King of England, then France...Benedict Arnold was mason who sided with British...modern masonry 1717 London Grand Lodge (Mother lodge) of all English speaking grand lodges owe warrant and allegiance to The Grand Lodge of England...though Francis Bacon established masonic organisation much earlier...with 'New Atlantis' objective...died 1626...known as 'the father of modern science' and 'the grandfather of the English Enlightenment'...thru science / knowledge man could transform world and himself into highest state of enlightement...idea of 'perfected man'...extremely influential...Jefferson felt was fulfilling Bacon's dream of 'New Atlantis' when founding American Republic...tho history books of America never mention him...his influence today still felt through freemasonry...Bacon lived under Queen Elizabeth (the first)...made Lord Chancellor...'the invisible college'...'a society that observed all things but was known by no-one'...Bacon called himself 'the herald of the new age' an epithet given to 'Elijah' (the man who returns in Judaism)...In masonry the right angled triangle interpreted so: Base feminine divine mother, Left side the divine father, hypothenuse the 'divine child' or 'masonic christ' who delivers man through science/knowledge...restore man to paradise ...master of the Kaballah, originally given to Enoch,the great initiate and king of Atlantis...which came to us via Egyptians then Moses/Hebrews...man perfected to god-like being, hand in hand with building paradise on earth...Bacon promoted basis of 'experimental method' i.e versus mere 'deductive reasoning from dogma'...induce ideas from experiment / nature ... rather than just speculate and argue/debate...set out to develop a 'scientific method'...had to overcome stubborn traditions in academia e.g debate how many teeth a horse had, rather than grab a horse and count for themselves...wanted to relieve poverty and sickness...a world paradise...principle of experimental method of modern science...starting with physics then working up towards meta-physics...i.e argue from first principles...'heard heavenly voice which gave him his life's work'...had to remain secret to protect from authorities...thus 'rosy cross' secret society...keep secret from church...al-chemy means 'the chemistry'...sought to communicate with 'angels and demons' to learn their secrets...Queen Elizabeth came to power during peak of conflict between Catholics and Protestants...put in jail by own sister 'Bloody Mary'...while in tower formed friendship with 'Dr John Dee' (The Magus mathematician and astrologist to Queen Mary Tudor imprisoned under suspicion of sorcery)...later Elizabeth Queen, and Dee had contact with Bacon in Court of Elizabeth...did Dee mentor Bacon?...Science entering Europe from outside threat to church, had to be discussed secretly, or be persecuted...Dee claimed contact with good and evil 'angels' i.e 'messengers'...worked with medium named Edward Kelly who contacted spirits for Dee...Angels tried to persuade Kelly that Jesus was not god, sin did not exist, and man's soul simply moves from one body to another...Kelly thought it must be an evil spirit communicating this!...Dee built instruments for and trained first British navigators...made own maps...the original 'Wizard' e.g 'Prospero' and 'Dr Faustus' and 'Dumbledore' and 'Gandalf' and 'James Bond'(original 007 was John Dee working for Queen Elizabeth i.e how he signed his reports to Queen i.e 007)...Dee thought America was 'lost continent of Atlantis'...Queen Elizabeth brought dream of colonizing America closer to reality...as Queens astrologer calculated best day for Queens coronation after 'Bloody Mary's death...Queen Protestant...Pope Pius 5th excommunicated her in Papal Bull = Papal blessing to invade and conquer England for Catholicism...spies and assasins from Rome led to counter espionage etc, with original 007 Dr John Dee, and Bacon ... Rosicrucianism heart and soul of 'New Atlantis', 'Land of the Rosicruciae' (Bacon's book)...different secret society's over thousands of years have used rose and cross as symbols...rose symbol of secrecy as in 'sub rosa' meaning 'under the rose' i.e 'in secret...cross to some symbolises christianity, but clearly much older...MHR clearly 'christians' demonise lucifer, but as world so evil, clearly evil dominates, and clearly church so evil, and logic of inversion would be to define real god as 'devil', if evil ruled world, as it does...so...Bacon's idea to transform world through knowledge...Bacon worked to reform English language to make communication clearer...at his time English Saxon Dane Norman French etc English real muddle...Latin was used by writers...but agreed needed to refine 'English' language so could write in 'English' as agreed England was to become great nation etc...coined new words in literary works, plays, poems, etc explosion of English literature during Elizabethan era...2000 books in Bacon's scriptorium i.e scribes he paid to write for him...to translate classic books into English...from greek, latin etc...had printing press, entire book factory...to increase literacy of English publish...printing presses to reduce price...prepare people of old world to colonize the new...Inspired in youth when in France by exapmple of the French poets...who were working to make French suitable for literature/poetry etc...Bacon wanted to do same for English language...studied law, formed beginning of own secret literary society 'The knights of the helmet'... Pallas Athena's helmet (of invisibility / secrecy) and shook her spear in the face of ignorance, ruling through intellect and wisdom...so Pallas Athena inspired him to secrecy ... to act like god and 'work in secret' and express himself via theatre, rather than directly...not seek 'popular applause' ... did he write behind pen-name 'Shakespeare?' ... Appollo and Pallas Athena both 'Shakers of the Spear'? a.k.a 'Shakespeare', shaking spear / lance at the eyes of / dragon of ignorance...Originally playwright signed Shake-Speare, then hyphon removed...Shakespeare the man could barely sign his 'mark' on the few documents found, and NO letters to or from him, and no experience of the things he is supposed to have written about...just an actor, maybe director...nothing to indicate he was that articulate and precise...so seems best bet is Bacon was real 'Shake-Speare'...but 'knights of the helmet' his literary society may have worked together, some paid, some voluntary...why did he have so many people working for/with him? maybe working on famous plays we attribute to an unlikely actor-director-playhouse manager...Mark Twain was convinced was Bacon NOT the actor, after spending a lot of money on research-detective work...during his lifetime the actor was not acclaimed in any way, until several generations later...The 'Great Folio' was put together 7 years after actor's death...Ben Johnson was friend of both bacon and actor...allusion to Shakespeare simply being paid 'mask' for Francis Bacon...the page under his hand is as blank as the look on his face...suggesting 'he wrote nothing'...'Looke not on his picture, but his booke'...he could barely write his name...unfamiliar with even use of a pen...clear in few signatures of him that survive...Baconian and roscicrucian symbols (ciphers) used in early Shakespearean works and final 'folio'...in the 'headpieces' on the title pages...Shakespearean plays developed up to 20,000 words for English language i.e refined / reformed English language...coined some new from foreign, updated-revived some, contemporary words used in new ways...almost illiterate actor capable of this?...Rituals of masonic order and teachings of masons / rosicrucians written into the plays?...wisdom of mystery religions?...1308/9 Knights Templar (of the Temple of Solomon) officially banned by Pope etc in Europe then England...many escaped to Scottland...William St. Clair descendant of head of Templar order built chapel for his famous ancestor in Edinburg, built Roslyn Chapel...full of secret society symbolism...Gnostic principles...Rosicrucian and Freemason symbolism...lots of 'green men' represenation of ancient fertility god...including a 15th century chapel window frame with 'Indian Sweet Corn', finished around 1492, same year Columbus 'discovered' new world...Aloe Vera plant also carved along arches...Trefoil / Clover also depicted...none of which known in Europe until after 'discovery' of the 'New World' i.e 'The Americas'... Did Templars sail to New World after criminalised in Europe? Said to have escaped with great fleet of ships never seen again...Columbus holding left hand on breast like Napoleon 'suggesting secrecy', and Columbus' ship sails bore Templar crosses ... Columbus wife daughter of famous Templar family, may have had access to maps etc ... Even before columbus secret societies aware of 'New World'... Francis Bacon, like myself, took upon himself the mission of 'reforming' mankind in preparation for building paradise on earth...as herald of a new age (epithet of Elijah 'the man who comes back' to prepare people for the coming of the messiah / christ)...

Dog Star Sirius...as above, so below...'America reflection of Sirius'...Freemasonry's 'Blazing Star'...G stands for 'Gnostic'...'the lost word of masonry, holdy chalice, potentiality of the age to come....strive for the chalice and the flame above it...the chalice is the holy grail, a feminine symbol for perfection...Roerich's paintings of 'flaming chalice'...various entities from Oriental and Holy Grail traditions/myths...zoroastrian flame in large chalice i.e Zoroastrian Temple Chalices bearing flames tall as man... 20s Roerich's patron Horch, v.

wealthy...'Master Building' built for him...'peace banner' and 'peace pact' ... three dots in triangle formation his 'sign'...either almost touching, or forming 3 points of triangle...which can be 'seen' surrounding astrological constellation of Virgo i.e 3 stars can be joined to form triangle...though the right angled triangle seen throughout masonry symbolism and Washington D.C street plan diffrent...on top of 'Master' building is what may have been meant to be recreation (modernistic style) of a mountain-top cave in Tibet/Himalayas for Buddhist monk etc...kind of 'temple' or 'meditation room'...Now a boring but 'GREEN' door with number 290, locked...but standing on roof looking at the room from outside can see 'shape' of 'chapel'... sort of cubist representation of craggy mountain peak in staggered layers...as if architectural representation of one of Roerich's paintings titled 'Arhat'...showing buddhist monk meditating in cave just below very peak of mountain top... Arhat is Buddhist's highest level of enlightenment (at least in some traditions)...the utlimate goal of nirvana... St. John the Divine largest cathedral in world? in N.Y? much of which was built during FDR's administration...At front is cross on top of triangle formed by the entry to church, so it stands before the 'rose window' making it a fairly obvious outside rosicrucian symbol i.e cross and rose...oddest is 'cross' hanging over altar which is NOT 'Christ Crucified' as usual...but rather a Zoroastrian looking figure simply holding out arms to match usual cross symbol, but NOT crucified at all, just holding arms outstretched, with halo round back of head, and entire figure 'backed' by a cross with circle from top of head to hips, so from distance takes on general outline of a typical 'cruficied jesus' but the headgear, robe, and beatific face with beard and long hair clearly Zoroastrian and NO hint of 'suffering' ...and upside down cross in an alcove monument to firefighters murdered by U.S and Israeli government during 911 false flag terrorist operation...pulpit has phoenix carved in it...carvings of George Washington stands near one of Shakespeare BUT BUT BUT a Saint Alban (Epithet given to Sir Francis Bacon) and Bust of Shakespeare...seal on floor 'GLASTONBURY 'THE HOLY GRAIL' WITH FIERY CROSS WITH TWO CHALICES LEFT AND RIGHT UNDER LEFT AND RIGHT HORIZONTALS OF CROSS...each slightly different as if 'masculine' and 'feminine'...

Many traditions that 'Holy Grail' dates back well before Jesus narrative, to time of Atlantis...ante-deluvian world...pre-great flood/Younger Dryas cataclysm...Percival was v. important to Hitler...Hermes possessed magic stone associated with holy grail, and Hercules possessed a heavenly stone and a special cup he carried it in...Pillars of Hercules used as symbol for 'achieving greater knowledge' by Francis Bacon...

Rothenburg casket delivered to Roerich in 1923 while staying with wife in Paris hotel suite in pine box...sent from 'bankers trust' from 'MM'... claimed contained 'stone'...mystique attached to ... 'sacred casket bearing 'the stone'...it and other artifacts from India said to be placed in cornerstone of 'Master' building...big deal lots of representatives from around world governments, even einstein sent 'tribute' lauding building and Roerich etc...luminaries, notables, incl. Henry Wallace who LATER became secretary of Agriculture that funded Roerich's travels supposedly seeking drought resistant grasses, then ultimately Vice President (though really appeared he was going to be his party's nomination, when the whole show suddenly shut down, then next day Roosevelt was 'nominated'...very suspicious and notable proceedings I've commented on in Bitchute Video...

Maitreya 'last messiah' 'final deliverer' 'last incarnation of Buddha', '10th incarnation of Vishnu a.k.a 'Kulki', 'world messiah', answer all expectations of all world religions in one avatar/incarnation...New Age belief Maitreya true christ and Jesus was just his disciple...Jesus was christ from baptism to crucifixion?...Maitreya ready to come into the world at any moment...Master Meriah channelled by Helena Roerich...the stone cometh...the serpent's stone...await the stone...it is a most grevious error to deny the stone...Roerich's paintings of universal archetypes...piece of stone placed in cornerstone of 'Master' building acc. to letter...'burning casket' 'stone of wisdom', 'Chintamani' in Sanksrit, 'ultimate treasure of the world...Lapis exillis (the exiled stone a.k.a 'wandering' stone MHR Marduk/Nibiru), Called Lapsit Exillis in Wolfram von Eschenbach's grail legend novel 'Parcival'...in which he also wrote 'the stone is also called the Grail'...Lapis Latin for 'The Stone'...Moldovite green/emeral meteorite...'The stone they call 'the grail'... is American Eagle mythical pheonix...Eschenbach writes in 'Parcival' that 'by virtue of this stone, the pheonix is burned to ashes, in which she is reborn'... IS U.S DOLLAR TO BE 'BURNED' AND ARISE ANEW AS NEW WORLD CURRENCY?

Great seal placed on dollar bill in 1935...

ORDO AB CHAO (does it mean we create deliberate choas to get our 'order' in power? or are they claiming to represent order themselves, with the current situation being 'chaos'?)

U.S dollar international reserve currency...

Jacobite rebellion...Chintamani stone...unites Eastern and Western mysticism...artefect key to achieving 'great work' of all secret societies...A holy grail from Sirius brought by missionaries to help precipitate a one world civilisation...part of which become KAABA...part given to League of Nations (became U.N)...stone as holy grail key role in perfection of humanity...divine power ancient symbol of perfected and regenerated man whose divine nature shines forth...was part of stone brought to Colonies as 'foundation stone for America' brought by Jacobites in 1715 after their failed rebellion...Jacobus Latin version of 'James'...they sought to restore King James and house of Stuart to throne...James had proclaimed that all religions should be embraced by Church of England i.e freedom of religion...incl JEWS, muslims, Quakers, Presbytyrians, Catholics ... Ecumenical...Protestant English rejected this seeing it as plot to reestablish Catholic Popism, so deposed King James II in 1688, succeeded by William of Orange...Jacobites mostly Scottish highlanders...1715 Preston rebellion, many Jacobites arrested and exiled to America after failed rebellion...entire families that became part of American revolution later...many notable freemasons...long history of secret socieities...Knights Templar said to have hidden selves within Masonic lodges of Scottland...Alfred Pike developed ancient and accepted scottish rite of freemasonry which became most powerful lodge in U.S...Hugh Mercer 'unsung hero of American revolution'...Jacobite doctor..1746 Battle of Culloden fled to America served as close personal advisor to George Washington...some believe he suggested christmas crossing of Delaware river in 1776 ... later descendant WWII General Patton...Fredericksburg Virginia lodge member along with Washington and Monroe, at least 8 served as Generals in war of independance/revolutionary war, and two became Presidents...Chartered by Grand lodge of scotland...Jacobite uprisings referred to as 'rebellions'...earlier contender for 'The Great Seal' was Jacobite motto Rebellion to tyrants is obedience to god...consider this in context of 'Satan' / 'Lucifer' as 'rebel'...white rose was traditional Jacobite rose...dagger with pentagram in middle with sun it its center...as venus rotates around sun over 8 years its furthest extant each cycle form a pentagram (or almost?)...so rose became symbol of rebellion...with the rebellious angel lucifer most famous archetype of 'rebellion' Vs Jesus 'turn other cheek' and 'love they enemy' and 'servants obey thy master' and 'jealous god' demanding total obedience...so clear the 'god' of freemasons / jacobites would be Lucifer, not 'god'...Jacobites swore oaths 'sub rosa' under a single white rose...'under the rose'...in stone often 5 petalled rose to signify same...'the greatest rebel of all time' is lucifer...rebelled against God!...1296 did Scots hide real stone of destiny from English and bring to America?...where Jacobite revolution finally successful i.e after several false starts in England / Scotland, finally successful in America...142 mins...

L'enfant triangle hypotenuse is 'masonic christ'...47th proposition of Euclid (Pythagorean triangle?)

'America B.C Ancient Settlers in the New World' by Harvard Professor Barry Fell claims to have evidence of 800 B.C.E European presence in North America...including carving of 'The all-seeing eye of Horus', and coins...travellers from spain, libya, carthage, rome, egypt, along with druids and Celts.

Eye Of The Phoenix notes

Great Seal of U.S handed to Jefferson by hooded figure in the night?...Truncated pyramid with all-seeing eye on top...Roerich-Wallace-Roosevelt...U.S Dollar Bill...Owl totem symbol of Illuminati on dollar bill, and statue at Skull and Bones' Secret Grove ceremonies and in Washington D.C street plan...Freemasons...Hexagram (six pointed star) of 13 stars 20th century addition...originally just 13 stars i.e colonies at time...13 arrows, 13 letters in U Pluribus Unum etc...13 tail-feathers in Eagle (really Phoenix that will die/burn then resurrect!)...1782 Charles Thomson's written description submitted to Congress...but most significant added later ...incl. Hexagram arrangement of 13 stars by Roerich-Wallace-Roosevelt...Bacon was financial backer of Virginian Colony wrote 'The New Atlantis' (and possibly teamed up with many writers as 'Shake-Spears')...All seeing eye placed 1935 on back of dollar bill by Roosevelt (With Jewish Treasury secretary and Wallace as Vice President)...Manley P Hall's esoteric library collection microfiched by Roosevelt's government as 'national treasure'...Secretary of Agriculture Henry ASGARD Wallace later made Vice President...Wallace 'the swami'...dabbled in occult, cast horoscopes...FDR defended him 'He's not a mystic, he's a philosopher, he's got ideas, he thinks right, he'll help people think'...Wallace suggested great seal be placed on back of dollar bill...Nicholas Roerich...styled self as orientalist / wise man ... Russian painter and mystic...mentor to Wallace?...reason for Wallace's suggestion?...all seeing eye on top of truncated pyramid...'Shield' around '1' is 'Rotschild' of 'Rothschild'...Novus ordo seclorum 'the new deal of the ages' or 'the new world order', novus new, seclorum 'of the world', ordo order...Wallace freemason / Rosicrucian...but many ways to interpret words in Latin...'The New Deal' was Roosevelt's interpretation...all seeing eye the great architect of the universe...Roosevelt and Wallace 32 degree masons...wanted seal on dollar bill not coin...Henry Morgenthau Jewish Secretary of the Treasury at time agreed...13 steps on pyramid, 13 letters in Novus ordo seclorum and E Pluribus Unum...

Interesting esoteric students speak of 3 levels e.g sun as god (for masses), Energy-light of sun is god (Priests) and 'Energy-light' i.e PLASMA that is feeding sun as capacitor is source/godhead, for the elites i.e they don't use terms plasma or capacitor, but that is 'Electric Universe' model of sun...dark plasma is absorbed by sun, which acts as capacitor, stores plasma energy, then discharges out into solar system...Roerich nominated thrice for Nobel Prize, had wealthy sponsors who built him a 34 story building in N.Y... N.B 13 for me is 'octave' i.e higher ethical tone i.e death of previous octave, birth of new octave...also sun is 13th at center of 12 astrological 'houses'...to Freemasons apparently represents 'rebellion'... including 13 rebellious states in American revolution...Roerich sought legendary city of Shambala in Himalayas...connected with Maitreya i.e final 5th Buddha / Kulki a.k.a 10th incarnation of Vishnu / Islamic Mahdi / Messiah etc, and new age of peace, brotherhood, and enlightenment...Henry Wallace ran for President...sabotaged by 'expose' of his 'esoteric' beliefs via his correspondences with Roerich (like Nixon got sabotaged by media)...theo=god sophy=wisdom so 'wisdom of god' = Theosophy... Roerich claimed to have been sent, in 1923, from 'Bankers Trust', in a casket, a Chinatmoni (stone of wisdom) pillow stone Jacob said, in Torah, to have dreamed of a ladder between heaven and earth with angels ascending and descending a.k.a 'Jacob's Ladder' he had used as a pillow during that dream known as 'Betel' stone (as foundation stone for town of Bethlehem), green 'stone of destiny'connected with Mecca pilgrimage stone...Jacob's ladder figures often in esoteric literature...maybe referred to a pyramid...Jacob is said to have taken stone and set it up for a pillar for god's house...Did prophet Jeremiah take stone to Scottland? is it same stone Scottish Kings are crowned on?...'Stone of Scone'...'The Stone of Destiny'...1296 King Edward I of England took it to Westminster Abbey for crowning of English Monarchs...Queen Elizabeth 1953 last monarch to be crowned on chair built to house it...was it then returned to Scottland?...officially inside Edinburgh Castle, Scottland...but is it the real one? Nacash symbol on entrance to Castle and 'Stone of Destiny'...so what was sent to Roerich?...Is the official one a fake?...did English get fake and real hidden by Scotts?...where is it today?...most occult societies refer to as 'philosophers stone', holy grail e.g stone of destiny in Parcival his novel involving 'the holy grail' where Eschenbach claims 'the stone is called the grail'...moldovite green meteorite ... 'fell from heaven'...i.e 'Lucifer' fell from heaven after war with 'god'...SAID TO COME FROM THE DOG STAR SIRIUS...THE BRIGHTEST STAR IN THE HEAVENS...'THE BLAZING STAR'/PENTAGRAM OF FREEMASONRY...ORIGINAL ARCHITECTURE WASHINGTON D.C ALIGNED OBELISK (LATER MOVED TO MORE SUITABLE POSITION) WITH WHITE HOUSE AND SIRIUS RISING BEHIND THE SUN...SUN IN CONJUNCTION WITH SIRIUS ON FOURTH OF JULY...EYE OF SIRIUS IS ALTERNATIVE EPITHET FOR 'ALL SEEING EYE OF HORUS'...HORUS OUR SUN, SIRIUS CONSIDERED 23 TIMES MORE POWERFUL THAN OUR SUN...SUN AND SIRIUS TOGETHER FORM 'THE EYE' I.E PUPIL AND EYE...ON 'INDEPENDENCE DAY' SUN AND SIRIUS IN THIS CONSTELLATION AS 'EYE' RISE BEHIND WHITE HOUSE, WHICH IS 'BEHIND' OBELISK...WHICH THEY WANTED TO ERECT IN DIRECT LINE, BUT HAD TO MOVE OFF CENTER TO FIND SUITABLE GROUND TO SUPPORT IT... SO EYE OF SIRIUS IS MASONIC LORES 'ALL SEEING EYE' HOVERING ABOVE UNFINISHED PYRAMID ON DOLLAR BILL... SIRIUS RISES IN EAST BEHIND SUN, BUT SERVES AS PUPIL IN 'EYE' AS MUCH STRONGER / MORE IMPORTANT...OUR SUN IS OUR SOURCE OF LIGHT, BUT SIRIUS TRAVELLERS BROUGHT ANCIENT WISDOM TO US...first level of meaning of 'sun' is supreme deity, second level is 'spiritual energy that flows through sun is supreme deity' and third level higher level understanding is that sun is not supreme deity, nor is energy flowing through it, it is really the DOG STAR SIRIUS...whose appearance corresponds with flooding of Nile etc... (MHR electric universe plasma streams feed sun as capacitor would be third level)...

Legend of The stone that fell from heaven, jewel cut from the crown/coronet of Lucifer by Archangel Michael during their battle...stone of destiny...crown jewel of Archangel Lucifer... out of lucifers radiant gem was fashioned the holy grail out of which Jesus drank at last supper... one tradition asserts green stone was cut into parts, one fashioned into the grail, King Solomon fashioned a ring from one part, and third part became 'Kaaba' stone of Islam (hence veneration of color green)...another became 'Hermes emerald tablet' ...Hermes Trismegistus (Thrice great)'s 'emerald table'...'that which is below is like that which is above'...'the philosohper's stone'...cut from the crown of lucifer...(makes sense if some impact / interactions led to part of a meteor falling to earth !)...Karl Jung said to have dreams about 'the green tablet'...some traditions that the stone bounced off Cain's head as it fell to earth, leaving 'The mark of Cain'...a scar on his forehead in the shape of a red serpent... Lapis (Roerich and Manly P Hall) vs Lapsit (Eschenbach) Exillis...H.P Blavatsky (Helen cofounder of theosophical society) asserted that the true god is Lucifer (conclusion I came to on my own decades before finding idea anywhere else)...Roerich working in Asia to bring about a Buddhist confederation and ultimately one world government...while on FDR/Wallace official mission to find drought resistant grasses / seeds to combat 'dust bowl'...promoting 'Asian Union' as Buddhist theocracy, similar to EEC etc...

Jews believe 'pillow-stone of Jacob', 'stone of destiny', 'foundation stone' was kept in original King Solomon's Temple in Jerusalem, on the mount...and essential before final temple can be rebuilt there...required to conduct final rituals...return of any existing articles from orignal temple must be returned and go to use again in final temple...if artifact known to exist, must be present before can consecrate etc...

Illuminati...Adam Weishaupt...perfection of human society...secret for protection...revolutionary agenda...defined Lucifer as true 'good guy' and 'god' as 'bad guy'...

Druid means 'men of oak'...sacred symbol owl...Lucifer 'wisest' of all creation...Pallas Athena's totem animal, representing wisdom...goddess inspiring Francis Bacon...Bohemian Grove statue ... left hand side of 'shield' around TRHC 1 on dollar bill...street plan of Washington...

Hexagram with single lines, can't tell if interwoven or layered...v star of Remshan/David drawn with parallel lines to show overlapping triangles (interwoven symbolising union of man and god? man and woman?) v one star on top of other i.e man over god...man over woman...layered... place in circle to ward off potentially dangerous demons... a pentacle is interwoven 5 pointed star...some say male tip upwards, female tip down, and interwoven means unity of male and female energies etc...but others say upward is 'as above' and downward 'as below'...interwoven meaning 'as above, so below'... 6 stars around 1 (7th) star is 'man above god' e.g 'lucifer' will exalt his throne above the stars of god...6 number of perfected man as in 'Hermes thrice perfected' 666... 13 number for rebellion? (though usually higher octave ascension / sun at center of 12 astrological 'houses')...13 letters in each of two phrases on dollar bill, 13 steps pyramid, 13 stars forming hexagram, 13 stripes, Revelation 13:18 HERE IS WISDOM. LET HIM THAT HATH UNDERSTANDING COUNT THE NUMBER OF THE BEAST;FOR IT IS THE NUMBER OF A MAN; AND HIS NUMBER IS SIX HUNDRED, THREE SCORE AND SIX (666)... all-seeing eye is eye of lucifer?... MASON spelled out by hexagram formed by elements of dollar bill...RHS of BLHC '1' is skull faced winged demon can't not see once pointed out, but easy to miss among 'noise' of background graphics...

The last temple...in original Solomon style? Most jews believe Ezekiel account which says no...Masons say ...when 'stone of destiny' returns to Jerusalem, plan to take temple mount and put up Ezekiels described temple... stone Solomon had in original temple, upon which incense burned in a fire pan... 587 B.C.E Babylonians destroyed Solomon's original temple...Babylonian exile...Zerababel laid foundation for second temple when Jews returned from captivity ...added to until Herod's temple final result...70 C.E destroyed by Romans...Jesus predicted its destruction in Matthew...third temple will have jews and non-jews praying together...final temple...freemasons and jewish leaders disagree on what final temple will be...very different ... Masons want replica of Solomon's temple...Jews want Ezekiels' version...but Muslims claim Islam is 'last' religion...God has no son and Mohammed is his prophet...Mahdi will destroy the jews and the people of the cross...anti-christ is anyone who 'denies' jesus is/was son of god i.e 'christ'...

72 stones on pyramid on dollar bill... phoenix builds self nest, as its flesh decays, a 'worm' is produced, from which the pheonix is reborn...Omega symbol (symbol for last/end) around George Washington on dollar (Alpha to Omega), with phoenix, suggests U.S founded to be destroyed, and from her ashes will be reborn a 'new world order'...

E PLURIBUS UNUM WRITTEN ON BANNER HELD IN MOUTH OF EAGLE / PHOENIX (N.B NOT BALD EAGLE IN ANY CASE!) MEANS 'OUT OF MANY, ONE'...WORD 'ONE' APPEARS 7 TIMES (STANDS FOR THE COMPLETE TEMPLE I.E SOLOMONS, WHICH UNFINISHED PYRAMID REPRESENTS ON DOLLAR BILL...ALL SEEING EYE, THE MESSIAH, WILL BE CAPSTONE I.E ONLY WHEN HE APPEARS WILL LAST TEMPLE BE BUILT)... 'THE POOR KNIGHTS OF CHRIST, AND OF THE TEMPLE OF SOLOMON' IS OFFICIAL EPITHET FOR KNIGHTS TEMPLAR...Masons thought to be later descendant of Knights Templar...

Theosophy society founder Madam H.P Blavatsky believed like Gnostics that the 'God' we know is really the devil, and vice versa... serpent who tempted eve was angel of light...tree of knowledge (gnosis)...

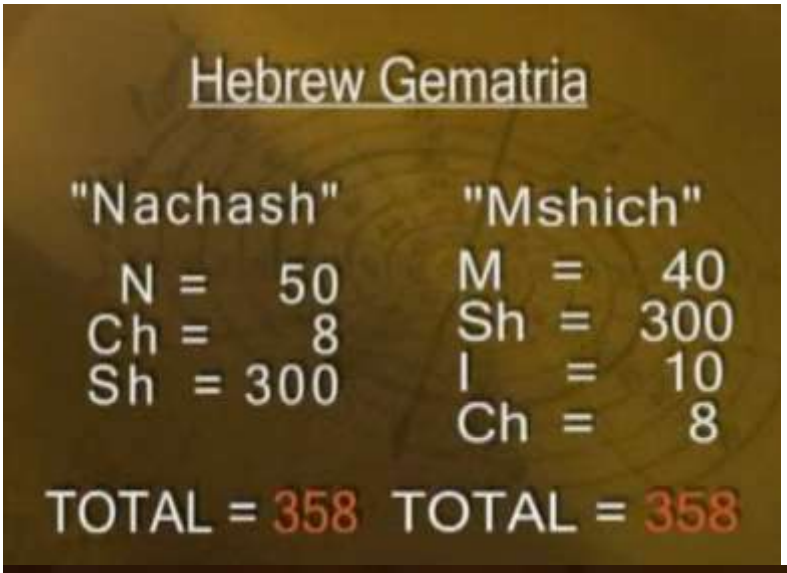
MHR If Hermes Tri... means Hermes Thrice perfected, and 6 represents perfection, then 666, the NAME of the number of the beast, is the name of a man, and it is Hermes (epithet 'thrice perfected' a.k.a 666)...

MHR The shadow with no object, the echo with no source, the child with no mother, the color with no light, the perfect pitch of silence... MHR Zen Koans :D

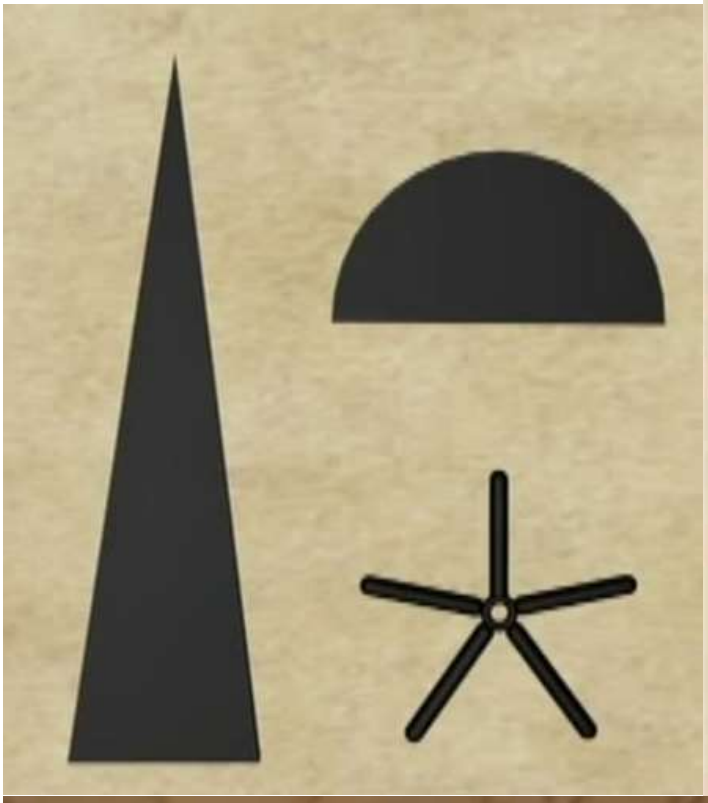
Screenshots to illustrate

REPUBLIQUE FRANÇAISE

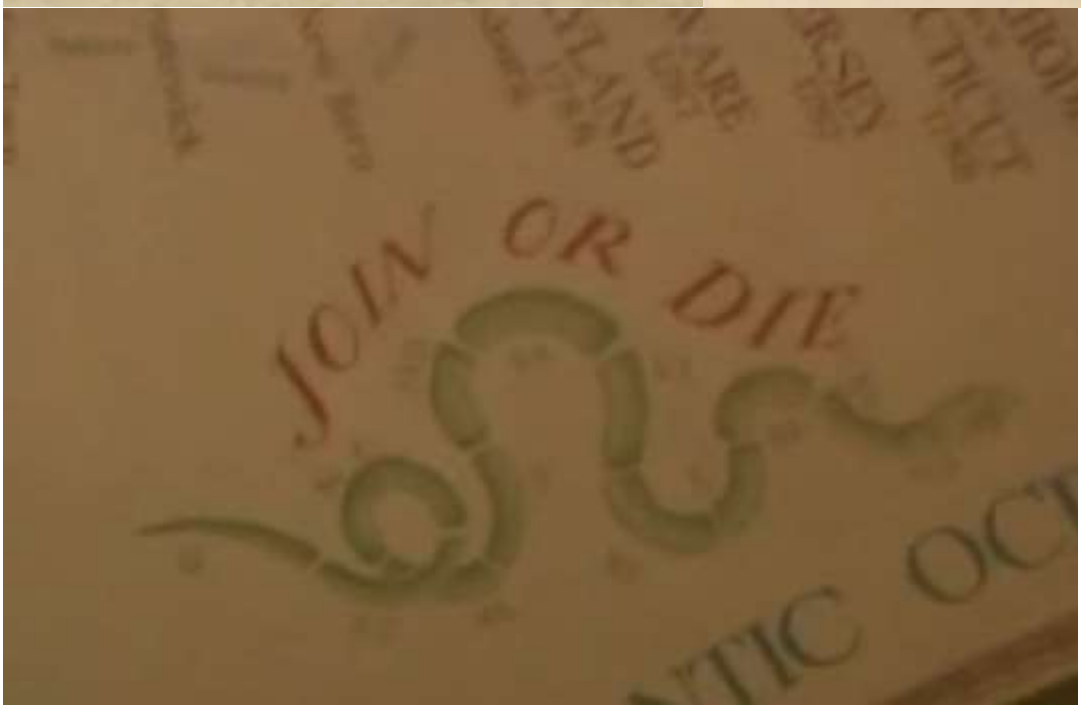
SAINT ALBANS



Hebrew Gematria
"Nachash"
N = 50
Ch = 8
Sh = 300
TOTAL = 358
"Mshich"
M = 40
Sh = 300
I = 10
Ch = 8
TOTAL = 358



REBELLION TO TYRANTS IS OBEDIENCE TO GOD.



JOIN OR DIE

Source: 'Patterns in Nature,' by David Pratt, Jan. 2006

SCORPIO
SAGITARIUS
LIBRA
CAPRICORNUS
VIRGO
AQUARIUS
LEO
PISCES CANCER
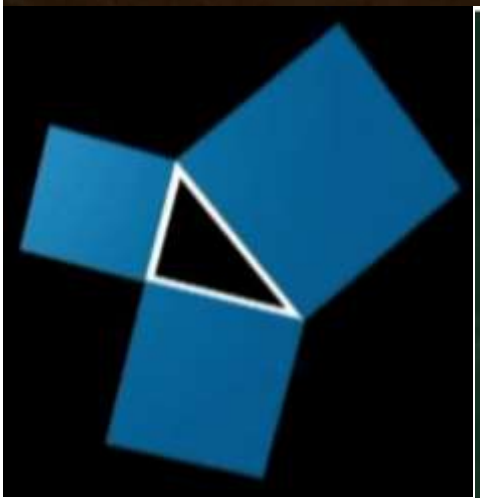
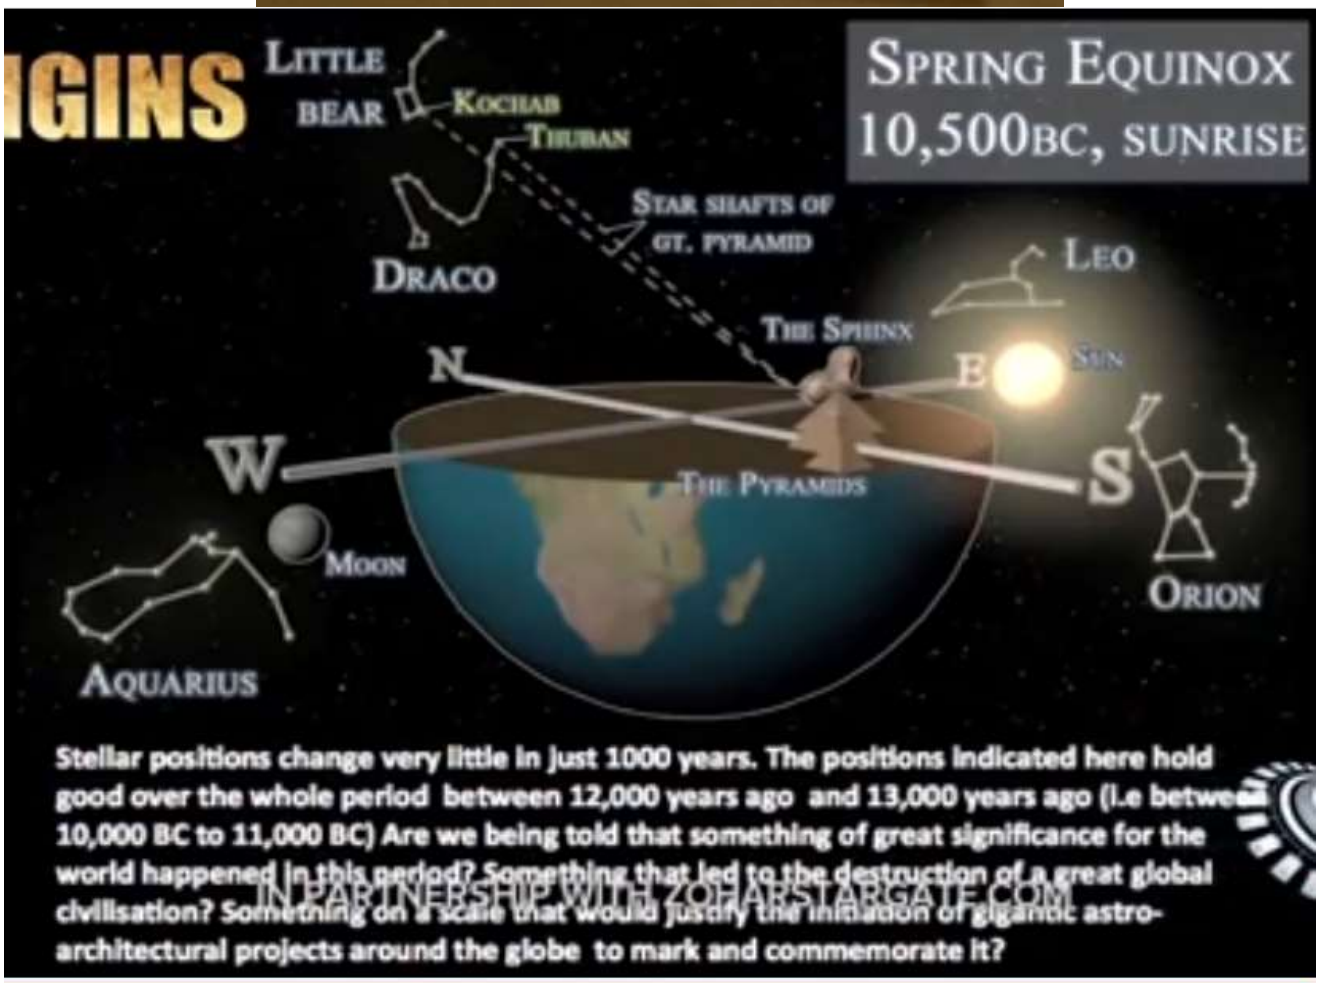
ARIES
GEMINI
TAURUS
584x1
584x4
584x2
584x3
584dx5
1
2
3
4
5 -0
0

SATAN
2000
MA
EL
LIL
ITH
SA
SATAN
2000

GLASTONBURY
THE HOLY GRAIL

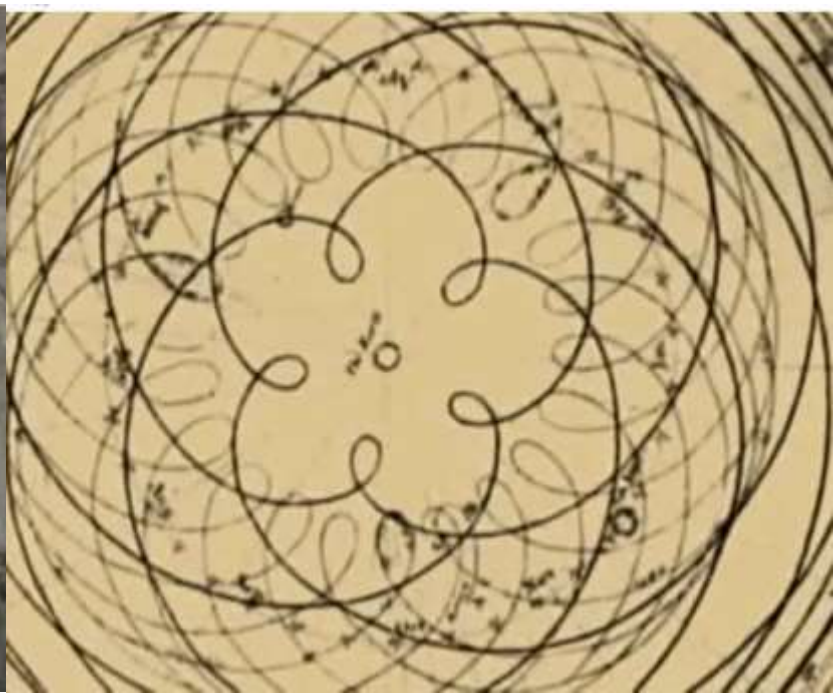


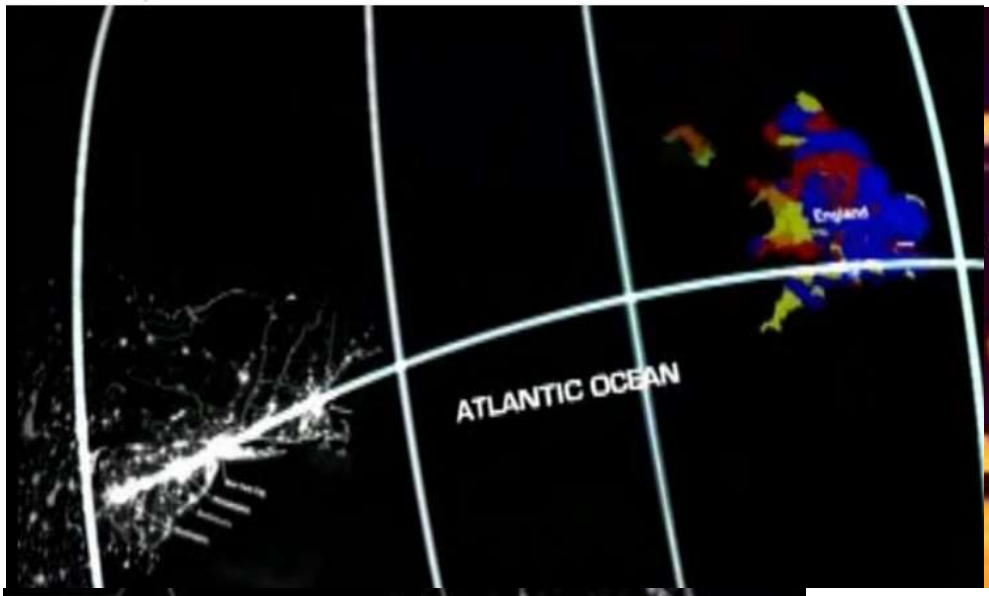
Potomac River
Eastern Branch
Part of



IN PARTNERSHIP WITH ZOHARSTARGATE.COM

THIS WE'LL DEFEND





England
ATLANTIC OCEAN

Washington D.C.
77th Meridian W. a.k.a. "God's Longitude"

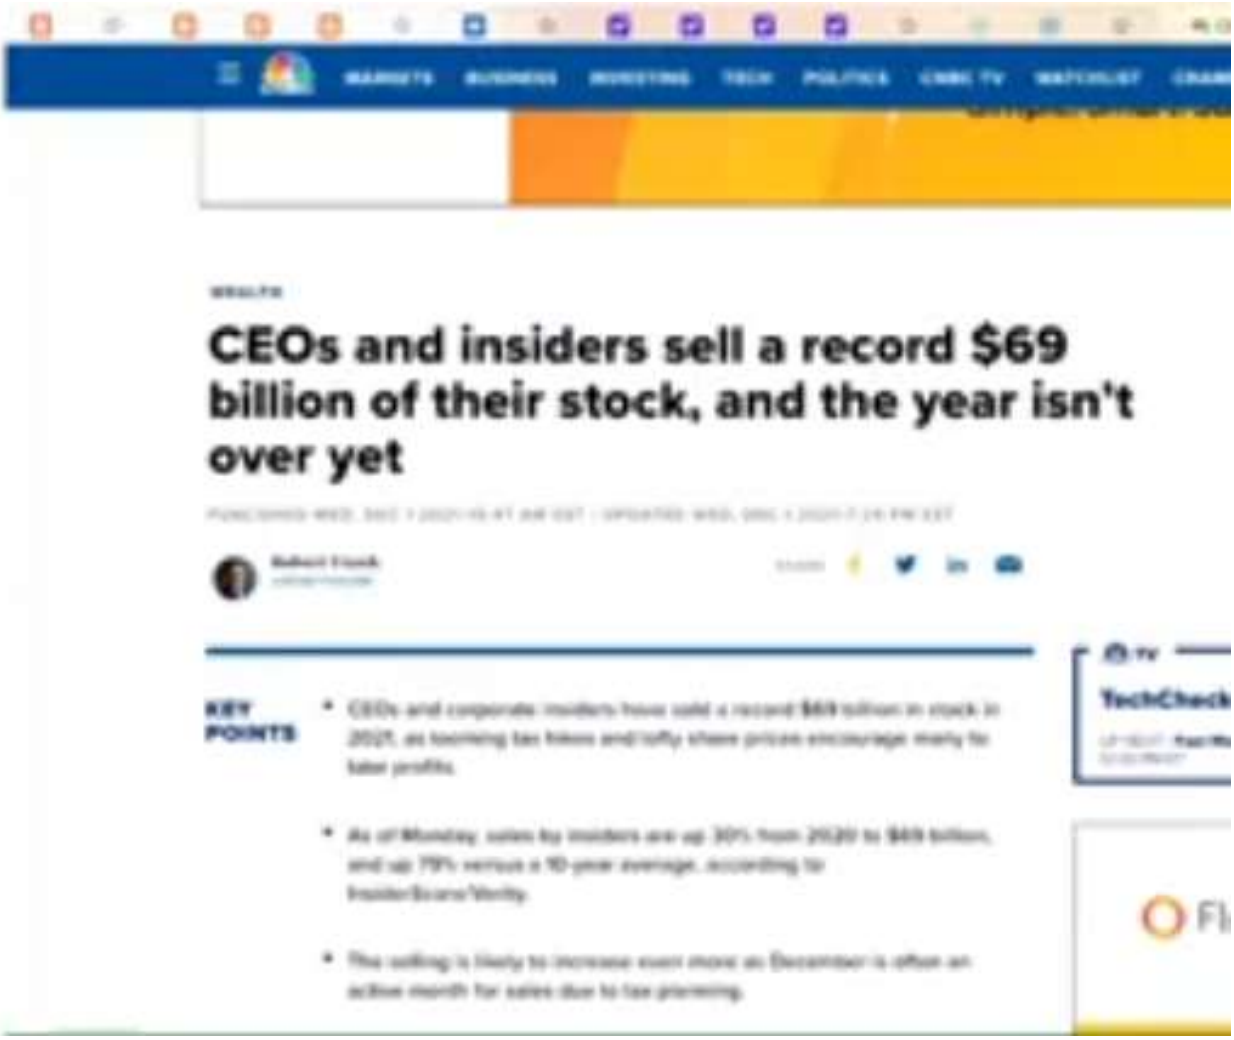
Boston
New York City
Philadelphia
Baltimore
Washington

"That which is below is like that which is above ..."

-- The Emerald Tablet of Hermes Trismegistus, cut from the crown of Lucifer



Just for real TROONATNOOR fans: NEW film, ha ha, and story ideas (the ones I could be bothered noting before I forget them, many more I have forgotten, at least for now!)

movie about young musician getting 'gig' as assistant in studio...can decide what sort, back-story, how important that part of plot is i.e the studio owner...loser ? or escape artist / exile / hermit? ... anyway, owner is experimenting with remote control mic stands, with servo motors etc, for repositioning mic's from control room, during sessions...so could have lots of spinal tap fun with mics fallinging into drum kits etc and overheads knocking out singers etc... show background to real recording i.e with famous bands calling in session musicians due to crap musicians, or 'no shows' to recording sessions i.e drugs, alcohol, band-fights, manager disputes etc...can make it a bit spinal tap... 'I loved your drumming on.....(chatting with session drummer etc) nah, I was in L.A at the time, in rehab, that was X...etc...nah that was Y... Oh, but I did do 'some useless song etc... but main plot is typical selling dreams...dream of becoming producer or famous recording artist... young musician ends up 'helping out' in studio after some fuck-up...wrecks owners car or something, parents do deal with them...to repay costs working as assistant around studio... and while studio failing, with all sorts of spinal tap moments with bands and gear, and terrible recordings, this kid is, during 'down time' at all hours, putting together some tracks...which owner stumbles on one night, coming in for quick session, finds tracks still on computer...plays, and everyone impressed / envious of it... he doesn't admit he has no idea who laid the tracks, what it is about...then confronts the kid... and they end up producing a great album together, even using some of the session musicians and even that 'crap' drummer etc... so dream comes true...kid produces hit album, his mates in band over the moon, including the girl he has been pining over for so long, maybe the singer or bass player...so light, romantic, 'musical' comedy, with insights into 'spinal tap' reality of music industry... can have owner step in and 'save the day' for kid when some old managers of band turn up and try to 'muscle in' on their new success...owner has connections, and friends in law offices etc, gets them out of the situation / saves day...so all get to be heros in end...even crap drummer...opportunities for 'redemption' of all sorts of musicians, session musicians etc... end up laying down original tracks for kid, and band...get 'huge' sound... and finally he records one 'unplugged' simple song just for his girl...romantic... could use as vehicle for real 'producer' band launching a-la 'purple rain' meets 'spinal tap'...

Film idea to explain idea of MONAD

Show whole consciousness...something to represent it...and make it clear this is 'everything' i.e 'entirety of everything' as one consciousness-energy-matter-potential... then show filter-partition moving so that it first IS whole, then becomes smaller and smaller e.g a sphere forms within the sphere, and keeps shrinking...and as it shrinks we have to zoom in, to clarify that the whole is massive, and that what we end up with as a 'sphere' an 'individual' is infinitely tiny...and this sphere becomes a sentient being...still within the whole, but separate....then at end the 'sentient being' 'dies' and the same process is reversed... point is there is only ONE consciousness, that divides self / partitions self i.e own consciousness...firewalls it off into tiny bits...but at all times each bit is still the whole...but due to partititioning/division/filtering of REST of whole, it is also a 'part' i.e ignorance of all beyond this partition/divider which 'filters out' the rest of its own consciousness, which it then can experience as OTHER subjects and objects...though once the 'divider' is removed, once the 'filters of perception' are expanded again / removed / neutralised, it regains its full consciousness...and these objects and subjects can appear for what they always were, constructs / temporary gaming artefacts...created in spirit of play...

is there alternative to this and 'many monads' idea? i.e eternal individuation...even permanent division of monad i.e so that NO reversal of process at death, remain distinct monad...new-incarnate to continue personal evolution?...i.e 'game' is permanent...once entered into...and now we're 'free' individuals we long for 'unity' with others...and have to learn how to manage that...given we are all selfish, egotists, who feel 'entitled' to 'have it all' and even at cost to other sentient beings, even to point of enslaving them via deception to becoming agents of OUR will...to trick them into wanting things and behaving in ways they would otherwise NOT want, or behave, in the ABSENCE of our deceptions and tricks...

'Candy' was stupid film, but super-hot-cute girl lead...so we watched it...whacky...also that other film about re-incarnation and perfection, had gorgeous girl...always hinting at sex but no sex...panty action etc...wonder what rating would get with lots of camel toes and sexually suggestive movements etc?...anyway, could have some 'higher being' or alien enter this plane-et, with intention of teaching ethics...like Quetzlcoatl-jesus-buddha...new-incarnating as human...could start as 'vague sentient-energy' or as actual alien, that can manipulate own DNA, to emulate most attractive men and women...could change several times...to become most attractive for interlocutors...take form they most likely to respond to...teaches basic obvious ethics...but which people would never attend to...they attend to our actors - actresses due to their physical charms...so need most attractive actors, actresses could find...who can be appealing... they will seduce people in many ways, with ultimate aim to get people to attend to the message for 90 mins...do unto others...have to make people attend to own responsibility for world...defeat exceptionalism...all based on my latest posts on ethics...they can also 'die' in 'correct' way, when persecuted by 'authorities'...can show what motivates 'authorities'...and all people...so can include optimal ethics...and 'how to die' once have attained i.e rejected exceptionalism ideology, and notion not just that wrong to benefit at another beings expense, but to cease willing it...as what will for others willing for self, and would never will that for self, so learn this...over 90 mins...could even make full porn version i.e totally integrated...this being is 'fun' and treats life as 'game' it is...has serious message, but all to make game fun for all...maybe only dies 'correctly' at end, after several DNA morphs...to make point...because the 'real' humans on this reform school plane-et can only ascend by dying...can't morph, or just leave bodies as they can...they combine male and female, simply amplify-filter 'express' one more, at different times...bi-sexual at all times when incarnate...able to give perfect sexual pleasure, meet any fantasy...but never malicious, always goodwilled and benevolent...loving...compassionate...though very sexy...

since Xam this morning a state of war has existed between britain and Germany WTF how lameassed can it get … sleight of mouth much? Avoidance of responsibility much ? fait accompli much ?

Mission Impossible spoof sketch...Tom Cruise kills his enemy, but then realises enemy was wearing mask, pulls it off, to reveal HIS OWN FACE…HE HAS JUST KILLED HIMSELF… ???

Shopping channel add spoof: ‘people often ask me, ‘can you please fuck off’ … and I tell them, ‘yes of course kind people, I will not fuck off, thankyou’…

electric blanket good electric chair bad drive-through and drive-in good drive-BY bad ha ha

2021 new film idea we watch a bank robbery take place...they drive off in the getaway car, cops in pursuit...starts with car chase, excitement...few minutes of it...during which we notice a tyre get damaged...they get out of the city center, having left plenty of cop cars wrecks...they are driving through an industrial area just outside the city...congratulating each other...whooping it up...but...the tyre blows, the car sommersaults front over back and then comes crashing down roof first...then there is total silence...no-one for miles...no movement...total contrast to excitement of chase, and whooping-it-up excitement and noise and rush...nothing stirs...we change angles etc but this just reinforces the total stillness...silence...emptiness...some kids ride past a little way off, but don't notice the car...then mini-van approaches, the driver notices the car, and goes to see if they can help...they pull 4 people out of the car, only one is conscious...asking for 'the bag, the bag'...so he goes back to the car, looking for the bag, and finds it, and brings it back to the robber...the robber clutches it, then dies...eyes blanking staring out...the good samaritan closes his eyes...and reaches for their phone, but the battery is dead...he wants to call emergency, so he checks the guys pockets but not phone, so decides to check the backpack...and finds it full of money... etc

Protagonist develops brain implant, easily inserted via some means…with which person can automatically produce a range of pleasurable sensations from full body orgasm to the sort of responses usually requiring illicit drugs, or good luck, to obtain e.g feelings of satisfaction, happiness, joy, ‘highs’, relaxation, bliss, nirvana, even programmable so anything you eat tastes and feels like eating chocolate, or icecream…. Of course the Cult of Judah realise the potential to program it to produce PAIN… and make every effort to obtain control of the device…but developer was foresightful, and made sure his implants had been taken by the sort of people he would need to protect him…so basically all out war now between Cult of Judah and our protagonist, as they try to duplicate the technology…but can’t… they even FAKE their own version, with thousands of ‘fakers’ pretending 'it works, and its free' i.e like Android and 'free apps', … point being once anyone 'downloads' this tech, Cult of Judah and their agents / proxies have total control of a person…because THESE apps only can produce intense PAIN etc…anxiety…nervousness…fear….abject terror…a phobia of ANYTHING…etc…that's why they hired so many 'actors' to 'fake' orgasms on so many popular tell-lie-vision programs, with product placements in movies, etc…and 'authorities' giving it a thumbs up, and AMA 'approval' etc…though does NOT work…except in way NO-ONE would volunteer to expose self to…i.e pain, despair, misery etc… but hundreds of thousands are implanted before people start being skeptical…at first all sorts of 'official' excuses are made e.g software bugs are being ironed out, delaying activation…or requires 'critical mass' of '1 million participants' to 'go online' or something…people will believe anything if EVERYONE is agreeing with it, saying it, reading off the same cult of Judah script….all the famous tell-lie-vision presenters, 'trusted authorities' etc all 'on same page' and reading off same script and always 'on message' with total censorship and ruination of anyone who tries to expose / blow whistle on scam…

Comes to point where, 6 months down line, with millions already 'hooked up', still none of the pleasure promised…people are still buying the original, that works…only poor who can't afford it opting for 'free' version…but enough people have it to 'coerce' them into submission to cults plans etc… they were sure to implant the most important assets … sometimes secretly, after drugging them…when they came to they had the deal explained…or later, when they would need to be 'activated'…at the time many just woke up from bad hangover or Dr explained they had fainted or had heart condition etc or minor stroke or something…medical profession first to be almost totally 'occupied' and 'bought off' with high prestige, status, wealth, protection of their jobs from competition, protection of the whole industry from alternatives and competition etc…totally corrupted decades before 'covid cult'… so… that's the story… a battle between our protagonist who developed the product…probably make female as sexier…it becomes known as 'Ohrgasm' because it is inserted via the ear…and the most popular use is to experience orgasms…as many as you can handle, any time you llike …

Sketch on government pointlessness waste: we have two people, moving rocks from one side of road to other…interviewer asks them what their jobs are…its part of the new governments 'right to work' program, very exciting…interviewer told…'My job is to carry stones from this side of the road to that side'…a-ha, He travels to his next appointment…to find 'My job is to carry stones from Y to X, but interviewer not aware he is referring to site he'd just come from …a-ha I see… …later we follow work site as evolves…one guy's supervisor visits and asks 'Is there any way we could increase efficiency and get more work done? Well, yes, the guy says, if you give me a few more co-workers we could work much faster…so soon have several people doing same thing…supervisor is impressed by their productivity statistics…and even more when original guy, no manager of the site, suggests they could further enhance productivity with mechanization…they discuss things and soon they have forklifts and other 'labor saving devices'….by this time productivity has soared…everyone is happy…the minister is planning a visit, based on the worksites production statistics…as a sort of model work site…there are now hundreds of people on either side of road, busily moving stones between the two sites…after which they are moved back to the other site… all very efficiently, with people working hard, though some 'slackers' are complained of, who threaten to decrease their productivity, so the boss has to have a word with them…but all in all, proof that the new government programs as a blazing success…!!!

Parents with wicked sense of humour play joke on son…father tells him his mother found his, his father's, stash of bondage porn, and threatened to divorce him…so he had to lie and say it was his son's, and now he has to 'pretend' its true, and the porn is his…or his parent's will probably get divorced… so kid plays along…and mother really plays it up…'so, you're telling me this ….with the …. and the…. Is YOURS… really embarrassing kid…until both mother and father crack up with laughing, not able to keep it in any longer…after having ‘punked’ their son… who just walks off in appalled wonder at his ‘typical’ parent stunt… ‘you guys are SICK’…etc…but all light hearted comedy… playful tone of film…easy going, cool parents…and deep down kid appreciates them…but they are always playing jokes on him etc … ‘aren’t parents supposed to be, I don’t know RESPONSIBLE and SERIOUS? …I mean who ARE the adults in THIS house? Etc…

light sexy comedy...shy girl, and guy not good with girls... so buys a guide to hypnotism...and his friends play trick on him...pretend to be hypnotised by him...so he thinks he can do that to people... and the girl realises his silly notion...but is shy...and really likes him...so plays along with him, to make it easier for him...and for her too...now she can 'submit' and not feel self-conscious, shy etc...but will be very nice tone film ... not nasty...they are both nice people...innocent...and this 'hypnosis' thing is like a noble lie...that helps them both overcome their shyness...and have more fun than their inhibitions would normally allow i.e would prevent...at end comedy of misunderstandings as he gets involved in something dangerous, thinking he can 'hypnotise' the threat...and his friends have to step in and explain everything to him...and also step in to save the day, to help him out of the predicament their 'fun lie' had got him into...i.e they had convinced him he had the ability to hypnotise anyone, his now girlfriend had played along, and it had lead to this dangerous / problematic situation...so now they first had to make him aware of their 'noble lie' 'silly prank', and then help him out of the bind the 'misunderstanding' had gotten him into... during film can lead to all sorts of situations...some mere conincidences where people did what he thought was 'controlling' them to do i.e following suggestions, when really either they already planned to do that, or something ELSE was motivating them...e.g they stand up to bully, but see our 'hero' has a 'protector' standing behind him...our hero unware...thinks the 'bully' stood down because of his 'magic power of hypnotism'..., and by time turns around his 'protector' is gone, and just his friends there...who he excitedly interacts with 'did you see THAT'...see what i can do...that bully isn't going to be bothering US any more... can have situations showing how his 'false confidence' actually DOES get things the way he wants them...i.e self-fulfilling prophecies, confidence, can bring people a long way... and people treat him differently due to his OWN self-perceptions...confidence...etc...etc.

ha ha : so who’d a thought there was big money in calling people stupid? You know, those ‘Dummies guide to ……’. Ever used one? Ever ended up like me, feeling REALLY depressed and stupid…? I mean, if you pick up a regular textbook for regular smart people, and don’t understand it, well…O.K, I mean, those guys are pretty clever…but pick up a book for DUMMIES, and you’re STILL struggling?...now THAT is DEPRESSING …

where is KLINGENTAL (in germany...in russian tank film is it real place…Pembroke Castle looks cool, but find Klingental if real, where it is…

Big corporations and Government are blaming their failure to do anything, about anything, on Covid…from zero customer service, to zero provision of government medical and educational services, to increased costs and delays…so why not try THAT next time ‘the government’ ask YOU for something? Surely the police will understand you couldn’t see your speed because of the face mask you are wearing ‘BECAUSE OF COVID’ , and the tax people will surely understand you can’t possibly pay your taxes, ‘Because of Covid’… and the bank, after all, will understand ‘It’s because of covid’ when you stop repaying your loans, right?

But really, I suspect this ‘Covid’ stuff is all a conspiracy of a bunch of lazy husbands and boyfriends to get their wives and girlfriends to stop nagging ‘you don’t take me anywhere’, ‘we don’t go out any more’…I mean, what better excuse than ‘Oh, darling, I’d just LOVE to get changed out of these comfy pants and shirt, get up off this comfy sofa chair, turn off the sports channel, spend an hour getting saved, dressed, and coiffed, to waste a ton of cash I don't have , or rack up even higher credit card debts than I already do, just so you can 'be seen' by your friends with your 'great boyfriend-husband', and flirt with other men (I mean if one happens to seduce you, and you 'accidentally stray', who could blame you?, seeing how your current man 'neglects you' so…sitting around in his shorts in his comfy t.v chair watching sports all day !!!

ha ha : lucky for me people can't spell that well these days…I've got some of my best deals as a result … I got my favorite Tag Hauer watch cheap because some Swiss guy spelt the logo wrong … and my favorite Kalvin Kline … etc… but you know, good thing I got them cheap…I mean they're REALLY overrated…at least QUALITY wise…seems all their budget goes into marketing…I mean that stuff just does NOT last … just falls aparts in a few days…

2 friends, one looking for gf / bf ... see promising person...another walks in catches eye, they embrace, then kiss...one now dissappointed...'it could be her/his sister/brother?... looking doubtful but hanging ot to hope with desperation...then her/his hand reaches and grabs ass etc ... 'yeh, I mean, maybe they're just a very 'physically expressive' family ? ... etc...

stand-up...I wonder if I have a drinking problem? You know that movie 'I know what you did last summer'? Yeh? ... Well I only WISH ... (I knew what I did last summer)... but I'm not sure why they call it a 'drinking' problem really...I mean I have no problem drinking...the problem is STOPPING drinking...right?...am I right?

story, 2 cars, almost identical...cross paths few times in city etc...at end mistaken for other car, driver etc shot as result... i.e just a night on the town, following night of the people in two cars...happend to be almost identical..not so significant till end...because one involved in some gang drug deals etc...or something like that...and at end of night, people in other car get shot in 'retaliation' attack etc, because mistaken for other car-people...develop story...the 'innocents' who get shot had just 'resolved something' or had epiphany, and things which had started badly at start of film, were about to, or had, just 'turned around'...so maybe couple conflict, at end 'made up' and things looking up and everyone happy...and that is when gang etc 'that's the car', and without warning out couple are shot dead by gang... while other car people 'same old same old'... their shitty life just goes on...only the people who appeared to have had a 'transformation' in their lives, are now dead...bitter irony...tragedy...maybe they decided to 'leave town' ? and at end of film we watch them heading off down road, far away from all the trouble... or maybe THEY were the ones whose lives are transformed near end of film, and other couple set to break up, fall apart...and so their death a sort of 'salvation' ???

story in which people recieve just FACES of their enemies rapists etc in mail

Rough ideas for Vegan Republic anthem lyrics

VEGAN REPUBLIC ANTHEM

This is a land of hopes
This is a land of dreams
Ve-gan Re-pub-lic One
Foun-ded for you and me

With this I guar-an-tee

Pledge my a-lle-giance to
The prin-ci-ple of Jus-tice
No harm will come to you, from me

Our on-ly re-li-gion's truth
Justice, Fra-ter-ni-ty
A ve-gan spir-it in-for-ming
A ve-gan so-ci-e-ty

It's for you
It's for me
For e-ver-y-thing that we wan-ted to be

Mer-i-to-crat-ic, free
Sweet land of li-ber-ty

Truth and self-hon-e-sty
No de-cep-tion or lies

This the LAND of peace
All who live here, are, free
All who live here
Get their, fair share
Of our pros-per-i-ty

We've tra-velled so far
We've wai-ted so long
We had to en-dure
We've had to be strong

This is my home
This is your home too
Where we are free
To be all that we can be

Free in jus-tice
Free in-dus-tri-ous
Wor-king ...

land of just-ice land of plen-ty land of li-ber-tee

It's for me
It's for you
For ev-ry-thing we want to do

HAVE ASKED MIKE HILL TO CONTACT P.E.T.A AUSTRALIA ABOUT RUNNING A COMPETITION FOR LYRICS, ORCHESTRATION, AND DRUM TRACKS FOR…BUT EVERY TIME I HAVE CONTACTED THEM OR SIMILAR I WAS CONFRONTED WITH TOTAL APATHY AND 'OH, WE DON'T DO THAT SORT OF THING' AND TOTAL LACK OF COMPREHENSION, VERGING ON APPARENTLY DELIBERATE, OF WHAT I WAS ASKING, AND OFFERING

Another new song, potentially 'Metallica' style

Show 'em what you're made of
What you're fightin' in the name of
The truth that they're so a-fraid of
Bur-ning bright in your eyes
You were born to this
Battle-born you knew you'd ne-ver fit
In-to the space they'd pre-pared for you
You were ne-ver wel-comed
They'd just set their snares for you
One more slave, one more stick to their fas-sci
Oh that'd you'd ne-ver been born
Oh but you know how to die
And you've all this time to kill
So what's keeping you from your work?

Their word was made for brea-kin'
All the li-ber-ties they're ta-kin'
Wa-ging war by de-cep-tion
On YOUR hu-man-i-ty
You'd think they wouldn't get a-way with it
But you'd be thinkin' wrong, they've made it
Seem as if its for OUR good
Pro-te-ction ra-cket one oh one boy
Cult new order Ph.d in one , boy

Drop it
It breaks break it
It stops
Stop it
Get goin' quick
Run
Stop
Lockstep

Just watch what the other's do
And you'll fit right in
Might e-ven find you a su-per-vi-sor-y role
Wouldn’t that be nice
House slaves
With priv-e-leges
Dig your own graves
Bury your own dead
After you've re-pro-duced
That’s the master plan

And it' ll ne-ver keep them up at night
They’ll sleep sound and they'll sleep tight
They’ve got this thing all locked down tight
Slaves thinkin' they're free
Marching neat in lock-step
No need for THEM to watch THEIR step

What you'll be dying to try
Words your lips would have cried
Had you made it through the front lines
Face to face with their dic-ta-tors

But they'll ne-ver let you get that far
They'll have you figh-ting, with each o-ther
Mis-dir-ect-ed, Mis-in-formed
At your al-lies throat
Be-li-eving in your false-friends lies

Check following in above:

show 'em what you're made of
what you're fightin' in the name of the truth that they're so a-fraid of
bur-ning bright in your eyes
You were born to this
Battle-born you knew you'd ne-ver fit
In-to the space they'd pre-pared for you
You were ne-ver wel-comed
They'd just set their snares for you
One more slave, one more stick to their fas-sci
Oh that'd you'd ne-ver been born
Oh but you know how to die

their word was made for brea-kin'
all the li-ber-ties they're ta-kin'

you'd think they wouldn't get a-way with it but you'd be thinkin' wrong, they've made it seem as if its for OUR good pro-te-ction ra-cket one oh one boy
Cult new order Ph.d in one , boy

Drop it
it breaks break it it stops
stop it get goin' quick run stop lockstep
just watch what the other's do
and you'll fit right in
might e-ven find you a su-per-vi-sor-y role wouldn't that be nice house slaves
with priv-e-leges
Dig your own graves
Bury your own dead
After you've re-pro-duced
that's the master plan

and it' ll ne-ver keep them up at night
they'll sleep sound and they'll sleep tight
they've got this thing all locked down tight
Slaves thinkin' they're free
Marching neat in lock-step
no need for THEM to watch THEIR step

what you'll be dying to try
Words your lips would have cried
Had you made it through the front lines
Face to face with their dic-ta-tors

But they'll ne-ver let you get that far
They'll have you figh-ting, with each o-ther
Mis-dir-ect-ed, Mis-in-formed
At your al-lies throat
Be-li-eving in your false-friends lies

Potential for covid song

You won't e-ver learn, Won't e-ver e-scape, your, i-llu-sion
I can offer it, but you'll ne-ver take, the, so-lu-tion

A0+D0 A0+D2 A1+D3 A1+D3 A1+D3 E0+A0 E1+A3 E3+A5 E3+A5

You've got to look past the fra-ming
The Neur-o-lin-guist-ic pro-gram-ming
Take a step out-side the box
The web of lies they've been spin-ning

It's per-cep-tion en-gin-eer-ing
Soc-ial re-al-i-ty pro-gram-ming
Re-flex Con-dit-ion-ing
In P R it's called 'spin'

You see its not what they do
But the 'spin' they put on their ac-tions
That makes them so
Ac-cep-ta-ble to you

If you take a-way the lies
What you are left with is dic-ta-tor-ship
The New World Or-der
Po-lice State lock-ing down YOU

To see through the de-cep-tion
You've got to stop look-ng through their goggles
See-ing things how they pro-gram you to
To see through their lies
You've got to break down their narr-a-tive
They're the real walls
Con-fin-ing you

This co-vid cult
Pro-tec-tion rack-et
This co-vid boo-gey man
This new ter-ro cam-paign
This new de-vil
The cult priests sell pro-tec-tion from
The cost is sub-mis-sion
Your choice free-dom or death

But the threat is NOT real
This co-vid is no more a dan-ger
Than the sea-son-al flu
Or dri-ving a car

You're more like-ly to die
Sli-pping in the show-er
But they've ter-ri-fied you
With prop-a-gan-da and threats
You aren't think-king clear-ly
O-ther-wise you would not give up your free-dom so ea-si-ly
Give up all that makes life worth liv-ing
For pro-te-ction from some-thing that is not e-ven real

They'll send me to pri-son
For wri-ting this song
But when the world is one big pri-son
What does that mean?
At least I'd be the one
Who KNEW where I stood
While the rest of you slaves
I-ma-gine you are free

Why would they give up
This pow-er they have taken
In this Co-vid Macht Er-grei-fung
No they won't do it will-ing-ly
You'd bet-ter be rea-dy
To stand up and de-mand back your free-dom
Or say good bye
To your li-ber-ty
D7 9 G7 9IMMEDIATELY BEND UP PICK RELEASE 7 D9
potential for covid song

You won't e-ver learn, Won't e-ver e-scape, your, i-llu-sion
I can offer it, but you'll ne-ver take, the, so-lu-tion

A0+D0 A0+D2 A1+D3 A1+D3 A1+D3 E0+A0 E1+A3 E3+A5 E3+A5

You've got to look past the fra-ming
The Neur-o-lin-guist-ic pro-gram-ming
Take a step out-side the box
The web of lies they've been spin-ning

It's per-cep-tion en-gin-eer-ing
Soc-ial re-al-i-ty pro-gram-ming
Re-flex Con-dit-ion-ing
In P R it's called 'spin'

You see its not what they do
But the 'spin' they put on their ac-tions

The way that they are 'framed'
That makes them so
Ac-cep-ta-ble to you

If you take a-way the lies
What you are left with is dic-ta-tor-ship
The New World Or-der
Po-lice State lock-ing down YOU

To see through the de-cep-tion
You've got to stop look-ng through their goggles
See-ing things how they pro-gram you to
To see through their lies
You've got to break down their narr-a-tive

This co-vid cult
Pro-tec-tion rack-et
This co-vid boo-gey man
This new ter-ro cam-paign
This new de-vil
The cult priests sell pro-tec-tion from
The cost is sub-mis-sion
Your choice free-dom or death

But the threat is NOT real
This co-vid is no more a dan-ger
Than the sea-son-al flu
Or dri-ving a car
You're more like-ly to die
Sli-pping in the show-er
But they've ter-ri-fied you
With prop-a-gan-da and threats
You aren't think-king clear-ly
O-ther-wise you would not give up your free-dom so ea-si-ly
Give up all that makes life worth liv-ing
For pro-te-ction from some-thing that is not e-ven real

They'll send me to pri-son
For wri-ting this song
But when the world is one big pri-son
What does that mean?
At least I'd be the one
Who KNEW where I stood
While the rest of you slaves
I-ma-gine you are free

Why would they give up
This pow-er they have taken
In this Co-vid Macht Er-grei-fung
No they won't do it will-ing-ly
You'd bet-ter be rea-dy
To stand up and de-mand back your free-dom
Or say good bye
To your li-ber-ty
D7 9 G7 9IMMEDIATELY BEND UP PICK RELEASE 7 D9

Brendon O'Connel, WTF?

I've been aware of a book from 1942 detailing Stalin's planned invasion of Germany, but have yet to stumble across a copy. Brendon O'Connel referred to this recently. But he also claimed that Ukrainians and Russians fledin to arms of Stalin to escape German atrocities. As with any Cult of Judah propagandist, he showed no interest in backing up this accusation with any details. WTF sort of shill is O'connel, or is it guilt for his ancestors' war crimes in 'making the world safe for Cult of Judah Communism?

Memory lane

When you slow down speeding traffic on a highway, the cars try to overtake each other using every available lane, and often driving off the 'shoulders' of the road. In Oosovo Twopick I often saw Russians driving 3 abreast, down the single lane of one side of a country road. Using the oncoming lane any time it was free, to try to 'overtake' the other 3 cars. Often two cars at once would 'overtake' at the same time. So you'd have 5 cars abreast at times. And my 'boss' at the time thought I was being a 'prima donna' for insisting that whatever transport was assigned to 'pick me up' at least had a functioning seat-belt. When it was hard to drive a few kms on any given day without passing major traffic accidents, with cars left lying on their sides, and often even roofs.

How to crowd fund on-line Audio Engineering Course

I could write up a full plan of lessons and make a few 'model' lessons for you-tube, then my offer would be to produce a complete program of lessons, covering the entire start to finish. The promise would be to begin once I reached a first threshold of sponsors, and then to complete the course in stages, as further sponsorship targets were met. And promise to return any contributions over 10 Euro to the contributor, if I fail to reach my first target, and fail to produce the promised lessons. I could choose to start even before any targets were met, if I had the leisure to do so.

This would make all the equipment and 'mods' I made to my 'home studio' tax exempt and/or tax deductible. My official 'unemployed' status would thus be raised to 'self-employed', while continuing to do what I've been doing all my life, without getting any credit for it.

No need to over-capitalise. Can do deals with studios to offer promotion of their studios or equipment, in return for chance to use their equipment on recordings and mixing. This could mean temporary loans from manufacturers or Thomann.de type online companies, and might involve participation in Amazon type 'official reviewer' status. I'd get to review stuff for my clients, and use it in my home studio, and potentially generate some revenue from 'affiliate links'. I would probably need to get someone else to monetize any videos on YouTube, if I choose to attempt this. But ideally with enough sponsors, and self-generated revenues, I could totally bypass the 'controlled' media. As a Church Outreach program, no internet service provider should feel flippant about denying me services.